SEASON TO OPEN SOON

for hunting prairie chickens open on Saturday, Sept. 15. The season for wild geese and ducks will open the following day, to continue Dec. 31. The limit is eight ducks, coots and mud hens. The season for wild ducks opens Sept. 16 and continues until Jan. 1 and the bag limit is 15. The season for quail opens Oct. 1 and closes Feb. 1. An opposite side of the lake, Ruth felt neither tired nor fatigued over her long journey in the water, and says that the next time she will try and swim farther.

SWIMS 2 1/2 MILES IN ONE HOUR

Miss Ruth Rosenheimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Rosenheimer, who is spending her summer vacation at Big Cedar Lake, made a record swim on Tuesday afternoon, when she swam from the cottage of her parents located on the east side of the lake to Rosenheimer's Resort on the west side. The distance covered was two and one-half miles, and the time it took her to swim the distance was one hour, without a single rest during her course of swimming. Miss Elizabeth Quade, who visited a few days with her, accompanied her the entire distance in a boat. After reaching shore on the opposite side of the lake, Ruth felt neither tired nor fatigued over her long journey in the water, and says that the next time she will try and swim farther.

SISTERS MEET AFTER 44 YEARS APART

Arriving here on Monday from New York City, Mrs. Augusta Nordheim and daughter, Mrs. Jas. Reynolds, will visit here for two weeks with the former's sister, Mrs. William Raether and with Carl Raether and daughter Frances.

The arrival of Mrs. Nordheim marks the first union with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Raether after forty-four years of separation. Forty-four years ago Mrs. Raether and Mrs. Nordheim (nee Behling) immigrated to America with their mother. Upon arriving at New York, Mrs. Nordheim and one sister, Mrs. Brown, deceased, remained in New York City, while the rest of the family traveled westward and finally settled in Kewaskum. After living in America a few years, the sisters, in some manner lost track of each other neither knowing the whereabouts of the other, for a period of over thirty-five years, during which time both lived in anxiety and wondered as to whether one or the other was still alive. As years kept drifting by, and age crept creeping along, this anxiety became so great that two years ago Mrs. Raether had an article of identification and a photo taken in her childhood days, printed in the New York Staatszeitung. It was through the publication of this article that a close friend of Mrs. Nordheim happened to read the article, and who had been informed of the sisters separation, immediately took the paper to the home of Mrs. Nordheim for her to read, the latter at once recognized the picture, and upon reading the article, was convinced that it was her long lost sister, residing at Kewaskum, Wisconsin. In answering the article in a letter written to Mrs. Raether, it was then that the two sisters gained knowledge that both were still alive, and their place of residence. Mrs. Raether, aged 78 years, is the oldest of the sisters and Mrs. Nordheim, aged 68 years, is the youngest. Mrs. Nordheim died a short time before the article of identification was published in the New York paper. To what degree of happiness, the reunion last Monday of these sisters after forty-four years of separation must have been, no words can describe nor the human tongue have power to express, but can best be felt and understood in the deepest depth of the hearts of those concerned. The visit of Mrs. Nordheim is not only a happy one, but extremely interesting as well, for it is here where her mother lived and died, now resting peacefully in the bosom of old mother earth in the Ev. Lutheran St. James cemetery. To visit the graves of those nearest and dearest to them, and then going back home and look over relics saved by Mrs. Raether through the age of time, and to visit the places where the sisters and brothers at one time worked, must be of overwhelming interest and bearing with it the greatest thrill of life to them.

BEECHWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hanrahan made a business trip to Sheboygan Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hanrahan and family called at the Ray Krahn home Tuesday evening. Walter Glander of Milwaukee is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Glander and family. There will be a mission feast in the St. John's Evangelical church here on Sunday, August 26, 1928. Everybody invited to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Art. Schultz and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krahn spent Sunday evening at the Martin Krahn home. Mrs. E. Glass and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Diels and son of Sheboygan Falls and Leo Glander visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Krahn. Miss Pearl Mertes, Herbert Mertes and Harold Oehlke of Wheaton, Ill., returned home Tuesday after spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krahn. Bernard Mertes accompanied them home. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krahn, Miss Pearl Mertes, Herbert and Bernard Mertes, Harold Oehlke, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koepke and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Koehn and family of Dundee motored to Waushesha Beach Sunday.

KEWASKUM BOY IN HOLD UP

Quentin Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Val. Peters of here, who is employed at the Trackage Oil company's filling station at Milwaukee, had the thrill of his life sprung on him on Wednesday evening, when he was held up by two youthful bandits, armed with a pistol, and released him of $25.00. The Wisconsin News of Wednesday's issue, printed the following article of the holdup:

"Two youthful bandits one of them armed with a pistol, held up and robbed Quentin Peters at dawn today in the Trackage Oil company's filling station at 2413 National Ave., West Milwaukee.

"The youths obtained about $25 in currency and escaped in a large touring car after threatening Peters with death if he made an outcry. "Peters was sitting in the station when the car drove up. He was about to go out and wait on the occupants when one entered.

"Stick 'em up, buddy, and face the wall," was the command. "The man took $5 from a changer and $20 in bills from Peters' pockets. "The car containing the bandits went east on National Ave."

BOY DROWNS IN LAKE

Walter Dose, aged 15 years and the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dose of 1641 Twenty-fourth street, Milwaukee, drowned in big Silver lake last Thursday morning at about 10 o'clock. The lad, who was spending the week at the lake, had gone into the water near the summer cottage of Fred Radtke, at the northeast point of the lake, and while four of his young pals were watching him, in what they believed was diving, he failed to come to the surface. They informed the mother of the unfortunate boy, but even though she summoned help the body was not recovered until it had been under water fully fifteen minutes. The body was taken to Milwaukee, where funeral was held Saturday.—West Bend Pilot.

GERMAN PLAY COMING

On Sunday evening, at 8:15 o'clock The German Theater Co., of Milwaukee, under the direction of Ernst Holzengel, will present another play in the Kewaskum Opera House. This company played to a capacity house here a short time ago, and all present were well satisfied with the entertainment given. The program this time will consist of a four-act comedy drama, "Der Deutschen Cracken, Und Der American Self-Made Man." For further particulars see advertisement on another page of this issue.

BOY SLIPS FROM BARN LOFT

James Bast, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bast of Campbellsport, who had left Campbellsport about two weeks ago, to visit his uncle, Henry Schruppe, about seven miles west of Milwaukee, was seriously injured on Tuesday, when he fell 20 feet inside a barn landing between a team and a wagon to which the horses were hitched. He was taken to Mount Sinai hospital, where he is suffering from a fractured rib and internal injuries. The young lad was playing in the barn and had climbed up on a roof beam 20 feet above the barn floor. While walking along this beam, his uncle drove into the barn with a load of oats and started to unhitch the team. The boy started to descend to help Mr. Schruppe. As he started to descend he lost his balance and fell between the horses and the wagon landing on the wagon tongue. He was rendered unconscious and was taken to the hospital in Milwaukee.

FORMER WASHINGTON CO. ATTORNEY DEAD

Charles E. Robinson, former attorney of Washington county, and who up to two years ago made his home at West Bend, passed away in death at his home in Fontana, San Bernardino county, Calif., on July 30. Heart failure is attributed as the cause of his death. Deceased was born Feb. 14th, 1864, on a farm two miles south of West Bend. He was a graduate of the West Bend High School, the Northern Indiana Normal School at Valparaiso, Ind., and the Northern Illinois Normal school at Dixon, Ill. Upon completion of the latter he taught school for two years, after which he continued his studies for a year at the University of Wisconsin. Later he read law at the office of Atty. P. O'Meara in West Bend. In 1892 he became editor and owner of the paper until he sold it in May, 1893. In 1894 he took the editorship of the Eagle River Democrat at Eagle River, which he held for a short time. He then returned to West Bend, where he resumed his studies of law, and was admitted to the bar in 1896. 1898 he opened a law office in West Bend, where he practiced until two years ago when he left for Fontana, Calif. On Oct. 14, 1903 he was married to Miss Bertha E. Huebner of St. Louis, Mo., who with one son Charles E. Jr., and two daughters, Crystal and Vivian M., survive.

FRED REETH'S PLAYERS TO RETURN

At the regular monthly meeting held by the local post of the American Legion, it was decided by the members to have the Fred Reeth Players, stage a four day program at the Opera House, which will be sponsored by the local post.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Reeth, manager of the company, stopped off here while enroute from Indiana to his home in Marshfield, where he will visit his parents for a week. While here arrangements were made with him to have his company show here for the benefit of the post. Fred, who made many friends here a few years ago, when he staged a four-day program for the benefit of the post, was glad to meet and shake hands with his friends. He informed us that he will show here shortly before Easter. Just what the program will consist of, he was unable to state at this time. But gave the post assurance that it will be of high quality, presented by a cast of professional actors. He further informed us that he purchased an entire new tent with all equipment, including folding chairs, together with two large buses which he will use to transport his equipment, and one extra large automobile for the troupe to travel in, during his summer shows. The reason for his not being able to show here at an earlier date, is because he is under contract to play in Indiana and will start work there within a few weeks.

Fred, as he is commonly called, and wants to be called by all of his friends, is just recovering from a severe case of nervous breakdown, which compelled him to be confined to the Mayo Bros. Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for six weeks, and was therefore unable to manage his company this summer.

THE INROADS OF FARM MACHINERY

For any farmer who moves along with the time and refuses to be a back number, the machinery exhibits of the County Fair are among the most interesting objects to be seen on the grounds. The advances in this department during the last few years were truly marvelous, as any power laced adjective has any power left to describe them. Among the visitors who are taking notice of them are farmers that saw the first grain binders made their appearance on the wheat fields of Washington county. Some even remember having plowed with oxen, and perchance had then shod at Bartw. About this ox-shoer the inquisitive reader is referred to Dist. Atty. Hy. P. Schmidt, West Bend, who can give more information.

Nobody can grasp the advance of machinery on the farms so fully as the old farmer who has witnessed that silent revolution in farm work brought on by human ingenuity in machine construction, and which the County Fair fully reflected in its machinery exhibits during the sixty-two years of its existence.

The most stupendous advance in machine farming was made in recent years. This came almost in a big rush, after the machinery department of the County Fair for decades had been only a small affair which showed little progress. Within a few years the space occupied by these exhibits increased many times its original size. And another noteworthy fact is that most of the machinery and appliances shown are manufactured in our own county.

To the products of home manufacturers will be added many exhibits of farm machinery, apparatus and appliances made in outside factories, and visitors of the County Fair will be able to make a survey of the inroads machinery has made into farming, ready to take away its drag, lighten its burdens, and increase its efficiency. Its revolutionizing tendencies are just beginning to be felt, and where it all will end, nobody knows. Viewed in this light the machinery exhibits of the Washington County Fair held at West Bend on September 5, 6, and 7 will attract more attention than a lot of the thousands of other exhibits on the ground.

There is a market for great pulling pairs of horses.

Randall Brothers of Agawam, Mass. are in the market for great pulling teams and will pay $800 or over for a pair that can beat the present Massachusetts state record, which is 2,900 pounds tractive pull for the full distance of 27 1/2 feet—made at Athol, Mass., in 1927.

If you have a good team, put them in at the local contest at the Washington County Fair to be held at West Bend, Sept. 5, 6 and 7, and find out whether you have a pair that will measure up to the standard set by the record-making pairs of pullers. If you can beat the record of 2,950 lbs., communicate with Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, at once, for there are many men who want great pulling teams just as there are many men willing to pay long prices for race horses.

WILL HOLD CARD PARTY

The members of the Boltonville Fire Department will hold a prize card party in the M. W. A. Hall at Boltonville on Thursday evening, Sept. 13, 1928. The usual games will be played for which liberal prizes will be awarded to the winners. Playing starts promptly at 8 o'clock. Lunch will be served after the games. The proceeds of the party will go towards the benefit of the fire department. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

AUCTION SALE OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Beginning at one o'clock sharp, the undersigned will sell at Public Auction, on Wednesday, August 29, 1928, all of her household goods too numerous to mention, at her home on North Föld du Lac Ave., in the Village of Kewaskum.

CELEBRATE DIAMOND WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Allmann of near Waldo had the rare opportunity of celebrating their 60th, or diamond wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Aug. 15, 1928. The celebration took place at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ed. Kreuzinger of Beechwood. Distant relatives were present from Nebraska, Iowa, Chicago and Wabeno. In the evening the Ladies' Aid also came to enjoy the festive occasion. About a hundred persons, including neighbors and relatives attended.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Marx and family were at Random Lake Sunday where they attended a picnic given by the Independent Groceries Alliance.

FELT HATS ARE "SO DIFFERENT" LUGGAGE FOR CHILDREN LATEST

JUST as many felt hats as ever, but "so different." They are works of art, the milliners art, when it comes to securing "lines" through manipulation. Seems as if each model has been studiously shaped to suit an individual type. Which of course spells becomingness for every woman in quest thereof.

Interest is divided between supple brims of the vagabond ripple-brim type and the intricately worked fitted sort. The general tendency is to frame the face, be the hat considerably brimmed or of the beret and toque genre. Actual bonnet shapes have come into fashion, taking the place of the regulation cloche. These are most becoming to youth, who wear them letting the hair show in front.

All the hats in the picture are felt and they tell the story of the newer altogettes. Ever so many of smartest felts are self-trimmed as shown in the two hats at the top of this group, also the one to the left.

Platted brims are the newest thing. Milliners are making a great play on platts, usually grouping them at the right side after the manner shown in the first hat in the accompanying collection. Likewise in the model in the oval below.

The tendency to elongate the right side is very marked throughout felt stylings. The hat shown first, also the toque at the top of the picture to the right show latest effects of this kind. The chic little shape to the left below is all of felt even to the bow which trims it. See how intentionally it frames the face, and, as said before, this is an outstanding characteristic of the latest models.

There is a clever touch noted in the toque shown to the right and that is the fact of its being trimmed in a cluster of novelty feather flowers. They are the identical color of the hat.

The last model is fashioned according to latest vogue. First of all it has the platted side flange and also its brim drops at the back, a most excellent thing for it to do in behalf of women who are letting their "bob" grow out. The metal belt and buckle are in exceeding good style, bespeaking what promises to be a very popular trimming for fall.

Very clever that pasted feather brims are being introduced on some of the newest felt shapes. Fancy feather novelties will be widely featured for autumn.

And now, what next for children? Well, the latest wrinkle is luggage

SEASONABLE DISHES.
Succulent salads, juicy fine flavored fruits and greens of various kinds are the foods that appeal to the appetite during the warm days.

Lettuce With Columbia Dressing.—Prepare lettuce by washing and chilling well in cold water, then drain and shake dry in a cloth. Arrange the lettuce in the salad bowl in its original shape and pour over a dressing made as follows: Mix one teaspoonful of salt, one of mustard, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice, one tablespoonful of worcestershire sauce, two tablespoonsful of lemon juice and six tablespoonsful of olive oil, in a small glass jar. Set in a cold place and shake thoroughly before using.

Cheese Sandwiches.—Cut stale bread in one-fourth-inch slices, remove the crusts and cut in rectangular pieces. Cut mild cheese in slices of the same size as the bread and sprinkle with salt and cayenne. Put a slice of cheese between each two slices of bread and fry in a small amount of butter until well browned on both sides.

Pear and Tomato Salad.—Peel and cut into quarters one or two each of pears and tomatoes. Arrange them in alternate quarters on a bed of lettuce and serve with a snappy French dressing.

Cream Scones.—Mix and sift two cupfuls of flour with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Rub into the dry mixture four tablespoonfuls of butter, then add two beaten eggs, reserving a tablespoonful in the bowl. Add one-third of a cupful of cream and mix, toss on a floured board and roll out. Cut in squares or diamonds, brush with the egg and sprinkle with a little sugar. Bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

The Common Potato.
When cooking potatoes for salad, cook them with the skins on, cool, and peel them cut up as usual. Remember that a good potato salad must stand several hours in the dressing with the seasoning to be palatable.

French Fried Potatoes.
—Wash and peel small potatoes and cut in eighths lengthwise, cover with cold water for an hour. Drain and parboil in boiling salted water for two minutes, drain again, plunge into cold water, dry between towels and fry in deep fat until delicately browned, a few at a time. Heat the fat to a higher temperature, turn all the potatoes into a frying basket and fry until crisp and brown, keeping the basket in motion. Drain on paper and sprinkle with salt.

Scalloped Potatoes With Ham.—Slice very thin enough potatoes for the number to serve. Arrange in layers in a well-buttered baking dish, add a layer of finely minced onion, then a layer of any cold cooked ham either sliced or minced, another layer of potatoes and, when the dish is full, cover with milk. Cover well after plenty of seasoning of butter and salt and bake until tender.

Potato Fritters.—Take two cupfuls of hot rice potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of cream, one teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cayenne and nutmeg, the yolks of two eggs well beaten and two tablespoonfuls of orange juice, fold in the beaten whites and set the bowl in ice water, beat until cold then add one-half cupful of flour and when well mixed drop by spoonfuls into deep fat. Fry until brown.

Spanish Potatoes.—Boil or steam the amount of potatoes to serve. Place in the vegetable dish in which they are to be served, two to four tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of minced onion for each two of butter, the amount depends upon the amount of potato, add salt and a little cayenne and turn with the butter and onion. Serve hot.

Baked Pork Chops With Potatoes.—Arrange as many potatoes, thinly sliced, as needed in a shallow baking pan, over them arrange pork chops, seasoning both the chops and the potatoes. Pour in enough milk to keep the potatoes well moistened and bake until the meat is well browned, turning once.

Saratoga Chips.—Wash and peel potatoes and slice with a potato slicer into a bowl of cold water. Drain, plunge into a kettle of boiling water and cook one minute. Drain again, and cover with cold water. Drain and dry between towels. Fry in deep fat until a light brown, keeping in motion with a skimmer. Drain on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

Stuffed Figs.—Mash cream cheese with heavy cream adding a bit of salt and cayenne. Make into balls three-fourths of an inch in diameter. Cut well washed and dried figs on the side and stuff with the cheese. Arrange on a plate in piles.

Vacuum Tubes Likely to Become Paralyzed

Present-day vacuum tubes, for the most part, have so-called thoriated tungsten filaments, the action of which, even at this late date, is not fully appreciated by the average listener.

The electronic emission of such a filament depends upon the presence of a layer of thorium atoms on the outer surface of the filament. Unlike the oxide-coated filament found in some tubes, the thoriated tungsten filament is not merely coated but permeated throughout its entire mass with the rare element thorium. During the normal operation of such a filament, the thorium on the outer surface is gradually evaporated, reducing the emission current and, if this action is permitted to continue, rendering the tube short-lived. However, while the heat of the filament serves to evaporate the thorium particles on the surface, it is also boiling fresh thorium particles out of the mass and up to the surface. Thus the surface is being continually replenished. Just so long as the filament voltage is not increased beyond about 10 per cent above the rated value, this evaporation and replenishing process continues at an equal rate, so that a constant layer of thorium is maintained on the surface.

When the filament is subjected to an overvoltage, however, the evaporation is excessive, so that the tube consequently becomes more or less paralyzed. Operating these tubes at sub-normal voltages is also liable to paralyze them slowly, as the filament temperature is then so low that the process of boiling out the thorium from the interior of the filament becomes abnormally retarded. Hence it is important that tubes with thoriated-tungsten filaments be operated strictly at their rated voltage.—Radio News.

Function of Batteries With Radio Receivers

The function of the radio "A" battery is to heat the filaments of the vacuum tubes in the set. When the filament is hot enough it shoots off an invisible stream of electrons. If some other practical source of electrons that did not require heat were put into the tubes, no "A" battery would be necessary. The "A" battery is but an auxiliary to the action of the tube, merely furnishing the heat essential to electron emission, and actually has nothing to do with the input or output of the device.

The purpose of the "B" battery is to provide a pull on the electrons so they flow to the plate of the tube, thereby causing a flow of current in the plate circuit, which is called the plate current. It is the variations in the amount of plate current which operate the loud speaker, so it is evident that the "B" battery is directly necessary.

The "C" battery furnishes practically no power, but keeps the grid element in the vacuum tube at a certain voltage.

Switched to Input Side of Big Radiotelephone

The cactus-lined earphones go to a Dutch telephone operator for the prize wrong-number stunt of the century. A resident of The Hague picked up his phone and asked for a number in Amsterdam, according to Wireless World. After having his ear filled with the usual number of splutters he heard a voice saying "Hello" or the Dutch equivalent thereof.

"Hallo," he inquired, "is this Amsterdam?"

"No," replied the voice, "this is Bandung" (on the island of Java).

The telephone operator had inadvertently switched the subscriber to the input side of the powerful radiotelephone station at Lindhoven, Holland, which communicates with Java and other points on the other side of the world. Isn't that enough to jar a resident of Leyden?—Radio News.

Women Radio Customers Outnumber Men Buyers

The significance of a recent survey as to men and women retail customers in retail stores in New York city, insofar as the survey has special application to radio, is very interesting.

In the twelve year figures, radio was touched by at least four of the classifications, and in three out of these four the women customers far outnumbered the men, as shown by the survey. This is of special significance in determining the methods of selling radio receivers.

In department stores, of course, the survey showed that 82 per cent of the purchases were made by women.

In Experimenting With Push-Pull Amplifiers

When experimenting with push-pull amplifiers, the fun often finds trouble in obtaining the correct transformers at short notice. Two ordinary audio-frequency transformers, if of the same type, can be used by connecting their primaries and secondaries in series to form an emergency transformer for this purpose. The connecting wire between the two secondaries should be used as the center tap; the two transformers so connected are used on the input side of the circuit.—Radio News.

Hint on Bypass Condensers

The modern receiver, as a rule, employs many bypass condensers. For the best results the "B" battery lead in each radio-frequency stage should be bypassed. The "A" wires also might well be shunted with a condenser of one-half mfd.

A radio-medical consultation service has been established in Belgium for the use of ships at sea, and operates at all hours of the day and night.

Not Much Demand Now for Handmade Basket

The art of the osler, which is basket making, is one of the oldest of the handicrafts and was once a very important industry of England, but the statement is made that it will soon be exterminated unless some encouragement is given to its workers. German and Japanese baskets are displacing the product of the other countries where the art flourished first. A great deal of labor is required to cultivate the willows and prepare them for wicker work. The willows are cut with a short curved knife in the early months of the year. They are then soaked in running water for six months. This is known as pitting the willows, and it is necessary to take off the bark to produce white willows. The finished willows are then dried and straightened, when they are ready for the hamper makers and cane workers at the factories.

Hybrid Triumph

What is regarded as an achievement in plant breeding has just been accomplished in the production of a cross between a cabbage and a radish. The two are of remote relationship, hence the hybrid is considered far more remarkable than those yielded by crossing varieties that more closely resemble each other.

American Demand for Reindeer Meat Grows

Sale of Alaskan reindeer meat to American meat-eaters in increasing quantities is reported by the Interior department. Several thousand carcasses are brought into the country every year, and the meat may be bought almost anywhere in the Northwest, and occasionally is found on eastern bills of fare. One Nome (Alaska) company, recently reorganized with a $3,000,000 capital, owns 50,000 head, and devotes most of its attention to exporting meat. There are about 500,000 reindeer in Alaska, of which the Eskimos own about two-thirds. The reindeer industry is one of Alaska's greatest.

Signs in the Sky

A glorified "magic lantern," said to be capable of projecting photographs and signs on to the clouds, is the latest contribution to the science of advertising.

The device, still in its laboratory form, consists of a powerful search light mounted behind a series of lenses and a slide holder. The whole apparatus resembles a cannon and is able to project images for a distance of five miles on a cloud bank.

The image is visible for miles around, while a revolving screen in front of the muzzle of the projector can be used to produce color-changing effects.

Who Will Donate Peacock?

An obituary notice of a peacock, which had been a friend of the bishop of Worcester, England, and his family for some years, recently appeared in the Diocesan Gazette. The appreciation, written by the bishop, closes:

"May I add that his disconsolate widow, being of the varium et mutabile sex, would, as she tells me, welcome another partner if any one has a peacock to spare."

Picks Cardinals to Win in 1929

NATIONAL LEAGUE fans who are now enjoying a close pennant race, with five clubs having a chance to grab the flag, will be viewing a runaway race next season, according to E. S. Bernard, president of the American League.

The lead man of the junior circuit predicts that the St. Louis Cardinals will be the victors of the field to such an extent that the pennant scramble will be over about midseason.

The National League race is good this season, he pointed out, not because there are any particularly good teams outside of the Cards, but because of their strength among five or six of the clubs.

The junior league sized up the prospects for the season as follows: "The Cardinals have several players who are promising material that can be developed into stars."

John McGraw, who has been the manager of the Cardinals since 1925, is one of the best managers in the league. He has a good eye for talent and has developed several stars.

The Cardinals have a veteran hurling staff that will work together and the time for them to win is just ahead. John McGraw is one of the best managers in the league.

The Cardinals have a good pitching staff. The pitching and catching is weak, outfielders are good, but nothing else. Boston and Philadelphia have had watching the race from the bottom of the ladder for some time.

The Cardinals have the best-balanced team in the National League and they are young enough to go on for several years with their present lineup.

E. S. Bernard.

MANAGER KANE'S CAREER VARIED

Pilot Was Jockey, Singer and Saxophone Player.

Eddie Kane, who handles the business affairs of the very good little lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell, has been, at various times in his career, a jockey, a singer and hooper, a fancy billiard crack and a saxophone player of great skill.

When he was in England several years ago he was given entrée to another racket but, he it said in justice to him, he didn't accept.

Kane was enjoying a sociable evening in the Savoy hotel bar with a party of friends and they were joined by another group which included a rather stunning woman.

The lady took a liking to Kane and proceeded to engage him in heavy conversation, which was not to his liking. He kept one ear on the conversation of the others and yessed her.

She asked him if he knew a number of persons in Chicago and New York and after he had told her that he knew each one of them well she told him quietly:

"You come with us tonight. We know a good spot you're in. The first glance I took at you I spotted you as a dip."

Kane tells a story about the first time he took Sammy Mandell out on the road. They went to a swell hotel and Sammy tried out a new fancy shower, but when he finished he couldn't find any towels on the rack so he picked up the bath mat which was folded on the side of the tub. He gave himself a brisk rub and then shouted out to Kane:

"Gee, these towels are stiff. They're great for a rubdown but I can't get it in my ears."

Stretch of Consecutive

300 Seasons for Cobb

If Ty Cobb bats 300 this season (and one of the safest predictions in baseball) that we know of it is that he will hit his stretch of consecutive 300 seasons will reach 23. No other player, living or dead, ever had more than 20 seasons of 300 clubbing in his record.

Adrian C. Anson, the immortal captain of the Chicago Cubs, had averages of 300 or better for the first 20 seasons of his career.

Anson played major league ball from 1871 to 1897 inclusive, a stretch of 27 seasons.

Cobb is playing his twenty-fourth season in the American league. If he sticks to his present plans he will not equal Anson's record of 27 seasons. Cobb intends to make this his last year. He is positive that he will retire at the end of the season. If he does change his mind and consent to try another season, 1929 will certainly see his retirement to private life.

While Anson played 27 years, Cobb has played more games than Anson, or any other man for that matter. In the day when Anson was a great slugger the seasons did not carry 154-game schedules.

Where Bobby's Strength Lies in Game of Golf

Professional golfers say what makes Bobby Jones a superman on the links is not so much the drives and iron shots, or which a lot has been written, as it is his skill within 20 feet of the green.

The shot which even the expert dreads is the short approach from the edge of matted grass or the short pitch from wet sand. These shots are poison to most players, but pie to Bobby. Put him within 20 feet of the green and, no matter what the lie may be, the chances are that he will toss the ball near the cup and hole his putt. That's golf!

Fred Mitchell Renamed as Head Baseball Coach

The announcement of the reappointment of Fred Mitchell as head baseball coach is made by the Harvard Athletic association. It was said that Mitchell has signed a contract which will not expire until 1931.

Mitchell first took charge of Harvard baseball in 1916. Harvard dropped the game when the war broke out in 1917 and Mitchell did not return to Cambridge until 1924, when he served as pitching coach. He had been head coach since 1925.

New Sprint Star

Mitchigan's newest sprint star, Eddie Tolan, who will be eligible for varsity competition in the fall, made his first appearance on the "front page" when he won the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the sectional Olympic try-outs at Detroit. In winning the 220-yard dash Tolan outran Alderman of Michigan State, one of the outstanding men in the country at this distance.

Tolan first became prominent at Detroit Cass Technical high school and is now going along nicely.

Stem-Rust Spores in Barberry Bush

Common Plant May Produce 64,000,000,000 in Course of One Year.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Calculating the possibilities of the barberry bush as a source of stem rust in wheat has carried investigators of the United States Department of Agriculture into mathematical multiplications that are beyond the reading capacity of the man whose arithmetical tables may have stopped with billions or trillions. Lynn D. Hutton, of the bureau of plant industry, says that a common barberry bush 6 to 8 feet high may produce more than 64,000,000,000 stem-rust spores in a single year.

Spores Are Small. These spores are extremely small and may be carried by the wind. Each one that alights on a grain or grass plant may produce a rust pustule which contains 200,000 red or summer-rust spores, and any one of these alighting on a grain plant may again multiply itself by about 200,000 within a week or ten days. Just assuming that each spore from the original bush lodged favorably and multiplied, the number of rust spores in the second generation of rust would be expressed by 236 followed by 19 zeros, besides which the number of cents in all the European war debts combined would make comparatively easy reading.

Grain Loss Is Big. Four or five additional generations may be produced in a year favorable to rust spread. Fortunately for our food supply only a small percentage of those spores ever actually germinate and damage the small grains. Those that do live, however, are responsible for an average annual loss of 50,000,000 bushels of small grains in the upper Mississippi valley states.

How many barberry bushes may remain as sources of infection is not known. Many have been destroyed as farmers have realized how dangerous they are, but many have not yet been reached. Each one remaining is a source of danger.

Cod Liver Oil Gives Uniformity to Chicks

Those who have made use of cod liver oil—given it a thorough trial for a complete season, feeding it to all fowls on the plant from growing chicks to matured laying and breeding stock—report a decided better and more uniform growth in young chicks, better molt in old birds. Common diseases of the flock have been practically eliminated. The layers produce many more eggs. Eggs for hatching have been more fertile and the eggs hatch better. They also say the cost is nil compared with the result obtained.

The poultry raiser who fails to make use of cod liver oil in his poultry-feeding operations for the layers, breeders and growing stock is making a big mistake. A season's trial will be the best investment ever made.

Fattening Ration Is Given Out by Jersey

The New Jersey station gives the following as a desirable special fattening ration: One hundred pounds corn meal, fifty pounds wheat middlings, fifty pounds ground heavy oats or ground oatmeal, thirty pounds meat scrap.

This mash is mixed with water and fed to the broilers three times a day, all they will clean up in 15 to 20 minutes. When milk is available for mixing, the meat scrap should be omitted from the mash. If semisolid buttermilk is used, dilute one part of it with three parts of water and then mix with water. When powdered milk is used, substitute thirty pounds of it and omit the meat scrap. Water should be kept available for the birds. Market the broilers when they weigh two and two and half pounds.

Lime and Phosphates as Pasture Top Dressings

Some of the English investigators have demonstrated the good effect from lime and phosphates as top dressings of pasture. The carrying capacity has been doubled under such treatment. Previously cattle or sheep grazing on such land had been troubled with rickets resulting in heavy losses from cripples and paralysis. In one such instance reported from England, lime and superphosphate were applied. Samples of the grasses from treated and untreated areas were analyzed showing that the percentage of phosphorus, potash and lime had been more than doubled through the treatment. The increases were as follows: Phosphorus 126 per cent, potash 102 per cent, lime 132 per cent.

The farmer who applies timely and thorough sprays consistently throughout the season is the one who harvests a profitable crop. Quality products pay best.

Garden plantings, either fruit or vegetable, frequently suffer from lack of moisture during summers. Complete control of weeds and grass in the garden is the protection practiced by the skillful grower.

Dust wallows are a source of pleasure to the hens during the summer months. Spade up the fresh, moist earth in the shade, and the hens will do the rest. Dust baths are instrumental in keeping lice under control.

Humble Toad Classed as Friend of Farmer

The toad is of great value to the farmer, according to the Department of Agriculture. The eating habits of toads give them an important place in nature, says a statement by Reinington Kellogg of the bureau of biological survey. Although they are indiscriminate in their appetites, the obnoxious insects eaten by the toads more than compensate for the harm done by preying on those that are beneficial.

Toads are great gourmands, and in the course of a season eat untold numbers of insects, many of which are highly destructive to plant life. Large numbers of crop pests are destroyed by the toads. Meal time with toads often begins before sunset and continues throughout the greater part of the night; hence the food contains a mixture of diurnal and nocturnal organisms. In their night warfare on insects the toads take the place of the ground-fed insectivorous birds after these have ceased their activities for the day.

Coins Valuable Only to the Numismatist

Coins and currency once valued at millions of dollars make up the collection of Cere C. Standford of Gregory, S. D. The currency is worthless now, except to collectors. The most valuable piece in the collection was taken from ruins at Pompeii. One piece of Austrian currency, worth at one time $500,000, is in the collection. In United States gold coins, Standford has $2 and 50 cents in single pieces, a 50-cent and 25-cent gold coin. He has United States paper money in 50-cent, 10-cent, 25-cent and 5-cent denominations. A silver piece in the collection is one of three peace medals given by the United States to Indian chiefs in 1871. He has an Egyptian coin with the pyramids stamped upon it. Money used in Hongkong has a Chinese emblem on one side and the English Queen Victoria on the other. Coins from the Philippines have Spanish inscriptions on one side and English on the other.

"Gold Star Mothers"

There seems to be no official interpretation of the term "gold star mother." The Gold Star Mothers' association defines such a mother as one whose son was killed overseas during the World War or who was killed on the sea while serving in the war. The American War Mothers' association defines a gold star mother as one whose son has died between the dates of April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1920, from wounds or disability incurred in service during the war.

It Didn't Work

In a certain Indiana rural school, the teacher noticed that one youngster was not paying very close attention so she decided to catch him. She asked him which part of the story that he had just read he liked best. He studied a moment and said: "The part that Mary just told."

The teacher was not to be outdone and told him the class could listen to it again. "Well," he said, hesitatingly, "I don't know. I didn't hear what Mary said."

Baseball Notes

The Cincinnati Reds made their hundredth double play of the season on July 4.

It begins to seem as if the league umpire might have to call a balk on the Balkans.

Fred Sheridan, pitcher for Washington, was released to Walter Johnson's Newark Bears on option.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, has been in baseball more than fifty years.

Old-timers say that Bartell, with the Pirates, is a mental fighter of the type that the old Baltimore Orioles were.

Infielder Billy Mullen, returned to the St. Louis Browns by Kansas City, has been suspended because of physical disability.

The Giants will return to an old stamping ground at San Antonio for their 1929 spring training, Manager McGraw announced.

Young Red Ames, son of the old-timer, is having a hard time out West. He now has a sore pitching arm and is of no use to Wichita.

By stealing an even 100 bases in 1896, Bill Lange of the Chicago Nationals, set a record that has never been equaled in the major leagues.

Elmer Krumpholtz, hard-hitting outfielder of the Ottumwa Packers, was traded recently to the Burlington Bees for Outfielder Eddie Stock and $500.

Whitey Oberc, formerly of Pittsburgh of the Eastern league, has been released and is playing independent ball in the outfield for Pottstown, Pa.

They used to say of Johnny Evers that he "invented" second base. And that's queer, because the New York Yankees only recently invented baseball.

Duffy Lewis has been aided by Bridgeport with Pitchers Frank Bishney and Lefty Traynor, who are with the Portland (Maine) club under option.

Although he has failed time and again as a batter in the big leagues, Nick Cullop, the outfielder, is hitting around the .370 mark in the Southern association.

Fred Partridge and Joe Brogan have been shipped to Manager Stuffy McInnis of Salem in the New England league, by Bridgeport. They are both out on option.

Hank O'Day, retired National league umpire, who lives in Chicago in summer and in California in winter, is enjoying ball games these days from a shady box seat.

Walter Johnson showed Outfielder Bill Lamar and Pitcher Hughie McCulligan that he could be tough when he suspended them because they weren't in condition.

Peoria has purchased Pitcher Lefty Hinkle from San Antonio of the Texas league. Pitcher Crandall, a Three-I veteran, was also signed and Gus Foreman was released.

The first home run hit by Babe Ruth in the American league was scored off Pitcher Warhop of the New York Yankees, May 6, 1915. Ruth was then pitching for the Boston Red Sox.

Sporting writer assures us that home runs is only part of the greatness of Babe Ruth. Well, with due allowance for his kindly disposition and everything, it will hardly be denied that home running has a good deal to do with his popularity.

Pitcher Wilbur Hubbell was released to the Nashville Southern association team by the Minneapolis American association club recently and Infielder Ray Jacobs was obtained from the Chicago Nationals, to report soon.

Baseball is making rapid strides in London, as many as 11,000 turning out for the Sunday games. The greatest interest is shown when the London Americans play the Oxford Americans (Rhodes scholars) or the team from the S. S. Leviathan.

Semi-Solid Buttermilk

It is the "TRADEMARK" name of the Consolidated Products Co.'s CONDENSED BUTTERMILK

These "LABELS" are your ABSOLUTE ASSURANCE that you are FEEDING CONDENSED BUTTERMILK containing always 2 per cent PURE BUTTER FAT, and not CONDENSED SKIMMED MILK that NEVER CONTAINS more than a HALF of ONE PER CENT FAT.

The "YELLOW BARREL" was once your ASSURANCE that you were FEEDING ABOVE LABELS. But NOW you must look for the ABOVE LABELS BECAUSE Semi-Solid Buttermilk in YELLOW BARRELS is being IMITATED but not DUPLICATED.

It is just as important to know that there is a GOOD PRODUCT inside the BARREL, as it is to know that there is a GOOD EGG inside the shell.

Semi-Solid Buttermilk IS UNIFORMLY GOOD means LESS MORTALITY and GREATER NET PROFIT from your poultry and hogs.

KEWASKUM CREAMERY
Kewaskum, Wis.

Multiply Your Man-Power By Seven

McCormick-Deering Corn Binders are built in two types, horizontal and vertical. Both are light-draft, long-lived machines that do hard work quickly and easily.

When you go into the corn with a McCormick-Deering Corn Binder you are equipped with the work of from 5 to 7 men with corn knives. It is a comfort while you are doing it. Instead of turning the stalks into loose, unwieldy stalks that are hard to handle, the McCormick-Deering bundles and ties the stalks into neat bundles without loss of labor or corn. This is especially true at harvest and afterward.

When you need silage you especially need the fast, sure work of the McCormick-Deering Corn Binder. With the binder in the field you can be turned into the highest grade of silage, at a cost that is less than the fast-working equipment handles when it is at its best. We have this new McCormick-Deering for you to see and try. Come to our store and we will show you the many fine features that this binder offers.

We Untangle Your Printing Problems!

Whatever they may be, we are competent to unravel the tangled threads of your printing problems.

We do good work and have it ready on time!

We have the facilities for printing anything from your calling card to a booklet or the largest kind of a circular or sale bill.

You will be surprised what a difference good, careful printing will make in the quality of your advertising matter.

Be through with hasty, careless, incorrect, blurred circulars and publications.

Turn over a new leaf by letting us take care of your printing.

Our prices are exceedingly reasonable.

Let us estimate on your next order.

HOOVER IS NOTIFIED BEFORE HUGE CROWD

Republican Candidate Accepts as 75,000 Cheer at Stamford U. Stadium.

Stamford University Stadium, Palo Alto, Calif.—Herbert Clark Hoover was officially notified here of his nomination as the Republican candidate for President of the United States before a great throng of people estimated to number about 75,000.

From a lofty, awning-covered platform, built something like the judges' stand at a racetrack, behind a row of microphones that sent his voice vibrating to every corner of the huge circle and into the homes of millions, he charted the course of the Republican party in this campaign.

The audience was more than half composed of women. They endured the heat bravely and listened. Mr. Hoover had a special word for them. Notification day was unusually warm for this valley.

Under the closed awnings the chief citizens of the state and the leaders of the Republican party from every state in the Union were grouped in an imposing array.

Released by the breaking of a great ice barrier which has held the hundreds of millions of tons of water formed by the melting snow in an artificial lake high up in the Karakoram mountains, the waters roared down toward the Kashmir plains.

The flood was loosened by the breaking of a glacial ice dam 1,000 feet wide and 1,200 feet thick which had formed 140 miles north of Leh.

At this point the Little Khumban glacier in 1926 thrust its nose across the Shyok valley. For two years the downcoming waters have been piling up, forming a lake nine miles long. It was 17,000 feet above the Indus valley.

Despite the elaborate preparations to warn inhabitants in the Kashmir villages and in the populous Indus valley of the Punjab, British officials have grave anxieties for the safety of the people.

60 Passenger Atlantic Service Plane Patented

New York—A sixty passenger seaplane designed to be used in regular transatlantic service, crossing the ocean in twenty hours, was patented July 3.

At the time of the Geneva three power conference, Ambassador Hugh Gibson offered to limit this country's cruiser tonnage to 300,000, but this offer was rejected by Great Britain.

This country's striking shortage in cruiser strength was cited at the State department as one of the reasons. It was pointed out that the American cruiser tonnage figure is so low that there is no immediate possibility for approval of any treaty which would not leave room for the construction of several of the 10,000-ton class of 8-inch gun cruisers.

State department officials emphasized that the United States has only ten cruisers with a combined tonnage of 66,000. When compared with British tonnage of 70,000 in the 8-inch gun 10,000 ton Washington treaty cruisers and more than 200,000 tons of large cruisers the reason why Mr. Kellogg believes more cruisers should be built becomes apparent.

OLYMPIC GAMES END; LOS ANGELES IN '32

Medals Presented to Winners of Contests; U. S. Leads in Several Events.

Amsterdam.—Flames at the top of the marathon tower rising high above the Olympic stadium flickered out, denoting the end of the ninth Olympic games.

Presentation of medals to the winners of the various events marked the official closing program. There were plenty of spectators present, as ceremonies loom large in the life of these lowland folk, and the final gathering ended two weeks of celebration which will probably not be repeated here during the lifetime of any of them.

Designed to be a repetition of the opening day, when the athletes paraded into the Olympic fields, the conclusion, with only a handful of participants, seemed a listless affair.

Prince Consort Henry was there, but the queen was absent. Count de Baillet Latour pronounced the games officially over in a little speech filled with praise and approval for the Dutch organizers, the royal family and the city fathers of Amsterdam.

"I proclaim the ninth Olympic games over and convoke the youth of all countries to assemble four years hence at Los Angeles, Calif., to celebrate the tenth," he said.

It might be said that the youth of the world, especially of Europe, will be glad to be convoked at Los Angeles if California will supply funds to take them there. Otherwise the 1932 Olympics are liable to be an all-American affair.

In fact, the Los Angeles boosters actually assured the foreign athletes here that their great city would hire a boat to transport them all free of charge to Sunny California.

Following are the summaries of all events in the year's Olympic games: Track and Field.—Won by United States; second, Finland; third, Great Britain; fourth, Germany; fifth, Sweden; sixth, Hungary; seventh, Norway.

Gymnastics.—Won by Switzerland; second, Czechoslovakia; third, Yugoslavia; fourth, France; fifth, Finland; sixth, Italy; seventh, Norway.

Swimming.—Won by the United States; second, Germany; third, Great Britain; fourth, Sweden; Holland (tied), sixth, Japan.

Rowing.—Argentina and Italy tied for first; United States; fourth, Holland; fifth, Sweden; sixth, New Zealand and Hungary; (tied).

Catch-as-Catch-Can Wrestling.—Won by Finland; second, Sweden; third, Switzerland; fourth, United States; fifth, Canada; (no sixth).

Greco-Roman Wrestling.—Won by Germany; second, Finland; third, Switzerland; fourth, Hungary; fifth, Estonia; sixth, Egypt.

Field Hockey.—Won by Sweden; second, Germany; third, Holland; fourth, Italy; fifth, Finland; sixth, Great Britain.

Equestrian Sports.—Holland and Poland tied for first; Germany and Spain tied for fifth; Hungary; sixth, Norway.

Water Polo.—Won by Uruguay; second, Argentina; third, Italy; fourth, Spain (no fifth or sixth).

Field Hockey.—Won by British India; second, Holland; third, Germany; fourth, Belgium (no fifth or sixth).

Wrestling.—Won by Germany; second, France; third, Austria; fourth, Italy; fifth, Egypt; sixth, Estonia.

Weightlifting.—Won by Sweden; second, United States; third, Norway.

DINSMORE'S FOLLY

W. N. U. SERVICE

SYNOPSIS
The story follows the adventures of Dinsmore and his friends in a series of humorous episodes. It begins with a horse race and continues through various social and domestic situations, all characterized by the author's signature wit and detailed illustrations.

ing pretty fast; and when Gypsy stopped it simply ran way from us. When it did stop, it was a hundred yards, or more, away.

Meanwhile, my preserver—I have to call him that, for I didn't learn his name for some time after—my preserver had jumped to the ground again. He held Gypsy's bridle with one hand and took off his hat with the other.

"Are you all right now?" he asked, as casually as if stopping runaway and saving damsels was merely part of his day's work.

I nodded. "Yes. Thanks to you!" I gasped. I was really scared, but I wouldn't have admitted it for the world. "It was the bravest thing—"

He laughed. I noticed that he had nice eyes. "Nothing brave about it," he said. "I've practiced that sort of thing a lot. It's easy when you once get the hang of it. Do you think you can manage the horse now?"

"I think so," I answered. "Gypsy would have run herself out in a mile or two more—if she hadn't smashed

What Could I Do? I Couldn't Sit on Gypsy and Yell to Him.

Into your bus, or another, first. She'll be all right now. Besides—I glanced behind me. "Wonder comes Fred." His eyes followed mine. "Then I'll leave you to Fred," he said. "Good afternoon!" he raised his hat and turned away.

"Oh! Wait—please!" I fairly shrieked the words. "Good gracious!" I went on as he faced me again. "Aren't you going to tell me who you are?"

He laughed. "Gladly!" he said. "But why?"

"Why?" I echoed. "Father will want to thank you. And—and I will want to thank you. I—I can't do it properly now and—"

Once more he laughed. He certainly did have a nice laugh. "I guess we'll pass the thanks," he said, firmly. "I'm very glad to have been of service to you, but—Good-by!" This time he was gone in good earnest.

What could I do? I couldn't sit on Gypsy and yell to him. I couldn't gallop up to that bus-load of staring people—now that I looked at them I thought they looked sort of queer—and demand his name and whence he came and give him another chance to answer that he "didn't care to say." I couldn't even sit still and watch him. I couldn't do anything but ride to meet Fred, who was almost up to me and who was a lot more excited than I was. I wanted to ask Fred to gallop after the bus, which was fast disappearing into the distance (or whatever people and things do disappear into), and to find out all he could about my preserver. But I didn't do it; after all, saving a girl's life doesn't put a man under any obligations to her; and if M. P. (my preserver) wanted to remain anonymous, I had no right to stop him. Besides, Fred wouldn't have gone; he was fussing about me like a hen with one chicken, and he insisted on conveying me home as carefully as if periscopes were sticking up out of every fence corner.

So I gave in and went without a word. But it certainly was tough to let a round-shouldered hero with nice eyes—the first hero I have ever met personally, too—go out of my life in an autobus without even leaving his name as a memento of his parting. I cried myself to sleep that night.

CHAPTER III

My month at Dinsmore ended three days after Gypsy's runaway, and we all went back to town. I wanted Dad to take us down to Newport for September, but he refused to do so. He said the stock market needed watching and that he didn't propose to watch it through the reverse end of society binoculars. I didn't quite understand what he said, but I got its results all right—that we were not going to Newport. So we went into the hot city and opened up Dad's big town house.

I didn't quite understand what he said, but I got its results all right—that we were not going to Newport. So we went into the hot city and opened up Dad's big town house.

Of course, no one was back in town at that heathenish time of the year, and it was almost as lonely as it was up at Dinsmore. Fred was back from his vacation, but he had very little time. He came around now and then, but he said nothing more about poor meddling his silence and out of pure idleness tried to encourage him to go on. I guessed that he felt disappointed because he couldn't help me when Gypsy ran away or when the police burst in at the night, and I tried to tell him that I knew it wasn't his fault. For of course it wasn't. His horse was a good one, but not good enough to catch Gypsy when she got started. I said all this, and Fred listened and thanked me and—changed the subject, and wouldn't come back to it again.

We had been in the city for nearly a month when things began to happen.

Fred had gotten into the habit of talking us about more or less—always to thrilling places where none of our set ever dreamed of going. I remember one especially delightful place where we went through the kitchen to the back yard and ate a forty-cent dinner (red-ink wine included) and didn't hear a word of English while we were there. Josephine disapproved of these expeditions, and went only because I swore I'd go without her if she didn't.

Of course it was only a question of time till we got into trouble. I can see that now. Each venture that we got through safely made me long for one more exciting, and at last—

It was a prize fight this time. Fred had told us that he had to report it in explanation of his inability to take us out that evening; and I had jumped at the chance. "Take us, too," I clamored.

Of course there was an uproar right away. Josephine said I was crazy and Fred said it was out of the question. But I stuck to my guns and after I had made Fred confess that there would certainly be a few women there and that nobody would dream of hurting us, Josephine's objections simmered away.

So we went.

It was not a very important prize fight. No national championships were involved at all. As I remember the names it was a contest between the New Jersey Mosquito and the Brooklyn Spider. They were both little and skinny and ugly. And they were both as quick as chain lightning. It made me dizzy to watch them.

Scraps of Humor

TIME IS UP, BOY

He had been in love with her—hopelessly, he thought—for a long time. Then, one day as they were sitting together, she looked tenderly at him, and murmured: "Claude, didn't you tell me once you would be willing to do any act of heroism for my sake?" "Yes, Cora, and I meant what I said," he declared.

DOING NOTHING

She—What's your brother doing now? He was trying to get a government job awhile ago.

He—He's doing nothing, he got it.

Air Castles

Building castles may not pay. Foolish sport, I know. Now and then I finish a modest bungalow.

Most Familiar

After dinner the well-known writer and his guest turned on the wireless.

A brand-new song was played, and the guest liked it.

"That's a good melody," he remarked.

"Good?" said the plump pounder, "I should think it is. Why, I've written it myself 12 different times!"

No Resemblance

She had just been introduced to her partner at a dance and was talking to him vivaciously.

"Tell me," she said, "who is that terribly homely man over there?" Her partner looked.

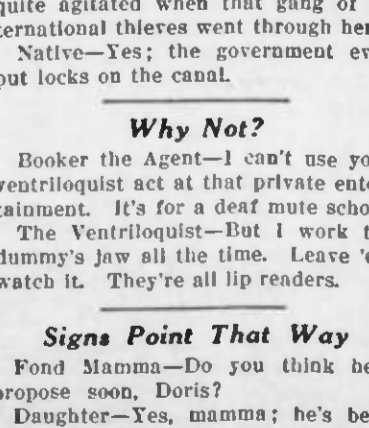

"That," he said ponderously, "is my brother."

"Oh!" gasped the woman in horrified amazement. "Pardon me. Really, I hadn't noticed the resemblance."

Too Slow

"What's worrying you now?" "I want a chaperon for a slow party."

DULL EVENING

"Last night I called on the most correct girl I've ever met."

"I had a pretty dull evening myself."

Quite the Reverse

Although he makes a husband good. Nor wanders 'em in thought The tie that binds him to his wife Is not the one she bought.

Orders Must Be Obeyed

Small Town Cop—You can't go through here with your cut-out open. Motorist—But I have no cut-out on this car. Cop—Then get one put on and keep it closed.

Note From the Border

Tourist—I suppose the people were quite agitated when that gang of international thieves went through here? Native—Yes; the government even put locks on the canal.

Why Not?

Booker the Agent—I can't use your ventriloquist act at that private entertainment. It's for a deaf mute school. The Ventriloquist—But I work the dummy's jaw all the time. Leave 'em watch it. They're all lip readers.

Signs Point That Way

Fond Mamma—Do you think he'll propose soon, Doris? Daughter—Yes, mamma; he's been making so many complimentary remarks about you.

Two Varieties

The Man With An Artistic Soul—Were all the people you met there artistic? Sweet Young Thing—Most of them were, but some of them were quite nice.

Ark Overcrowded

Elsie (looking up from her book)—What are prehistoric animals? Wise Willie—Oh, those are all dead. I guess they were the ones that were left on the dock when Noah sailed.

CHARLES KADING of Watertown, Wisconsin, Progressive Republican Candidate for Congress

Columbia, Dodge, Jefferson, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington Counties

Primary Election Tuesday, September the 4th, 1928

Charles A. Kading born on a farm in Dodge County in 1874.

By his own efforts he succeeded in getting an education by working on a farm and teaching school at intervals to defray expenses of his education.

OWNS FARMS AND WILL SURELY HELP SOLVE THE FARMERS' PROBLEM. IF IT CAN BE SOLVED BY CONGRESS.

Successful in the practice of law at Watertown since 1900. Has been District Attorney of Dodge County, City Attorney and Mayor of Watertown, and is now serving his first term in Congress. He has answered every roll call and voted at every record vote in the first session of the 70th Congress. He will appreciate your vote.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE VOTERS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

Recently my friends circulated nomination papers for my candidacy as Register of Deeds of Washington County, and you may have noticed my name among the list of candidates on the Democratic ticket. I have accepted the candidacy and respectfully solicit your vote and support at the coming elections. If you honor me by electing me as your Register, I assure you that your confidence will not be misplaced, and promise you to give that office my personal attention at all times. It shall be my aim to have the office render the people the best service they have ever received.

I was born in West Bend over forty years ago and graduated from the High School in 1908. After editing the West Bend News for three years and being the bookkeeper at Gehl Bros. Mfg. Company for over three years, I entered the life insurance field, in which I am still engaged. After serving in the World War I also assumed the management of the Washington County Abstract Company, which work during the past eight years, has made me familiar with the duties of the Register of Deeds. In 1926, I was elected Mayor of West Bend and re-elected last spring by the largest number of votes ever given any Mayor in the city. I own land in the town and city of West Bend and have been a tax payer for many years. Ever since I was able to assist in civic matters, I have actively supported all movements which would benefit Washington County, and held various honorary offices in such organization.

The above is presented for your information and consideration.

Sincerely yours, Henry O. Regner,

FATHER RUNS OVER OWN CHILD

While attempting to back out of his garage at his farm home near St. Kilion, Joseph Kern, unknowingly drove over his son Orville, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Kern had been unaware that the boy was around and passed over the right side of his head and right shoulder with the left front wheel. A physician was immediately summoned and no bones were found to be broken.

—Gov. Zimmermann who is making a campaign tour of the state, will speak at West Bend, Kewaskum and Campbellsport some time today, Saturday, the exact time is not given.

—Mrs. Steve Ketter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vorpahl and Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Vorpahl and family spent Tuesday evening at the Louis Vorpahl home.

The Food Value of Milk Fat

There is a tremendous amount of food value and energy wrapped up in a pound of butter or milk fat, and for comparative purposes we are listing a few items:

One Pound of Butter As An Energy and Food Producer Equals—

- 3 1/4 times as much as one dozen Eggs.
- 14 times as much as one pound Green Peas
- 12 times as much as one pound Broilers
- 11 times as much as one pound Fish
- 4 1/2 times as much as one pound Dressed Fowl
- 3 1/4 times as much as one pound Porter House Steak.

Milk fat is ninety-nine per cent digestible. Looking over the above list it is pretty well established fact that for real food value milk fat is an article that is overlooked. Producers should realize what it means to them, if they keep at all times keep their product in A No. 1 condition. The public will pay more money for something good.
