

KEWASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

The school will close on Wednesday March 27, for a three day Easter recess. It will convene on Tuesday, March 28.

The dramatic club presented a St. Patrick's program before the school assembly recently. It consisted of several selections by the school orchestra, a vocal duet by Wm. Hopkins and Jacob Schiesser, a talk on the life of St. Patrick, and a playlet, "The Irish Limer Peder" in which the following took part: Andrew O'Connell, Mary O'Connell, Agnes Meilahn, Ernst Weitzer, Edith Clark and Jacob Schiesser.

Troop No. 14, Kewaskum Boy Scouts, are planning on a trip to Fond du Lac to participate in a basketball tournament for the Fond du Lac boy scout area. The boys also expect to pass their first class scout swimming test.

Nearly every member of the local scout troop has agreed to build a bird house during the month of April as a part of their scout work. These bird houses will be put on exhibition and a suitable prize is to be awarded to those whose work is deserving of merit.

The Kewaskum High School basketball team added two more victories to their credit by defeating Random Lake and Sheboygan Falls the past week. Both games were played on the opponents' floors.

The Random Lake game appeared at the end of the half as if the opponents would be victorious. They were leading by a score of 13 to 10. It seemed as if Ferk, their right guard, could not be stopped as he made 11 of the 13 points. A little definite instruction to the players during the intermission between halves enabled our boys to come back strong during the second half. Ferk made no more points during the entire game while seven field baskets were made by our players. The final score was 29 to 16.

On Saturday evening the same players journeyed to Sheboygan Falls. Although tired and exhausted from the Friday night game, the boys won by a 28 to 24 score. It seemed that all we could do was just to keep ahead. Wherever the Falls would score, one of our boys would drop in another. It was a close game throughout and very interesting.

Warrants charging Henry Wittenberg, James Cahill and Otto Schmidt of Dundee with assault and battery were sworn out last Friday in municipal court at Fond du Lac by Mrs. Anna Waranius of Dundee, who reported to authorities last Thursday that she, her husband and Edward Krause had been severely beaten by three men who started a free-for-all in her husband's soft drink parlor at Dundee on Thursday night of last week. According to reports given out the men who entered the Waranius place Thursday night came in shortly after the close of the town of Osceola caucus, went behind the bar and began helping themselves to cigarettes and other merchandise. When Waranius objected, it was alleged, the men tipped over the pool table and stove and began throwing furniture and empty beer bottles about the place. Waranius was said to have been hit on the head with a cuspidor and to have knocked out one of his assailants with a stick of stove wood.

DISMANTLE PARTS OF IRON SMELTER

Work will be started in about two weeks by the Briggs and Turvas company, an Illinois firm, at several units of the Mayville Iron Co. plant, which will be torn down and sent out of the city. According to W. F. Costello, superintendent at the Iron company plant, the units affected in the order are the coke works, the briquetting plant, the dry blast, and the sintering plant. Following the closing of the plant more than a year ago, the accumulated pig iron was gradually cleared away, and about August first, the last carload was sent out of Mayville. The coke plant has not been used for six years, having been shut down some time after the conclusion of the World War, when it was an exceedingly busy place. Attempts were made by several syndicates to purchase the Mayville Iron company, which is a branch of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, but the various attempts to buy failed to culminate successfully.—Mayville News.

ROAD SCHOOL HELD LAST THURSDAY

Due, no doubt to the poor condition of the roads, the annual road school held at the court house at West Bend last Thursday was not as largely attended as in former years. The speakers present at the meeting were, Al. Bleck, who gave an interesting talk on road hazards and road marking. Mr. Bleck is assistant division engineer. The other speaker was W. D. Tomlinson, assistant maintenance engineer in the Milwaukee office of the state highway department. He spoke on the duties of patrolmen, whom he said should at all times do their best in the maintenance of the highways. The following patrolmen were appointed:

OVERLOADS TRUCK, DRIVER PAYS FINE

F. C. Amend of Pewaukee came into Washington county on Monday with an overloaded truck and went on to one of the highways that is posted with a sign, "Gross Load Limit 6000 Pounds." George Brugger, traffic officer, caught him and brought him to West Bend where he was fined $15.00 and costs for doing his "road damaging act." Truck drivers always kick about poor roads and they are really responsible for the poor roads because of the abuse given roads at this time of the year. All county trunk lines in this county are marked so as to keep heavy loads off the roads, and the town of Jackson has followed suit and posted all the roads in their township. "A stitch in time saves nine" is the motto of the highway department this year, they figuring that roads that are not damaged will not need near the repair that a road does that is given heavy trucking early in spring.—West Bend News.

DELINQUENT LIST LARGER

The delinquent tax list for Hartford this year, apparently will be larger than ever, according to City Treas. N. G. Gergen, who has just completed the 1929 tax collection. The shortage in 1928 was the largest in the city of Hartford. That last year's record was broken is not a pleasant record in reflection. Mr. Gergen is unable to say just what the amount will be or the number of delinquents.—Hartford Times.

T. B. CAMPAIGN TO BE HELD IN APRIL

Tuberculosis is Wisconsin's leading cause of death among people between the ages of 20 and 40.

Tuberculosis attacks children as well as adults. However, children with childhood tuberculosis if properly supervised during the body-building period, generally gain strength and overcome the threat of tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis kills twice as many high school girls as boys. One out of every three high school girls dying in Wisconsin, dies of tuberculosis.

Approximately 85% of the patients entering Wisconsin sanatoria are in the moderately or far advanced stages of tuberculosis.

These four facts are the outstanding reasons for Wisconsin's participation in the second annual nation-wide early diagnosis of tuberculosis campaign to be held during April, according to an announcement made by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, which is sponsoring the campaign in this state. Funds raised in the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals will finance this campaign with its slogan of "early discovery—prompt treatment—early recovery." E. E. Skalsky will be in charge of local campaign activities.

Particular emphasis is to be placed in this educational campaign on childhood tuberculosis. The W. A. T. A. points out that children with a tuberculosis infection may not develop a positive case of the disease until some time between the ages of 15 and 45. Therefore, a further decline in Wisconsin's tuberculosis death rate will be greatly aided by having the health of all children checked up on periodically by the family physician.

Periodically physical examinations for adults are also urged in this campaign as a measure for the prevention of or the early cure of tuberculosis. Educational material shows the four earliest symptoms of tuberculosis to be: Too easily tired, indigestion, loss of weight, and a cough that hangs on. The advice that "You may have tuberculosis, let your doctor decide" is the slogan being used by the W. A. T. A. in urging persons to have periodical physical examinations.

With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison—The Wisconsin assembly moved to put the same maximum mileage rate upon motor buses as is now upon railroads, three and six-tenths cents per mile.

By a vote of 54 to 15 the lower house engrossed Charles A. Budlong's bill fixing the maximum bus rate throughout Wisconsin, but refused to rush it through to final passage.

Need for such a maximum fare is disclosed in the fact that certain companies now in operation charge higher rates per mile over routes where they have no competition than they do over competitive routes.

A proposed two cent increase in the gasoline tax to be devoted to a state indemnity fund for property damaged or persons injured in automobile accidents was turned down by the assembly.

Backtracking on the Stephens' bill for regulation of tourist rooming houses, the assembly reconsidered its action in engrossing the bill and killed it by a 60 to 16 vote.

This action was prompted by the argument that farmers would be subjected to licensing and inspection of their farmhouses by the state board of health if they accepted tourist roomers or boarders.

Sen. John C. Schuman's proposal to label mixed dairy food containers to show the amounts of various ingredients was killed by the senate, 19 to 8. Previously it had once been practically killed, reconsidered, engrossed and reconsidered.

Sen. Oscar Morris' bill to hold the annual road school outside of Madison also was killed. A bill by Sen. Walter J. Bush, making the minimum punishment for the first offense of drunken driving $50 or 30 days in jail was advanced.

THIRTEEN KILLED AS BIG PLANE CRASHES

Only Two Escape When Motors Fail to Work.

New York—Thirteen aerial sight-seers, including a woman, were dashed to death and two others were seriously injured when a giant Ford passenger plane, fighting a gale with disabled engines, crashed into an iron freight car and was cut in half.

The accident, the worst in heavier-than-air aviation in this country, occurred a mile east of the Newark, N. J. municipal airport.

The two who escaped instant death were the pilot and a friend who sat beside him in the outside cockpit. Those inside the all-steel cabin were crushed.

The plane, a heavy transport, equipped with three Wright Whirlwind motors and owned by a subsidiary of Colonial Airways, Inc., was making the last trip of a series of sightseeing flights over the Jersey meadows and lower New York.

A large crowd of spectators at Newark airport had seen it struggling to rise from the concrete runway and had heard its motors missing. A stiff wind was blowing across the field. Higher up, pilots said, the air was very bumpy and the wind was blowing a gale.

The plane, heavily loaded with passengers who had waited all afternoon for their turn in the big rubber bus, rose sluggishly as the pilot, Lou Foote, fought to get aloft. At 300 feet those on the ground saw the wide wings of the gray plane tilt dangerously as the ship ran into a gusty, frolicsome wind.

For a couple of minutes the pilot held his machine in the teeth of the wind and it climbed a bit. Then the left motor sputtered and the other two motors appeared to die down.

The pilot swung in a circle as his plane rapidly lost height. He appeared to be scanning the track lined, telephone-dotted roadways below and, further out, the treacherous marsh of the salt meadows.

Suddenly the embankment of the Central Railroad of New Jersey across the swamp loomed ahead. To watchers it appeared as if the plane would clear a string of freight cars parked along the tracks. Beyond were the salt marshes and comparative safety.

But the big steel bus swung on one side and, traveling at more than seventy miles an hour, crashed squarely into an iron car at the end of the string. The car was of the open gondola type and piled high with sand. The knife-like iron rim of the car cut through the lighter steel plane like a sledge dividing it in halves.

The cabin caught the full force of the crash and the metal sides closed in like two compresses, mashing the occupants into a lifeless heap. Those first to arrive at the scene said the passengers had been crushed to death so suddenly they could not have been aware of what had happened.

Delmont Parson of Brooklyn was seated in the cockpit with his friend, Pilot Foote. The cockpit of the Ford airplane is forward and above the three Wright motors. When the crash came the two men were tossed 50 feet away on either side of the freight car.

Foote was in a critical condition in St. James hospital, and Parson was suffering from bruises and severe shock.

Those killed include the following: Bauer, Joseph, fifty-five years old, Stamford, Conn.; Boele, Anton, thirty-seven years old, West New York; Hagmosel, Stephen, Stamford, Conn.; Hagmosel, Frank, brother of Stephen; Heimstetter, Raymond, Irvington, N. J.; Henderson, Thomas, thirty-seven, Weehawken Heights, N. J.; Hentchell, Walter, Jr., twenty-one, Jersey City; Jannuzzi, Patrick A., twenty-two, Jersey City; Margaretter, William, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Steever, Miss Gertrude, Bloomfield, N. J.; Woodward, Reginald D., twenty-one, Brooklyn; Zizer, William, Irvington, N. J.

150 Seats to Be Filled on House Committees. Washington—More than 150 vacancies on house committees are to be filled when the committee-makers of that body get down to the job of assigning the membership. With shifts of members to be made in filling these vacancies, the total number of committee assignments to be made probably will exceed 200.

Bucharest—King Mihail (Michael), the world's youngest sovereign, on May 10 will reply to addresses of loyalty on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the foundation of greater Rumania.

Atlanta, Ga.—At Geneva, Ala., flooded by the pea and Choctawhatchee rivers, water twelve feet deep flowed through the streets, but was gradually falling. The situation at Brewton, Flomaton, Castleberry and Garland continued serious, but was improving gradually. Medical supplies had been sent to each, but Brewton reported food supplies running low.

Marionna, Fla., safe on hills between the Chatahoocnee and Choctawhatchee rivers, faced a food shortage.

Newton, Ga., on the Flint river, was deserted. A photographer reaching the town reported that not a sign of life was seen, and water flowed across even the highest point in the town. The residents, returning after having fled one flood, evacuated before what they believed to be a record rise of the river.

Memphis, Tenn.—The Mississippi river was above flood stage, and F. W. Brist, meteorologist, predicted it would touch 40 feet by the end of the week.

At Cairo, Ill., a crest of 51 to 52 feet was forecast. Barring heavy rains—and generally fair weather has been predicted for the week—the Mississippi river should crest here within a few days.

May Rally Cook County Judges in Crime Battle. Chicago.—Suspension of the hearings of civil cases in Cook county for an indefinite period to order that all forty-four judges in the county might hear nothing but criminal cases was viewed favorably at a joint meeting of the executive committees of the Circuit and Superior courts. Under the suggested plan, the entire judicial system would be transformed into one great criminal court division until the 1,800 criminal cases now pending are disposed of.

The proposal started Chicago's legal world. It was regarded as by far the most drastic move thus far suggested in the war against crime, overshadowing even the recent conference of United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Police Commissioner William Russell and Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley. This conference initiated a drive against gangsters and will include an effort to drive them out of the city through the use of the drastic Jones law.

LOOTERS ARE BUSY IN FLOODED TOWNS

Martial Law Declared; List of Dead Is Increasing.

Enterprise, Ala.—Martial law was declared at Elba and Geneva in south Alabama's flood zone under order of Col. W. E. Persons, Alabama National Guard.

Colonel Persons issued the order in an attempt to cope with looting. He also sought orders from Gov. Bibb Graves to force refugees to move from those towns. He had been unable to persuade many to leave.

It is reported that a number of bodies have been recovered and as the water recedes it is feared the number will be greatly increased.

Montgomery, Ala.—Gov. Bibb Graves issued a statement appealing for a minimum flood relief fund of $250,000.

Col. Milton Stone of Governor Graves' personal staff reported on his return from Elba that there were too few guardsmen to cope with the situation presented by the receding waters of southern Alabama. The task of rescue forces has become one of emergency relief for some 15,000 homeless in seven counties.

Colonel Stone said there were many cases of pneumonia in Elba refugee camps and that measles "was all over the town."

Colonel Stone said sanitary conditions are frightful in the Elba sector and that removal of most of the refugees there probably had averted a widespread epidemic. Inoculation is proceeding, he said.

Brewton, between Murder and Burnt Corn creeks, Escambia river tributaries, was under water. The National Guard dispatched planes with medical supplies and bread.

Delightful Home of Frame and Brick Unusually Good Design

This brick and frame home will just suit those who want to build a type of house and want to do it economically. It has straight walls, mean low construction cost. At the same time the entrance door, windows, together with the roof, make it very attractive. As will be seen from the floor plan, the home contains six rooms, there being three bedrooms and a bath on the second floor.

By W. A. RAOFORD. Mr. William A. Raoford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Raoford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Harmonious combinations of color and materials are the aim of many home builders. Brick in itself is excellent building material as also is wood. Combinations of these two, however, provide a contrast that is pleasant.

Shown in the illustration is a design of a home which utilizes a combination of brick and wood to an unusual good advantage. The lower half of the house is of brick while the upper half is of frame. The brick gives a substantial appearance to the lower part while the frame above the brick per-room while at the back the dining room is also connected with the main opening which makes for spaciousness. The dining room is 13 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 6 inches and at one side is a breakfast room 7 feet wide by 8 feet. The kitchen is reached through the breakfast room.

The stairs running out of the entrance hall end in a square center hall on the second floor. Opposite the stairs is the bathroom while on the other three corners are bedrooms of good size. It will be noted by an examiner of the floor plan that each bedroom has a large closet of its also has the bathroom.

The house is set on a compact foundation and has a basement of same dimensions as the house. The addition of plantings around the base of the outside walls and the window sills give this home a very attractive appearance and one of which any owner may be proud.

Stucco Needs Clean Surface for Adhesion. Monolithic concrete walls should preferably be rough and of coarse texture, rather than smooth and dense, for the application of stucco. Walls of this type should be cleaned and roughened, if necessary, by hacking, wire brushing or other means.

The surface of the concrete should be brushed free from all dust, dirt and loose particles, and should be wetted to such a degree that water will not be rapidly absorbed from the plaster, but not to such a degree that water will remain standing on the surface when the plaster is applied.

Concrete block for stucco walls should be rough and of coarse texture, but not weak or friable. Block should be set with cement mortar joints, which should be raked out or cut back even with surface.

Before applying the stucco the surface should be brushed free from all dust, dirt and loose particles, and should be wetted to such a degree that water will not be rapidly absorbed from the plaster, but not to such a degree that water will remain standing on the surface when the plaster is applied.

Floor Colors Should Blend With the Finish. Floors should be as mellow and inconspicuous in color as possible, but always in a color that harmonizes with the general finish of the room.

The finish of permanent flooring is highly important to the general appearance of the room, and the possible combination of soft and hard woods, linoleum and composition floorings is of interest to anyone who is planning a home.

In general, hardwood floors are better and more durable, particularly if the floor is not to be entirely covered. If the floor is to be covered with carpet, soft wood is desirable; it is also used in country houses and successfully finished with paint or stain. The hardwoods include oak, maple, birch and beech, while pine, fir and spruce come under the head of soft woods.

If a linoleum floor covering is desired, it should be laid at the time the house is built. Many people prefer tile and composition floors for the bathroom, kitchen and service quarters, as they are waterproof and can be cleaned with soap and water as often as necessary.

If hardwood floors are used, they can be finished with wax, or varnish and then waxed, and polished at regular intervals with a dry mop. Floors of soft woods should be oiled at intervals. Linoleum floors should be waxed.

Rugs should be in keeping with the type of room, and should in nearly all cases be darker than the walls. Large rug designs are not desirable, except small all-over patterns are attractive in rooms with plain walls. If the walls are figured, plain rugs are better taste. Plain rugs and carpets show dust more readily than those with all-over figures.

Sectional Bookcases. It is a most excellent thing to provide the children's rooms with sectional bookcases, planning to increase the number as the young folks' literary tastes develop. Enamelled metal are available.

Where a Window Is There Should Sink Be. Kitchen experts agree that the best place for a kitchen sink is under a window. Under some circumstances, where the plan of the kitchen is unusual, the sink may be placed elsewhere, but there should be an ample amount of good light.

If the sink is placed on the outside wall the pipe will not freeze up, as the drainage does not go into the wall and the supply pipes do not have to be placed there. If they are placed there they may be insulated so they will not freeze.

she wondered which one of her men had gone down. A knot of horsemen were turning up an opening gulch on the far side of the valley.

Let 'em go! he shouted. Let 'em go! Hold the herd!

Far off on the opposite side she made out a lone horseman riding at a full run along the sidehill above the cows as he made a supreme effort to reach the head of the run.

The Three Bar men split and streamed on both sides of the bottoms. The flashes had ceased except for brief quivering plays of less than a second's duration.

She hung her spurs into Papoose and trusted to his footwork. A half-flare showed the photo-bare twenty yards ahead, with Harris putting him at the slope to pass the cows.

COLORS ENLIVEN SPRING HATS; FLOWERS USED IN TRIMMING

The tendency to trim with flowers is making definite appeal to stylists who see in floral treatments a new approach to lovely effects.

In the picture, flowers are featured as an integral part of dress decoration. The mode to the left shows a distinctly new idea—a "flower xerter dress."

A striking ensemble is shown to the right. It consists of a soft rose chiffon dress with a separate coat of the same fabric.

An entirely different handling of felt with straw is that given to the cloche effect just below. Here the crown is straw, natural colored, basked, with felt forming the face-framing brim.

THE FARMALL

All-Year, All-Crop, All-Purpose

TRACTOR

The Farmall is an ideal plowing tractor. It moves rapidly and smoothly over the fields, leaving well-turned furrows in excellent shape for the operations and crops to follow. It is the same on belt work. All through winter the Farmall can be gainfully used about the farm. The built-in fly-ball governor supplies a steady flow of profitable power. The power is tempered to the load for efficient machine operation, which also reduces the wear and tear on the machine materially. And in the spring the Farmall will be all ready for planting and cultivating of row crops. It will do all farm power work that any other type of tractor of equal capacity can do in addition to all row-crop planting and cultivating operations. The Farmall is an all-purpose, all-crop, all-year tractor. On all crops, all jobs in the field or barnyard, it sets new standards for easy handling and operating efficiency. Come in and see the Farmall.

The utilities of a city
in your motor car

YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The entire electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after at very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough checking-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

L. ROSENHEIMER

Kewaskum, Wisconsin

—A. L. Simon of Green Bay was a business caller here Thursday.
—Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, March 27th, is the time set when the Washington county spelling bee will be held at the court house at West Bend. The winner of this contest will represent Washington county in the state contest which will be held at Milwaukee in April. Linda Rosenheimer will represent Kewaskum next Wednesday evening. The contest will be in charge of M. T. Buckley, superintendent of schools.
—The ice on the mill pond broke up last Sunday afternoon, and large pieces of ice could be seen floating down the river. A number of our citizens, who were rather skeptical as to whether the new concrete bridge built across the river last summer, and which is a good deal shorter than the old one was, would allow the ice to flow through drew a large crowd to the bridge Sunday afternoon, to witness the breaking up of the ice, expecting to see an ice jam, the bridge, however stood the test and the large pieces of ice floated through without any trouble. The river is now practically clear of ice.
—Now that the snow has practically all disappeared from the different lawns and the frost is nearly out of the ground property owners are giving their attention towards preparing their lawns to have same look nice and neat in front of their homes. As the ground is soft and soggy at this time, the idea of having a good appearing lawn may come to grief if citizens are careless in walking over same to make a short cut, instead of making use of the concrete walks that approach the home. To insist upon walking over the lawn, is an easy way of spoiling the looks of a lawn and lead to disappointment and complaints on the part of the property owner. Every person should therefore be careful and make use of the walks in approaching a home.

Scraps of Humor

TESTING IT

The barber had evidently been out late the night before, for his hand was shaky and he cut his patron's cheek four times. After each offense he said, as he sponged off the blood, "Oh, dear me, how careless!" and let it go at that.

The patron said nothing but when the shave was over, he went to the water cooler and filled his mouth with water. Then, with tightly compressed lips, he shook his head from side to side, and tossed it up and down.

"What's the matter? Toothache?" asked the barber.
"Oh, no," replied the customer. "I just wanted to see if my face would still hold water."

KEEPING A COOL HEAD

She—Why do you keep your hat off, Mr. Brown? The air is cold.
He—Miss Maud, you know how profoundly your presence affects me—I'm trying to keep a cool head.

In Slippery Days

Announced for speedy shipment, the simple skid chains seemed, by far, the best of its equipment.

The New Order

Mrs. Goodsole—I'm surprised to hear a nice little girl like you say she doesn't want to go to heaven.
Little Ethel—Well, I don't, cause I'd hate to have to practice on the harp and I won't wear a crown, 'cause crowned heads are way out of date.

Faint Praise

Maud—How are you getting on, Sarah? Like your new place?
Sarah—I think I'm going to like it very much. Yesterday I overheard the mistress say I performed my duties in a very perfunctory manner. That's the first praise I've had from her.

Safer

"Why do you say you would prefer to have a lot of money on you if you were held up by bandits?"
"Because bandits get mighty peevish these days when they discover they have wasted their time and are pretty apt to furnish a job for either the undertaker or hospital."

A Mean Disposition

Blinks—I think the driver in that car ahead must be a teacher I had when I was to school.
Jinks—What makes you think that?
Blinks—Well, she was just as stubborn about letting me pass.

NO TIME

"You've lost your gold watch? Take a minute to tell me about it."
"Can't now—haven't any time."

Useful

Visitor—What became of the life saver who won so many medals for his daring work?
Beach Manager—Oh, he had them all melted and made into an anchor for his yacht.

Didn't Deserve It

He—Don't you ever feel sorry for the poor animal that had to give up that wonderful fur you are wearing?
She—No, I'm sure it didn't appreciate it anything like as much as I do.

Approval

"Do you think they approved of my sermon?" asked the newly appointed vicar, hopeful that he had made a good impression.
"Yes, I think so," replied his wife; "they were all nodding."

Ancient History

Al Raschid—Ah, the thief! I hereby sentence him to boll in oil.
Servant—Sorry, sir, but your son just eloped in the automobile and used the last gallon of oil.

No Trouble Whatever

Housewife (employing new girl)—I hope you had no quarrel with your last mistress when you left her?
Maid—Oh, no! She was taking a bath and I just locked her in, took my belongings and left.

Some Job

Barber (after cutting the customer's hair)—How is this? Does it suit you?
Absent-Minded Professor—You've cut it altogether too short! A little longer, please.

Composition of Fruit Is Shown

Data on Several Varieties Grown and Marketed in This Country.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Now summary tables on the chemical composition of fresh fruits have been issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. Data on 67 kinds and varieties of fruits and 31 fruit juices are included in this compilation by Charlotte Chatfield and Laura I. McLaughlin of the department's bureau of home economics. Reliable analyses printed in this and other countries and unpublished data from co-operating federal and state laboratories were used as the basis of these figures, and specialists in fruit production and handling were consulted regarding them. It is believed that these figures more nearly represent the composition of fruits now grown and marketed in this country than any other extensive list of analyses heretofore published.

Fuel Value.

Protein, carbohydrates, and all the other chemical constituents are given in percentage of the edible portion of each fruit. Fuel value appears as calories per pound and per 100 grams. In making the tables particular care was taken to determine what part of the fruit was considered refuse in making the analyses, and to designate the refuse percentage as skin, seeds, or other inedible portion.

As a further aid to accuracy, the botanical as well as the common name is given for each fruit. For varieties that differ markedly in composition or for types grown in different localities, separate averages are given. Under apples, for instance, are figures for early, medium, and late varieties, as well as an average for all varieties. The averages for peaches grown in Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland, and New Jersey bring out interesting differences in sugar content.

New Figure.

With these new figures on fruit analyses, diets in both health and disease may be calculated more accurately. Economists can use them in making closer estimates of nutritive value in food consumption studies. They will give producer and consumer more exact knowledge of the chemical content of fruits grown and eaten.

Copies of these tables may be obtained free as long as the supply lasts by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture for Circular No. 50-C, "Proximate Composition of Fresh Fruits."

Muscovy Ducks Favored by Arkansas Breeder

I was the first to raise Muscovy ducks in this part of the country. My neighbors were astonished to see them sitting on the top of fences or in the loft of my barn.

Feeding and laying habits of Muscovy ducks are much like that of chickens. It is not necessary to confine them each morning to get their eggs, as is often the case with other ducks, writes B. G. Roberts of Arkansas in Capper's Farmer. They begin laying in February and often will lay until cold weather if not allowed to become broody.

Like the geese they feed mostly on grass and other green matter and do not require much concentrated feed.

Those who object to the noise made by other varieties of ducks prefer Muscovys for they quack only when badly frightened. The drakes can make no noise at all except a hissing sound. The young ducks are easy to raise. After they are 36 hours old I feed stale bread soaked in sweet milk. This is soon changed to a ration consisting of two parts wheat bran, two parts shorts, one part yellow corn meal and a small amount of beef scraps. I feed this three to five times a day. Sand is sprinkled over it occasionally for grit.

Agricultural Notes

It's the early pruner who gets all his trees in shape.

Guess in haste and repent in leisure. Plan in time and all is fine.

Salt is cheap. It's a necessary food. Be sure that all animals have their share.

The remedy for diseased animals which promises to cure all ills usually ends by curing none of them.

Corn silage, fed in moderate amounts along with other roughage, is excellent for the breeding ewes.

The wise farmer carries on his own "farm relief" by starting in now to do some of the things the farm has long needed.

Put straw in the loft of your poultry house and it will keep your flock warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Straw has insulating properties.

Don't forget that your horses need exercise. Let them out in the paddock or small pasture for a few hours and it will be worth many pounds of feed.

The usual deficiencies in the winter rations of fall pigs are a lack of suitable proteins, a lack of mineral matter, and a lack of essential vitamins to promote growth and the assimilation of bone building material.

Working Incubator

It usually pays to follow the directions given with each make of incubator and add moisture accordingly. Crippled chicks are sometimes said to result from too much moisture. Surplus egg material remains at hatching time in the form of a substance like glue. It dries the chick to the membranes of the egg until the joints have hardened in unnatural positions. When the joint has once set the young chick is a permanent cripple.

WHAT WILL IT DO?

Women are saying: "Pinkham's Compound keeps me fit to do my work." "I was nervous and all run down. Now I eat better and sleep better." "It helped my thirteen year old daughter." "I took it before and after my baby was born." "I am gaining every day."

Periscopes for Trainmen

Trainmen on an electric line in England are to use periscopes to view the track ahead and behind. Heretofore the men have looked out through sights projecting from the side of the car, but with the enlargement of the cars recently, this practice became dangerous in going through tunnels, as the periscope has been substituted for the sights.

Easter Day at Dawn in California

Have you ever been in California at Easter time? At Easter time, when the poppies begin to flash their brilliant yellow across the uplands and foothills? When the orange groves waft their perfumes into the face of snow-capped Baldy? If you haven't been so fortunate, you mustn't miss this sight before you leave for the heavenly places.

Everywhere spring is on the earth. Back yonder, from whence many of us came, the snow is still lying in the little gullies along the hills, or under the trees where the sun is shut out. The trees are burgeoning everywhere; the wild geese fly north, and the birds are busy about their nesting. It's apple-blossom time yonder, and orange-blossom time here.

Wait for Word of Hope. We may not read the secrets of the hearts of men even by studying their faces. Sometimes, yes; for in a sense the face is the playground of the soul, and often a light shines through the thin folds of the fleshy vesture. But oftener, no. Yet we may be sure that many a heart is anxiously trudging towards the horizon, facing the frontier of eternity this Easter-tide; looking up out of some fresh sorrow, turning from some fearful bereavement, hoping for comfort and expecting light. These multitudes are out on the trails this Easter day to catch some token of life's meaning, to hear some word of hope, to feel some impulse that will justify their tremulous expectancy.

Day dawns like thunder. They tell us in Mandalay, but in California the sunrise is a sunburst, and beats upon our senses like drums, as does the meadowlark with its buoyant song. Man has never felt quite at home in the earth; "The day comes in upon wings of mystery, and sometimes departs with a glory that makes the heart ache, we know not why. The mountains are sacraments of power beyond our understanding. . . . the stars are lamps that light an endless pathway."

the fogs and shadows, picking his course carefully along the precipices of life and among the graves newer from dawn to dawn, feeling the sense of a Friendly Presence in all the awe-inspiring wildness of the land. And in his heart beats the instinct for the horizon and for adventure. He refuses to be intimidated, or to believe that life ends in eclipse. He has never passed this way before; a long time traveling, and the road has taken him across more than one riverford, over more than one desert stretch, beyond one frontier after another; but this Easter day his fellow-pilgrims, their laughter and their talk, and the spirit of the day, make his heart fairly burst with hope.

Symbolical of New Day. That young Roman, Mark, the scholar, years after the first memorable Easter day in Jerusalem, looking back, recalled that it was just at the hour of sun-up, as day began to dawn, that he and his friends first went to the sepulcher of Jesus. The farther that fact receded into the past, the more it seemed to him symbolical—the rising of the sun, a token to him of the new day that dawned then for humanity.

In Russia, on Easter day, the moujiks greet each other with a holy kiss, and jubilantly proclaim, "Christ is risen today!" Faust heard the bells ringing on Easter morning, and the will to live arose in his heart once more. That is the ministry of Easter day.

Work Yet to Be Done. To the Christian, Easter is the proof that the conception of life which Jesus brought to men has behind it the power of God. When those who give allegiance to Jesus are willing to take up the cross and follow Him, that power will work another resurrection. It will bring back from the grave which Mammon has made and sealed all that is best and most beautiful in the capacities of the human soul, and men will live the life for which God destined them—the life of sons of God.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Easter Message. THE Easter message comes to all. It is a proclamation of renewed life and of higher purpose in life. Accepted it brings gladness now and gives hope of the future. Gladness without hope is impossible to intelligent men and women.

Easter the Encouragement of Effort, of Courage, of Daring and of Hope

Perhaps a crucifixion, a destroying of some hopes is necessary, in order that Easter may be indeed a reality. There was a world of meaning in the statement "and ye now therefore have sorrow!" To how many sad-eyed mourners will this Easter bring comfort and hope! To how many broken-hearted travelers along the way of life should it speak of a new, higher, better day, just about to break, as certain to break, as spring to follow winter, to the man who hopes and dares, and "keeps a stiff upper lip." So long as life lasts the brave man is never beaten. Life means effort. Without that, it is really death in life, an anomalous thing. Even though seemingly unsuccessful, effort is well repaid to a man's

No Mental Handicap in Defective Speech

Many educators have held that stuttering is an evidence of psychopathic traits in the mental make-up, and that the child who stutters is handicapped in his educational progress. But according to recent tests made by Dr. Elizabeth D. McDowell of Columbia University, the fault of stuttering in a pupil carries with it no lessening of ability. Doctor McDowell experimented with 7,138 school children, making tests to indicate the comparative standing in intelligence of stutters and nonstutterers, school achievement, emotional adjustment, physical fitness, and various speech defects. She found that the stuttering pupil had as high intellectual capacities as the normal child, that his vocabulary is just as good, and that physically he is better off. It was even found that a stuttering child could rattle off as many words in a three-minute period as anyone else.

Engraved Laws of Athens. Fifteen acres of old Athens are to be uncovered and one of the interesting developments anticipated is the uncovering of the Royal Stoa, believed to contain the stone tablets on which were engraved the laws of Athens. It is also expected to uncover the Agora, which was the market place and which is said to have been surrounded with beautiful buildings of stone all richly carved. It is necessary to acquire a great deal of the property on the surface before this work can be started, but the machinery has already been set in motion and it will not be long before the work of excavation will be commenced.

ESSEX the CHALLENGER...sets all these records...

during Nation-wide CHALLENGER WEEK

SPEED—70 miles. RELIABILITY—60 miles per hour, all day. ACCELERATION—From a standing start to 30 miles in six seconds, to 40 miles in 10 seconds, to 50 miles in 15 seconds, to 60 miles in 23 seconds. ECONOMY—21.2 miles.

all day long is well within its range.

One million owners know the special advantages of the Super-Six. They are best qualified to compare the Essex the Challenger. To them we offer first opportunity to test the most powerful, the largest, roomiest, smoothest, easiest riding—most complete Essex ever built. But all motordom must be astounded that even with seventy-six notable improvements, the price is the lowest in Essex history—a price but little above the lowest-priced car on the market.

Above we show some of the local records, officially observed by newspaper men, which Essex the Challenger established during Nationwide Challenger Week. Owners here, and owners by thousands all over the country, have duplicated these tests, or, at least, verified the capacity of their own Essex the Challenger to reproduce any or all of these proofs.

IN FAST GET-AWAY—no car is excepted. IN SPEED—anything the road offers up to 70 miles an hour. IN HILL CLIMBING—against any car you choose. IN APPEARANCE—match it for smartness with costlier cars. IN EASE OF DRIVING—note smoothness of motor—ease of steering—roadability and effectiveness of brakes. IN ENDURANCE—60 miles an hour

Money Talks

It is said that "money talks" and such being the case, milk producers should think seriously about producing a uniform amount of milk daily throughout the year. Stabilizing production also means stabilizing prices. Producing good, clean, well-cooled milk in uniform amounts daily throughout the year, can not help but pay you uniformly high prices. Over production in the spring, and a shortage in the fall, will always keep prices down. Extra money in sight for every milk producer should make enough noise that all will get busy on the idea of stabilizing production.
