PROMINENT PEOPLE PASS AWAY

DEATH OF MRS. KATHERINE EBERLE

After a brief illness of only a week, Mrs. Katherine Eberle, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Mayer here, last week Friday evening, March 2, 1928. About three weeks prior to her death Mrs. Eberle contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia, and was attributed as the direct cause of her death. Deceased was born in 1855, in Germany. In 1890, she immigrated to America and settled at Milwaukee, coming to Kewaskum in 1905, where she has since resided. In November 1893, she was married to Joe Eberle Sr., who preceded her in death in May 1912. Three children were born of this union, all of whom survive, as follows: Elsie (Mrs. Joe Mayer) William and Joseph Jr., all of Kewaskum. Besides these she leaves to mourn her demise, 5 grand children; one brother Xavier Becker of Milwaukee and one brother and sister living in Germany. Again the grim reaper, death, has called away into eternal rest, one of Kewaskum's esteemed and well known citizens. One who had won the respect of all who had the good fortune of making her acquaintance. Mrs. Eberle was a lady of good character who was devoted to her family and church. She was a member of the St. Mary's Society of the Holy Trinity congregation, who attended the funeral in a body. Her rather sudden death came as a shock to her many friends, who join in extending heartfelt sympathy to the surviving relatives. The funeral was held on Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock, with services in the Holy Trinity church. Revs. Vogt of here, Beyer of St. Michaels and July of Campbellsport officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned desire to express thanks, to all our neighbors, relatives and friends, for the kind sympathy extended to us in our bereavement, the illness, death and burial of our beloved mother, Mrs. Katherine Eberle. To the pall bearers, for the beautiful floral and spiritual offerings, to the American Legion for the beautiful bouquet, to the St. Mary's Society, The Ladies' Aid. To Revs. Vogt, Beyer and July, for their consoling words. To all who loaned cars and to all who attended the funeral. The surviving children.

Following an illness of a week, Peter Bendel, an esteemed pioneer citizen of Athens, Wis., passed away in death at the Marshfield hospital on Friday, March 2, 1928. Mr. Bendel was born on Feb. 6, 1870 in the town of Kewaskum. He was married to Miss Mamie Bradley of Farmington on Sept. 13, 1898. When the couple resided on a farm in Madison, Minn., after which they moved to Athens where he since lived. This union was blessed with 5 children, namely: Helen, William, Celia, Marie and Frances, all of Athens. He also leaves to mourn 3 sisters and 3 brothers, Kate (Mrs. Ger. Koenings) of Barton, Margaret (Mrs. John Rodenkirch), John Bendel of St. Michaels, Jacob Bendel of Milwaukee, Michael Bendel of Archer Wells, Canada and Elizabeth (Mrs. Nic. Schneider) of St. Michaels. Mr. Bendel was a thoroughly industrious and thrifty man, who was devoted to his family and who bore the respect of all who knew him. Those who attended the funeral from here were Nic. Schneider, John Rodenkirch, John Bendel of St. Michaels; Anton Koenings of Barton and Jacob Bendel of Milwaukee. His passing away is regretted by all who knew him and all join the Statesman in extending profound sympathy to his bereaved brothers and sisters.

TRAIN SCHEDULE CHANGED

Another change has been made in train schedule on this division, which went into effect last Sunday. The change made, is of such nature that it meets with great disapproval of the citizens in the entire community, and, therefore, is being severely criticized by all, for which we believe they are justified in so doing for reason of the poor service now being given the public. A schedule which we believe the railroad company will not operate under very long, because we think it will mean a great loss to them financially. Those who want to transact business in Milwaukee, will be greatly handicapped on account of the short space of time it will give them to do it in. Passenger train due here formerly at 9:48 a. m., southbound, now arrives at 8:32 a. m., and the last train to take out of Milwaukee, leaves that city at 2:30 p. m. A petition is now being circulated here, which is readily being signed by all, asking the company to stop train No. 101, due here at 9:30 p. m., northbound. Whether or not it will meet with approval remains to be found out. The new schedule which went into effect Sunday reads as follows: Train No. 206, southbound, formerly due here at 9:48 a. m., now arrives here at 8:52 a. m. Train No. 205 northbound, formerly due here at 6:34 p. m., now arrives here at 3:46 p. m. This is the last train northbound, to stop here for the day, except Sundays. Train No. 209, northbound, due here at 5:50, will stop at Kewaskum on Sundays only.

PRINTING PRESS BREAKS DOWN

The Statesman experienced difficulty in printing last week's issue. Through the kind help of Editor Kaempfer of the West Bend Pilot, to which place the forms and papers were transported via truck, the remainder of the issue was printed. This was done in record time, as the press broke at 4:00 p. m., the forms were then taken off the press, loaded onto Edw. F. Miller's delivery truck, and taken to the Pilot office where the papers were printed and folded, again loaded onto the truck, brought to this office and stamped preparatory for mailing, and by six o'clock the same afternoon, they were in the postoffice ready to be sent through the mail. The editors, Messrs. Harbeck and Schaefer, desire to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to Mr. Kaempfer for his kind help, it surely is most heartily appreciated.

GAS INSTALLATION FOR THIS YEAR NOT CERTAIN

Whether or not the gas mains now being laid by the Wisconsin Eastern Gas company will be extended to Kewaskum, this year, is an uncertainty, according to a statement made by Mr. Rahn, a representative of the company who was present at the meeting of the Village Council Monday evening. According to Mr. Rahn the company now has a great deal of work to do and cannot, therefore, make any definite promises, just when they will be ready to extend the line from West Bend to Kewaskum. He did, however, make it understood that the work will be done before the franchise has expired.

Badger State News = Briefly Told =

Appleton—T. J. Ray, arrested on a charge involving a 12-year-old Appleton girl and released on $1,000 bond, was rearrested on the complaint of another Appleton girl, 13. Ray is director of the motion picture company which made a "home talent" picture here.

Superior—Culminating what is believed to have been a family quarrel, Frank H. Williams, 32, shot and seriously wounded his wife, Eva, 25, and then killed himself in the presence of their 15-month-old daughter. Despite wounds to the shoulder, neck and jaw, hospital attaches hope for the recovery of Mrs. Williams.

Phillips—A mammoth white pine tree, the last to have been left standing in this part of the state from the days of big timber, was cut at the Kneeland-McLurg Lumber Co.'s camp near Morse. The tree, which was sawed into seven 16-foot logs, scaled more than 4,000 feet and measured 4 feet 10 inches on the stump.

Spooon—Debating is being revived among farmers and community clubs and topics of local interest are being selected. The Cable Lake Community club recently debated merits of poultry and dairying. The judges gave a 2 to 1 victory for defenders of the cow. At a previous meeting the club debated merits of Holsteins versus Guernseys.

Boscobel—Einer Peterson, manager of the Bekkedal Tobacco Co., reports the tobacco acreage in the Wisconsin river valley was as great in 1927 as the year before. The quality is not so good, however. Prices more than offset that difference, as leaf of good quality is bringing 30 to 32 cents a pound and the lower grades sell for 12 to 15 cents a pound.

Medford—Fifty cattle, six calves, three horses, seven hogs and 130 chickens perished in a fire which destroyed the barn at the Carl Fiebke farm near Goodrich. Twenty of the cattle were purebred Guernseys. The total loss is $20,000. The 12-sided barn, 80 by 96 feet, was one of the finest and best equipped in the state. Cause of the fire is not known.

Menasha—Representatives of the state agricultural department and local veterinarians are working strenuously to prevent an epidemic of hog cholera following discovery of the disease among hog herds of a number of farmers living just north of this city. About a half dozen herds were found to be affected and inoculation of other herds is being urged to prevent spread of the disease.

Fennimore—Their sixty-sixth wedding anniversary was celebrated here Sunday, March 4, by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pendleton, who retired from a farm near Lancaster in 1890 and moved to this city. Both are natives of England and came to southwestern Wisconsin with their parents nearly 80 years ago. Most of the 10 children, 19 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren were present at the celebration.

Berlin—County Agent James Lacey has received word from Prof. R. A. Moore of the Wisconsin Experiment station, that the next state grain show will be held at Madison during farmers' week in 1929. Prof. Moore said it would be inadvisable to alter the present plan of holding the show at Madison every second year. Steps to bring the grain show here were taken by the Berlin Chamber of Commerce.

Green Lake—Fifty samples of Green Lake county seed corn have been selected from various townships and will be sent to the college of agriculture at Madison to be tested for moisture and germination. The moisture test is being applied to determine the efficiency of different methods of curing seed. The immature corn of last year had a high moisture content. The germination test will indicate the value of the seed for planting.

Zimmerman: Ashlund Chamber of Commerce, Ashlund post of the American Legion; Bayfield Chamber of Commerce, Bayfield Rod and Gun club, Ashland Rod and Gun club, Bayfield post of the American Legion, Washburn Chamber of Commerce and Bayfield city council. Walquist has been employed at the Salmon hatchery for approximately 20 years.

Lancaster—W. F. McCormick, manager of the Lancaster Shipping association, reports 246 cars of livestock shipped in 1927 with a value of $320,650. Although an increase is shown of 44 carloads in 1927 over 1926 the value in gross was $14,102 less.

Burlington—Landing in a crate containing some 15 dozen eggs probably saved Valleta Vos, 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Richard Vos, of this city, from serious injury when she fell through a skylight here into a grocery store on Pine street. The little girl lives with her widowed mother on the second floor of the building occupied by the store.

Madison—The Madison Railways Co. dropped $11,837 in revenue for 1927, compared with the previous year, it is shown in its financial statement filed with the railroad commission. The 1927 net income reported is $12,145.25, while the 1926 net was $23,982.91. The company is now under prosecution for filing incorrect financial statement on a previous year.

Oshkosh—Wardens of the conservation commission report that the fish slaughter activities at Rush lake, in the vicinity of Stewart creek near Ripon, is far worse than a year ago, when it was estimated that millions of fingerlings and larger fish were wantonly wasted. Spence, mayor of the city of Ripon, England, written at the "mayor's parlour," in which the latter extends felicitations and expresses thanks on the part of himself and his wife for greetings recently sent by Mayor and Mrs. Kellogg. The old smelter, which had been in operation most of the time for the last 75 years, was the first smelter opened this side of the Alleghenies. It has for many years been the leading industry here.

Neenah—Efficiency in municipal government probably is carried further in Two Rivers than in any other place in the world, according to Richard Biehl, city manager, who declared here that Two Rivers was saving $35 on every funeral of a city charge by asking for bids from undertakers. "It may seem hard hearted," Biehl told members of the Neenah club before whom he made an address, "but when the undertakers found they were competing for our work they gave us rock bottom prices."

LEAGUE CONSIDERING PLAN TO CHECK WAR

Secretary Kellogg's Proposition Is Chief Business of Geneva Meeting.

Geneva.—America, though not a member of the league, loomed up more important than any other country for discussion at Geneva at the opening of the forty-ninth meeting of the league council.

China made way for Colombia when the latter's representative, Dr. Francisco Jose Urrutia, broze hued Indian, took the chairmanship. He will head the league for three months.

Secretary of State Kellogg's note to France proposing the outlawing and renunciation of war is receiving increasing attention. Foreign Minister Briand is sounding out England, Italy, Japan and Germany as to what their representatives think of it, before he replies to Mr. Kellogg.

There is an impression that Briand will allege his obligations to the league as reason for a negative reply. Germany, it seems, is the only big member of the league ready unqualifiedly to accept Washington's new proposal. Britain is inclined to bring up, as it does in disarmament, the question as to whether America is willing to recognize the league's blockade of any recalcitrant power.

Discussions of the Kellogg note have been informal. The whole council in private meetings with one another was largely taken up with the petty machine gun affair in Hungary. France and the little entente nations which are armed to the teeth are disposed to make a mountain of it, while England and Italy, soft peddlers, are trying to keep the question in proper proportions.

Geneva.—The Chinese delegate, Chu Chao-Hsin, dropped a firecracker into the league security committee during discussion of a general convention for peace. With obvious allusion to unequal treaties, he called attention to a phrase in the preamble of the draft, "respect for rights established by treaty or resulting from international law is obligatory upon international tribunals."

Col. Stewart Indicted for Contempt of Senate

Washington.—The federal grand jury here returned an indictment on two counts against Robert W. Stewart who was recently re-elected chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil of Indiana.

Colonel Stewart is indicted for refusing to answer two questions put to him by the senate public lands committee with respect to what he knew of the disposition of government lands in which the Continental Trading company of Canada, linked up with certain aspects of the Teapot Dome affair, invested its profits.

As soon as the indictment was returned, Jesse C. Adkins, Colonel Stewart's counsel was notified. He announced that Colonel Stewart will appear in a short time for arraignment.

The indictment of Colonel Stewart charges violation of section 102 of the criminal statutes. This makes it a misdemeanor for a witness to refuse to answer pertinent questions of a congressional committee before which he is regularly subpoenaed. The penalty is a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 and not less than one month nor more than twelve months in jail.

Harry F. Sinclair already has been sentenced under a similar proceeding and his case has been appealed from the District Supreme court to the Court of Appeals.

Abandon All Hope of Eradicating Corn Borer

Washington.—Department of Agriculture experts virtually have abandoned the hope of eradicating the European corn borer, which is ravaging the corn crop in Middle Western states and spreading, C. L. Marlatt, chairman of the federal agricultural board, declared during hearings of the house appropriations committee.

Farmers can help curb the menace by burning corn stalks and rotting crops, he said, adding: "There is no possible means of eradicating the corn borer. That is now recognized by all concerned. To eradicate the menace you would have to reduce the section infested to an absolute desert for many years."

SENATORS SEE NEED OF NEW COAL LAWS

Preventive Legislation Is Favored by Lawmakers.

Washington.—More than two score witnesses have been summoned by the senate interstate commerce committee for its inquiry into conditions in the central bituminous fields.

Washington.—Senators who returned a few days ago from the strike zone in the bituminous producing regions of Ohio and Pennsylvania already have reached the conclusion that congress must provide machinery for the adjustment of industrial disputes in the fuel industry.

While they declare they have not reached a conclusion on legislative remedies which will be proposed to congress, they are inclined to regard with favor the system established in the railroad labor act, known as the Howell-Barkley law.

This act, in effect for nearly two years, is said to have been "reasonably satisfactory" in the transportation industry, and Senator Wheeler states that with slight change in phrasing it could be applied to the coal industry.

If the committee decides to recommend a labor act for the industry, it will at the outset meet stiff opposition. Neither wishes the federal government to interfere with their freedom of action. The miners' leaders declare they are unalterably opposed to arbitration, which is one of the most important features of the railroad labor act.

Spokesmen for the miners in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Wyoming are on guard here against the approval of any legislation dealing with industrial disputes or regulating the production and distribution of coal.

They want a bill which will curtail the discretion of courts in issuing injunctions in labor controversies and favor the so-called Shilpstead bill, which is being given hearings before Senator Norris of Nebraska and a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee. Beyond the adoption of the measure, according to miners' representatives, congress should not go.

Operators are equally hostile to legislation of this nature.

LANDING FIELDS ON BATTLESHIPS URGED

McClintic Tells House 15 New "Subs" Are Needed; Present Ships Useless.

Washington.—Construction of platforms on each of the United States navy's eighteen battleships from which bombing planes can take off and construction of fifteen modern submarines are called for by Representative James V. McClintic of Oklahoma in a report filed in the house.

McClintic was the only member of the house naval affairs committee who voted against its bill to build sixteen new cruisers and one aircraft carrier.

Urging congress to scrap the committee bill as a move in the wrong direction, McClintic declared that the battleships are useless as war machines at present, but could be made useful by constructing the airplane platforms at a cost of about $1,000,000 for each ship, he said.

Washington.—Admission that the 16-ship naval construction bill recently approved by the house naval committee carries insufficient ships for the needs of the United States fleet is made in the committee's written report submitted by Representative Andrew of Massachusetts.

The report outlines some of the reasons why the committee junked the President's 71-ship program in favor of one calling for but 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier. It states that completion of the cruisers in the pending bill will leave the United States 10 ships below the standard of reasonable safety by the chief of naval operations.

A table carried in the report discloses that if the 15 cruisers recommended are built, even assuming the British were to abandon all present building projects, this country would have 30 fewer cruisers than England.

"Your committee desires to emphasize," the report states, "that when the 15 cruisers proposed in this bill are completed the United States will have only 33 modern cruisers. This is ten less than the essential minimum determined by the navy general board."

The committee explained that its program calls for actually constructing five cruisers a year for three years, a program "intended to meet the most urgent needs of the navy without unnecessary delay." It adds that, as a naval limitation program is scheduled for 1931, it has recommended authorizations for but three years.

The committee disclosed that the disaster to the S-4 afforded the real reason why it scrapped the navy's recommendations for the construction of 32 submarines.

"Your committee desires to consider plans looking to increased safety in operation of submarines as well as plans for the construction of two salvage ships before taking any further action toward replacing those on the navy list that are no longer safely and effectively serviceable," Andrew states.

"While approving the authorization of but 16 ships, one an aircraft carrier, the committee recommends that the navy utilize old authorizations for destroyers and submarines. Under these the committee believes the nine destroyer leaders in the original 71-ship bill and three submarines could be built. It recommends that Secretary Wilbur ask for appropriations for the three submarines at once."

Hahn Runs Fastest Half; Steps Route in 1:51 2/5

New York.—Lloyd Hahn, brilliant runner from the Boston A. A., ran the greatest half mile in athletic annals here, when, competing in a special 880-yard race in the One Hundred and Second Engineers' armory, he finished in 1:51 2/5 to surpass the outdoor world's record made by Dr. Otto Peltzer at Stamford Bridge in England when he beat D. G. A. Lowe, British Olympic champion, in 1:51 3/5.

Hahn's time was 3 1/5 seconds faster than the old indoor world's record of 1:54 3/5 set by Eli B. Parsons of Yale in 1904, and which was considered one of the hardest records to break because it was set in a relay race with a consequent advantage to the runner.

Stockmen Urge Yards Be Kept Free of Politics

Washington.—Request that congress keep the country's stock yards out of politics, was made to the agricultural committee of the senate by a delegation of Western live stock producers, headed by F. G. Ketter of the National Live Stock Producing Association of Ohio. The committee received the delegation during its hearings on the Capper bill to give the secretary of agriculture increased powers in controlling stock yards.

High Gables Suggest Influence of English Cottage in This Home

First Floor Plan.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Second Floor Plan.

The roof treatment of this house is a factor in its design which makes it stand out as an unusually attractive small home, entirely free from any of that box-like effect which is such a common fault of small homes. This attractiveness is also aided by the wide-shingled wall finish, the neatly placed shuttered windows and excellent entrance detail. All these form a harmonious and well-balanced whole.

Though the foundation area of this house is quite small (but 25 feet wide and 22 feet deep), five large rooms and bath are provided. On the first floor there is a large living room occupying one entire side of the house. It measures 21 by 11 feet and there is an open fireplace at one side with flanking doors opening onto the porch, the opposite side of the living room and entrance hall, are the dining and kitchen, both of ample size to accommodate such a family as will occupy this home.

On the upper floor there are bedrooms at opposite sides of the central hallway. These are both rooms and each contains a slip of the type which every home should appreciate. The bathroom is conveniently placed in the front of the bedrooms, by the use of several windows, can both be given effective cross ventilation while at the same time retaining all desired quietude.

Beauty of Interior Due to Attractive Walls. Unlimited freedom in the use of color and texture prevails in the many and varied types of homes that are being developed in Europe at the present time.

Just as the restraint and simplicity of the American colonial type developed when the country was new the materials limited, and the workmen without artistic training, and the lightly artistic Italian type developed when the merchant princes of Italy were at the height of their power and were commanding the finest material and talents in the world, so the modern European type is developing in a period totally unrestricted by lack of material and skilled craftsmen.

Even the richest builder of early centuries did not have at his command the opportunities for expression of taste and individuality which are within the reach of the most modest builder of today. The modern homeowner need cling no longer to antique precedent or the standardization so evident in many modern American homes, but may have a home as expressive of his own individual tastes as his clothes are.

Architects of Holland, Austria, Spain and Germany are taking the lead in these new designs for homes. Some of their creations are so extreme in design as to be bizarre, but others are of unusual beauty, and may well be taken as patterns for American homes.

Color and texture in inside and outside walls are the most noteworthy characteristics of many of these modern homes. Ceilings, wall decorations and furniture are often painted in consistent designs either in delicate tints or the brilliant colors of plastic paint which produce the desired color and texture so frequently used in carrying out these effects. A typical finish of plastic paint is produced by brushing in a thick coat and the wall gently in a continuous motion with the surface with a paint brush.

Stucco exteriors of many homes show the same freedom of use of the painted interiors. A thick, smooth surface produced by the use of the working of the trowel as the noted finish which adds to its beauty an unusual response to light and shade. Deep colors are frequently employed and different textures of daring-effects may be obtained by the use of brightly colored bricks in the wall at irregular intervals or by patterns of mosaic or tile, or half-timbered effects.

Built-in Accessories Modernize the Bathroom

The gleaming whiteness of china bathroom accessories is the most effective and pleasing of treatments of the whole bathroom, which plays a large part in the making of the present-day bathroom. The pleasing qualities of these fixtures, however, are not confined to the bath, since many of them may be appropriately used in the modern kitchen. Towel racks and hooks, paper holders and glass racks for the toilet are in the new attractive designs being widely installed in present-day dwellings.

The built-in accessory may be installed in homes already built, though the work is more extensive than at the time of construction. It readily converted into usable form—dry, cheerful, comfortable and warm. If the space is large enough, it is advisable to divide it into two rooms by means of wallboard partitions. Wallboard will keep the room warm in winter and cool in summer.

Fireplace Hearth Trip Simplifies Ash Removal

A new type of fireplace ash tray trips a large section of the hearth downward, instantly disposing of the accumulated ashes and dirt. The tray mechanism is concealed within the masonry of the fireplace. The dumping section is 14 inches in diameter and may be used to match the masonry work of the remainder of the hearth, so that the general appearance is uniform. The apparatus is very easy to operate a slight pull on the dumping control handle tripping the tray section or returning it to its normal position. A curved metal shield automatically seals the hearth opening against the escape of sparks, or dust.

Barberry Bush a Foe of Grain

Rust Losses Have Been Eliminated in Areas Where Disease Is Local.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
In 1916 the rust damage to spring wheat alone was estimated at 150,000,000 bushels, and for the next ten years it was estimated that the average loss of all grains was 50,000,000 bushels annually.

For ten years, under federal command, relentless war has been waged against the disease by destroying one of its hosts—the common barberry bush. Men have toiled to destroy more than 15,000,000 bushes. About 8,000,000 have been dug, pulled and grubbed. More than 7,000,000 have been killed by chemicals, chiefly by salt—about 1,200 tons of it.

Ground of the Enemy.

A preliminary survey in the 13 North Central states pointed out the most obvious and numerous groups of the enemy. Repeated surveys are necessary to make sure that eradication is complete. The barberry is a persistent plant and comes up from fragments of rootstocks and roots. Also seedlings have been found eight years after the original fruiting bushes were destroyed. Single barberry bushes have been known to spread rust for more than five miles in all directions.

Routed from the open spaces, bushes have been found in most inaccessible places, in the crevices of precipitous cliffs, in abandoned stone quarries, in the middle of great clumps of wild bushes and vines, in second-growth timber, in wet and dry forests, and one even on a floating log. Whatever the difficulties, the campaign must go on. The federal directors and the citizens organized for barberry eradication want all the assistance possible from volunteers. The campaign is winning. Rust attacks have been reduced in all the territory. The estimated average annual loss of wheat in the six years 1915-1920 was 50,000,000 bushels, whereas in the last seven years, 1921-1927, the estimated average annual loss is only about 16,000,000 bushels. Rust losses have been almost eliminated in some areas where rust spreads slowly and epidemics are mostly local.

Poultry House Lights Pay Profit in Winter

There is little question now that artificial lighting of poultry houses pays a big profit in increased egg production during the winter.

Plenty of light must be provided and properly thrown on the floor so the hens can see the food easily, as otherwise they will go back on the roosts. The usual rule is to have 40-watt lamps, six and one-half feet apart along the middle of the feeding floor. Each lamp should have a flat cone-shaped reflector about 4 inches high and 16 inches across. Keeping the inside of the henhouse well white-washed or painted will make the lights more effective.

Improve Pastures

Sweet clover may often be used to improve an old or worn-out grass sod. In doing this it is necessary to bring the sweet clover seed actually into contact with the soil. On tillable land the seed can be cut in with a disk drill. Another plan is to burn off the old grass in the spring before sowing the seed. On western prairie sod, a good practice is to plow wide but shallow furrows through the sod about three feet apart. This will give good results.

SMART SILK AND SATIN HATS; ENSEMBLE FOR THE JUVENILES

YES, there is no lack of interest in fashions for immediate wear, and as for straws there is a whole list of them booked for the future, which includes sisal, bakou, yedca, palliaton, ballbunt, leghorn, tuscan and many dozens of other exotic types. These do not, however, cover the entire millinery situation. There are, for instance, the new flower toques and other snug hats all of flowers, which will be accompanied with a shoulder season. Each of the two models shown here flaunt a touch of gay color, the one to the left through a designing of chenille embroidery. Gold and silver beads enliven the caplike shape to the right.

bouquet to match. Every woman will yield sooner or later to their temptation.

But what of the present moment? Well, have you taken note of the charming colorful little hats of faille silk or ribbon, which are the very thing to "bridge over" from the winter chapeau to the summery straw or flower bonnet?

There is that something about these dainty silk hats which expresses the "sweetly feminine" in terms of utmost refinement. They always bespeak a "well dressed" appearance. Perhaps it is their coloring which is so alluringly feminine.

The most striking faille hats are so because of their supreme simplicity. The three modish chapeaux at the top of the picture convey the idea. Their coloring is their chief asset. The light toque to the left is in that lovely new "dusty" almond green which so suggests spring in its delicacy. The faille silk is tucked in groups of three as you see. Tiny rhinestone buttons have been placed two by two in a double tier at the right side.

Silvering gray faille ribbon is interwoven in a skillful manner for the making of the center hat. The cap portant in the juvenile realm. And why shouldn't it be? If it is practical for mother and big sister—and it is, very—why should not the rule work both ways, for old and young? And it does.

The attractive ensemble in this picture is a gray cashmere (gray is fashionable for everybody this season) suspender dress with blouse and coat lining, also alternate plaits in the skirt of red, blue and white print silk. The trimming on the perky little hat is of the identical silk as enters into the compose of the frock.

It is really amusing how little folks are following in the lead of the grown-up mode. There's this idea of the matching hat, for instance. Advance showings place special stress on hats which are either made of or trimmed with the identical silk print of the blouse, hat or scarf as the case may be.

There is no doubt but what the ensemble mode is very practical for children. Wee folks are so notional, for them it is first too warm, then too cold or the reverse. That is why a little coat to match the dress will prove not only a joy but a source of protection and comfort to whimsical little girls who will be taking keen delight in whisking their matching wraps "off again on again" in a jiffy. Mothers, too, will find the ensemble idea much to their liking when it comes to making clothes for the little folks. A remnant of this kind of material and a remnant of that, combined will develop into a smart ensemble.

SEASONABLE FOODS.

These dishes often appear, but are few to some each time and are always good:

Creamed Oysters.

Clean and simmer one pint of oysters in their own liquor until their edges are curled. Prepare a sauce thus: Simmer in a tablespoonful of butter one-fourth cupful of mushrooms for five minutes. To three-fourths of a cupful of rich milk add two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together; add a third of a cupful of the oyster liquor, season with salt, pepper and celery salt. Mix with the oysters and serve in patty shells.

Oyster Stew.

Heat three cupfuls of milk with a slice of onion, a stalk of celery, two sprigs of parsley and a bayleaf over water for twenty minutes. Remove the seasonings and add four tablespoonfuls of rolled cracker crumbs and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Cook a pint of oysters in their own liquor until the edges curl, add to the seasoned milk and serve very hot.

Pigs in Blankets.

Sprinkle twelve large oysters with salt and pepper and wrap each in a slice of bacon. Broil or cook under a gas flame until the bacon is brown. Serve on strips of well-buttered toast. Fasten the bacon with toothpicks and remove them when ready to serve.

Savory Golden Rod Toast.

Chop the whites of three hard-cooked eggs coarsely; mix with one cupful of white sauce and add two tablespoonfuls of minced ham. Serve on hot buttered toast with the yolks of the eggs rice over all.

Russian Toast.

To two cupfuls of diced cold roast beef add one sweet chopped green pepper and three-fourths of a cupful of gravy. Heat thoroughly and serve on buttered toast garnished with curls of bacon.

Meals With Fruits.

There are so many dried fruits like apricots, dates, peaches, figs and cherries that one may enjoy in various dishes when the fresh fruits are not so abundant. The following will send the family away rejoicing to the duties of the day at school or in the office.

Date Muffins.

Sift together one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-fourth cupful of soda, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Add one cupful of dates pitted and sliced, then two cupfuls of bran. Beat two eggs well with one and one-half cupfuls of milk, add three tablespoonfuls of molasses, combine the mixtures, beat well and stir in one-quarter cupful of melted butter. Pour into well-greased muffin pans and bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes. If they are to be served for luncheon add a few chopped nuts to the mixture.

Raisin Pumpkin Pie.

Beat together the yolks of two eggs, add one cupful of sifted stewed pumpkin or squash, one-half cupful of sugar, one cupful of rich milk, one tablespoonful of orange juice, one-half teaspoonful each of ginger, cinnamon and mace, one tablespoonful of butter and one-half cupful of seeded and chopped raisins. Pour into a pastry-lined pan and bake. Cover with a meringue, using the egg whites with six tablespoonfuls of sugar, beaten until stiff. Sprinkle with coconut or shredded almonds.

Marshmallow Apple Pudding.

To four cupfuls of sliced apples add one cupful of sugar, one cupful of raisins, one cupful of hot water, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Add a grating of nutmeg or of lemon peel and bake until the apples are done. Cover with marshmallows, set into the oven to brown and serve hot with cream.

Colonial Pie.

This is an old and very good pie. Take one cupful each of well-cleaned currants, seeded raisins; pour one cupful of boiling water over them and add two tablespoonfuls of finely shredded citron, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half teaspoonful of nutmeg, the same of cinnamon, one-half cupful of grapejuice or cider, one tablespoonful each of grated orange peel and lemon peel, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls each of flour and water well blended. Cook all together for ten minutes. Cool before using. This recipe is more digestible, less expensive than the mince pie and will make two ordinary sized pies. For an especially delicious dessert, use this recipe in individual pies uncovered and serve topped with caramel ice cream.

Mailman and Horses Engulfed in Fissure

Volcanic activity within the Vatnajökull glacier, in southeastern Iceland, recently claimed the life of a native under dramatic circumstances. The overland mail follows a route through the volcanic district, and on this particular occasion the caravan consisted of two men and seven horses loaded with mail. The weather was very rough and the men and horses were struggling their way over the mountain when an immense fissure opened immediately before the leader.

He and four horses disappeared into the chasm, while the other man had to gather all his wits to save himself and the remaining three horses. He turned back to the inhabited districts, utterly exhausted. A rescue party rushed to the scene of the tragedy, but found no traces of the unfortunate mailman.

Makes Natural Gift

There is a blind student in Georgia, who partly pays his way through law school by calling a card on 200 members purely from memory. He identifies each voice by the slight inflection and instantly sees the law who would answer for a minute. Every school day he is turned in an accurate statement to the officials. He explains the income from his task in newspapers of hours before a meeting office building and can call part of customers by name.

Got Away From Pistol

It turned out that a loaded pistol given to Frank Williams, a Philadelphia garage employee, to protect his employer's property delayed the protection. Williams placed the pistol on a desk in the office with its muzzle pointing at the door. Then he began his duty of washing cars. There came a blast from the office. A stove had exploded. Running to the scene, Williams was about to enter when his eye fell upon the pistol pointed directly at him, and with flames surrounding it. He ran the other way and called the fire department.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST TO KEEP AVERAGE FARM WORK HORSE?

Feed Bill Was Largest Item in Recent Iowa Survey.

It cost $98.24 in 1926 to keep the average farm work horse when feed, labor in care, housing and interest on the investment were included. At least this was the average cost which a group of 22 Iowa county farmers found who kept complete cost accounts in co-operation with the agricultural economics department of Iowa state college and the United States Department of Agriculture.

The feed bill was the largest item, amounting to $59.61. Labor in caring for the horse was $15.53, the charge for the use of buildings was $8.13 and interest $6.91.

The cost of horse labor per hour varied on these 22 farms from 63 to 18 cents per hour and averaged 12 cents. In 1925 the average cost was 13.5 cents, or slightly higher. The reduction in 1926 was due to the farmers using their horses to better advantage. They secured 892 hours of labor per horse in 1926 as compared with 820 in 1925.

As in 1925, the farms with the lowest cost per hour of horse labor in 1926 used tractors as well as horses. That is, the use of a tractor on some of these farms increased the efficiency of the horses. Also, some of the farms with the lowest total cost of labor per acre of crops used a combination of horses and tractors.

The number of crop acres handled per horse varied from 13 to 30 on the 22 farms. The average was 23.2 or about two acres more per horse than were handled the previous year.

Peach-Leaf Curl May Be Controlled by Spraying

During the past season, the peach-leaf curl was a problem of great concern. There is only one way to control it effectively. The only effective way to absolutely prevent peach curl is to spray in the early spring while the buds are dormant, or, better still, spray the trees in the fall. There is no use to spray after the curl shows up during the growing season. More fall spraying is the effective way for peach-leaf curl control and we have more time to do the work. Then again it is often a difficult problem to get the spraying done early enough in spring before the buds swell. The buds must be thoroughly covered with a strong fungicide such as bordeaux or lime-sulphur mixture, or one of the effective fungicidal sprays of which there are many sold commercially. The important thing is to get the work done in time to prevent the curl and while the buds are dormant either in fall or early spring.

Raising Broilers Part of Work of Poultryman

Raising broilers is a part of the work of every poultryman, whether undertaken as a necessary part of keeping up the supply of pullets or as a specialty. The New York state college of agriculture, at Ithaca, has issued a leaflet of interest in this connection with the title "Cost of Raising Broilers from Eight to Sixteen Weeks of Age and Their Market Value." Light and heavy breeds are both considered. Tables of weights, costs, market values and net returns at the various ages are given. One conclusion of the studies is that there is considerable doubt as to there being any profit in broiler raising as a separate enterprise and that, where broilers are to be sold as part of necessary methods of renewing the flock, they are most profitably disposed of at from ten to fourteen weeks of age, depending upon when they are hatched and how fast they grow.

Goats for Milk

Goats bred for milk production produce from one to two thousand pounds of milk a year, with an average test of about 4 per cent. From two to four quarts of milk per day is considered very good production. Goats are very rarely kept in this country for milk production under average farm conditions. They are more economical than cows and can be kept perhaps where cows could not.

Hints for the Farm

The tree that bears fruit is the one that is always clubbed—the barren one is never bothered.

According to federal reports, it costs milk dealers $30,000,000 a year to replace milk bottles lost or broken.

Since 1920 rural population in this country has decreased about 3,000,000, according to a recent government report.

Excess Load on Tubes Is Not Good Judgment

It is unfortunate, in a way, that vacuum tubes are very much like faithful horses in performing the duties imposed upon them. Tubes, like horses, will work and strain at tasks that should never have been imposed upon them until they crack under the strain.

According to Roger M. Wise, radio engineer, the failure to realize that adjustment "by ear" of the voltages furnished by "B" power devices almost invariably results in the use of excessive plate voltage, is frequently responsible for dissatisfaction on the part of the listener at the service obtained from the tube. This is particularly true of power tubes, with which reception, as judged by the ear, improves as the tube is overloaded as regards plate voltage.

Complete specifications and operating characteristics of tubes are given in the sheet of instructions regarding their proper use which tube manufacturers supply in the cartons in which their tubes are packed. These specifications regarding the proper filament voltage, plate voltage and grid bias to use with such tubes and the uses to which the tubes can be put should be studied carefully before the set is designed and wired, so that full advantage can be taken of the knowledge gained by the manufacturers in the experimental and development work which has been done with the tubes.

As a concrete instance it might be mentioned that with a grid bias of 40½ volts the normal plate current drawn by a 17-type power tube at 180 volts is 20 milliamperes, whereas with no grid bias the plate current may run as high as 100 milliamperes, dissipating so much heat in the tube that the plate of the tube will be heated to redness.

With the growing popularity of battery eliminators, the tendency has grown to adjust the voltages supplied to the receiver by such units entirely by ear. Since these eliminators and the conditions under which they are used vary greatly, it is almost impossible to determine the correct settings merely by listening to the receiver and adjusting the unit until reception sounds all right.

The variable adjustments of these units should be set accurately to the receiver with which they are used, a high resistance voltmeter being employed for the purpose. When once adjusted they should be left severely alone unless a change in tube or tube types are made.

Colleges Seek Changes for Radio Broadcasting

The problem of providing satisfactory wave lengths and power for college radio stations is being worked out by the federal radio commission, with the co-operation of a committee representing the Association of Land Grant Colleges.

Twenty Land Grant colleges, which are supported by federal and state aid, regularly send out radio educational programs, some of them giving extension courses.

While most of the college stations report satisfactory broadcasting conditions, some desire increased power, change in wave lengths and elimination of interference. Members of the college radio committee declare seven to nine in the evening is the best time for educational programs. Assignment to college stations of those hours, which conflict with the scheduled hours of many entertainment programs is the chief problem confronting the commission.

College radio men have found daytime satisfactory broadcasting conditions, some desire increased power, change in wave lengths and elimination of interference.

Sun's Rays Continue to Puzzle Radio Engineers

Peculiarities of short wave radio transmission in relation to the sun's rays continue to puzzle radio engineers.

Much research work along these lines has been done, but a great deal more remains before it is certain what actually happens when signals are hurled into the air.

Sunlight long has been known to affect radio signals of all wave lengths. K. A. Heising, New York engineer, often described as the meteorologist of radio, told the Institute of Radio Engineers, the solar rays appear to hinder the travel of the longer of the short waves, he said, although aiding the shorter waves.

"Short waves longer than 50 meters," he added, "usually have fairly uniform transmission during dark hours. They do not experience the falling off after midnight that is found in the case of still shorter waves."

Two Speakers Necessary

Because of the vast difference of human ears, it is well to employ two loud speakers for reception comfort. One speaker can be of the old-time horn type, which has marked sharpness, and the other of the modern cone or mellow type. Both loud speakers are slanted by variable resistance, so that either one may be reduced in volume to any desired degree.

Check Interference

When troubled with cross-talk between the higher wave stations, try an 001 mfd. fixed condenser in series with the lead-in. If this does not make the set more selective, shorten the antenna, or remove several turns of wire from the primary coil.

Voltmeter Test

Test a dry battery with a good voltmeter and prolong its useful life. Never test the condition of a battery by shorting it through a wire and observing the intensity of the spark produced.

Says Too Many Girls Are Slaves at Home

Many women of today have a "peasant walk"—the heavy tread of one who tramps in stiff shoes on rough roads—Temple Bailey, popular novelist, told Hildegarde Fillmore in an interview for McCall's.

"Perhaps there is no place where a girl's beauty means so much as in her home," says Miss Bailey. "As she grows up from childhood to young womanhood she feels that she must be attractive, that she must impress the world with her personality. And she should be encouraged to make herself charming, not by artificial means alone but by learning all the arts which may enhance her natural loveliness. Too often, I'm afraid, she thinks only of her appearance in school, at business, on the street, or at parties. At home she slumps into slovenly habits. Her clothes are untidy, her hair carelessly dressed. Her family becomes critical; they nag and tease."

"First Aid—Home Remedy Week" Coming

The National Association of Retail Druggists is urging greater advertising publicity for "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," fixed for March 28-24. This "sales baby," dedicated to the druggists of America by Sterling Products (Incorporated) is seven years old this month. It has scored six successive triumphs, and Secretary Samuel C. Henry, in urging the general adoption of the national slogan, "Fill That Medicine Chest Now," says: "Unpreparedness is seldom, if ever, due to willful neglect, but generally attributable to thoughtlessness or lack of foresight."

With the aid of "Little Johnny Advertising," the sponsors of this national merchandising campaign, which is really a drive against needless suffering, hope to induce householders to be better able to cope with sudden illness and unforeseen accident.

Practicing "Why don't you take hold and try to run the whole country?" "I may come soon," said Farmer Corntassel, "as soon as I can show I have made a success of running this little old 400-acre farm."

This Oil Outfit Free

with order for one drum of

Delco Motor Oil

A HANDY, drip-proof, genuine Bennett Oil pump; a funnel-spout quart measure, a Corbin lock, and a steel drum—this complete outfit furnished FREE with your first order for a drum of Delco Motor Oil—15, 30 or 50 gallon!

We are making this special offer simply to get you into the habit of buying your motor oil by the drum. You benefit in several ways:

- (1) Your oil costs less when you buy by the drum—you get the benefit of bulk prices. A worthwhile saving!
- (2) Oil is handy when you need it—right there in your own garage. This might be the means of saving you scored cylinders or damaged bearings sometime. When the oil in your crankcase gets low, it is dangerous to drive even a short distance. An oil supply in your garage is the best engine insurance you can buy!
- (3) It is better for your engine to use one kind of oil, of uniform high quality, rather than a mixture of oils. When you buy by the quart you probably buy one kind of oil one time, and another kind the next time. Get the drum habit!
- (4) Delco Motor Oil keeps on lubricating at motor heats far past what ordinary asphalt-base or blended oils will stand. Get the Delco habit!

We benefit because we know you will like Delco Motor Oil so well, after you have used one drum, that you will continue to use this better oil exclusively!

This Special Introductory Drum offer Closes May 1, 1928

Water Cools Best

It is impossible to properly cool and care for milk without using cold water. Experiments have proven that water surrounding the can has twenty-one times the cooling properties of air at the same temperature. It is therefore easy to understand why cold water is positively necessary to cool milk rapidly. The quality of the milk and dairy products depends on prompt and thorough cooling with cold water, and stirring while cooling.
