

KEWASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

A baseball game was played here last Friday. Campbellsport vs. Kewaskum. Campbellsport won by a score of 4 to 5.

Monday afternoon a very interesting lecture was given on American and Japanese manners by Mr. A. Iyda, of Japan.

Miss Besold: Conjugate the verb would.

Frank Kotter: Would you go to the store for me?

Mr. Nodoff: Did anyone eat a dead cow?

Andrew: I never ate a live one.

The seniors wrote several essays. The following is a specimen of one: The Three Bones of a Chicken

Before I start my essay, which involved needs correction, I am going to ask you a very hard question. How many of you have not eaten chicken meat? For those who have not eaten chicken meat I am going to tell a few facts about the frame work of the little flapper.

A chicken is made up of three things namely, meat, bones and feathers. The meat you eat, the bones you dog eat and the feathers you sleep on. Natures instinct always seems to make you take the biggest piece, in fact, I do. Before I take the meat I always look to see what kind it is, or how many bones are attached to it. I do this because I know the difference between the bones and you don't.

Let's suppose you were a hog, or a pig. In fact it makes no difference, and you took the biggest piece of meat on the platter. I am almost sure that after you had it on your plate you wished you could put it back. Upon close examination of this bone you will find it is one out of three kinds. It is either the wishbone, femurbone, or the backbone. A chicken has only these three kinds. The backbone gives it the top, the femur bone the bottom, and the wish bone holds the floor and roof together.

These three divisions of a midget flapper can be compared to the people of a community. This law holds true to all communities. Now you may wonder why some people grab for the biggest pieces and therefore get one of these three bones. The answer is very simple. How can they get anything else but one of the three bones? Where one kind stops the other starts, or makes a small detour. That is why chickens have legs and wings. Now to get down to the point, in fact, I wore out one point of my pen.

In order not to fail, because I see you are getting tired, in fact, I am myself, we will take our own class room for an example. It may seem impossible to you now, but seeing you are from Missouri I am going to show you. The first big bone I mentioned was the wishbone. The first thing you will say is that the other fellow helps to make the wishbone. This is very untrue. I can almost say, in fact, I am positive that yesterday some of you were wishing that you would not have to write an essay or prepare some other lesson. That is only one example. So we can see, without going on, that all people are wishing things, some more than others.

The next big bone I mentioned was the funny bone. This constitutes the floor of the chicken. Our next big problem is to compare it with people. Day after day, week after week, some people do nothing but take the funny bone of life. They do not seem to know when and where to be funny. The world was not made for sorrow alone, nor was it made for fun alone. It was made to shelter both. Some people can take care of more than others. It may be possible that in future years the funny bone will be made smaller and therefore it will take less people to make up the bone. No man using the word in the broad sense, can do any good to a community or group of people if he tries to be the whole bone alone.

The third and last bone is the backbone. This bone constitutes the roof of the chicken. People do not seem to like to eat the meat attached to the backbone. This might be due to the fact that they took both of the other bones. Nothing could be better than to have a chicken with backbone all over. Then all the people would have a chance to grab a piece. The people who do things, work for new improve-ments, do the things they should, and work for the welfare of the others have the true and only backbone. Community spirit or class room spirit without a backbone is like a house without walls. The next time we have a chance to grab a piece of the backbone it would be wise for all of us to grab it. In a small group some persons might be all of the backbone, some one all of the wishbone, and some one all of the funny bone. If the person with the wish bone would do what he wishes and the person with the funny bone would do a little wishing, this added to a little backbone would make a fairly good person. Therefore let's all be sure to get the backbone from the next chicken, and let the cat or dog have the other two.

GIBSON FILM HAS STRIKING LOCALE

Big Bear Lake, one of the most beautiful scenic spots of America, is shown in all its glory in a considerable part of "The Man in the Saddle," the Universal-Jewell, starring Hoot Gibson, which will be shown at the Kewaskum Movies to-morrow, Sunday.

The famous beauty spot of California provides a background for an entire sequence of the picture, and during the filming of "The Man in the Saddle" the whole troupe enjoyed a pleasant sojourn of two weeks at the resort.

Aside from its pictorial beauty, the lake and woods surrounding it are the scene of much high comedy, for Gibson in the role of a guide for tourists has troubles aplenty and wrings many laughs from the scenes.

"The Man in the Saddle" was directed by Cliff Smith from an original screen story by Charles A. Logue, of the scenario staff of Universal Pictures Corporation.

Fay Wray makes a lovely leading woman for the popular star, and the supporting cast includes Sally Long, Charles Hill Mailes, Emmett King, Clark Comstock, Duke R. Lee, Yorke Sherwood, William Dyer and others.

TOWN OF WAYNE GIRL WEDS

At the St. Paul's Lutheran church at Lomira occurred the marriage of Miss Gladys G. Coulter, daughter of David Coulter of the town of Wayne, to Alvin O. Zahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zahn of Lomira, on Wednesday, October 20. Rev. H. Wolter performed the ceremony. The couple was attended by Erwin Coulter, Walter Zahn, Sylvia Coulter and Dorothy Coulter. Virginia Schwartz and Evelyn Krieser, nieces of the bride, acted as flower girls. The bride wore a gown of navy blue georgette over flesh colored tulle and a head band of white chiffon. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and maiden's breath. Her attendants wore black satin gowns with head bands of gold and silver leaves, and carried bouquets of Ophelia roses. The flower girls wore red and orange crepe de chine dresses and carried baskets of white chrysanthemums. After the ceremony about 35 relatives and friends partook of a wedding dinner at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schwartz. Mr. and Mrs. Zahn will reside at Lomira, where they will be at home after Dec. 1st.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned desire to express our sincere thanks to all our neighbors and friends who assisted us in our late bereavement of our beloved mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Schaub. PIONEER HAS WORKED IN 73 HARVESTS

A record to be surpassed by few is that of Carl Baetz, pioneer farmer of Hulsburg, town of Herman, Dodge county, who tells us that he has recently completed his seventy-third harvest upon his Hulsburg farm, and that he never missed a season either on account of sickness or absence. His first harvesting was done in 1853 on a five acre tract of land. The preceding year, on July 14th, Mr. Baetz had arrived at what he now terms 'Ol' Hulsburg, and had entered upon his farming career there. Since that time he has not missed a harvest, a fact that speaks well both for Mr. Baetz and for the locality in which he chose to farm. Not only has it been necessary for him to have health and endurance to put in 73 crops and to take them in return from the soil, but likewise only a climate and soil that is God's own would deliver 73 crops in succession without a single failure. Mr. Baetz is still ambitious, and is laying plans to participate in the season's work this ensuing year.—Hartford Times.

Therefore let's all be sure to get the backbone from the next chicken, and let the cat or dog have the other two.

CHEST CLINIC FOR KEWASKUM

"Why not adopt a policy of periodic physical examination just as the railroad companies insist on the inspection of their equipment at regular intervals?" This is the plea of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association which will conduct a series of free chest clinics in Washington county next month. The clinics have been scheduled as follows: Hartford, Nov. 16th; West Bend, Nov. 17th; Kewaskum, Nov. 18th; Allenton, Nov. 19th; Richfield, Nov. 20th. The clinics are free to everyone but children under 16 must be accompanied by a parent or some other older person. Clinic hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

The mechanic inspecting the locomotive as it stops for a few minutes at some station is following the same principal of prevention as the physician who examines a human body for the purpose of detecting slight defects which, if neglected, might cause a smash-up on the journey of life." According to the clinic physicians, much illness could be prevented and many dollars saved if people would only heed the warnings which arise from slight disorders and have them taken care of before they become serious.

It is of the greatest importance that tuberculosis be discovered early and treated properly if a cure is to be effected. The danger signals of this disease are fatigue, lack of pep, loss of appetite and weight, indigestion, vague pains in the chest, afternoon fever and a persistent cough or cold. All persons who have any of these symptoms and those who have had diseases of the chest such as pleurisy, pneumonia and bronchitis are urged to attend the clinic.

McCormick-Deering Engines

With the sturdy, rugged McCormick-Deering Engine pumping the water, running the washing machine, etc., you know the work will be done. And without the engine overheating or running up the operating expense. Every part of the McCormick-Deering is built for steady, important work. Dirt, sand and trash mean little to the McCormick-Deering, as the crank case is enclosed. The cylinder is removable; in case of wear a new one can be inserted at low cost. The large water hopper permits a generous supply—no overheating.

ERNST C. WRUCKE FOR U. S. SENATOR

Ernst C. Wrucke being a farmer was again asked—How can the producers in his district be helped and their conditions improved?

Stating first that a man living all his life in a large city does not know the needs of the farmers and therefore is not the proper person to be elected to office, to pass laws and to govern the farmers. Now it is a proven fact that organization in most all lines of business and labor has been to its benefit. Admitting it will be hard to organize the farmers, we should, however, work in that direction and some good will be accomplished. We farmers around Horicon organized The Dodge County Milk Producer's association of which I am president and will state that before another year has passed the milk and brick cheese industry will again be so improved that this second Wisconsin district will again have the reputation for brick cheese it had before the war and I am in hopes that this association will soon be so large as to reach over the entire second district. I have been able through our organization to bring matters before the department of markets so they will put a holding order of 15 days on brick cheese which will mean a very much better quality placed before the consumer than they are asked to eat and the farmers milk—Advertisement.

Dangers to Cereals

As germs consist of acetate of lime, vinegar and other acids will eat away the polished surface of a short time. Hot water is fatal to an up, destroying its life and sometimes causing it to crack. Soap is a deadly enemy of the turquoise. If a turquoise ring is kept on the hand while washing in a short time the blue stones will turn to a dingy green.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

HOW THE PILGRIM MOTHER

Kept Her Family in Good Health

A statue to the Pilgrim Mother was recently unveiled at Plymouth Rock, Mass. Through her we honor every pioneer woman who endured privation and hardships that a nation might live. Shoulder to shoulder with her husband she built a home in the wilderness and reared her sturdy sons and daughters. She cooked and sewed. She spun and wove for her growing family and when they were ill, she brewed potent remedies from roots and herbs—such roots and herbs as are now used in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Massachusetts woman writes: "I was all run-down, with no ambition. I was tired all the time. Sometimes I would be in bed two or three days at a time, and the doctor would have to give me something to quiet me. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have had wonderful results from it. I felt better after taking the second bottle, and I am never without it in the house now. I have told lots of people about it, and they say it helps them, too. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. J. W. CARROLL, 2 Hammond Street, Cambridge, Mass.

Overdoing?

Hurry, Worry and Overwork Bring Heavy Strain.

MODERN life throws a heavy burden on our body machinery. The eliminative organs, especially the kidneys, are apt to become sluggish. Retention of excess uric acid and other poisonous waste often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys by the occasional use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Ask your neighbor.

SALADS AND DRESSINGS

With all the delicious fruits and succulent vegetables which each season brings, there need be no lack of good salads at any time.

Tomato Jelly Salad.—Take one envelope of gelatin and soften in one-half cupful of cold water. Stew a can of tomatoes with half an onion, half of a bay leaf, two cloves, one fourth of a teaspoonful of cayenne, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. After cooking five minutes, strain and add the softened gelatin, stirring until it is well dissolved. Turn into a mold and chill. Remove from the mold to a bed of lettuce and serve garnished with salad dressing.

Baked Apple Salad.—Wash and core the desired number of red apples. Fill the center of each with a section of banana and sprinkle sugar over the top. Cover the bottom of a shallow dripping pan with water and set the apples in it. Bake until tender but shapely. Serve on lettuce with a good salad dressing.

Almond Salad Dressing.—Put two ounces of blanched almonds through a fine knife of the meat chopper, then pound to a paste. Add one cupful of mayonnaise, one-half cupful of currant jelly, the juice of half a lemon and a cupful of whipped cream. Serve with fruit salad.

Fruit Salad Dressing.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of pineapple and orange juice, the juice of a lemon and one teaspoonful of flour with three of cream, whipped. Seal the fruit juice, mix the sugar and flour, add the water and mix to a paste. Cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened. Cool, and when ready to use, fold in the whipped cream.

Pear and Tomato Salad.—Cut ripe tomatoes into eighths or quarters if small, fill the centers with matchlike strips of ripe pear. Arrange on lettuce and serve with a rich mayonnaise, adding cream to mayonnaise dressing.

Stuffed Figs.—Drop pulled figs into grape juice to cover and let stand overnight. Drain and stuff with nuts or marshmallows. Roll in granulated sugar and serve as dessert with coffee and crackers.

Oyster and Celery Soup.—Cook a cupful of finely sliced celery in boiling water until tender, add the well-seasoned stew with a few chopped oysters.

Seasonable Good Things.

When something out of the ordinary is desired, try preparing a banana salad by scooping out the fruit with a potato cutter into small balls. Fill the skins with the balls and pour over a well-seasoned French dressing.

Ice Cream in Case.

Make an angel of a round pan, when cold cut out the center leaving a shell thick enough to support the ice cream with which it is to be filled. Cover with a thick layer of finely chopped nuts and serve from the dish.

Braised Tongue.—Cook a beef tongue slowly for two hours, then skin and put it into a casserole. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three of flour and cook well. Add a pint of water in which the tongue was cooked, a pint of stewed and strained tomatoes. Heat until smooth and thick, add half a carrot cut fine, one chopped onion, half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a few dashes of red pepper and the tongue. Cover and simmer two hours. Serve from the casserole.

Sponge Cake With Jelly.—Bake a round sponge cake and scoop out the center. Fill with any desired jelly, mixed with fruit and nuts; set the cake on ice to chill. Do not fill until the jelly begins to thicken. Cover with sweetened whipped cream and serve.

Chicken With Vegetables.—Parboil the fowl if tough, then brown in a frying pan with a little butter. Pour over the broth in which the fowl was cooked, a few pieces of carrots and three or four small onions. Cook together for an hour in a moderate oven in a closely covered casserole. Serve from the casserole.

Graham Bread.—Take one cupful of graham flour, one-half cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of buttermilk and two level teaspoonfuls of soda. Beat well and pour into a well-buttered pan and bake one hour.

Brussels Sprouts With Chestnuts.—Cook a quart of brussels sprouts in salted water in an open saucepan; drain, add two tablespoonfuls of butter and three-fourths of a pound of chestnuts which have been cooked until soft; simmer for half an hour and serve with roast pork.

Quality vs. Compensation

Bacteria count is being used more and more as a basis for determining how much per pound a farmer is to be paid for his milk. Getting the bacteria count under a given figure means millions of dollars annually to the country's dairymen. Dairymen themselves are alive to this question, and where the milk produced is a material part of the income from the farm, complete sanitary precautions should be taken to insure a low bacterial count. Precautions start at the beginning of milk production and continue clear through until the milk is in the hands of the consumer. To begin with, properly ventilated, easily cleaned stables are provided, plenty of bedding is given the cows, and the animals brushed and cleaned before milking. Utensils such as milk pails, milk cans, etc., are washed and sterilized after each milking. The fresh drawn milk is immediately removed to the cooling tank in the milk house where it is cooled at once to below 50 degrees. On receipt at the city dairy it is handled with extreme sanitary precautions by persons who observe rules of personal cleanliness and hygiene. These methods of handling milk increase demand steadily, which means better prices and increasing prosperity on our dairy farms.

The annual meeting of the Dodge County Skat League will be held at Kekoskee on Saturday evening, November 6, 1926, at 8 o'clock and will be adjourned to 1:30 P. M. the following day when all of the skat onkels of Dodge and Washington counties will gather at Kekoskee to participate in the big annual tournament of the league.

To the voters of Columbia, Dodge, Jefferson, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington counties:

During the 26 years that I have been engaged in the practice of law in Watertown you have been very generous to me in a business way, for which I am grateful. Politically, you of my home vicinity have permitted me to serve as city attorney of Watertown for two years, and as district attorney of Dodge county for six years. I thank you for the confidence you have thus had in me.

At the recent primary there were five candidates in the field for the Republican nomination for Representative in Congress from this district; you selected and nominated me by a large vote. I thank you for such support.

Every successful business firm strives to place in its different departments men who are competent and able to do the work. Voters should do the same in selecting their Representative in Congress.

Your Congressman should be one in whose judgement, ability and integrity you have the utmost confidence, and whom you believe has the ability to work with able men in Congress as your Representative.

I assure you that if you have such faith and confidence in me I will, if elected, use my very best judgement and work just as hard in the interests of my constituents as their Congressman, as I have worked in the past when serving as a public official, or when representing the cause of my clients in the practice of my profession.

Hoping that I may have your active support in my behalf with your friends and neighbors to elect me next Tuesday, and thanking you in advance for such kindness, I am

Very sincerely yours,
Charles A. Kading
