ASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

A. T. A. chest clinic held at school on Wednesday was a busy one from the moment the doctors arrived until they were forced to close their doors. About twenty-five men were in attendance. The following is a brief summary of the discussion and accomplishments of the meeting:

After a preliminary statement by Mr. L. P. Rosenheimer in which he explained that he had been asked to serve on an area committee and that this service had created a desire to improve the scouting in Kewaskum which resulted in this meeting, he turned the meeting over to Mr. Skaliskey, Scoutmaster of the Kewaskum Troop.

Very briefly Mr. Skaliskey mentioned the size and activities of the Kewaskum Troop and introduced the Area Scout Executive who he explained would outline ways and means whereby the Kewaskum community could better the scouting work.

The Scout Executive spent some time in explaining that scouting is a leisure time educational activity for boys and is presented in play form. This was followed by a brief history of scouting and a statement that Kewaskum becoming organized would bring them in contact with the other districts of the area. It would also place the services of the Scout Executive at their command in the form of coaching the various officers of the Kewaskum organization.

The Scout Executive then explained the organization of a District as suggested by National Headquarters. This was followed by a discussion as to whether or not Kewaskum should organize and pay a quota towards the Area budget. After considerable discussion, Mr. L. P. Rosenheimer moved, which motion was seconded, that Mr. E. E. Skaliskey be chairman of the Kewaskum District and that he appoint two other men to assist him in appointing the committees they felt necessary for the district. The chairman appointed Mr. L. P. Rosenheimer and Mr. Elwyn Romaine as committee members.

After the various committees have been appointed the committee in charge will call another mass meeting.

INTEREST SHOWN IN SCOUT WORK

Wisconsin voters will be asked to decide two public questions at the spring election as a result of actions by the legislature.

The proposal of Senator Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee, to submit to the people the question of amending the constitution so that the fixing of the legislative salaries would be in the hands of the legislature has been adopted and will be submitted in spring. There has been a general feeling for years that legislators should be paid at least enough to take care of their expenses while attending sessions. When sessions run into the unusual length the compensation allowed by the state is not enough to pay room rent and board.

The voters in April will decide whether the state favors abolishing the present state prohibition act and department or whether it prefers amendment of the present dry law to wipe out the present penalties for 2.75 per cent beer. If both measures are defeated by the voters it will be interpreted to mean that the people are satisfied with present prohibition conditions. The resolution calling for the referendum in April was sponsored by Senator Duncan and its adoption by the Senate with a two vote margin was unexpected. Drys believed that no wet measures could get through the senate this year.

VOTERS TO DECIDE TWO PUBLIC QUESTIONS

Three men under Pasteur treatment

As the result of a dog infected with rabies biting two cows on the Reinhold Jobs farm in the town of Saukville last week, three men were given the Pasteur treatment to safeguard against this dreaded disease. The men are Dr. E. H. Liebenstein, veterinarian, of Grafton, who was called to the Jobs farm and diagnosed the case as rabies, Mr. Jobs, and Mr. Louis Schumacher who shot the mad dog. All three men were exposed to the disease. They are being cared for by Dr. Charles A. Balkwill of Grafton, and are out of danger. Schumacher is at a hospital at Milwaukee and is reported to be getting along nicely. Ozaukee county authorities lost no time in their efforts to control the spread of this disease. Practically every city, town and village in the county, has served notices of quarantine, and it is believed that with this prompt and effective work, the rabies is under control and no new outbreaks have been reported.—Cedarburg News

THREE MEN UNDER PASTEUR TREATMENT

ASHFORD MAN IN FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

An article appearing in the Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter, which is publishing a series of articles on "When I Was 21," relates an interesting story of Bertram Thelen of the town of Ashford. The article in question reads as follows:

"Bertram Thelen, former chairman of the town of Ashford and former supervisor, today's contributor to the Commonwealth Reporter series of articles on "When I Was 21," was at that age working on the farm of his father, the late Michael Thelen. He was born on this farm and has lived there continuously ever since. He now sleeps in the room in which he was born.

"Michael Thelen, his father, was chairman of the town of Ashford for 41 years, a trustee of the Fond du Lac county asylum for 20 years, a member of the building committee under whose supervision the courthouse was erected in 1884, and on the committee which directed construction of the county asylum.

"As a boy Bertram Thelen attended district school in the town of Ashford and St. Martin's parochial school at Ashford. Schools of that day were ungraded. Pupils attended until they were 16, 17 or 18 years old, said Mr. Thelen. Elementary courses, such as arithmetic, grammar, reading, geography, spelling and penmanship were the subjects taught.

"Many modern conveniences have been added to farm homes since he was a boy, said Mr. Thelen. In the home where he was born there are now electric light, water and plumbing systems and other conveniences and comforts unknown to his boyhood. Better roads have also made it possible for farmers to come to the city oftener, he asserted.

"There was little entertainment for us in those days," said Mr. Thelen. "We used to go to little dances in a hall at Ashford, and that was about all. About 30 years ago I rented my father's farm and started to run it for myself. My twenty-first birthday was in July and I was at work in the harvest fields. For 18 years I was clerk of the school district and for five years I was chairman of the town of Ashford. For the last year I have been a director of the Ashford Co-operative Cheese company.

"In the old days we had to drive stock on the hoof to market in Fond du Lac. Charles Bartlett was the stockbuyer to whom we sold our cattle. The distance was 18 miles. Now we bring them in on a truck and the buyers come down with a truck and get them. Then we get two cents a pound for a good steer; now we get 10 or 11 cents. Hogs at that time brought three cents a pound dressed.

"There was not much dairying business in the county then; raising of wheat and barley was the main business on the farm.

"I was 10 years old in 1881, the year of the "big snow." We were snowbound on the farm and could not get out from the middle of January until the end of March. The snow was at least five feet deep on the level."

DEFEATS SLINGER

What proved to be just as it was advertised, a very exciting and thrilling game of basketball, was played at the High School gymnasium last Friday evening, when the local high school team defeated the fast and strong Slinger team by a score of 16 to 28. Though our boys had a lead of 12 points at the end of the game, does not mean that the game was a one-sided affair and an easy victory for the local five. The score was close throughout the game, with the exception of the latter part of the last quarter, when our boys took a safe lead. Neither side was able to score until the last minute of play in the first quarter, when Ralph Kohn, our sturdy center, made a pretty field goal from almost the center of the gymnasium. In the second quarter, the visitors came back strong, making a free throw and a field goal making the score 3 to 2 in favor of Slinger. This, however, was overcome by the locals, when they scored five points, and from which time on kept the lead by a very close margin, until in the last quarter when the local five took a safe lead.

Next week Tuesday evening, February 26th, will be the big and most important game of the season in the Tri-county league, when Kewaskum will clash with the strong Rosendale High School team in the local gymnasium. Both teams are top notchers in the league and are battling for supremacy as to who will end the season as leaders of the organization. The Rosendale team to whom Kewaskum lost by two points, earlier in the season at Rosendale, has our boys outwitted and outstretched in height. The best way to match up the two teams and from which fans can judge best as to the strength and brand of basketball they will be treated to next Friday evening, is as follows: Kewaskum lost to Rosendale at Rosendale by two points. Rosendale lost to Oakfield and Kewaskum defeated Oakfield. All games were played by close scores. Our boys are certainly practicing hard, and are going into the game determined and full of confidence that victory will be theirs. This will be the last home conference game of the season. Be on deck and show your loyalty to the team. A preliminary game will be played at 7:30 p. m.

ANOTHER STORM
SWEEPS STATE

With another six inches of snow fall last Sunday, the season's record for snow covering the ground was pushed up to 40 1/2 inches. The snowfall started in the morning and continued throughout the day, accompanied by a high wind. On Monday morning with the temperature eight below zero, all highways were blocked and traffic was again brought to a standstill. Trains were delayed several hours until Tuesday when traffic on the North Western line was again normal. Bus line service was suspended during the week. Traffic for automobiles was practically put out of commission on Monday, the few who ventured out Sunday evening, got stuck in deep drifts and had to abandon their machines until late Monday afternoon, before they could be shoveled out. Mail carriers were not able to cover their routes. Milk had to be gathered and hauled to the local creamery and the condensary at West Bend with bob sleighs. L. S. DeLong, pilot for the mail plane, made his northbound flight Monday, but was forced down at Neenah on his southbound trip. All lines of business have been seriously affected by the continual downfall of snow and below zero weather for the past two months.

With an average snowfall of 40 1/2 inches so far this season, the question which arises in the minds of people in all walks of life, especially those who have considerable driving to do and those who have trouble with water flowing into their cellars, and highway officials, what will happen when the snow commences to melt away, whether there will be a flood next spring or not, and what can be done to safe-guard against life and property. From reports received, chances are that there will not be a flood, for reason that there is not much frost in the ground, and most of the water will sink into the ground, this, however, depends upon how fast the snow will melt away. In a number of communities considerable attention is paid to this problem and plans are being made to battle the flooded condition should it come.

Miller of Lomira, Mrs. Lee Nelson of Rockford and Aloysius Schmid Jr., of Iron Ridge. Besides these he leaves four grand children to mourn his demise.

WARNING GIVEN AGAINST RABIES

Public and private co-operation will be urged against the recent serious outbreaks of rabies in Wisconsin in a bulletin being prepared by the state board of health.

The state body aims at active co-operation with the state livestock sanitary board, which has full authority to enforce rigid quarantine of all dogs and other animals in preventing the spread of rabies.

While rabies have long been rampant in other states, the board declared, Wisconsin has been comparatively free until the recent outbreak which has increased the zone of infection. Outbreaks are being fought in Kenosha county, the infection focus; Soldiers Grove in Crawford county; in Ozaukee and Iron counties. The board said two persons have died recently from infection.

Dr. W. D. Stovall, director of the state laboratory of hygiene, has reported that laboratory has made positive diagnosis of rabies in dogs' heads sent from Antigo, Kenosha, Shawano, Gurnsey, Soldiers Grove and Racine since January 1. The disease also was found in a pig from the Oshkosh area and a cat from Grafton.

"Seasons make little difference in the prevalence of rabies," he said. "The virus is not affected by cold weather. The popular tradition of 'dog days' has little foundation in fact."

"Rules for control of this disease need to be more rigidly applied. When rabies appears, the first thing to remember is that a dog is usually the determining factor in spreading the disease. It is no time to let sentiment prevail in favor of the dog when human safety against death in a terrible form is involved. It is time to place dogs under strict control.

These recommendations are given for affected communities:

1. All dogs owned by families should be tied up or muzzled effectively with wire muzzles for at least 90 days.
2. All stray dogs and ownerless dogs should be killed by authorities.
3. Suspicion should be directed to all dogs showing change in behavior, restlessness or ill-temper, loss of appetite, or desire for unusual food, difficulty in swallowing, tendency to run long distances, attacking all objects in their way and biting other animals or persons.

"After being bitten by a rabid dog," a health department bulletin says, "a person develops the disease in 20 to 60 days, the average being 40. In all animals bites the bleeding of the wound should be encouraged. The wound should then be cauterized with fuming nitric acid by a physician, and all parts should be thoroughly reached. This should be done within 24 hours after the bite, and the sooner the better. The same treatment should be applied to scratches or broken skin wounds that have become infected from a rabid animal."

The following conditions were cited to indicate the need for Pasteur treatment:

When the animal is mad give the Pasteur treatment immediately to the person bitten.

When the animal is only suspected of having rabies, it should be confined until it dies or is killed. The laboratory examination of the animal's head should determine whether or not the Pasteur treatment is necessary. The animals should be killed without damaging the head, which is the part that must be examined.

MANY ENTRIES IN SPELLING CONTEST

Grade school boys and girls throughout the state of Wisconsin are striking up a close acquaintance with their spelling books these days, for pupils of more than 1,000 Wisconsin schools are preparing for the grade and school preliminaries of the 1929 National Spelling Bee.

All of Wisconsin's 71 counties are represented in the list of schools already enrolled in this contest which is being sponsored in Wisconsin by The Milwaukee Journal.

Rusk county holds the distinction of having the largest number of entries outside of Milwaukee county since George E. Sanford, county superintendent of schools, entered all the rural and one-room schools in his district. These with the state graded schools at Conrath, Glen Flora, Ingram and Tony, and three public and one parochial school, at Ladysmith give Rusk county a total of 94 schools entered to date.

Winnebago county is next in line with 25 entries, but Clark and Waushara are close competitors for this honor with 24 entries each. Marathon, Price and Sheboygan are represented by 23 schools each, and Chippewa, Juneau and Kewaunee by 20 each.

County lineups are expected to change considerably during the next two weeks, however, as Milwaukee Journal officials have decided to extend the final entry date to March 1 in order to accommodate those whose plans for school bees were upset by the heavy storms.

Winners of the school spelling bees for members of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, will each receive a certificate of award from The Journal. These school champions will compete in the county spelling bees at which the winners will receive silver medals. Gold medals are the prizes for the district eliminations held to determine which 10 spelling champions will compete in the Wisconsin State Spelling Bee in Milwaukee some time between April 20 and May 4.

Approximately $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded to the winner and runners-up in the state finals. In addition to the first prize of $300, the state champion will receive a free trip to Washington, D. C., and the opportunity to compete in the National Spelling Bee in the nation's capital when the champion grade school scolar of the United States will be selected.

Among the schools of Washington county already enrolled in the 1929 Spelling Bee are:

Wayne Center school, Kewaskum
Old Rich School, West Bend
Pleasant Hill School, Newburg
S. S. Peter & Paul's School, Allenton
St. Kilian's School, Hartford
St. Mathias School, West Bend

DODGE COUNTY VOTES $20,000 TO MOVE SNOW

At a special session at Juneau late Tuesday the Dodge county board voted $20,000 for a continuation of snow removal work in that county during the balance of the winter. Only five votes were cast against the resolution providing these funds. Snow removal funds in Dodge county were exhausted about two weeks ago but the highway department continued to operate its plows by withholding payment on machinery bills charged to snow removal. There was $17,000 available for this work at the beginning of the winter and all but $6,900 spent for plows and snowblows has been used to cover the actual cost of removing snow. In the event there is a balance in the $20,000 fund at the end of the winter it will be left in the county treasury until the fall meeting of the board, when the supervisors will decide on the purpose for which it will be used.

Besides these he leaves four brothers, Henry, Charles and Fred of Eden and Julius of Big Stone, Minn., and three sisters, Mrs. Yvonne Buss of Kewaskum, Mrs. Bartel Fink of Fond du Lac and Mrs. Minnie Kusea of Northfield, Minn. The funeral was held Monday at 12:30 p. m., from the home of his son Walter and at 1 o'clock at the Salem Evangelical church. Rev. L. F. Kiehoefer of Ripon officiated. Burial was made in the Union cemetery at Campbellsport.

In the Annals of Tacitus, Roman historian the fact is stated that there existed a sect known as Christians who were followers of one Jesus Christ, executed by command of Pontius Pilate.

Worthlessness of Dreams

Keeping a record of dreams is perhaps as valuable as keeping a record of the vagaries of the demented. For dreams are not the involuntary abstractions of reason only. Freud attempts to make a "science" of it. Exchange

"Bridge" Not Russian
Bridge was first known as Birlich a Russian whist. This gave rise to the idea that it was a Russian game. Dictionaries of the Russian language do not contain the word. It seems more probable that the game is Levantine, since it was known in Constantinople and Greece about 1870 long before it invaded western Europe.

The Surge Milker

Milks Cows

faster!
Cleaner!
and
BETTER!

FREE Demonstration to prove it!

Here's our proposition. We KNOW that The Surge will milk YOUR cows—all of 'em!—faster, cleaner and better than any other milking machine you have ever used or seen. We are willing to PROVE this with a free demonstration right in your own barn with your own cows. This free demonstration will not obligate you in any way nor cost you one penny. We make you this offer because we KNOW that once you see the way The Surge TUGS, like the calf and gets ALL the milk—and once you see how ALL your cows will take to The Surge instantly and contentedly give down ALL their milk—see how easy it is to clean and operate—YOU WON'T BE HAPPY UNTIL YOU OWN THE SURGE MILKER!

Wonderful NEW Method

Milks cows like no other machine ever milked cows before. Milks them faster, cleaner and BETTER.

No Long Tubes!—No Claws!

Here's ALL You Have to Wash!

Why be bothered with washing a mess of smelly, dirty long tubes and claws when you don't have to? The Surge has NO Long Tubes—NO Claws! All other machines have them. That's WHY The Surge is by far the easiest milker to clean and keep clean. Long Tubes and Claws harbor dirt, filth that breed bacteria and shoot the bacteria away up beyond regulations. Any milk inspector will tell you that. You never have this trouble with The Surge—because—there are NO Long Tubes—No Claws! That's why so many farmers have discarded long tube, clawtype machines for the easy-to-clean Surge Milker. How about You? Phone for a free demonstration.

Passageway of Mole Is Popular

Continue Active During the Winter, but Do Little Damage to Plants.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Moles, contrary to the opinion of many, do not eat roots, bulbs and seeds of plants in important quantities. They cause damage in the garden by tearing plant roots and by fluffing up the soil until it dries out too rapidly. Indirectly, too, they are responsible for the activities of other small animals, such as mice, which do eat roots, tubers and bulbs. The mole runways in the garden are favorite passageways for these little mammals. The mole itself lives principally on insects, earthworms, white grubs, and other larvae and pupae. But the mole gets—and deserves—some of the blame for the destruction done by others that follow its tunnels.

Gas and Poison Useless.

Poisons and poisonous gases are almost useless against moles, the bureau of the biological survey finds. Specialists in this branch of the United States Department of Agriculture say this is because of the highly developed sense of smell of moles, which are thus compensated more or less for poor eyesight. Also the fact that the moles feed on live insects and earthworms makes it difficult to introduce poison into food that they are willing to eat.

Active During Winter.

Moles continue active through the winter, but in that season their tunnels run so deep that they rarely do

Ways of Manufacturing Commercial Sour Cream

Experiments on the methods of manufacturing commercial sour cream are being conducted by the dairy department of the Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station at State college.

This product is also known as "Jewish sour cream" because of its extensive use by Hebrew people. It is not restricted to them entirely, being also very popular with the Slavic races generally and to a lesser extent with the Germans, Austrians and Bohemians.

The sour cream is, when properly made, a thick-bodied, smooth product with a clean, acid flavor. It finds use as a dressing for vegetables, either cooked or raw, as well as being the important ingredient in certain typical cold vegetable mixtures not unlike salads.

The most difficult problem in making commercial sour cream is to produce a body thick enough and smooth enough to satisfy the customers. The experiments at State college show that there are many factors to control where a high quality product is desired. This work is expected to be of considerable aid to the milk dealers who are attempting to supply the market, says E. J. Donn of the dairy manufacturing department.

FARM WOODS A SAVINGS BANK, SAYS ONE FOREST OFFICER

Timber Conservation Becomes Economic Need.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Timber is a farm savings bank to be drawn upon in times of extra need, says W. R. Mattson, extension forester of the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture. The trees are the capital or principal; new growth is the interest. Each day the interest is added—and the cashier cannot run away.

Farm woodlands have many times been the means of lifting a mortgage, or making the difference between profit and loss on the farm balance sheet, Mattson says. Timber and wood are required for the successful operation of the farm, and most farmers have some lands better adapted to tree growth than cultivated crops. The growing of timber is therefore legitimately a part of the regular farm program. Timber conservation has come to be a matter of economic necessity. No farmer can afford to pay taxes on idle land.

If the woods bank is drawn on only to the extent of cutting the growth, or interest, the capital remains untouched, and the investment continues undiminished. Some useful hints in using farm timber rightly, in cutting for continuous growth, and in mar-

Don't Help Soil

Judging from experiments at Ames, soy beans don't amount to much as a soil builder, unless the whole crop is plowed under. The trouble with all of the annual legumes is that they do not have a sufficient root system to add much fertility to the soil. What we need for soil building is the deeper-rooted legumes. Alfalfa, red clover and sweet clover are all far superior to soy beans for soil building purposes. The result of further experiments will be given out in a short time.

Thrush in Horses

For thrush in horses, nothing is better than the following: Corn meal, two ounces; lard, two ounces, and boracic acid, four ounces. Remove all the secretion from the cleft of the frog and the feather edges; then work small quantities of this powder into the bottom of the cleft with something blunt, and then pack with cotton or oakum to keep the powder in and the moisture out. Keep the feet as dry as possible.

much damage. Trapping seems to be the most effective way of disposing of moles, although it is slow and requires patience. Three types of traps are in common use—the choker or loop, the scissor jaw, and the spike or prong trap. The last is used most commonly, but the loop trap has proved far more effective if carefully set, and does not injure the pelt.

Artificial Manure Made From Farm-Grown Crops

Manure equal in quality to the best barnyard fertilizer can be made from farm-grown materials and without the aid of horses or other farm animals, according to a series of experiments that have been carried on by the soils department of the University of Missouri for the past two years. Ordinary wheat or oats straw is the material and a simple, inexpensive chemical mixture, combined with rain, is the chief manufacturing agent which changes the straw to manure within two or three months after it is threshed.

The cost of the artificial manure varies between 65 and 85 cents per ton, according to the experiments carried out to date.

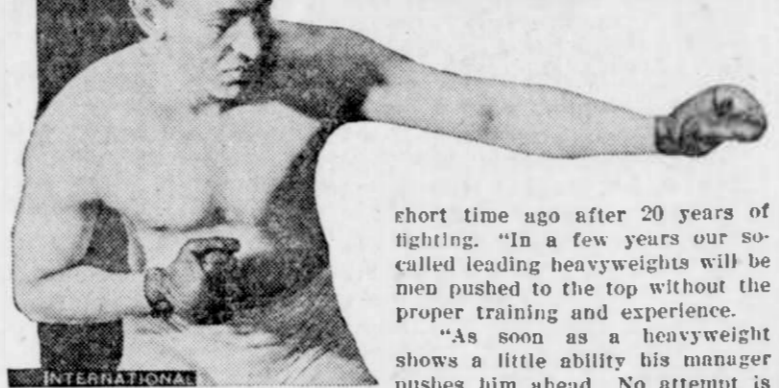

The process is briefly this: A simple chemical mixture of 45 per cent ammonium sulphate, 40 per cent agricultural limestone and 15 per cent superphosphate is mixed with the straw at threshing time at the rate of 150 pounds to a ton of straw. The straw is blown into flat piles not over five or six feet deep in order that it may take up water readily from rains and start the rotting brought about by the bacteria through their effect on the straw and molds in the straw. The length of time necessary to change the straw into manure depends on the depth of the piles of straw and the amount of rainfall, as water is one of the very necessary chemical agents in the process of rotting.

Eradication of Rodents on Western Range Land

During a recent conference of Western live stock specialists at the United States Range Live Stock experiment station, Miles City, Mont., opportunity was afforded to measure the results of modern methods of freeing range lands of rodent destruction, recommended by the bureau of biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Three years ago some 4,500 acres of the range was badly infested with prairie dogs and pocket gophers. It was estimated at that time that more than 2,000 acres of it was totally ruined for grazing by either cattle or sheep. Those in charge shipped in some oats, poisoned it, and distributed it over this section of the range. Today there is an abundance of range grasses, with scarcely any evidence of the former presence of the rodents. The forester for that district estimated that the vegetation is today nine or ten times more valuable over the entire region than before the eradication campaign began.

Big Purses Hurt Boxing Game

BATTLING LEVINSKY thinks big purses "are ruining American heavyweight fighters and in a few years this country will find itself in the same unfortunate condition that England did ten or fifteen years ago." The former light heavyweight champion of the world gave his views in a radio talk recently.

Battling Levinsky.

The public interest in heavyweight matches and the resultant big purses offered by promoters, are causing the class of American heavyweights to deteriorate," said the battler, who retired a short time ago after 20 years of fighting. "In a few years our so-called leading heavyweights will be men pushed to the top without the proper training and experience. "As soon as a heavyweight shows a little ability his manager pushes him ahead. No attempt is made to teach him the science of the game. Why, in a few years we'll have a corps of heavyweights such as England had in Bombardier Wells and Gunner Moir. As soon as they meet a good man they take the count in one or two rounds.

"Only one heavyweight in this country today knows the real art of boxing. That's Tommy Loughran. He'll last longer than the rest, too, for he knows how to take care of himself. The others don't. It will be impossible to keep Tommy from the title, for when you can't hit a man you can't beat him. No heavyweight can hit Loughran today."

Sporting Soubs

Yale nine will play 30 games in 1929.

Rockford is back in baseball again, getting a franchise in the Mississippi Valley league.

Buffalo is spending $7,500 for several outdoor hockey rinks to take care of the growing interest in the sport.

John Meyers, New York amateur ice skating star, has but one arm, the right, which is needed to make the turns.

Joe Boley of the Athletics runs close to Joe Sewell of Cleveland in being hard to fan. Joe struck out but 11 times in 1928.

The Yankees haven't had a field captain in the last seven years, or since Babe Ruth drew a lengthy suspension and was demoted.

Fred Morris Fussell, Pittsburgh southpaw, was gassed at Argonne and a machine gun bullet pierced his ankle just before the Armistice.

Leo Diegel is the new professor of golf at Agua Caliente, which means "hot water." If you can think of a better name for a golf course, send it in.

If Pat Malone could wipe out his 1928 start he would have a great pitching record. After losing his first six he won 13 games and lost but seven.

Swimming at Manly, New South Wales, Arno Horz of Sweden covered a mile in 21 minutes 6 4-5 seconds, beating his own world record of 21 minutes 40 3-10 seconds.

New York swimming fans see in Johnny Weismuller's turning pro a chance to gain some of the honor that has been Chicago's in the aquatic world for the last 20 years.

Russ Crane, the new Illinois football captain, is a heavyweight boxer of great promise. Illinois turned out Les Mariner, who is now one of the big fellows in the race for the title.

Al Ulbrickson, rowing coach at the University of Washington, plans to discard the "spoon blade" in favor of the rigid type of oars used when the Huskies were supreme on the water.

Dr. A. Mackenzie, British golf architect, is planning the formation of an international association of golf architects, of which there are now 20 of recognized standing throughout the world.

Poulton Travers, recently dismissed as basketball coach of City college, Baltimore, was on the job 15 years straight. Probably he was in one basket ball job longer than any other coach.

The management of the Birmingham Barons, Southern association champions, announced the purchase of Ray Partridge, infielder, from the Washington club of the American league.

The Philadelphia Nationals announce the outright release of Jimmy Ring, veteran pitcher, and the sale to Columbus (American association) of Johnny Schulte, third string catcher.

"A canvass shows that college athletes in the main are good students." Er— does this include the Southwestern football squad whose coach complained that he occasionally had to use students?

Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen, as well as several other star golfers, are right-handed but left-eyed and experts attribute much of their success to this combination, which permits unusual co-ordination.

Daniel J. Ferris, Amateur Athletic union official, won more than 200 track trophies and prizes before he hung up his spiked shoes.

The northwest corner of the ring in Toronto's Coliseum is considered a jinx by fighters. Recently all five winners came from the other side.

James Matthews, former stroke oar of the University of Washington crew, has been named assistant rowing coach of the University of Pennsylvania under Coach "Rusty" Callow.

Millionaire Rider of Australia Still a Winner.

England has her Steve Donoghue and the United States has her Fator, but Australia believes she has in old Bobby Lewis one of the world's greatest jockeys.

Certainly his record is (1) most singular of any jockey riding on any international track. Lewis is forty-nine years old. He is reputed to be worth over a $1,000,000. He has ridden the winner of the Melbourne cup four times and to Australians the Melbourne cup stands on the same shelf with the wreaths of the English and Kentucky derbies.

Old Bobby made of himself a national hero when he won the big race on Trivalve, a 6-to-1 shot, and in giving him an ovation the 100,000 spectators paid tribute to a pair that won more than $100,000 in purses during the season.

In addition to winning the Melbourne cup, Lewis and Trivalve won the $35,000 Sydney derby, the $25,000 Sydney derby and several other less important races and purses.

There was a long stretch of 23 years between Lewis' third and fourth cup victories. He won his third victory on Sylvanite in 1904, and in the meantime almost a generation of young jockeys came and passed while the old veteran continued to keep his place at the top of the winning lists.

Being the possessor of a fortune that assures him a life of ease when he hangs up his boots, Lewis' friends frequently have urged him to retire and avoid the chance of being injured.

"I am still young, why should I retire?" he asks.

"Race riding is not a business or a profession with me. It is recreation, and away from the track I would not be happy.

"Happiness means more to me than money. And also I want to be on a few more cup winners before I quit."

Swallows Whistle

A basket ball game at Albion, Mich., between Hillsdale and Albion high schools had to be stopped because one of the timekeepers, George Mather, Albion college freshman, swallowed his whistle. It was an intensely exciting game, the score being tied 22 all at the close of the regular playing time. Mather drew in his breath to make the whistle sound above the crowd's yelling. Suddenly the hard rubber mouth-piece came off and slipped down his throat. The game was stopped while a physician removed the piece of rubber, after which the game was resumed. Hillsdale scoring two baskets in the overtime period to win 26-22.

Will Change Fielding and Batting of Cissell

Manager "Lena" Blackburne plans to get a bumper crop of base hits and sparkling field plays from the "$123,000 White Sox Peach," Bill Cissell. Cissell, obtained from Portland for $123,000, failed to hit and field for that amount of money during the 1928 campaign, but "Lena" still insists he is a "find," and intends to prove it.

Blackburne intends to revolutionize Cissell's hitting and fielding. He plans to make a "punch hitter" out of him instead of letting him take a full swing, and to teach him to wait for the bounce instead of "stiff-arming" the ball.

"Just watch and see the difference," "Lena" said. "Cissell is going to be one of the greatest baseball players yet. He is a natural."

Caldwell to Help

Charley Caldwell, former Princeton athlete who turned out a champion football eleven as head coach at Williams last fall, will assist Art Fox with the Purple baseball line this spring. Fox was one of Caldwell's assistants with the Williams eleven and helped materially in making the gridiron season a success. A better chance will be offered to get a line on the material when the candidates report for practice sometime this spring.

Elaboration Cut Out of Chinese Weddings

The wedding of the Chinese couple was formerly a very elaborate affair, consisting of six rites which covered almost as many days, and part of the ceremony was the transportation of the bride to her future home in a flower-decked sedan. This vehicle has been displaced by a compromise in the shape of a glorified automobile. This is not quite so resplendent as the old-time sedan, but it answers all purposes. Many of the features of the six-day wedding retained by the ceremony have recently been abbreviated. It is quite common for the wedding party to stop in at a movie show on their way to the bride's future home. It is also not unusual for the couple to adopt the western idea of the honeymoon trip. A few years ago such a thing was unheard of.

Ancient Waffle Iron

Mrs. Teresa Koester of Pomeroy, Ohio, has a waffle iron which is 125 years old, and which belonged to her great-grandmother, "Aunt Annie" Roush. The "baker" is composed of two pieces of wrought iron, with the handles riveted to them and so hollowed out that they hold a cake about the size of a man's hand. The back of each side of the mold carries ornamental figures that were intended to give the cake a fanciful appearance. The iron is opened and closed by means of a hinge, much like the operation of tongs. It weighs 20 pounds.

More Speed Foreseen

Scientists meeting in Paris recently predicted that within a short time man will be traveling 750 miles an hour. They point to the marked increase in auto speed records between 1921, when it was 107 miles an hour, to 1928, when a new record of nearly 215 miles an hour was set.

VARIOUS GOOD THINGS

Those who enjoy the old-fashioned, water-ground corn meal, where it can be obtained, will always have a breakfast cereal or a supper dish of mush and milk which it is hard to equal.

The meal is coarser and has all the flavor which the modern milling process destroys somewhat.

Then scrapple may be made by adding chopped cooked meat or the crisp brown scraps left from trying out lard in the home. Mould and cut into slices and fry for breakfast.

This is the season of the year when we like to take a nice fat salt mackerel from the kit, soak overnight or longer to freshen, letting the fish lie in the water skin side up so that the salt will settle to the bottom of the pan. When well freshened, place in a pan with a tablespoonful or two of water, parboil, cover with cream and put into a hot oven for fifteen to twenty minutes. Serve piping hot with baked potatoes for breakfast on a cold winter morning.

Baked potatoes are so easily prepared and so well liked during the cold weather; when the dinner is served at noon serve a baked potato for each person. With butter and finely shredded onion it makes a most appetizing meal. Hot soups of various kinds are relished at night. Now one may find such variety in cans that there will always be a different one.

When there is need of a hearty dish for supper or one for the luncheon try:
Cheese Custard.—Spread as many slices of bread with butter as there are persons to serve. Lay in a shallow baking pan and cover each slice with a snappy rich cheese. Cover with a pint of milk and two tightly beaten eggs, a bit of salt and a dash of red pepper. Bake until the custard is set, in a moderate oven. Serve hot as soon as it is done. This dish is so much like an omelet that it should be eaten at once.

Pineapple Mayonnaise.—Beat one-third of a cupful of cream until thick, add one-third of a cupful of mayonnaise dressing and fold in one-third of a cupful of crushed pineapple drained from its juices.

For an afternoon tea or to serve with a cup of coffee, the following will be a great favorite:
Dutch Apple Cake.—Sift together two cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three tablespoonfuls of sugar; beat the yolks of two eggs until thick, add to the first mixture. Now add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one cupful of milk and beat the mixture until smooth; cut and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and spread in a well-buttered pan. Cover the top with apples peeled and cut into eighths. Press the sharp edges into the batter in parallel rows. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Bake in a hot oven.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.—Mix two tablespoonfuls of sugar with two-thirds of a cupful of flour, one-fourth cupful of grated chocolate and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Add gradually one-half cupful of milk and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly. Cook five minutes. Beat four egg yolks until thick, add one-half cupful of sugar and beat well, add one cupful of chopped pecans, the chocolate mixture, one tablespoonful of butter and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Steam in a mold one and one-half hours. Serve with a hard sauce or an egg sauce.

Orange Pie.—Mix three tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, one-eighth teaspoonful of salt and one-half cupful of cold water. Pour over one cupful of boiling water slowly, continue stirring and cook two minutes. Place over hot water and cook ten minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from the heat, add one tablespoonful of butter, three-fourths cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs well beaten, the juice of one lemon and one large orange, with one-half teaspoonful of the grated orange rind. Return to the fire and cook until the mixture coats the spoon. Turn into a baked pastry shell, spread with meringue and brown lightly in the oven.

Cottage Pudding With Fruit.—Cream one-third of a cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar, and when well mixed add one egg beaten very light. Sift one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt, add alternately with one-half cupful of milk to the first mixture. Add one-half teaspoonful each of lemon and vanilla extract. Bake in buttered gem pans or in a shallow pan. Serve covered with sliced bananas, strawberries or peaches. Sprinkle with sugar and mask with whipped cream.

MIDSEASON FANCY IN HATS; "DINNER JACKET" IS LATEST

LOOKING for "just a simple little hat" for midseason wear? Tired of felt and want something different? Here it is in this picture—satin! To be sure, felts are smart as ever, especially when worked with straw or the new plaid or striped fabrics, but so are satins, either all satin or combined with something else. Anyway, to keep up with the demands of the mode one must maintain a well equipped wardrobe of hats. So why not include a satin chapeau? It should prove an admirable choice for a first hat to carry a message of spring.

After satin or felt next on the program? Exotic straws. It is going to be a wonderful straw season, according to fashion's prophecy. The sleeveless lace gown sans jacket is she so chooses.

Fashionists have gone quite mad on the subject of short jackets for day as well as evening wear. Considered in the light of the daytime mode the vogue for the short jacket brings no thrill of the unusual but for evening wear, that's another story and a most fascinating one, too, which has to do with gorgeous, glittering sheer cocktail jackets, some of them of embroidered net, others of tulle extravagantly worked with sequins and spangles. Chemise-dotted chiffons, and lace jackets, too, enter the picture in dazzling array.

These gorgeous jackets such as fashion prescribes are really a matter of Some Midseason Hats.

Interesting part about these lovely supple satins is that milliners are handling them in the same intricate way they manipulated felts. They are folded and tucked, seamed, draped and slashed into becomingly irregular silhouettes with the facile of the supple felts.

However, we are getting away from the original theme. We started to tell about the nobby satin hats which are in such good style for the immediate moment. The group pictured covers a range from all-satin to satin combined with felt, also satin with straw.

Commencing with hat number one to describe them, this model of black satin takes unto itself a coronet cut of black felt cut into an attractive openwork patterning. It also stresses the much exploited snug-fitting-across-the-back effect.

At the very top to the right is a comely cloche, the crown being of beige faulle silk, the brim of black satin, the trimmings consisting of quills which are also made of the satin.

The center hat has an interesting crown formed of bias folds of the satin interwoven with soft hand-sewed straw so as to achieve a plaid effect. The tiny shapely brim of satin features the popular long side dip.

Natural colored crocheted visca combines with satin for the smart off-the-face shape to the right.

The last hat is all of satin, even to economy. That is, if one goes into society to any great extent, for with one handsome lace or billowy chiffon or georgette frock and several beguiling jackets one can appear in a different costume at every function.

A master stroke of economy is to make an initial buy of a chiffon ensemble, which consists of a frock whose skirt flatters an intriguing hemline with fluttering flounces tiering one above another. The accompanying jacket may be short or three-quarters length, but it must be sleeved and of the identical chiffon of the frock. Such an ensemble answers the call for a dressy afternoon gown—lovely for bridge parties, tea dances and such.

When comes the evening hour, this afternoon gown may be tuned to opera the plaited rosettes which are caught at the side with a rhinestone pin.

As an innovation for formal wear the "dinner jacket" registers as one of the latest. To become eligible for membership in the fashion-wise society one really must acquire a "scrumptious" dinner jacket. It may be of handsome brocade like the one in the picture or it may be of sumptuous metal cloth. In either event it must be elegant to the nth degree. For it must measure up to the high standard of exquisiteness set forth in the lace evening frock with which it is so frequently worn. Later to sit in box at the opera night can wear her or dine or dance costume by the simple changing of the sleeved chiffon jacket for any one of the gorgeous fantasies exploited for very formal and festive occasions.

It matters not for what hour of the day, jackets are a vital theme among stylists planning for the new future. The central thought for both sports and afternoon modes is the sleeveless frock with a jacket. The range covered by this new vogue is limitless. An outstanding idea is for the frock to be white, with the jacket highly colorful and of a contrasting material.

Don't Pet Bees in Early Spring

Disturbing Hive on Warm Day May Expose Them to Danger Later.

Spring exuberance should not lead the beekeeper to disturb his hives too early in the season, with the mistaken idea that he is doing them a kindness. Any such disturbance may cause the insects to start their work too early, and expose them to danger when cold spells come later. It is pointed out by Virgil N. Argo, extension specialist in beekeeping at the Ohio State university.

Start Brood Rearing.
"Manipulations in the early spring are emergency measures only," says Argo. "If the bees have been properly prepared for winter, there should not be many things to do when brood rearing starts in the spring."

"But the beekeeper will do well to visit all hives that are not well packed and lift them a little from the bottom board to determine whether they are too light in stores. Should they weigh little he should feed the bees some thick sugar syrup at once—granulated sugar, two parts, and one part of water. The water should be hot when the sugar is stirred into it, and the syrup fed to the bees at night from a friction top pall which has had the lid punctured full of very fine holes. The lid is squeezed into place and the pall inverted over the hole in the honey-board or inner cover of the hive.

Place on Sticks.
"It may be placed on two sticks, holding it an eighth of an inch above the honey-board, enabling the bees to cluster freely over the whole surface of the lid. An empty super is now placed on top of the honey-board and the space inside that is not occupied by the pall is filled with some material so that the heat of the bees below the honey-board is not allowed to escape."

Fertility Depends Much on Management of Soil
Although virgin soil is supposed to be fertile, there are new areas that fail to yield good crops. The reasons are as various as the types of soil. Sometimes it is a sandy soil that fails to support the plants, and other times a deep black soil is a failure. Generally the loams that have been recently cleared average up the best of all the new clearings.

It is always safe to treat new breaking to a good dressing of stable manure. The one difficulty seems to be that new farms are short of manure. In fact that also applies to old-fashioned farms these days. There is a general shortage of stable manure in many districts, and there is great waste of the elements of fertility in places where manure is procurable.

Manure is valuable on account of the beneficial bacteria it contains, and the life it imparts to the soil. As far as the elements that go to make up plant food are concerned, they can be got perhaps more cheaply from chemical fertilizers.

Poultry Water Heater Useful During Winter
When poultry water fountains cannot be given frequent attention on near-zero days, the commercial fountains heated by a small lamp often prove a good investment. Hens will not eat much dry mash if they cannot wash it down with water and the mash needs to absorb quite a lot of moisture while in the crop. Only a small lamp is used in a safety compartment under the fountain and some need filling but once a week.

It is not necessary to give the hens hot water in winter or even warm water. The water that they seem to relish the best is just pleasantly cool. These lamp-heated fountains do not make the water very warm, but just keep it from freezing. When poultry houses are insulated and ventilated, it is often possible to give the hens water just as it comes from the well without danger of having pails full of ice before the water is used.

Farm Notes
Without care there can be no profit from any orchard.
Don't use cold storage as a resting place for inferior fruit.
Milk your cows immediately before instead of after feeding them and you will avoid off-flavors.
If manure is handled out and spread daily during the winter months it saves double work in the spring.
The current floods of seed catalogues are proof enough that hope springs eternal in the human breast.
A load of manure on the fields where it can do good is worth two on the manure pile where it only wastes away.
Manure applied to alfalfa during the winter will protect the plants and increase the yields of hay the following season. The ground should be firm when the manure is applied.

Do not air out the sweet potato house on warm, balmy days. The warm, moisture laden air rushing in to the sweet potato bins will leave the bins damp due to the moisture in the air condensing as soon as it comes in contact with the cold sweet potatoes.

Irish potato growers are buying more certified seed each year. Certified seed is safe for it has been found to be fairly free from disease, does not contain varietal mixtures, and has shown high yielding ability. In some cases, uncertified seed is just as good as certified but more often it is not.

Fuel system of the new Ford has been designed for reliability and long service

THE practical value of Ford simplicity of design is especially apparent in the fuel system.

The gasoline tank is built integral with the cowl and is unusually sturdy because it is made of heavy sheet steel, tinned plated to prevent rust or corrosion. An additional factor of strength is the fact that it is composed of only two pieces, instead of three or four, and is electrically welded—not soldered.

Because of the location of the tank, the entire flow of gasoline is an even, natural flow—following the natural law of gravity. This is the simplest and most direct way of supplying gasoline to the carburetor without variations in pressure. The gasoline feed pipe of the new Ford is only 18 inches long and is easily accessible all the way.

The gasoline passes from the tank to the carburetor through a filter or sediment bulb mounted on the steel dash which separates the gasoline tank from the engine.

The carburetor is specially designed and has been built to deliver many thousands of miles of good service.

BELGIUM HAS $500 BLAZE

Approximately $500 in damage, covered by insurance, was caused by fire at the Allen and Edwards shoe factory at Belgium early Saturday. The fire, which is of unknown origin, started in the engine room in the neighborhood of 3 a. m., it is believed. It was discovered by Matthew Reis, engineer, who had come to work early but who had been in another part of the building and did not discover the blaze until 4:45 a. m. CLEAN MILK

Clean milk is the foundation upon which all successful dairying is built. All milk contains bacteria. But the number and kind are quite easily controlled by clean methods of production and quick cooling. Scarcely any one thing will contribute so much to the cause of better and cleaner milk than the small top milk pail. The critical period in the life of milk is during the time of milking. There should be greater interest in covered pails and dairy operators should use them for the good it will do their product. Anything in the line of producing better quality will help create a better market and more profitable returns.
