MUD HEN CAUGHT AT MOON LAKE SHOT IN MAINE

A mudhen or "coot", which had made its headquarters at the Moon Lake wild game refuge and which was caught there in a trap, and then released by visitors at the lake, after they had placed an aluminum band about the leg last November, was shot in Maine several weeks later. The best pictures now being shown on the Marx, in last Sunday's issue of the "The plebeian mudhen, or "coot" as it is so often called, is seldom considered a member of "the 400" in avian circles. When properly prepared, however, it makes a most noble dish. The wild life refuge at Moon lake, near Kewaskum, Wis., enjoys a splendid reputation as the generous dispenser of free board and room to thousands of our feathered friends. Hearing of this, a certain venturesome young coot, suffering from the ennui of an uneventful life in her home in a central Wisconsin swamp, decided to investigate the bill of fare at Moon lake.

Consequently one fine morning she winged her easy way across the state and sailed gracefully down to where several hundred ducks were quacking their appreciation. But * * being inexperienced in the ways of the world the mudhen innocently swam into a

Thus we found her (it was a Sunday morning in November) making frantic efforts to escape. We helped her but not before we had placed an aluminum band about her leg and impressed her image on a photographic plate. Then we threw her into the air in regulation fashion and she fluttered back onto the lake.

We forget all about her until several weeks later when a letter from the biologic survey in Washington informed us that our friend, Miss coot had been shot in Maine.

Here was a refutation of the theory prevalent among most observershad traveled more than 1,000 miles in a due easterly direction!"

Madison-The blennial appropriation to the University of Wisconsin for approximately $19,000,000 has been approved by Gov. Kohler. The bill was warmly contested in the state legislature because of an amendment that would have obtained the university support money from income taxes.

The bill gives the state school between $500,000 and $600,000 more than the last biennium, according to the amount of increase in student fees and tuition. The board of regents is allowed to increase non-resident tuition to $200 and to increase fees of state students.

The governor also announced his signature of a bill abolishing the civil service commission and replacing it with a bureau of personnel within the executive department.

The biennial appropriation to the commissioners of public lands, including a new $15,000 annually for two years for an inventory and survey of state lands, was also signed by the Eight or more legislative investigating committees are expected to function on the various assignments given them and report findings to the 1931 legislature.

The committee probing campaign expenditures and methods since 1924 will begin its operations Oct. 22. An appropriation of $10,000 is provided for this work.

A committee to study and draft an aviation code will receive $6,000 for this task; another group has $8,000 for expenses of a study of educational activities looking toward a new educational code eliminating present duplications of effort; fire insurance administration is to be the object of another investigation; court procedure still another. Traffic regulation will be surveyed with a view to preventing accidents: the feasibility of a soldiers memorial and guardianship laws also are due for investigation.

Veto of five bills has been announced by Gov. Walter J. Kohler. Approval was refused on the bill to purchase High Cliff for a state park in Calumet county; the Carow bill revising tax collection and distribution: a bill to license fur traders; the Keppel bill providing for special county bonds for highways, and the Hoesly bill to repeal existing regulations of the sale of whey butter.

Assemblyman E. J. Hoesley's bill would have repealed the law requiring butter made from whey cream to be so labeled. Sen. V. S. Keppel's bill was rejected on the ground that counties already possess ample bonding power for present needs and that it concerned future developments not yet authorized. Purpose of Assemblyman J. W. Ca-row's tax distribution bill was to aid counties which have much tax delinquent land by reversing the distribution of revenue from tax sales so that the county received its share, if any, only after the local units are satisfied. The governor objected to this subordination of the state and county to the municipalities.

Objections to the High Cliff state park proposal included the fact that the conservation commission has not yet recommended purchase of this

Veto of the bill to liceuse fur traders by which enactment the conservation commission haved to end the practice of fur bootlegging, was on the ground that the measure is clearly unconstitutional between resident and non-resident fur buyers. M .- The wrecked Transcontinental Air Transport plane, City of San Francisco, which had been missing with its eight passengers and crew since September 3, was found on the side of Mount Taylor, seven miles from its summit and 27 miles northwest of Grants. The charred bodies were unrecognizable, with the exception of the one woman passenger. Identity of the others was made by dental work.

The victims of the air tragedy were brought to Grants. The bodies were carried on hand-borne litters to the Palo Lobo forest ranger station, eleven miles from the scene of the crash, where ambulances awaited them.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that the eight died as "the result of an airplane accident." Members of the jury were sworn in at the scene of the wreck. They viewed the bodies and the wreckage before the charred remains were removed from the plane. The jury then reassembled at Grants for a formal inquest. The verdict, District Attorney Fred Nichols said, probably would conclude the state investigation.

Following the inquest, three bodies later identified as those of Mrs. Corina Raymond, A. B. McGaffey, and Harris Livermore were immediately placed in charge of an undertaker for removal to Albuquerque.

As the big ship tore its way through the heavy growth of spruce and pine it shed its tail and then its wings, one by one. There was not a piece of the all-metal plane, with the excention of doors and windows, left intact. The largest piece of metal left was half of the left wing, which had holes punched through it and the under side sheared away.

As the ship dropped to the ground It buried its nose and part of the landing gear two feet in the rocky soil. Gasoline from its tanks, broken by the snapping off of wings, became ignited. An explosion followed, throwing burning gasoline over the passengers and crew.

There was no indication the plane was struck by lightning. Those who lost their lives in the

ECKENER DISCLOSES ATLANTIC AIR PLANS

Dirigible Service May Be Joint U. S.-Germany.

New York .- Before he departed for Germany, Dr. Hugo Eckener made known his plans to interest German capitalists in a scheme that contemplates co-operation with American bankers in establishment of a transatlantic dirigible service.

The commander of the Graf Zeppelin in its 'round-the-world flight, sailed after conferences with American bankers who were understood to look with favor upon the project provided the German bankers would join in the financing of the new enterprise.

Doctor Eckener outlined his plans to representatives of American capital, including officers of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation. He proposed a United States terminal south of Washington because of climatic conditions in that section in which landing would be facilitated by the prevalence of east and west winds. He suggested that four new dirigibles would be required for the service, which would cost a total of about $15,000,000. These ships would use helium or fuel gas and each would be designated to carry 24 passengers at a fare of $1,000. The passenger accommodations would be within the envelope of the dirigibles, Doctor Eckener said, and each dirigible would have eight engines. The first ship could be ready by 1932, he said, and by 1933 sailings could be scheduled for every four or five days.

London,-A dispatch from Berlin says that the next flight of the Graf Zeppelin will be a nonstop trip around the world, with the necessary refueling accomplished in the air. Sponsors of the flight, the dispatch says, hope to complete the journey in 14 days.

TARIFF BOOST URGED BY 12 FARM BODIES

Senate Asked to Raise Duty on Various Items.

Washington .- With the tariff bill now under consideration, and a long battle certain over administrative provisions and rates, 12 leading farm and commodity organizations the past week forwarded a communication to members of the senate in which they criticized the bill as revised in the finance committee of a number of important particulars.

commodities, the duties are "most inadequate." A list of the most important of the commodities on which higher rates are needed is included. Emphasis is laid on the need for higher duties on animal, marine and vegetable oils and fats, and the raw materials from which these products are extracted. A striking part of the communication is a demand for duties on those products of the Philippines in compe tition with American agricultural products and a termination of the reciprocal trade agreement with Cuba.

The communication calls for a materially increased duty on sugar over the rates of the existing law, and an increased rate on black strap mo-listed on which increases are asked. Emphasis is laid on the fact the extra session was called primarily for relief and to bring agricultural rates to a level that would put agriculture on a closer emonomic equality with industry. The letter of the farm and commodity organizations will undoubtedly play an important part in the senate struggle to confine the bill chiefly to agricultural rates.

OPERATION COST FOR AUTOMOBILE

Average of $293 Was Spent by Each Automobile Owner in 1928.

An average of $293 was spent by each autoist in the United States during 1928 in the operation and maintenance of his car, according to figures compiled by the American Motorists' association, in co-operation with the Automobile Club of Illinois. Of this sum, $101, or 34 per cent, was expended for fuel and lubricants, this being the largest item in the autoist's annual operation and maintenance bill. Cost $1.14 Per Day.

The $293 figure does not take into year life expectancy, would mean an The communication of the farm or- average depreciation of $125 per year. "Our examination discloses that the keep cost of $293, it will be seen that plus depreciation, was $418 per year, or approximately $1.14 per day. The comparable figure for 1927 shows that the average cost of operation, plus depreciation, was $365 for that year, or $1 per day.

The second largest item on the auexpending in 1928, for this item, ar tire bill, during the year, was $34. An cessories, which with the $101 spent for gasoline and oil, make up the total of $293 as the average cost of maintenance for each motor vehicle for 1928.

Comparing Cost.

Comparing the cost of operation in 1928 and 1927 the association's figures show that last year the cost was 28 per cent more than during 1927, when the average operation cost was $229. Comparative figures, between the two years, however, it is pointed out by Si. Mayer, president of the Automobile Club of Illinois and vice president of the A. M. A., do not indicate that operation costs are necessarily increasing, the difference being explained primarily by the fact that with better highways available each year the average autoist uses his automobile proportionately more.

You're more than good looking, Marjory, you're just plain nice. You're all nice. I wish they'd offer four prizes the next time-the proceeds would run the parsonage for a year."

CHAPTER III

"Ginger, do run up and change your dress. Mr. Andrews is coming to take me for a ride, and the very sight of you would disgrace the parsonage. He is in the bank, you know."

"Mister who?" demanded Ginger. "Mr. Andrews. You know-the young man who came with the crowd last night-"

"To take who out driving?" "Me. At least, he didn't mention in his heart, Mr. Tolliver was inclined to agree with her. He had found life very pleasant in the old days, with the interest of every daughter centered exclusively in the parsonage confines, the five of them as one mind and spirit. But now, what with Helen and Horace, Marjory and a townful of admirers, and now Miriam and this new young man with the ukulele, his sigh rivaled Ginger's OWB.

There was still the strained, high tension in his bandaged eyes, still the vague sensation of a firm band circling his brow. It seemed a shameful thing to him, in his gentle orthodoxy, that he should chafe at the temporary restriction upon him. He had so much, was denied so little. Even Paul had suffered his thorn in the flesh. His great yearning for restoration was almost unchristian, certainly unscriptural. He had said that to Ginger a few weeks before.

"Yes," she had agreed pleasantly, "but awfully human."

Particularly, he desired recovery before the formal dedication of the new church. It was a great accomplishment for Red Thrush. He wanted to look into the glad faces of his members on that day, he wanted them to see the grateful joy in his It is hard for a blinded face to mirror the neart's emotions. He sometimes felt that he would be willing to accent blindness for months-for a year even—at another time, if only on that day he could meet his people face to face, his eyes reading their eyes, and all reflecting their gratitude for the realization of their hopes.

In many ways, his misfortune had come at a critical time for the minister. The building of a new church designing of a new parsonage, disposal of the old property, all entailed a great deal of careful figuring. It was hard to figure finances through the eyes of committees, and boards. and daughters. Approximately two thousand dollars was still unpledged on the church debt. Marjory, too, went out, with anyone who asked her, strolling, driving, or calling, sometimes with Miriam in the party, sometimes not. Ginger usually retired to her attic studio.

It is at Cosenza that Alaric, first Gothic leader to conquer Imperial Rome, was buried along with priceless treasures captured in Rome. Laden with the riches of the dying empire, Alarie and his barbarian bosts marched south to conquer Africa and the grain which abounded there. In Calabria Alaric died of the fever. His followers buried his treasure with him in the fashion of the day, but they made sure that the dead chieftain's repose would not be disturbed, either by avenging enemies or covetous treasure hunters. They diverted the course of the River Busento and buried Alaric far below the river bed. Then they restored the river to its channel. For security's sake they put to death every one of the prisoners who had helped bury Alaric, and marched

Few of our housewives appreciate the food value of dates. Stuffed with nuts or cream cheese they serve as a delicious dessert and one that will not strain the family purse or the energy of the cook. Sometime when pressed for ideas try this: Slice stoned dates into small glass serving dishes, sprinkle with a few pecans and top with lightly flavored whipped cream. The dates are sweet enough to not need sugar.

When serving tea for the afternoon bridge club make very small baking powder biscuit, not more than an inch across. Split while hot, spread with butter and fresh raspberry jam or any other well-liked jam. These are so good with tea-but make plenty.

Melville Cookies .- Cream one cupful of butter, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar gradually and three eggs well beaten. Dissolve one-fourth teaspoonful of soda in a tablespoonful of hot water and add to the mixture. Sift three and one-half cupfuls of flour with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three-fourths teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Coffee Recipes.

As coffee is such a universally likea drink, the flavor, too, is enjoyed in other combinations. Coffee Custard .- Scald two cupfuls of milk with two tablespoonfuls of ground coffee, and strain. Beat four eggs lightly and add onefourth cupful of sugar, one-eighth teaspoonful of salt, and the milk. Strain into cups set in hot water and bake until firm.

Coffee Tapioca.-Soak two tablespoonfuls of pearl tapioca overnight in water to cover. Drain off the water and add three cupfuls of strong coffee infusion. Add one-half cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and bake or cook in a double boiler until clear. Serve with sugar and cream.

Coffee Cream .- Soften one tablespoonful of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of cold water and add one-third cupful of boiling water. Add onequarter cupful of sugar and one cupful of strong coffee infusion, Fill eight individual molds half-full of this jelly. Meanwhile soften two teaspoonfuls of gelatin in a tablespoonful of cold water. Beat one egg slightly, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and onequarter cupful of coffee infusion. Cook over hot water until thickened, then add the gelatin and stir until well dissolved. When thickened fold in two-thirds of a cupful of whinned cream which has been flavored with a few drops of vanilla. Fill the molds with this mixture. Set on ice to chill. Unmold to serve.

Malted Coffee .- Take two cupfuls of strong coffee infusion, six tablespoonfuls of malted milk, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of cream. Add the coffee to the malted milk, stirring until well blended, or beat with an egg beater. Add a pinch of salt and sugar, if needed. Chill, add milk and cream and serve with ice as a cold drink, or heated, for a hot stimulating drink.

Coffee Sirup .- Make two cupfuls of extra strong coffee, add after straining, three and one-half pounds of sugar, boil three minutes, then bottle. Seal and keep in a cool place. This sirup may be used in various ways. Coffee Egg Nog .- Take three tablespoonfuls of the coffee sirup, threefourths cupful of rich milk, one egg yolk and white, beaten separately. Vanilla, if wished. Add coffee sirup to milk, then beaten egg yolk, a pinch of salt, fold in the stiffly-beaten white. chill and serve.

In New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit and in other metropolitan centers whole neighborhoods have followed the lead of one home owner in installing a Silent Automatic Oil Burner. One street in Detroit has 62 Silent Automatics within a few blocks. Another has 53. All because neighbor tells neighbor, and friend tells friend, of Silent Automatic's utter dependability.

With the growth in popularity of the matic, oil heat really ARRIVED. It should be a part of your home . . . bringing you freedom from furnace care, doing away with coal, dust and ashes, and giving you comfort, convenience and better health.

The best part of it is that the Silent Automatic can be installed right in your present heating plant, with scarcely any inconvenience whatever. It only requires a few hours. It is equally adaptable to steam, hot water, vapor or hot air systems. We invite you to phone or call and get the complete, interesting details.

Mr. Stahl was born in Boston on March 29, 1862, and came to Sheboygan county when fifteen years of age, where he resided on the homestead in the town of Sco.t continuously for the past fifty-two years. The party spent two weeks in Boston and visited many places of interest including Plymouth Rock, Bunker Hill, Concord and the Cld North Church at Lexington. From there they journeyed to Providence, R. I., where a day and a half was spent in sight-seeing, going to New York, making the tunnel trip under the Hudson river. They visited the scene of Ben Franklin's grave and the home of Betsy Ross, proceeding to Baltimore and Washington, D. C., where they visited Mt. Vernon and Arlington Cemetery. They also received a glimpse of President Hoover, who with Mrs. Hoover were embarking on fishing excursion from the National Capitol, they went to Columbus, Ohio, where they made the journey to Oak Park in a single day, and on the whole trip experienced no motor trouble and only one puncture on the trip of over three thousand miles. Mr. and Mrs. Stahl and Mrs. Rietz spent a day at Oak Park and then continued their journey home, much pleased with the mountain scenery and the other interesting places of their trip.

Insecticides Do Not Kill Insects

Certain Types of "Trick" failure to control insects and dis Preparations Should Be Guarded Against.

(Prepared by the United States Department

Thousands of pounds of insecticides, fungicides and disinfectants are sold annually in complete harmony with the insecticide act as enforced by the food, drug and insecticide administration, United States Department of Agriculture, but certain types of "trick" preparations are also being offered for sale and should be guarded against, say fed-

Many Are Warned.

Farmers, suburban dwellers, house wives, and others, are warned by the administration against buying prep arations to be added to feed and drinking water which their makers say will control external parasites on poultry and other animals consuming

Neither should anyone be misled by the theoretically plausible claims made for preparations designed to be absorbed by the sap of trees to control fungous diseases and to kill insects on and in the trees.

Preparations to be hung in the home to drive away all household pests, purify the air and to prevent disease are also branded as useless by the officials.

One of the misbranded preparations sold to control lice, mites, ticks and fleas on poultry and other animals by being taken into the system with the food and drinking water, officials of the administration found could be bought for 18 cents a gallon This preparation, retailed in small containers, netted the producer $64 a gallon. Neither this mixture nor any of the many similar mixtures could produce the results claimed for them.

Control Diseases. Liquids, powders, and capsules to be placed in a hole in the tree, under the bark, or in the soil, and paints to be applied to the trunk of the tree, have been examined for their alleged powers to control fungous diseases and to kill Insects when, according to the advertising literature, the substances are taken up by the sap and carried to all parts of the tree.

Not only is the value of these "remedies" very questionable, the adthem actually harm the trees. They and orchard trees, and in case of the latter, endanger the crop through

Housewives are especially cautioned not to believe the glittering promises made for attractive little cases containing a chemical, which, when merely hung in a room, will drive away or kill moths, ants. roaches, flies, and mosquitoes, and at the same time disinfect the room, purify the air, and prevent disease

Health and Vigor Are

Important in Culling

At least once during the summer or early fall the poultry flock should be culled to get rid of the birds that are not paying for their keep. Health and vigor are of first importance in culling poultry. Hens in good laying condition have bright red combs and wattles. Good layers have combs that are very waxy in texture. In yellowshanked breeds, the beak and shanks of the heavy layers are ordinarily pale yellow or white. The public bones of a good layer are thin and flexible and when the hen is in laying condition they are wide apart. The skin of a good layer is soft, pliable, and of good texture and the back is wide and long. Another important point is the time of molting. Poor layers usually molt earlier than good ones. Heavy layers generally do not begin to molt before September or October. Culling not only im proves the breeding quality of the flock, but if done early enough will save feeding costs and spread the marketing of surplus hens over a longer period than if the culled hens are all marketed late in the fall.

Softening of Any Fruit After Picking Likely

The softening of fruit after picking depends mainly upon the temperature. Sealing fruit in air-tight jars, or coating it with paraffin and the like, will delay softening, but aside from these exceptional conditions, temperature is the controlling factor in the softenbe kept as cool as possible after picking. If several days elapse between picking and packing, the fruit should never be piled up under the trees or left out in the sun. If a cellar is available, it should be used for storing between the operation of picking ministration reports, but many of and packing. METHODS OF DEHORNING CATTLE ARE DISCUSSED IN NEW BULLETIN

Bruises Detract Greatly From Appearance of Carcass.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Feeder cattle having horns do not feed out so well as dehorned cuttle," say W. H. Black and V. V. Parr of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, in Farmers' Bulletin 1600-F. Dehorning. Castrating, Branding and Making Beef Cattle, just published for free distribution by the department. "Budly bruised carcasses," they go on to say, "are usually found in shipments of horned cattle. Bruises detract greatly from the appearance of the carcasses, thus lowering their sale value. Besides the damage done to ment, the hide is frequently damaged. Dehorned cattle usually bring from 25 to 75 cents a hundredweight more than horned cattle of similar quality and condition."

The authors also make recommendations as to castration, spaying, branding and earmarking of beef cattle. The bulletin also includes simnle plans for construction of dehorning and branding chutes, including a chute with a movable side, known as a "squeeze," for holding the animal securely.

On the range it is common to brand calves while still small enough to be handled by ropes, but the authors suggest the advisability of constructing corrals with a chute adapted for working with yearling or older cattle, and a smaller chute for handling calves. Under such an arrangement It is possible to dehorn, castrate or spay, and brand the animals at a single operation.

For dehorning, the authors mention the application of caustic to stop the growth of the horns on calves, and of the ordinary, blundering June bug, saws and dehorning clippers for more mature cattle. They mention precauis due again next year.

Increased Production With Egg Prices High

Poultrymen, by careful attention to the breeding and management of their laying flocks, have effected a definite change in the egg market. According to H. L. Shrader of the United States Department of Agriculture, this is evident as to both the seasonal and the annual pro-

"The market receipts of fresh laid eggs during the late summer and fall months have been increasing the last few years," he comments. "This means that the pullets are being hatched and are maturing earlier, but it also denotes improved efficiency, because the birds are laying more eggs when market prices are the high-

From the standpoint of the consumer this tendency is of definite value. "Already we have noticed," Mr. Shrader says, "that the increased production in the season when eggs were formerly scarce has prevented prices from soaring to extremely bigh levels."

Spoiling of Silage in

Winter Can Be Lessened

Spoiling of silage during the winter can be lessened by treating the inner walls of the silo with a solution which keeps out air. The mixture consists of one pound salt, two tablespoonfuls of alum, one teaspoonful of iye and four gallons of water, plus enough cement to make it the consistency of paste.

In some cases, the inside of the silo doors are lined with paper or the cracks filled with clay to keep

Another scheme is to sow outs or cane at the top of the silo. These grains sprout quickly in the warm silage and the matted growth serves as an insulator excluding the air.

High protein wheat usually commands a premium. The premium may be secured by farmers under condition they know the protein content of their wheat.

Stop smut losses in wheat by treating the seed with copper carbonate dust. The poison chemical disinfects the seed by killing the smut spores that may be clinging to it.

The wheat weevil will be one of the farm problems for next winter, for there are thousands of bushels of wheat going into the bins on the farm. The senson has been such that the common weevils have had an opportunity to lay their eggs on the grain while standing in the fields.

Dispute Over Hand Organ

The centenary of the hand organ occurs this year, but there is some dispute in Italy as to whether notice should be taken of the event. In Florence the musical newspaper, Le Staffile, has come out strongly in favor of a fitting celebration, but in Rome La Tribuna is against it. The former believes that the hurdy gurdy represents the lowly, and popularizes the Italian opera, La Tribuna wishes to banish forever the "organetto" and the outstretched palm of the attendant monkey.

Advice Means Nothing to

Baseball's Star Hitter Floyd Herman of the Brooklyn Robins, one of baseball's naturals, is around the top of the hitters. In a recent game he drove a homer on a line over the left field fence.

"Head work," said Herman, gaily, as he romped around the plate. "You know, Max Carey told me the short right field fence was made for me, and he showed me how to step back to hit to right. So up came the pitch, and I unwound myself, and took my step and wow, away she went over into

> OLD DOCTOR'S IDEA IS BIG HELP TO ELDERLY PEOPLE

In 1885, Dr. Caldwell made a discovery for which elderly people the world over praise him today!

Years of practice convinced him that many people were endangering their health by a careless choice of laxatives. So he began a search for a harmless prescription which would be thoroughly effective, yet would neither gripe nor form any habit. At last he found it.

Over and over he wrote it, when he found people bilious, headachy, out of sorts, weak or feverish; with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy. It relieved the most obstinate cases, and yet was gentle with women, children and elderly people.

Today, this same famous, effective prescription, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is the world's most popular laxative. It may be obtained from any drugstore

Rich From "Hot Dogs"

The making and selling of "hot dogs" is fast becoming one of America's big industries. This year, it is estimated, 400,000,000 pounds of these toothsome sausages will be fed to the American public in sandwiches. One stand at Coney Island last year averaged $15,000 every week-end through the season. Then the proprietor, known as "Hot Dog Joe," took his family to Italy, where they lived in affluence through the winter.

One of the faculty members of Indiana university entertained relatives recently with a chicken dinner. Mrs. Blank explained to her children that they must let their cousin have the liver that day and not be selfish. Returning to the kitchen after a brief absence, she met her five-year-old daughter coming out of the kitchen. Later she missed the liver and asking the child about it received the astonishing reply:

QUALITY THE BIG PROBLEM

Without a doubt the quality question is the outstanding problem of the dairy industry. None of the other problems are in any way of the same importance. The very life of the dairy industry depends on quality. Dairymen will prosper to the same degree that the quality of milk and dairy products is improved. If constant improvement in quality is not made as the years go past, the dairy industry will offer but very little encouragement to the man with money to invest. Quality milk will place the industry on a sound and lasting foundation. Men who ignore this quality question, are looking only for the profits possible at present. They are not good friends of the dairy industry.

Both Polarine and Iso = Vis will stand up under the trying conditions of country driving. They are sturdy!

Both Polarine and Iso=Vis will protect every bearing surface with cushioning films of oil. They are rich!

Polarine is an economical motor oil. Only because of the large volume produced is it possible to sell Polarine at anything like the low price you pay for it. And only because it gives such satisfactory service is such a large volume demanded.

Iso=Vis is the sensational motor oil that wears and wears and wears! Motorists say they can't wear it out! It maintains a constant body and constant lubricating efficiency - many are able to drive for 1000 or 2000 miles without draining the crankcase.
