LOMIRA HAS $125,000 BLAZE

Fire, believed to have been started by a dust explosion early Monday morning destroyed the plant of the Lomira Manufacturing company at Lomira, entailing a loss of $125,000 and throwing 35 men out of work. The fire was discovered by John Berg, night watchman at the plant, who was stunned but not injured by an explosion which rocked the main unit of the factory. Berg declared that the explosion occurred near a slushing machine. The village fire department was powerless to save the plant, as other explosions fed the flames as the fire crept through the plant. The blaze spread from the main unit of the factory, which was 400 feet wide and 200 feet long, to a brick structure used as a kiln and a shop used for the storage of paints. Both buildings were completely burned. Records of the company kept in a safe are believed to be undamaged. The safe was removed from the ruins Monday and an insurance checkup will be made as soon as it is possible to open the safe. It is believed that the building is insured for $66,000.

WEST BEND MAYOR HERE ON THURSDAY

Henry O. Regner of West Bend, who was nominated a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds of Washington County, was in the village renewing his acquaintance with the voters of Kewaskum. As a candidate for the office Mr. Regner has a splendid official record, one which ought to appeal to the voters of the county. As mayor of West Bend, he fulfilled his duties with such efficiency that he was elected to the office for the second term by a very large majority. A complete record of Mr. Regner will be found on another page of this issue.

Getting Ready for the World's Series

BYRON AVIATOR GETS LINDY MEDAL

Sylvester Wittman of Byron, who last year paid several visits here with his aeroplane when he took up passengers, and who is brother of Hubert Wittman of here, is in Los Angeles, where after having participated in ceremonies in which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh of transatlantic fame honored participants in the New York-to-Los Angeles air derby, was awarded a bronze medal bearing a reproduction of the New York-to-Paris hero and his plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, for taking part in the endurance test flight from New York to Los Angeles. Next week Mr. Wittman will participate in the national air races as a representative of the Pheasant Airplane company of Baker, Mo.

Wittman's performance in the New York-to-Los Angeles flight occasions comment on the part of noted aviation experts. Although he was forced to fly part of the distance with one valve missing and made a forced landing in the western desert, he was able to finish seventh among the 36 planes that were entered in the endurance test. Wittman landed in the desert sagebrush when his radiator gave way and he might have been lost for several days had not another entrant in the race spotted him. The flyer summoned help at a nearby town and planes were sent out to aid Wittman so that he might continue in the race. Wittman was third in the race when he was forced down.

SHOOTS HIMSELF THROUGH HAND

The opening season of duck hunting did not turn out to be so good for a Milwaukeean, whose name we were unable to learn, as it might have been, had he probably kept his wits together, and thought, "A gun is not a toy, but rather a dangerous and treacherous weapon, and must at all times be handled, whether loaded or unloaded, with the greatest precaution, for the safety of himself and others." Of course the accident was accidental and it is a pity and grave situation for anyone to experience with such ill luck and should serve as a warning to all hunters, especially those who are not used to handling firearms, to think first what they are handling and what they are doing, before they act, not to become over anxious and excited, no matter how many ducks may be flying overhead or about you, for all the game one can shoot are not worth, in our opinion, the price of a human limb or life. The accident in question happened early Sunday morning at Round Lake, where several Milwaukee hunters had gone to spend the day and to enjoy themselves in one of their favorite sports. All went well until one of the party, a man about 22 years of age, placed the shotgun on the ground in an upright position, and at the same time, as is reported, put his hand over the muzzle. In some unknown manner the gun discharged, and the full charge passed through the unfortunate man's hand. He was immediately brought to Dr. Hausmann's office here, where he was given first aid. He was then taken to Milwaukee, where it is thought that on account of the badly mutilated condition of the hand, the injured member had to be amputated.

HEARING TO EXTEND RABBIT SEASON HELD

A number of local hunters were at West Bend last Monday evening where they attended a meeting held at the court house by the Washington County Fish and Game Protective association, against the early opening of the rabbit season, which, according to law is Oct. 1st. W. B. Grange of Madison, superintendent of game, was present and presided over the meeting. After views by those present were expressed why they wanted the season closed a month longer, a vote was taken which resulted unanimously in favor, the season closed until Nov. 1st. The outcome of this meeting has been laid before the Conservation Commission, and it is very likely that an order will be issued to have the season remain closed as wanted by the hunters. Whatever the decision may be, will be published in all the county papers, so there will be no excuse for anyone to violate the law.

Dr. Wehle of West Bend gave a talk on "Tuleramia", a vicious disease now prevalent in nearly all of the states of the union. This disease, the medical profession claims, is communicated to human beings from rabbits, the disease being contracted while skinning. It is recommended that all precautions be taken in the handling of rabbits after they have been shot, even that rubber gloves be worn while the act of skinning and cleaning is being performed.

PESCH-GULDAN WEDDING

St. Mathias Ann church was the scene of one of the prettiest fall weddings, when on Tuesday, September 18, Miss Celesta Pesch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pesch, became the bride of Mr. Irvin Guldán, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guldán of Lomira. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March rendered by Mrs. John Pesch of Campbellsport. Miss Cecelia Pesch, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was gowned in a Nile green tulle dress, trimmed with green silk moline. She wore a head band of rhinestone and bow and streamer of yellow Druex roses, plomosa fern and gypsophelia. Miss Bernice Steichen, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was dressed in a canary yellow georgette dress, trimmed with shadow lace and wore a head band of rhinestones and a scarf of moline. Miss Steichen carried an arm bouquet of orchid asters and plomosa fern. Adeline Guldán, sister of the groom, was also bridesmaid. She was gowned in a baby pink taffeta dress. She also wore a head band of rhinestones and scarf of moline. Miss Guldán carried an arm bouquet of pink asters and plomosa fern. The bride was dressed in a white crepe back satin dress, trimmed with shadow lace and rhinestones. Her long tulle veil fastened in cap effect was caught with lillies of the valley, pearls, rhinestones and lace. She carried a shower bouquet of Opuntia roses, gypsophelia and plomosa fern. The Florence Rosbeck, cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl. She wore a sky blue taffeta dress, trimmed with ecru lace and rhinestones and a head band of rhinestones and moline. She carried a basket of mixed flowers and ferns. Jack Pesch, dressed in a white suit, acted as ring bearer. He carried the rings in a white lily.

The groom was attended by Elroy Pesch, a brother of the bride. Roman Boegel of St. Kilian and Nick Schneider of Allenton were the ushers.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony a solemn high mass was offered by Rev. J. P. Bertram, assisted by Rev. Stupfel as deacon and Rev. July as sub-deacon. The Ave Maria was beautifully rendered by the choir.

The church was beautifully decorated with asters, baby breath and ferns in large baskets. The church was over crowded with relatives and friends of the bride and groom, who also journeyed to Forest Lake Resort. The hostess of the wedding dinner, Mrs. Wm. Pesch was attired in a rose flat crepe dress.

The wedding reception was held at Forest Lake Resort hall, decorated in white, pink, yellow and green paper, flowers, ferns, evergreens, large wedding bells, draperies of paper in above mentioned shades, made the hall a very attractive reception room for the largest wedding the town of Auburn has ever seen.

A delicious and elaborate dinner was served to 175 relatives and friends all being seated and served at one time. The bridal table was decorated with ferns, yellow paper, dolls holding orchid colored ribbons connected to bouquets of orchid and white asters in low green bowls. A large wedding bell trimmed with ferns and flowers and white poof from which small dolls swayed back and forth hung above a lovely wedding cake, decorated with a miniature bridal couple encircled with white green, yellow and pink dolls, colors of the bridal party formed the center piece of the bridal table.

TRI-COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL HEADS MEET

At an organization meeting of the Tri-County Interscholastic association at Fond du Lac last Saturday, Ben A. Sylla, principal of the Campbellsport high school, was named head of the association. Nine schools are to be included in the association this year: Campbellsport, Slinger, Kewaskum, Lomira, Rosendale, Brandon, Oakfield, North Fond du Lac and Glenbeulah. Baseball schedules for this fall and next spring and the basketball schedule for the coming winter were discussed and tentatively arranged. Kewaskum this year, from all indications is going to have a very strong team in the field, as practically the same team that represented this school the past two years will again be in action this year. The complete schedule will probably be announced next week. Five of the schools will enter the baseball schedule, which are Kewaskum, Campbellsport, Slinger, Lomira and Oakfield. The fall schedule calls for one game between each competing school and every other school in the baseball loop and will be opened this week. A similar schedule of games will be played next spring with the winner being determined on a percentage basis. All nine schools will compete in basketball and the schedule requires each school to play eight association games. Winners in basketball will also be determined on a percentage basis. Men who desire to officiate at the basketball games to be played by the Tri-County schools this winter will be asked to communicate with Mr. Sylla at Campbellsport at once. School men will be given preference, it was said. The association representatives also authorized County Supt. Lowe of Fond du Lac to make arrangements for a schoolmasters' meeting to be held in Fond du Lac some time this fall. The following principals attended the meeting last Saturday: Mr. Sylla of Campbellsport, W. A. Schumann of Slinger, P. C. Greene of Brandon, E. E. Skalesky of here, Mr. Tuttle of Lomira, Hallie Hornberg of Oakfield and H. E. Kelm of Rosendale.

DIGGING FOR WATERWORKS HAS STARTED

With the arrival of the digging machine here on Tuesday, work of digging trenches for the installation was started this week, by the Falls Construction company of Sheboygan Falls. It is expected that from now on the installation of the waters works plant will go right along.

Construction work on the new cement bridge on East Main street is rapidly assuming proportions. Last Saturday half of the road bed was poured and on Monday half of the side walks. The crew is now busily engaged in doing preliminary work for the abutment on the east side.

The entire dining hall was trimmed with white and orchid colored asters. There were eight cooks, twenty table waitresses, all dressed in white and corresponding caps, who catered to the wants and wishes of the guests.

The afternoon was spent in dancing, playing cards, boating, bathing and fishing.

Supper was served to 300 relatives and friends, dancing began at 7:30 and lasted until the wee hours of the morning. Schlosser's orchestra furnished the gay tunes for afternoon and evening. A midnight lunch was served to about 400 guests and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The newly weds eluded their many relatives and friends by spending the beginning of their honeymoon at a cottage of Forest Lake Resort, leaving the next day at noon for a wedding trip. They will be at home at Lomira to their many friends and relatives about Oct. 15th.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding came from Milwaukee, Chicago, Lomira, West Bend, Fond du Lac, Germantown, Campbellsport, Kewaskum, Marshfield, Knowles, Ashford, Allenton, St. Michaels, Horicon and Woodland.

The newly weds received many beautiful and expensive gifts and were showered with best wishes by all friends and relatives.

off his shoulders. It was perfectly fascinating. "You cannot stay here the noo, miss."

"We've got to stay till—but that will come later. Now—" But Perkins interrupted. He seemed to be awfully worried.

"Nonsense," I interrupted. I had never supposed that Perkins was such an old grandmother. "We know exactly what the conditions are."

I thought this was a very mild rebuke, and I was surprised by the effect it had on Perkins.

"Vera well," he said. "If you mean have your way, you mean, miss. Would I be telling everybody that you're no here, miss? Is there no somebody that knows you're here, miss?"

Josephine interrupted. "Not a soul knows it yet, Perkins," she interrupted. "Plenty of people will know it very soon."

I gapsed. Never before had I known Josephine to interrupt or even to speak curtly. For a moment I could not understand her idea.

However, there was neither time nor opportunity to speak or even to think at the moment.

They showed no intention of taking him away. All of them except the doctor went straight to an automobile that I now noticed was standing in the road and clambered in.

As soon as it had disappeared I hurried forward. My misgivings in regard to Perkins had somehow vanished.

On a crisp autumn day, there is nothing so swagger, so convincing of utmost chic, as a patrician-made coat of quality-kind woolen cloaking without an atom of fur in sight.

For early wear the unfurrowed type is particularly smart. An ulster like the one in the picture bears an unmistakable cachet of good style from both the standpoint of material and the tailoring.

Bright Trim on Plain Frocks. A plain blue frock with long ombre striped scarf ends hanging over the shoulder to the finger tips and another of bright blue crope with lithe and orange stripes and a sash of red and orange stripes show the tendency to trim plain dresses with brightly striped material.

Imported Fall Sweaters. Attractive new imported sweaters are displayed as a part of the three-piece sweater ensemble for fall.

Lace Gowns. The lace afternoon gown is very smart in Paris, worn with a coat of the same color in wool or silk.

Lynx Collar. A high lynx collar rounds the back of the neckline of a straight-line, short coat, of a thin black broadcloth suit.

WOOLEN FROCK FOR DAYTIME; TOPCOAT IN PERFECT STYLE

Frock of Red Wool and Rayon.

The "classy" thing for this fall in the way of dress fabrics is light-weight woolen. For these new woolens, so delicate in texture and novel in weave, fashionists are showing no end of enthusiasm.

Among the most popular new coatings are those which feature ombre effects. The markings run either horizontal or vertical.

These coats of many colors, patterned in squares and angles, zigzags, stripes and plaids, may or may not be fur trimmed. It is all a matter of taste.

The Kitchen Cabinet

(C) 1928 Western Newspaper Union. "Cheerfulness, looking always on the bright side of things, determined to always stand in the sunshine, rather than the shadow—this it is that makes life, with its knotty problems, continually easier. It's the oil of gladness that helps in doing the work."

FOR COMPANY LUNCHEON

When you wish to serve a hot soup for luncheon that is easily and quickly prepared, the following will be liked: Quick Consomme.—Put into a saucepan one quart of boiling water, one tablespoonful of finely chopped onion, Cream d Ham.—Scallop, one and one-half cups of milk with one small slice of onion and one stalk of celery cut into small pieces.

Chicken Salad With Tomato Jelly.—Strain the juice from a can of tomatoes and put in a saucepan with three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, two table-spoonfuls of gelatin, one table-spoonful of sugar, a half-cup, two small slices of onion, one and one-half table-spoonfuls of lemon juice, and the leaves from two stalks of celery.

The Child's Food. With milk, whole wheat bread, graham, or rye—rather than white bread—vegetables and fruits, a child may be kept in perfect health without any meat or gravies.

When the child loses his teeth, serve him with chopped meat or meat loaf, as meat needs good teeth to be well masticated.

Every child likes sweets and the system needs a certain amount of sugar to supply the fuel for the body.

Coffee and rolls do not make a proper breakfast for a child. Fresh rolls should not be given them at any time, nor should they have tea or coffee.

Never allow a child to go to school in the morning without eating. Many children have an indifferent appetite in the morning and need to be coaxed or have something different prepared to interest them in eating.

Orange juice or the whole fruit is not a luxury, for it contains the most valuable mineral salts as well as vitamins necessary for growth.

Florida is the only state in the United States where sponge fishing is engaged in on a large scale.

Young Marjorie returned from a luncheon party full of enthusiasm. "And mother," she said, recounting the features of the occasion, "we had tuna fish in camisoles."

McCORMICK-DEERING Enclosed Gear ENSILAGE CUTTER

The McCormick-Deering No. 12 Ensilage Cutter is another International Harvester achievement. It sets a new standard in ensilage-cutter design and construction.

It is an ensilage cutter that embodies improved features from automobile and tractor construction.

The foundation of the No. 12 ensilage cutter is a one-piece frame enclosing the flywheel, cutter, transmission and main drive. All the working parts are enclosed in an oil-tight and dust-proof housing, permitting all parts to run in a bath of oil. This construction, combined with the use of special cut and heat-treated gears, assures exceptionally long life and efficient operation.

Other features of McCormick-Deering construction are:

- Roller-type with four knives secured to flywheel of boiler plate steel.
- Positive drive on feed apron with high and wide feed throat.
- Working parts mounted on high-grade, anti-friction bearings.
- Length of cut can be changed without stopping machine.

Black Currant Bushes Menace

Is a Constant Agency in Spreading Deadly Blister Rust of White Pine.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Destroy a penny and save six dollars!
That is substantially the advice of Samuel B. Dewiler in a pamphlet, "Black Currant Spreads White Pine Blister Rust," just published for free distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture.
Mr. Dewiler estimates that if each European black currant bush in the United States is worth $1.25, which he thinks would be less than $900,000. The value of the merchantable white pine is approximately $550,000,000, or 600 times as great. The black currant is a deadly enemy of the white pine, and a constant agency in spreading the deadly blister rust.

Similar to Black Stem Rust.
The blister rust of white pine is similar to black stem rust of wheat in that the fungous disease in each case lives alternately on a valuable plant and then on a nurse plant. Wheat rust is not transmitted without the nursing service of the common barberry. Blister rust on the white pine does not go from tree to tree. The spores of the disease go from the pine to a currant or gooseberry plant, and these serve as sources of infection to the pines.

Careful study of the disease by pathologists of the bureau of plant industry has revealed the peculiar susceptibility of the European black currant. The more familiar currants and gooseberries do not contract the disease over great distances and cannot infect pines at a distance of much more than 900 or possibly 1,500 feet. But instances are known in which the black currant has contracted the infection at a distance of 110 miles from the nearest blister rusted pine. The European black currant then becomes a source of infection for common currants and gooseberries, and is able to infect pines a mile away. The common currants and gooseberries, in turn, may infect trees within the 900-foot zone, or other plants of their kind within the area.

Mr. Dewiler states that the European black currant is so susceptible to the white pine blister rust and consequently effective in the rapid spread and establishment of the disease, that the United States Department of Agriculture recognizes the cultivated black currant as a distinct menace to the white-pine timber supply of the country.

A Public Nuisance.
"It is so serious a danger to the production of white-pine timber as to make this kind of currant a public nuisance in all states where white (five-needled) pines grow. The department advises against the growing of this species of currant (Ribes nigricum L.) anywhere in the United States and recommends that state authorities, nurserymen and growers take active steps to accomplish its prompt elimination to accomplish its prompt elimination from the Pacific, Rocky Mountain, Atlantic, Appalachian, Ohio Valley, Upper Mississippi Valley and Lake states. The growing of cultivated black currants in home gardens, as well as in nurseries and commercial plantings, should be entirely abandoned throughout these states, because of the great importance of white pines and the relatively small value of black currants."

Miscellaneous Publication 27-M is a revision with added illustrations of an article Mr. Dewiler contributed to the current Yearbook of the Department. It is available for free distribution on request to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Mulch for Raspberries During Growing Season

The most common system of soil management in the raspberry and blackberry patch is to cultivate between the rows and hoe the ground immediately around the plants. The greatest drawback to this practice is that other work is so pressing at times that proper and timely hoeing and cultivation are frequently neglected. In the case of the small or moderate-sized planting, the entire surface of the patch can be covered with straw deep enough to smother out all weeds and grass. This method insures a constant supply of moisture for the plants throughout the growing season and goes away with hoeing and cultivation.

Lime for Apples

Lime is one of the best things the apple grower can invest in. After its use sweet clover can be used to reduce the bill for nitrogen. Growers should plan on getting in a car whenever their work will allow them to get it on the ground. It is one of the things which is hardest to get done. Many times the grower will say to himself, "I wish I had a car of limestone here to unload right now while I could handle it."

POULTRY PARASITES DESTROY MANY CHICKENS IN WISCONSIN

High Death Rate Is Caused by Lice and Mites.

Isn't it true quite often many farm dollars grow wings and fly away, without ever having been cashed in by the farmer? Quite a share of these runaway dollars can be chalked to the account of poultry losses.

Specialists of the Wisconsin college of agriculture are convinced that the high death rate and under production which is typical of many flocks in the state is directly caused by lice and mites which pester the birds from the time of hatching to maturity and often cause their deaths at various stages along the way.

A full account of the trouble and how to prevent and cure it is given in a circular "Fight Poultry Lice and Mites." Any Wisconsin resident may secure a copy free by addressing the college at Madison.

In every case, prevention is far better than cure, declare the members of the Wisconsin poultry staff. Although lice are not usually as harmful as mites, many broods of chicks are badly injured by them, and some are killed by the pests. Not infrequently hens desert their nests and their eggs are spoiled simply because of the ravages of lice.

Four different ways of killing the lice are recommended. One is to dust the bird's body with insect powder, or to make it possible for them to take outside dust baths during the summer. Sodium floride may be used, with good effect, either as a dust, dip, or a grease, depending upon its preparation. Blue ointment makes an effective grease, they say, and sweet oil is a particularly good remedy for young chicks that are infested.

The "ounce of prevention" law also applies to controlling mites, which are particularly serious pests, having been known to kill young chicks during a single night. Since in day time they hide in the nests and in the cracks and crevices of the roosts and the walls, the best remedy is to paint the roosts and nests with carbolineum, or crank case oil.

Planting Winter Wheat Sometimes Hard Problem

Winter wheat is a crop which takes nine months to raise, the longest length of time of all our annual crops. There are seasonal vicissitudes and insect pests all along the way. The season may be too dry for the seed to germinate or it may be too wet to sow the crop. High winds and bare ground and low temperatures of winter are a menace—thawing and freezing may ruin the crop and rust, the green bug,essian fly, army worm and chinch bug may all take their toll. It may be sowed too early or too late, although late sowing is preferable to excessively early sowing.

Agricultural Hints

Soy beans should be cut for hay just when the leaves begin to turn yellow.

Sweet clover should be grazed so closely that stock eat the new, tender shoots all the time, or it will get tough.

A few rods of woven wire fencing will make a good insurance policy for the garden, protecting it against the vigorous attacks of poultry and live stock.

Where small jobs of concrete work are done, it pays to have one or more measuring boxes for the sand and gravel and a mixing box for the mortar. Make your own and use them often.

Legume hay carrying a large proportion of leaves and cured without getting wet, makes a good winter substitute for green feed for poultry.

Have you provided a place for those early maturing pullets? They will soon be ready for the winter quarters. Plan to give them a clean, permanent location as it is not advisable to move them after egg production begins.

The control of forage-crop insects must differ fundamentally from the control of the insects of the orchard and garden. Much of the loss to forage crops is caused by insects that work in the soil, where they rarely attract the farmer's attention until after the harm is done.

Advantages of ordering nursery stock well in advance of planting time are: The nursery has a more complete list of varieties; all grades are available; shipment on the date desired is more certain; and mistakes in filling the order are less liable to occur, whereas the haste of filling late orders may lead to errors.

Fight Over Bullhead Caused Duck's Death

A large duck was recently found at Portage Inlet, British Columbia, choked to death by a seagull in the act of swallowing a bullhead, according to a correspondent of Field and Stream. The strange occurrence, he says, came about in this manner: The duck had just dived into the water, emerging with a bullhead protruding from its bill. In the meantime a band of seagulls had been circling around in the vicinity of the ducks. One of the gulls immediately detached itself from the others and started to chase the duck. The sawbill, objecting to losing its dinner, pulled the opposite way. The result was that the spikes on the fish's pectoral fins jabbed the duck's neck. It was not long before the unfortunate duck was lying dead on the water with the fish still sticking out of its mouth.

Muff for Hot Day

During the hot spell in England, London society girls started a new fad known as "the iced muff." The iced muff is a light-weight silk muff containing an aluminum cylinder holding a mixture of salt and ice. Thus no matter how hot the day is, the owner of an iced muff is always able to extend a cool, crisp handshake.

Jelly made with PEXEL turns out like this

MAKING jelly jell is not a new idea—but Pexel is certainly a new idea. It is tasteless, colorless, odorless! It is a 100% pure-fruit product which, in addition to making jelly jell, saving hours of time, and cutting down cost per glass, does not dilute or change the finest flavor or color.

Pexel saves from one to three times the 30c it costs. Eliminates long and tedious boiling. Saves fruit juice, sugar and flavor—and makes more jelly. Get Pexel at your grocer's. Recipe booklet in each package. 30c. The Pexel Company, Chicago, Ill.

U. S. Sport Phrases Are Given Peculiar Twist

Latin America has coined its own expression pertaining to baseball, and the peculiar twists given to Yankee sports phrases are echoed in all lands where Spanish is the predominant language.

Baseball is termed "beisbol" and when a swarthy batter swats out a long one and reaches home on it the term is "jonron" or home run.

In other lines of sports there are similar copying of American names and phrases made adaptable to the Spanish by changes in spelling, often weird.

Orsatti Is Recalled

In recalling outfielder Ernest Orsatti from Minneapolis, the Cardinals wanted a man who could recharge a run-down battery and from early indications Orsatti is the man to supply the punch lost by the Cardinals.

Sporting Squibs

There are no grass tennis courts in Japan nor in France. Clay is the predominant surface. Another lady swam across the English channel the other day. Women's place seems to be in the foam.

BASEBALL'S BIG SIX ARE GOLIATHS

Ruth, Fothergill, Heilman, Hogan, Buckeye, Elliott.

Lump the six of them together and they will weigh 1,280 pounds. They are the Goliaths of the diamond, the fat boys of baseball.

First comes Babe Ruth whose 210 pounds are strung out over 6 feet, 2 inches of height. When you see Babe waddle out to his position you wonder how he manages to field and run the bases.

Hot Fothergill isn't big; he's immense. "Fatty" is his nickname and he deserves it. Every March Fothergill is faced with the problem of losing 30 pounds.

Wants to get to second base. He has the mammoth of them all is Garland Buckeye, the pitcher who was released by the Giants to Toledo of the American association the other day.

James Johnston, of the San Francisco club, stole 124 bases in 201 contests in 1913.

Brooklyn contributes Jumbo Elliott, who is 200 pounds of good pitching material. Last year he was one of the most effective men on Wilbert Robinson's high-powered staff.

Gene Sarazen Gives Tip To British Golf Stars

While eminent American professional golfers were in England in quest of the open championship—which, as all know, Walter Hagen won—some of the most serious critics of golf on the other side went to school; that is to say, they went to the shore hotel at Sandwich where the Americans were staying and sat at the feet of the masters of the game.

Gene Sarazen made a tremendous hit with a very sage remark, which spread throughout England in the short time that elapsed between the close of the open and the sailing of the Yankee mercantile for home.

Any Woman Can Look Stylish

Most stylish-looking women are just "good managers." They know simple ways to make last season's things conform to this season's styles.

Thousands of them have learned how easily they can transform a dress or blouse, or coat by the quick magic of home tinting or dyeing. Anyone can do this successfully with true, fadeless Diamond Dyes.

My new 64-page illustrated book, "Color-Craft" gives hundreds of money-saving hints for renewing clothes and draperies. It's free. Write for it now, to Mae Martin, Dept. E-143, Diamond Dyes, Burlington, Vermont.

Animals From Arctic Brought Into Italy

Italy has imported ten reindeer from Norway and their new home is Mont Blanc (highest of the Alps), where it is intended to acclimate them. This is done not to enrich different regions with curious animals, but for important, economic reasons.

The Cow, Man's Benefactor

Ex-Governor Lowden of Illinois says of the cow: "She is a wonderful laboratory. She takes the grasses of the pasture, the roughage of the fields and converts them into the most perfect food for man. In that food there is a mysterious something which scientists have found essential to the health and development of the human race, found no where else. Likewise on a dollar and a half basis she is a benefactor to the farmer who will but give her the opportunity to prove her worth. And last but not least take care of that product, keeping it in its natural good condition that its value will be there when it reaches the consumer."
