

SUIT OF STRIPED TUB SILK; "CLASSY" OUTFIT FOR SUMMER

It is the perfect just right for the season, what an uplifting feeling, it gives. And that is the reason why it is so popular. It is not too early to begin this summer wardrobe. The first thing to do is to plan one's wardrobe for the summer. There are many ways to do this. One way is to buy a suit of striped tub silk. This is a "classy" outfit for summer. It is made of wash silk and is very comfortable. It is also very stylish. It is a perfect outfit for the summer. It is a perfect outfit for the summer. It is a perfect outfit for the summer.

Chic Suit of Striped Tub Silk.

It is not only in the matter of their fashioning that cottons are scoring high. The materials themselves are that lovely they seem almost "too good to be true." By that we mean that they are the "classy" one would never suspect them as having come from the washgoods section. Their beauty, their texture, their coloring and patterning compare favorably with the most expensive genuine silks and the like. For this reason dressmakers and couturiers do not hesitate to make them reserved for the more formal silks, satins and velvets.

Washable Voile With Yarn Embroidery.

Of course that makes it a very superior material. While the stripes are multi-colored, the weaving shade is navy, and so what with the broad sueded belt being navy, and also the silk tie, the ensemble as a whole gives the impression of being a navy blue outfit. What is right in line with the call of the mode. This is really going to prove very much of a navy season. Navy straw hats, navy felt hats, navy shoes, navy pocketbooks, to accompany the silk or woolen navy suit or ensemble, are to be seen everywhere on avenue and boulevard, with the coming of these spring days.

Short Silk Jackets Worn
A short jacket of plain tulle or tulle in this season's substitute for the ensemble coat. Sometimes there is a second long coat for wear over the silk jacket which is designed to terminate the sleeveless dress.

Lace Frocks
Lace frocks are imperative to spring wardrobes. Warm colors, particularly deep pinks and purples, are very good. They usually have light foundations.

Basket-Weave Mohair
A traveling suit of frock and three-quarter coat is fashioned of lovely soft gray mohair, in a new basket weave, with that crepe in blue for bandings.

Fancy Coats
The fancy coat, of embroidered kasha or other lightweight woolsens, will have a big vogue this year, styles indicate. A straightline rose-belted one, embroidered in coin dots in tans, rose and gold, is very decorative.

Human beings have endured inconceivable miseries, and grown strong even as they suffered. And they have not only endured all things, but hoped all things. No sadness, when it came, has been able to daunt the spirit, which, looking beyond the present grief, has detected behind whatever barrier of blackest cloud, the clear shining of the sun of the benison of the stars at night.—Richard Burton.

DISHES ONE WISHES

To wish children to like certain foods that are good for them has not been, so far, very satisfactory. Every mother wishes a strong, bright, healthy child with strong white teeth and bright eyes. If born without any serious handicap, right food and plenty of fresh air and sunlight will make such children.

The first years of school in any child's life are of the utmost importance. It is at this time that a child's mental should be carefully supervised. They require a much larger percentage of body-building material than adults. Milk, which is called the perfect food, has all the body-building materials except iron. As iron is a most important element it, too, must be supplied. We get it in such vegetables as spinach, chard, water cress, carrots and turnip tops, as well as beans when served as greens.

Some children dislike milk; this fact only makes the problem more difficult. They may, by diplomacy, be induced to drink two or three glasses a day if given a straw or colorful sippers to use at the table. A pretty pitcher with a cup of the same design or bright-colored glass often may be helpful in getting them to take an interest in milk drinking. Pictures placed on the bottom of the glass and not visible until the milk has been drunk is another method used by mothers. Milk dishes, simple puddings help along the milk diet but milk is not enough; the child must have meat, fish and eggs, which are the valuable protein foods needed to build body material. Grains such as cereals, bread, and macaroni are the energy-building foods. Solid foods are necessary and it is a great mistake to depend alone upon milk.

Colonian Fish Chowder.—Cut into very fine dice enough salt pork to make three-fourths of a cupful. Try out in a deep kettle until the scraps are well browned. Add sliced potatoes and layers of sliced onions sufficient to serve four persons, sprinkle with salt and pepper and if the fish is fresh add one and one-half pounds of cod-fish or any other fish at hand. If salted it is not added until the chowder is nearly ready to serve. At the last add a quart of milk and milk crackers which have been softened in boiling water. Turn over a cupful of heavy cream and heat hot before serving.

Fish Turbot.—To two cupfuls of any cooked white fish, flaked and packed solidly to measure, add one large onion grated, one cupful of cream, one-fourth cupful of soft butter, one teaspoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of capers, one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper. Mix well and turn into a well buttered baking dish, sprinkle generously with grated American cheese and bake thirty minutes, browning delicately.

Cream and butter are the best form of fat for children and these, too, are very necessary in a balanced diet.

Good Dried Fruits.
It is often most satisfactory to have a few pounds of dried fruits to use for variety and in emergency, when other fresh things are not at hand. When we consider that these dried fruits have been subjected to four or five days of drying heat and a longer period, to free them from moisture, we can understand that it is necessary to reverse the process. As five or six pounds of fresh fruit have gone into the making of a pound of dried peaches, apricots or pears, our problem is to make five pounds of palatable juicy fruit out of one.

First wash the fruit well and soak it over night in lukewarm water. One pound of fruit, by soaking and heating, will absorb one and one-half quarts of water. After the soaking then place in the same water, over slow heat; when it is tender enough for the use it is intended add sugar, stir often and cook to the desired consistency if for jam. Inferior grades of fruit take longer cooking. If the fruit is desired crystallized, soak as usual and steam until tender. Prepare a thick candy sirup and proceed as for any other fruits. The sugar sirup is prepared with one and one-half cupfuls of the juice and four cupfuls of the sugar. Add as much fruit as can be stirred without crowding. As the fruit grows clear dip out a piece at a time and place on an oiled platter. Let stand in the sun or a warm place to dry. Roll in powdered sugar and pack in glass jars.

New Dresses for The School Girl

By MAE MARTIN

Thousands of mothers with daughters of high school or college age, have problems like this Little Rock, Arkansas, mother. She says: "I don't believe I could have put my daughter through the last two years of high school and college without the help of Diamond Dyes. Dresses long out of style and faded were made new with a package or so of Diamond Dyes and the addition of a few dozen buttons and a little braid. Sometimes two dresses were combined and brought up to date in lines that gave no hint of their past. People never knew they were redyed when I used Diamond Dyes. They never take the life out of cloth or make it limp. They always make things fresh, crisp and bright." Diamond Dyes are true dyes, like those used when the cloth was made. Tinting with them is as easy as bluing, and dyeing only takes a little more time. Insist on Diamond Dyes and save disappointment. They never streak, spot or run.

My handsome new book, "Color Craft," will help you with your clothes and home furnishing problems. Sixty-four pages of dollar-saving suggestions, fully illustrated in colors. It's FREE. Simply write Mae Martin, Home Service Dept., Diamond Dyes, Burlington, Vermont.

Small Girl Knew All About Wife of Noah

The kindergarten teacher was telling her group the story of Noah and the ark. Suddenly little Isabel waved her hand wildly. "I know somef'n's else," she announced triumphantly. "Noah's wife could ride a horse!" The teacher was for the moment completely nonplused, and couldn't just then remember whether those were pre-horse days or not. To gain time, she asked: "How do you know she could, Isabel?" "Cause I saw the picture and she was ridin' a white horse. An' I know her name, too." Again the teacher was not sure whether or not the Bible mentioned Mrs. Noah. "Well, what was it, Isabel?" "Joan. I saw the picture of the lady on the horse and daddy said it was Joan of Arc!"—True Story Magazine.

The Visitor

"We understand that a party of friends came to your house last night to help you celebrate your birthday," said the able editor of the Torch of Liberty. "How did the affair go off?" "Durned if I know!" replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "We went away during the afternoon and took the children along. I crawled lulu bed at sunset, and when a hooraw ariz outside I just turned over and went to sleep. I 'lowed it ought be a mess of Ku Klux come to celebrate something. I didn't know what."—Kansas City Star.

Look Eagle on Hook

The season's best fish story isn't about fish. John H. Pitts, Alabama Polytechnic Institute football coach, cast his line and a big bald eagle, also fishing, nabbed it in midair. The fishhook caught the eagle and Pitts landed him. The bird, measuring five feet, four inches from wing tip to wing tip, was presented to the institute's zoology department.

Reasonable Request

"Do you mind if I smoke a cigar?" Boarder—"I'll tell you when you have lit it."

The average age attained by the twenty-seven Presidents of the United States who have died was sixty-eight years.

Largest Rose Garden Owned by King Boris

King Boris, the bachelor king of Bulgaria, who has just paid a private visit to King George at Balmoral, has royal rights over the biggest rose garden in the world. It is about 40 miles long and 10 broad. The peasants of nearly 200 villages cultivate it. Their women folk get up before dawn to strip it. When a gentle breeze blows they say that its scent penetrates far beyond the Thracian plain in which it is situated.

It is this garden which yields the world-famous attar of roses, that luscious perfume which, in olden times, Persian shahs commanded should be used exclusively in their harems. It is said that this even today in India is offered to wedding guests on a little twisted cotton at the end of a short stick. Attar of roses has long been the costliest perfume put on the market. During the war it ran up to $50 per ounce, and at present is round about $15.

The Bulgarian rose grower who does his own distilling does not get anything like such prices. "A buck deer with especially fine antlers has been a great favorite at headquarters this winter, and several people expressed a desire for his horns when they were steeled, which invariably happens around January. "One morning while feeding this buck on her back porch, a woman residing at administrative headquarters was astonished to see him rub his horns on the wall until they fell to the floor. As she fed him more often than any other person, she believes it was his way of showing gratitude."

Buck Paid Board Bill With Set of Antlers

Superintendent J. R. Eakin of Glacier National Park is authority for one of the most striking instances of wild animal gratitude recorded in natural history. He relates:

"A buck deer with especially fine antlers has been a great favorite at headquarters this winter, and several people expressed a desire for his horns when they were steeled, which invariably happens around January. "One morning while feeding this buck on her back porch, a woman residing at administrative headquarters was astonished to see him rub his horns on the wall until they fell to the floor. As she fed him more often than any other person, she believes it was his way of showing gratitude."

Race Mingling

In Hawaii, according to the Honolulu Nippon-Jiji, intermarriage between its many races is becoming more and more prevalent. American men in the islands showed the highest percentage of intermarriage in the year ending June 30, 1927, only 152 out of a total of 383 being with women of their own people. Hawaiian women also intermarry frequently, for out of 271 marriages recorded, 156 were with members of other races. The Chinese, in spite of a popular belief that they are inclined toward intermarriage, showed a total of but 42 such weddings out of 175 men who were married. Only 29 out of 708 Japanese men married women of another race, and intermarriages among Japanese women totaled 41 out of 510.

Not His Line

Bill Brennan, Jr., isn't old enough to be a member of his father's firm and be known as a realtor, but he specializes the same as the W. A. Brennan company does in large downtown leases and real estate deals, having his small sister as his principal client. The other evening Bill, Sr., overheard some of the "business" conversation. The "client" had called by phone and Bill, Jr., answered. "No," he spoke into the imaginary telephone, "I am not an insurance; I am a real estate."—Detroit Free Press.

Gas Can His Credentials

George Niederauer, a young college student, arrived in Washington, after getting lifts from Sun Bernardino, Calif., with the aid of a gasoline can. Flaming motorists with the can and having them pick him up on the assumption he was a fellow-driver in distress, the drivers would usually laugh when they found the gas container was only the wanderer's suitcase filled with clothing and continue to carry him on his way.

Reasonable Supposition

The Last Word in Planter Design

McCormick-Deering
Corn Planters and Drills.

If you want to see a real piece of corn planter mechanism come in and look this McCormick-Deering planter over. You will be surprised to see how so many good features have been secured with so few parts—check-row, straight drill, hill-drop, drop-hoppers in which flat-drop, edge-drop, or full-hill-drop plans work equally well. It has a simple, variable-drop device—you can change the number of kernels to the hill instantly, or in the case of a drill, you can change the distance between the kernels in the row. Runner or disk openers, automatic marker (twin disk if preferred), in fact equipment to suit your needs. It's the smoothest combination of time-proved principles you ever saw in a corn planter. Combination corn and bean hoppers, also fertilizer attachments are available.

Satisfactory results will follow.—Otto B. Graf, Kewaskum, Wis.

—Wm. F. Backus was at Milwaukee Friday, where he visited with his grand son Carl Backus, 9-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Backus of Cedarburg, who underwent an operation at St. Joseph's hospital, for the removal of his appendix. Latest reports received are that he withstood the operation well, and hopes for his recovery look very favorable.

—Frank Rose, the well known well driller of the town of Kewaskum, is nursing a very sore thumb, which he received last Friday evening when he was bitten by a dog. It all came about while Mr. Rose was visiting at the farm home of Mr. Mintz, south of West Bend, while there he started to play with the family dog, who bit him. The thumb and arm commenced to swell up badly after the injury was received. Mr. Rose believes, that by giving the injured membrane immediate medical attention prevented blood poisoning, as he suffered severe pains, and at times during Friday night was on the verge of being delirious. He is getting along very nicely at this writing.

The Bookplate

By JAMES MILLER

ored himself by some secret process—probably involving walnut-juice— which, however, died with him. He was a great artist, full of whims. I've seen many of his prints, all done on that shade of paper, and, of course, on a paper a century or more old, made of linen rags. This is of modern manufacture, made of wood fiber.

"Colfax died about eighteen-thirty, didn't he?" I inquired. "Yes; he was about seventy-five, I believe. The arithmetic gave me another reason for doubting the authenticity of this drawing," said the captain, looking whimsical. "Colfax, you see, was a patriot first and an artist afterward."

"I thought and helped him out; Americans because he was absolutely opposed to the Revolution. And as it seems likely that this old American law book must have been the property of an American, it doesn't seem likely that the plate would have been designed by Colfax."

"Especially," added the captain, "as the design is pictorial. As was natural enough in a man with Colfax's royalist sympathies and aristocratic clientele, he almost always made heraldic designs for bookplates—that is, designs showing the family coat of arms. Only something out of the common would have led him to make a pictorial plate, if he ever did."

"May I have a look at it now?" asked Mr. Case, as Mr. Roberts closed the book to drink his nonsensical tea. "Rather an imaginative picture, isn't it?"

"All except the immediate foreground," agreed Captain Ashland. "That table covered with old instruments—I don't recognize many of them—looks very realistic, and the alembic and skull are conventional owners' symbols used on many a doctor's bookplate. What the rest of the picture signifies, one could hardly tell without knowing something about the owner."

"The ship looks realistic, to me," observed Mr. Roberts, absolutely unable to refrain from differing with some one any longer. "Maybe the owner was a sailor. And what about those good strong pillars? Maybe he was an ex-sea-captain. They always build a good substantial house somewhere, to retire to.

"Such classic columns," said I instructively, for I couldn't let Mr. Roberts contradict and not do so myself. "are often used as a purely conventional frame for a bookplate picture."

Mr. Case nodded approvingly, but the captain, intent on making another point, noticed one of us. He said: "Yes, please," he said, "and then place them all on the wagon to be returned to the shelves."

CHAPTER VII

Night Watch.

"Tell me, shall you be able to sell the book and the bookplate separately for five hundred and ten dollars together?" demanded Nancy. "I had to wait one whole second before deciding what to say, and it took her far less than that to transfer herself to the large oak chair just vacated by the captain, and a thick pile of papers to my desk. "Please look at my work and tell me if it is right, so I can go on," she requested. "And what about the five hundred and ten dollars?"

"If you want to get on at all, you had better occupy yourself with what concerns you," I said. "Wait a minute! There's more about the book. Just now Wilkey dearly fled, after I'd said I'd do what she told me!"

"You haven't mentioned that occasion."

"And how ago she asked me to help you, though it would be an ordeal, especially since I was inexperienced. I said I was here to learn; besides, all my letters were finished, though the other girls weren't. Then she asked me, very sweetly, to inquire of Mr. Case, who was always so nice, whether or not law book she had sent down to you by Monday afternoon. She said her cousin, Magistrate Judds, would give a hundred dollars for it if that would be enough."

"And you have not asked Mr. Case Nancy, it's vulgar to wink."

"I am I really most refused, as anybody can see. When have I had a chance to ask Mr. Case anything? I had only time to stop in the stockroom and look at their telephone directory while I found my typewriter would be required after all; and there really is a Magistrate Judds. And now it's no use asking Mr. Case. Miss Wilkes will just have to accept the fact that the book's going into the catalogue. Listen, Constance: where do you keep it?"

"Why do you want to know?"

"I'm worried about it, on Peter's account. I want it to be safe. Maybe with a fake bookplate, he'll be in a worse hole than ever. Perhaps if you have it right by you, you might have a chance to make somebody buy it for more than Magistrate Judds would offer."

I felt touched.

"Nancy, dear," I promised, "I'm going to write the most alluring possible advertisement of that volume, and also of the bookplate. No Judds shall lay his marauding fingers upon it until the world is apprised of all its charms; and until Judds or some similar Juggins with money to waste come along, it shall remain here in the lowest left-hand drawer of my desk."

Nancy went back to work, satisfied; we labored steadily through the chorus of "Good-nights" from the evening exodus. Only for Peter did I stop one moment.

"I'm going up tonight to a place called Raynes Forester to buy a lot of horrible old trash," he informed me discreetly, viewing Nancy's back. "Kid's doing better, eh?"

"She's a great worker," I compromised.

I looked at Peter's downcast face, and a thought that had occurred to me over the steaming kettle reversed. I felt convinced that he was carrying some heavy secret burden relating to Julia Grosvenor. I had never forgotten that state of frantic alarm which had seized him on the threshold of Mr. Case's office last Monday, though ever since his manner had been so calm as to be almost unnatural, particularly when he and I had been talking to Mr. Almy. If I could have only told him of my visit to Julia, of her recognition of him in the shop, her relief on hearing that he had denied all understanding of her exclamation! But knowing that that visit was confidential, I merely said:

"Back up, Peter! It's up to you to come back from Raynes—whatever it is—with your shield or on it. Others can be relied on to keep the home fires burning."

Peter looked grateful, but said nothing, for at that instant Nancy swung round and saw him. He put man's first question to woman.

"When are you going home?" he inquired sternly.

"At six o'clock," said Nancy, sweetly, viewing him with calm appraisal. "Constance, come and have dinner with us."

"No, thank you—thank you both very kindly," I repeated as Peter urged the invitation on me brightly.

"If you won't come to dinner tonight, you must come and stay with me all night tomorrow," declared Nancy, tenderly as usual, of her wishes, "or I'll be all alone."

"That's a fine idea!" exclaimed Peter. "Yes; it was mine," said his sister. "Will you come, Constance?"

"I shall be delighted, my dear, to help the eight other occupants of the house bear you company."

"One for you, Nancy!" cried Peter. "Well, Constance, good-by till Saturday, at the latest. I'm off for Plymouth Rock and way stations!"

Nancy and I worked alone in the silent shop without further interlopers. The silence of unbroken, save by a distant, infrequent rattle of late traffic. Not until I had nearly finished dinner, sent in to me, did I hear a single sound in the shop. Then, unexpectedly, far back, I heard a faint movement.

It was repeated. . . . It came again, rattling footsteps sounded on the left-hand aisle. Next minute a dim figure materialized in the dusk as I turned, and to my relief, never more than my surprise, I recognized Mr. Case just as he started back in amazement, close at my left.

"Why, I thought you'd gone to dinner," I said matter-of-factly.

"I thought you had," he countered. "Everybody else has who's going to work tonight. I was just doing some of my work now, because I like a late dinner hour. The rain has nearly stopped. Why don't you go out and get something better to eat?"

Prosaic Shepherding

Shepherding is becoming a science in France. A school of shepherding is operating at Rambouillet. The school is a government institution, fostered by the ministry of agriculture. It teaches many things that the shepherds with their crooks, pipes, and whistles, and by poets, never bothered about. There are no picturesque costumes. Students are not judged by their ability to sing or pose. They have to study the work of shepherding with a view to making a profit on sheep. About all the romance left in the profession is the sheep dog.

Of Indian Origin

Tennessee is an Anglicized form of an Indian word—Tenassee, said to mean either a curved spoon or a river with the great bend.

Six Moist Ball Hurlers Left

ANOTHER famous tribe—the spitball hurlers of baseball—is rapidly becoming extinct. Now that Urban Shocker has made up his mind to moult bank notes in his St. Louis radio shop in preference to wetting the old spheroid, the ranks of this once great galaxy of hurlers has dwindled to a mere half dozen.

Only eight years ago the major leagues decided by concurrent action to ban freak deliveries and agreed that seventeen bona fide spitball hurlers then performing in the big circuits would be the only ones exempt.

Of that number the National had eight, namely, Bill Doak, Shuffling Phil Douglas, Dana Fillingim, Ray Fisher, Marvin Goodwin, Burleigh Grimes, Clarence Mitchell and Wick Rudolph. Today only Doak of the Robins, Mitchell of the Phillies and Grimes of the Pirates survive.

With the passing of Shocker of the Yankees, three of the moist ball hurlers are left in the American league. When the rule was passed in 1920, there were A. W. Ayers, Ray Caldwell, Stanley Coveleskie, Urban Faber, H. B. Leonard, Jack Quinn, Allan Russell, Shocker and Allan Sotheron.

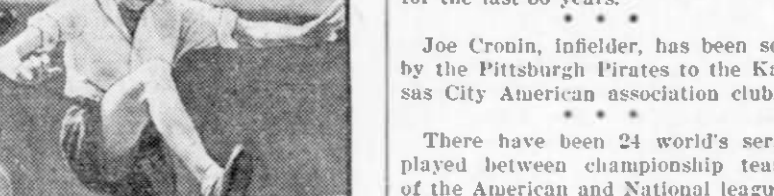

Coveleskie, now battling for a regular berth with the Yankees, Faber of the White Sox and Quinn of the Athletics remain on the American league active list. Sotheron, formerly with the Browns, is a Cardinal coach.

The ancient Polish heaver, Coveleskie, turned in two good performances during the southern training grind and seems assured of some sort of a contract with the world champions.

Jack Quinn, the Methuselah of baseball, is entering his twenty-fifth year on the diamond. Now forty-three years old, Quinn began tossing his puzzling splitter with the old Yankees. It is an odd twist of fate that Quinn in his early major league days had his poorest luck against Connie Mack's Athletics of whom he is at present a member.

Faber, Mitchell, Doak and Grimes seem to be ready for at least another season, but 1929 may bring further reductions in the fast-thinning line of these moundsmen who acquired their skill in the bygone days when chewing tobacco was considered an art in itself.

Yearns for Olympics

The photo shows Miss Jean Shiley, sixteen-year-old Haverford high school girl, as she cleared a good height on the high jump standard during her training for the Olympic tryouts to be held in New York. According to Lawson Robertson, head Olympic team coach, who is coaching Miss Shiley, she has already jumped 5 feet 11 inch. The present woman's high jump record is 4 feet 11 inches. Robertson has high hopes of Miss Shiley winning her event in the Olympic tryouts and in the Olympics.

Del and Kike Pierce, two Dayton brothers from the semi-pro ranks, have signed with Springfield in the Central league.

"Pud" Purdy, a rookie outfielder, is believed to be the fastest player on the pay roll of the Cincinnati Reds this season.

Mike Donlin, former National league star, is working with Richard Dix on a baseball movie to be titled "Knocking 'em Over."

Tampa's new Southwestern league baseball club set an unique precedent by going several miles north to St. Augustine for its pre-season training.

Outfielder Ben Spencer and Catcher Dutch Seasholtz have been purchased by Petersburg of the Virginia league from the Raleigh Caps of the Piedmont.

Now the word is going the rounds that Clarence Rowland, former American league umpire, wants to buy the Toledo franchise of the American association.

Outfielder Joy Wyaat has been sold by New Orleans to Decatur of the Three League. He was cast in utility roles while connected with New Orleans last season.

Bob Contryman, who was named pilot of the Mexia team of the Lone Star loop, and also appointed umpire in the Texas league, has chosen to follow the work of an arbiter.

Manager Mack announces that Claude Jonnard, pitcher, has been returned to the Milwaukee club of the American association, from which team he was purchased last fall.

The Frederick club of the Blue Ridge league has signed a deaf mute pitcher, Leonard Downs, who has been a star with the Maryland state school for the deaf for two or three years.

Rev. Harold M. Propp, an Indianapolis (Ind.) preacher, is one of the staunchest supporters of boxing bouts in his city.

The first official amateur golf champion of the United States was C. R. Macdonald, who won a tournament at Newport, R. I., in 1915.

Joe Griffin of Detroit, Mich., is the new National A. U. single handball champion. He defeated George Nelson of Baltimore, Md., defending his championship, 18-21, 21-16, 21-7.

The American Interscholastic Football association, organized in 1876, and composed of Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Columbia, was the first collegiate gridiron body in America.

The 1927 racing season was a great one for fillies, who established their supremacy in every division over the colts. Among them were Black Maria, Nimba, Anita Peabody and Nixie.

One of the best golf layouts on the eastern shore of Maryland has been constructed by I. L. Blades on a part of his Belmont farm. No greens fees are charged, the course being open to his friends and neighbors.

Court-tennis is an ancient game, patronized extensively by the French kings and princes of the blood. There were 1,000 courts in Paris during the reign of Louis XV., and today there are only a handful in that city.

HUGHIE'S CATCH WON BALL GAME

Jennings Put Up Brilliant Game With Baltimore.

Hugh A. Jennings was the shortstop for that famous aggregation known as the Orioles of Baltimore back in the '30s. When he joined the club it wasn't so famous, for the team and second division were synonymous.

From 1902 until 1909, Jennings created a record in the shortstop position that lives in baseball history as one of the greatest. A brilliant, scrappy player he was the personification of all that goes to make a ball player great.

It was Bill Dahlen against Hughie Jennings. Which was the greatest? It was a tossup but the pain would drift toward Hughie for the red-head was a bona fide 300 hitter and his style of play was slightly more sensational. This story will describe Hughie Jennings in his manner of play, for, possibly, this was his most brilliant stunt in fielding.

It was growing dark and the Orioles were making life miserable for Empire Tim Keefe but he refused to call the game as he considered it light enough to finish the contest.

The game meant the winning or losing of a pennant. In the tight race of 1905, the Cleveland and Baltimore clubs were locked in a terrific struggle for first place—only half a game separating them in the last few days of the race.

In this game the Orioles had the Giants as their opponents and the feeling existing between these teams wasn't the sweetest or most kindly.

In the eighth inning the Orioles had the lead, 5 to 2, and that was the reason they wanted the umpire to call the game. In that round Mike Tierman, the first batter up, drove out a hit good for two bases. Van Halren received a pass and with George Davis up it looked like a Taral finish for the Giants but Davis failed to deliver.

Borten, a new man in the league, stepped to the plate for the second time in his big league experience. Bill Hoffer was doing the hurling for the Birds and he looked anxious for he didn't know anything about the newcomer, also the outfielders didn't know where to play for him. Borten smashed the first ball pitched and it looked good for two or more bases. A mighty shout arose from thousands of the Manhattan fans.

A red-headed player leaped into the air with seemingly not the slightest chance of ever touching the flying sphere. The cheering was turned into groans as Shortstop Jennings speared that ball, then tore in and touched second, completing a double play. He could have made a triple, lone handed, if it had been necessary, for all runners had scamped toward home.

For a few seconds silence came over the throng, for they were amazed and dazed by the suddenness and brilliancy of the play. Then the happy Orioles danced with joy. Hughie Jennings was the hero. The catch was recorded at the time as the greatest ever made by a shortstop.

Roland Locke Employed by New York Law Firm

Roland Locke, who clipped Charles Paddock's 220-yard dash record nearly one-half second in the spring of 1923, is going to New York, where he will be employed by a law firm and where he plans to undergo an extensive training program.

Locke's law course studies at the University of Nebraska last year curtailed his cinder track work, but he did go to the Penn relays, where he won the 220-yard dash from Jackson Scholz and Henry Russell. He has done but little running since.

In New York Locke will devote his leisure hours to training and to competition on the indoor boardways. At the opening of the out-door season he will begin preparation for the Olympic games, he said.

Eddie Collins Ready

Pronouncing himself fit and ready to play ball, Eddie Collins, captain of the Philadelphia Athletics and one time super-second baseman, expressed the wish that he might run his total American League game to 3,000 before he quits the diamond. Collins is nearing his forty-first birthday and has played in 2,778 league games. He hopes to surpass Ty Cobb's mark of 2,938 before he retires.

Orville Elliott, knuckle ball pitcher with Raleigh of the Piedmont league last year, has notified his club that he will not play this year and requests that his name be placed on the voluntarily retired list.

Because he won 13 games while losing only one in the Southern league last summer, Eddie Wells, former Detroit hurler, is expected to be one of the most reliable members of the Washington squad this summer.

Pitchers Jimmy Robinson and Carroll Danforth, two Dallas youngsters with the Brooklyn Robins, and Catcher Hugh Viss, former Purdue university star, have been optioned out to Macon of the Sully league, a farm of the Robins.

Jim Bivens, a young third sacker who was transferred from the St. Louis Cardinal camp to Houston, has been sent along by the BuFs to Rochester of the International. Both clubs are members of the Cardinal string so it's all in the family.

Officials of the Fairmont club of the Middle Atlantic league are organizing a boys' county league around Fairmont with an eye to the future. They figure they may be able to draw on the ranks of this loop for their league team.

Feel Tired and Achy?

Too Often This Warns of Sluggish Kidneys.

LAME? Stiff? Achy? Sure your kidneys are working right? Sluggish kidneys allow waste poisons to accumulate and make one languid, tired and achy, with often dull headaches, dizziness and nagging backache. A common warning is too frequent, scanty or burning excretions. Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of bodily waste. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c ASTIMULANT DIURETIC FOR KIDNEYS. Foster-Wilburn Co. Mfg. Chem. Buffalo, N.Y.

BANG GOES $6,000!

"My time is worth $100 a minute." "Gee, it's pretty tough on you when they set the clock an hour ahead!"—Boston Transcript.

There is nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin for all sorts of aches and pains, but be sure it is genuine Bayer; that name must be on the package, and on every tablet. Bayer is genuine, and the word genuine—in red—is on every box. You can't go wrong if you will just look at the box when you buy it!

HEADACHE RELIEVED

QUICKLY

Carter's Little Liver Pills Purify Vegetable Laxative. They relieve the system of congestion poisons which may cause a dull and aching head. Remember they are a doctor's prescription and can be given with absolute confidence to every member of the family. All Druggists 25c and 75c Red Packages.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

We all eagerly give three cheers and then forget all about it—whatever it is.

A Mother's Standby!

Elkhart, Ind.—"I do not think I could have brought up my family and kept well if it were not for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Whenever I began to get run-down or nervous, I would take a couple of bottles and was then all right. I found it especially beneficial during pregnancy. It would keep me so well and feeling so good I never had any trouble. I also took it afterward to strengthen me. Favorite Prescription is the very best medicine a woman can take during motherhood and as a tonic and builder at all times."—Mrs. Jennie Kull, 144 E. Marion St.

All dealers. Large bottles, liquid $1.25; Tablets $1.35 and 65c. Send 10c for trial pkg. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

GOOD FARMING PAYS

A Perfect Seedbed

Here is the machine you have heard so much about, for preparing your seedbeds. Farmers everywhere are reporting crop increases, running from 5% to as high as 40%, due to use of this machine. It surely does put ground in excellent shape, and will pay you big to use it, no matter what you plant. We are pleased to show you this famous

WESTERN PULVERIZER, PACKER & MULCHER

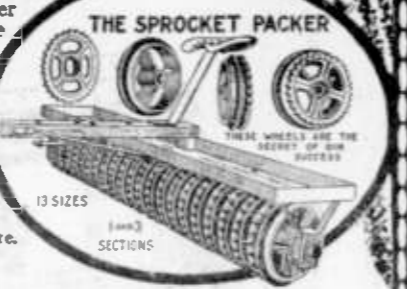

—the Sprocket Type Packer

With the clods crushed, the under soil firmly packed as deep as plowed, and the surface pulverized into a level, moisture-retaining soil mulch, you too will get a better stand and much larger yield. This machine does it all in one operation. Turns shorter and pulls much easier than any other type of packer.

It will prevent wheat winter killing and the soil blowing. You will find it also the best machine ever devised for covering clover and grass seed; for your alfalfa, potatoes, and all other crops.

Investigate this machine. When you see its construction and how it works, you will readily understand why it is such a favorite everywhere. Very reasonable in price.

Smart... Youthful... Colorful...
BUICK leads the fashion parade

Fashionable throngs... sparkling motor cars... and standing out like a flock from Paris—today's Buick!

Fleet, low lines, suggesting rocket-like getaway and unrivaled power... glistening colors, vivid and varied as the harmonies of Spring... and soft, rich upholstery—delightful to the sight.

Luxury like this ordinarily costs a thousand dollars more.

SEDANS $1195 to $1995

SPORT MODELS $1195 to $1525

All prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich. government tax to be added. The G. M. A. C. finance plan, the most desirable, is available.

But Buick leads any other three cars in its field in dollar for dollar sales; and this tremendous volume makes possible unequalled value.

You may as well have a fine car, when you can buy it at Buick's price.

Smart—youthful—colorful—Buick leads the fashion parade.

How long should it take to boil water?

2 qts. of water raised from 45° to boiling

-in 6 min. on the new KITCHENKOOK

-in 7½ min. on an ordinary city gas range

-in 21 min. on a popular make of kerosene range

Kitchenkook has set a new High Mark in Cooking Speed

Comparative tests show that the Kitchenkook is faster than any other type of cook stove; faster even than city gas, the usual standard for comparison.

Kitchenkook makes its own gas from common gasoline, bringing to homes located beyond the reach of gas all the convenience, cleanliness and comfort of city gas service. It's different from any stove you have ever used. No wicks or chimneys, no smoke, soot or kerosene odor. Master burner lights in less than one minute; then all burners turn on or off as wanted, just like gas. No waiting, no delay; fire regulated instantly just as you want it. Kitchenkook is so simple children can use it in perfect safety.

Don't fail to ask us for a demonstration of the wonder stove that is revolutionizing the whole industry, the most talked of stove today. Made in 15 attractive popular priced models, including white porcelain enamel ranges, with oven and broiler.

QUALITY AT LOW COST

A REMINDER

Warm weather is here. Milk needs extra attention. Cooling milk improves flavor, and checks growth of any bacteria that may be present. Cold water will cool milk thirty times faster than milk will not cool rapidly when a can is set in cold water without further attention. When stirred frequently it will cool in a very short time. Aeration of milk is not necessary if milk can be cooled without exposing it to the air. Rapid cooling is the only satisfactory way of keeping milk sweet.
