DROWNINGS OF THE PAST WEEK

Willard, 9 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koth of Boltonville, drowned, while swimming in the mill pond at Boltonville, Thursday afternoon at about 5:30 o'clock. With Willard at the time of the drowning was Lester Oetlinger, who did not go into the water. When Lester noticed what had happened to his companion, he immediately ran home, nearby and told his parents, who immediately summoned help and rushed to the pond. After diving into the water a few times, the body was recovered at a depth of about eight feet.

Willard was born March 25, 1920 at Boltonville, and leaves to mourn, besides his parents, three brothers and one sister, namely: Raymond, Alfred, Harry and Myrtle all at home. The tragic death of the unfortunate lad, is a great shock to his grief-stricken parents. He was a very likable young lad, bright and a leader among his fellow companions. He was a good swimmer, and just how he happened to drown is hard to tell. The body was brought to the Clem Reinder's undertaking parlors here the same evening, and on Friday removed to the family home at Boltonville, from where the funeral will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m., with services in the Luth. church there. Rev. Abbe will officiate. Burial will be made in the congregation's cemetery.

Joseph Eichinger, age 15 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eichinger of Richfield, drowned while swimming in Fries Lake Sunday afternoon. Reports are that the young lad either climbed off a pier and went beyond his depth or was stricken with cramps. Expert swimmers were nearby who tried hard to save him, but the water was too deep to reach him, and it took nearly 45 minutes before the body was recovered, and resuscitation methods proved fruitless. Besides his parents, he leaves to mourn, three sisters, Margaret, Madeline, and Anna, and one brother Michael. The funeral was held Wednesday at 9 a. m., from the home to St. Boniface church at Goldendale. Rev. Herriges officiated. Burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

MISTREATED CATTLE

Recently a group of Hartford boys, who were employed in the best fields of the Hartford Canning Co., north of this city, badly mistreated some cattle grazing in an adjoining field. They teased and tormented the cows so cruelly that one of them died, and the second was in bad condition for some days. The ringleaders in this deplorable act were soon ascertained. Both Chief of Police Murray and the Humane society of this city were notified and given the names of the youths. The laws of Wisconsin make it an offense to annoy or mistreat domestic animals, and it remains to be seen what procedure will be taken against the boys guilty of this deed. The lads committed an act doubly bad in its results; first for its cruelty and secondly for the financial loss the owner of the cattle suffered. (None of the boys' parents were able to pay for the destruction they had wrought).—Hartford Times.

CAR RUNS INTO TRUCK

Mrs. Michael Krueger, daughter Esther and son Albert of Campbellsport, were injured Saturday evening, when the car in which they were riding crashed into the rear end of a truck parked on Highway 55, a quarter of a mile south of Kewaskum. Mrs. Krueger was severely cut about the face, requiring a number of stitches to close the wound, her son Albert, driver of the car was slightly bruised, while Esther received minor injuries on her body. Blinded by the severe rain storm, the driver of the Krueger car was unable to see the truck parked on the highway for repairs, with the result that the Krueger automobile crashed head on into the rear end of the truck.

COUNTY FAIR ONLY FIVE WEEKS OFF

It will be somewhat difficult to make people understand that the Washington County Fair is only a little over five weeks off, as summer officially arrived less than three weeks ago. The Fair this year is held on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Aug. 17, 18 and 19. This is over two weeks earlier than last year. October formerly was the accepted month in which to hold the County Fair. In recent years it shifted into September, to avoid rainy spells which came with ominous regularity, and also to avoid early chilly weather of the past few years with their short summers. When the County Fair was established, just 71 years ago, the idea was to hold it just before winter arrived in good earnest. Thus we find that the first Fair came off in the second half of November, 1858, on the Courthouse square in West Bend.

Another change will be noted in the County Fair dates of this year. So far it was held exclusively on the first half, the middle or the last half of the week. This year it starts with Saturday and continues over Sunday and Monday.

The great problem the Fair management had to contend with all these years was how to increase the attendance. After everything had been tried vastly enlarged exhibitions housed in appropriate new buildings, the pick of the best free acts and other up-to-date attractions, without much success, it was decided to take in Sunday as one of the Fair days. Sunday is the one day of the week when everybody, farmers and city people, are at leisure, and they often do not know what to do with it, or the greater part of it. Why not give them a chance to attend the County Fair on Sunday? To see a thousand and one fine exhibits, the pride of the county, to be thrilled by astounding feats on the open-air stage, to join in the bubbling gaiety and good humor of great crowds surely can not be called desecration of the day. There will be one powerful excuse less for staying away. People on Sundays like to travel in their autos, and a County Fair in full swing should make an ideal objective for a Sunday outing. Most likely it will attract motorists from a much larger radius than ever before, not only from this county but also from surrounding counties and cities, motorists that pass through who perhaps never saw a County Fair before and are curious to find out what it looks like.

There also will be night fairs on each of the three nights, which also is an innovation calculated to increase the attendance. Each day and night will bring a complete change of program of the free acts. The most superb and exceptional free acts have been booked for this year. These and many other amusement features, not to speak of the great educational and inspirational values, make it eminently worth while to visit the coming Washington County Fair held at West Bend on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, August 17, 18 and 19.

Mauel of Ashford. The petition asking for the detachment of the two towns from the Campbellsport district is signed by M. E. Theisen and five others. Notices of the meeting were issued by M. J. With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison—The new automobile traffic code bill, which establishes a maximum speed of forty-five miles an hour, is expected to reach the governor in a few days.

This code bill, introduced by the senate committee on highways, adds seventy-eight new sections to the statutes and provides a comprehensive traffic code for the entire state.

The code provides that the maximum permissible speed on all highways upon which a lower speed is not provided, shall be forty-five miles an hour. This applies to the open country. The original bill contained a forty-five mile maximum, but this was increased five miles by amendment.

The maximum permissible speed in a business district is fifteen miles, a residence district, twenty miles, and within the incorporated limits of a city or village, twenty-five miles an hour.

The popular pastime of "hitch-hiking" and soliciting rides is prohibited. The bill specifically states that it shall be unlawful for any person to be in the roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the operator of any private vehicle.

The code adds that pedestrians using highways, not provided with sidewalks, shall travel along the left side of the highway, and upon meeting a vehicle, shall, if practicable, step off the traveled roadway. Riding on the running board of an automobile also is prohibited.

The operator of any vehicle, overtaking another vehicle proceeding in the same direction, must pass at a safe distance to the left and shall not operate to the right side of the roadway until safely clear of the overtaken car. This prohibits the so-called "cutting-in."

The code makes it unlawful for the operator of a vehicle to operate on the left side of the highway upon any part of a grade or curve or when the operator's view is obstructed along the highway within a distance of 1,000 feet. Passing at railroad grade crossings and highway intersections also is prohibited.

The operator of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection or into a private highway shall approach the point of turning in the traffic lane nearest the right hand edge or curb of the highway, and in turning shall keep as closely as practicable to the right hand edge or curb of the highway.

Race, speed, and endurance contests are prohibited upon any highway. Driving through a safety zone is forbidden. The code makes it unlawful to follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent. Every windshield must be equipped with windshield wiper. The windows, side-wings, and windshield must be kept reasonably clean at all times. Signs on windshields and windows are prohibited.

One of the most important subjects which must be disposed of by the legislature before adjournment is reduction of income taxes.

The present trend in the legislature is for a decrease in income taxes and an increase in gasoline taxes. If there is an increase in the gas tax, it will not be more than 1 cent increase. How large the income tax reduction will be remains to be argued by the legislators.

The present administration has indicated that it will do all in its power to afford reasonable tax relief. The Daggett bill, known as the administration bill, increases the exemption for married men from $17.50 to $20, and for an individual from $8 to $9. Likewise the exemption for dependents is increased. The Daggett bill was introduced in March but is still before the senate.

It is likely that the upper house will move immediately after the present recess to find a solution of the income tax situation. Superficially, this would seem to be simple, but the difficulty is that even members of various factions have been divided on the amount of tax relief.

This does not mean that the administration lacks a plan of tax relief that can be adopted by this legislature. It merely indicates that the taxation situation has not been sufficiently debated this session to afford a compromise.

It may be that the governor will be obliged to arrange meetings to reach an agreement on the income taxation situation.

Veto of a bill providing that each city with a population of 700 or less have but one representative on the county board was announced by Gov. Walter J. Kohler. The bill did not alter the existing law which permits a city of 701 or more population to have as many as four representatives, the governor noted.

News of Wisconsin

Spooner—The Washburn county chapter of the Red Cross was reorganized here last week and this city was selected as the county headquarters.

Rhineland—The third tuberculosis test of Oneida county dairy cattle has been started. Three state veterinarians are at work and will have the test completed early in August.

Janesville—"Rock county farmers are cutting the heaviest crop of hay grown in my experience with the county," said County Agent R. T. Glasco. "Some farmers near Evansville were cutting alfalfa which should go two and a half tons to the acre."

Madison—There are 9 per cent fewer spring pigs in Wisconsin than there were a year ago and 8 per cent fewer in the country, the federal-state crop reporting service here said in a recent report.

Menominee—The Dunn county No. 1 association broke all past records in May when herds averaged 972 pounds of milk and 40.8 pounds of butter fat for 517 cows.

Granton—A 4-month-old pure bred Holstein calf was sold for $205 to a buyer from Lynn, Kas., at an auction sale of pure bred cattle held on the farm of H. E. Williams, one mile east of this village.

Winter—A tornado swept a five-mile stretch along the Sawyer and Washburn county line, demolishing a dozen buildings on five farms. Four farmhouses were wrecked but no one was severely hurt.

Appleton—Tragedy stalked into the ranks of the Lenz family at Little Chute for the second time in two weeks when Joseph Lenz, 31, died as the result of injuries received at the Riverside Pulp & Paper Co. plant. His brother, Theodore Lenz, 39, was electrocuted at the same mill two weeks ago.

Madison—Cabbage maggots have announced their appearance by attacking and destroying young cabbage plants in many sections of the state. Entomologists at the Wisconsin college of agriculture were first informed of outbreaks of the pest in Brown county, but later reports indicate that it is widespread throughout the state.

Owen—The State Bank of Owen was held up by three armed bandits here who escaped in an automobile with $8,800 in cash and currency and approximately $5,000 in negotiable securities. Only $35.18 was left in the bank when the robbers left it. This was in a money changing machine that the bandits apparently could not take time to manipulate.

Rice Lake—The steady increase in the price of Barron county dairy cattle shipped to other states and countries is reflected in a new high figure of $301,571 for 2,670 dairy cattle sold in 1928 by the Barron County Holstein association. Total shipments were 112 cars in 1928 as against 124 in 1927, which was the peak year and may never be surpassed. The average price received for dairy stock the first year the association operated in 1924 was $80 as against an average of $113 last year.

Madison—A new national record in the "farmers' class" milkings has been established by Winconsin Mandy Homestead, a Wisconsin 4-year-old Holstein, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. On a two-time milking, with a milking machine, Mandy produced as a junior 4-year-old 852.48 pounds of butter fat in 29,114 pounds of milk in 305 days. This is 15.4 pounds more butter fat and 1,047 pounds more milk than the previous record holder, a cow owned at Cedar Grove, N. J.

Madison—Another outbreak of rabies in Vernon county July 2 will result in an additional 90 days of quarantine on dogs in that county, according to Dr. C. A. Deauman, state veterinarian. Vernon county already was under quarantine which would have ended Aug. 10, but a 90-day extension from the latest outbreak will carry it over to Oct. 2. Eight counties are under quarantine for rabies. They are Vernon, La Crosse, Crawford, Outagamie, Dane, Milwaukee, Rock and Walworth.

Milwaukee—Premiums totaling $114,791.75 will be awarded exhibitors of livestock, poultry and products of the farm and garden at the Wisconsin State Fair, Aug. 28 to 31. It was announced by Fred C. Borchardt, Jr., exposition manager. For a number of years it has been difficult to find accommodations for the thousands of exhibitors. This year will be no exception, judging from early indications. The "overflow" from the regular departmental buildings will be handled in tents, Mr. Borchardt said. There will be at least 1,400 cattle exhibits, according to A. O. Collettine, of the state college of agriculture, who directs the department. Nearly $28,000 will be distributed to cattle exhibitors.

Milwaukee—Market quotations: Butter—Creamery, fresh extras, tubs, 41c; extra firsts, 41c@41 1/2c. Cheese—Twins, 18 1/2@19c; dairies, 20@20 1/2c; young Americas, 19@19 1/2c; brick, 20@20 1/2c; limburger, 22@22 1/2c. Eggs—Fresh gathered firsts, 29 1/2c. NEW FARM BOARD TO BEGIN WORK JULY 15

Organization Is to Be Completed at Once.

Washington. — President Hoover's new farm board will hold its first meeting on Monday, July 15. The President fixed this date, although three of the eight appointive members remain to be announced.

It was indicated that the President expects to have at least two additional members named in advance of the July 15 meeting. In any event he is anxious to lose no time in getting the work organized. Already five members have been named, and with Secretary of Agriculture Hyle, who is an ex-officio member, there are now six out of nine ready for service.

W. F. Schilling of Minnesota is again in the running for appointment as the dairy member of the board. Mr. Schilling, who is head of a dairy cooperative, was supported strongly for the appointment, but the President offered the place to W. S. Moscrip, secretary of the same organization. Mr. Moscrip refused to accept and urged the naming of Mr. Schilling.

One of the members yet to be named will be a representative of the wheat growers.

Originally it was supposed that one of the three still to be selected would be some one experienced in finance, inasmuch as the President indicated a belief that there should be a financier as well as a business man on the board. Some of the co-operative representatives on the board, however, are experienced in finance. C. C. Teague of California, representing fruit and nut co-operatives, is vice president of one of the largest banks in Los Angeles.

James G. Stone of Kentucky, the tobacco member and vice chairman, is a director of a national bank and of a joint state land bank. Carl Williams of Oklahoma, farm editor and cotton co-operative representative, is a bank director. Alexander Legge of Chicago, the chairman of the board, has had extensive business and financial experience.

The other member is C. B. Denman of Missouri, live stock man.

The first task of the board at its initial meeting will be to complete its organization, decide upon necessary employees, and locate its offices. Senator Reed Smoot (Rep., Utah), chairman of the public buildings commission, has indicated that the board might be assigned to quarters in the old Southern Railroad building. The railroad is vacating these offices, the government having bought the building with a view eventually to tearing it down to make way for one of the new departmental structures.

Some weeks are likely to elapse before the first stabilization corporation is set up, presumably to deal with the wheat situation. The board first must make a commodity advisory council to make recommendations as to methods of handling the wheat problem. A proposal for the creation of a wheat stabilization corporation must come from wheat co-operatives. After the formation of a stabilization corporation is approved by the board it will be able to obtain loans from the revolving fund authorized by the law, of which $150,000,000 has been appropriated already.

It is the impression that both President Hoover and Chairman Legge will be anxious that the loan fund be administered conservatively, with a view to avoiding losses. There is no likelihood that the board will approve the arbitrary purchase of sufficient quantities of a commodity to insure high prices, unless there is a reasonable chance that the commodity can later be marketed without substantial loss.

Girl, 21, Murders and Burns Her Sutor's Body

Naperville, Ill.—A twenty-one-year-old girl confessed to strangling her sweetheart with his own belt and then burning him as a human torch—the first torch murder on record by a woman.

The girl is Miss Laura Weaver, of Wyoming, Ill. Her victim was Wilmer T. Kitzelman, fifty-two, of Wyoming. Thirty miles she hauled Kitzelman's body after the slaying to a lonely roadside near the village of Annewan, she admitted. There she threw the corpse into a reed-filled ditch, drenched it with naphtha and fired it. The body was found the day after the murder.

Miss Weaver was arrested at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Weisenberger, in Naperville, Ill. Her confession was made a few hours after her arrest.

Helen Willis.

Wimbledon, England.—Miss Helen Willis maintained her position as queen of the tennis world by winning the English women's singles for the third consecutive year. POWERS TO ACT ON WAR DEBT AUGUST 6

Date Set for Conference of Foreign Ministers.

Paris.—France, Great Britain, Belgium, and Germany appear to have agreed on August 6 as the date for the conference of foreign ministers to study methods for putting into operation the Young reparations plan, although negotiations as to the place for holding it will continue.

The general impression in French circles since Sir William Tyrrell, British ambassador at Paris, presented Foreign Minister Briand with England's preference for London as the place and a single conference as the method, still is that there should be three conferences.

The French want a preliminary meeting to fix the basis of discussion, a second for work in completion of certain phases of the Young plan left over for decision by the government, and a third as a final plenary session. The French reply to the note Sir Tyrrell delivered a few days ago will be forwarded soon and will suggest this procedure. It also will reiterate the French opinion that the conferences should be held in Switzerland and not in London.

The French viewpoint is, that while Belgium and Germany have acquiesced in the British suggestion of London, they cannot have any objection to the choice of a city in a neutral country.

The Quai d'Orsay will question Brussels and Berlin on this matter before replying to the British note. The Quai d'Orsay is known to oppose the single conference method proposed by England and Germany. It is felt here that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to liquidate all the questions pending in one meeting. France insists that the Young plan must first be accepted and ratified by all countries concerned before ways and means of applying it are discussed.

Kansas Wheat Shipments Indicate Car Shortage

Topeka, Kan.—With shipments of wheat breaking all records and conditions threatening a serious car shortage, Governor Reed announced that he has asked R. E. Clark, secretary of the Trans-Missouri-Kansas shipping board, to establish his headquarters in the governor's office so that closer tab on the car situation might be kept.

The farmers are dumping their wheat on the market as fast as they can get it from the combines and threshing machines, information received by the governor indicated.

One day there were 1,102 loaded wheat cars on the tracks in Hutehinson, the largest number ever reported in that city.

If the car shortage situation becomes more serious and some grain men continue to hold cars loaded with wheat to take advantage of the rising market, it is possible, some observers say, that embargoes may have to be placed temporarily on some of the terminals.

DIPLOMATIC POSTS SOON TO BE FILLED

Places Have Been Offered to Edge and Doctor Work.

Washington.—Five important diplomatic posts are to be filled by President Hoover and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson within the next few weeks. With the 1931 budget out of the way by the middle of this month, the President and his secretary of state will concentrate the latter part of July on the task of naming five new ambassadors to Paris, Tokio, Madrid, Rome and Berlin.

There seems to be no doubt that Senator Walter E. Edge (Rep., N. J.) will go to France as the American ambassador in the late fall after the major work of the special session of congress is over.

Dr. Hubert Work, retiring chairman of the Republican national committee, can go to Japan as the American ambassador if he so desires. The names of the men who will receive the other three major assignments are still shrouded in mystery.

George Akerson, secretary to the President, said that while Doctor Work had been offered the ambassadorship to Japan several weeks ago by President Hoover there had been no recent indications that the Republican leader would accept. Doctor Work's first reaction to the offer of the ambassadorial position was negative. There have been recent reports that the President has again urged him to reconsider his refusal, but these rumors have not been confirmed.

Examination of the names which have been suggested for ambassadorial positions during the Hoover administration indicates that "career men" in the American foreign service may not fare as well as they did during the Coolidge occupancy of the White House. Thus far, none of the possibilities mentioned for the five vacant diplomatic positions have been members of the foreign service.

Secretary Stimson, however, recently said that the "career men" will be well taken care of.

Others have been mentioned as prospective ambassadors and are regarded as still being in line for important diplomatic posts abroad. They are John W. Garrett of Baltimore; and Irwin Laughlin of Pittsburgh.

Just what places will be assigned to Mr. Garrett and Mr. Laughlin, in the event that they are given appointments has not been so definitely fixed in circles professing to know the Chief Executive's intentions with regard to the diplomatic service.

Laughlin, in addition to being minister to Greece, has been secretary to the American minister to Japan, secretary to the legation in Greece, secretary to the embassy at both London and Berlin, and was secretary to Henry Cabot Lodge during the latter's participation in the conference for the limitation of armaments in 1921.

Mr. Garrett, who has had long diplomatic service is also looked upon as a possible ambassador to Germany if Jacob Schurman should, for any reason, resign and the names of both Barrett and Laughlin have been heard in connection with Madrid.

Mexico Executes Bandit Who Murdered Americans

Mexico City.—The War department announced the capture and execution at El Zaun in Guanajuato of Jose Padron, one of the leaders of the rebel band that kidnaped and killed Joseph M. Underwood and C. C. Aistrophe, American mining officials, last February.

Dispatches to Excelsior from Arandas, Jalisco, said that the priest, Aristo Pedroza, "Cistero" leader, executed in the municipal cemetery there, really died from two pistol shots fired by Lieut. Maurello Varela instead of from the bullets of a firing squad.

As the priest was being led before the firing squad he attempted to escape. Lieutenant Varela seized him and led him forcibly to the wall. There Pedroza was said to have clung tenaciously to Varela, making it impossible for the soldiers to fire.

Varela then drew his pistol and shot Pedroza in the chest. The rebel fell to the ground and Varela fired a final shot into his body.

Texas Worth Estimate Drops Fort Worth, Texas.—Texas' potential wheat yield has been reduced 6,000,000 bushels by recent hot winds on the plains. This estimate is made by growers and agricultural experts. The original estimate on the state's crop was $2,000,000, which would have been close to a record.

Next Anti-Saloon League Meet Washington.—Detroit has been chosen as the site for the next biennial convention of the Anti-Saloon league, which will begin January 15, 1930.

Minneapolis Awarded 1930 Open Mamaroneck, N. Y.—The 1930 national open golf championship was awarded to the Interlachen Country club of Minneapolis, the first time that the links classic has gone to the North-west.

"Cozy" Right Word to Describe Artistic Little Bungalow

"Cozy" seems just the word to describe this little bungalow. The snubbed gables and dormers effectively break up the alternate wide and narrow shingle courses make most pleasing with shingles.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

In order to get the best effect with any home, its design should be such that it fits in with its surroundings. For instance, where there is plenty of shrubbery and some trees a house similar to that one in the accompanying illustration blends itself admirably to such surroundings. This bungalow has the exterior appearance of the home which is built in the woods. When set on a lot where there is a background of trees or enough trees to surround it, it makes a most delightful small home.

"Cozy" seems just the word to describe this bungalow. The snubbed gables and dormers effectively break up the alternate wide and narrow shingle courses make the outside walls most pleasing.

The house is small, being 30 feet long and 24 feet deep, and contains five rooms beside the sun porch and bathroom. It is of frame construction. The low roof expanse and the alternate wide and narrow shingle courses make the outside walls most pleasing.

Should Design House to Fit Surroundings

Every year new homes by the hundreds of thousands spring up in city, town and country all over America—and thousands of them, while they may be beautiful in themselves, appear to the discerning eye like an evening gown at a picnic, or like knickers in a drawing room, because they are entirely unrelated to their surroundings.

The blame for this widespread incongruity must be placed on those home builders who, with all the architecture of the Old world and the New to choose from, have selected what they admired most without regard for the climate, topography or foliage of the sections in which they build. Consequently we have dignified colonial mansions sitting stiffly uncomfortable on board western plains where low dwellings and graceful curves are in order, and we have Spanish type houses equally out of place in the New England landscape.

The point is that modern builders fail to realize that architectural styles of the past were developed over a long period of time and naturally came to conform to their natural surroundings. It is pointed out in Good Housekeeping Magazine, where Frank J. Forster, widely known architect, discussed the subject. Builders of the past, unable to ship stone, brick and lumber great distances, also were compelled to adapt their construction to the materials near at hand, he shows.

For example, in our early New England architecture, while of course brick and stone were occasionally employed, clapboards and shingles were the materials chiefly employed because wood was plentiful and close at hand," he says. "Local stone in combination with wood was the predominant building material in the Dutch colonial architecture of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, while the southern colonial houses were usually constructed of brick, with wood for general trimming and for the tall columns supporting the porticoes.

Synthetic Lumber Is Made From Wood Chips

The use of steam to explode wood chips into fiber is the ingenious process on the basis of a new method for producing synthetic lumber from sawmill waste. Specimens showing stages in the manufacture of the new product are now on exhibition in the national museum under the Smithsonian institution. This development promises to eliminate waste in wood, which has in the past run into incalculable sums.

The fundamental process consists in subjecting chips of a uniform size to a steam pressure of 800 pounds for four or five seconds. Then by an instantaneous release of the pressure the chips are made to explode into millions of fibers. To form boards, the exploded fiber is refined, passed over a fourdrinier similar to a paper machine and placed in a press. Almost any desired degree of hardness may be secured by simply varying the pressure.

No glue or other artificial binder is required to consolidate the fiber. The product is all wood. It has a tensile strength of from 4,000 to 10,000 per square inch. It is light weight and a good insulator. It is used for making tables, chairs, board, paneling and building material.

Use Good Paper Flooring is likely to warp and crack if it does not give the floor a very hard, even surface. The appearance of all this is a builder.

Adventure of the Scarlet

BARONESS ORCZY

busied himself with examining the fetlock of the mare who had gone lame. The wind had gone down and the torrential rain had ceased, but there was a thin mist-like drizzle that soaked through the men's clothing and chilled them to the bone. The tension had become acute. With nerves on edge the men, those who were in the open as well as those who were cooped up inside the diligence, could do nothing but wait while the time dragged on and the shades of evening drew in around them.

The silence in the woods was full of sounds: of the cracking of twigs, the fall of rain-laden leaves, the scrunching of earth under tiny, furtive feet scurrying away through the undergrowth. The great, awkward diligence loomed out of the mist like some gigantic, spectral erection, peopled by forms that breathed and lived and hardly emitted a sound. Only very occasionally from the interior there came the painful moan, quickly suppressed, from the poor invalid's parched throat.

And all at once something more tangible, a patter of feet, a call, a voice half drowned in the gathering mist. It came way down the road, from the direction of Mezeres. The men sat up, alert, quivering with excitement, their eyes straining to pierce the thick mist, since the sharp bend in the road hid the oncomers from view. The order was to feign inattention, to wait for the attack, lest the wily enemy senting a trap scampered away to safety. And the men waited, very much like greyhounds held in leash, quivering with eagerness, their hot, moist hands grasping saber and pistol, the while Captain Raffet, as keenly alert as they, carried on a desultory conversation with the driver about the mare's injured fetlock. Vaigue forms began to detach themselves out of the mist, coming round the bend, soon they gained volume and substance. The voice still calling gained power and clarity. It was much as Captain Raffet could do, by muttered word and glance of eye, to keep those human greyhounds of his in check. With the Scarlet Pimpernel perhaps in sight they were straining on the leash to its breaking point.

It was at the very moment that, throwing all prudence to the wind, the men suddenly raised themselves upon their knees and were on the point of springing to their feet, unable to contain their excitement any longer, that Charles-Marie, the loony driver, who had once been a baker's assistant, exclaimed joyfully, "Fardil! If it isn't Citizen Pianté home from market already!" And the next instant the oncoming figure revealed itself as that of an old man, walking along with the aid of a tall stick, and calling at times to his dog or to the half dozen sheep he was driving before him.

Citizen Pianté was not a gregarious disposition, nor of an inquisitive one apparently, for he passed by without a word or glance of curiosity directed at the troopers or at the vehicle. All that he did was to nod to the driver as he went by, while the men gazed at him wide-eyed open mouthed, as if he had been a specter. And like a specter he seemed to glide past them and out of sight. A minute or two later the twilight and the mist had swallowed him up with his sheep and his dog, and had smothered his monotonous calls in the veils of the night.

Surprise

Raffet had given the order and the troopers sat by with their rifles ready to hand, but when the captain ostensibly

"GOB" PAJAMAS FOR THE BEACH; SUIT YOURSELF ABOUT BRIMS

IN CREATING the now-so-chic pajama modes for beach, boudoir and resort wear, genius and imagination are co-starting in a spectacular role. Almost amusing in their eccentricities yet ever charming are many of the pajama costumes staged on fashion's program.

of white flat crepe. The trousers are of lighter-than-navy rayon faille. No less unique are the clever overall pajamas which are making a decided hit with novelty seekers. For these ordinary workaday overalls have proved the styling inspiration. However, instead of the customary blue jeans fashionists employ all sorts of pretty materials, such as, for instance, blue and white striped broadcloth for the overall trousers and bib with its suspenders which cross at the back. With this a sleeveless tuck-in blouse of plain blue broadcloth is worn.

Another pajama outfit which has a seagoing air about it, is made of white cotton gabardine. The front opening of the blouse and the hip yoke of the pajamas are eyelet-laced. A true-to-type gob hat tops this costume.

Tuck-in blouses have become of increasing importance now that belted pajamas are the mode. An interesting item in connection with the new ing little flower toques or with the "Frenchy" little draped turbans either of tricot scarfing or crochet visca if not delfty molded-to-the-head, soft-felted exotic straws.

Others in vanity fair are indulging in brims as wide as wide can be, many of which are airily transparent, others preferring the new and very smart line-like straws. Still others are "keeping in the middle of the road," wearing brims not too narrow or not too wide, which are individualized by all sorts of novel manipulation.

The modes pictured are a fifty-fifty proposition—three being wide of brim, three defining the brimless mode. A big-brim all-black hat, like the one shown first in the group, is a likeable possession—always "sets off" a summery sheer dress to perfection. Looks well, too, with semi-taillored and smart plump or gingham frocks. This one is a large half-shape embroidered with black chenille.

The KITCHEN CABINET

SOME BEST CAKES

A good cake is a joy for as long as it lasts. The proper beating of the mixture before folding in the egg whites makes a fine grained and tender cake.

Pineapple Cake

Cream one-half cupful of shortening, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar (stir in gradually), add two well beaten egg yolks, sift together three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt and two and one-half cupfuls of flour; alternate the flour mixing with the creamed butter and two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Beat well, add a teaspoonful of vanilla and the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in two layers. For filling—put three cupfuls of confectioner's sugar in a bowl with one-fourth cupful of cream and beat until smooth. Add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one tablespoonful of finely minced pineapple. Spread the cake with melted butter, sprinkle with a tablespoonful or two of chopped pineapple and cover with the filling. Use it for icing the top. This will make a delicious dessert using whipped cream over the cake. It may be baked in a sheet and cut into squares if preferred.

Butterscotch Cake

Cream one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar, add two well beaten egg yolks, add two-thirds of a cupful of milk alternately with two cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Beat well, add a flavoring of vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in two layer tins. Use the cake with the following: Two cupfuls of light sirup, one-half cupful of butter, one-half cupful of milk, Bo' until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Cool without stirring. When almost cold spread on the cake. Decorate the top with nut meats.

Date Kisses

Beat two egg whites until stiff, add one cupful of powdered sugar, one cupful of broken nut meats and one cupful of chopped dates. Mix lightly and drop by teaspoonfuls on to a greased baking sheet. Bake about fifteen minutes in a moderate oven. This makes about thirty cakes.

Gentlemen's Favorite

Grate a tart apple—a ripe Duchess is one of the best. Add sugar to taste and one egg white unbeaten. Beat until creamy and spread on layers and top of cake.

Summer Foods

There is no fruit more appetizing than fresh ripe currants. Sugar them well and serve as a cocktail, as a breakfast dish or as a dessert.

Maple Syrup Dressing

Heat one-fourth cupful of sirup to the boiling point, pour over three egg yolks, heating all the time, cook one minute; add one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and just before serving add one-half cupful of cream, beaten stiff.

Icebox Pudding

Take one pound of vanilla wafers, one large can of pineapple, one cupful of nut meats, one-half pound of butter and four eggs. Cream the butter with one-half cupful of sugar, then add the eggs one at a time and beat twenty minutes. Put the nut meats and the wafers through a meat grinder and make alternate layers of crumbs with the pineapple and the creamed filling until all is used. Place in ice box 12 hours before using. Serve with whipped cream.

Orange Souffle

Cover one-half box of gelatin with one-half cupful of cold water; after ten minutes add one-half cupful of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Mix two cupfuls of orange juice, two cupfuls of sugar, and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Beat six egg yolks to a cream and add with the gelatin mixture to the sirup. Put into a basin, stand in ice water and stir until it thickens. The juice of two lemons improves the dish; add one quart of cream and freeze.

Pecan Pie

Take one cupful of sugar, three-fourths of a cupful of corn sirup, one-half cupful of butter, three unbeaten eggs and one cupful of pecans. Measure the butter and melt. Mix the sugar, eggs and sirup, add each egg separately, beating well after each addition, then add butter. Pour into a rich pastry crust and bake in a very hot oven to bake the crust, then bake slowly for nearly two hours. If using gas lower the heat after the quick baking to just a head of flame.

U. S. Copper Production

The copper output of this country has been climbing for some time and now it has reached a point where the United States supplies more than half of the world's copper demands—52 per cent to be exact.

Young Dewberry Promising Crop

Plant Is Favored Because of Its Resistance to Many Diseases.

The Young dewberry, named for B. M. Young of Louisiana, who originated it more than twenty years ago, is now becoming an important sort in both the eastern and western parts of southern United States, according to George M. Darrow of the United States Department of Agriculture, whose trials with this dewberry a few years ago showed it to be promising for the South.

Centers of Production.

The largest centers of production at present, he says, are in southern Alabama and southern California, though there are extensive plantings near Wilmington, N. C., and Houston, Texas. Evidence at hand indicates that it is hardy from Norfolk, Va., south and west to include eastern North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and the states west of Texas, including Arkansas and parts of Tennessee and Oklahoma. In California, Oregon and Washington it is apparently adapted to a somewhat greater range of conditions than is the loganberry.

Resists Disease.

The Young dewberry is favored because of its resistance to anthracnose and leaf-spot diseases, the vigor and productivity of the plants, and the high dessert quality of its fruit. Recent tests indicate that the fruit is well adapted to freezing for sale in the winter season, and its usefulness after freezing for preserves, pies, and the table suggests this outlet as one of the most important for this berry. No planting stock is available from the department, Mr. Darrow says, but prospective growers will find the Young dewberry listed for sale by a number of Southern nursery establishments.

Equipment Needed for Creosoting Fence Posts

The only equipment needed for the open tank method of creosoting fence posts is a tank which can be heated. A good outfit is a galvanized iron tank three feet in diameter and four feet high. The creosote may be heated over an open fire with the tank on a temporary foundation. The posts should be thoroughly seasoned before treatment. The lower half of the post should remain in hot creosote (190 degrees F.) for a period of two to four hours. The posts should then be allowed to remain in the creosote as it cools. The tops of the posts such as cottonwood and willow should be dipped in the creosote for a few minutes. A penetration of one-half inch in the portion of the post coming in contact with the ground will give good protection.

Production of Oats

Oats production continues to increase in the United States despite the fact that the number of horses and mules on the country's farms is declining. That the demand for oats has been adversely affected by the substitution of mechanical power for animal labor on farms is indicated by the post-war trend in oats prices. Oats since the war have brought prices about on a level with those prevailing before the war. In comparison with the price position of other feed grains and most other agricultural commodities, this is an extremely unfavorable situation. Farm commodity prices generally have averaged about 40 per cent higher since the war than before.

Agricultural Hints

- Manure saved is money saved.
- Rape pasture taints cows' milk.
- Co-operation is not a sentiment—it is an economic necessity.
- If conditions are favorable, rape will make a good pasture crop five weeks after seeding.
- The home gardener may extend his growing season in the fall by the use of hotbeds and cold frames.
- On soils containing sufficient lime the most productive grazing crop known today is sweet clover.
- If treating their seed carefully grain growers can save hundreds of thousands of dollars, which are lost annually through plant diseases.
- Lime can be spread and disked in ahead of oats, corn or soy beans, or it can be applied after the corn or soy beans come through the ground.
- An ideal pedigree carries a uniform line of meritorious animals throughout.
- Alfalfa meal is not a good protein supplement for chickens, even in very small quantities.
- Sodium chlorate—one pound to one gallon of water—is the usual mixture for spraying weeds.
- Give your fence posts a treat. Properly treated posts of nondurable species last from 15 to 20 years.
- Soy beans can be successfully grown on soil deficient in lime, a natural advantage over most legumes.
- Not all plants need a "sweet" soil; some do better at a fairly high degree of acidity. It pays to know your plants.
- Besides conserving moisture and keeping down weeds, cultivation tends to break up the harbors of mice, add plant food to the soil, and make more available the plant food already in the soil.

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

From brimless to wide, wider, widest of brims—this hats register extremes this season. It is perfectly natural to suppose, for we have ever had the tradition handed down to us from generation to generation that springtime is the season for little close-fitting hats and that with the arrival of summer comes the call for large picturesque shapes to take their place. However here is where the "fickle" fashion does the usual "nickle"—makes the very tiny hats

Checked Coats

Everything is checked this season and especially smart are checked fabrics that reproduce the characteristic design of gingham. Among these are to be found tweeds in red and white, green and white or brown and white checks.

The Little Jacket

A whole fashion chapter might be written on the subject of the little jacket. It is so absolutely a part of the summer ensemble, which to be really smart one should have at least half a dozen. They are made on the

Bill for Baby

Little Grace lived in a district where scarcely a day passed when an agent or canvasser did not call at the door.

One day when Grace was called into her mother's room to see a baby brother who had just arrived, she exclaimed, "Why, where did he come from?"

"The doctor brought him in," replied the father.

"Oh, I didn't know he was the agent for babies," responded Grace. "What did you have to pay down?"

Browse Supplies Good Feed for Goats

Essential to Have Succulent Grass and Weeds for Does in Summer.

Ideal range for Angora goats should possess suitable forage at all times of the year, be well drained and free from continued heavy rains, and be adequately supplied with watering places and suitable bed grounds, according to W. R. Chapline, in charge of range research, forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Feed for Goat.

As browse furnishes much of the forage for goats on the ranges, and in the winter is the principal goat feed, an abundance of good browse should be available. Some important browse plants of high palatability are mountain mahogany, the bluebrush of the Pacific coast, Fendler ceanothus of the Rocky mountains, fendlera, bitter brush, and service berry. The oaks are less palatable but important browse plants in the West. It is also essential to have succulent grass and weeds for does at kidding time and during the summer.

Good range management includes conservative stocking, dividing the range so as to afford the best feed during each season, and obtaining as nearly even utilization of all parts of the range as possible. The grazing capacity of a range area is the number of animals which may be carried on it year after year without injury to the forage and with sufficient palatable feed. An average of approximately four acres of the grass-brush type and from three to six acres of the true-brush type can be allotted to each goat for year-long grazing.

Signs of Overgrazing.

Reduction in the quantity of palatable forage, increase in nonpalatable plants, stubby appearance in the browse species, and thin goats are signs of overgrazing. Overgrazed areas should have the number of animals reduced so the palatable forage plants will not be injured; and, if possible, such areas should be protected from grazing until after the main forage plants have matured seed. Open, quiet herding, and the bedding of the goats on a new ground every night are recommended.

Mr. Chapline discusses the management of goat range in more detail in Miscellaneous Circular No. 50-M, The Angora Goat and Mohair Industry, recently published by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Saving Feed by Culling Out Unprofitable Cows

The feed lot is often a more profitable place for old cows than the dairy barn. Cows that have reached the limit of their period of profitable production should be fattened and sent to market so that their places may be used for heifers that are coming into production.

Old cows that have started to lose their teeth, or that are no longer sure breeders, should be sold while they will still take on flesh. This pays better than to winter them with the idea of selling them in the spring. Usually such cows are in better flesh during the fall and early winter months than at any other time of the year. This means that they can be fattened and sold on the market with greater net returns than at any other season.

Three Kinds of Trees in Effective Windbreak

A windbreak to be most effective should consist of at least three kinds of trees, depending on the locality and the type of soil. The advice of a good nearby nursery is a great help in securing the right kind of trees. A dense growth close to the ground on the outside of the shelter belt stops snow. The main body of the belt should consist of at least six rows of both temporary and permanent trees. For the temporary growth Northwestern and Norway poplars and cottonwoods are the best, and white elm and green ash are among the best of the slow growing permanent trees. At least two rows each of white elm, green ash and poplar makes the best kind of shelter belt.

Groom Cows Frequently to Remove Loose Hairs

It is evident that the wisest course is, so far as possible, to prevent the introduction of dirt and bacteria into milk, and to use the most efficient straining methods to take out all of the sediment that can be removed.

Since the body of the cow is the chief and most dangerous source of milk sediment, preventive measures must begin there. Cows should be groomed frequently, to remove loose hairs, bits of manure, or bedding. In addition the flanks, udder and adjacent belly should be cleaned with a moist cloth just before milking. If these parts are kept clipped they will be much easier to clean.

Feeding According to Weight and Production

Silage and hay should be fed according to the weight of the cow. A good rule to follow is three pounds of silage and one pound of hay for each 100 pounds live weight. If silage is not being fed, feed two pounds of hay instead of one pound as when silage is being fed.

The grain mixture should be fed according to the amount of milk and its per cent of butterfat. Feed one pound of grain per day for each three or four pounds of milk produced, or feed one pound of feed per day for each pound of butterfat produced per week.

Find First Year Sweet Clover Equals Alfalfa

Tests at several corn-belt experiment stations have demonstrated that first-year sweet clover is practically equal to alfalfa for hog pasture. Second-year sweet clover is equal to alfalfa in the early part of the season but becomes woody and coarse by midseason and less valuable. Sweet clover, since it is a biennial, works in better with a hog lot sanitation program than alfalfa. On the other hand, alfalfa has the advantage of being ready to pasture earlier than first-year sweet clover.—A. W. Weber, University of Nebraska.

BEST SEED CORN EASILY CAN BE OBTAINED FROM STALKS AT HOME

Select From Own Patch Ears of Type Desired.

The home gardener who does not select his own seed corn from his own patch is missing some of the pleasure of gardening, say specialists at the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell. But they add that one should know just what type and characteristics he wishes to perpetuate in his corn patch and then use care in selecting and gathering the seed ears.

Those who wish earliness, for example, mark the stalks which produce the earliest ears of the correct type and also the earliest and best ears on these stalks. These ears are allowed to mature on the stalks and then are picked with the husks on, hung up to dry in an airy place away from rats and birds, and left there until winter or early spring.

After they are cured, the ears are sorted and only those of the most uniform type, shape, and size are used for seed. The best ears are well filled, solid, with good kernels and well dried, the college says.

Shelling is usually done by hand, and the kernels from the butts or tips thrown away. Before shelling, several kernels from each ear should be tested for germination. When one has developed the type, it is well to produce at least twice as much seed as will be necessary for home planting; something may happen to the crop the next year, and this extra seed can be carried over. Continued selection and careful growing will be necessary if the desired characteristics are maintained.

Agricultural Squibs

Farmstead beautification pays well.

Barns, hog pens, poultry houses and yards should be kept disinfected.

Garlic imported into the United States last year was valued at $6,179,000.

Wild morning glory is one of the most persistent weeds found in cultivated fields.

For successful marketing the farmer needs two things: knowledge of what he has, and knowledge of what it is worth.

More money for better seed is not an extravagance; it is a profitable investment.

On soils containing sufficient lime, the most productive grazing crop known today is sweet clover.

It is generally considered best not to plow limestone under, and if it is plowed, the depth should not be great.

The use of crank-case oil around hog pens, poultry houses and barns is very helpful in keeping down fleas, mites and lice.

Both the rotary hoe and the spring-tooth harrow or weeder have proved to be excellent tools for soy bean cultivation. The ordinary peg-tooth harrow is also a satisfactory bean cultivator.

Being a legume, soy beans should be inoculated before being planted. Upon examination later in the growing season you will find the nodules on the roots about the size of beans and a large number of them.

DR. CALDWELL'S THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming.

The Doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois.

It takes a man with strong will power to question the sincerity of his imagination.

Pitching Skill Grows With Age

GRANTING that figures do not speak untruthfully, it is safe to state right out loud in meeting that big league pitching of a kind that counts is essentially an old man's job. An old man in a baseball sense is anybody beyond the ordinarily youthful mark of thirty years.

A glance at the final report on the major circuit hurling performances of last season is proof of the correctness of the above contention. In the National league you find practically every veteran finger of any account up among the first twenty-five men, reckoned on a games won and lost basis. In the American league the proportion is about the same. The answer is that, while a pitcher may decline physically after thirty, he adds to his effectiveness by employing the cunning that years of experience pile up in his mind.

The American league boasts of two men who stand out above the other old-timers because there is no appreciable let down in their skill after long years of service. One is Urban Faber of the White Sox, who, among other things, is a "spitball" pitcher. The other is Jack Quinn of the Athletics. He, too, employs a "spitball." The strange feature of this is that a "spitball" always was looked upon as being the most wearing on an arm.

Faber, familiarly known as "Red," reached his fortieth birthday last September and made his first appearance in the big show as a Pirate in 1910. Last season, for a team that was in the second division most of the time, he accomplished 13 victories, against 7 defeats. Quinn, now forty-three years young and who was a Yankee when he pitched in 1909 when they called them the Highlanders, appeared in 31 games for the Athletics and won 18, while losing 7. Quinn pitched 212 innings, while Faber worked 200, but the former had considerable of an advantage in laboring for a contender.

That Grover Cleveland Alexander is the National league's shining example of longevity requires no mention. Old Pete, who for years has defied the soundness of training theories, becomes forty-two next February, but even with this burden on his shoulders he turned in 16 victories while losing 9 for the Cards last season.

Both Burtleigh Grimes of the Pirates and Dazzy Vance, the illustrious Robin, boast having gone past their thirty-fifth milestone. Last season with the Pirates, 16 seasons after his debut in the majors, Grimes won 25 and lost 14. Vance, who had his initial major trial back in 1914 with Pittsburgh, copped 16 and lost 14.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Eyeglasses are worn by four members of Harvard's baseball team.

Baseball is the national sport of Japan and it is more universal than in the United States.

Girls are barred from play in the junior world series and preliminary baseball games this year.

At the age of fifty-two, Joe Williams is still the pitching mainstay of the Homestead Grays of Pittsburgh.

First Baseman Red Holt, turned back to Montreal by Nashville, has been handed his release by the Royals.

Leo Dickerman, having bought his release from Minneapolis, signed with the Sacramento club. He is a veteran pitcher.

Infielder James Stroner of the Pittsburgh Pirates has been released under option to the Indianapolis American association team.

Bruno Betzel, manager of Indianapolis, believes that St. Paul is the club to beat for the American association flag this year.

The Bloomington club has had loud speakers installed in its grandstand to announce batteries and other items of interest for the fans.

Joe Cantillon, chief of umpires in the American association, was scouting for Washington in 1906 and one of his finds was Walter Johnson.

No team has ever won four consecutive pennants in the American league since its inception in 1900. The Yankees have a chance to do so this year.

In a desperate effort to bolster their shattered pitching staff the Brooklyn Robins have recruited Austin Moore, a young right-handed pitcher, from their Macon farm.

In one series Toporec and Sand made seven double plays for Rochester, enabling the Red Wings to take the first "crucial series" of the year from Baltimore.

Mike Kelley, manager of the Minneapolis baseball club, announces that he has signed Oscar Rust, star pitcher for the Notre Dame university team for the last three years.

A woman in Russia has been pronounced dead on five occasions in the course of a few years. An ideal grandmother, we should say, for some office boy in the baseball season.

DeWitt LeBourveau, who came to the front as a regular as soon as he was able to get into the game, has worked his way to the front of the American Association batting averages.

The Baltimore Orioles have Eddie Onslow, in baseball nineteen years, at first base, and when Eddie is hurt or otherwise inactive, Del Gainer or Frank Brower, both old-timers, substitute for him.

Late last season Billy Burke, Sacramento outfielder, was hit on the head by a ball and never recovered his form. He was recently released. A year ago he was one of the best prospects on the coast.

Frank Nekola, Holy Cross southpaw, denies he has received an offer of $20,000 from the White Sox, as has been reported.

Joseph Hassler, substitute infielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been released to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league.

A humane action was observed at Navin field during the St. Louis series. One of the local heavy hitters stopped the game while he removed a batter from his bat.—Detroit News.

"FIRPO" TAVENER HITS BALL HARD

Tiny Indian Shortstop Banks on Perfect Timing.

His nicknames are "Firpo" and "Power House." Who? Johnny Tavener, the little 136-pound shortstop of the Cleveland Indians. Why? Because he hits the ball further than any other big league ball player of his size.

Tavener never has been a .300 hitter in any league and yet opposing pitchers rate him as a dangerous batsman for the little fellow comes through in a lot of pinches with extra base hits.

When a major league scout visits the sticks to give some well-touted minor league slugger the once-over, he takes the fences into consideration. If they are close in, he easily perceives that the homers that Jim Cloutier drives over the barriers or the doubles he hits against them might be easy outs in a big league park. But, if Jim Cloutier is hitting a lot of triples, he knows that Jim is worth trying out.

Well, little Johnny Tavener always has had a penchant for making triples. Last year, for instance, he gathered fourteen.

"How does he hit a ball so far?" many a fan has exclaimed when the 136-pound Indian swatted a ball to deep right or center for three bases.

"Where does he get his power?" It is not power. It is perfect timing; and opposing pitchers will tell you that Johnny times his drives better than most of his rival batsmen. If he were twenty or thirty pounds heavier and could add the power to his timing ability he would be a consistent .300 hitter.

And to think the peppery lightweight started out as a catcher when he was a semipro in Dayton. But, when some one told him he was too small to be a backstop, he shifted to the infield. Along came Zina Beck, then managing the Columbia (S. C.) team, and signed him.

Johnny did not take the offer seriously, figuring that Beck could not be much of a judge of ball players if he wanted to give a trial to a boy who weighed but 125 pounds, as Johnny did then. But he devoted himself to adding avoirdupois and actually weighed 133 when he reported, and when the season opened he tipped the scales at 140 pounds.

Johnson Won't Pitch

Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington Americans, will not pitch this year. It was rumored early in the season that he would get into the box occasionally, but President Griffith has vetoed the plan.

Plan Stadium de Luxe for Paris Tennis Fans

Although it would have been difficult for the Davis cup tennis matches played in the new Paris stadium last year to have been better organized, something even more perfect is being promised for this year.

Up to the present the stands around the central court at the Stade Roland Garros have been of wood. On three sides the wood has now been removed and replaced by reinforced concrete. The whole undertaking will be completed in 1930.

One of the stands will measure nearly 50 feet in height, and the three others 25 feet. They will, when finished, accommodate some 13,000 spectators. Underneath there will be space for dressing rooms and a restaurant.

Japan Will Have Team in World Series Soon

Twenty years from now Japan will be ready to enter a baseball team in the world series. In the opinion of Dr. Iso Abe, "father of baseball" in Nippon and a recent visitor here.

Thirty years ago, Doctor Abe, fresh from his studies as a divinity student in the United States, imported the American game to Japan. Today crowds aggregating from 30,000 to 50,000 attend "big games" in the Orient. "Interest in baseball is consequently on the increase," said Doctor Abe. "Time will tell how soon we can produce a team capable of taking part in your great world series. Maybe 20—maybe 30 years."

Two Nebraska Gridiron Stars Likely to Turn Pro

Two Nebraska football stars, Edward ("Blue") Howell of Omaha and Dan McMullen of Belleville, Kan., announce they probably will play professional football next fall with the New York Giants. They said they had the contracts and probably would sign them.

Howell, as a backfield man, gained mention on a number of honorary teams the past season, while McMullen, who also was placed on several "all" teams, is a guard. They will report next September, they said.

Keeping Up Name

Horton Smith, young Joplin (Mo.) golf pro, is living up to the best golfing traditions of the name he bears. Although not related to MacDonald and Alex Smith, who are products of the Scottish angle of the game, the Missourian is playing about the most consistent game of the younger school.

Aids Base Runners

"Dutch" Zwilling, manager of the Kansas City Blues, relies on Ralph Michaels, his third baseman, to advance men on base when runs are needed.

Generally Michaels pokes the ball just out of the infield, yet he almost invariably advances the runner on invariance. Zwilling says he is one of the best valuable men in the American association in this respect. Until this season Michaels' hitting has been rather weak.

"First Catch Your Goat"

Uncle Sam has one debt that is somewhat embarrassing. He owes 25 goats and can't pay because he can't find the goats. Two years ago an agreement was entered into between the federal government and the state of Washington whereby the state was to ship 25 live elk to Alaska in exchange for a similar number of Alaskan mountain goats for stocking the Olympic range. The northwest elk have been sent to the north as a nucleus to future herds. But to date Uncle Sam has been unable to catch a single goat.

THE MERCHANT and THE COMMUNITY

Do you realize how badly we would fare if our merchants had to go out of business and leave us dependent upon mail orders or stores miles away from home?

People are beginning to consider the fact that, after all, they owe a debt to their home merchants. The man who makes it possible for us to get what we want when we want it is entitled to consideration for the service he gladly renders his fellow citizens.

Now, since we are to work for the growth and welfare of KEWASKUM, let us first support the merchant who plays such a vital part in the development of our community.

The man or woman who is not outspoken for his or her Home Town is against it. What attitude you take toward KEWASKUM and its merchants has much to do with the reputation and standing of our community among our outside friends.

The merchant is needed to bring your town into its own.
BOOST KEWASKUM AND SUPPORT ITS MERCHANTS.

Some Folks Make Resolutions While Others Make Money

For the real dairyman every month is just another month to reap a nice crop from his herd. There is something about caring for good cows, and doing it in the right way that makes a fellow have a little better outlook on life.
The next thing is good care of milk. Summer time is where the little bacteria are in their glory, and simply rejoice in the possibility of being able to grow fast in a can of nice warm milk. This is the time when every dairyman should be on guard, not with resolutions but with lots of good, cold water, night morning, keeping milk at low temperatures when bacteria cannot grow.
Most everyone knows the benefits of cooling tanks, but don't all use this knowledge. Better get in line for better quality.
Keep milk in cold water.
