BAD ARM HINDERS COMBS' THROWING

Has Everything Else in Way of Greatness.

American league base runners have iscovered the same weakness in the throwing apparatus of Earl Combs, the New York American outfielder, that American association runners took advantage of when the former Kentucky school teacher was playing for the Louisville Colonels.

Combs, a great fly shagger, a great batter, fast of legs and a good slider, soon showed in the association that he couldn't throw. He was slow in getting his throw away, and the ball lacked steam and the necessary carry with a zipping bound at the finish. Base runners soon were taking an extra base on hits to Combs.

That is what they are doing in the American league. Combs is playing in one of the most difficult fields of any big show ball park. The shadows of the triple deck grand stand of Yankee field play no part in making the center suburb easy to patrol, and with the lively ball of present-day baseball outfielders are compelled to play so far back, that Combs, with not a strong arm, has little chance to cut It base runners.

With a man on first and a hit to enter field the base runner never slacks his speed at second. He just keeps on his way and seldom does Combs nail his man at the far base. Even with that weakness and also weakness in the handling of ground balls the former Louisvillian has won Chicken a la Marengo.-This dish is said to have been one that was originated for Napoleon after the hattle of Marengo; Cut up a fivepound chicken as for fricassee. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan and add three tablespoonfuls of the best live oil. When it is hot add the dark meat of the chicken and cook five minutes, then add the white meat with salt, pepper and a bit of garlie to season. Stir and cook twenty minutes, until each piece is a golden brown. Have ready a tomato sauce made from a can of tomato, a slice of onion, carrot and a sprig of parsley cooked thick and rubbed through a sieve; add one-half pound of fresh mushrooms and the chicken. Cook the mushrooms in butter for five minutes before adding. Arrange the chicken on a platter, add three tablespoonfuls of strained tomato to the gravy in the pan, stir until hot, pour over the chicken and serve.

Chicken Salad,-To a cupful of tender bits of chicken-white meat preferred-add two cupfuls of tender white celery finely cut, a handful of shredded almonds all mixed with a highly seasoned mayonnaise dressing.

Mother's Apple Pie.—Fill a prepared pastry shell with sliced apple, add two or three tablespoonfuls of water and put on the top crust. Bake slowly and when done carefully remove the crust with a sharp knife. Add sugar, spices and butter to taste, mixing well, replace the crust and serve as usual. This pie will retain all its juices, never running over.

If you want to buy a car on time

IT is to your advantage to buy the car that you can comfortably afford, on a payment plan that gives you a sure margin of safety.

General Motors has its own finance company, the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, operating the GMAC Plan. Through its service more than 1,000,000 families have purchased cars comfortably out of income.

On August 1 last, the price of this service, which had always been low, was further reduced. And the automobile-buying public is now saving millions of dollars annually as a result of this reduction and the influence of General Motors' leadership.

The purchase of automobiles on time is a universally accepted practice. The car is a utility and it is sound business to conserve capital and use credit. But buy on sound terms and at low rates. Any General Motors dealer will explain the advantages of the GMAC Plan.

Coil Information.

Any of the commercial three-circuit tuning coils may be used in this circuit. The one shown tunes with a .0005 mfd. variable condenser. It has a pancake tickler. However, some other sort of tickler will do as well. For instance, If you wind your own coil, you may use a 3½-inch diameter tubing for the stator, 4 inches high, placing 10 turns of No. 24 double silkcovered wire near the top (L1). Terminate. Leave 14-inch space and wind 45 turns of wire in the same direction for the secondary (L2). The tickler would consist of as many turns of the same kind of wire as you can put on any tubing that will rotate inside the secondary. Remember that a shaft baseboard, a grid leak, and a knob. The layout of the parts is very simole. As the condenser is the only real tuning element, it alone has a dial. The tickler coil is turned by means of a knob, even a rheostat knob, or, if destrable, a 2-inch dial may be used here. The rheostats, jack, and even the fixed condensers, including the grid condenser, are part of the detector-amplifier unit. The wiring precautions include these: Connect the rotor plates of the variable condenser to the grid return side of the coil L2, the 45-turn coil, if you make your own. This is the connection made to "A" plus. Connect the aerial coil so that the ground and "A" plus connections adjoin. This accounts for two terminals, one each of primary and secondary, and the other connections of these windings go to aerial and grid condenser, respectively. The tickler or movable coil may be joined to the plate of the detector tube in either manner, that is, either terminal to plate.

Old Language Revived

Creditable and hopeful though it may be for a revival of Hebrew culture, the establishment of a Hebrew university in Jerusaiem does not begin to compare in importance with the fact that little children are again talking, playing their games and calling each other names in that language of the prophets, which had once been classed as one of the world's dead tongues. Zangwill said that the index of life is speech. This is true. A people that speaks is not dead. And in order that world Jewry might share in this renaissance, which Sophie the highest kind shows itself at an Irene Loeb called "the greatest experiment of the century," there must be somewhere in this world a place where the Jew will have at least cultural predominance. And that place is Palestine.-Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

General Haller With Large Army Is Reported to Be Marching on Warsaw.

Warsaw.-Threat of Russian invasion; refusal of General Haller in command of Nationalist forces at Posen to make peace with General Philsudski; the commencement of a march on Warsaw by a strong force of regulars and volunteers from Cracow, led by General Dowbormusnicki, and the first meeting of Poland's new Interim government-these are developments of premier importance to Polish people.

The massing of Soviet troops on the western border, reported from Lemberg, is a matter causing grave concern. If the Bolshevikl purpose taking advantage of Poland's internal strife to overrun the country, another European debacle is in prospect.

One more development occurred when General Pilsudski proclaimed himself dictator.

Dictator Pilsudski may come into being, but even his enemies admit that his attitude so far has been to avoid civil conflict as much as possible. In an effort to avoid bloodshed, he dispatched Tromczynski, the chairman of the Polish senate, to Posen to negotiate with General Haller.

Haller, for years a political and military rival of Pilsudski, refuses to be placated. He has gathered a force of about 12,000 men and is in close communication with the Pluczeinski brothers, Nationalist deputies from Seyda, who are taking a leading part in the movement to resist the insurrectionists. General Haller states that as soon as other reinforcea junction with the Nationalist reported to be marching on Warsaw from the direction of Cracow, he controversy over agricultural legislation. The house is expected to decide whether it will pass the Haugen bill, which is being urged by leaders from the corn belt, or whether, if the Haugen bill is turned down, any other legislation will be put through as a substitute.

The controversy over agricultural egislation has in many respects become the largest issue before con gress. The question of the length of the session is, to a large extent, tied up with it.

It is generally recognized that the controversy over farm relief legislation is a matter of great political importance which is likely to affect not only the congressional elections this ears, but also the campaign of 1928. The Haugen bill, which contemplates plan for government aid in the disosition of the agricultural surpluses; the Tincher bill, which contemplates loans of government money to co-operatives, and the Curtis-Aswell bill. which is intended to foster and build up co-operative marketing organizaions, are the three measures before

The Haugen bill originally prorided authorizations of $375,000,000, but under a compromize plan, which its supporters have adopted, this has been cut down to $175,000,000. It will be determined whether this bill is to be kept intact, or largely so, or whether it is to be cut to pieces by amendment.

The administration and Secretary Jardine is opposed to it and the most reliable canvasses indicate it will be defeated.

One of the chief features of the bill, in the compromise form, is a provision for a lean for $75,000,000 to aid cotton production. The house will shortly vote on the question of authorizing such aid to the cotton producers. If the plan is turned down, the effect will be to lose all southern support for the bill and insure its defeat. This help proposed to cotton production is being assailed as a subsidy and it is a close question whether it will get the endorsement of

In case the Haugen bill is beaten. the advocates of the Tincher bill will try to get it passed and the same is rue of the Curtis-Aswell bill.

Many prominent members at both ends of the capital express the view that the outcome of the controversy will be no legislation at all. House leaders have been informed that if the house falls to pass anything, the senate will content it. viewpoint of the wets, puts entire self with speech-making and will adis a happy trait of Native Hemlock that gives stability insurance for your buildings down through the years. To this add these other essential advantages not possessed by any other structural lumber in equal combination:

1-Oversize studding, rafters and joists - 85 to 1884 more wood to piece -- greater structural strength

2-Contains no pitch -- Northern Hemlock lath won't s

plaster and are more fire resistant.

3-Holds nails like a vise - keeps your structure rigid gainst wind strain and climatic rigors.

4-Easy to work-speeds up construction and lowers building costs. Carpenters like it.
5-Takes paints and stains perfectly. 6-And-it's Grade-marked with Licensed Association Brand and Grade stamped on each piece by the manufacturer, insuring uniform quality and guaranteed grade

Then you will appreciate the big investment value in buildings constructed of genuine Northern Hemiock. Ask your lumberman to show you samples of Grade narrow North and all of Or write us for booklet chock-full of helotul suggested on luminous
