HIGH SCHOOL WINS AND LOSES

The Kewaskum High School basketball team added another victory to their credit, when they took the strong Menomonee Falls high school team into camp to the tune of 15 to 21 at the High School Gym, last week Wednesday evening.

The Kewaskum High School basketball team traveled to Lomira last Wednesday and lost its first conference game of the season by a score of 50 to 17.

Our boys got off to a poor start and Lomira gained too great a lead to be overcome later in the game. Kewaskum came back strong in the second half and played on a par with their opponents but failed to score the necessary points to win.

COLLEEN MOORE AT THE MOVIES

There are 950 persons in Hollywood who will vouch for Colleen Moore's ability as a vaudeville artist, and those 950 comprise a remarkably critical audience.

They were engaged to portray the part of the audience in a variety, or vaudeville, theatre in the waterfront district of London, the colorful locale of Colleen's newest First National picture, "Twinkletoes," in which she plays the part of a dancer.

A derailment caused by a broken wheel on a car of North Western freight train No. 295, northbound, which occurred between Campbellsport and Eden about 2 a. m. Wednesday, tied up the line between Fond du Lac and Milwaukee for several hours on Thursday morning.

At a meeting of the County Health Committee at the court house at West Bend last Saturday, Miss Margaret Schackamuth of Kenosha was appointed health nurse of Washington county.

CITY TEAM WINS THIRD GAME

In a rough and tumble game, one in which the players played the man more than the ball, and in consequence making it a rather poor exhibition of basketball, the Kewaskum city basketball team annexed a third straight victory to their list last Sunday afternoon.

They defeated the much heralded MacWhites team of Kenosha by a score of 18 to 28. The visitors at no time had a chance of winning. Kewaskum gained a safe lead from the beginning. The first half ending 16 to 0 with the home boys at the long end of the clocking.

Miss Adeline Lillian Ida Meinecke, 15 years old and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meinecke of Kewaskum, and Arthur Saueressig of West Bend, met a tragic death, and Miss Martha Stenske, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Traugott Stenske of here and Fred Fowler, age 18 of West Bend, received painful injuries on Wednesday evening, when the Chevrolet sedan in which they were riding crashed into the side of the engine of passenger train No. 101 north bound, due here at 9:32 p. m.

Idle Island

By ETHEL HUESTON

STORY FROM THE START

On the verge of nervous collapse, due to overwork, Gay Deane, successful New York artist, seeks rest at Idle Island. She rents a cottage, the "Lone Pine," from an island character, the "Captain," and his sister, Alice Andover, "administrator."

"I was nervous that night—anybody would be! At dusk I was all lumpy nerves, hearing noises, seeing shadows. So I went down and stayed all night with Auntalmiry—Rand, I was in bed, and when she raised the blinds on this side of the house, toward the hill, you know, she said, 'Oh, you left the lights on! I didn't, because I went down before dark. So I went over and looked, and there was a light in the window; now it showed, now it faded, pale and misty, not bright. And, Rand, I swear on my word of honor, that we saw—both saw—a hand reach out from the darkness into the light, a hand long and slim, like his—And then the light went out, and the hand was gone."

lips parted, closed firmly, parted again. Rand took cartridges from the box and filled it grimly. "I'll keep an eye on it for you," he said. "You shot them out weeks ago, the last time we went to the shore. And bragging about the protection of the Baby!"

CHAPTER VII

One day, toward the end of the month, when Rand had gone to the city by the early boat and was not present to witness the abjectness of her surrender to his love, Gay went bravely up to the Captain's door and told him she was still ill and weak to return to the stress of the city; she felt it the part of wisdom to remain in the Lone Pine through October.

wide—at the silvery note, forest of spruce and birch, whispering hope, at the orchard in its autumn gold below, at the little cottage on its rocky perch a look-out over land and sea. She looked, and thought of Rand. A little thrill tugged at her heart. She could not go away.

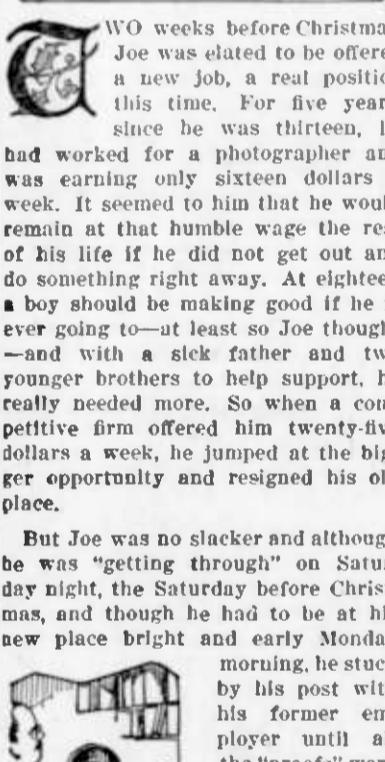

"Isn't the cottage for sale? How much do you want for it? Perhaps I'll buy it." "My dear! How lovely that is. The dear little cottage. How happy you are going to be—John," severely, "do you hear? She is going to buy the cottage."

MORTGAGE SWINDLERS CATCH OZAUKEEANS

Recent developments disclose wholesale operations of a gang of swindlers in this and adjoining counties through the sale of farm mortgages on lands located in other states. It is said that as high as twenty first mortgages on the same parcel of land have been sold to unsuspecting investors who were beguiled into separating themselves from their money without thorough investigation, relying upon seemingly reliable papers. We have not secured details and in any case would not publish a list of the victims.—Port Washington Star.

Exempted From Warfare

The selective service law in vigor during the World war provided exemption to a member of a well-recognized religious sect or organization, organized and existing on May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein.

Attaining Happiness

Some one has said that real happiness comes from within, not from without. Pretty good evidence of the truth of this statement is found in the fact that a third of incomes is spent for pleasure, yet men and women are not happy. There's chance for experiment.—Grit.

Effect of Feed on Eggs

The chemical analysis of eggs is only very slightly affected by the ration of the hen. A very deficient ration will affect the analysis slightly, but moderate variations do not affect it. The vitamin content of eggs is affected materially by the character of the ration.

LET RID OF TAR

"Why, offer it at a bargain price." the more valuable, sir. It was only after the invention of printing, you know, that the counterfeiting of old volumes was possible.

Her Great Game
A young wife, green at the golfing game, said to her husband, "I had splendid luck this morning. I did the nine holes in par."
He looked skeptical. "I did," she insisted. "Of course it was par. Haven't you always told me that par is 100?"

Matching Hats and Scarfs
The inevitable felt takes on a new appearance when it is covered with wool embroidery in gay colors. Narrow little scarfs of the same accompany the hats, and the effect is wonderfully cheerful.

Coats Lined With Skin
Coats designed especially for young school and college girls are of fine novelty woollens lined with skin stenciled to represent graffe, gazelle or kid.

Pink Lingerie Again
After a veritable rainbow of colored silk lingerie it is pleasant to find exquisite new French things made of delicate pink, and simply trimmed with Valenciennes and single hem stitching.

Napoleon Blue Is New
One of the newest as well as one of the smartest colors is a very brilliant tone of blue, which has been designated as Napoleon blue.

CAPES AND CAPE ENSEMBLE; WASH FABRICS FOR THE TOTS

CAPEs are "in" again, which is interesting seeing that they were so emphatically out of the picture for so long a time. Fashionable Paris is at this moment more enthusiastic about capes than are we in America. However, we who are on this side of the Atlantic are working up a crescent of interest, which at the rate it is progressing promises to develop into a genuine passion for capes of every degree by the time spring brings in its new fashions.

To be sure, American women have already fared capeward as far as certain tweed-with-jersey suits are concerned and high society is enfolded itself in exquisite full-length capes of snowy ermine at formal evening functions. However, la Parisienne does not stop here, for she chooses a cape for practical daytime wear as well as for dressy occasions.

A cape which is every inch a cape is shown to the left in this picture. It is a handsomely furled cloth model, and even in "gay Paris" it attracted no little attention because of its striking novelty.

The idea of a long cape of the cloth of one's man-tailored suit, is also emphasized in this illustration. This, too, is strictly a Parisian creation. Not only does the unusualness of this cape ensemble make appeal, but considering the practicality of the idea (the suit can be worn with or without the cape) it would not be surprising of luscious fruits, pears, plums in gayest of gay colors.

There are millions of dots scattered helter-skelter on both light and dark backgrounds, some of them just dots, others a riot of colorful confetti dots, and some are ring dots big enough to encircle the tiny flower printed within its circumference.

Flowers are everywhere on the new cotton prints. There are the loveliest stutens with wee flowers fairly crowded in each other, so closely are they printed on their bright backgrounds. About the prettiest ever, are the cotton prints which resemble old-fashioned samplers. They have realistic cross-stitch backgrounds with their rosy-roses printed in colors as quaint as can be.

How about making up these new prints, "that's the question." What's

If this fashion develops into a wide-spread vogue. A perfectly stunning this-winter's mode consists of a suit of sturdy tweed. There is nothing unusual in the neat skirt and jacket except perhaps the buttons are brass instead of bone or cloth. Also the jacket all but conceals a very handsome jersey jumper. The intriguing part of the whole thing is the short detachable tweed cape which is lined with dyed moleskin.

Some of the midwinter velvet suits also flaunt detachable matching hip-length capes.

Cape ensembles which combine plaid with plain cloth are also numerous to the mode.

If you are feeling the urge for "something different" in the way of colorings and patternings watch for the latest "wrinkles" in styling? Yokes and plaits, is the answer in one breath, with numberless fetching details thrown in for good measure. The pretty dress in the picture is a new number on the program, showing how straight plaits are arranged to fall at each side from a yoke. The material for this dress is a tissue gingham with a plaid background whereon appear at regular intervals flowers embroidered in clever bright shades.

Note the little ruffles about the collar and the turned-up cuffs on the short sleeves and up and down the front opening—they are organdie. You have no idea until you have tried it what an effective trimming plaid edged organdie ruffling makes on gingham and the like. The best of it is that it irons out beautifully.
