FIELD TRIALS COME TO CLOSE

The annual field trials of the Wisonsin Beagle Club, held here last week, closed last week Friday. The trials this year, were well attended, in fact, better than was expected. A large number of good, high priced dogs were entered which in many cases throughout the trials, made it hard for the judges to determine the winners. This together with rabbits plentiful, made the trials interesting and enjoyable. With the field trials coming to a successful conclusion last Friday, it was, by an unanimous vote at a meeting held by the members of the organization to again hold the bench show and field trials here again next year. Following are the awards made by the judges:

STEAM PRESSURE LIBERTY COOKER

The Kewaskum Aluminum company whose manufactured products are nationally known and sold, are now making a new kind of kitchen utensil, known as the Liberty Steam Pressure Cooker, which on account of its time is creating a great demand from the buying public. It is a utensil which ents of meat, stews, soups, fricassces and pot roasts. The demand for this cooker has grown so extensively in the last few months that it keeps the force at the plant quite busy manufacturing enough to supply the demand. This steam pressure cooker gives the greatest freedom from watching when it is used for the comparitively long cooking of meats, for once the proper pressure is reached and the heat reduced, no watching is necessary. If the pressure accidentally reaches too high a point, a safety valve attached to same releases any

By LILLIAN MACDONALD

F YOU don't know Vance you have missed seeing a very pretty corner of the country. It is forest land and one expects red men to part the sumacs and tread the noiseless pathways. The town is small and doesn't speak of itself as a city. There's one movie house-not a talkie.

But the pride of Vance is its Old People's home, a truly beautiful building and (what is more rare) well managed. Few of the old folks grumble, excepting just enough to keep them cheerful. They have to fall back on their rheumatism or their fanciful pasts. They have well cooked food and plenty of it.

They even have (or had, I should say) a beauty. Mrs. Rosie Grant was exactly seventy-seven, had eighteen children, fifty grandchildren and a "great," or so, all alive and all handsome. Her husband had passed on at the trifling age of ninety, some years before. "I married an old man, but a good one," she says, lightly.

At Wayce farm lived the Wayce couple alone, for their children were all married. Then suddenly, without warning, Grandpa Wayce appeared, ex-soldier (in the Civil war), and a fine old fellow_for his years.

"I do hope we can take proper care of him," said Susan Wayce. "He looks strong, but you can't be too careful of old folks. We must see he doesn't go out nights and catch cold."

Grandpa liked to be petted. He took the best chair as a matter of course, and was ready to indicate exactly the parts of the chicken he preferred. He told the minister his church was too draughty for old folks. He trotted to the circulating library and found books to occupy his long days.

"He's just a dear, and not a bit of rouble!" exclaimed Susan, Henry Wayce, who was a shrewd observer of character, said nothing. It was quite all right until grandpa took to being out nights. At first poor Susan was terrified.

She wanted to call the town marshal and have him sought for. But Farmer Wayce shook his head. "Don't you do that, Lite. I know the Wayces, and grandpa isn't like any other old man I ever saw. You don't know the Wayces. You know me. I'm not so much a Wayce as a Telfer. Dad said I took entirely after ma, and you ought to be glad of it." He said no more, but looked cryptic.

At the same time Mrs. Mudd, the matron at the Old People's home, was every one else, she loved old Rosie Grant, for that aged coquette had managed to hoax all kinds of favors from her, and it is a fact that nothing wins the heart of a trained social worker so surely as to be gently imposed upon.

For four nights Rosie had not appeared at prayers, and when her room was visited she was not there.

"I felt like the summer air would do me good," was all the explanation

"You know the rules, Mrs. Grant." said the matron Rosie dimpled, and gave a curious suggestion of tossed curls, although her silvery locks were thin and neatly "Now, Mrs. Mudd," she said, "you like us real well, and I enjoy this lovely air. Besides, you like us to keep our windows open.' Mrs. Mudd sighed. "I'm glad she's an old lady," she said to herself. "She must have been a handful when she was young." Down at the Wayce farm Susan bit, and after the seven-mile trek questioned grandpa. down stream, Lester braced himself "Don't you know you might be killed against a rock and pulled the line with all his strength. Suddenly something by a motor car, running around at all gave way and Lester fell back in the hours of the night?"

water and the trout disappeared. Ex-"So might you," was the testy reply, amining the line, Lester found he had and Susan forbore to remark she was hooked a perfect set of false teeth. It always safely in bed around ten is thought the fish was using the false o'clock, herself. teeth to augment his own.

Then one night grandpa failed to report. Susan telephoned the police station and was told that the marshal already had his hands full because one of the old folks had disappeared from the home.

Poor Susan began to cry. She arrival and departure of ships; magaloved old grandpa, and was sure 'something dreadful" had happened. zine advertisements began with Scribner's Monthly in 1870. "Some crazy person is murdering

Castoria corrects CHILDREN'S ailments

W HAT a relief and satisfaction it is for mothers to know that there is always Castoria to depend on when babies get fretful and uncom-fortable! Whether it's teething, colic or other little upset, Castoria always brings quick comfort; and, with relief from pain, restful sleep.

And when older, fast-growing children get out of sorts and out of condition, you have only to give a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation to right the disturbed condition quickly.

Because Castoria is made expressly for children, it has just the needed mildness of action. Yet you can always depend on it to be

CONTRASTING YOKE ADDS CHIC; FEATURING OF NOVELTY FELTS

ONE of the most alluring themes | prefix the word felt with some such which has to do with costume design for the season 1930-1931 is that of the dress with a contrasting yoke. In the idea not only is unusual appeal made to creative genius to whom it opens an avenue of infinite possibilities, but of all types there is none more flattering to its wearer than the dress topped with a different yoke.

explanatory adjective as "different," "novel," "unusual," or "out-of-the-ordinary." For that is exactly what the new felts are. The whole program of felts is one of refreshing novelty not only in the versatility of the felts themselves which include every type from bodies to felt ribbon, felt stripping or fine felt braid which Not only does this flair for contrast is worked or woven like straw, but the

That the milliner has succeeded in incorporating that greatly coveted quality, "youth" in the new models adds greatly to the prestige of the 1930-31 felts. Even the matron bats carry a spirit of youth about them. The felts pictured are a representa tive group sponsored by American millinery fashioned authorities. The first model shown is the very essence of youth. In Paris they are making much of this style which sets way back on the head, and which, incidentally, is materially since a perfect coiffure is essential to complete the picture. Fine Statues of Buddha

in Japanese Shrines

Four gigantic statues of Buddha have been erected in Japan. The largest one is located in the city of Kyoto, and dates from 1801. It is a wooden figure, consisting of only a head and shoulders; but even so it reaches to the ceiling of the lofty hall in which it is enshrined, and is 58 feet in height.

The next largest is 5316 feet in height, erected in the city of Nara. It is made of plates of bronze soldered together. The third in size of these images. but which perhaps gives the most majestic impression of the four, is located at Kamakura, erected in the Thirteenth century. It is 49 feet 7 inches in height, and is formed of sheets of bronze cast separately, brazed together, and finished off on the outside with the chisel.

The hollow interior of the image contains a small shrine, and the visitor may ascend into the head.

The next, and smallest of the four, was built in 1891 at Hyogo, in the precincts of the temple of Nofukuji. It is 48 feet high. It was largely through the efforts of a paper manufacturer of Hyogo, named Nanjo Shobei, that this statue was built. But it by no means equals the ancient sta tue at Kamakura.

Use for "Dry Ice"

"Dry ice" is solidified carbon dioxide, and when it melts or absorbs heat it becomes carbon dioxide gas, which passes off into the air and leaves no moisture behind. It is claimed that I pound of the dry ice will do the work of 15 pounds of ordinary ice and will keep ice cream and other foods cold very much longer than ordinary ice. The solid carbon dioxide resembles snow in appearance.

Queen's Crucifix Added

to Vatican Treasures The pope has recently added a very mportant, though quite unostentatious looking crucifix to the already large and priceless collection which he possesses. This crucifix was carried by Marie Antoinette almost up to the moment of her execution and is made of wood and brass. After the queen had made her confession, an hour or so before her execution, she handed the simple little crucifix to the priest . . . almost her last earthly act. Some time later the priest gave the crucifix to his niece, who lived in Toulouse. As she lay dying she asked the cure to select some little object as a keepsake. He chose Marie Antoinette's crucifix. Later he became Monseigneur Ricard and it was he who bequeathed the relic to his holiness.

Effect of Cold on Corn

How much cold will corn stand and what varieties of corn are best to plant where there is a likelihood of frosts? These and other interesting questions relating to better and bigger crops are answered with the aid of a portable electric refrigerator that is wheeled directly over the growing corn plants in the field and freezes them or exposes them to low temperatures while careful records are made, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Temperatures are accurately controlled throughout the entire test, and the experiment can be done at different periods during the development of the corn.

Wisconsin News . Briefly Told .

Rice Lake-The herd of 10 regis tered and grade Guernseys owned by Archie Keller topped all others in the nine cow testing clubs of Barron county for August with a production that averaged 40.55 pounds of butter fat.

Oconto Falls-Three masked men held up the bank of Oconto Falls, forced four employes into the vault and escaped with approximately $5,000. In their hurry to escape the bandits overlooked several thousand dollars in the cages and vault. Witnesses described the robbers as between 30 and 40 years of age.

Madison-Wisconsin was one of 10 states having a divorce rate of less than one per 1,000 population in 1929, according to statistics received from the United States department of commerce. There were 2.671 divorces granted in Wisconsin in 1929, as compared with 2,673 during the previous Eau Claire-The state champions in butter making are C. G. Enerson, Milltown, and C. C. Goble, Shell Lake, who carried off first prizes, respectively, on sweet cream butter and ripened cream butter in the contest held in connection with the thirtieth annual convention of the Wisconsin Butter Makers association here.

Arpin-As a result of eating a chemical weed killer that was not believed to be harmful to animals, eight pure bred Holstein and Guernsey cows died on the farm owned by A. J. Fredericks and L. M. Clouse. A drum of the chemical had been left in the pasture after an application on Canada thistles, and the cows apparently bumped off Chippewa Falls - Chippewa county leads in the first accredited herd of cattle for contagious abortion. Owners of four herds that have passed the third test are Myron Close, William Rada, W. H. Gates and George Jensen. Only eight herds in the state had been placed on the accredited list published in June. They were in the southern part of the state and were owned by wealthy dairymen.

Monroe-An effort is being made to get the federal government Swiss cheese experiment station moved from Grove City, Pa., to Monroe. About 85 per cent of the Swiss cheese made in the United States is made within fifteen miles of Monroe, and it is believed this justifies the move. R. A. Hardel, a Swiss cheese expert of the United States department of agriculture, will move from Sugar Creek, O., to Monroe this winter.

Madison-A decrease of 92 students compared with last year has been recorded this semester at the University of Wisconsin, according to Frank O. give the university 9,415 students as compared to 9,507 in 1929. There were 6,020 men and 3,487 women enrolled. Mr. Holt attributed the decrease to the business depression. Financial necessity is keeping many students in their home localities, he explained.

Rhinelander-Two new Rhinelander buildings are nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy before the first of the year. They are the Oneida county memorial building and the Masonic temple, representing a total investment of approximately $200,000. The memorial building will be used as an armory for the Wisconsin national guard company here and as American Legion quarters. Both buildings will be dedicated with elaborate ceremonies.

Madison-A total of $184,120,797 was raised in taxes by the state and its subdivisions during the fiscal year ending June 30, the tax commission announced. This is the largest amount collected in the history of the state, being $11,434,482 or 6.6 per cent more than last year's total. During the decade 1920-30 all important types of taxes except the inheritance tax showed increase, the commission stated. In this 10-year period the specific increases were: General property tax levies $4,733,394, railroad and public utilities taxes $1,813,145, income taxes $3,564,290, motor vehicle license fees and gasoline taxes $1,433,871, and other special taxes $128,685.

Appleton-Five hundred rural school teachers of Outagamie county will tour Europe for 33 days next summer at a cost to each of only $250. Plans for the tour were announced by A. G. Meating, Outagamie school superintendent, who last year conducted 1,200 rural school graduates to Washington for commencement exercises on the White House steps. Nearly 200 reservations have already been accepted by the superintendent and the 500 quota is expected to be filled within a few weeks. Present plans call for visits to London, Paris, Berlin, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland.

Beaver Dam - Representatives of Wisconsin's 22 big farm co-operatives and 1,606 local farmers' co-operatives will meet at Beaver Dam Nov. 5 to 7 for the second annual farmers' get together conference under the auspices of the Wisconsin Council of Agricul-

Rhinelander-A timber wolf of un usual size was shot by George Purcell, a settler near Willow Lake. The animal, which weighed 102 pounds, had killed many chickens on the Purcell Platteville-Directors of the Platte ville Milk Products Co. elected James Dugdale, president; Charles A. Wilkins, vice-president; William C. Hill. treasurer, and Edward C. Krog, secre tary. The new $60,000 milk plant is expected to be in operation soon after Jan. 1.

Green Bay-The Rev. James Meagler, formerly of Green Bay, has been appointed pastor of St. Mary's church, Appleton, to succeed the late Msgr. Fitzmaurice, it was announced here by Bishop Paul P. Rhode, Chilton-Reorganization of cow testing was effected here when farmers organized the Calumet County Herd Improvement association No. 1. Rudy Rosenau will be tester.

Janesville-Milk testing below 3 per cent is being shut off the market, Howard Miller, district tester of the Pure Milk association, announced here. Mr. Miller advised members to join dairy herd improvement associations to weed out low testing cows.

Stevens Point-Fifty thousand brook trout, rainbow and German brown fingerling trout were removed from rearing ponds on the Whiting Country club grounds here and planted in streams of central Wisconsin. Members of the Stevens Point chapter of the Izaak Walton league transferred the trout.

Wausau-Despondent over ill health which caused him to relinguish his work at Mosinee paper mills six weeks ago, Frank Stomski, 41, town of Knowlton, committed suicide at his farm home by discharging a stick of dynamite under a day bed on which he was Fond du Lac-The Fond du Lac county highway commission has made preliminary plans to keep highways free from snow by purchasing approximately 50,000 feet of snow fence and 6,000 posts. Officials expect to start the month. The county at present has approximately 20 miles of fencing.

Janesville-One of Rock county's hest stands of tobacco was raised on a four-acre plot on Palmer Arneson's farm. Leaves measured from 17 to 19 inches in width and 28 to 32 inches long. The plot, which has been in tobacco four years, received no special preparation this year. A Spanish variety of seed was used.

Rhinelander - Sidney Schmidt, an Oneida county farmer, after 10 years' experiment, has developed a new variety of potato which he has named the longhoop. The variety attains a much larger size than potatoes common in northern Wisconsin. The yield is heavy and Mr. Schmidt harvested 500 bushels from two and one-half acres. The potato is of excellent quality and especially suitable for baking.

Madison-Illegitimate births in Wisconsin decreased from 1,042 in 1927 to 866 in 1929, the state board of health announced. Ozaukee county is the only one of the state's 71 counties which reported no illegitimate births in either 1928 or 1929. During the last year Adams, Juneau and Marquette mate births.

Fond du Lac-Municipal Court Judge H. M. Fellenz has no use for a $35 automobile and advised that no one else should when he fined Edward Darmond $75 for driving it while intoxicated. Darmond said, "You can have it for $35," when the judge asked what kind of a car he was driving, adding that "no fault could be found with the manner in which I was handling the Holt, registrar. Figures for this fall | car, considering the shape it was in."

> represent themselves as "lawful practitioners of medicine, surgery or osteopathy," veterinarians in Wisconsin may legally call themselves "doctors," the attorney general has ruled. The ruling was made at the request of Walter A. Drews, Milwaukee, state investigator for the Wisconsin state board of medical examiners.

> Manitowoc - Reducing general city taxes by $3.48.9 per thousand dollars of valuation for 1931, the common council here adopted a conservative city budget without changing recommendations of the finance committee, to raise $383,167.51. The assessed valuation of property increased $1,256,612. Expenditures, without reducing operating expenses of any department, but cutting outlay to a minimum, are fixed at $616,517.51. Revenues are estimated at $233,350, leaving $383,167.51 to be raised by taxation. On this basis, the city will levy a general property tax at the rate of $9.18.5 per $1,000 valuation. For 1930, the rate was $12.67.4. which is $3.48.9 per thousand in excess of the tax rate for 1931.

RUSS. GRAIN MENACE TO U. S., SAYS LEGGE

To Flood American Market, Farm Bd. Head Predicts.

Chicago.-Predicting that in three years Russia would be flooding world markets with cereal grains, except corn, to the department of American farmers, Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, said the government's Department of Agriculture and his board intended to give grain growers full warning of what was coming. He spoke before the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers at its annual meeting held here.

"There is no Santa Claus in Washington," Mr. Legge declared. "We are simply trying to aid the growers when they themselves volunteer to organize and readjust their methods to modern conditions. We have set up seven central marketing agencies and turned them over to farmers, and are helping other groups that need it. Our only interest thereafter is as creditor." Cheap money rates for many months have not brought a "comeback" in business or agriculture, Mr. Legge asserted, but Americans are better off today than people in other countries. setting up fencing about the middle of He expressed the hope that the bottom of business depression had been reached. New York bankers have assured him there can be no stabilization of securities until commodity prices start back upward, he said, expressing the opinion that big business was just beginning to realize the basic importance of agricultural well-being. "Manufacturers in recent years have been obliged to discard old methods and rearrange their factory units," the farm board chairman declared, "Farmers, unorganized, have been unable to do this, and continue 'blind production.' We are trying to point out the need of taking inventory and plan our farm production accordingly. The two crops, wheat and cotton, are in most need of readjustment, and in each case

Mr. Legge pointed out that lowered production costs and reduced acreage were necessary for grain growers, with possible changes in the size of farms to facilitate more economical handling.

"Faulty information last fall caused us to make some mistakes in handling the wheat situation," Mr. Legge said, "but high tariff walls and decreased wheat consumption were not foreseen by either the farm board or expericounties were also free from illegiti- enced men in the trade. We have better information sources now, and that kind of error is out of the picture." Senator Arthur Capper (Rep., Kan.), speaking at the luncheon of the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said:

"Manipulation of the New York Stock exchange by 'short selling' doesn't mean one-tenth to the West what the menancing control of your grain markets by the speculative element does." He added that Kansas and Chicago had many things in common, but the "heavy losses in grains due to price fluctuations in Chicago have caused total lack of confidence by Kansans in the grain markets here." The senator asserted that unless the wrongful practices are righted the government will have to take a hand.

Claim Grain Men's Right to Defend Themselves

St. Paul, Minn.-Replying to the second broadside fired by the farm board in the last few days, in which it is charged Minneapolis grain interests are pouring $1,000,000 into propaganda to undermine the board, the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce denied the allegations and firmly upheld the right of the grain trade to defend its interests against any ill-advised marketing theories and unfair competition originating from governmental or any other source.

At the same time South St Paul Live Stock exchange members voiced criticism of the farm board's attitude in the matter of the proposed investigation into marked attacks on the board and pointed out that, in the live stock setups, it has been co-operative organizations whose voices have been lifted in loudest protests against the farm board's program for that industry.

Latest development in the farm board's plan to unmask attacks which have been made on it include statements from Washington that, through friendly western interests, the board learns that Minneapolis grain interests are putting $1,000,000 a year into propaganda to undermine the board. This money, the board claims, is used to finance 200 traveling representatives of Minneapolis grain commission houses covering most of the elevators of the Northwest.

ATHLETICS WIN FLAG TWICE IN TWO YEARS

Philadelphia Beats St. Louis in Championship Contest.

Philadelphia.-The Athletics of Philadelphia, world's champions for the second time in two years, have a right to consider themselves "a great team." The American leaguers won the series in impressive fashion by capturing the sixth game, 7 to 1, from the St. Louis Cardinals. The deciding game never was in doubt, for the world's champions made two runs, enough to win, in the first inning, while the Missourians did not offer a serious threat to score until the ninth when they were seven runs behind. Against the effective pitching of big George Earnshaw, the Cards were almost helpless, failing to get a man to third base until two batsmen had been retired in the final inning. When the visitors counted their lone run they broke a streak of scoreless pitching against them by Earnshaw, which had extended over a stretch of 22 innings.

The big moose of the A's blanked the opposition in the last seventh inning of the second game of the series, permitting six hits and winning, 6 to 1. In the fifth game at St. Louis he went the first seven innings without being nicked for a run when he left the game for a pinch hitter. In this game he had allowed only two hits. In the final game he turned the opposition back without a run and with only three hits until the ninth when a single and double with a pass in between was good for a run.

The triumph of the Athletics marked the fourth straight year in which the American league champions had won the highest prize baseball has to offer. The Cardinals of 1930, however, may take with the loser's share of the series receipts the satisfaction of carrying the autumn struggle a game longer than did the Chicago Cubs last year and two games father along the trail than the Pirates of 1927 or the Cardinals of 1928, when the New York Yankees disposed of the National league opposition in the minimum time of four games.

The game which rang down the curtain on major league baseball for the year was typical of the pitch set by the moundsmen for the series. In only one game was the losing team able to score more than one run and in the opening battle only a scant two runs fell to the lot of the vanquished.

FARM POULTRY

SCRATCH LITTER OFTEN MENACE

May Become Damp and Filthy in Poultry House.

More harm than good sometimes results from the scratching litter. It may become damp and filthy and thus be a menace to the health of the flock, or moldy and musty straw may be used with the result that serious loss of birds follows.

Scratching litter can be used to great advantage and most poultry keepers resort to its use during the winter months. The purpose of litter in the poultry house is threefold: 1. Enables feeding of grain so as to induce the birds to keep active during the day. 2. Acts as an absorbent and keeps floor clean.

3. Makes the birds more comfortable. While these purposes are usually accomplished, at the same time the litter often becomes an unsuspected

source of trouble. Poultry keepers can well afford to exercise much discretion as to the quality of straw to be used for scratching litter. Only bright clean straw, free from dust and mold, should be used as chickens are unable to stand excessive dust and but very little mold since it is so irritating to the air passages. It is difficult to realize how delicate and complicated is the respiratory system of a fowl. As one author puts it, the "chicken breathes pretty much all over its body." Besides having bronchial tubes and lungs, it also has nine air sacs located

Hens need a balanced ration if they are to return a profit for feed and care. In the natural laying season-April, May, and June-the hens balance their own ration by eating green feed, gravel, lime, seeds and grains and insects, and by drinking water in abundance if it is to be found. In winter, when the hens are kept in a building, these things must be supplied if eggs are to be produced.

In summer hens exercise almost constantly. In order to provide exercise in winter, cover the floor with straw and then scatter the feed in this litter. Have plenty of lime, oyster or clam shells, gravel and charcoal in separate hoppers. Provide the protein (in-

Extremely Thin Shells

Show Lack of Material When egg shells are extremely thin, either there is not sufficient material normal shells, or the birds themselves tion will help the birds to make better use of the materials that have been furnished or a mineral mixture may supply the necessary elements the birds need. If birds could get out in the direct rays of the sunshine regularly, the health-giving properties would enable them to make more efficient use of the feeds and supplements that are given them. The practice of keeping layers confined in winto announcement made by W. B. ter prevents this. That's why glass substitutes are used in some of the windows, as these substitutes allow through. When cod liver oil is used, to 100 pounds of the mash fed, or about 11/2 pints to 100 pounds of

Need More Protein When hens are not laying, there are few questions to ask relative to the flock. First, are they properly housed? Second, are the pullets matured and up to standard weight? Third, are parasites, either external or internal, handicapping the flock? If these three questions can be answered satisfactorily and still the birds are not laying in a suitable manner, then it is likely that the trouble lies in the ration. Well-grown birds need a ration buying everything on containing more protein.

Feeding Program

A good winter feeding program that the average farm poultry raiser will find helpful is as follows: Small grains, as wheat, oats and barley given in early morning; green feed or sprouted oats, 9 to 10 a. m. or another light feed of small grain; a light feed of hot mash at noon and heavy feed of shelled corn in the late afternoon. Remove the Spurs

Cock birds having long spurs are the cause of many injuries on females. This can be avoided by removing the spurs. This is a comparatively easy operation and should be done. It is best to cut off the spur with a saw and then sear the end of the cut with a red-hot iron. This will prevent seriwill be no danger of further injury. A chisel or pair of shears are not satisfactory for removing the spurs as they crack the spur.

I have seen Walter Johnson, after 18 years with an "also ran" ball team, finally reach and a little later on I'm going to give the world series, only to pitch his heart out in two futile attempts to win from the New York Giants before victory finally rewarded his efforts in the climax of, possibly, the most thrill-packed world series game ever played. I have seen the great Christy Mathewson at his best, and Hans Wagner, Mordecai ("Three-Fingered") Brown, and the rest of the famous old-timers. I have seen Babe Ruth's murderous bat wreck scores of ball games with a thundering drive over some far-flung fence. I have gazed and marveled as "Red" Grange, the great football star of the University of Illinois, came flashing down the midwest gridirons on those swift, snaky, breath-taking runs of his. I have seen the great Jack Dempsey demonstrate his right to the world's heavyweight championship with a swift, murderous jolt of his right forearm that spelt oblivion for his luckless opponent.

Deciding on one's biggest thrill in sport is quite a job for anyone. Today we see something that sends us home satisfied that life can offer nothing greater. And tomorrow some new meteor of the gridiron, the diamond the prize ring, race track, or some other phase of the world of sports relegates the "supreme" thrill to the estate of dim reminiscence, where once it had stood out in sharp relief.

It's hard, all right, and I would be brave, or foolish, man to state positively that "Red" Grange thrilled me more than Jim Thorpe did; that Walter Johnson's pitching was nearer to perfection than Christy Mathewson's; that Hans Wagner's infield play was greater than the greatest of Eddie Collins, or that Babe Ruth's wallops send more shivers racing up and down my spine than Jack Dempsey's did.

I refer to that day early in the fall of 1905 when the memorable letter came from Ban Johnson, president of the American league, offering me a berth as one of his umpires. I was assigned to make my debut with Umpire Jack Sheridan in New York.

Jack Sheridan-I say it without the slightest fear of contradiction-was the greatest umpire baseball has ever known. He is dead now, but his memory will always live with me. Whatever success I may have attained as a major league umpire was due to the interest Sheridan took in me as a "cub." Sheridan started me right.

They say one must be original to succeed. Ordinarily I agree with that axiom, but I have not adhered to it very strongly in my major league career. From the start, I have been an imitator, more or less, of Jack Sheri-

DOCTOR'S Prescription gives Bowels Real Help

Train your bowels to be regular; to move at the same time every day; to be so thorough that they get rid of all the waste. Syrup Pepsin-a doctor's prescriptionwill help you do this. When you take this compound of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients, you are helping the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the sensible thing to take whenever you are headachy, bilious, halfsick from constipation. When you have no appetite, and a bad taste or bad breath shows you're full of poisonous matter or sour bile.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for 47 years. His prescription always works quickly, thoroughly; can never do you any harm. It just cleans you out and sweetens the whole digestive tract. It gives those overworked bowels the help they need.

Take some Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today, and see how fine you feel tomorrow-and for days to come. Give it to the kiddles when they're sickly or feverish; they'll like the taste! Your druggist has big bottles of it, all ready for use.
