WASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS WIN THIRD PLACE

The Kewaskum Boy Scouts Troop No. 14, journeyed to Fond du Lac last Saturday, where they took part in the first annual Badger Council Scout basketball tournament, held at the Senior high school gymnasium, in which they won third place. Ripon first team won first place and Ripon second team won second. The results of the games as played are as follows: Fond du Lac 1B, 20; Fond du Lac, 3.

Taycheedah 4, 2; Fond du Lac 9B, 0 (forfeit).

Ripon 35, 13; Fond du Lac 5A, 4. West Bend 21, 15; Horicon 10, 6. Fond du Lac 6, 7; Fond du Lac 1A, 6.

Kewaskum 14, 7; Hartford 18, 3. Ripon 33, 30; Fond du Lac 5B, 3. West Bend 22, 11; Juneau 29, 9. West Bend 21, 2; Fond du Lac 9A, 0 (forfeit).

Fond du Lac 1B, 17; Taycheedah 4, 0.

Kewaskum 14, 13; Fond du Lac 6, 12.

Ripon 33, 30; West Bend 22, 6. Ripon 35, 17; West Bend 21, 10.

Both Ripon teams finished undefeated. The quint did not play for the championship because both were too tired after coming through the hard day of eliminations. Kewaskum and Fond du Lac Troop 1B team defeated in the semi-finals, did not meet for third place for the same reason.

There were seventeen scout teams from Washington, Fond du Lac, and Dodge counties entered in the meet.

In the first semi-final game in the afternoon the Ripon Troop No. 23 defeated Kewaskum Troop No. 14 17 to 5. Gozinski and L. Hunold of the Ripon quint were responsible for the victory, the two men scoring seven baskets and two free throws. Schaefer made Kewaskum's lone basket. At the end of the first half the score was 9 to 1.

RESUME WORK ON WATER SYSTEM

The Falls Construction company of Sheboygan Falls, who have the contract for digging the trenches and laying the pipe line for the city water works system, started work this week to finish up their job. The company was unable to finish up their work before frost was in the ground last fall. A considerable amount of work remains to be done before the system is ready for use. All of the pipes have to be laid on the east side of the river, connections across the new concrete bridge will also have to be made, as well as connections from the city well to the water tower remains to be done. A number of laterals have to be dug. A foundation for the pump and a pump house has to be constructed and the pump must be installed. A reservoir erected and a number of other minor things has to be done. It is thought that it will take about two or three months if weather permits before the entire system is completely installed and ready for use.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK JUST PASSED

DEATH OF MARTIN INKMAN
Martin Inkman, beloved husband of Agatha Inkman (nee Laubach) formerly of New Fane, Fond du Lac county, Wis., died at a hospital at Milwaukee on Thursday, March 21, 1929. Mr. Inkman had left his home Wednesday evening to transact business in the city, and while trying to go out of a business house, he proceeded to walk out of the wrong door, and in so doing fell down a flight of steps and fractured his skull. He was taken to a hospital where he died on Thursday at 12 o'clock noon. He was born Sept. 2, 1891 in Milwaukee. On Oct. 16, 1918, he was married to Miss Agatha Laubach, daughter of Joe Laubach of New Fane, who with the following children survive: Martin, aged 18 years; June and Jane, twin sisters, aged 6 years and Leatrice, aged 5 years. He also leaves four brothers and four sisters to mourn his demise. One brother died nine months ago. Deceased was a good husband and father, and a faithful member of St. Leo's church, and a member of Holy Name and St. Michael's Aid society. The funeral was held on Monday, March 25, at 9 a. m. with services in St. Leo's Catholic church. Burial was made in Holy Cross cemetery.

MEETS DEATH BY DROWNING
Mrs. Minnie Kinzle of Boltonville, came to her death early last Sunday morning, March 24th, 1929 by drowning. Her lifeless body was found on Sunday by her husband and several neighbors, lying in a creek at the rear of the Kinzle home. Deceased was born Feb. 7, 1859 in Germany. In 1876 she came to America and settled at Milwaukee, coming to her present home in Boltonville in July 1921. On May 22, 1877, she was married to Fred Kinzle, who with the following children survive: Mrs. T. Mellane, Fred Kinzle Jr., Mrs. J. Reinke and Edward Kinzle, all of Milwaukee. Mrs. Kinzle was a kind and faithful wife and mother, and charity worker. Her death is a great shock to the surviving relatives. The remains were brought to the Meilahn undertaking parlors here the same day, and on Monday removed to the Froemming Chapel at Milwaukee, from where the funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with burial in Graceland cemetery. Rev. Ludwig officiated.

PERSONNEL OF OUR HIGH SCHOOL 1928-29 BASKET BALL SQUAD

The above is a photo of the Kewaskum 1928-1929 High School basketball team, which has a very good record for the season, in fact the best in the history of the school.

The team lost but four games out of sixteen games played. Those lost were lost by but a small margin. The two best games of the entire season were those with the Rosendale quint, one game was lost by two points and the other won by one point. These two games were characteristic of real basketball. Good floor and team work, speed, clean playing, good defensive and offensive on both sides made these the outstanding games. That is the type of basketball that has been advocated throughout the season—win or lose.

Seven players will be awarded the official "K" for their efforts in basketball this year. Their names will be found in this article under "Personnel of the Basket Ball Squad."

Personnel of the Basket Ball Squad.
Henry Rosenheimer, Captain, well deserves that title for in him is found a leader in guard position in The Tri-County League. He is the hard working, "starring in" type of player that adds momentum to a team. He made an ideal pilot and was largely responsible for the splendid spirit of co-operation that existed among the players. Henry, with his three years' experience on the team, will be keenly missed when the boys resume hostilities next season.

Ralph Kohn's work at the pivot position was unequalled by any other member and seldom did anyone out jump him. He possessed unusual skill at shooting and also a marked adaptability in converting many of his team mates misfires into counters with his clever "follow in" tactics. We often wondered at the ease with which he guided the ball through the air and into the basket. Kohn, having played his allowed quota of four years, has played his last game for K. H. which will be regretted among basket ball fans.

Jacob Schlosser's ability to play basketball was proved by the way he held the guard position throughout the entire season. With him at that position, opponents plays were blocked in many instances where a weaker guard would have been ineffective in stopping a goal. This year's team was much benefited by his consistent floor work. Jacob has finished his second year in basket ball and will also be missed when next year's players assemble.

Schaefer was a great factor in determining the success of this year's team. Much was expected of him because he already had one year of experience at the forward position. It would be difficult to imagine John going scoreless in any contest when at his best. With "Busher" at his old position or at center we predict success for next year's team.

Meilahn's presence on this year's squad was regarded as an important place. He was rather small and light but had much speed and pep to make up for his lack of weight. We feel confident that when the call goes forth next season Carl will be ready to do his part toward the development of another successful team.

In Bartelt we received evidence of what previous coaching can do for a player. Lyle has much natural ability backed by a physique which will carry him far. His endurance and pluck are two of his strong points. With his return next year, we expect much.

This has been Heberer's second year for Kewaskum, and though he was not a regular last year he showed promising form throughout the past season. He has done well and we expect "Casey" to take one of the leading positions on next year's team.

A good second team is one of the most essential factors in the turning out of a first team. Should no material for a second team be available, any athletic sport would be seriously handicapped. There is little, if any, glory in it for them, yet they enjoy the game and willing to take the knocks from the first team in order to help develop a winning school team. We have appreciated the work of the second team and hope that they may soon take their places in the first squad. Hopkins, Koch, Lay, Weddig, and the two Hrons, deserve mention for their loyal efforts.

WILL VOTE ON PURCHASE OF SNOW PLOW

At next Tuesday's election, the voters of the town of Kewaskum will be called upon to vote on the question as to whether or not the town shall purchase a power driven snow plow. The question has been given much consideration by the voters and a large vote is therefore expected to be cast.

WHO WANTS $500,000 MOONSHINE MONEY FOR SCHOOLS?

Prohibitionists of Wisconsin are using the ludicrous argument that "the state courts now collect in fines each year approximately $500,000, which is turned into the common school fund. If the Severson Act is repealed or amended as proposed, this sum would be lost." Of all the rank arguments that have been put forward in favor of Prohibition, this last one caps the climax. If we are to continue our schools from money taken from manufacturers and sellers of "moonshine," then Lord have mercy on us. The continuation of the present deplorable conditions is urged by Prohibitionists to HELP our schools. THEY WANT law violation so that the schools might profit. Rather let us close our schools and teach our children at home as best we can than to invite a continuation of the present violations which bring to our state $500,000. And were the Prohibitionists sincere in arguing for $500,000 FOR OUR SCHOOLS they would tell the public that if Prohibition were abolished and good beer could be sold the revenue on the sale of beer would make $500,000 look like 5 cents. The Prohibitionists have not a point upon which they can stand and are resorting to the ridiculous. Their very arguments prove the failure of Prohibition.—West Bend Pilot.

With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison—Two major administration proposals, reorganization of the state highway commission and creation of a centralized budget system were passed by the Wisconsin senate.

Sen. Walter S. Goodland, Racine, was author of both bills which had the backing of Gov. Walter J. Kohler. The budget bill was passed unanimously, and only two votes were recorded against change of the highway commission.

An amendment, proposed by Senator Carroll, reducing from $250,000 to $100,000 the amount available for emergency expenditures by the budget director and the chairman of the joint finance committees of the legislature, was rejected.

All state departments would be required to submit quarterly estimates of expenses to the budget director, who would release to them funds appropriated by the legislature under this proposed system.

Both married and single persons with moderate incomes would benefit materially under provisions of the Kohler state income tax bill introduced in the upper house of the legislature through the committee on corporations and taxation. The benefit would be secured for the average taxpayer by liberalizing exemptions now allowed.

At present, the married man is permitted a flat deduction of $17.50 after the tax is computed upon his taxable income. The Kohler bill would increase this deduction to $20.

The single person is now allowed a deduction of $8 from his taxable income. This would be increased to $9 for each dependent the married man is now permitted to deduct $3. The administration measure would boost this to $4.

A unanimous vote of confirmation was given to Gov. Kohler's appointment of Haskell Noyes, Milwaukee, to the conservation commission as successor to Eugene Wengert, who resigned.

The assembly refused to reconsider the vote by which it had previously advanced to third reading the Indulging bill setting a maximum rate of 3.5 cents per mile for buses.

By a vote of 16 to 9 the senate adopted the Weller memorial to congress for a constitutional amendment under which the president and vice-president would be elected by popular vote.

Nine gas tax bills with varying reductions in the personal property tax on automobiles, licenses and weight taxes, ranging from $1 flat for a plate to a good round sum, with diverse proposals to distribute the revenue for main roads, town roads, snow removal and other highway improvement, were threshed out by the senate and assembly highway committees in joint session.

Now that all have heard the committee will either prepare a bill of its own from what is left of the other bills or it will endeavor to amend one of them into shape. The legislature will be given the chance to vote on a boost in the gas tax.

The joint finance committee voted to recommend for passage a bill by Senator A. J. Fellenz, Fond du Lac, for a legislative investigation of campaign funds since 1924. This bill carries an appropriation of $10,000 and provides for a committee of two senators and three assemblymen.

Investigation of flood control possibilities on the Rock river by creation of a reservoir at its headwaters in Horicon marsh was authorized by the Wisconsin legislature. Sen. George Blanchard, Edgerton, was author of the resolution adopted in both houses calling for appointment of two senators and three assemblymen to make the investigation in co-operation with the railroad commission.

Lights or reflectors are required on all vehicles, excepting farm implements, on the highways at any time during the period shortly after sundown to sunrise, under terms of the Burnham bill passed by the assembly. The bill is yet to be acted upon by the senate.

Senator John C. Schumann's proposal to abolish the state department of markets, transferring its duties to the department of agriculture, was killed by the upper house.

The assembly approved the Caron joint resolution, calling for appointment of an interim committee to study the crime situation in Wisconsin, and recommend changes in the state's criminal laws.

Badger State Briefs

Couderay—Mild weather and rain have about ended logging operations for the winter in this region. It is an early breakup and many of the loggers will fall short of estimated production.

Merrill—The Lincoln-Marathon county assessor of incomes district has been charged to include Langlade and Shawano counties.

Glenwood City—The resignation of the city assessor here forced the city council to raise the salary for the position from $80 to $100 a year. The salary had been unchanged for 34 years. The resignation was withdrawn.

Sheboygan—The common council has authorized the board of waterworks commissioners here to have plans prepared for the erection of a filtration plant, which it is estimated will cost $374,000.

Barron—Eighteen herds of the Prairie Farm Dairy Herd Improvement association were in the 300-pound class last year.

Stoughton—High herd honors in the Stoughton Dairy Herd Improvement association for February were won by the Korney Kittueson registered and grade Holstein herd.

Couderay—A heavy snowstorm here last week was accompanied by typical mid-winter thunder and lightning for more than 30 minutes. The phenomenon never has occurred before in this part of the state.

Nellsville—Mrs. Arthur Patey, 84, one of Clark county's oldest residents, died at her home here. Mrs. Patey was awarded a certificate of honor by the Red Cross during the World war for knitting 125 pairs of socks for American soldiers.

Toronto—Robert M. Nelson, 24, son of Congressman John M. Nelson, Madison, Wis., was killed in the Canadian National railway wreck at Proccourt, Ont. His brother, Harold, with whom he was going to a fishing camp in Alberta, was uninjured.

Appleton—John Humm, 29, was killed on highway 47 near here when the roadster in which he was traveling at 65 miles an hour turned three complete somersaults. His neck was broken. A companion in the car, George Gertz, 16, was uninjured. Humm had only purchased the car a few days ago and had not driven a car before.

Green Bay—Brown county's new $250,000 tuberculosis sanatorium, being built at Little Rapids, 11 miles south of here on the banks of the Fox river, will be ready for occupancy about Apr. 15, the special sanatorium committee reports to the county board. The structure will have 80 beds and the latest equipment, including sun ray machines for treatment of the tubercular.

Racine—Seventeen youths were sentenced here on statutory charges based on the story of two girls. Sentences were imposed by Municipal Judge E. B. Burgess. One of the youths drew the maximum penalty of two years in prison. Six were sentenced to two years in the Green Bay reformatory and 10 were given the option of paying a $200 fine or serving six months in the house of correction at Milwaukee.

Madison—The attorney general's department has reversed its position on the question of allowing retiring county officials compensation for six days served in January before their successors take office and now holds that such officials should not receive pay for that period. Under the law, new officials take office the first Monday in January, which this year came on Jan. 7. The law also provides that their compensation shall be on a yearly basis.

Madison—Chief Justice And John Vinje of the Wisconsin supreme court, who came to this country as a Norwegian farm boy when 12 years old, died at his home here. His death was indirectly due to an attack of influenza which he suffered about a year ago while visiting his old home in Norway. Chief Justice Vinje was 71 years old and was serving his 19th year on the supreme court bench, where he has been ranking member for the last seven years. Justice Vinje was one of the oldest employes in the state service. He served as assistant in the state law library from 1884 to 1888 while attending college, and was assistant to the supreme court reporter from 1888 to 1891. Beginning the practice of law in Superior in 1891, he was appointed judge of circuit court four years later, holding this bench for 15 years until appointed to the high court by the late Gov. James O. Davidson in 1910. Through the death of Justice Vinje, Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry becomes chief justice and appointment of another associate justice by Gov. Walter J. Kohler is necessitated.

Fond du Lac—Overcrowded for several months, the state penitentiary at Waupun broke all previous records when the population reached a total of 1,037 prisoners. The population has been hovering around the 1,000 mark for several months but never before has it reached 1,037.

Madison—The state civil service department has announced examinations for assistant veterinarians to be held four days after all applications are in Apr. 9.

West Salem—Thorold P. Gullickson, 68, superintendent of the La Crosse county asylum for the insane, died suddenly at a hospital in La Crosse while awaiting an X-ray examination. He had driven to the hospital from West Salem and died of heart disease a few minutes after his arrival.

Waupaca—The new hospital at the Wisconsin Veterans' home, for which $175,000 was appropriated by the 1927 legislature, will be completed this summer.

REBELS SLAUGHTERED IN MAZATLAN DRIVE

Greatly Outnumbered Federal Hold Seaport.

Mexico City—Hundreds of rebels killed or wounded in the battle of Mazatlan was the estimate sent to the war department by Gen. Jaime Carrillo, Mexico's new military luminary, who, with 2,900 loyal troops, stood off nearly 5,000 fiercely attacking rebels for two days.

Charging in massed waves across open fields for three miles skirting the port of Mazatlan, and sweeping up the wide clear beach toward the city, the rebels were mowed down by the federals.

General Carrillo's dispatches outlined in detail the progress of the battle. Federal defenses at Mazatlan, he advised, were built around massed machine guns. Every nook in the hills that dominated the city and the farming plains beyond was a machine gun nest.

With the battle still going fiercely, General Carrillo wired President Portes Gil that he was able to only approximately give the number of the rebel losses, but said "up to this time their losses constitute 25 per cent of their total strength."

Because of their fortified positions in the hills the federals got off lightly. According to General Carrillo's dispatches, while the rebels were making intermittent advances, the federal fortifications flooded the rebel positions with search lights, and with that aid concentrated their field pieces and machine guns upon them.

From time to time the rebel cavalry under General Roberto Cruz deployed toward the beach entrance north of the city, pushing them constantly under bombardment from the federal gunboat Progress, in the harbor.

Later there developed a general rebel advance. The attackers kept coming on in spite of the heavy fire directed against them.

"It was a veritable slaughter," Carrillo said in advising President Portes Gil that the defending forces would be able to hold out until the reinforcements now on the way reach them. "We have kept the rebels in check, and have driven them back. We can hold out indefinitely."

General Carrillo is highly praised for his stout defense. He is the latest important figure to rise out of the revolt. He is only thirty-three years old and served on the staff of Gen. Joaquin Amaro in the Juicisco campaign of 1923. He is a native of Guanajuato.

Farm Aid and Tariff Now Being Considered

Washington—With the senate regarded as fairly well lined up behind President Hoover's program for farm relief legislation, the attitude of some house members toward the plan for meeting the problem of surplus crops through loans to co-operative associations from a $300,000,000 revolving fund has brought an element of uncertainty in the plans of farm bloc leaders in congress.

As a result, while senate leaders are prepared to start the bill rolling when the session opens April 15 and hold the center of the stage until the plan embodied in a measure sponsored by Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee, and tacitly approved by President Hoover, is passed, they profess to be at a loss to foretell either the details of the legislation or the procedure which can be brought into play in the house.

In the senate, the farm bloc leaders declare, the disposition is over-riding to adopt the administration program, thus placing the responsibility for solution of the farm problem directly upon President Hoover; in the house a small vestige of the equalization fee bloc which waged a battle to the death over the McNary-Hangen measure in previous sessions offers the possibility of a more difficult legislative pathway.

National Conference Is to Discuss State Parks

Washington—The ninth annual meeting of the National Conference on State Parks will be held at Cliff Falls State park, on the Ohio river near Madison, Ind., on May 7, 8 and 9, according to an announcement from headquarters of the conference here. Stephen T. Matler, former director of the National Park Service, is chairman of the organization.

Trotzky Barred From Belgium

Brussels, Belgium—Belgium has joined the European nations who have refused to receive Leon Trotzky, Russian exile.

Imperial Conference Postponed

London—The Imperial conference, due to be held this year, will be postponed until 1930.

Turkey Pays on Debt

Angora, Turkey—The Turkish government recently paid foreign bondholders the first installment on the Ottoman debt, the total $482,000,000 of which is to be paid within 27 years.

Sumner Remains as Army Chief

Washington—Gen. Charles P. Sumner, chief of the army general staff, has been asked by President Hoover to continue in that post, it was announced by Secretary of War Wood.

Spain Building Big Airship

Gudalajara, Spain—Spain, hitherto somewhat indifferent to the development of dirigibles, has decided to keep pace with other nations in this respect and is constructing a big airship in the military aeronautics works near here.

Chicago—Chicago & Northwestern railroad has ordered 25 large freight locomotives from the Baldwin Locomotive works.

SAMUEL REA DEAD

Samuel Rea.

Philadelphia—Samuel Rea, retired president of the Pennsylvania railroad and one of the most distinguished transportation executives of the country, died at his home, "Gladwyn," in Waverly Heights near Ardmore, a suburb of Philadelphia.

Mr. Rea was seventy-three years old. He retired as president of the Pennsylvania under the company's pension system when he reached the age of seventy in October, 1925. He remained a director of the company and continued to be active in Philadelphia's civic affairs.

ORIGINS ACT TO BE IN EFFECT JULY 1

Repeal of Measure Is Promised at April Session.

Washington—Although declaring his opposition to the national origins plan for restricting immigration, President Hoover issued a proclamation putting the new system into effect July 1. Meanwhile leaders on Capitol Hill were laying plans for a repeal measure to be rushed through the senate first, and then the house, in the extraordinary session to meet on April 15.

The new act curtails German, Irish and Scandinavian immigration and increases British. In his proclamation President Hoover said:

"The attorney general has advised me that in future of congress to suspend action, it now is mandatory upon me under the immigration act to issue the proclamation establishing 'national origins' as the basis of immigration quotas.

"The proclamation must be issued prior to April 1 and will be issued at once. It will go into effect on July 1 unless action is taken by congress in the meantime.

"While I am strongly in favor of restricted and selected immigration, I have opposed the national origins basis. I therefore naturally dislike the duty of issuing the proclamation and installing the new basis, but the President of the United States must be the first to obey the law."

Congress would have avoided the embarrassment in which President Hoover was placed, in being compelled by the opinion of Attorney General Mitchell to issue a scheme of which he does not approve, had it not been for the one-man filibuster in the closing days of the last congress by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania.

The house of representatives passed a resolution postponing the date on which the plan should go into effect. This was prevented by Senator Reed from coming to a vote in the senate. Administration leaders insisted that there are enough votes against the national origins plan in both houses and senate to pass the repeal measure in the extraordinary session. Friends of the national origins plan insist that sentiment is growing for it and that the repeal or postponement measure will be beaten.

6,000-Foot Bridge Is to Link Iowa, Wisconsin

Prairie Du Chien, Wis.—Construction of one of the largest suspension bridges in the Middle West will begin here this month. It will connect this city with Marquette, Iowa.

The bridge will be 6,000 feet long and will carry a load equal to that of a 15-ton truck for every 50 feet. It is expected to be ready for traffic in the summer of 1930.

All Americas Soon to Be Linked by Airway

New York—North, Central and South America to be linked over a 4,300-mile airway on April 1 by the union of Pan-American and Pan-American Grace airways at Cristobal. The service will extend from Miami to Peru with the closing of the 950-mile gap now existing between Ecuador and the Canal zone.

Indorse Tariff on Farm Products

Des Moines, Iowa—Resolutions indorsing a protective tariff on farm products and the principles included in the McNary-Hangen bill as a basis for impending farm legislation were passed by the corn-belt federation of farm organizations in session here.

MANY ARE KILLED IN FLOODS, MINE BLAST

Scores Perish in South as Pit Death List Grows.

Atlanta, Ga.—Drenched with rains and ravaged by storms during the past, the South took stock of the damage beneath a warm, spring-like sun while floods still raged in some sections.

Tornadoes and floods caused deaths in six states. The greatest loss of life was in Tennessee, where twenty were dead at Harriman, with two bodies recovered; seven at Rockwood, members of a Boy Scout troop; and three at Webster. Four of the deaths were in Kentucky, a youth drowning in the flood waters of the Cumberland river at Pineville, and three boys drowned at Barbourville.

All the rest were due to tornadoes, except one, a farmer who was struck by lightning at Alpharetta, Ga., two others, both negroes, were listed in Georgia from a tornado. Alabama had five killed from tornadoes; Mississippi three, and North Carolina one.

With the exception of Tennessee and Kentucky, where major streams were rising, conditions were improving over the South.

Property damage will reach into the millions, especially where railroad yards and industrial sections were swept by the raging water.

Parnassus, Pa.—The death list from the recent mine blast in the Kinloch mine has increased to a half hundred, with other bodies still believed to be in the wrecked pit.

Carbon monoxide gas, the death dealing aftermath of mine explosions, invaded the underground pits and made the work of penetrating the workings extremely perilous, even with gas masks.

The countryside for several miles was shaken as the blast tore through the diggings a short time after the day force had entered the mine.

O. F. Taylor, superintendent, said the explosion was caused by the breaking of an endless steel conveyor chain that brought the mined coal from the foot of the shaft to the surface.

It let go with a bang and a rumble that could be heard a mile away, dropping the giant conveyor loaded with many tons of coal to the bottom of the shaft in a mass of wreckage.

A fog of coal dust arose and, according to Mr. Taylor, a spark from the crashing conveyor evidently ignited the explosive mass.

After spreading death and destruction inside the workings, the flames swept through the main shaft to the tipple, burning the wood superstructure and injuring a half dozen men there.

The Kinloch mine had had no accident since twelve lives were lost on February 21, 1923. Only two weeks ago the United States bureau of mines had issued a certificate of safety to the company. The mine has been electrically equipped.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Charles E. Hughes is expected to sail from New York about May 1 to take up his duties as a judge of the World court in Geneva.

President Hoover plans to limit his public speaking engagements to three or four a year, and already has declined several invitations.

Secretary of State Kellogg announces he is leaving on a European trip as soon as he has turned over his office to Henry L. Stimson.

The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce commission for authority to build 65 miles of new line between San Angelo and Sonora, Texas.

President Hoover has been invited by the American Farm Bureau Federation and a score of other organizations to speak at a conference of these agricultural bodies in Chicago next fall.

Secretary of the Navy Adams approved plans for the construction of the 15 new cruisers authorized by the last session of congress and bids for their construction are expected to be invited from shipyards within the next few days.

Colonial Type That Will Appeal to Many Prospective Home Builders

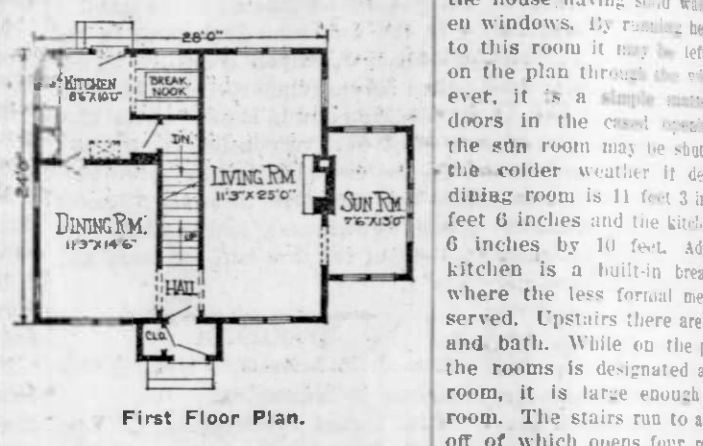

While this six-room house is of the colonial type, the wide, deep roof gives three good-sized bedrooms on the second floor. The size of the house is 24 feet deep and 24 feet wide. How the rooms are arranged and their size are shown on the floor plan.

By W. A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Ever since the Pilgrims built their simple style of home in the first New England villages the colonial type of architecture has been recognized as one distinctly American. Undoubtedly the plain two-gable houses of the early days were designed because of economy. However, their simple lines have an appeal which has made them popular all through the centuries. Present-day architects have used the colonial style as the basis for many of the homes they now design, but have made some changes in exterior appearances which have added to the attractiveness of the exterior. Open such a design is shown in the accompanying illustration. This home while not quite a true colonial is of that style and the room arrangement inside is the same as will be found in the early American homes.

The entrance door leads to a central hall out of which run the stairs to the second floor. At the right extending the depth of the house is the living room and at the left is the dining room with the kitchen.

Shellac Excellent to Preserve Floors

More often than not the floor goes shabby for want of time to refinish it. The same is true of woodwork and furniture that would look infinitely better for a fresh finish. Why not use shellac then? It makes a durable finish for all interior purposes and dries so rapidly that frequent re-coating is possible.

In fact, shellac compares with lacquer for fast-drying records, but it does not dry too fast. It is easy to work with and two coats can be put on an hour or two apart if necessary. As in the case with all paint and varnish materials, however, a better job results if more time between coats is allowed.

Since semi-luster finishes are so much more in favor than new shiny surfaces, shellac has been very much in demand. It is one of the oldest finishes and one of the best materials to use for an unusually durable and velvety finish. In addition, where pure shellac is used the finish is sufficiently elastic so that it will not easily scratch or mar.

There is both an orange and a white shellac—alike in characteristics and wearing body, but used for slightly different purposes. White shellac is made from bleached orange shellac gum, through an intricate process, and is used over light woods that are to retain their natural color, or over dark woods like ebony and mahogany to bring out the tone and richness of the wood. Orange shellac is transparent, too, but has staining properties besides. It is often used over white wood to give a dark wood finish, and after a parquet floor has become stained or darker with age, orange

Kitchen Arrangement Big Feature in Home

Kitchen work, today, is robbed of much of its old-time drudgery by all sorts of mechanical devices and modern improvements. But perhaps the greatest aid is to be found in convenient arrangement.

In the first place, the modern housewife does not have to walk "miles" from stove to sink and from pantry to ice box, as her grandmothers had to do. Kitchens, today, are small, compact and well equipped.

One of the greatest step-savers is the placing of sink and drainboard between pantry and china closet. This is an ideal arrangement for the work-er, especially if there is a window directly above the sink. After drying the dishes it is but a step in either direction to place them where they belong.

The two cupboards should be painted on the outside to match the woodwork, which is usually painted white or cream, in contrast with walls painted light yellow, pale green, a delicate blue or a dusty shade of peach.

Finishing Material Will Denote Home Quality

The tone of a precious Stradivarius violin is attributed to the wood which has preserved it for centuries. The tone of a house is determined by the kind of finish which is used. The quality of the finishing material determines to a large extent the character of the home owner.

Bolster the Pasture With More Crops

entire season. Of the crops that are sown for temporary pasture, there is nothing that will beat sweet clover where soil conditions are right for it.

Using Method of Soiling.

A few farmers meet the shortage of pasture by using the method of soiling, that is, cutting green crops for the cows. Corn, clover, and grass may be used in this way; or certain crops may be planted specifically for this purpose, such as oats and peas in early spring, and soy beans in late spring. Soiling involves considerable labor, however, and it is usually cheaper to let the cows gather their own roughage.

Avian Tuberculosis Is Spread by Brood Sows

Investigators at the Illinois experiment station have added another link to their long chain of evidence on the part which avian, or fowl, type of the disease plays in tuberculosis of swine and calves. They have shown during the past year that the avian type of the disease may be perpetuated in swine independent of contact with infected chickens or contaminated ground. The evidence has been obtained that pigs infected with the avian type of tuberculosis may pass, in their feces, virulent tubercle bacilli capable of establishing the disease in other pigs independently of other means. Hence, sows infected with avian tuberculosis may be looked upon as a potential means of spreading the disease to pigs.

ELIMINATE DELAYS BY "ELECTRIC EYE"

Left to right, Prof. E. B. Sheldon of New York university's physics department and Dr. Phillips Thomas of the Westinghouse Electric company, watching a demonstration of a new light sensitive device, before the members of the Electrical society at the Engineering Societies' building. It is expected that unnecessary traffic delays, caused by the flashing of a red light or "stop" signal on a main thoroughfare at times when no vehicles are waiting to cross the intersection may be done away with forever. The new system gives motorists a green signal continuously until a car on the cross street comes within a short distance of the intersection, at which time the lights automatically revert to a prearranged "set" program operation. The automatic feature of the system is made possible by a new application of the photoelectric cell, or "electric eye" which literally "sees" automobiles or other vehicles and regulates the signals accordingly.

Five grass is the main constituent of best pastures and makes abundant growth during spring and early summer, and again in the fall months, but there is usually a period during the summer when little growth is made. The capacity of the pasture during that period of the year is apt to be rather uncertain, particularly in a dry year.

Supplemental Crop Helps.

H. R. Cox, farm crops specialist at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, suggests that if a supplement to the pasture is provided during part of the summer, the stock will not suffer from lack of feed, and the pasture will not be injured by grazing too closely. This supplement may be of various kinds. Sometimes additional grass pasture may be rented. With some farmers it may take the form of providing for temporary pastures or using soiling crops, or by use of silage.

Hay land may be pastured after mowing. Grain stubble is sometimes pastured but the cows do not get much besides ragweed. In case of necessity, some of the first cutting of grass and clover may be grazed. A few farmers in New Jersey pasture the second cutting of alfalfa after it is well along. This is not particularly good for alfalfa, but it is not as hard on the crop as pasturing during the

Starking Apple Is Delicious

Starking Apple Tree; Apple in Inset.

Color is recognized as being of the utmost importance in selling manufactured articles nowadays. Motor cars, alarm clocks, bathtubs, even kitchen ranges are being made in colors to help them sell. It is strange that color should be considered vital in marketing agricultural products, especially such an attractive one as a bright, red, apple?

With its brilliant red color stressed as its most important improvement, a nursery firm of Louisiana, Mo., has introduced a new strain of the famous Delicious apple, which has been given the name Starking. The big point of difference between the Delicious and the Starking is that Starking is solid, rich red all over the apple while the parent is a striped and lighter colored apple. Furthermore, the Starking colors red several weeks before the original Delicious starts to color. Otherwise the two apples are of identical quality.

As an expert puts it: "The Delicious got ripe before it got red; the Starking gets red before it gets ripe." Whereas the Delicious lacked color, when it was picked at a state of proper firmness which permitted storage, the Starking has attained its brightest color when still solid and ready to be picked when hard ripe. It is estimated by apple experts that the item of increased color alone would mean an increase of $1,000,000 a year additional income to the growers of such a district as the Wenatchee, Washington apple growing district, could all the fruit on the Delicious trees in that section be given the solid red color of the Starking. Experience has proved that the color, which the buyer can see, is far more important than the flavor, or any other quality in determining the market price. The markets, however, have recognized the superior quality of the Delicious type of apples. Only highly colored extra quality fruit can be graded extra fancy and get the top market figure. This teaches that even orchardists are affected by fashion, and must pay attention to the appearance of their product.

The Starking was discovered on a single branch of a Delicious apple tree in a New Jersey orchard. This branch was observed to be loaded each year with apples that became red in late August, a month before ripening, when the apples on the other limbs of the same tree were still green. This is a natural phenomenon which occurs possibly only once in a million or more times; it is termed a "mutation" or an unexplained departure from type, one of the ways nature has of improving the species the cause of which men have so far been unable to explain. By taking the wood of this exceptional branch, and propagating it on root stocks, trees possessing the qualities of the single branch were obtained, and the Starking apple was made available to all orchards.

The Starking apple was awarded the American Pomological society's Wilder medal in 1926. Except for its color, the trees and fruit of Starking have the same characteristics as the Delicious. A number of orchardists have observed that Starking bears at a younger age, often when three or four years old. The apples have exhibited greater storage endurance, having been kept more than a year without deterioration. Like the Delicious it grows rapidly and is exceptionally resistant to the attacks of insects and diseases.

SMUT LOSSES IN WHEAT SHOW BIG INCREASE IN FIVE YEARS

Growers Are Urged to Treat Seed Before Planting.

As smut of wheat has increased rapidly in the United States since the war, causing greater losses than any other plant disease, wheat growers are being urged to treat their seed with copper-carbonate dust before planting as a preventive measure.

An investigation of conditions in eastern Colorado showed seven to ten per cent of the wheat crop ruined by smut the past year, according to E. A. Lungen of the Colorado Agricultural college. In some instances fields have shown as high as 30 to 50 per cent smut with the consequent losses of ten to twelve dollars per acre.

Smut losses can be prevented by treating the seed wheat before planting with copper-carbonate dust, applied to the grain in an air-tight mixer, the college says. This treatment gives practically perfect results, not only killing the smut spores on the kernels before planting but protecting them from smut infection that may be in the sacks or dust. The commercially pure copper dust or powder can be mixed with the seed wheat at the rate of two to three ounces, or two to three heaping tablespoonfuls of powder to the bushel. The best method of applying dust is to use a barrel mixer or box fixed in the manner of the ordinary cement mixer.

Since the copper carbonate is a dry treatment, the seed can be planted immediately after dusting, or held a long time. The effect of the treatment is permanent. Moreover, seed germination is not injured by the copper-carbonate-dust treatment.

HIGHWAY MARKERS NEED OF CITIES

Nothing to Indicate When Motorist Is on Right Road or Off of It.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Why aren't the standard route markers of the United States highway system more generally erected in cities through which the road passes?" a cross-country motorist recently asked the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. "I started from the western coast last summer over one of the U. S. routes and had no trouble in following the road across the country," he explained, "except when it crossed the larger cities. There were no markers to indicate when I was on the route or when I was off it. It is through the cities that we motorists are most likely to get off the route, especially at five-point intersections," he asserted.

Not Under State Control.

Officials of the bureau explained that the route markers in the various states were erected by the state highway departments only upon the highways under their jurisdiction; that city streets, which are connecting links, are under the jurisdiction of municipal authorities, and that the erection of the markers within city limits is up to the city officials.

Some Cities Erect Markers.

A few cities have recognized this need of the motorist, the bureau says, and have erected the standard markers on their streets. Since the standard route markers and danger and caution signs were adopted in 1925 for use on the United States highway system, 28 states have completed the marking of the system within their borders and under their jurisdiction, eight states have marked from 75 to 90 per cent of their roads, and four states have marked from 50 to 75 per cent.

Water Isn't Especially Good for Spare Tires

With tires carried on the side, the vogue of the day, it may be appropriate to make a suggestion for an improvement in fender wells.

Most owners note the way the wells catch dirt on the under side, and not a few of them appreciate that constant scraping and cleaning of these parts will result in the metal getting rather thin at these points. But how many realize that fender wells tend to wear out from the upper side because of water remaining in the wells?

This water isn't especially good for the spare tires, either. Accordingly, some means should be provided whereby it could be drained off.

Why not drill a small hole in the bottom of each well?

Missouri Making Study of Automobile Crashes

A study of the automobile accidents in Missouri in a recent month revealed 1,219 accidents. Ten were caused by cars with no drivers; 33 were cars driven by intoxicated drivers; 47 were caused through losing control of the car; defective brakes caused 10; tire blowouts, 11; skidding, 29; 15 were caused by "the other fellow," who forced them into ditches; 19 were caused by trying to pass another car; 15 resulted from drivers falling asleep at the wheel. One car was struck by an airplane and one driver was stung by a bee.

When Car Skids

Sudden slips in traffic occasioned by changes in signal lights make it necessary for motorists to avoid skidding in wet weather. Most of the new braking systems are equal to these unusual demands placed upon them, but it is well to remember that if the car starts to skid it is a good plan to release the foot brake a little and try applying the emergency, or holding brake. Sometimes the holding brake will serve to compensate for unequal adjustment of the service brake.

Big Motor Business

The following key-points are taken from the forecast made by Roy D. Chapin, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce:

1. Automotive employment in America will total 4,000,000.
2. Production will be on new high levels, buying raw materials in larger quantities than ever before.
3. Pent up demand for transport, held back in 1928, will keep sales active throughout 1929.
4. Highway building on all continents creates new transport needs.

Foreign Matter Sticks at "Neck of the Bottle"

The "neck of the bottle" in an automobile radiator is at the top of the cooling fins or tubes. Any foreign matter that floats around with the water always gets stuck at this point and the result is retarded circulation and a tendency for the motor to over-heat.

Ordinary flushing will not remove serious obstructions. But you can get them out by the simple method shown.

Incision in Radiator, After the Shell Is Removed, Gives Access to Obstructing Particles.

Remove the radiator shell and with a sharp, strong knife make a curved incision. Then fold out the flap thus formed. Pick out the obstructions with a pointed instrument, push the flap back in place and solder it. Radiators are made of thin sheet brass so this is easier than it looks.—Popular Science Monthly.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Test the oil level every time the tank is filled with gasoline.

Now if some genius will devise a way to refuel automobiles while in motion the life of the speeder will be complete.

A driver in California sustained an eye injury as a result of an automobile accident. Police arrested the expugilist in the other car.

When your car fails to complete a turn in a space that seems wide enough for it, maybe you failed to start the turn with the wheels cut as sharply as possible.

If the water in the radiator needs changing it is best to drain and flush it immediately after a long run. The sediment will still be circulating and it will clean out much more thoroughly.

Scientists are trying to establish what was man's first conquest of space, but his greatest conquest of space was probably the distance he jumped when he saw a car about to hit him.

To keep the gaskets in position, while the transmission cover is being replaced, is not easy because it is often necessary to shift the cover around in order to get the pedals to engage the lugs on the ends of the transmission bars.

As considerable time is required for the water to pass down through some radiators in which the passages are small, it is well after the water has overflowed at the cap in filling to turn the motor over a few times and then see if it will hold more water.

"We're not hurt bad," Harris said. "The boys hold them bunched in good line. Slade was growing, with them too, was a case where the beef would benefit by the sense of it. It would cause a delay in the beef herd could be a strange range, with a bunch of many cows being weakened by the means.

Those not branded by this alleged bounty system were quick to grasp the beautiful simplicity of it all. Some recalled that a similar rumor, supposed to have originated with old Con

It had the effect of causing the men so branded to view all others with suspicion.

It Had the Effect of Causing the Men So Branded to View All Others With Suspicion.

Ristine, had wiped out the wild bunch that preyed on the Nations Cow-trail—that the Gallatin clean-up had resulted from a like report which Al Moody was reported to have launched.

It had the effect of causing the men so branded to view all others with suspicion, as possible aspirants out to collect the bounty on their heads. The reference to the fast saddle horse was guaranteed that no questions would be asked before the price was paid and no questions answered after the recipient had ridden away from the Three Bar with his spoils.

Yet, if the thing were true, it was the most flagrant violation of the law ever launched, even in the Coldriver Strip where transgression was the rule. For the branded men were not wanted on any charge. It was merely the wholesale posting of rewards for the lives of some fifteen citizens whose standing in the community was legally the same as the rest—prize money offered by an individual concern for its enemies without reference to the law.

On every possible occasion Harris flatly denied that there was a shred of truth in the report. But these very natural denials had served only to strengthen men's belief in the truth of the report; and inevitably they had established a hard line that cut off the men so named from the rest of the countryside.

Some Good Bargains Made by Adventurers

Probably the world's best bargain was made by Peter Minuit, a Dutchman, who bought the whole of Manhattan island from the Indians in 1624 for goods worth $24. Almost as good was that of Simon Van Der Stiel, one-time governor of Capetown, who bought the bay of Port Natal for $50 worth of goods.

The East India company made a gigantic bargain in the year 1668. Charles II had just been given the island of Bombay as a dowry by his marriage with Infanta Catherine of Portugal. The king thought the place worthless—as the Portuguese had done—and allowed the company to rent it for £10 a year. In 1641 an agent of Lord Stirling's sold the whole of Nantucket Island to Thomas Mayhew for £40; eighteen years later Mayhew sold a joint interest to nine partners for £30 and two beaver hats! The island is now a separate county of Massachusetts.

A worth-while sale was effected by

Two Were One

It happened recently on a Fifth avenue bus. Occupying the preferred position next to the windows on three separate seats were a mother and two children. The conductor appeared and presented the coin box to the mother. She put in two dimes.

The conductor said nothing, but he looked hurt and waited. That didn't produce any effect, so he remarked to the mother, who was young and good looking, "But there are three of you."

Harris knew that his own life was forfeit any time he was chanced to ride alone. He had not a doubt but that Slade had put a price on his head and that perhaps a dozen men were patiently waiting for a chance at him. Any man whose name appeared on the black list which he was supposed to have sponsored would overlook no opportunity to retaliate in kind. In addition to this there was always the chance of a swift raid on the men who had fled their homestead rights in the valley.

As a consequence Harris had taken every possible precaution. The full force of Three Bar hands had been kept on the pay roll instead of being shipped. These riders were stationed in line camps out on the range, their ostensible purpose being to hold all Three Bar cows close to the home ranch but in reality they served two ends, acting as a cordon of guards as well.

Three times in as many weeks strangers drifting in from other localities stopped in Coldriver and profanely reported the fact that for no reason whatever, while passing through the Three Bar range, they had been held up and forced to state their business in that neighborhood.

Hostilities had ceased. The Three Bar girl had anticipated a series of raids against the cows wearing her brand, swift forays in isolated points of her range, but no stock losses were reported. On the surface it appeared that Slade had given up all thought of harassing the Three Bar. But the girl had come to know Slade. He would never recede from his former stand. She noted that Harris' vigilance was never for an instant relaxed and it was gradually impressed upon her that the cessation of petty annoyances held more of menace than of assurance. Slade had seen that the Three Bar was not to be discouraged in its course and he now waited for an opportunity to launch a blow that would cripple, striking simultaneously at every exposed point and delaying only for a propitious time. In the face of continued immunity she was filled with a growing conviction of impending trouble.

Christmas had found the range covered with a fresh trucking snow which precluded possibility of a raid and all hands had been summoned to the home ranch for a two-day rest. The frolic was over and the hands back on the range. Harris sat with Billie before her fire.

"They'll be satisfied for another two months," he said. "Then we'll have to call them in for another spree."

This evening conference before the fire had come to a slightly relaxed end and it was gradually impressed upon her that the cessation of petty annoyances held more of menace than of assurance. Roger Ludlow, a year before Mayhew bought Nantucket. Ludlow gave the Indians six fathoms of wampum, 6 cents, 10 hatchets, 10 hoes, 10 knives, 10 pairs of scissors, 10 jew's harps, 10 fathoms of tobacco, 3 kettles, and about 10 looking glasses for all the land between the Norwalk and the Saugatuck river in Connecticut, extending one day's walk from the sound.

Peculiarity of Mankind

Human nature often manifests itself in ways that puzzle the scientists dealing primarily with material rather than mental research, according to chemists in the laboratories of the United States Department of Agriculture. As an example, one points out the history of efforts that led up to passage of the federal food and drug act. At a comparatively early date the chemists advocated and secured passage of laws requiring manufacturers of fertilizers to state accurately the constituents of the products they marketed. They next worked for the passage of similar laws controlling the purity of cattle feeds, and then finally of human foods. "Strange as it may seem," the chemist observes, "the control of the quality of the products used by man himself is always the last and most difficult to secure."

"Brick" City

Philadelphia early became the first brick home city in the United States. It is still perhaps the most nearly 100 per cent brick city of them all. One reason for this doubtless is the excellent quality and variety of brick manufactured in that district. And Philadelphia has never had a really big fire.

VOTES OF WISCONSIN:
On April 2nd the following questions will be placed on the ballot for you to answer "Yes" or "No":
1. Shall the State prohibition enforcement act, generally known as the "Severson Act" be repealed?
2. Shall the "Severson Act" be amended so that the State shall not arrest or fine anyone for the manufacture, sale or possession of beer of not more than 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight?
3. Your answer to both of these questions should be "No" for the following reasons:
1. The state courts now collect fines each year approximately $500,000 which is turned in to the common school fund. If the Severson Act is repealed or amended as proposed, this money would be lost and must be replaced by an additional tax on real estate or other tax to be paid by the voter.
2. If these questions are answered in the affirmative and the legislature follows such instructions, it would leave Wisconsin for the first time in its history without any state laws regulating the liquor traffic.
3. The repeal of the Severson Act means, among other things, a destruction of all state regulation or control of soft drink parlors, saloons, nuisances, speak-easies, drunkenness and the road houses operating in the night or day time not excepting Sundays and irrespective of location or environment.
4. The authorizing of 2.75 beer in Wisconsin would be in direct conflict with the supreme law of the land.
Your vote must be in the ballot box to be counted.

THE FARMALL

All-Year, All-Crop, All-Purpose

TRACTOR

The Farmall is an ideal plowing tractor. It moves handily and rapidly over the fields, leaving well-turned furrows in excellent shape for the operation and crops to follow. It is the same on belt work. All through winter the Farmall can be gainfully used about the farm. The built-in fly-ball governor supplies a steady flow of profitable power. The power is tempered to the load for efficient machine operation, which also reduces the wear and tear on the machine materially. And in the spring the Farmall will be all ready for planting and cultivating of row crops. It will do all farm power work that any other type of tractor of equal capacity can do in addition to all row-crop planting and cultivating operations. The Farmall is an all-purpose, all-crop, all-year tractor. On all crops, all jobs in the field or barnyard, it sets new standards for easy handling and operating efficiency. Come and see the Farmall.

JOHN MARX

KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN

—Twenty friends were invited as guests to a "Silver Tea" by Mrs. H. Lay at her home last Friday afternoon. The time was very pleasantly spent in a social way after which refreshments were served in cafeteria style. Mrs. Wm. Hausmann Sr., of West Bend was an out-of-town guest. The Ladies' Aid of the Ev. Peace church are giving a series of entertainments of this sort, the money derived therefrom to go to the benefit of the church.

—Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Rosenheimer, spent Sunday with their daughter Patricia at Jefferson.

—Paul Hausmann, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Hausmann Sr., sustained an ugly scalp wound requiring several stitches when he bumped his head on the open car door while crawling from underneath the auto Monday. The severe blow knocked the young fellow out for a little while.—West Bend News.

A Responsibility

When a man marries, he owes it, to the helpmate to equip her with the tools for making her home. One of the most vital of these is a checking account, because the various bills that the most of necessity contract for food, clothing and necessities, are most conveniently paid by check.

Starting a checking account is easy at this bank. Let's talk it over.

Adrift With Humor

HOT DOGS!

For over half an hour a small boy had been persistently whistling outside the butcher's shop. Finally the butcher could stand it no longer. He rushed out into the street.

"Stop making that confounded noise, you little wretch!" he shouted.

"I've lost my dog," said the boy.

"Well, do you think I've got your dog, then?"

"I dunno," muttered the boy. "But every time I whistle those sausages of yours move."

"She isn't doing what she is, but is trying awfully hard," replied the kid.

"And what is that?" smiled the friend.

"Reducing," said the kid.

Preferred Prompt Pay

The Aberdeen pulled a brother Scot from the water just before he went down for the third time.

"I'll remember ye in na well for this," exclaimed the rescued one.

"But, mon," said the other, "would ye no prefer to cut me off wi a shillin' noo?"

Hurray!

What Condemned It?

Miss Anne Teak—I'd like to see the huge picturesque ruff of the Sixteenth century revived.

Miss Cora Coalington—I wouldn't. They'd be horribly inconvenient for engaged couples to wear.

Guarding Her Health

Her Mother—I should think you'd be frightfully cold in that low-cut waist.

Fanny Phipps—Why, no. Don't you see I'm wearing my winter beads?

Good Reason for It

Innocent Bystander—What's all the excitement about? Gee! Some crowd is gathering.

Copper—Oh, only a doctor fainting. He met one of his patients on the street and the patient paid his bill.

Served Its Purpose

The Assistant—I see you sold that new Park model suit. I didn't think it so awfully fetching.

The Modiste—I think it was. It fetched $375.

The Straight and Narrow

Champion Trotting Horse Bolts Track to Eat Grass

An inordinate appetite for fresh grass is the reason for the wearing of blinkers by Uranie, France's champion trotting mare and about the only trotter in Europe which can turn in around two minutes for the mile.

The possessor of a kindly temper, the mare, calm and cool at the post, never shies or breaks during a race and horsemen were inquiring of Trainer Capovilla why he found it necessary to put blinkers on her.

"So that she won't run out if she sees a grass patch alongside the track," Capovilla replied. "She pulled that stunt on me once in Brussels when as a three-year-old and leading her field by 20 yards, she suddenly halted and bolted into the landscape."

He explained that Uranie was allowed to roam at large in the fields, near Bordeaux until she was nearly three years old and she could never get out of the habit of nibbling a few blades of grass, regardless of time, place or conditions.

CONNIE MACK IN HIS 29TH SEASON

McGraw Has Won More Pennants Than Manager of A's.

This year is Connie Mack's twenty-ninth season with the Athletics and John McGraw's twenty-seventh with the Giants.

At sixty-seven Connie Mack begins another term with his Athletics, a club he directed even before the best days of Chief Bender, Eddie Plank, Eddie Cooney, Amos Strank, Eddie Collins, Frank Baker, Rube Oldring and others, of the great old Philadelphia machine that swept the baseball world in three of the four years between 1910 and 1913.

McGraw, Mack's junior by eleven years, has been showing the Giants the way to preseason headquarters ever since 1903. His career has been even more remarkable than that of the A's chieftain, as the Little Napoleon has won ten pennants to Mack's six. Both have three world's championships to their credit.

Perhaps these old masters of the game are not as spry as when they first assumed charge of their clubs, but they have the enthusiasm of managers half their age.

McGraw is with his Giants at San Antonio, his bulky form incased in much garbage of flannels, calling instructions to his hopefuls and taking a bat occasionally to shoot a grounder or a fly out to a player under special scrutiny.

Over at Fort Myers, Fla., is the dignified Mack, dressed in mufli, with the inevitable piece of program or newspaper in hand, viggwagging to this player or that how to play for certain types of batters.

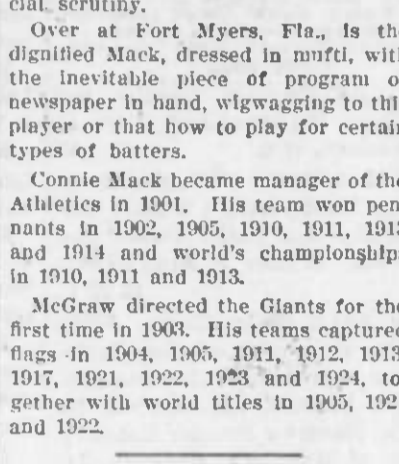

Connie Mack became manager of the Athletics in 1901. His team won pennants in 1902, 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914 and world's championships in 1910, 1911 and 1913.

McGraw directed the Giants for the first time in 1903. His teams captured flags in 1904, 1905, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1917, 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924, together with world titles in 1905, 1921 and 1922.

Little Gene and his sister were preparing for bed. Eva had said her prayers but Gene refused steadfastly to do so. After gentle persuasion his mother gave it up and said: "All right, Eugene, if you want to be a bad boy and not say your prayers, it's all right with me. But tonight when you and sister are asleep sister will have a guardian angel to watch over her and you will not."

"I don't care," Gene replied. "Sister's angel can watch over me, too."

Ohio's Cage Star

George Van Heyde, who played center on Ohio State, was one of the best scorers of the Western conference. This was his last season on the team.

"Another Mathewson" in Big Show From Bucknell

Almost a generation ago Bucknell sent Christy Mathewson, baseball and football star, into the National league. Matty had a hard time for a while. New York sending him to Norfolk, only to get him back in a trade for Amos Rusie after Cincinnati had taken Matty for a trial.

Now comes Bucknell with "another Mathewson." The young man's name is Ed Halket, and he is better known to followers of football than to those who are interested in college baseball.

Like Matty, Halket was a great back, a fine kicker. Like Matty, Halket has made his mark as a varsity hurler. And now comes the word that in June Halket will report to the St. Louis Cardinals.

It is about time the colleges gave the majors a real pitcher. Varsity baseball has sent up quite a few first-rate hurlers in recent years, but his contributions to the pitching ranks have been few and none too successful.

Wales to Sell Stable; Keeps Faithful Hunter

There is one horse in the stables of the prince of Wales that will never leave its royal master no matter how urgently his new responsibilities require the prince to abandon hunting.

It is the hunter, "Just An Idea," which has won special affection, carrying the prince through six seasons without a single falter. This master of the hounds was unavailable only once, when it was laid up a few weeks after straining its back taking a fence.

The faithful hunter's retirement to the prince's farm at Lenton was disclosed in the catalogue announcing the sale of his hunters in view of his decision to curtail hunting activities. The catalogue read:

"Entire stud with exception of one old horse."

Barton Jumps Nicely

Billy Barton, Howard Bruce's American-born candidate for the Grand National, is doing well and his stable connections have great hopes of winning the race. J. Wilkins, head man at the Hon. Aubrey-Finching's establishment, said:

"We took Billy out for some jumping practice, and he took the jumps in fine style. He is in good condition after the winter. He cuts well and is jumping finely. We have every hope of winning the big race this year."

SCIATICA

YOU have undoubtedly used Bayer Aspirin for headaches and know how promptly and completely these tablets relieve the pain. They are even more wonderful in the relief of such serious suffering as sciatica; lumbago; rheumatism and those aches and pains that are bone deep. They don't affect the heart, and they do dispel the pain. There is nothing quite like genuine Bayer Aspirin, but see that you get the genuine. It has Bayer on the box and inside are proven directions for many important uses it is well to know.

Saves Time, Too
Little Gene and his sister were preparing for bed. Eva had said her prayers but Gene refused steadfastly to do so. After gentle persuasion his mother gave it up and said: "All right, Eugene, if you want to be a bad boy and not say your prayers, it's all right with me. But tonight when you and sister are asleep sister will have a guardian angel to watch over her and you will not."

"I don't care," Gene replied. "Sister's angel can watch over me, too."

Poppies Battle Symbol

Superstition looks upon poppies that bloom on battlefields as the blood of the slain soldiers. The Romans regarded the flower as the symbol of death and dedicated it to Somnus, god of sleep. A strange fact about the poppy is that when placed with other flowers it will either wilt or cause them to droop and die.

If Back Hurts Flush Kidneys

Drink Plenty of Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Looking Into the Future

The Lover—I must get my fiancée a birthday present. What could you suggest?

The Cynic—Oh, a stickpin or a cigarette case—something you can use when she breaks off with you and sends it back.—Border Cities Star.

You make your own sunshine; but maybe it depends on some gland.

YOU CAN'T DYE with Good Intentions

You can get results—after a fashion—with any old dye; but to do work you are proud of takes real aniline. That's why we put them in Diamond Dyes. They contain from three to five times more than other dyes on the market. Cost more to make? Surely. But you get them for the same price as other dyes.

Next time you want to dye, try them. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look; of streaking or spotting. See that the colors keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Many Nationalities Now Playing Ball in Africa

Baseball has come to northern Africa at last, and in the shadow of ancient Carthage "El Bingo," the Babe Ruth of the most natural sand diamonds in the world, is a greater hero than the illustrious warrior Hannibal.

An American, Dr. C. Guyer Kelley, of the board of foreign missions, introduced the game at Tunis, Northern Africa, and such was the enthusiastic response of the Arab youth that the Tunisian league, comprising no fewer than 16 clubs, was organized within a month after the first ball was pitched.

Nine races are represented among the players, nearly as many nationalities playing as there are gloves and bats. French, Spanish, Italian, Maltese, Arab, Kabyle, Jewish, Greek and Turkish players, more than 300 of them, share 32 gloves and have about 40 bats to wield.

Pretty Skater

As Fighters Grow Rich They Become Very Timid

Funny how these top-rank fighters begin to moan in advance over injuries they seldom receive and for which, if received, they would be amply compensated. While they are preliminary battlers, they take all manner of risks without a murmur. Pride of craft and a ham sandwich are all the rewards they crave. As they climb and become big earners, they become more precious to themselves—and that's why we are having so many clinching matches and glove-grabbing contests as compared to heart-whole fights of the Dempsey-Firpo type.

Enjoyable Trip

The trip to the West coast for the East-West football game was one of the most enjoyable experiences that I have ever had," says Chuck Bennett of Indiana.

"They treated us splendidly during all of our stay in Frisco. Food? If we had eaten all that was placed before us we would never have been able to play football!"

According to Bennett, the motto of Nowack of Illinois was "a gallon o' guts and a bucket o' blood."

When Food Sours

Persons who think they have indigestion have only an acid condition. An effective anti-acid medicine, Milk of Magnesia soon restores normal digestion and does away with all that gas and pain after meals. It is so apt to occur after eating. What a pleasant relief to take! And how it restores the system! Unlike other salts—which is but a temporary relief at best—Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many acids in the stomach.

It does away with that heavy meal, or too rich dinner brought on the least disturbance.

Progress! French criticism of the game appears in a review of the game. Nouvelle, "White Shadows in the South Seas," the writer concludes that "although the game does not escape a certain amount of least the story is a marriage. A decided progress."—Kansas

GREAT DISCOVERY IN RATS AND MICE, NOTHING ELSE

High Livestock, Poultry, Cattle, or even Baby Chickens
The Only is a new exterminator which kills rats, mice, and poultry. It is so deadly that it kills rats in 15 minutes, and poultry in 10 minutes. It is the only rat and mouse killer that is safe for poultry. It is the only rat and mouse killer that is safe for poultry. It is the only rat and mouse killer that is safe for poultry.

Question

"If all the world were apple pie—"

Thus runs an ancient wheeze. What if it were, I ask, would I rate as a bunk of cheese?

What Condemned It?

Miss Anne Teak—I'd like to see the huge picturesque ruff of the Sixteenth century revived.

Miss Cora Coalington—I wouldn't. They'd be horribly inconvenient for engaged couples to wear.

Guarding Her Health

Her Mother—I should think you'd be frightfully cold in that low-cut waist.

Fanny Phipps—Why, no. Don't you see I'm wearing my winter beads?

Good Reason for It

Innocent Bystander—What's all the excitement about? Gee! Some crowd is gathering.

Copper—Oh, only a doctor fainting. He met one of his patients on the street and the patient paid his bill.

Served Its Purpose

The Assistant—I see you sold that new Park model suit. I didn't think it so awfully fetching.

The Modiste—I think it was. It fetched $375.

The Straight and Narrow

"Honesty is the best policy and its own reward."

"Why do you think like that?"

"You know that dog I stole. I tried in vain to sell it for $10 and at last took it back to its owner, who gave me $25 reward."

Smart Boy

"Why, Teddy! You're teaching the parrot saucy words."

"No, mother, I'm telling Polly about the words he mustn't say."

TEAM WORK

Pulling together wins, whether in business or for pleasure. The united effort of all concerned in the game is necessary to make new records for others to follow. The next big step in making dairying pay, is without question, the matter of producing uniform amounts of milk daily throughout the year. Flooding the market in the spring of the year, must of necessity keep prices down. Followed by an extreme shortage in production in the fall is even worse, for with only a small amount to sell, the little increase that price may have recovered from the spring surplus, will not make a satisfactory showing on the monthly check. To really make dairying pay, uniform production must be put into general practice. Be a leader in the movement. Start Now.

Let's BEGIN Repealing Prohibition by Repealing the STATE DRY LAW

Most people of Wisconsin are convinced that Prohibition is a Rank Failure. Four years ago they petitioned Congress to Liberalize the Prohibition Laws. NOTHING HAPPENED, because CONGRESS GAVE NOT THE SIGHTEST HEED TO THAT PETITION. Two years ago Wisconsin again petitioned Congress for relief from the intolerable Volstead Act. AGAIN NOTHING HAPPENED, EXCEPT A SLAP IN THE FACE—a severer law—the Jones Act.

Now, Here Is a Chance to Show Congress We Mean Business

Let us join New York, Montana and Nevada who have repealed their State laws, and Maryland, which never had one, and form a glorious group of original five states which, like the original thirteen colonies, will LEAD THE WAY OUT OF TYRANNY to FREEDOM. Other States will soon follow and ultimately National Prohibition will crumble.

The Way to National Repeal Is Through State Repeal

State Prohibition Laws operate to violate the letter and spirit of the Constitution of the United States, which guarantees us FROM BEING TRIED TWICE FOR THE SAME OFFENSE. As long as we have a State Prohibition Law the State Court may try and punish us for a State violation, and then the Federal Government may step in and in addition try and punish us in a Federal Court for the same offense.

Therefore, the State Law constitutes a lure through which a citizen may be trapped into punishment under the vicious Jones (5 and 10) Act, that is, he may be arrested by a State Officer under the State Law, punished under the State Law by a small fine or light sentence, and then he may be pounced upon by the Federal Officers, tried in a Federal Court and put in jail for five years and fined Ten Thousand Dollars.

INNOCENT CITIZENS, who fall under suspicion, ARE SUBJECT TO THIS PERIL.

State Prohibition Acts mean confusion and divided authority, for TWO LAWS dealing with the same subject, have to be administered by TWO COURTS and TWO SETS OF ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS OR POLICE.
