MISS WISCONSIN

Send to this office for publication by John Coulter of Idaho, formerly of this vicinity:

On a pretty summer day, we did a fishing go,
Amid the hills of Wisconsin grand,
A pond was there, an old saw mill,
and a happy home
On Schrauth's little fishin' pond.
Aunt Lizzie came, and roasted wieners many Little Johnnie was there, and Willie
William too
With their sweet hearts true.

One has gone to far away Idaho,
And one is home, on the Coulter farm
Not far from the fishin' pond
Oh, it's Schrauth's little fishin' pond.

There was Lillie, and Sally and clever
Janette
There was Lena of Waukesha town,
All with baskets so full, the hungry
to feed
As did the Master, on Galilee.
Only one was missing, 'twas Ella
dear
"There's always a vacant chair,"
The wieners have cinders, and the fish
don't bite,
There's roses and mud all the way
And always as long as the pond is there,

As long as our hearts beat strong,
Our thoughts turn back to those happy hours,
On Schrauth's little fishin' pond.

CHURCH OBSERVES 50th ANNIVERSARY

The German Evang. Reformed Salem congregation of Wayne Center, will tomorrow, Sunday, July 21st, observe the 50th anniversary of the church. Special arrangements have been made and an interesting program will be given in honor of the occasion, to which neighboring congregations of the same faith and the public in general is cordially invited to attend.

The congregation was organized in 1879, and the present church was built in 1879, which year is taken to mark a half century of existence. The congregation was built up of the remnants of an older congregation which was organized in 1857 under the name of St. Jacob's Evang. Lutheran congregation. Some of the earliest pioneers of the town of Wayne, among them Jacob Boos, George Schaub, Anton Schmittel and Geo. Arnet, were among the organizers of that first Protestant religious body. They built a log church and their first pastor was Rev. Rech. The present church edifice of the congregation is of frame construction and the first pastor holding service in it after the change in denominational affiliation was Rev. J. F. Walsh.

There will be three services to commemorate the anniversary, one at 10 o'clock in the morning and the second at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and 8 o'clock in the evening. With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison—A surtax on incomes, designed to raise $4,000,000 annually for the University of Wisconsin, was approved by the assembly.

By a vote of 70 to 21, the lower house passed Assemblyman Charles A. Endong's amendment to the university budget bill providing for such a surtax equal to one-third the normal income tax rate.

This tax, according to the amendment, would be collected on net incomes exceeding $3,000, beginning next year. Present mill taxes on general property for university purposes and drains on the general fund of the state would be replaced by this tax.

By a decisive vote the assembly killed the Miller bill to create county boards of education as the policy making agencies for county schools. The bill proposed county boards to consist of five members to be selected at the spring election. These boards would be authorized to appoint the county superintendents, the supervising teachers and to have supervision over all school consolidation matters. It was the authority to supervise school district consolidation that caused the defeat of the bill.

A resolution by Sen. Herman Severson asking appointment of two senators to succeed the two who resigned as members of the joint legislative committee investigating all political campaigns since 1924 was killed in the senate, 14 to 11. Senators George Blanchard and Conrad Slesinger left the joint committee when the three assembly members refused to name either of them as chairman.

A 3-cent gasoline tax bill providing for the repeal of the personal property tax on automobiles was introduced by Senator George W. Blanchard in the senate. The bill would distribute receipts so that local units of government would not lose by the repeal of the automobile tax.

Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber blocked repeal of Wisconsin's blue laws against Sunday amusements. When the senate vote tied on the Groschmidt bill, already passed by the assembly, Huber cast the deciding ballot insuring retention of the blue laws which have been on Wisconsin statute books for approximately three-quarters of a century.

The assembly concurred in the bill to regulate the size and kind of fireworks that may be sold, stored, or used in this state.

The bill prohibits the use of firecrackers which exceed two inches in length and three-eighths of an inch in diameter, without special permission. Fireworks which exceed this limit may be used only in open fields, public parks, private parks, or on rivers, lakes or ponds, by persons or organizations that have been granted a permit.

A fine ranging from $10 to $500 and imprisonment in the county jail from thirty to sixty days is provided for violating the provisions.

The bill now goes to Gov. Kohler for his signature.

Appropriation of $4,180,000 to the nine state normal schools for the ensuing biennium, a $285,000 increase over the last two years, was advanced to third reading. The assembly concurred in the $230,000 appropriation for the superintendent of public instruction.

Gov. Kohler's three appointees to the newly created full time salaried state highway commission were confirmed by the senate. The confirmation of Jerry Danouhe, Sheboygan, was unanimous; that of Karl G. Kurtenacker, Madison, lacked two votes of being unanimous, and 10 senators voted against confirming Fred J. Seguin, Superior.

Legislators of the 1931 session will receive $2,400 for the term if the bill agreed to by a special salaries committee is adopted. The bill is about to be reported.

Gov. Kohler has signed the following bills:

Authorizing counties to retain 10 per cent instead of 2 per cent of fines and penalties collected on behalf of the state.

Permitting fishing in parts of the Wolf river in Langlade county during the closed season for trout.

Establishing wild life refuges in the town of Bay View in Bayfield county.

Increasing the number of sample ballots to be printed from one-tenth to one-fourth of the number of official ballots, and providing that 90 per cent be sent to the voting booths and 10 per cent be retained by the county clerk.

NAVAL PARITY WITH BRITAIN, U. S. UKASE

Warning Is Issued on Proposed Disarming Plan.

Washington—An important note on naval armaments, dispatched to England and the powers, makes clear the opinion of the United States in the matter of naval parity.

In the most recent note the United States tells the maritime nations finally that they must accept some new method for fixing the fighting value of ships, as outlined by this country, or there can be no hope of reductions.

The note also says that in any conference the United States will insist upon a navy equal with that of Great Britain.

This was learned after Secretary Stimson, Undersecretary of State Cotton and Secretary of the Navy Adams, were recently closeted with the President for one and a half hours.

It is understood that Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain, sent a highly important communication to the State department here as a result of his conference with the British admiral and Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and the American expert on naval armaments. In it he stated the views of the British and other powers as they have just been revealed.

There could be no confirmation of reports from Great Britain that a proposed conference for naval reductions had been finally rejected by that country and that any future action would have to be taken through the League of Nations' preparatory conference or through the Washington armaments conference, which is to meet here in 1931.

The impression in official circles, however, is that the British had made a counter proposal to that in which the United States laid down certain very definite methods of determining the fighting value of ships, most of which are said to be objectionable to the British.

It was taken for granted that the British have made some concessions to the American view, and that the door to a conference for actual reductions has not been closed, although the United States in the new note stands firm on her previous position.

London—Disarmament conversations between United States and Great Britain, initiated as soon as Ambassador Dawes reached English shores, were renewed a few days ago when the ambassador spent several hours with Premier Ramsay MacDonald in the premier's private room in the house of commons.

The conversations begun by the ambassador's hasty visit to Forbes, Scotland, and his luncheon there with the prime minister, were touched on again at the invitation of MacDonald.

U. S. Corn Crop Is Put at 77.6 Pct. of Normal

Washington—The condition of the United States corn crop was placed at only 77.6 per cent of normal on July 1, by the crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture. This would indicate a production of 2,662,050,000 bushels, the department statistics revealed. The total corn acreage under cultivation was placed at 98,335,000.

Winter wheat was estimated at 582,492,000 bushels, on a condition 75.9 per cent of normal on the 39,885,000 acres to be cut.

Indicated production of durum wheat was 58,278,000 bushels, based on a condition of 67.5 per cent of normal on the 5,357,000 acres remaining for cutting.

For other spring wheat the indicated yield was 193,090,000 bushels, with a condition of 74.3 per cent of the normal. There were 15,514,000 acres remaining.

Figures for all wheat indicated production of 835,809,000 bushels, with a condition of 74.9 per cent of normal and an acreage of 60,756,000.

Opium Worth $1,000,000 Found in Woman's Trunks

San Francisco—Eleven pieces of baggage brought from China to San Francisco by Mrs. Susie Ying Kao, daughter of the Chinese minister to Cuba and wife of the Chinese vice consul here, disgorged a fortune in opium when opened by customs officials.

The value of the opium was fixed by customs officers at $1,000,000.

Asked to name the persons in China for whom she had brought the drug, Mrs. Kao refused, saying that since she now knew the trunks contained opium, her life would be endangered by revealing the owner's names.

MARKED INCREASE IN MIDWEST INDUSTRIES

11 Per Cent Ahead of 1928 Is Predicted by Shippers.

Fort Wayne—Agricultural and industrial activity in the Midwest during the third quarter will be at a rate 11 per cent ahead of the corresponding period of 1928, according to estimates of the Mid-West Shippers' Advisory board in session here a few days ago.

The forecast covers the states of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, western Indiana and northern Michigan. A short time ago, consolidated reports of shippers' boards from all over the country indicated a probable increase of 7 per cent in business activity of the nation during the current quarter.

Comparing the months of July, August and September this year with the same months a year ago, the following increases in activity were forecast here for mid-west territory:

There will be a probable increase of 40 per cent in the movement of iron and steel, the actual carloadings of these commodities amounting to 61,900 cars in the third quarter of 1928, while the estimated loading for the third quarter this year is 88,500 cars. Likewise, there was predicted an increase in coal movement of approximately 32 per cent, from 380,000 cars in the third quarter last year to 500,000 cars in the next three months.

An increase of 25 per cent was forecast for the movement of hay, straw and alfalfa, while increases of 20 per cent and 15 per cent respectively were predicted in the movement of grain and of flour, meal and other mill products.

Decreases were reported in four lines, amounting to 5 per cent for poultry and dairy products, 7 per cent for canned goods, 10 per cent for sugar, sirup and molasses, and 15 per cent for sand, gravel and stone.

Polish Plane Falls in Sea; One Aviator Dies

Horta, Azores.—The race of the Polish and French planes to cross the Atlantic has ended in tragedy for the former with the death of Major Ludwik Idzikowski and the injury of Major Casimir Kubala in a crash on the sea near the island of Graciosa.

As a result of the terrific wind encountered by the flyers, the famous French aviator, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and his companion turned about and returned to France safely.

The Polish plane had radioed it anticipated landing here Saturday morning, but some time before that evidently got into difficulty and either attempted a landing at Graciosa, or the machine fell. An explosion killed Idzikowski as the plane struck the water.

Fourteen Dead in Fire

Gillingham, England.—Two more deaths brought the total fatalities in the fire display disaster to 14, with two other persons so seriously burned that they may die. The place of the tragedy was the verdant city park where thousands of townspeople gathered at a fête to watch "the realistic rescue" of a house on fire with thrilling rescues of the occupants of the house. It was a charity benefit for the Gillingham hospital.

25 NATIONS OPPOSE U. S. TARIFF RATES

Total of 38 Documents in Hands of Committee.

Washington—President Hoover, at a recent conference with senate Republican leaders, advised that the yardstick of "adequate protection" be applied to the tariff bill framed in the house. Senator Watson, Indiana, and Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, afterward said the President favors a "sane and sensible" tariff bill, but they would not attempt to say what that would mean as far as the pending tariff measure was concerned.

Washington—The protests of many foreign governments, or made by such governments' representatives in behalf of foreign commercial interests, were summarized by Senator Reed Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, dealing with the new United States tariff schedule. Twenty-five countries, including possessions, are represented in the protests, although the number of documents totals thirty-eight.

All manner of subjects are covered in the objections, ranging from textiles, plate glass, and cement, to bananas and cashew nuts. Although the protests generally are framed in careful and diplomatic language, there runs through all of them a note of warning to the effect that undue tariff burdens will react against American trade abroad. There are occasional intimations of reprisals or of tariff war.

The protest from the Austrian government, through the Austrian minister, Edgar Prochnik, presents the possibility of a tariff war.

The Spanish government's protest contains a threat to denounce the existing modus vivendi. The Spanish communication, dated April 26, is signed by the Spanish premier, Primo de Rivera, under his title of Marquis de Estella, and as minister for foreign affairs. It was transmitted through the American ambassador at Madrid. Specifically, it protests against increases on cork, olives, grapes, onions and dried fruit, as well as sanitary regulations which would affect Spanish products.

It is pointed out by the Spanish premier that not only is the trade balance unfavorable to Spain, but that the situation is aggravated by a series of restrictive measures and impediments on the part of the American government. Under the circumstances, it is stated that "it is difficult for his majesty's government to fall to take into consideration the importunities it is receiving, not only from especially interested quarters, but from Spanish public opinion in general," and that it might find itself obliged to proceed to the denunciation of the existing modus vivendi.

Besides this, the Spanish embassy in several communications, objects to increases in rates and says the proposed increase is so great that Spanish products in some cases will be shut completely out of the American market.

Senator Smoot, after giving out a digest of the communications from abroad, minimized their importance. He declared they were not as numerous as on previous occasions when the tariff was revised and were "mild" in comparison with previous ones.

Intimations were also made by Republicans on the finance committee that the foreign protests would not be permitted to have great weight in the fixing of the tariff rates.

Sound Muffling Now Demanded in Residence

Proper house construction will go a long way toward solving the problem of children and grownups living together comfortably.

This problem occurs in every household in which children are members. When guests are being entertained, the children usually are sent upstairs and are warned to be absolutely still lest the guests be annoyed by the sound of footsteps on the floor above. Even more distressing is the mother's attempt to keep her guests distracted, while water is being drawn for baths or while the plumbing is being flushed in the bathroom overhead.

Even if guests are not present, when father comes home with nerves all on edge from the racket of a day's work in office, store or factory, the children's noise is an unwelcome disturbance. The maxim that children should be seen but not heard often is carried so far that they must be scolded and repressed into quiet.

So for the sake of the muffled as well as of their elders, sound muffling is becoming part of the standard definition of livability. Up-to-date home-builders now demand qualities of construction which their parents would not have thought of requiring. Thorough insulation is the first of these qualities, and sound deadening is the second.

Wall Paper

In small rooms most people think it necessary to select tiny wall paper patterns, but this is not always wise. Small close patterns with almost no background, slant in a little room making it seem even smaller than it is. A good-sized pattern in light clear colors, with plenty of light background showing will do much to make a tiny room seem larger. Small scenes with perspective in the drawing are an ideal selection.

Knotty Woods Again Coming Into Favor

Imitation is a sure sign of appreciation and it is but a short step from the growing admiration for the old-time rooms paneled in knotty pine, to the present day fashion which favors the skillful use of other woods containing charming variations in grain effect.

This may seem to be something of an innovation, for, except in the case of the cedar chests, which are so often seen in bedrooms and halls, are always liberally bespeckled with knots, clear wood had come to be considered essential.

But an inspection of old furniture and the interior trim in rooms of other days, reveals that this has by no means always been the same. In fact, many examples of the use of knotty wood can be found, and when skillfully done, the effects are most interesting. The present tendency to use knotty wood is, therefore, not new.

Supporting and emphasizing this trend of taste are the very real advantages of conservation of wood re-

An Adventure of the Scarlet Pimpernel

By THE BARONESS ORCZY

And all the while blows were raining fast and furious. There was no lust to kill, only wild enthusiasm for a fight, a desire to be avenged on friends who had aided that rascal Lauzet to cheat the men of the district out of the golden prize.

"Give up the English spies or I'll squeeze the breath out of thy throat!" This from Gaspard's the butcher's son, who had telled his friend Ruffet to the ground and rolled over and over in the mud with him, the two men snarling at one another and biting and scratching like a couple of angry dogs.

Had they all gone mad, these men of Moisson? The issue of the struggle might have remained long in the balance had not Ruffet just then freed his right hand from the iron grip of Gaspard and discharged his pistol into his whilom comrade's leg. Gaspard rolled over onto his back with a groan and a curse.

"Traitor! Thou has murdered me!" he cried, while the blood flowed freely out of his thigh.

But the one pistol shot had the effect of sobering the combatants. The aggressors had pistols, too, and sabers, but in their excitement had forgotten how to use them. The sudden report, however, brought the soldiers to a sense of discipline; wakened them, as it were, from their surprise, and in a moment gave them a decided advantage over the undisciplined attacking party. This wild fistfight could not go on. It was unworthy of the soldiers of the republic. They were being attacked by a band of irresponsible young Jackanapes, whom the devil himself must for the nonce have deprived of reason, but it remained for the picked men of the rural gendarmerie to teach them that such madness could not remain un punished, and friend or foe, he who attacks a soldier of the republic must suffer for his wantonness. Far be it from the chronicler of these events to pretend that all these thoughts did surge clearly to the heads of the troopers. What is a fact is that from the moment their captain discharged a pistol into Gaspard's thigh they became masters of the situation. The fight between soldiers and civilians assumed its just proportions; there were a few pistol shots, some saber thrusts, a good deal of growling and cursing, while more than one stalwart besides Gaspard rolled over in the mud.

The fight had lasted less than ten minutes. When the first rush on the diligence was made the twilight was already fading into dusk. Now, when the last shot had been fired and the last of the hotheads had cried for mercy, dusk was slowly yielding to the darkness of the night. Ruffet called the soldiers to attention. They were still panting with excitement, some of them dizzy from blows dealt freely on their skulls; one or two showed a bunged eye or a bleeding lip, but none of them was seriously hurt. The hotheads from Moisson and Mantes had not fared quite so well. Some of them had received a charge of shot in leg, arm or shoulder and were lying groaning or half unconscious on the ground; those who had escaped with minor hurts were on their knees, held down by the heavy hand of a trooper. They did not in truth present an edifying spectacle, with their faces streaming with blood and perspiration, their clothes torn, their shirtsleeves hanging in rags, their hair wet and lank hanging before their eyes. Ruffet ordered them to be mustered up, his sharp glance ran over them as they stood or crouched together in a line.

"I ought to have the lot of you summarily shot," Ruffet said sternly to them after he had inspected his men and seen that victory had not cost them dear. "Yes, shot," he reiterated, "for interfering with these soldiers of the republic in the exercise of their duty; and I will do it, too," he went on after a moment's pause, "unless you tell me now the meaning of this abominable escapade."

"You know it well, Citizen Ruffet!" Paul, the washerwoman's son, said, still breathless with excitement and with a savage oath, "when you joined hands with that traitor Lauzet to cheat us all of what was our due."

"Joined hands with Lauzet? What the devil do you mean?" Ruffet queried, frowning. "In what did I join hands with Lauzet?"

"In capturing the English spy and getting the reward for yourselves when it rightly belonged to us."

"The reward," Ruffet retorted dryly, "will be for whosoever may be lucky to get the English spy. For the moment I imagine that if he meant to attack us tonight your folly has scared him. The noise you made would keep any brigand out of the way."

RADIO RECEIVING SETS INSTALLED

Beauty of Car Will Not Be Marred by New Equipment.

Motoring over smooth stretches of highway to the tune of your favorite jazz band is a dream which will be realized within the next 12 months, St. Mayer, vice president of the American Motorists' association and president of the Automobile club of Illinois, predicted in Washington the other day.

"A few months ago a prediction that automobiles of the future will be equipped with radio receiving sets would have been considered extravagant," Mr. Mayer declared. "At the present time, however, such is not the case, for already one company has announced that it is ready to go into the production of receiving sets specially constructed for automobile installation.

Many Uses of Radio. . . .

"The uses of radio seem to be without limit. By signals, transmitted over radio waves, airplanes are dispatched, ships communicate with other ships and with the shore, passengers on moving railroad trains speak directly with their homes or offices, and policemen patrolling large cities in moving cars are given notice from their headquarters of the commission of crimes. These are actual accomplishments.

"Engineers have found a way to shield the receiving set from the interference of ignition systems in automobile and airplane engines and have also discovered a method of overcoming noises generated by the moving car or plane through the use of a filter. Not even the beauty of the car will suffer through the radio installation, for engineers have found that it is possible to place the antenna in the roof of the car with the loud-speaker concealed in the framework of the body."

Distract Driver's Attention. . . .

"There is one serious objection, however, to the installation of radio receiving sets in automobiles," Vice President Mayer points out. "The driver might become engrossed in some entrancing melody or soothing lullaby and neglect his duties at the wheel. It can hardly be expected that the installation of radio sets in automobiles will proceed unchallenged by law for this reason."

Second Car Needed for Outdoor Sports

American enthusiasm for golf and other outdoor sports has been one of the major factors in placing two or more automobiles in thousands of American homes.

Few golfers care to ask a member of their household to accompany them to the course and return for them after the game is over. Two cars to the family eliminate this situation and add materially to the transportation convenience of any family.

Pet Skunk Excellent as "Watchdog" for Motor

A new and unique use for that aromatic but valuable fur bearer, the skunk, has recently come to the attention of the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. The superintendent of road construction of the Cocomino National forest in Arizona had been having trouble, because of pilferers, to keep anything of value in his car when he left it parked. The situation had become so irritating that he was at a loss as to what measures to take to stop these petty thieves. A little skunk, which the superintendent had found when a kitten and tamed until it had become an interesting pet, proved to be the solution of the problem as an effective deterrent against marauders. When he left his car for any length of time the superintendent would also leave the skunk chained to the wheel. Strange to say, nothing further came up missing, and the little animal proved as valuable as any watchdog.

Speeders Encouraged

Anything less than thirty-five miles per hour across Miami's viaduct is considered offensive by Miami coppers, who prefer charges against motorists who refuse to stop on it. Photograph shows one of Miami's police in front of the new signs on the county causeway.

THE MOTOR QUIZ

(How Many Can You Answer?)

- Q.—What should be done if the ammeter does not register "charge" when the engine is running at normal speed?

Ans.—Consult the repair man immediately.
- Q.—Why should a car be cleaned underneath?

Ans.—To remove dirt which causes wear and prevents proper lubrication.
- Q.—How has the oil filter helped the motorist to economize on oil consumption and car maintenance cost?

Ans.—The oil filter has made it possible to use the oil longer, and as it removes foreign matter from the lubricant, engine wear is minimized.
- Q.—When a spark plug insulator becomes covered with dry black soot, what should be done to remedy it?

Ans.—Clean or replace the plug. If sooting is habitual, change to a hotter plug; also have carburetor inspected, and be sure the choke hasn't become stuck.

European Crossings Are Given Right Protection

Only 8 per cent of the grade crossings over by motorists in the United States are protected, as compared with 80 per cent in France. Great Britain makes an even better showing in the percentage of protected grades. The 20,000 protected grades in France have real gates as well as day and night watchmen. The same is true of Great Britain. On the other hand, of the 27,000 grades in the United States, 7,902 have crossing gates, 5,710 audible and visible signals, and 1,022 just visible signals.

AUTOMOBILE FACTS

- A fortune awaits the inventor of Neversqueak brakes.
- The hit-and-run driver is about on a plane with the well poisoner.
- Figures compiled for 29 leading cities of the country show that 93 per cent of the cars stolen during 1928 were recovered.
- The motorist who finds the relocated controls of his new car somewhat awkward need not be concerned. Familiarity comes quickly.

Auto Is Big Aid

The motor car is given credit as the outstanding factor in the development of the child mind in a survey of rural junior high schools made by Cornell university in connection with the United States bureau of education. It is pointed out that with the coming of the automobile better roads were built, and with improved highways, the distance has been approximately doubled over which children can be carried to school at very little expense.

Every man, woman and child in Nebraska must take out a license if they want to operate an automobile.

Speed maniacs will be interested to know that tornadoes travel at the rate of 500 miles an hour, and see what happens!

Because of the increased demand for American automobiles in Mexico, that country bought more from the United States last year than it had in any previous year since 1924.

Apple Trees Are Cut by Millions

Survey Shows Concentration in Favorable Sections of Country

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

In twelve of the last fifteen years the average farm price of apples has been below the general prewar wholesale price level of all commodities. As the result, millions of apple trees have been removed and others have been neglected. From 1910 to 1925 the number of apple trees in the United States decreased nearly 40 per cent. Notwithstanding the decline in the number of apple trees, production of apples has been practically maintained. These are some of the important facts noted by the United States Department of Agriculture in an analysis of the prospects of the apple industry. Recent changes and present tendencies, the department indicates, promise a better approach to stability in the industry, but with the number of trees now planted, commercial production is expected to continue at a high level for several years.

Production Increased.

Though total apple production has declined slightly since 1917, commercial production has steadily increased. Moreover, carlot shipments have increased at an average of 4,000 carloads a year since 1918, and movements by motor truck have grown considerably. Increased production per tree has largely offset the decline in the number of trees. The department expects further increases in commercial apple production during the next few years, accompanied, of course, by an increase in the domestic demand resulting from population growth. The rate of increase, according to the department, will be less than it was during the last ten years. The future appears somewhat brighter for the real commercial grower who is favorably located and who produces apples of high quality at low cost. Conditions in the industry are changing so rapidly, however, that success for the individual grower requires attention to conditions throughout the country, as well as to the technical problems of his own orchard. Apple production is a business in which long vista are necessary. The orchard planted today will not return a revenue for seven or ten years. When it starts producing, however, it may be a source of income for 30, 50 or 60 years. In the past this fact seems not to have been sufficiently borne in mind, and overplanting has resulted.

In a survey, started by the department, information has been obtained on the number of trees of different varieties and ages in the country as a whole and in different apple producing sections. Some of the outstanding facts revealed are announced by M. R. Cooper, senior economist in the bureau of agricultural economics.

Future of Industry.

So that the future of the apple industry may be regionally considered, Mr. Cooper grouped 22 important apple states in six divisions, largely according to location, but partly according to the number of varieties grown. These 22 states have about 74 per cent of all the apple trees of bearing age in the country. They produce about 81 per cent of the annual apple output.

In the western group, of apple states (the Pacific coast and mountain states) apple production has increased enormously in the last fifteen years. These

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.

He treated constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a combination of scenna and other mild herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. Elderly people find it ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her So Much

Kingston, Mo.—"I have not taken anything but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for 18 months and I cannot praise it enough. I weighed about 100 pounds and was not able to do any kind of work. My household was done by my mother and my out-of-door work was not done. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and now I am well and strong and feel fine. I got my sister-in-law to take it after her last baby came and she is stronger now. I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. HATTIE V. EASTIN, R. 1, Kingston, Missouri.

Greens Found in Warm and Cold Zones

It is a tree which stays winter—that is to say, the tree does not fall in autumn, as do the deciduous trees. Many are evergreen (cone-bearing) but all conifers are not evergreen. The larch is a conifer, but a deciduous evergreen. It is a family of evergreens. It is a native of Prussia—Prussia and middle English Prussia. Fir is an old word, pine is Latin, also the tree which it designates. The word evergreen was also used in the past.

Almost all tropical plants are evergreen, as are many of the interesting northern plants, such as the Christmas tree.

It is said that it requires four days to go through all the rooms and apartments and that more than 100 miles would be covered in such a tour. The American Philosophical society estimates that it would take four days to make a complete visit to the palace.

"Bridge" Not Russian
Bridge was first known as Birlich, a Russian word. This gave rise to the idea that it was a Russian game. Dictionaries of the Russian language do not contain the word. It seems more probable that the game is Levantine, since it was known in Constantinople and Greece about 1870 long before it invaded western Europe.

Sinister Black Cap

Wild Goose Chase
Belief is expressed that monsters of the Jurassic period may yet be alive in the jungles of Central America. The tired business man who wants variety in his vacation may take notice.—Boston Transcript

Success Spells Failure
More men are failures on account of success than on account of failures. It is the successful business men in the American Magazine.

Elephant Good Swimmer
The elephant swims more easily than it walks. It simply stands up right and trends water.

Community Character
Every community has at least one sucker who will do all the work. It gives a few chairmanships.—Washington Post

Molasses Not Treacle
The words "molasses" and "treacle" are often used as synonyms but properly speaking molasses is the uncrystallized syrup produced in the making of sugar, while treacle is obtained in the process of refining sugar.

Better Pay

The shooting tenant had packed all his paraphernalia and was bidding good-by to his head ghillie before returning south.

He noticed that the man did not appear to appreciate the size of his parting tip.

"Isn't that enough, then, Donald?" he asked.

"Oh, aye, sir," answered the ghillie readily. "It's more than enough—ye ken, sir, it's generous; but—"

"Well, go on!"

"I was just thinkin', sir, that I did better last year when ye hit me three times."—London Answers.

Costume

"What are you going to wear at the opera?"

"A big diamond tiara," answered Miss Cayenne.

"And what has that to do with music?"

"If I can make them stop and look, I don't care whether they listen or not."—Washington Star.

Ty Cobb Takes First Vacation

Ty Cobb, famous baseball player, went on his first vacation with his family since he entered baseball profession 25 years ago. Ty and his family will make headquarters in Paris and visit other points from there.

Pat Haley Thinks

Sharkey Is Big Sap

The athletes in all lines and the big fellows of sport have a way of free talking when they are out in the country that they never exercise at home.

Patsy Haley, the well known New York boxing referee, was out in an Ohio town recently and he was asked for his opinion of the fighting qualities of Jack Sharkey.

"He's the dumbest big sap I ever saw in the ring," he said.

Second Poughkeepsie

Course in Wisconsin

Elaborate changes in the program of the Wisconsin varsity crew have been announced by Mike Murphy, new Badger crew coach.

Madison will become a second Poughkeepsie if the coach's plans for a boathouse and course and construction of observation cars by a local railroad materialize.

Murphy made a tentative agreement with railroad authorities for the construction of observation cars to run on the railroad tracks that border two miles of the new course along Lake Monona. The proposed course would make a straight sweep the length of the lake.

The change from Lake Mendota, where present training and racing is done, to Lake Monona is being considered because of the more sheltered position and the fact that it usually is available earlier in the spring.

Simpson Watches Races

George Simpson, holder of the world's record for the 100 yard dash, 9 and 2-5 seconds, as he appeared at the track meet of the South Atlantic association which he viewed, for the first time in many years, as a spectator, and not a participant.

Tubby Spencer Changed

Back to American Plan

Ty Cobb, when on a training tour with the Detroit Tigers, one day put up at a hotel in Atlanta which ran things on the American plan. Ty was seated at a table with Tub Spencer. Knowing the wide open conditions, Ty was eating all sorts of things, while Spencer had ordered only coffee and rolls.

Spencer, looking at Ty, said in a rich southern drawl: "Mah Gad, Ty, how can you-all eat that stuff? Coffee and rolls is all I care for breakfast. Say, Ty, here's 15 cents. Pay the waiter for me. I want to take a little walk."

"Why, we don't pay for our meals here," said Ty. "We're staying here on the American plan. It's the same price, no matter how much you eat."

"Is that a fact sure enough?" asked Tub; "then pass me that bill of fare. Ty, ah thinks ah can eat a little bit too."

Quirks of Baseball

The strange quirks of baseball will bring together two former Penn state pitchers, who were members of the same team in college for three years.

Russell Van Atta, star left hander, and Joe Styborski, will be on the staff of the St. Paul American Association club. Both Styborski and Van Atta were given tryouts by the Yankees upon completion of their college pitching careers, and are still believed to be the property of the New York American league club.

BASEBALL NOTES

"Bullet" Joe Bush, former pitcher for the Yankees, Red Sox and Athletics, has joined the Newark International league baseball team.

The Memphis club of the Southern association announces that it has purchased Frank Wilson, an outfielder, from Milwaukee of the American association.

C. A. Russell, a first baseman who was given a brief trial by Indianapolis last year, has been signed by the Duquesne Tigers of the Mississippi Valley league.

Cleveland parted with $75,000 for Earl Averill, Pacific Coast league slugger, but he is worth the money, say the experts who are calling him a second speaker.

Tom Angley, recently made a free agent by the Chicago Cubs, with whom he has played this season, has been signed by Kansas City of the American association.

Heinie Sand, veteran infielder, went ten games without getting a hit for the Rochester club. But the club was winning partly through his good work in making double plays.

Ethan Allen, Cincinnati National league outfielder, has received a bachelor of arts degree in physical education at the University of Cincinnati commencement exercises.

Although Yale recently completed a modern baseball park with a grandstand seating more than 15,000 persons, less than 2,000 witnessed the last Eli-Princeton game.

President Robert Quinn says you cannot buy a good player at any price in the big leagues today, and as a result a club must depend on what it can get from the minor leagues.

Raymond Coombs, nephew of the famous Jack Coombs of the Athletics, has been a star athlete for the Exeter School for Boys and Connie Mack is said to have his eye on him.

Melvin Ott, Giants' outfielder, is rated as a real star of the major leagues, although he has had no preliminary experience in the minor leagues. He is just past twenty.

An English university is offering a new language, Pantoic English, of only 500 words. That would hardly give a vocabulary for one to express himself at a single baseball game.

Here we just get the hang of pronouncing the names of Yde, Uhle, Sigafos and others and the Tigers come out with the announcement that Westling of Portland is to join the team.

Nine cities in minor leagues exceed Cincinnati, a major league city, in population. They are Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Montreal, Baltimore, Toronto, Newark, Buffalo, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The early season weather was so cold in Montreal that the home club had an oil stove in their dugout several days. Montreal had many early season games postponed this year as well as last.

After fifteen years of backstopping, Dun Howley, manager of the St. Louis American league baseball team, famous as a catcher, boasts of the fact that his fingers are in perfect shape. He never sustained a finger injury.

The baseball days of Emil (Irish) Meusel of the Giants are over. The once clouting outfielder of the Polo Grounds tribe was released by the Sacramento club of the Pacific coast the other day because of his slowness in the outfield.

The University of Nebraska clinched the big six baseball championship by defeating the University of Missouri 3 to 2.

Topeka has sent Second Baseman Goff to Muskegoe of the Western association in exchange for Catcher Ernie Winfield.

Bruce Galloway, a brother of Chick Galloway, injured Detroit shortstop, is playing center field for the Salisbury Colonials.

DESPITE "SPECKS," HAFEY IS A STAR

Was Declared Through, but Returned to Lead Slugger.

"Chick" Hafey of the St. Louis Cardinals, a player beset by hard luck since he broke into fast company, is rounding into his own.

For a time it seemed as though sinus trouble and other handicaps might force Hafey out of the National league and possibly cause him to give up baseball altogether.

"Chick" couldn't see the length of his bat for a time. Now he is out in front of the home run parade, with a fine lead towards seasonal honors and every fan who has followed his ups and downs is rooting hard for him.

Hafey hit two home runs the other day to help the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Cincinnati Reds. His first drive cleared the scoreboard at Redland park which is 415 feet from home plate and 25 feet high.

This was the longest blow ever made in Cincinnati. A little later, Hafey drove another homer over the left field fence.

In the opening game of the season, "Chick" hit a homer off Red Lucas, who had been working effectively, enabling the Cardinals to start the pennant race with a victory.

Hafey's optician soon will start advertising for "Chick" to look glasses as a last resort and with pronounced success.

Few ball players have made good behind spectacles in fast company. There was Lee Meadows, for one, and the rest can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

When he finally decided to resort to glasses, "Chick" confessed that it seemed to him like a last resort.

"I'll try them for a season, and then if I can't make good I'll get out and admit I'm licked," he said early this year.

From the way he is going he apparently will make good, and his return to form may mean big things for the National league champions.

Hafey has had hard luck practically ever since he came up to the majors, although he has been recognized as one of the best outfielders in the game. He is a native of Berkeley, Calif., Helen Willis' home town, and is twenty-six years old.

Job for Niehoff

Bert Niehoff, who according to rumor is to manage a major league team within a short time. He is now one of Manager McGraw's coaches.

Sporting Squibs

Freshman athletes at Wisconsin must pass in their studies to get their letters and sweaters.

Public parks golfers of Buffalo can play all year for $25 or pay 50 cents a day with an extra quarter for Sundays.

Jack Berg, the English lightweight, never even witnessed a professional contest until he stepped into the ring for his first bout.

Walter Hagen, American golf professional, has won the British open championship four times in eight attempts since 1920.

Dudley I. Skinner of Bridgeport, Conn., a member of the junior class, was elected captain of the Williams track team for next year.

No player has won the United States open golf championship twice since Jack McDermott managed to turn the trick 17 years ago.

Charley Borah, captain of the University of Southern California track team, has run his last race, he says. An old leg injury has been bothering him.

Over a three-mile course, the Grand National Steeplechase, which was won in 1927 and 1928 by Jolly Roger, is considered the severest test of its kind in the United States.

Caro Free, veteran racehorse, will run kindly for only one man, A. E. Alexander. He can be entered in the cheapest of events without fear of any horseman claiming him.

Paavo Nurmi, the "Phantom Flan," has decided to give up short-distance races in favor of long-distance running, and is expected to compete in the marathon event at Los Angeles in the 1932 Olympics.

"Dick" Hanley, football coach at Northwestern, will try the double number system this fall.

Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, world champion broad jumper by virtue of his 25 feet 11 1/2 inch leap, may tour Europe this summer with a group of star athletes.

Wisconsin authorities look for Cliff Conroy, football center, to be in the running for all-America honors next fall.

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little spots at times, but your cure cannot prevent them. They can be prepared. Then you can do anything an experienced nurse would do—most physicians would tell you to give a few drops of plain Castoria, sooner than that. Baby is soothed. Relief is just a matter of moments. You have eased your child without a single doubtful drug. Castoria, vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain that cannot pat away. And it's ready for the cruelest pains of colic, constipation or diarrhea; effective for older children. Thousands of bottles were bought last year.

to pumpkin yellow and allied shades of chartreuse, lime and citron are everywhere in the summer landscape.

Evening Gowns Jackets The short jacket or hip length wrap matching the evening gown is highly successful, according to Worth.

Blue Suits No color is more appropriate or smarter for young girls than navy blue, and this season the classic blue suit is given greater variety by adding a blouse of gay printed silk in small patterns.

Half Belts Front half belts on coats, jackets and some coat frocks suggest the fitted line. They are invariably placed at normal waistline.

New Necks The square neck, finished with oversteitching in front and taping in the back, is good. One-sided necklines hold their own place in style.

Whose 'uck is better far than yours? The other fellows. Whose road seems always lined with flowers? The other fellows.

SUMMER SOUPS

As soups are always in season, the variety is only modified by the time of year.

Vermont Chicken Soup.—Reheat six cupsful of chicken stock, season with salt and pepper if needed and a little grated onion.

Chicken and Potato Soup.—Peel and boil six large potatoes. Mash through a ricer, add one quart of chicken stock, one pint of cream, two tablespoonsful of butter and salt and pepper to taste.

German Carrot Soup.—Peel and slice six carrots and fry brown in fat with a minced onion. Cover and cook slowly until soft.

Brown Onion Soup.—Peel two dozen small onions and fry brown in butter; add two tablespoonsful of sugar.

Velvet Soup.—Cook one-half cupful of tapioca in six cupsful of beef stock.

For Breakfast. There are so many breakfast foods on the market that it would be impossible to name them all.

The fruits in season are the most acceptable. The orange and grapefruit we always have with us, but when melons are on the market, they make a pleasant change which is always enjoyed.

Apples are an all-the-year-round standby. The choicer apples are kept in cold storage and, if not held too long in the market, keep their flavor fairly well.

Rice Pancakes.—Dissolve a teaspoonful of soda in a tablespoonful of cold water and stir it into two cupsful of thick sour milk.

Though coffee, cocoa, tea or simply hot milk offer a choice for the hot drink, one may include the cereal coffees and malted milks for those who prefer them.

Buttermilk is a most desirable drink and when obtainable, fresh and cool, is most welcome for a morning drink.

A tartar sauce is excellent to serve with a hot cooked fish. Take one cupful of mayonnaise, add two tablespoonfuls of chopped olives, a tablespoonful of chopped capers, a teaspoonful of minced parsley and chives, a little green and red pepper chopped.

To Clean Tortoise Shell Real tortoise shell can be cleaned and shined beautifully in the following manner: Wipe the surface with a cloth wet with alcohol, then rub dry and polish with a chamols dipped in jeweler's rouge, rottenstone or bluing powder.

Waterproofing Wall Papers A coat of shellac or varnish may be spread on any wall paper without injuring it, and it will then be waterproof.

Little Doubt That Her Resolution Was Sincere

A Wiltshire Sunday school teacher had been explaining to her class that religion was not just a Sunday affair but should be applied to weekday life as well.

Since most of her little folks confessed that they had made no resolutions, she decided to inaugurate them on the spot and pledge the class to try to make them come true.

The smallest child in the class wrote vigorously for several minutes and then handed in the following resolution:

"Resolved that I will either go to grandma's this summer or have a birthday party."—Los Angeles Times.

Beneath His Notice

Rogers Hornsby told a baseball story at a banquet in New York.

"A Sunday school teacher," he said "asked one of her boys pupils:

"Willie, who defeated the Philistines?"

"Willie had been gazing out of the window in a dream. He gave a start and answered:

"I dunno, teacher. I don't never foller none of them small league teams."

Didn't Work

"Mister, are you the man that gave my little brother a dog last week?"

"Why, yes. Why do you ask?"

"Well, mamma says for you to come and take them back."—Boston Transcript.

Perfect Miniature Railroad

The Locomotive Engineers' Journal says that one of the novel exhibits at the model engineering exhibition held recently in London, England, was the smallest working scale model railway in the world, made by J. J. Landridge of the Wimbledon and District Model Railway club.

On being asked why she had called chickenpox henpox, she said: "Well, it's much easier to write."

FOXES MADE MILLIONS FOR YOUTHS

MERRILL, WIS.—In 1914 two farm youths started in the fur business by purchasing two red foxes upon the installment plan.

Recently they turned down an offer of $7,000,000 for their fur ranches in Wisconsin.

They are the Fromm brothers whose net sales of black silver fox pelts in a New York auction last January amounted to more than $1,300,000.

The story of their remarkable success is a tribute to importance of feminine adornment in the United States. Like the cosmetic industry which ran a shoestring into millions the fur breeding industry started with nothing and is now a substantial industry which conservative banks will gladly finance.

Originally the Fromm brothers commenced breeding red foxes as a hobby. Their first pair was purchased on the installment plan for $5 down and $5 when the collector caught them.

Later they mortgaged their home to purchase three black silver fox, two female and a male. From this humble beginning they developed until they now spend $20,000 a year in combating fox diseases. This year they spent $61,500 in advertising the superiority of the black silver fox pelts for milady's apparel.

During the war luxuries were banned and the bottom dropped out of the fur market, but since then there has been a growing demand for the pelts of foxes.

The top price received for a single pelt at the New York auction was $850, while the Fromm Brothers sold a pelt in the London market at $976.

Breeding animals sell for $3,000, $5,000 and even higher depending upon the quality and health of the individual animal.

Cosmopolitan Antioch

The ancient city of Antioch, which is represented by the city of Antiochia, is about 310 miles north of Jerusalem. The present population is about 25,000, of which about 4,000 are Christians. The Antiochians have been from the earliest a cosmopolitan people, consisting of Jews, Syrian Greeks and Romans.

Not Derived From Banana

Banana oil is not a product of the banana plant. Banana oil is so named on account of the odor imparted by its amyl acetate constituent. This is a mixture of equal parts of amyl acetate, acetone and benzene, with just enough pyroxylene dissolved therein to give the finished product sufficient body.

Famous Southern University

Lincoln Memorial university is an institution for higher education founded in 1897, near Cumberland Gap, Tenn. The university was established largely through the efforts of Gen. Oliver Otis Howard. It is non-sectarian. The purpose of the university is to furnish educational advantages to dwellers in the mountain regions of Tennessee and other states. The university owns about 600 acres of land, which include a beautiful campus.

Confiscation Never Pays

Confiscation is the most dangerous and ultimately costly of all policies. Capitalism is what you choose to call it, but credit is something which must survive any theoretical system of socialist government, if the people of the world are to continue to exchange commodities and services.—Barron's Financial Weekly

Republican Nickname

The term "Grand Old Man" was applied to Mr. Gladstone in 1882, and is accredited to John Bright, who used it in a speech made in that year in Northampton, England. In America the phrase was appropriated and changed by members of the Republican party, who affectionately called it the "Grand Old Party." This at once became a newspaper slogan, and in the headlines alluding to the party was shortened into "G. O. P."

RELIGION---Its Beneficial Effect Upon The Community

IN the days of the circuit rider, the man who preached in the village church, or more likely, school house, was a strong-bodied specimen who rode back and forth across the land. He preached religion that may be considered a little crude today—but he made an inspiring impression upon his hearers. The men who fill the village and town pulpits today are of higher average scholarship than their predecessors. They are men of better education. They preach and believe in the introduction of new methods. They maintain an interest in community as well as church affairs. They are not lacking in manhood either, for these latter day preachers are physically no whit behind those who, when the country was just growing up, spent half their time in the saddle. The plain white meeting house has long since given way to spacious modern structures from whence comes the force which not only makes Democracy effective in the community, but the force which works for the betterment of civic government and community advancement. The Golden Rule spells P-R-O-G-R-E-S-S! It reaches out to lift up wherever and however it may. The good accomplished by the church can not be estimated in dollars and cents. It deserves your wholehearted support, and as a community center, the church and the part it plays upon the minds of young and old alike, can not be replaced by any other agency, for it forms our greatest force for good. The church is working for YOU and for KEWASKUM. Are you giving it the support it deserves?

More Rest---More Money

Records of cow testing associations show that cows need a proper rest period after each period of lactation, giving them a chance to rebuild and recondition themselves before starting the next production season. Cows having had a very short rest period produced lower testing milk and consequently less fat during the next season. While those with an extra 30 to 45 day rest produced 60 to 80 pounds more fat the following season. That is something worth bearing in mind. Every one should be willing to give a cow an extra 30 day rest and let her earn 30 to 50 dollars more for him in one season.
