DOINGS OF THE COUNTY BOARD

The Washington County Board of Supervisors met at the court house in West Bend on Nov. 11 and after electing John Mann of Hartford as chairman and George Bastian of the town of West Bend as acting chairman, will make an excellent official having had considerable experience in county board matters while a resident of Dodge county. He also was chairman of the Dodge County Board of Supervisors for a number of years. Upon reconvening on Wednesday, Chairman Mann announced the appointment of the following standing committees: Court—Clayton, Hartung, Adenauer, Groth, N. Rosenheimer, Vogelzang. General Claims—N. Rosenheimer, Rothmaier, Marbois, Vogelzang, Leicht. Finance—Henny, Warnke, Justus. Equalization—Adenauer, Bastian, Mayer, Justus, Brown. County Buildings—Luff, Powell, Groth, N. Rosenheimer, Vogelzang. Printing—Schwinn, Faltens, Henny.

Budget.—Groth, N. Rosenheimer, Faltens, Bastian, Schwinn. Salaries.—Mayer, Powell, Groth. Insurance.—Brown. Hotels and laundries.—Faltens, Henny, Warnke, Justus. Education.—Leinat, Marbois, Litzger.

Other important matters to come up for the Board's approval on Wednesday were the following: Reading of Resolutions Nos. 2, the former providing for the county school tax, and the latter providing for the fixing of membership of the County Highway committee. Dr. Thos. Loughlin of Hartford, county physician, County Justice O'Meara, District Attorney Schmidt and A. H. Bussewitz, assessor of incomes, read their reports. The state tax apportionment was submitted and referred to the Budget committee.

On Thursday A. L. Stone of the State Department of Agriculture, appeared before the Board, and discussed the law relating to noxious weeds. George Blank, superintendent of the asylum and county home, and the asylum trustees submitted their annual reports, as did C. L. Friday of Hartford, one of the trustees of the Oak sanitarium at Pewaukee, which is operated jointly by Washington and Waukesha counties. On Wednesday afternoon the Board members made an inspection trip to the sanitarium doing so upon invitation of the officers of the institution. Reports of the Soldier's Relief Commission and the American Red Cross were read at Friday's session. An inspection tour of the county highways was made by the Board on Thursday.

On Monday the Board transacted the following business: Provided that dance supervisors hereafter be paid monthly. Made an appropriation of $3,735 to the Oak sanitarium at Pewaukee, to be used for the following purposes: County's share for maintenance, $2,500; $1,000 for furnishing new nurses' home, and $235 for installation of water softening system. County Agent Butler and County Physician Wehle submitted their reports. Membership of highway committee was reduced from five to three members.

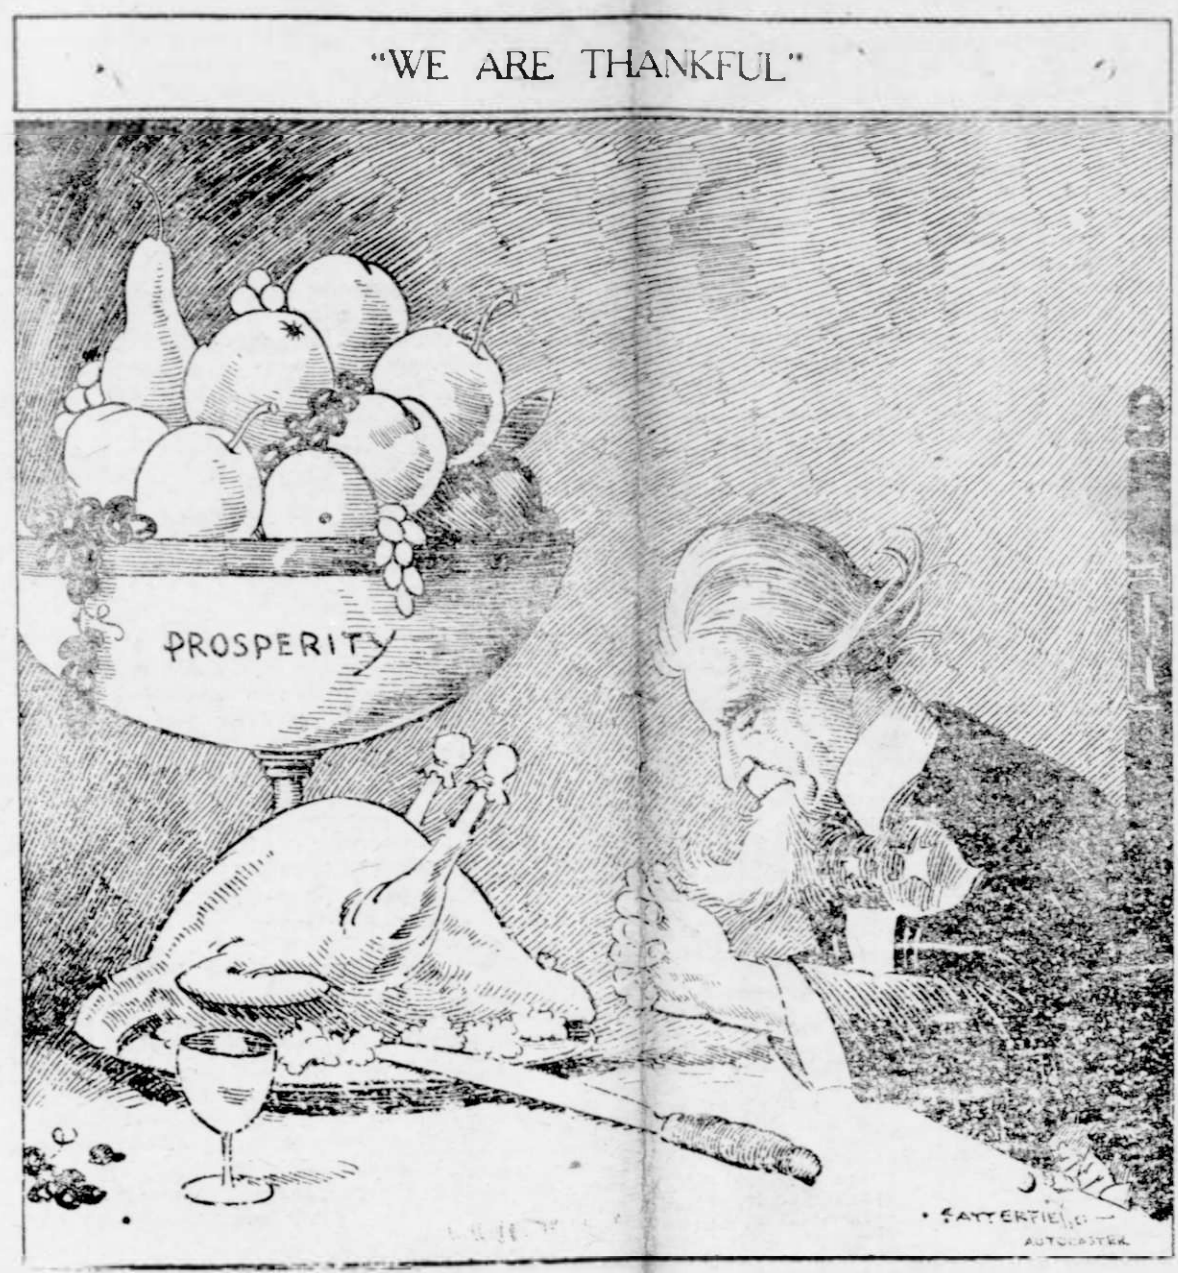

The board expects to finish the greater part of its work this week and will very likely then adjourn until the January session, when the highway report and other matters left over from the November session will be up for discussion.—West Bend Pilot.

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

On Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 19, 1924, at 2 p. m., Mrs. Joseph Miller, (nee Elizabeth Haug), a well known pioneer settler of Kewaskum, answered the Master's call, at the home of her daughter, Clara (Mrs. H. L. Waechter), 717 26th street, Milwaukee, following an attack of paralysis four months ago. Mrs. Miller had reached the ripe old age of 74 years, 4 months and 23 days. Up to the time she suffered the attack of paralysis, she was hale and hearty and not only attended to her household duties, but was very active in taking care of her large garden, in which particular work she was very fond, and took great pride in the raising of vegetables. Mrs. Miller was born June 28, 1850, in Sandusky, Ohio, Germany. When six months old, she immigrated with her parents to America and settled on a farm in the town of Barton, where she resided for a short time, coming to Kewaskum fifty years ago, at a time when the main part of the village was situated on the east side of the Milwaukee river. On March 19, 1876, she was married to Joseph Miller. Together the venerable couple toiled hard for the welfare and upbuilding of the community and home in which they were very successful. Mrs. Miller was the proud mother of eight children, of whom three preceded her in death several years ago. The following children survive with their grief-stricken father: Edwina F., who owns and conducts a furniture store and undertaking parlors in this village; Dr. John B. of Edgerton, Wis.; Clara (Mrs. Hugo Waechter) and Elmer of Milwaukee; Mamie (Mrs. A. Keilbach) of Chicago. Besides these she leaves to mourn her demise, 13 grand children; 2 sisters and 3 brothers. Last August when her health failed, she with her husband went to Milwaukee to spend her declining days with her daughter. Mrs. Miller was a lady of exemplary character; a true and loyal wife, mother and citizen, well and favorably liked and beloved by all who knew her. She believed in the word of God and was a faithful and devoted member of the Ev. St. Lucas church. On March 19, 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Miller had the happy occasion of celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at their home here in the presence of their children and grand children.

On Friday morning the remains were brought to this village, where they lay in state at the home of her son Edwina, until today, Saturday when the funeral will be held at 2 o'clock p. m., with services in the Ev. St. Lucas church. Rev. H. Heide, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be in the cemetery.

Math, Schmitt, aged 57 years, died at his home at St. Kilian Friday morning, Nov. 14, 1924, at 11:30 o'clock, following an attack of heart disease. Mr. Schmitt was born at Lorimira in 1867, and on Nov. 23, 1892, was married to Miss Angela Beck of Ashford. For many years he had resided in Dodge county. The past 25 years, however, he was a resident of Kewaskum. Mrs. Schmitt passed away in April of this year and Mrs. Mary Schmitt, mother of deceased, five weeks ago. Mr. Schmitt is survived by 3 sons, Joseph, Edward and Leonard of here, and 1 daughter, Margaret (Mrs. Frank Brodzeller) of Lorimira; 2 brothers, Peter of Lake City, Minn., and Jacob of Lorimira and two grand children. The funeral was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Kilian's church. Rev. Reichel officiated. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. The pall bearers were six nephews of the deceased: Sylvester and Arnold Schmitt, Louis Morgan, Joe, Martin and Oscar Beck. The floral carriers were: Erna and Mayme Beck, Norbert Weyer and Walter Morgan. Those from afar who attended the funeral were: Peter Schmitt of Durand, Wis., Mrs. Nick Wieter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goebel, Mrs. Joe Schmitt and son Leo of Fond du Lac, Mr. and Mrs. John Engel and son of Dotyville, John Feyen and family of St. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Marg Heisler and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rafenstein of Milwaukee, Mrs. Wm. Ilker of Mayville, John Zehren and son Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zehren of Clintonville, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brodzeller of Nesho, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Beter and family and Arnold Brodzeller of Cedar Lake, and a large number of friends and relatives from Lorimira, Ashford and Campbellport.

FIVE GENERATIONS REPRESENTED IN CELEBRATION OF KLUG FAMILY

On Sunday, Nov. 9, 1924, Ferdinand Klug, a well known pioneer resident of the town of Scott, celebrated his 79th birthday. In the afternoon his children, grand children and great grand children gathered at his home to help him celebrate the event. At 5 o'clock supper was served to the guests after which the evening was enjoyably spent in social conversation. Mr. Klug, though well advanced in years, is still enjoying good health, and takes great interest in the welfare of his home and community in which he resides. Those who attended were: Rev. and Mrs. G. Kuntze and daughters Ruth and Esther, Otto Beuce, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Staeger and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Staeger and family; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Art. Staeger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hintz Jr. and son, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Krautkraemer and daughter; Gerhard Kuntze, Martin Kuntze, Dorothy Kuntze and Ruth Orlay, all of Milwaukee. When the guests departed for their homes they wished Mr. Klug good health and happiness, and that they may all help him celebrate his 80th birthday.

MEETS WITH PAINFUL ACCIDENTS

Mrs. Adolph Oeder, a prominent and well known citizen of this county, residing about two miles north of St. Michaels, met with a very painful accident which may result in the loss of her left eye. The accident happened last week Thursday evening, at about five o'clock. Mrs. Oeder was at the kitchen sink, and had poured some water and Eagle Lye into a gallon jar, which she had placed outside to cool off. At about five o'clock she went out to take the jar into the house, holding same in one hand and a kettle of hot water in the other. When she entered the kitchen door, the jar slipped out of her hand striking the floor in an upright position, causing the contents to splash directly into her face, badly burning her left eye, her forehead, left cheek, her nose, lips and part of her tongue. She cried for help which aroused the attention of her husband, who was working in a shed near by. Mr. Oeder immediately called for assistance, when he realized her condition, he summoned medical aid, and everything possible is now being done to restore the sight of her eye. Although suffering severely she is getting along as well as can be expected. Four hours later, at 9 p. m., the same evening, Mrs. Anna Oeder, wife of the late Leopold Oeder, and an aunt of Mrs. Adolph Oeder, met with a very painful accident, at her home two miles east of Kewaskum. Mrs. Oeder who is 80 years old, while in the act of descending a flight of stairs in some manner, slipped and fell down the entire flight of stairs, with the result that she fractured her left arm, dislocated her left shoulder and fractured one rib. She was immediately given assistance by the family, and medical aid was summoned. Mrs. Oeder is getting along nicely at this writing.

The Statesman joins the many friends of the unfortunate ladies in wishing them a safe and complete recovery.

AUTO LICENSE RATE BOOK CIRCULATED

Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, has compiled a book giving the weight of practically all makes of motor vehicles. Want of such a book last year caused a great deal of confusion much dissatisfaction and considerable delay. This book will be the standard upon which rates will be based in 1925.

The license fee under the rate in the new book is higher in many instances than the one collected in 1924. This is due to the fact that in 1924 the rates were based upon the shipping weight and not on the road weight as provided by law. The weight law was passed so late in 1921, that there wasn't sufficient time to prepare a schedule of road weights and the Secretary of State was obliged to accept the shipping weight as the basis for licensing. The shipping weight never included the battery, gas, oil, water and accessories, which in many cases is sufficient to make a difference of from one to two dollars.

The new rate book will be distributed to all dealers, police departments, court clerks, banks and post offices. Mr. Zimmerman announced that every effort is now being made to prepare for the prompt handling of all applications. He cautioned applicants to be careful to answer every question, and to give the motor number, weight model, style and last year's license number. He also declared that 75% of the delays last year were due to errors made by the applicant—generally in his post office address.

SCHULTZ-LANGE NUPTIAL

Last Saturday afternoon at 4 p. m., Nov. 15, 1924, the Ev. Peace church was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Miss Clarinda Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spindler of the town of Kewaskum, and Martin C. Lange, son of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. A. Lange of Cedarburg were united in marriage. Rev. Lange officiated, assisted by Rev. H. L. Barth who delivered a very impressive sermon. The couple were attended by Miss Alice Walsh, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor and Alice Dameron, as bridesmaid. Leroy Schult, brother of the bride, was best man and Eugene Lange, brother of the groom, was usher. The bride wore a silk canton crepe gown and veil in cap effect. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums. The maid of honor wore a pale blue silk georgette crepe dress, and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. The bridesmaid wore a pale pink silk satin meshine dress and carried a bouquet of carnations and chrysanthemums. A reception was held at the home of the bride, with about 80 guests in attendance. Dancing and playing various games formed the pastime of the event. The home was decorated with bitter sweets, cedar and pink and blue crepe paper. Mr. and Mrs. Lange will reside at Cedarburg, where he is employed as a machinist, and where they will be at home after Dec. 15, 1924. They have the best wishes for a prosperous and happy married life.

SHOOTS RARE BIRD ON FOX LAKE

John Yaggar returned Monday from a hunting trip to Fox Lake, bringing with him a rare specimen of bird that is practically never seen in this section of the country. The bird is a Northern Alaska Cormorant and measured 31 inches from tip to tip, with a wing spread of 44 inches, making it one of the most powerful medium sized birds on the wing. The bird has a hooked beak designed largely for fishing and the Cormorant is recognized as the greatest and most successful fisher among the feathered tribe. The bird will be sent away to be mounted and will be presented to the high school.—Horicon Reporter.

BURGLARS AT BELGIUM

Burglars broke into the store of Hubing & Hames, at Belgium, Sunday night and took away several hundred dollars' worth of clothing, smashed the cash register from which they obtained fifty cents in pennies, and made away with other valuables. There is no clue, according to officers who investigated, who were of the opinion that the robbery was the work of a regular gang which has been operating throughout southern Wisconsin for some time past, and taking away their plunder in automobiles. If these depredations continue some insurance man is going to do a fine business writing burglary insurance.—Port Washington Star.

COPS REAP A BIG HARVEST

LUNEA—Dodge county is more than $4,000 richer as the result of the new traffic ordinance which went into effect this year. Estimates show that the county received the sum of $7,222.50, said sum being the total amount of fines collected in the county from April 15 to November 1 of this year. Two motorcycle officers were employed, Deputy Sheriff Hugo Lisko and Valva Dague, their salaries amounting to $2,487.54 up to November 1. For a month past the county has employed only one traffic officer, Deputy Sheriff Lisko, who is still on duty. The net balance brought to the county now amounts to $4,734.76.

RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS BY COAL GAS

Escaping gas from a kitchen range endangered the lives of the family of Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffmann last Friday morning. A daughter, Mabel, awoke feeling ill and went into the kitchen where she fell to the floor in a semi-conscious state. Mrs. Hoffmann had the same experience. A son, William, went to the aid of his mother and sister.—Cedarburg News.

PETER SCHPOOTEN RE-ELECTED

Dez. Schrooten of the town of Auburn, who has been a member of the board of supervisors of Fond du Lac county for six years, was re-elected as chairman of the board, at a meeting...

BEN LYON PLAYS STIRRING ROLE

Ben Lyon well known stage and screen portrayer of youthful leads, plays an important part in "Flaming Youth", a picturization of Warner Fabian's widely discussed novel, will be shown at the Kewaskum Movies on Sunday evening.

Lyon's last work for the screen was as Boris, Potash's son-in-law, in "Potash and Perlmutter".

The manner in which he handled this role in the famous Montague Glass comedy, played here last week, National executives that he was immediately signed to go west to play Monty Standish in "Flaming Youth".

This role, that of a young college athlete, one of Patricia Fontaine's sweethearts, is a part ideally suited to the young man, who in recent stage and picture plays has shown great promise of becoming one of the silver sheet's foremost male players.

Lyon, who is barely out of his teens has been an actor for seven years. He began his career as an extra, playing boy parts in productions by the old World Film Company. He progressed rapidly in films, and within a few months was playing leads. Then he was drawn to the legitimate stage and during the last three years has played in several big stage productions.

His career before the footlights include the playing of lead parts in 32 stock productions and leads in Rachael Carruther's "Mary the Third", Jeanne Eagle's "The Wonderful Thing", and Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen".

MACUCCI GETS THREE YEARS

Angelo Macucci, who fired four shots at Roy Krieser at the Marblehead school Nov. 1, while becoming angered at not winning a duck, and who was a week later arrested at Milwaukee, began a three-year sentence in the state prison at Waupun on Wednesday. Macucci was sentenced last Friday afternoon by Judge Chester Fowler on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. After serving his time at Waupun he will be returned to Syracuse, N. Y., where he will have to face the charges of murder. Though he shrinks with fear every time Syracuse, N. Y. is mentioned, Macucci boastfully admits that he killed one man and stabbed another. He spent three years in a New York prison for stabbing a fellow countryman on Feb. 19, 1921 when he got into a brawl with Tomaso Procios. He drew a revolver the same revolver he used to shoot at Krieser. Macucci pulled the trigger and Procios doubled up with a fatal wound in the stomach from Macucci's revolver. Before the man died Macucci had him goodby.

KEWASKUM-WINS EXCITING GAME

As was briefly stated in last week's issue of the Statesman, "Spatz" Miller's gang of home talent basket ball artists, journeyed to Lorimira last week Thursday evening, where they defeated the Legion team of that place in a five minute overtime game by a score of 12 to 15. The game was indeed, very interesting and exciting as the score indicates. It was a nip and tuck battle, both teams playing a strong defensive game. There were only ten points scored during the first half, of which the locals were successful in getting six and their opponents four. The second half was a continuation of the first, both teams in pink of condition, fought hard to break through the defense lines, which opportunities were very few. With about one more minute to play, the score being 12 to 10 in favor of Lorimira, "Spatz" Miller found the loop for a two counter and tied the score, which ended the second half. In the extra five minutes of playing, Lorimira was held scoreless, while the locals succeeded in scoring three points. During the latter part of the five minute overtime, "Spatz" had to retire from the game because of injuries he received to his arm, when he was accidentally pushed into a window by the returning game will be played on the home floor in the near future. Harold Grantman of the Lorimira five was the star player for his team, while the plays for the locals were about even.

How Grantman did it.

On Thursday evening the local quintette opened the '24-25 basket ball season at the Opera House by overwhelmingly defeating the Glen Boosters by a score of 11 to 3. The visitors were completely outclassed and at no time had any chance whatever, to give Spatz gang any real competition. The first half ended 2 to 17. In the second half the visitors scored 11 points to the locals 14.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 25th, the Kewaskum High School basket ball teams will open their season at the Kewaskum Opera House when the girls' boys team will play the strong Oakfield boys and girls teams. The visitors come reputed as being strong aggregations, and no doubt will give the locals a good run for their money. Don't miss seeing the opener.

BASKET BALL AND DANCE AT FILLMORE

The Turner A. C. team will meet the Port Washington A. C. team at the Turn Hall, Fillmore, Sunday, Nov. 23. A big dance will follow the game. Music will be furnished by the Wisconsin Big Band. Game will be called at 8:15 sharp. Dancing from 9:15 till 2. Admission 50 cents including game and dance.

HOLSTEIN SALE AT WEST BEND

Following their established custom the Holstein Breeders of Washington County have planned a fall sale. At this sale they are offering 25 springing and milking registered Holsteins, most of which have excellent cow testing association records. In addition to this bunch of producing cattle, the breeders have consigned 15 registered open heifers and 10 registered bulls, most of which are large enough for service.

The following Washington County breeders are consignors of registered animals. Names of consignors of grade cows will be announced at sale time: Wm. Guhle, Wm. Pamperein, Fred Pamperein, Ernst Schultze, Chas. Backhaus, D. Rosenheimer, C. P. Riley, Schneis Bros., West Bend Cannery, Julius Etta, J. F. Mayer, Robt. Tanck, Jos. E. Pisk, Ray Lopien, Paul J. Bast, Val. Bast, Conrad Schmitt, and John Reau.

An earnest effort has been made to make this a quality sale, and many animals fit to be used as herd foundations will be offered for sale at the buyers price.

MILK TRUCK TIPS OVER

Due to the slippery condition of the roads on Monday, Oct. 21, the heavy snow fall, Albert Ohmsend, residing southwest of this village, who delivers milk to the local creamery, had the misfortune of tipping over with his truck, loaded down with milk, near the Otto Dorf farm home about four miles south of Kewaskum, when the truck left the road and tipped over spilling the milk. Mr. Ohmsend escaped unhurt.

EX-GOVERNOR BUYS TRANSIT LINE

Philipp, who owns and operates a large dairy farm two miles southeast of Hartford, because controlling proprietor of the Union Refrigerator Transit Company of Milwaukee, when he purchased the interest of his former partner, Eugene Wuesthoff recently. The deal involves more than $1,000,000. The refrigerator company was founded by the above mentioned people, and manufactures and operates refrigerator cars, of which there are several thousand now in operation on railroads of the United States. The factory is located between the Green Bay and Port Washington road, on twenty acres of land. The Mi Lora cigar company, which Mr. Philipp owns alone, is situated on the same land.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION

The fall term of circuit court of Washington County was in session at West Bend since Monday. The first case to be tried was that of State of Wisconsin vs. Alfred B. Froehlich, a former member of the Washington County road and bridge committee, who was indicted by the grand jury. On Monday he filed an affidavit of prejudice through his attorney, Peter J. Hayes, and by change of venue his case will be tried in circuit court in Dodge county. The next case was that of State of Wisconsin vs. Aug. Schauer of Hartford, who was also indicted by the grand jury. Schauer was found guilty as charged. The case of Arnold Kuetler, for burglary and larceny was settled out of court on Monday.

GERMAN-RUZICK WEDDING

At the St. John's church, Milwaukee on Wednesday occurred the marriage of Miss Amanda German and Charles Ruzick. The bride, who is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul German, of Theresa, was dressed in a white tulle crepe with pearls and lace. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Rosina Radinger of Theresa, wore a rose colored gown and carried a small bouquet of roses. Sylvester German was best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served with immediate relatives of both parties in attendance. They will take a short honeymoon after which they will reside at 661 Brady St., Milwaukee. Their many friends extend best wishes for a happy and prosperous married life.

If she were hard driven in some way which she had not seen fit to confide to him, if she were forced to make this tremendous sale, if she were mad or had at last lost her nerve, frightened at the thought of the heavy sums of money to be raised at the end of the winter, well, then it still could do no harm for him to speak his mind to her. Hampton had told her the price which the horses were to bring; it was pitifully small and Lee meant to tell her so, to tell her further that he would guarantee an enormous gain over it if she gave him time. He would be doing his part though she called him meddling for his pains.

Marcia Langworthy, hidden in a big chair on the veranda, watched him approach with interest, though Lee was unconscious of her presence. He had lifted a hand to rap at the door when she called to him, saying: "Good evening, Mr. Mysterious Lee. Have you forgotten me?"

Though he had pretty well forgotten her, it was not necessary to tell her that. Her coming was toward him, putting out his hand, she said cordially, "I haven't seen you for a long time, have I? Two or three, you know; busy all day and half the night, for one thing, and for another, Hampton has monopolized you, hasn't he?"

"To a man your size the second reason is absurd. . . . Will you sit down? You see, I am taking it for granted that you come here to see me. Unless, and her eyes twinkled brightly up at him, "you were surreptitiously calling on Mrs. Simpson?"

"I'd love to talk with you," he assured her, "as I've just finished my work here and got into the habit of running away with me into the night. I really came up for a word with Miss Sanford."

"Oh, didn't you know?" asked Marcia. "Judith isn't here."

"Isn't here?" he frowned. "No, I didn't know. I haven't seen much of her lately and didn't know her plans. Where is she?"

"In San Francisco. Her lawyers went for her, you know. Something about a tangle in her father's business. Funny you hadn't heard; she left Saturday night."

"Saturday? This was Tuesday evening, Judith had been away three full days. Lee, thinking hurriedly, thought that he saw now the explanation of Judith's ordering a sale like this. Her lawyers had found what Marcia called a "tangle" in Luke Sanford's affairs; there had been an incident call for a large sum of money to straighten it out, and Judith had accepted the only solution.

Lee, however, had not seen it to confide to him, if she were forced to make this tremendous sale, if she were mad or had at last lost her nerve, frightened at the thought of the heavy sums of money to be raised at the end of the winter, well, then it still could do no harm for him to speak his mind to her. "Isn't here?" he frowned. "No, I didn't know. I haven't seen much of her lately and didn't know her plans. Where is she?"

"In San Francisco. Her lawyers went for her, you know. Something about a tangle in her father's business. Funny you hadn't heard; she left Saturday night."

"Saturday? This was Tuesday evening, Judith had been away three full days. Lee, thinking hurriedly, thought that he saw now the explanation of Judith's ordering a sale like this. Her lawyers had found what Marcia called a "tangle" in Luke Sanford's affairs; there had been an incident call for a large sum of money to straighten it out, and Judith had accepted the only solution.

Lee, however, had not seen it to confide to him, if she were forced to make this tremendous sale, if she were mad or had at last lost her nerve, frightened at the thought of the heavy sums of money to be raised at the end of the winter, well, then it still could do no harm for him to speak his mind to her. Hampton had told her the price which the horses were to bring; it was pitifully small and Lee meant to tell her so, to tell her further that he would guarantee an enormous gain over it if she gave him time. He would be doing his part though she called him meddling for his pains.

Marcia Langworthy, hidden in a big chair on the veranda, watched him approach with interest, though Lee was unconscious of her presence. He had lifted a hand to rap at the door when she called to him, saying: "Good evening, Mr. Mysterious Lee. Have you forgotten me?"

Though he had pretty well forgotten her, it was not necessary to tell her that. Her coming was toward him, putting out his hand, she said cordially, "I haven't seen you for a long time, have I? Two or three, you know; busy all day and half the night, for one thing, and for another, Hampton has monopolized you, hasn't he?"

"To a man your size the second reason is absurd. . . . Will you sit down? You see, I am taking it for granted that you come here to see me. Unless, and her eyes twinkled brightly up at him, "you were surreptitiously calling on Mrs. Simpson?"

"I'd love to talk with you," he assured her, "as I've just finished my work here and got into the habit of running away with me into the night. I really came up for a word with Miss Sanford."

"Oh, didn't you know?" asked Marcia. "Judith isn't here."

"Isn't here?" he frowned. "No, I didn't know. I haven't seen much of her lately and didn't know her plans. Where is she?"

'Tis an old maxim in the schools that fattery is the food of fools. Yet now and then your men of wit will condescend to take a bit. —Jonathan Swift.

FOODS YOU WILL LIKE

Planked dishes sound complicated to one who has never prepared them. However, given the plank, a two-inch-thick oak, hickory or maple plank, with a groove far enough from the edge to hold the juices of the meat, and the rest is simple. A plank that has been used, browned and baked well is much better as it ages. It is best to put a new one, after giving it a good scrubbing and rinsing into the oven and give it a good, hard baking.

Hot Cross Buns.—Dissolve one cake of compressed yeast in one-half cupful of lukewarm water; add two cupfuls of scalded, cooled milk, three cupfuls of flour, set in a warm place after beating well. When light, add one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, two egg yolks, one-quarter of a cupful of melted butter, one cupful of currants or seedless raisins and enough flour to knead the mixture to a soft, light dough. When doubled in bulk turn upside down on a board lightly dredged with flour, roll in a sheet and cut into rounds. Set the rounds an inch apart in the baking tin. When doubled in bulk, bake a half-hour in a hot oven. When baked, brush over the surface of each with white of egg and return to the oven to dry and glaze. Remove to a wire cooler and decorate with confectioner's frosting by piping a cross on each.

Terrapin of Lamb.—Cut into dice enough cold cooked lamb or veal to make two cupfuls. Rub together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of dry mustard and one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika. Add to one and one-half cupfuls of stock or milk and stir until boiling. Add one tablespoonful of catsup, two tablespoonfuls of currant jelly and two raw eggs; beat with a Dover egg beater until quite thick. Add the diced meat, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice or flavored vinegar and turn into a hot dish. Serve on Boston brown bread, toasted and well-buttered.

A fine gravy is as important to serve with a turkey as the stuffing or any of the other accessories.

There is nothing holier in this life of ours than the first consciousness of love—the first fluttering of its silver wings—the first rising sound and breath of that wind which is so soon to sweep through the soul, to purify or destroy.—Lansdown.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT?
This is the season of the year when the cool days stir the blood and quicken the appetite.

Potato Salad.—To six cupfuls of hot sliced potatoes, add two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one small grated onion, one-half cupful of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley and one cupful of heavy cream. Mix thoroughly, using two silver forks. Serve cold on a platter surrounded with slices of smoked ham.

Stuffed Celery Salad.—For a delicious salad this is a joy to the palate. Cream one tablespoonful of butter, add one cream cheese, a dash of paprika, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and three stuffed olives chopped. Fill the hollow stalks of tender crisp celery. With a sharp knife cut across the stalks, making pieces about one-third inch wide. Add a little French dressing and on each individual portion place mayonnaise dressing dotted with walnut meats coarsely cut.

Canned Peach Pudding.—Put six halves of canned peaches through a colander, add one beaten egg, one-half cupful of milk, the same of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Lastly stir in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. The batter should be quite stiff. Pour one-half of the mixture into a greased pudding dish, place over it six halves of peaches hollow side up, fill the cavity with red jelly or jam, pour over the remainder of the batter and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour, or until done. Sift granulated sugar over the top and set under the gas flame to melt the sugar and brown.

Cider Jelly.—Soften one-half package of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water, and dissolve by setting the dish in hot water; add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, and when dissolved and cooled add three cupfuls of sweet cider; let stand twenty-four hours. Arrange in tablespoonfuls around a platter of cold boiled ham.

Roast Beef.—Select a piece cut from the back of the rump, wipe with a damp cloth and set skin side down in a roaster, rub with salt and flour and place in a hot oven to sear over the surface; reduce the heat after twenty minutes, and let cook one hour and a half. Serve with:

WEAK, RUN DOWN AFTER SICKNESS

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Mrs. Dube Well and Strong

E. Hartford, Conn.—"After a severe sickness I was so weak that I could not do my house work, so my mother told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me so much that I took two more bottles and felt fine. I have just given birth to a nice baby girl and am feeling strong and well. So different from the way I felt before. I am taking the Vegetable Compound right along while nursing. The baby seems to be in good health, and my friends say they see a big change for the better in me."—Mrs. EUGENE DUBE, 69 Woodbridge Street, East Hartford, Connecticut.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine to bring back health and strength. Many mothers have found this true, as did Mrs. Dube. Ask some of your neighbors and friends, for there are women everywhere who know by experience the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bud Lee Was on Him, Throwing Him Back.

Hampton, I take this to be Trevers' last big play. And, by thunder, he was mighty near gotten away with it!

"Don't you dare do it!" blazed out young Hampton. "Carson, you take orders from me. Get out of this house and leave the back where they are in the morning."

"Go ahead, Carson," cut in Lee's hard voice. "I'll take care of Hampton here."

"You will, will you?" cried Hampton. With one bound he was at the table, jerking open a drawer. As his hand sought the weapon lying there, Bud Lee was on him, throwing him back. Carson looked at them a moment, then went to the door.

"You're right Bud," he said calmly as he went out. "Lee, forcing himself to show a calmness like Carson's, said gently to Hampton: 'Can't you see the play? It's up to you to kick in and stop it. There's a telephone; call up the buyers in Rocky Bend. They're there now, or at least their drivers are, if they're coming out here in the morning. Tell them the deal is off.'"

"Can't I see?" said Hampton, writhing out of Lee's hands, on his way to the door. "You bet I can see! If you and Carson think that you can run me—"

Then, for good and all, Lee gave over trying to reason with Hampton. There was too much to be done to waste time.

CHAPTER XIII

A Signal-Fire?

Bayne Trevers' way had ever been to play safe, the way of a coward or a wise man. Even now, no doubt he was giving an account of himself in legitimate endeavor at the lumber camp, putting in his appearance at his regular hour, safe miles lying between him and that which might occur upon the Blue Lake ranch, establishing alibi, conducting himself like the man he wished the world to think him. But in the mind of Bud Lee there was no question, no doubt, Bayne Trevers, or one of Bayne Trevers' gang, was even at this instant holding Judith somewhere until this colossal deal could be put over. Trevers or one of his gang—and Lee's face went whiter, his hands shut tighter into hard fists, as there came to his mind the picture of Quininn's twisted face and evil, red-dimmed eyes.

"Well?" snapped Carson. "What now?"

"There's going to be no sale in the morning," said Lee and at the new strange tone in Lee's voice Carson jerked up his head, thrusting it forward, peering at the other through the moonlight.

"Say it again," muttered Carson. "The said so? Miss Judith?"

"She isn't here," replied Lee briefly. "Hasn't been here since Saturday night."

Now, with more cause than ever, did Carson stare at him.

"Then what did Pollock Hampton say for? By cripes, if this is one of that young boy-my-rumb's jokes, I'm going up to the house and murder him. That's all. An' right now."

Bud Lee Stood—Staring Into Hampton's Face.

you think for one little minute that I'll stand for your high-handed actions, you're mistaken."

At a look from Lee, Carson stepped quickly forward, so that Hampton stood between them.

"You come with us," and now Lee no longer sought to be pleasant. "And keep still or we'll stop your mouth with a yard of cloth. This way, Carson."

With right and left arms gripped, with legging feet and furious eyes, Hampton went between them to the door. For an instant only did he struggle; then, with a snort of disgust, seeing the futility of making a fool of himself, he went quietly.

Just what he expected as a result of a visit to the girl's room, Lee did not know. He hoped for some sign to tell him something, anything. Quietly the three went through the house until they came to Judith's bedroom. Here all had been set in order by Mrs. Simpson. On entering the room a

Lord Didn't See Much to Admire in Wordsworth

Wordsworth is held up for the derisive gaze of future generations in the journal of the fourth Lord Holland, published in London.

His lordship was a languid young man of fashion, who employed part of his leisure in the early days of the Nineteenth century in keeping a rather dull journal into which the unlovely public is at length permitted to gaze, says the Living Age.

One paragraph, scrawled on the evening of March 18, 1802, suffices, however, to redeem the journal, for the more important topic of food being safely disposed of, Lord Holland bestows three aristocratic sentences on Wordsworth:

"Dined at the R's. A very dull affair. We had, however, aperçes, a rarity at this season. Lady B. informed me that these, as well as the pommes de terre, were sent direct from the estate. Over the wine talked with

Lamb's Merry Jest

One of Lamb's jobs on the Morning Post was to supply half a dozen jokes a day, for which Dan Stuart paid him 6 pence each, and held him well paid. Six fresh-baked jests a day is a tall order. The fashion of flesh-colored stockings for the women proved a tolerable help in time of trouble, and Lamb boasts justly of his masterpiece, inspired by pink stockings. He wrote that "Modesty, taking her final leave of mortals, her last blush visible in her ascent to the heavens by the tract of the glowing instep."—Manchester Guardian.

Gibbet Superseded Cross

Crucifixion as a method of punishing criminals remained in force throughout the Roman empire until the early part of the Fourth century. The death by the cross was abolished by the Emperor Constantine and was replaced by the gibbet, which continued as a means of execution until comparatively recent times. It figures frequently in the history of England. It was also used as an instrument of punishment in the British colonies and was so employed in the island of Newfoundland, where there are several "Gibbet Hills," marking the site of hangings.

WHY HENS LAY OFF IN WINTER

The poultryman feels that it is the irony of fate to have his hens begin to loaf on the job when egg prices begin to soar. It's the winter eggs that are laden with golden profit, but how to get eggs in winter—that's the problem.

John Marx has been advised by Blatchford Calf Meal Company whom he represents locally, that Prof. R. E. Caldwell, a noted authority on egg production, has prepared a wall chart that actually tells how to make hens lay in fall and winter. The chart is free to poultry raisers who write for it. Every step in successfully caring for and feeding the hen is explained in this chart, yet the information is given briefly by picture and diagram. The chart is beautifully lithographed in colors, suitable to frame or hang on the wall for ready reference.

If you would like a copy write Blatchford Calf Meal Company, Waukegan, Illinois, and ask for Chart No. E-44.—Advertisement.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all our neighbors, relatives and friends, for the kind sympathy extended to us in our recent bereavement, illness, death and burial of our beloved father, Math Schmitt. To the pall bearers, flower girls, to Rev. Reichel for his comforting words, to all who loaned cars, and to all who attended the funeral.

The Surviving Children.

Kleptomania.

Kleptomania denotes a disorder of volition caused an impulsion and constituting a symptom of insanity, due to mental impairment. It is characterized by impulsive acts done without a reasoning process. Kleptomaniacs appropriate generally bright or attractive articles, storing them away often with out concealment, never putting them to any use or obtaining any gain from them.

Live Long in East Friesland.

The record for community longevity is claimed by East Friesland, a province bordering on Holland in the North sea. Within the last few months three women each more than 100 years old, have died there, and a fourth has entertained her friends at her 102d birthday party.

Burglars in Peru.

Burglars in Peru, when about to enter a house, supply themselves with a sponge and a bucket of water. With the sponge they moisten the mud-covered doorway, and the thin coating is easily dissolved. Then they readily get through the door to work, and make a hole large enough to pass through.

Prescriptions Followed.

Doctor—Has your husband had any lunch intervals since my last visit, Mrs. Jinks? Mrs. Jinks (with dignity)—"He's had nothing except what you ordered."—London Answers.

Retirement.

It is in retirement that one feels the preciousness of genius and friendship, as one hears best in the silence of the night the sound of the sea or the song of the nightingale.

A Little Later.

At the marriage altar they take each other for better or for worse. A little later he thinks it couldn't have been worse and she thinks she might have done better.

Misses Small and Sharp.

Miss Small (having taken part in amateur show)—"Oh, I'm so tired; I had to stand all the evening." Miss Sharp—"So dear, you didn't have to stand nearly so much as we did."

Use for Sodatol.

Eighteen million pounds of sodatol, a surplus war explosive made by mixing TNT and sodium nitrate, is to be used in state and federal road construction.

Sandpaper on Bottles.

Sandpaper on bottles containing poison is the latest method to prevent their contents being taken by mistake in the dark for medicine.

Those Who Admonish.

Wisely do those admonish us who forbid us to do anything of which we may be in doubt, whether it is right or wrong.

Evidently Not All Turkeys Are Unlucky

At Least, This One Ought to Be Happy in Such Companionship.

America's Thanksgiving Days

Since the earliest times and throughout all the nations of the earth, there has been and still is observed some sort of festival in celebration of the ingathering of the grains and fruits of the soil. Moreover, religious services of some sort have always had a prominent part in the festival. As in ancient times the peoples offered sacrifices and gave offerings to some special deity in gratitude for the present and supplication for the future, so today the sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving for the blessings of the present and solemn prayer for their continuance in the future are offered to God.

The Old Testament is filled with exhortations calling the Hebrews to bring their "first fruits" unto the house of the Lord, to adorn the temple with boughs and palm branches, and continue the feast and rejoicing for seven days. The ancient Egyptians offered sacrifices and gave offerings of corn and wine to Nuth, the mother of the sun. The ancient Teutons and Scandinavians offered sacrifices to Frey, the god of rain and sunshine, and the author and protector of all fruits of the soil. Although for the most part, present-day celebrations are connected with the final ingathering of the crops, the festive observance in many countries is still made with the "first fruits."

Distinctly American, as commemorated in America, is distinctly an American institution. The day finds its birth in that first Thanksgiving observed by the dauntless Pilgrims of Plymouth colony in the fall of 1621, who were justly grateful for the first harvest in their new home in Massachusetts, and Governor Bradford appointed three days of thanksgiving and feasting. Chief Massasoit and other friendly Indians were hidden to the feast, and brought with them four dressed deer.

The dawn of the first day of Thanksgiving was broken by the booming of a great cannon, and later a solemn procession filed toward the meeting-house. Elder Brewster carried the great Bible, and Governor Bradford followed in the rear. After the service the party returned to the central log cabin, where all enjoyed such a feast as they had not tasted since leaving their home land the year before. The ceremonies lasted for three days, and it is to be doubted if many similar gatherings since have been filled with such friendliness and brotherliness, as characterized this first day of thankfulness. Although the first year in the new land had been a hard one for the colonists, nearly half of their number dying during the first terrible winter, yet they felt that they had much to be grateful for.

The year 1622 was even more fraught with misfortune, but again they declared and observed their thanks, and continued to do so year after year. Later the idea of Governor Bradford—a period of "rejoicing together after a more special manner"—was taken up by other colonies, such as Boston, Salem and Virginia. The state of Connecticut did much to foster and encourage the annual celebration of Thanksgiving day, and by the first quarter of the following century the fall festival had become well established throughout the New world. The Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam had brought with them memories of Thanksgiving days in Holland, where, indeed, the Pilgrims had also been initiated into the Dutch manner of observing such festivals. The annual Thanksgiving day in the Netherlands fell early in October, when the people went to church to thank God for their deliverance from the Spanish; for the Dutch early in the Seventeenth century cast off the yoke of the Spanish, just as our forefathers later threw off the yoke of Britain, because their rights were invaded and they were taxed without their consent. In the New Amsterdam (New York), the first Thanksgiving proclamation on record was in 1644, in gratitude for deliverance from the Indians.

Thanksgiving in December. With the coming of Revolutionary times, the custom of Thanksgiving days spread still further. In October, 1775, a proclamation was issued for Thanksgiving to be observed December 15, signed "By order of the Provincial Congress, John Hancock, President." This proclamation is noteworthy, since it was the first to appear without the royal arms and the words, "God Save the King." Previous to that date the proclamations had read something after this fashion (1743): "In the seventeenth year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord George the Second, by the Grace of God of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, etc., God Save the King."

The first national proclamation for a Thanksgiving was made by the Continental Congress, designating December 18, 1777. The next year, December 30 was set apart, although in May a special day of thanks had been appointed upon receipt of the news that France had signed a treaty of alliance with the thirteen states of the American Union.

Washington's Proclamation. After the signing of peace with Great Britain, in October, 1783, congress appointed December 11 as a day of Thanksgiving. In January, 1795, George Washington issued a national proclamation for February 10, in recognition of our exemption from foreign war, the prospect of continued exemption and the great degree of internal tranquillity, and directing the people to "render thanks to the great Ruler of nations for the manifold and signal mercies which distinguished our lot as a nation."

Not until April, 1815, did another national Thanksgiving occur, proclaimed by President Madison upon the conclusion of the War of 1812. During the Civil war, President Lincoln appointed a day of Thanksgiving following the victory at Gettysburg, and it was he who established the custom of Presidents issuing annual Thanksgiving proclamations, appointing the last Thursday of November. Today the governors of many of the states issue proclamations in conjunction with that of the President, so that Thanksgiving is the one holiday of the year receiving official sanction and personal support on the part of Americans of all political and religious beliefs.

With the years of plenty that have followed succeeding generations all through this prosperous land of ours the spirit of Thanksgiving day has grown. Mixed with the thankful attitude for the things that bring comfort in life, there is now a keen sense of joy and of rejoicing. We make it a day, not only of thanks for newly garnered wealth, but of celebration for the good things of past years and generations. So we gather with our churches, our communities, our friends or our families; we praise God for the wonderful scheme of nature that assures us each year a seed time and a harvest.

Once more there is abundant occasion, at the waning of the harvest moon, for making a thankful celebration of our nation-wide Thanksgiving day.—Michigan Farmer.

A Prayer

Give us this day our daily bread;
In prayer we all engage;
But please to have it well mixed up
With parsley, milk, and sage.

And keep this bread from worldly eyes,
Our pride must be held down;
So please to hide it all away
In a turkey cooked quite brown.

That man does not by bread alone
Is still quite true, we need;
So with our bread include today—
Some cranberries and ice cream.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

MOST of a married woman's life is spent in thinking up devices for curing a man's little vices.

What a man calls his "friendship" for a woman is always either the beginning of love, or what is left of it, after the romance and the thrills are gone.

A woman's accusations roll right off a man's consciousness like water off a rubber coat; but her denials are sometimes so fraught with meaning that it makes him shiver with apprehension.

A mind-woman is the lily that adorns a platform; a heart-woman is a rose that sweetens a man's own home. The average man always marries one of these—and then spends his life thinking wistfully of the other.

A woman seldom finds real love until she has grown weary looking for it, and has begun to look for the amusement and diversion of synthetic sentiment.

A wife can never appreciate the cheerful generosity with which her husband offers to lend the lawn mower to a neighbor whom he wouldn't trust with his fishing-tackle.

To charm a boy of twenty, call him a "hard-boiled cynic"; to charm a man of forty, call him "stilly boy!"

Most men have "commuting hearts" that leave home regularly, but always come back again to wife for a rest.

KEEPING THEM COMING

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A WONDERFUL start is a wonderful thing. Your heart full of hope and your head full of schemes. But, oh, it is easy to laugh and to sing when just setting out for the land of your dreams. Good starters are many, good finishers few; Though fortune may follow, good luck may attend, When day's at the dawning and silver the dew, It's keeping them coming that counts in the end.

And one for the smelter, or logs for the saw, Or cars for the shipper, or steel for the mill, Or sales o'er the counter, or grain for the straw, Whatever it is, we can win it if we will.

It isn't production a day or a week, It isn't the size of the order you send; Whatever our labor, whatever we seek, It's keeping them coming that counts in the end.

No target is hit by a flash in the pan, No race ever won by a spurt at the start— It's playing the woman and playing the man, It's steady of purpose and sturdy of heart. Whatever the world is expecting of you, What matters is this: Can it safely depend On the things that you make, on the tasks that you do? It's keeping them coming that counts in the end.

SEASONABLE DISHES

IF YOU have never eaten carrot pie, here is something yet worth trying: Carrot Pie.

Scrape and boil until soft enough carrots to make a pint of pulp. Rub through a sieve, add three pints of milk and six well-beaten eggs, two tablespoons of melted butter, juice of half a lemon, one teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind of the lemon, and one large cupful of sugar. This amount will make two large pies. Bake as you do custard pies.

Oatmeal Bread.

Pour one cupful of boiling water over one-half cupful of oatmeal, add one-fourth cupful of molasses and one teaspoonful of salt. Dissolve one-fourth of a yeast cake in a little water. Stir in all the flour possible with a spoon, rise over night. Pour into tins and let rise until twice its size. Bake about two hours in a moderate oven. Be sure to keep covered while rising.

Cabbage Salad.

Cut a small hard head of cabbage into quarters, let stand in ice water to chill; drain in a cloth hung on a hook until dry. Cut out the hard hearts, then shred the cabbage very fine. For a pint of the cabbage add one tablespoonful of finely minced parsley and two finely diced slices of pineapple, a green pepper freed from veins and seeds and chopped very fine, then mix with the following dressing: To one-half teaspoonful of salt add one-fourth teaspoonful each of mustard, pepper, and four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, with one and one-half tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Mix with the salad dressing and decorate with bits of cooked beets cut into fancy shapes.

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: Short, dark, round head, back with a slight curve, nobby, a big ring on his left-hand main finger, hair slightly cropped, plastered down. Hat always hanging off behind like the circus lady on her white charger. Great on business—clothing business—knows all the latest fashions, latest wrinkles, what he thinks of your clothes and where you could get them cheaper.

IN FACT: He is the professional clothing buyer.

Prescription for the bride: Buy his clothes and let him think he gets you!

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

FROM THE SILENCE

FROM the silent activity of the human brain come the world's greatest achievements, in the arts, in music, in letters and in statesmanship. In moving night and day, unceasing in its efforts to attain a higher plane, the mind of man is ever reaching out to unexplored realms in its perpetual quest for something new—something greater, grander and more sublime than is known today.

And in this quest the silent mind is the most potential force in the universe.

Every material thing in time must eventually yield to this awe-inspiring energy. If you will closely observe the men who are stirring the world by their accomplishments, who are rising above impending obstacles to new heights, who are sweeping away ancient traditions, startling mankind with the daring torch of newly discovered truths, all having a bearing on a higher and better life, you will find they are souls of silence, dwelling with the stillness of their own thoughts.

Only the silent mind can separate the gold from the dross; only the silent mind venture the dizzyest elevations and dare strike a new note that rings like a thunder-clap above the tinkling din of the commonplace.

Such minds have no quarrel with nature, with whom they walk arm and arm on intimate terms, gathering from her her secrets and using them for the uplifting of the world's peoples.

Such minds seek solitude, for it is in the quiet seclusion of their own chosen environment that they go forth in search of life and light and treasure, far too rich and elusive to be found except by souls who hunt in silence and are willing if necessary to give a lifetime to the quest.

In this respect the silent man goes far beyond all the loudest types. Being humble, sincere, patient, earnest and devoted to his cause, he never falters in the work he has set himself to do. He holds resolutely to his purpose, tranquilly wending his way without noise or bluster.

He has a certain rugged ardor of temperament which never admits defeat or loss of faith. He is the type of man that changes the destinies of nations overnight; not an actor, not an imitator, but a creator, a prototype of himself, vested with power of revelation, with which he was born.

Swamp-Root a Fine Medicine

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by parcel post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

BUT THANKSGIVING IS THANKSGIVING

Our ideas of days of fasting and thanksgiving have changed somewhat since the times of our forefathers who gave us this annual festival.

To them, successes and failures; blessings and calamities were arbitrarily handed out by God as rewards and punishments for the acts of His creatures.

It was comparatively easy to account for good crops, good health and good weather on the ground that the individual, group or community was "not as other men are."

And as for calamities, desolations and death?

Were there not Sabbath desecrations and vanities, and too much love for the child, perhaps, or for something or other; for God was "a jealous God."

Much of this has passed, or is passing away, thanks to a better knowledge of the laws governing the Universe.

Have we nothing, then, for which to be thankful?

Yes.

For our heredity, which is from God.

For the ability to discover the laws in operation in this world, and to think God's thoughts after Him.

For this we are able to work out our own salvation; for it is God who worketh in us.—Ohio Farmer.

Road Building Far Behind the Automobile

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business. Because of this the modern paved highway has become an economic necessity. Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile. The great majority of our highways are as old as dirt, and the single-track, narrow gauge railway of fifty years ago. Such a condition not only seriously handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing taxpayers millions of dollars annually. Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon. Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

Diagram of the New Four Tube Eria and Saves "B" Supereflex That Gives Great Volume Battery Current.

The popular diode-reflex circuit has been further improved by the engineers in the Electrical Research laboratories. Another stage of audio frequency amplification has been added to the three-tube set. This gives the circuit greater receiving range and more power on the distant stations. Simplicity of construction and ease of operation and tuning has not been sacrificed by the additional stage and no extra controls, other than a rheostat, have been added to the circuit. The selectofomer can still be used in place of the varicooper. The selectofomer is essentially a fixed coupler for use in any circuit where a transference of energy must take place between the aerial circuit and the grid of the first tube. The tuning is accomplished by means of a variable condenser across the secondary windings in place of the inefficient method of taps on the primary and a variable secondary. In addition to reducing the losses that are usually present when taps are used, the selectofomer turns the reflex into a set that can be calibrated as to wavelength. The location of a station can be located by the number of the dial where it came in and be tuned in at some future time by setting the dials at their former positions. A deciding saving of tubes and battery current results by the use of this type of circuit. The equivalent of two stages of radio frequency amplification, detector, and three stages of audio frequency amplification, are obtained by the four tubes. The radio

Pointers on Saving Tubes From Blowouts

By HERBERT S. HALL, E. E.
Many radio fans when trying out a new circuit and at other times are very much afraid that their tubes might be destroyed by the B battery potential being accidentally connected across the filaments. If two 22 1/2 volt B batteries are connected in series with a resistance of approximately 20,000 ohms as shown, a small voltmeter will show practically no voltage across the terminals A and B, that is, less than 1/2 volt, an amount which may be safely applied across the filament of any tube without danger. Yet when terminals A and B are applied to the plate circuit in the usual manner the volume of sound will be the same as though a 22 1/2-volt battery were used in the regular way. There is one very good use of this arrangement other than for testing purposes. When leaving the set to be used by an inexperienced person the latter cannot "blow" the tube by connecting wrong wires to the tube or A battery terminals. For those who are interested in what happens when this hookup is used with a set the following nontechnical description should suffice: Part of the combined voltage (45) is dissipated in the resistor. This is done by wrapping a layer of ordinary friction tape around the metal part of the screw driver down to about one-half inch of the point. Two Pairs Phones and Speaker at Same Time. It is sometimes necessary to use more than one pair of phones or loud speaker in a radio set at the same time. This generally means that the ends of the pairs of phones must be tied together in some fashion, and come apart at the most interesting part of the program. To avoid all this trouble merely insert two or more double circuit jacks in the set. Connect the outside prongs in series with the plate circuit and the "B" battery lead of the tube in which the extra phones are to be used. Then connect all the inside prongs of the extra jacks together. That is, the two prongs of each jack should be fastened together by soldering a piece of wire across them. Then as many pairs of phones may be connected in the circuit as there are jacks provided.

Prevent Short Circuits by Taping Screw Driver

It has happened, no doubt, to many, that while tightening some screws inside of the set, the screw driver has slipped and shorted the "A" or the "B" battery. It also usually happens that the "B" battery will be shorted directly across the "A" battery, thereby burning out one or more tubes. This could be prevented by disconnecting the "B" battery, but as a rule the experimenter does not take the trouble or time to use this safety expedient. This being the case, it is the best policy to insulate the screw driver so that such an occurrence will be impos-

WINTER'S COAT STYLES; PIQUANT FORMAL FROCKS

CLOTH and fur appear to be made for one another in this winter's handsome coats. They may go their separate ways, for there are all-cloth coats and all-fur coats—but they are in the small minority as compared with the fur-trimmed coats or coats in which cloth and fur are about equally represented. The demand for the combination of cloth and fur has focused the attention of designers on new ways of using furs and also on emphasizing furs that have not been popularly used heretofore so that the last word in coat style is a word about fur. The two coats pictured are both made of velvety fabrics somewhat akin to soft fur in appearance. At the left a taupe coat of velvet cloth reveals the advantage of its texture and color for combination with Hudson wool. It is an advance of the straight-front, opening at one side, and sponsors the barrel sleeve. A rich blend supplements the fur emplacements. Marmot fur makes a luxurious garment at the right, with shawl collar extended into a full-length front panel. There is more fur than cloth in the flaring sleeves. Brown furs are found to harmonize perfectly with many

Battery Switch With Good Locking Feature

The man who would borrow your automobile without your permission is somewhat hampered by the fact that you have the key to the switchboard in your pocket. If you are a radio fan, you can now rest assured that soon no one will tamper with your set or leave the tubes burning while you are away, thanks to the designer of a new battery switch with a locking feature. Children are apt to turn on the radio set and leave the tubes burning after they have finished listening in. Anyone unaccustomed to the operation of your set may damage the tubes or batteries, and without a switch of some sort you may often forget to turn off the tubes when you are through with your set.

Shaft Shuts Off Current When Pushed All Way In.

The nickel shaft of the new switch shuts off the battery current when it is pushed all of the way in. When the shaft is pulled half way out the current is turned on. The shaft can be pulled all of the way out of the switch, breaking the circuit. The shaft can be carried in your pocket until you again wish to use the receiver. In the meanwhile the set is locked and cannot be turned on with out the shaft.

The switch is of the quick make and break type with heavy phosphor bronze contact springs, the ends of which are fitted for soldering lugs. The switch is of the single hole mounting type with a knurled nut that can be adjusted for any thickness of panel.

Colors for Coats. This model can be recommended in brown suede velvours with brown fur or in dark green, taupe in any of the velvety fabrics used this season.

Some of the latest arrivals in coats show the use of two colors in the fabric and fur handlings and collar as a finish. Others stress new ways of using furs, which are made into plaid effects combining light and dark furs in bandings. Leopard cat is a bold fur whose beautiful color and black markings combine with beautifully warm brown, black or certain dull shades of green.

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

HEADACHES, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are Nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If this is allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease. Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication
Medical science has found at last in Lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

Wisconsin Needs Straight Thinking on Taxes

OUR state now has the highest income tax rates of all the industrial states in the Union. Only 16 states out of the 48 have income taxes, and of these, only 6 are industrial states. Here are the income tax rates by states:

Mississippi, 1/2% above $ 2,500	So. Carolina, one-third of U. S. rates
Missouri, 1% to 1 1/2%	Montana, 1% on corporations only
Delaware, 1% to 3%	Connecticut, 2% on corporations only
Massachusetts, 1 1/2% to 3%	New York, 1% to 3% on individuals
Oklahoma, 1/2% to 2% above $ 2,500	4 1/2% on corporations
Virginia, 1% to 2% above $ 3,000	(No personal property tax)
No. Carolina, 1% to 3% above $10,000	Tennessee, 3% on corporations only
Arkansas, 1/2% to 1%	Oregon, 1% to 6%
No. Dakota, 1% to 10% above $40,000	Wisconsin, 1% to 7%

North Dakota, not an industrial state like Wisconsin, alone has higher rates. But you know what happened in North Dakota!

When Wisconsin penalizes successful industry with high and yet higher income taxes and other states do not, three things happen:

1. Many Wisconsin factories become branches and their home offices are moved to other states, greatly reducing the income tax paid in Wisconsin.
2. Many valuable industrial men move out of Wisconsin.
3. Few (if any) new factories from outside come to make their homes in Wisconsin.

This means loss of dollars and opportunities to every farmer, wage earner, merchant, banker—in fact, every citizen.
