The project has feasible possibilities, and should the plans materialize both states would reap benefits. Wisconsin has surplus cattle and an appreciable market in Mississippi where one exists now, would not be amiss.

The question may be raised that competing market would be created n Mississippi, Surplus Wisconsin cattie must and will be disposed of some place and if not placed in Mississippi hould be disposed of somewhere else. If the Southern states wants the will get them, and if not from Wisconsin, will secure them elsewhere. the opportunity of pushing the moveof deriving the direct beneits thereof. Abandoning the Kimono

More and more Japanese parents are putting their children into foreign dress and shops are full of little dresses, aprons and hats. From an esthetic point of view this is regarded as a mistake, for the gay kimono is a much more stiractive garment than a dark flannel dress and far more becoming to little Japanese girls. But purents flad that the foreign dress allows greater freedom of action and as girls are going in for athletic sports full skirts and bloomers are better adapted to the purpose.

A practical new process for preserving tropical fruits, other than bananas and pineapples, so that they may be shipped long distances, recently has been discovered, according to Popular Science monthly. The fruit, gathered a little before it is ripe, is smeared with a thin coating of rubber latex, which, when congulated, forms a protective skin. The process of ripening is slowed up, it is said, keeping the fruit in good condition.

Waterspout Chased Ship The 147 passengers of the Bermuds liner Fort Victoria experienced the thrill of being chased by a waterspout on the trip up the Atlantic recently. The waterspout came within 150 feet of the ship, which was followed by several schools of porpoises which accompanied the vessel for several miles. There were at least 1,000 porpoises around the ship at times. The water spout was about 250 feet high.

New Liquid cleans dirtiest windows in 15 Seconds

Few drops take place of water, soap or powder. Ends hard rub-bing and polishing

AN amazing new discovery called C-it has taken all the hard work out of window cleaning. With C-it no water is needed, no coap or powder, no sponge or chamois. Just moisten a cloth with a few drops of C-it and rub lightly over the window. Then wipe the window dry. A quick and easy task—yee windows shine like clearest crystal.

C-it is pure and harmless as clean water. But a thousand times more cleansing. In it are combined certain ingredients that soften, loosen and absorb dirt as nothing else can. 30 a mere touch of C-it does the work of many minutes' scrubbing and polishing with water, soap or powder. You can now test C-it without risking a single penny. Just buy a 25c can and try it on one window. Then if you don't agree that it excels all other window cleaning methods, return the unused contents to your

ULCERS

A N ULCER is simply a sore known the skin or nuccous membrane, in other words, a breaking down of the ells, frequently with only slight tendency to get well. in the latter respect ulcers differ from healthy wounds which begin to get well almost as soon as they are rined or made.

Ulcers may be caused by injury, by urns, and by poor nutrition of the these where they occur. They may be accompanied with sloughing or destruction of the tissue, and perhaps by real sorption of dead and poisonous material. They are often attended with hemorrhage and with great weakness in consequence of the prolonged discharge which comes from them, and which means waste of tissue. This is particularly the case with ulcers which attend such diseases as syphilis and tuberculosis. Ulcers which accompany these diseases are often incurable unless means are found to cure the diseases which caused them. The treatment of ulcers should be constitutional and consist in building up the general condition; and also local, which is directed to the sore. The first will include all necessary hygienic measures, comfortable and well ventilated housing, sleep, exercise in the open air, good food, including an abundance of milk, and perhaps such tonics as cod-liver oil, quinine, strychnine and iron.

Local treatment includes cleanliness and frequent dressing of the ulcer, and the application of astringent and stimulating substances, especially such minerals as lead, copper, zinc, mercury

Good Equipment Makes a Good Farmer Better"

Every Farmer in This Community Should Know and Use This Tool

HE DUNHAM CULTI-PACKER is a real general purtool for use in this locality. It comes in for work ocorn, hay and alfalfa, beans, peas, winter wheat, and rchards. It puts the finishing touch on seedbeds, mis the soil around seeds after planting, conserves moisre after irrigation, and cultivates growing crops and old dalfa. Farmers who use the DUNHAM-CULTI-PACK-R find new uses for it each season. Experience proves to be one of the best form tool investments—one that will make money for you each year and save labor and time on many of your field and orchard operations.
