

The Colfax Bookplate

By AGNES MILLER

"Gone out?" "Yes, just a few minutes ago. And if you so desire, Mr. Roberts suggests my joining the two of you there later."

"Very well. We may have quite a session. I should be glad if you'd come as soon as you can, please."

Mr. Almy nodded and passed on. Then I took my bag, and from it I took Claribeth's "Notes," and from that I took the key. The bookplate and the key I then returned to the bag. I next rose and at random snatched—for I was growing less calm—a file of prints from one of the shelves near my desk, and ran through it searching for some mediocre bookplate of small value.

"Oh, Miss Wilkes," I cried before she was half-way up the aisle. "Isn't it perfectly glorious! You know what I mean." I waved the book copy. "Sh-h-h!" I tucked it into her hand. The icicles were slightly less audible. Miss Wilkes' majestic countenance proclaimed that while she had much to forgive, she could afford to be magnanimous, if it was not, indeed, her duty.

"A Trigger?" I echoed. "Dear Me, That Sounds Like a Gun." much to forgive, she could afford to be magnanimous, if it was not, indeed, her duty.

and also as the fellow Burton attacked here on Monday but he couldn't do it. The passage of several days made him too uncertain."

"I can do it! After I had looked at him a few minutes last night in Normandy terrace, I recognized him, not only as that customer, but also as the man who came in here on Thursday night, whom I saw at my desk at a quarter-past ten, when I was standing up on the south gallery in the dark."

"I passed out of my mind; you'll see why. I heard it just after Charles MacIvor entered the room through the window. I heard this loud click, and not knowing who he was, of course, I jumped to the conclusion that he was a housebreaker, and armed. Miss Burton also recognized the sound. In the excitement of all that had happened since, I forgot about the noise."

"She's sacrificing herself," said I. "And it's not for that wretched cousin of hers, I'm much mistaken." But Mr. Almy said nothing further except that he would join me after luncheon for the visit to Normandy terrace, and I had risen to go, when the door opened without warning, and there stood Daisy Abbott, in her street things.

"Oh, pardon me!" she exclaimed. "I saw you going in here, Miss Fuller; I didn't know any one else was here. I thought you must be doing some special work, but ventured to interrupt you to say good-by."

Player of Bull Terrier Type

LITTLE has been said of Charlie Drensen, but nevertheless this little man started at third base for the Reds last season. Critz, the sensation of 1928, was not up to the infield play of the obscure Drensen in 1927. The midget had quite some record. He played in 144 games and batted .292, right on the rim of the coveted .300 circle. He made 36 two-baggers and 10 triples and batted in 55 runs and scored 78 himself. Not bad for a third baseman who batted at the top of the lineup and who led his league in fielding with .967 and who had 40 more assists than the great Pie Traynor.

Drensen came to the Reds in the spring of 1925 from St. Paul with a sensational minor league record behind him. They looked to him to star that year in Redland. But a sore arm made him practically useless to Hendricks' team during that season.

Charlie Drensen.

Greatest Natural Lover of Children in Sports

Rud Rennie, a New York baseball writer, describes Babe Ruth as the "greatest natural lover of children in sport."

Success for Glenna

The photograph shows Glenna Collett, the noted golf star who is enjoying one of her best seasons this year.

Sporting Squibs

United States, England, India and Argentina are the four strongest polo countries. The Boston A. A. marathon, held annually, is the oldest event of its kind in the country. Jack Kenrus lost his suit to Dempsey. Maybe he was lucky to keep his shirt and shoes. Tunney is finding that uplifting the ring is like uplifting the stage—a rough, tough job. Sprague Cleghorn of the Boston Bruins has been playing professional hockey for eighteen years. Georgetown university football eleven will meet the Navy in 1929 and may encounter Princeton in 1930. John Nixon, dean of Canadian thoroughbred horse trainers, recently celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday. Clarence Crabbe, national mile swimming champion, announces that he will enter Yale university next fall. A Brooklyn sharpshooter hit 197 birds out of a possible 200. Which is calculated to make some of our motorists jealous. If Tunney got through "A Winter's Tale" ten times, of his own accord, we don't know what Dempsey could have done to hurt him. For the first time in the history of track in Minnesota, an individual invitational track and field meet will be held at Hibbing this year. Gene Tunney knows his Shakespeare. Does Shakespeare know his Tunney? That's a question for Oliver Lodge and Conan Doyle to answer. Rickard believes the Tunney-Heeny bout will draw $1,500,000, he says. Tex has a good poker face. He didn't even smile when he said it. Warren Pershing, son of Gen. John Pershing, who has been striking the Yale second varsity eight, has abandoned athletics until the fall. A total of 567,940 persons paid $3,833,033 to see 125 boxing and wrestling shows in Illinois during 1927. The state collected $208,994.95 in taxes from the sporting events.

Unique and Spectacular Career of Florida Boy

The early athletic career of Georgia Perrine, a Miami boy, at the University of Florida, has been both unique and spectacular. Entering school the middle of last year, Perrine promptly joined the frosh basketball squad and won his numerals. Last fall George distinguished himself with the "Baby Gators" in football and won his first year numerals in that sport. Becoming a full-fledged sophomore in February of this year, George donned varsity basketball tops, became regular center on the team, and was awarded his "F" at the close of the season.

Few Baseball Managers Develop Pitching Staffs

It is a matter of baseball record that few managers have ever been able to develop good hitting and fielding teams along with capable pitching staffs, writes H. G. Salsinger, in the Detroit News.

Rogers Hornsby to Try Farming in Refined Way

Undaunted by Babe Ruth's failure as a gentleman farmer, Rogers Hornsby said recently he had purchased an 85-acre country estate near St. Louis and planned to till the property in a refined manner during the off season.

Greatest Shortstop

Pitcher Joe Newton, recently released by Amarillo of the Western league, has been taken on by the Columbia Camera. Newton won 11 and lost 7 last season.

Wins From Ruth

Wiley Moore, the New York Yankees' star relief pitcher, was $300 off Babe Ruth last season and some one asked him recently what he did with it. "I didn't spend it foolishly," Wiley said. "I bought me two mules for my Oklahoma farm with it and I did the right thing by the mules. I named one of 'em Babe and the other Ruth and what a kick they've got!" Babe bet Wiley $300 to $10 he wouldn't make three hits all season. Wiley made six.

HEENEY MODEST AND UNASSUMING

Cannot See Why He Hasn't Chance to Beat Tunney.

Shaggy as ever, modest and unassuming in the spotlight thrust upon him, Tom Heenev, New Zealand's gift to the heavyweight division, has settled down to training for his title bout with Gene Tunney in July.

Today as the accepted challenger for the heavyweight crown, a modest fortune already to his credit, and a greater one ahead, Tom was just as modest about his fighting ability as when he first came over here in the hope of earning a few dollars fighting second raters. He didn't think then that he was of title caliber. Tom still has no exalted opinion of his ability, "just a plugger," he says.

"But I can't see why I haven't an even chance to whip Tunney," the New Zealander declared. "I'm just as strong and tough as he is. Gene is no superman and we'll just be fighters in there on rather even ground when the gong rings."

How Much Water Should Baby Get? A Famous Authority's Rule

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight-pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast-fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle-fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and restless spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc., leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold. Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty-cent bottles contain thirty-five doses.

Let Us Show You the McCormick-Deering New 4 Cultivator.

THE McCormick-Deering New 4 Cultivator handles so easily that a boy can do a man's work with it. The foot pedals, which pivot the wheels to guide the cultivator, also shift the gangs in the same direction. This is the reason that the New 4 Cultivator does such accurate and close cultivating. It also accounts for its ease in handling. Just sit on the seat of this cultivator once and see how you like it. We have one on our floor.

AUTO LIGHTS AID TO NIGHT SAFETY

Many Motorists Willfully Disregard Legal Requirements of State.

Among the worst dangers threatening the motorists who drive at night is the lack of lights on vehicles. Carelessness, neglect and indifference are making night driving dangerous.

Travellers Invited

Minnesota boasts of its beautiful lakes, fields and forests, proclaims its fine highways, invites travelers to come, provides recreation spots, summer resorts and camp sites for their pleasure and then by negligence exposes both its own citizens and its automobile visitors to accident and injury if they drive on the highways at night.

So far as automobiles are concerned, the uniform traffic law adopted by the legislature a year ago is specific in its lighting requirements.

No provision in the law is more essential. An automobile lacking a tail light is particularly dangerous. The most careful motorist cannot protect himself against smashing headlong into some blunderer who is ambling slowly along with no rear light to warn an approaching motorist, or has parked in the road to change a tire.

Law is Defective.

The law itself is defective. It requires night lights on automobiles, motorcycles, trailers, even bicycles. But because some members of the legislature were more solicitous for the convenience than for the safety of passengers on horse-drawn vehicles, such vehicles were not included in the general provisions concerning lighting.

"I've just heard that a gang of bandits robbed the bank in town this forenoon!" said Farmer Fumblegate.

"This thing has got to be stopped. Igory!" returned Farmer Benover. "Dadbury 'em—they'll go some'er else to spend the money instead of turning it loose here where it came from!"—Kansas City Star.

Early Overhauling Car in the Spring Favored

Car owners who recognize the wisdom of the modified form of spring overhauling which now prevails should know the advantage of getting into the shop early.

The car taken in early is assured of the type of service which results from giving the mechanic plenty of time. When the open road calls, it is an excellent idea to have the car ready to give a satisfactory answer.

RADIO MUSIC SERVED WITH TAXI RIDE

The photograph shows the musical taxi of Frank Cowan, of Caldwell N. J., who got the bright idea that it is just as well to serve music with a taxi ride as with a meal in a restaurant.

Electric Auto Horn

Many of the most striking horns to be heard on today's highways are not the simple mechanisms to which the average car owner is accustomed.

Desperate

Will was sent by his mother with a note to the clinic doctor, which ran: "Please will you do something to Willie's face. He's had it for a long time and it's spreading."

Proper Type Spark Plug Is Important

Stressing the importance of using the correct type of spark plug, E. Rubezzana, research engineer, says nearly all spark plug sooting trouble can be traced to one of these causes: Wrong plug used. Motor operating at very low temperature.

Weather driving conditions when motor is run only short distances and never attains an operating temperature high enough to burn oil and soot before it carbonizes.

It is of first importance that the correct plug be used because a plug having insulation that is too short on the lower end will foul quickly.

Dash Indicator Lights Are a Big Convenience

Indicator lights fitted on your dash will tell you whether your tail and stop lights are properly burning.

You can use ordinary dash lights of the type sold for automobile use, or you can get a pair of the jeweled indicator lights sold for radio use.

Indicator lights on your dash board wired as shown may save you from being arrested and fined for not having tail-light lit.

color as the lights they indicate, will make a neat and attractive installation. The theory, of course, is that the indicator light is in series with the light it indicates and when either of the two bulbs in such a circuit burns out, the remaining goes out as well.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

The entire chassis of a car can now be lubricated for a small sum.

A nut or bolt is useless to the automobile if not kept fully tightened at all times.

When the car suddenly begins to steer hard, lack of lubrication is the first thing to suggest itself.

Signals are essential to motoring safety. Don't close all the windows of the car during wet or cold weather.

When warm weather arrives it is a good idea, and usually a money-saver, to have the spark plugs changed, the battery tested, and the ignition and lighting system checked.

Watch the upper radiator hose connection. It gives out first because it carries hotter water than the lower hose connection and hotter water is more destructive in its effects on hose lining.

The Georgia Supreme court holds that a husband cannot be held liable for damages resulting from his wife's auto driving. This does not absolve him when she drives from the back seat.

Dairy Wealth

Do you realize the value of the dairy products of the United States? The United States is the greatest gold producing nation and for years has maintained its high rate of gold production. It would take all the gold produced since 1885 to pay for the value of one year's dairy products. Vast as this amount is it can be immensely increased if all milk were produced under same conditions, and properly taken care of. Isn't it worth while to do everything possible to make the dairy gold mine pay better and better? Better milk will do it.

TALK, TRICKS AND TIRES

Lots of "talk" in the tire business to-day. Lots of "tricks" too. More than ever before. Schemes with new names—"special sales," "direct-to-consumer," etc. Someone has to lose.

Amid frenzied sales methods, learn by experience. You can't ignore that—

More Cars Run on Goodyear Tires Than on Any Other Kind

Goodyear tires have led in popularity for ten years. Goodyear has this leadership through performance.

It won by concentrating the resources of the world's largest rubber manufacturer on a tire that would deliver the goods.

It won by selling at FAIR PRICES—no cut-throat or cut-quality to get business.

It won by service that was always friendly, expert and in your interest.

More than 100,000,000 Goodyear Tires vouch for this. If you would know WHY, come in and see the new Goodyears.
