CALLED TO THEIR ETERNAL HOME

DEATH OF JOHN SCHLOSSER
After a lingering illness of three years, with ulcer of the stomach, John Schlosser, a well known and esteemed citizen of New Fane, passed away in death at his home on Friday, November 21, 1930. Mr. Schlosser was born November 19, 1861 in Milwaukee, when a young boy, he moved with his parents to the town of Auburn in which township he spent practically all of his life. He was married to Christina Schaeffer, who together with the following children survive: Tony of the town of Auburn, John and Joe of West Bend, Rose (Mrs. A. Harris), Helen (Mrs. Joe Korinek), Ann (Mrs. J. Eckert) Mike and Jake Schlosser, all of Milwaukee; Tena (Mrs. A. Uelmen) of the town of Kewaskum, George Schlosser on the homestead. One daughter Susan (Mrs. N. Uelmen) died 13 years ago. He also leaves to mourn, 26 grand children and 5 sisters, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. Chas. Utes, Mrs. G. Kneucker, Mrs. William Kegian, all of Chicago, Mrs. Peter Schaeffer of Barton, Mr. Schlosser was a home loving man delighting to spend his time with his family, for whom he worked faithfully to make their home a happy and comfortable one. He was a true friend and a devoted christian man. Five years ago he retired from farm life, and made his home in the village of New Fane where he resided up to the time of his death. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from the home of his son George, it being the homestead to which place the body was removed and lay in state until the day of the funeral. Services were held in the St. Michael's Catholic church. Rev. J. Beyer officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

DEATH OF JACOB HAUSMANN
Jacob Hausmann, who was born in the town of Kewaskum, died at his home in Milwaukee on Wednesday, November 19. He was 69 years old. When a young man he moved to Milwaukee where he has since resided. He was a well known West Side contractor. He is survived by his son, his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Margaret Schnepf, of Barton, Mrs. Barbara Globish, Mrs. Rose Vogt and Mrs. Pauline Vogt; and two brothers, Nicolas and Theodore. The funeral was held last Monday at 10 a. m. in St. Ann's church. Rev. Rayner G. Hausmann, a son officiated. Interment was made in Holy Cross cemetery.

FOUND FROZEN TO DEATH ON ROAD
John Happel, aged about 49 years, farm hand for the past four years of Peter Holz, residing near Nabot, was found frozen to death, along side of the road just south of Nabot at eight o'clock Tuesday morning by Alfonso Kitzger, when he drove by with his car. Happel had been working for Alfred Laatsch on Monday, which place he left at 10:00 o'clock that evening for the Holz home that was the last time he was seen alive. Corner Clemens Reinders was called, who brought the body to his undertaking parlors, and on Tuesday removed same to the Frank Zwaska Funeral home at Milwaukee. Happel was a single man, and the son of Jacob Happel of 1115-2nd Lane, Milwaukee. Just how he came to freeze to death will probably never be known.

YOUTHS JAILED IN THEFT OF GASOLINE

Edward Siegel of Milwaukee and Vincent Welsch of Mayville, captured after an automobile they were driving missed a curve and tipped over in a ditch at the west limits of Campbellsport Sunday night, were being held at the county jail charged with the theft of gasoline from the Adolph Flitter filling station in the village. A warrant charging the youths with theft was issued in municipal court on the complaint of Flitter. Their arraignment will be delayed until late Tuesday to give Sheriff Alfred Vandezande an opportunity to file additional complaints which he said will charge Siegel with driving an automobile while intoxicated and Welsch with being drunk.

Siegel, driver of the car, denied knowledge of stealing gasoline or attempting to escape capture, the sheriff said. The youths were unhurt but their car was wrecked in the smash-up. Autoists who had pursued them pulled them out of the wreckage and turned them over to county authorities. Siegel questioned by Sheriff Vandezande, said he and Welsch had started from Milwaukee early Sunday. They stopped at a Milwaukee beer flat, he said, and then drove to Long Lake. Later they went to Campbellsport. Questioned concerning the theft of the gasoline, Siegel said that he was unable to remember it. Flitter, however, claims that the youths, in a large touring car, drove up to his filling station and pumped their car full of gasoline. When Flitter ran out, he says, Siegel dropped the hose, jumped into the car and fled east on Highway 67. The car stopped a short distance outside of the village and Siegel got out and replaced the cap on the gasoline tank, after which the car was turned around and driven back through the village. Flitter said that he recognized the automobile and ran out in the street in an attempt to get the license number. He had to leap aside to escape being hit, he said. After the car had passed, men at the filling station started in pursuit.

The fleeing automobile easily outdistanced the pursuers, Sheriff Vandezande said, but when the driver attempted to make a curve at high speed skidded and rolled over into the ditch.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter.

Bridge, first—Clarence Kudek; second—Miriam Schaefer; third—Mrs. Happel and fourth Mrs. Oscar Koerble. Fred Schleif was awarded the door prize.

MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN CAR

Reno Gehrke, Hartford barber, and Mrs. Gehrke, upon their return from Milwaukee late Tuesday afternoon, met with the horrible sight of a man who had been cremated in a burning automobile. The unfortunate person was Paul Whitman of Menomonee Falls Tailors. While on a delivery trip Whitman's car left the road two miles east of Goldendale on Highway 165 and struck a tree, catching fire. Either the man was killed or critically injured from the machine, which took fire. A lad of about thirteen years old on his way home from school, was the first to come upon the burning car and the imprisoned man. Unable to free the latter, he rushed to his home nearby, and notified his father, who at once hastened to the scene with a fire extinguisher and put out the flames. When liberated the man was found to be dead. Mr. and Mrs. Gehrke arrived upon the scene immediately after the accident. The man, they report, had been literally baked. One leg was entirely burned off, and part of the other leg and arm were missing. Although no one saw the accident, and hence it cannot be ascertained precisely how it happened it is thought a blow-out caused the machine to leave the road. The car driven by Whitman, was a new Ford truck. The unfortunate man was 23 years of age. He leaves a wife.—Hartford Times.

CELEBRATE 55th WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roecker of West Bend celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at their home last Wednesday evening with their children, grand children and great-grandchildren. Mr. Roecker is 78 years old having been born January 15, 1852, in the town of Barton. Mrs. Roecker is 74 years old and was born January 2, 1856 in the town of Scott, Sheboygan county. They were married at Silver Creek, and after their marriage made their home in the town of Barton, where they resided until nine years ago when they moved to West Bend. Mr. and Mrs. Roecker are the parents of nine children, all of whom were present at the celebration. Their names are: John of Chippewa county, Walter at home, Edwin on the homestead in the town of Barton, Leonard 6f West Bend, Caroline (Mrs. Louis Klumb) of West Bend, Christine (Mrs. Adolph Napezel) of Milwaukee, Katie (Mrs. Ed. Backhaus) of West Bend, Philippine (Mrs. Albert Butzke) of the town of Barton and Martha (Mrs. Art. Bunkelman) of the town of Farmington.

COMEDY AT WEST BEND THEATRE

If you are inclined to shed tears when you laugh, take a bath towel with you when you go to see Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in Radio Pictures' wartime comedy, "Half Shot at Sunrise," opening today at the West Bend Theatre. It is funnier than "The Cuckoos." Wheeler and Woolsey, cast as doughboys, go A. W. O. L. in Paris and raise—well—everything but the dead. They impersonate officers—pose as heroes—elope with their Colonel's daughter—steal his car—pull down the wrath of the whole army on their necks—makes M. P.'s wonder about themselves in connection with the Darwin theory—and emerge HEROES! The cast includes Hugh Arevor and Dorothy Lee, who also scored in "The Cuckoos," Edna May Oliver, the Party Ann Hawks of "Showboat," Roberta Robinson, "Cinderella Girl" of the movies, George MacFarlane, John Rutherford and the famous Tiller Sunshine girls, who do two unusual novelty numbers.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks to all our neighbors, relatives and friends, for the kind sympathy extended us in our late bereavement, of our beloved mother and grand mother, Mrs. Amelia Koch. To the pall bearers, to Rev. Kuenne for his consoling words, to the choir, the Ladies' Aid, for the many beautiful floral offerings, to Undertakers Leifer and Hintz, to all who loaned cars and to all who attended the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sauter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Koch, Mrs. Ida Koch, The Grand children.

SKALISKEY AGAIN CHOSEN CHAIRMAN

Prin. E. E. Skaliskey, will be in charge of the Christmas seal campaign in Kewaskum this year, it was announced by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, which conducts the annual appeal for funds to fight the great white plague in this state. The hundreds of free chest discovery clinics which are conducted by the association throughout the state each year are paid for by these funds. Nearly 17,000 people were examined at them last year, and 2,168 were found to be tubercular. Christmas seal funds also pay for the work of promoting the erection of public sanatoria and preventoria for the care of the tuberculous; for the training of public health nurses; for the preventive health work that is carried on in thousands of Wisconsin's public schools; for the copiousness of broadcasting, through all kinds of publicity media, facts on the prevention, treatment and cure of tuberculosis. All this work is carried on by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

UTILITY SYSTEM LAUNCHES BROAD INVESTMENT DRIVE

Mid-West States Utilities company, parent corporation of the Mid-West States Telephone company of Wisconsin, which furnishes this city with telephone service, will launch a permanent campaign for customer ownership of its securities, about December 15th, it was learned today by A. J. Sukawaty, local manager. Class A shares of the Mid-West system will be the initial offering. Mr. Sukawaty said. Officials of Mid-West States system have incorporated, in Delaware, Mid-West States Securities company, which will be the investment division of the utility. Proceeds from the sale of securities to customer-owners will be used for improvement of the company's plant within each territory, according to advices from the system's main offices in Chicago, Mr. Sukawaty said. "These shares never before have been offered except by members of the international investment banking syndicate," the communication from Chicago to Mr. Sukawaty said. "It has long been our desire to permit investors in smaller communities to participate in profits from the service furnished them. The system has been in the process of expansion which left us insufficient time for carrying on such a campaign. The establishment of an investment subsidiary is intended solely to answer requests from numerous subscribers and to improve public relations by distribution of profits." The shares, which are traded daily on the New York Curb Exchange, will be sold through the company's local office, Mr. Sukawaty said.

My Greatest Thrill in Sport

An Interview With W. L. (Young) Stribling Aspiring Heavyweight Fighter.

JUST a few years ago there was a schoolboy in Atlanta, Ga., laboring over problems in algebra, translating Latin and other studies. On the scales he pulls 150 pounds. His muscles are like whipcords under restraint. In ordinary clothing he looks like the everyday schoolboy.

But in the ring of the squared circle stands the same boy, erect, body perfectly proportioned. Muscles perfectly atone. Power in every set and pose. He is called to battle. Speed, lightning footwork, jabs. A left that shoots in and out so quick that it lands and is away again almost before it is seen. A right with real power. And headwork that is phenomenal.

That is W. L. (Young) Stribling, a heavyweight fighter who has to his credit among many others a newspaper verdict over Mike McTigue, the champion of his class. He it was who was sought out at a prep football game.

But he would not talk. He was too busy. He was a cheer leader. He was doing his jumps, arm flails and all the other wild things cheer leaders do. He said wait. And after the game he talked of his greatest thrill.

"I suppose I ought to say that my victory over Mike McTigue was the greatest, though I could not have the title McTigue holds because of the conditions. Or I might say the Berenbach battle, or some of the many others. I might even go to the basketball games I have helped to win. But I will tell you the truth.

"My greatest thrill was when I fought my maddest fight—mad in every way, for I did a foolhardy thing. But, Mister, what a fine time I had! I even feel thrills chasing up and down my spine now when I talk about it. Gee! It was great!

"The thrill came in a fight with a boy far from a champion. He was a glorious fighter, though. But let's get to the encounter. I am supposed to be clever. I ought always to box. I

Winter Driving Cause of Motorists' Trials

The automobile engine should have plenty of power, especially during the cold, winter months. A few motorists, when their engines begin to lose power, start experimenting with different kinds of fuels, little realizing that the trouble is loss of compression, which is a loss of power. There are many causes of this trouble which are difficult to remedy, writes Fred Kingsbury in the Cleveland News.

The first thing is to test the compression of each cylinder. If one varies from another the next job is ought never to lose my temper. "I should rarely slug.

"But this time I forgot the things I should do and the things I should not. I was mad—so mad that I just fought, FOUGHT, FOUGHT.

"Red Herring was my opponent. We were scheduled to go ten rounds. But at the gong in the first round Red came tearing out of his corner for me and smash! his fist landed with a thud on my nose.

"I saw red. I was so mad that I forgot everything but that punch on the nose. And I slugged. That suited Herring, and we both slugged. From my corner came instructions to box, but I just slugged.

"Round after round we stood practically toe to toe and lambasted one another with everything we had. I was in great shape and in the seventh Red began to weaken.

"From then on I never let up, but he was game and he was not to be put out. But I licked him.

"And if I live to be a champion, I do not believe I will ever have a greater thrill, for that licking was a mad boy's licking, and I gloried in it."

a broken or weak spring, or even faulty adjustment, the closing operation will be prevented and there will be no compression.

If the timing is incorrect, a loss of compression will be noticeable in all cylinders in the engine.

Keep the engine free of carbon and be sure the time and tappet adjustments are correct.

Professionals Make Big Money Out of Miniature

Some one suggested a while back that miniature golf would soon endanger the livelihood of the professional golfers, but it appears that the professionals have made miniature golf an asset. Walter Hagen and Horton Smith have been giving exhibitions of putting and pitching on corner lots, receiving $125 for a show lasting three and one-half hours, and $50 for an hour's entertainment.

Most of the other leading professionals are taking to the miniature courses, finding a new source of revenue there.

to locate the cause. There may be a leak in the piston rings, or there may be a leaking valve, pet cock, spark plug or through the cylinder head gasket. Of course a cylinder may be scored, but that is another problem.

Tighten Cylinder Head Gasket.
The cylinder head gasket must be kept tight. This tightening must be done evenly all around, taking up a little on each nut until all are right.

Sometimes the piston rings are turned so that all openings are in line. A poor grade of oil will prevent a tight compression seal. Be sure to use the finest oil obtainable, and the grade prescribed by the manufacturer of your car.

If a cylinder is worn oval there is no remedy except that of reboring. Sometimes kerosene will help to free the piston rings of carbon. This should be used, however, when the motorist is ready to drain the crankcase, as dilution of the oil is likely to result.

Tighten Spark Plugs.

Make sure that the spark plugs are tight and that a gasket of good copper and asbestos is provided. A cracked porcelain will allow compression to escape.

If your engine is fitted with priming cups be sure they are tight and stay closed.

During the compression stroke the valves should be closed. If there is

Why Oil Filter Must Be Serviced

Motorists should not neglect the oil filter on their car.

Clean oil means longer engine life and smoother performance. The oil filter removes dirt, carbon and other foreign matter from the oil. The removal of this foreign matter decreases wear on the moving parts of the engine, thus assisting in prolonging its life. It is important that the filter cartridge be removed after 10,000 miles of driving, as after this mileage it becomes filled with the foreign matter taken from the oil and ceases to function at highest efficiency. If the cartridge is not renewed at this mileage the whole purpose of the filter is defeated.

Pedestrian on Crosswalks Have Right of Way in Los Angeles

Pedestrians on marked crosswalks at highway intersections not controlled by traffic signals have the right of way over motorists, according to traffic ordinances in most cities.

In the Los Angeles traffic ordinance this is specifically provided in sections stating that:

New Auto Embodies Airship Features

A revolutionary new automobile, shaped like an airship and capable of greater speed as a sedan seating seven than as a stripped chassis, was recently demonstrated in London by its inventor, Sir Dennis Burney, designer and builder of the giant English airship R-100. In appearance the "Burney Streamline," as the new car is called, suggests the airship with low front, sloping windshield, crescent curved top and long, tapering end, extending far beyond the rear wheels. Another innovation is the engine at the rear, which eliminates noise, heat and fumes while driving. Sir Dennis asserts that if the car could reach 150 miles an hour it would actually rise in the air, owing to its streamlining. It is a straight eight, of 22 horse power and is capable of 80 miles an hour. Smooth riding is assured by having each wheel independently sprung.

They have in their line a big fellow named Gorgenstein, who is quite a talker. He is always talking the boys out of everything but their shirts. After the frosh-varsity game, early in the season, Zuppke was berating his varsity for letting Gorgenstein talk them out of so many plays.

"You let that fellow talk you out of everything," he went on. "He even talked the officials out of a lot of plays." And Zup then added sotto voce to himself, "and he even talked me out of some things!"

The Northwestern football squad seemed strong enough this fall to keep the opposition at a distance without smallpox.

The St. Louis Browns are the only baseball club in either major league that has not won a pennant.

According to scouts in the big leagues there are fewer good young baseball players in the United States today than ever before.

There seems to be a growing opinion among amateur football players that the amateur football player also is worthy of his hire.

All the assistant coaches who help Bob Zuppke with the University of Illinois football team are former students of that institution.

The past season broke all attendance records for the National league, surpassing the banner year, 1928, by several hundred thousand.

Reggie McNamara, "Iron man" of bicycle racing, always tends to his own cycles, replacing tires and making repairs and adjustments.

Miss Stella Walsh now holds nine world's records in women's track and field sports. She recently returned from a triumphant tour of Europe.

One factory is turning out 8,700 radio sets a day, and still that's not enough to take care of all the football fans who cannot get into the stadiums.

Football used to be considered a dangerous game, but now the fatalities have been transferred from the gridiron to the fan traffic bound for the games.

Two women are suing the Cleveland Baseball club for injuries suffered when a foul tipped ball bounced into the grand stand. They are asking for $30,000.

According to ring experts, most of the highly regarded referees in the history of boxing have been men who never fought or had only slight experience with the gloves.

Jess Haines has been with the Cardinals ten years, having cost $10,000 when bought from Kansas City. That was the most money the Cards ever paid for a player.

Night baseball cannot be adopted by clubs in the major leagues until rule No. 22 on the list governing or-

Device for Mounting on Rims of Various Sizes

The device illustrated will prove serviceable in mounting tires on rims of various sizes. It consists, as shown, of a wooden platform in which three rings of holes are bored part way through. Four-foot lengths of iron pipe are strung together with a wire through holes in the pipe as shown and the top disk is notched to support and the other ends of the pipes. By the other ends of the pipes it is choosing the proper ring of holes it will possible to get a wedge which will spread any rim till it locks. The cost of a rim spreader of this type is low. —Popular Science Monthly.

Spreading a rim is made easy with this device of iron pipes and a wooden platform.

Sonny had played his first game of miniature golf, not too well. His mother asked him how he liked it, and he replied: "It would be just fine if they would only make the holes a little larger!"

No more COLIC pains ... give Castoria

ACRY in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. When there's need of gentle regulation. Every child loves the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

Engineers' Costly Error

There were two instances recently of bridges which had to be torn down and rebuilt before they were completed owing to defective wire in the cables. They were the Detroit-Windsor International bridge and the Mount Hope bridge connecting the island on which stands Newport R. I. with the mainland. In the construction a new processed steel wire, heat-treated, was used and found defective. In both cases it had to be removed and replaced by the cold-drawn wire. The defects were not discovered until the cables were completed and considerable progress had been made in the erection of the steel work, but in time to save a collapse.

Come to Shell's Free Cooking Party

TO BE HELD
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4th
 At 1:30 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.
at Batavia Hall, Batavia, Wis.
 Under the personal direction of Mrs. Sara White

PLAN now to enjoy yourself with the other housewives of this district, learning new ways to cook at the Shellane cooking demonstration. Come and bring your neighbors with you. You will be welcomed as our guests at this interesting party.

You will see a housekeeping expert prepare delicious new recipes from start to finish, with every detail clearly explained and demonstrated.

A variety of appetizing dishes will be cooked by the hostess and served to everyone present. There will also be a drawing of all the names of those present, and if you are lucky you may take home one of the valuable prizes that will be given away.

You will be entitled to join the Shellane Cooking Circle, and will be given copies of the selected recipes prepared at the party. And remember that it won't cost you a cent... nothing for you to buy... no work to do... no obligation of any kind.

You will see how Shellane Cooking Gas makes it possible for you to own and use a real gas stove, no matter how far from the gas mains you live. Shellane gas service is the modern way to cook without the bother of wood, coal, gasoline or coal oil.

Housewives on farms and in towns and villages say that Shellane Cooking Gas is the most valuable household service ever invented. And when you see how it works, you'll say that Shellane is far better than any liquid or solid fuel you've ever used.

You won't want to miss a minute of this Shellane cooking demonstration and housewives' party. Be on time for a good time and join the Shellane Cooking Circle at this first meeting.

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

C. F. Redlich, Minneapolis, Minn., will demonstrate without charge his unequalled method at Fond du Lac TUESDAY, DEC. 9 at the Retlaw Hotel from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Evening by telephone appointment.

Mr. C. F. Redlich says:

The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief and contract the opening in a remarkably short time.

The secret of their success is in their simplicity. An expertly adjusted device seals the opening without discomfort or detention from work. It is practically everlasting, sanitary, comfortable and actually holds ruptures which heretofore were considered uncontrollable.

Stomach troubles, backaches and constipation, nearly always a consequence of rupture, promptly disappear.

NOTICE: All whom we have treated during the past ten years are invited to come in for a free inspection.

—The stopping or parking of automobiles in improper places is dangerous and increases congestion was a statement made by the State Highway Commission.
"Loading spaces and no parking spaces should be respected," continues the statement. "That they are clear means that everybody else does respect them, and surely you will not be the one to horn in where you are not wanted and ought not to be."
"The traffic code prohibits parking or stopping a vehicle or leaving any such vehicle standing on a street unless it is on the right side of the street, parallel to the edge of the street, headed in the direction of traffic, and with the right wheels within twelve inches of the curb or the edge of the street. Angle parking is lawful only where expressly permitted. The same is true of double parking. Stopping a vehicle is unlawful within an intersection, on a cross-walk, or between a safety zone and the adjacent curb. Parking is prohibited in front of a private entrance or within ten feet of a fire station or directly across the street from the entrance to a fire station. A number of other places are also specifically declared to be prohibited for stopping, standing, or parking. There are many other places where no courteous driver will stop or park even though not expressly prohibited because by so doing he will cause inconvenience, if not danger to other vehicles."
"We have all observed automobile parking advantages of an arterial stop to discharge passengers, even though this delays a long line of vehicles behind the one making the arterial stop. We have all observed vehicles stop to take on passengers right in the stream of traffic, where this not only tended to cause a traffic jam but exposed the passengers to danger of being run over. A common practice on the part of urban and interurban bus drivers is to speed up the schedule a little by stopping some five or six feet from the curb to take on passengers even though a loading zone at the curb has been plainly indicated and there is every opportunity for such busses to pull up to the curb, as ordinary safety principles would require them to do even though this were not specifically required by law. "Courtesy is the key to the solution of most problems in human relations. It should have more use in automobile operations."

—Walter Vorpahl and sister were callers here Saturday.
—Quite a few from here attended the prize card party at Campbellsport Sunday evening, sponsored by the Pearson Brown Post of the American Legion. None of them were successful in winning a prize.
—More weight in tire chains gives more wear. Gamble's new Tiger Chains—case-hardened—weigh more per pair than any other standard specification chain. 29 x 4.40 $3.15—30 x 5.00 $4.35. Gamble Stores, West Bend, Wis.

—The stopping or parking of automobiles in improper places is dangerous and increases congestion was a statement made by the State Highway Commission.
"Loading spaces and no parking spaces should be respected," continues the statement. "That they are clear means that everybody else does respect them, and surely you will not be the one to horn in where you are not wanted and ought not to be."
"The traffic code prohibits parking or stopping a vehicle or leaving any such vehicle standing on a street unless it is on the right side of the street, parallel to the edge of the street, headed in the direction of traffic, and with the right wheels within twelve inches of the curb or the edge of the street. Angle parking is lawful only where expressly permitted. The same is true of double parking. Stopping a vehicle is unlawful within an intersection, on a cross-walk, or between a safety zone and the adjacent curb. Parking is prohibited in front of a private entrance or within ten feet of a fire station or directly across the street from the entrance to a fire station. A number of other places are also specifically declared to be prohibited for stopping, standing, or parking. There are many other places where no courteous driver will stop or park even though not expressly prohibited because by so doing he will cause inconvenience, if not danger to other vehicles."
"We have all observed automobile parking advantages of an arterial stop to discharge passengers, even though this delays a long line of vehicles behind the one making the arterial stop. We have all observed vehicles stop to take on passengers right in the stream of traffic, where this not only tended to cause a traffic jam but exposed the passengers to danger of being run over. A common practice on the part of urban and interurban bus drivers is to speed up the schedule a little by stopping some five or six feet from the curb to take on passengers even though a loading zone at the curb has been plainly indicated and there is every opportunity for such busses to pull up to the curb, as ordinary safety principles would require them to do even though this were not specifically required by law. "Courtesy is the key to the solution of most problems in human relations. It should have more use in automobile operations."

Wisconsin News Briefly Told

Madison—There were 93 fewer deaths from cancer during the third quarter of 1930 in Wisconsin than during the same period last year, the state board of health has announced.

Green Bay—An award of $2,500 damages was won in circuit court here by Harry Thiele against the city and the Yellow Cab Co. for injuries Thiele suffered when he fell over an obstruction on the cab company's sidewalk.

Madison—Following his plea of guilty to charges of misappropriating some $63,000 from the Farmers' National Bank of Glenwood City, former Cashier F. J. Frazier was sentenced here to three years in Leavenworth federal penitentiary.

Fond du Lac—The Fond du Lac county board has authorized the county highway commission to rent county snow removal units to the townships at the rate of $3.50 an hour for snowplows and $5 an hour for caterpillar tractors.

Wausau—After setting fire to the house in a dozen places, Mrs. Arthur Wix attempted to slay her seven sleeping children while her husband was putting out the flames. One of the children, Beatrice, 4, died at St. Joseph's hospital, Marshfield, and others were treated for cuts and lacerations.

Madison—Donald McDowell, Montello, a Marquette county baby beef and sheep club member, has been named the Wisconsin winner in a statewide meat animal livestock project contest, according to Verne V. Varney, assistant club leader of the University of Wisconsin.

Kenosha—Seven Milwaukee members of a vaudeville troupe settled their $41,200 damage suits against the Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. here for $400. Testimony in the case had started when attorneys agreed to settle. The case grew out of an accident in which the car in which the Milwaukeeans were driving was struck by a bus last August.

Wausau—Claims against the estate of Walter B. Heinemann, Wausau lumberman and politician who committed suicide last June, reached a grand total of $1,250,000 here. Latest to bring action was the Wausau memorial hospital which filed a claim of $37,390.33. Heinemann was a director of the hospital and was entrusted with investing its funds, according to the suit.

Portage—When Frank Haselwander and Melvin Miller of Sauk City went deer hunting with new guns near Lodi they made two mistakes. First, they were two weeks ahead of the open season; second, there is no open season in Columbia county. Elizabeth Cushing, justice of the peace, rectified their errors by fining Haselwander $107 and Miller $57, and confiscating their rifles valued at $65 each.

Jefferson—By a vote of 36-6, the plan for creating the office of a county agricultural agent was killed by the Jefferson county board of supervisors. The resolution was sponsored by a Palmyra representative, but failed to get even enough votes to prompt the measure from possible consideration again at a later date. The proposal to create the office has been under consideration for some time. It failed a year ago when it was brought up.

Madison—Official figures show the following election results for governor: La Follette, republican, 392,758; Hammersley, democrat, 170,020; Metcalfe, socialist, 25,907; Taynton, prohibitionist, 14,618, and Blair, communist, 2,498. The total election vote was 590,504 less than the total primary vote. La Follette received 2,793 fewer votes than he did in the primary. Hammersley increased his election total 152,753 over his primary vote but his election vote was 97,667 less than the primary total given Gov. Kohler.

Milwaukee—Colorful ceremonies, centuries old, marked the enthronement here Nov. 19 of the Most Rev. Samuel Alphonse Stritch of Toledo as archbishop of the Milwaukee diocese. Prominent Catholic clergymen from the United States attended the services with George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, acting as presiding prelate at the solemn pontifical high mass at St. John's cathedral. The mass was sung by the Rt. Rev. Paul P. Rohde, bishop of Green Bay. The papal bull, which appointed Archbishop Stritch to the office, was read by the Rev. George R. Raddant, secretary of the Milwaukee archdiocese. The new archbishop, who is 43, is the youngest of the 14 archbishops in America. He was born in Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 17, 1887, his father having come from County Kerry, Ireland. His mother was a Kentuckian.

Barron—Michael Catone, 28, and Louis Young, 31, both of Cumberland, who pleaded guilty to robbing the state bank at Barron Oct. 22, were each given sentences of from six years to 10 years by Judge W. R. Foley in circuit court here. Catone goes to the state reformatory at Green Bay and Young to the state prison at Waupun.

Madison—Emil Burmeister and Reinhold Hoffman pleaded guilty of robbing a party of Milwaukee hunters near Sept. 21 and were sentenced to prison for 8 to 15 years each.

Fond du Lac—John Dillon, assistant postmaster here, has been formally appointed postmaster. He succeeds the late Thomas A. Watson, who died October 28. Dillon is one of the oldest federal employees in Wisconsin both in age and years of service.

Neillsville—The assessment rolls of Clark county show that there are $6,000 cattle in Clark county at present, an increase of 4,000 since 1929. Sheep also increased in number, but the reports show that there has been a decrease in the number of hogs.

Sheboygan—The Sheboygan county board voted not to deposit county funds in banks that have become affiliated with chain banking systems.

Barron—The Barron county board of supervisors voted a bond issue of $165,000 to pave highway 53 from Cameron to Rice Lake. The work is to be completed early in 1931, giving Rice Lake a paved road to Chicago.

Waukesha—Struck by a North Western passenger train here, Gust Jeschinski, a painter, escaped with cuts on his scalp and neck, although his automobile, which was dragged 400 feet, was demolished.

Baraboo—The largest amount appropriated in a number of years for blind aid in Sauk county was approved by the Sauk county board Friday. The appropriation was $9,000 and benefits 32 blind persons.

Madison—Indications point to an attendance of more than 1,000 University of Wisconsin alumni at the "All-Wisconsin" athletic banquet and dedication program for the new university field house here Dec. 18, according to General Ralph M. Immell, general chairman.

Madison—Wisconsin conservation wardens made 291 arrests during October, the state conservation commission has announced. Fine money swelled the state school fund by $7,687 and jail sentences imposed totaled 1,180 days. Of the arrests, 188 were for hunting violations, 39 for illegal fishing, and 23 for trapping violations. Last year in October game wardens made 236 arrests.

Conderay—The first movement of logs from this area over the Omaha line this season has started. The logs are being shipped to the mills at Rice Lake, Park Falls and Loretta by the Hines Lumber Co. The company will saw about 45 carloads a day, with only a day shift. Its operation will be only about 50 per cent of what it has done annually the last 10 years. The total cut will be about 40,000,000 feet.

Janesville—Establishment of a storage warehouse and sales station for members of the Rock County Farm Bureau has been announced by H. C. Hemmingway, secretary-manager. The organization previously purchased supplies for its members in carload lots and unloaded directly from the trucks. It is planned to handle feed, grain, twine, fertilizers, oil and similar farm supplies.

Beloit—Adoption of income, gas and other special taxes in order to reduce the general property tax burden to not more than 50 per cent of all state taxes was favored by the Wisconsin farm bureau federation at the closing session of its convention here. A 4-cent gasoline tax was one of the special taxes recommended. Taxation for land irrigation or grading present land surplus was opposed. Opposition also was voiced to the use of butter substitutes in state institutions and public schools.

Madison—A constitutional amendment to enable the state to borrow up to $10,000,000 for the purpose of constructing buildings and buying lands for the state charitable and penal institutions will come before the next session of the state legislature. The amendment is being prepared by Assemblyman Charles A. Budlong, Marinette. If adopted, it would greatly broaden the borrowing power of the state. Under the constitution, the state cannot borrow more than $100,000 except for war purposes.

La Crosse—Plans for a $1,000,000 bridge across the Chippewa river bottoms, on State Highway 30, between Buffalo and Pepin counties, have been approved here by T. M. Reynolds, division highway engineer. No intimation as to when construction work will start has been received. The project, which has been the subject of repeated hearings, will eliminate 25 miles of a detour loop which now follows the river north to the toll bridge at Durand. Buffalo and Pepin counties will each bond for $500,000, the rest of the expenses being borne by the state.

Milwaukee—Market quotations: Butter—Creamery, fresh extras, tubs, 33c; standards, 31c. Cheese—Twins, 17@17 1/2c; daisies, 17 1/2@18c; long-horns, 18@19c; brick, 17 1/2@18c; limburger, 18@19c. Egg—Fresh gathered firsts, 18@35c. Poultry—Live hens, 13@17c; old roosters, 14c; springs, 17@19c; ducks, 16@17c; geese, 12@13c; turkeys, 18@22c. Potatoes—Wis., cwt., $1.60@1.70. Barley—Choice to fancy, 63@65c; fair to good, 44@62c. Corn—No. 2 yellow, 73 1/2@74 1/2c; No. 2 white, 75 1/2@76 1/2c. Oats—No. 3 white, 31 1/2@32c. Rye—No. 2, 40 1/2@41 1/2c. Hog—Fair to good butchers, $7.75@8.10; fair to good lights, $7.75@8.10; pigs, $7.25@7.75. Cattle—Steers, fair to choice, $5.50@12.50; heifers, $4.50@8.50; cows, $4.00@6.00; calves, $8.50@11.00. Sheep—Lamb, good to choice, $7.25@7.75; fair to good, $6.25@6.75; ewes, $2.50@3.50.

Superior—Through efforts of the National Daughters of the G. A. R. at Superior, a resolution was adopted by the city that the American flag should be displayed at half mast on the court house and other public buildings on the death of a veteran of the Civil war.

Chippewa Falls—The Chippewa county board of supervisors reconsidered its action when it voted, 25 to 20, to abandon the office of county agent and by a vote of 22 to 20 determined to continue that office.

Janesville—The Rock county board of supervisors at Janesville voted 3 to 1 against raising the gas tax in Wisconsin. Charles Williams, deputy assessor, reported a decrease of $2,400,000 in the assessed valuation of Walworth county under 1929.

Medford—When he fell on the blade of an open jackknife while playing, Kenneth, the 2 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sackmann, Medford, suffered injuries which proved fatal. The knife pierced the ear and entered the brain.

RAILROAD HEADS TO PROVIDE MUCH WORK

Agree to Continue Progressive Improvement Plan.

New York.—In spite of present business conditions, the National Association of Railroad Executives, representing 90 per cent of the railroad mileage of the country, unanimously went on record as favoring adherence to a progressive policy and the employment of men during the coming winter. This action was taken at an executive session held here. R. H. Aishton, chairman of the executive committee, presided.

The employment of the greatest possible number of men, it was announced, will be in accordance with an adopted policy to maintain railroad properties to a standard necessary to handle all traffic efficiently and to continue improvements to both lines and equipment.

This action, it is believed, should assure employment for thousands of men, while the policy of improvement should do much to allay fear and hesitancy in a time of depression.

Announcement of the policy was in a statement to the press, as follows: "The Association of Railway Executives at their regular annual meeting held gave their careful consideration to prevailing conditions, and in particular to the unemployment situation.

"Upon request of the President of the United States, in the latter part of 1929, the railroads undertook an extensive program of construction and building of equipment in order to offset the threat of a substantial suspension of business activities, and they have practically carried out this program.

"In view of the continued depression and the consequent increase in unemployment, the railroads, notwithstanding the recent unfavorable earnings, which may be expected to continue for a time, and notwithstanding the unsatisfactory cash position of some of them, have by a unanimous vote declared it to be their policy to maintain their properties in condition necessary to handle effectively the traffic of the country and to carry on as far as practicable work which may provide employment to the greatest number of men during the coming winter, and to continue improvement to both line and equipment.

"The railway executives continue to have faith in the fairness of the American public and the future of American railroads, and in that belief have declared this progressive policy for the coming year."

The railroad men also adopted a resolution in which they asked a respite from government intervention in the form of rate decreases and subsidies to competing forms of transportation. In their second statement the railroad men asked a "new spirit and attitude" toward the railroads. They called for relief from further rate reductions and from legislative action which would adversely affect rates or increase expenses, withdrawal of government competition through operation of transportation facilities or indirectly through subsidies and regulation of competing transportation service, such as steamships and busses.

Chicago.—Contracts for 116,748 tons of steel rails, involving more than $3,000,000, were placed by the Baltimore & Ohio and Erie railroads.

The Baltimore & Ohio ordered 75,000 tons of rails and the Erie 41,748 tons. Rail mill operations have been slowly gaining momentum in this territory and in other important producing sections. Chicago producers are working at 25 to 30 per cent of capacity. This rate probably will be increased gradually between now and the end of the year as railroads are releasing good sized tonnages for immediate rolling.

To Spend $175,000,000, Use 20,000 Men on Ry.

Washington.—Twenty thousand men will be put to work and $175,000,000 will be spent on material and labor, the Interstate Commerce commission was told, if it will permit the New York, Pittsburgh & Chicago railroad to build a line from Easton, Ohio, to Etna, near Pittsburgh.

The project involves 284 miles of line and is sponsored by L. F. Loree, but is opposed by eastern roads on the grounds that it would divert traffic from roads already established.

G. A. R. National Adjutant Dies.—Newton, Mass.—Wilfred A. Wetherbe, national adjutant of the Grand Army of the Republic, is dead at his home here at the age of eighty-three.

Mother, 3 Children Die in Fire.—Venia, Va.—Mrs. Bernice Sullivan, twenty-seven, and her three children were burned to death when their farm home was destroyed by fire.

550 Passengers Saved.—Lisbon, Portugal.—Riding through thick fog, lifeboats carried to safety 550 passengers and crew of the British steamship Highland Hope, which ran on the black cliffs of Berengas off the coast of Portugal.

Finland Wants 3.1 Beer.—Helsingfors, Finland.—President Lauri Relander confirmed the government's proposal to parliament to increase the alcoholic percentage in beer to 3.1 per cent.

35 Arkansas Banks Close.—Little Rock.—The recent failure of the investment banking firm of Caldwell and company, of Nashville, Tenn., was reflected in the closing for reorganization of about 35 banks in Arkansas.

Du Pont Leaves $50,000,000.—Wilmington, Del.—The will of the late T. Coleman du Pont, disposing of an estate that is estimated between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, was admitted to probate here.

MORATORIUM TO BE ASKED BY GERMANY

Berlin.—Foreign Minister Julius Curtius told the nation and the world that Germany might be compelled to invoke the safeguard measures of the Young plan.

These safeguard measures refer to a moratorium and the convocation of a special advisory committee to bring about alleviations permissible under the plan. The foreign minister's speech constituted Germany's first official intimation that she is likely to invoke her right under the plan to declare a moratorium.

Herr Curtius chose an opportune moment for his speech, after the reichstag had passed virtually all legislation connected with the government's financial program. The reichstag had unanimously approved the budget, and also a bill reducing the salaries of cabinet members, reichstag members and civil service employees. Under the Weimar constitution all bills before they are introduced into the reichstag require the assent of the reichstag, a council representing the component states of Germany.

At the same time Herr Curtius expressed sharp criticism of Europe's sluggish attitude toward disarmament and, in connection with a recent speech on that issue by Premier Tardieu of France, he declared Germany would demand an early disarmament conference, "where each nation must show its colors and its real intentions."

There were only a few spectators in the reichstag council room where he read his speech. He prefaced it by the assertion he was not offering the subject of the country's financial position for discussion, but was making a plain statement of facts.

This is a time, said he, to exercise firmness coupled with prudence. He assured the world that Germany had no intention of scrapping the Young plan, that the government realized how far-reaching invocations of the Young plan alleviatory measures would be, and that, therefore, Germany would not resort to them until its burdens became dangerously oppressive to its people.

Eastern Boy Is Winner of Western Farm Prize

Kansas City.—David Ridgway Johnson, seventeen years old, who represents the fifth generation of his family on a farm near Lambertville, N. J., was acclaimed the outstanding student of vocational agriculture in the United States at the American Royal Live Stock show here. He received from Gov. Henry S. Caulfield of Missouri a check for $1,000 awarded by a Kansas City newspaper.

Johnson also was given the title of "The Star American Farmer," the highest honor bestowed in the Future Farmers Association of America, a nationwide organization of students of vocational agriculture.

To Discuss World-Wide Slump at Paris Meet

Washington.—The world-wide economic depression, now being shared by the United States, has caused the International Chamber of Commerce to ask that a special delegation be sent to the council meeting at Paris on December 5 by the 28 member countries. The special delegates will discuss the causes of the depression and attempt to evolve possible remedies. The United States will be represented by Silas H. Strawn of Chicago.

Plans New Pacific Hop.—Oakland, Calif.—R. H. Kingsford-Smith of Oakland announced that his brother, Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, who flew across the Pacific, now plans a nonstop flight from San Francisco to Tokyo.

Approves $3,750,000 for Waterways.—Washington.—Secretary of War Hurley has approved an expenditure of $3,750,000 for new equipment for the Inland Waterway corporation. Fifty new barges will cost $2,500,000.

Bury Iowa Farmer Aged 104.—Vanhome, Iowa.—Funeral services were held here recently for Paul Cantwell, one hundred and four, Benton county's oldest citizen. He was born in Ireland and came to America in 1846 and to Iowa in 1861.

U. S. Army Poloists Win.—Buenos Aires.—The United States army polo team defeated the Argentine army quartet, 16 to 1, for the second consecutive time to win the cup offered by Ambassador Bliss.

TOLL OF TORNADES' DEAD MOUNTS TO 20

Scores Injured; $1,000,000 Damage in South-West.

Kansas City, Mo.—Tornadoes which swept through Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas communities a few days ago exacted a toll of 20 lives, injured scores, left many homeless and did property damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

At least 14 persons were killed and 57 injured seriously by the tornado which demolished more than 100 houses at Bethany, a Nazarene settlement of 2,000 population seven miles west of Oklahoma City.

Four were killed at the Camel creek school, about four miles south of Bethany, where the tornado first struck. The teacher and ten pupils were injured and the schoolhouse demolished.

D. D. Powell, city recorder of Okla. Ark., was killed and his wife seriously injured in a tornado which razed half the business buildings in that town of nearly 1,000 inhabitants.

Sixteen children and a teacher were injured by a tornado which demolished a rural school building near Victoria, Kan. Twenty buildings were demolished and a man seriously injured at Neal, Kan.

National Guardsmen patrolled the Oklahoma storm-swept area to prevent looting and keep the crowds of curious away. Much of the traffic on United States highway 66, the main street of Bethany, was rerouted.

Classes at Bethany schools were dismissed for the remainder of the week so the students could attend funerals of friends and relatives and assist in clearing debris and rebuilding homes. All ambulances in Oklahoma City were rushed to the scene and the dead and injured were brought to city morgues and hospitals. Red Cross and Salvation Army workers rendered first aid.

The first organized relief unit to attack the wreckage was the football team of the nearby Putnam Consolidated school. Two members of this group alone carried eight dead from the wrecked homes.

Honolulu, Hawaii.—With ten bodies recovered and at least 20 reported missing, the death list lengthened as workers searched debris piled by a flood which swept northern Honolulu. Most of those drowned were orientals. Others were Hawaiians and Portuguese. Property damage by the sudden torrent from the mountains was estimated at $150,000.

American Bar Members Vote Against Dry Law

Chicago.—The result of a national poll on the prohibition amendment among members of the American Bar association, begun last January, was announced as 13,779 in favor of repeal and 6,340 for the present laws. Another poll on the advisability of conducting the nation-wide vote among lawyers resulted in 14,752 in favor and 5,625 against. The association had stipulated that, unless the vote for the referendum showed a majority, the result of the repeal poll would not be made public.

Will Offer Measure to Limit Farm Production

Washington.—Representative Langford (Dem., Ga.) announced a few days ago, after calling on President Hoover, that he proposed to offer an amendment to the federal farm act to limit production. He plans to propose that, whenever 75 per cent of the farmer members of a co-operative should sign a contract with the farm board to limit production of any commodity, the board would in return advance to the farmer the ten-year average price of that commodity.

27,000,000 Bu. Wheat to Be Used as Feed in Kansas

Topeka, Kan.—Kansas has already fed approximately 5,000,000 bushels of wheat to live stock and poultry this fall, according to the state agriculture department. Seven hundred bankers throughout the state, the department announces, have estimated that of the 1930-1931 crop of 150,000,000 bushels, 17 1/2 per cent or about 27,000,000 bushels, will be used for feed.

Combination Horse and Cow Barn Desirable Unit in Farm Equipment

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all problems pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on the subject. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 407 South Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

While horses are constantly growing fewer on American farms, there are still a great many farmers who use this type of power instead of the tractor and mechanical power. Horses, in order to be available for the heavy work a farm requires, must be housed comfortably, fed well, and cared for. Horse barns for horses alone are unusual. Most barns are designed so that the stable floor will house both the dairy herd and horses. But in order to do so the two stables must be divided by a solid wall to conform with the requirements of state health departments which control the conditions under which milk, which is to be sold, must be produced.

Shown in the accompanying illustration is a gambrel type combination horse and cow barn. This is a brick building set on a concrete foundation and is equipped with the modern conveniences which make handling of dairy cows and horses labor saving and economical. The floor plans reproduced herewith show how the stable is divided and the arrangement of the stalls. A silo at one end is connected with the barn by a feed room which in turn is connected with both the dairy and horse stables by an overhead carrier track which makes the transportation of silage to the mangers simple. The dairy stable is equipped with steel stall partitions, water drinking cups, and a system of suction ventilation which constantly changes the air in the stalls.

Venetian Blinds Are Becoming Popular

Venetian blinds are becoming popular in America, especially in the fashioning of outside blinds. They have virtually disappeared from the home for the change in the style of the Venetian blind. The Venetian blind is a type of blind which is made of thin polished slats which are kept in the closed position by means of a cord. It is a type of blind which is used in Venetian style homes. It is a type of blind which is used in Venetian style homes. It is a type of blind which is used in Venetian style homes.

Comfort Comes First in Planning New Home

Those pleasing personal touches, mulled over and debated by husband and wife for years before the home is built, add much to the joys of planning, building and living in your own home. Nothing warms the heart of the householder more than the things that stamp his home as his own creation, making it more than a place to eat and sleep and hang up his hat. But home builders should avoid yielding too much to the lure of original ideas because sometimes houses that embody ideas the owners think considered freakish and useless by other people. The possibility that you may some day wish to sell should be kept always in mind. Thinking of this, you will give first consideration to good materials, sound walls and roof, an adequate heating plant and efficient insulation to insure your family's comfort summer and winter and to keep down fuel bills in years to come. In the long run, comfort comes before beauty.

the Czechs, when they had occupied the old town.

"A pity!" he thought; "though Tovarishch Vilinsky would not be much interested. He means to go higher in our new government. . . . I never thought I should care much about being the rung of a ladder. . . . not for such as he. . . . not for anyone.

"I wonder why he is so much interested in that Krassin family. With him, it must be one of three things: money, revenge, woman. . . . And of course, the welfare of the masses!"

He found a numerous group of people about his car as he alighted and crossed the platform, to none of whom did he pay the slightest attention. He found awaiting him in the car itself, its only occupant so far as the public room was concerned, an old woman of the Tartars, so numerous in Kazan. She was not merely old—she was ancient, but she stepped as lightly as a bird. She made a spot in the room, with her bright dress of yellow and red made up of many founces, like a gorgeous rug; and as she moved the string of copper and silver coins which hung from her neck, wrists and hair made music which brought to one's mind visions of desert-girl cities and streets of bazaars away off beyond the Caspian. They tinkled louder, as she made the obeisance of the days of old as Loris entered.

"It is you, grandmother," said he. "I wanted to speak to you."

"It is I, son," she replied.

"There is a family, once a great family, of whom I want knowledge."

"In Kazan province, my son?" she said.

"In Kazan city," said Loris.

"Then it is simple," replied the Tartar woman. "What is it you wish to know?"

CHAPTER III

Inside the House of Krassin

"Oh, they are dreadful, dreadful!" exclaimed the Princess Khaborovskaya. "The Bolsheviks, I mean—they have mobilized horses and cows; and see how it affects me! I cannot get about without my horses—I came today in a hired droshky, and I can't afford it; and I am so fond of milk. They took my horses and cow, and did not even give me money for them, but only a piece of paper. Can I drive the piece of paper? Will the piece of paper give me milk? I almost lost my senses. If I had not stopped to think of the possible consequences, I should have said something very sharp to them. I had had those horses ten years—just think! It was difficult to feed them—but they were such nice horses! I loved them! And I do so miss the milk!"

It was in the salon of the house of Krassin, and the people passing in and out, lounging and sitting there were the ones of whom Commissioner Vilinsky had spoken at the session of the Kazan government.

There were not a very dangerous looking gang. The little princess who spoke was Mrs. Krassin's "little old cousin," who had moved in exalted circles, and was now with alternate indignation and smiles making salon talk of the loss of her horses and her cow.

She was of "an honorable age," in spite of which she was a ball of human quicksilver, bright, ever-moving, irrepresible. She had seen as a woman the growth of Mrs. Krassin up through the age if not the charm of maidenhood to become a formidable personage at the age when girls love to be wooed as clinging and defenseless; yet she was as young in spirit than Mrs. Krassin, and commented upon the new state of society as volubly as she had done on Mrs. Krassin's marriage to a man who was only of the smaller nobility—Judge Krassin.

The little princess took in the new situation which confronted Russia and the Russians, so far at least as its surface went, more quickly than did her cousin, if not quite fully. She was affected almost to the point of extinction by each new enormity of the Bolsheviks, felt keenly the attacks on her Old world traditions and conventions, made a great to-do about each when it was a fresh topic, and next day would be quite recovered and her old volubility and not uncheerful self again. A pleasant, harmless, gossipy old lady was she, and she never in her life had done an intelligent thing, and scarcely a wrong one—the two being to her practically identical.

All the Difference

The chief difference is that a low-brow tells you what he thinks and a high-brow tells you what somebody else thinks.—Exchange.

VELVET HAT IS INDISPENSABLE; TRIM ONE FUR WITH ANOTHER

Latest Styles in Hats.

There is a simple elegance about the velvet hat which makes it indispensable for afternoon wear. Does the modern velvet hat appear in symmetrical and orderly lines? Certainly not. The new velvet models are delightful in their casual air and their divergence from the conventional. Brims ripple, flow and undulate to balance the romantic and picturesque silhouettes of the costumes with which they are worn. They work themselves out in side flares, their diagonal treatments sounding a piquant and youthful note. Their folds of soft transparent velvet fall gracefully with never a touch of harshness.

Brimless types of flattering black velvet were never so unusual. The unexpected is the bon mot of the times. The term берет covers a multitude of novelties. Many tams have a decided bandeau with the tiny jaunty bow which made its appearance in the summer. Black velvet caps with turquoise trims or with swatches of flat fur, or with feather motifs or made up in two colors of velvet or more, all register as smart millinery.

The illustration shows a collection of up-to-the-minute velvet hats. The baby-bonnet type at the top sounds the black-and-white note in that its latest styles in hats. No longer are they content to create merely from the utilitarian standpoint, now that they have fully awakened to the fact that that elusive something called "style" is as important an element as is the warmth and comfort of a coat. Now that fur stylists have accepted fashion's challenge to design along lines of ultra chic, they are recording a program of brilliant achievement. In arriving at style and attractiveness for the coat many designers are working along the theory that two furs are better than one. Which accounts for the fact that throughout the realm of fur fashions the idea of combining pelts of entirely different character and contrasting colorings is being exploited to quite a large degree.

The handsome coat of black persian lamb collared in platinum fox, which is in the foreground in the illustra-soft trim is lined with white velvet. This model is made of the new "ring" velvet which is as dainty and sheer as chiffon.

All velvet even to its generous bow which falls picturesquely to the shoulder is the message of the softly brimmed cloche to the left.

Special attention is called to the triangle-like brims shown in the circle to the right above and to the left below, for these declare the very last word in "lines." The cascade of tiny white ostrich tips to the model pictured in the upper circle, is one among many evidences of a revival of plumage. A weel veil is worn with the chic little velvet tricorn to the left—labeled from Paris!

That supple-brimmed velvet hat which you see to the right in the opposite circle is a reproduction of a Descat model. There is a front inset of contrasting velvet with a drooping bow of the same.

Seen from the back, the view is as charming as the front for the large black velvet hat which is shown last, for peeking from the underbrim is a cluster of small white ostrich tips.

About Fur Coats. As styling this season's coats, furriers are in a mood "to do and to of necklets and sautoirs to meet the new style. Effectively designed pendants will be worn around the throat and allowed to hang gracefully down the back almost to the waistline.

Broadtail and Ermine. For true luxury few things can surpass an evening wrap of black broadtail bordered with snowy ermine and with a huge cape collar and wide cuffs also of ermine. In contrast to many wraps which are exceedingly long this reaches just to the knees.

Bows and Gathers Will Be Given New Position. Backs, according to a London fashion expert, will be more important than they have been for years. Ruchings, strappings, bows and gathers will be transferred from the front of the dress to the back, so that their beauty may not be hidden while the wearer is dancing. These new dresses offer a great opportunity for the display of jewels and well-known designers are busy creating a variety

The evils of life appear like rocks and precipices, rugged and barren at a distance; but at our nearer approach we find them little fruitful spots.—Spectator.

TEMPTING TAPIOCA DISHES

In many dishes where cornstarch is used for thickening, tapioca may be substituted. Many object to cornstarch largely because it is not well cooked. Any starchy substance needs cooking to burst the starch cells and make it digestible.

The following is something new and worth trying. Cook one-third of a cupful of quick cooking tapioca with one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper and two cupfuls of scalded milk in a double boiler until the tapioca is clear. Pour into small deep pan and chill thoroughly. Unmold and cut into one-third inch slices. Fry thinly sliced bacon until crisp. Remove from the pan, dip the tapioca slices in flour and fry until a golden brown. This is served with the bacon.

Cranberry Relish.—Cook one-half cupful of tapioca with one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth cupful of raisins and one quart of cranberry juice and pulp strained and heated, for fifteen minutes in a double boiler or until the tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of walnut meats and four oranges peeled and quartered. Chill and serve as a sweet relish with fowl or meat.

Lemon Sauce.—Cook three tablespoonfuls of tapioca in two cupfuls of boiling water in a double boiler until clear, stirring frequently. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two teaspoonfuls of grated lemon rind and eight marshmallows cut into small pieces. Serve poured over cake for pudding.

Cheese Souffle.—Cook three tablespoonfuls of tapioca in one cupful of milk until the tapioca is clear, stirring often. Add one cupful of grated cheese, stir until melted. Cool, add three beaten egg yolks, one teaspoonful of salt and three well beaten egg whites folded in at the last. Bake in a well greased baking dish, set into a pan of water. Bake until the souffle is brown and shrinks a trifle. Serve hot.

"Shieling of My Sorrow"

Typical Highland Legend. The following legend is associated with Aueda No Dhubhach, the sloping ground lying to the east of Loch Drom, on the way from Garve to Ullapool, in the highlands of Scotland. Three young men from Strathmore were returning home from the low country where they had been working all summer and autumn. They reached Loch Drom in the evening, and as the night was stormy, they decided to stay in a shieling that was near. One of the men was a piper, and had his pipes with him, and to pass the time away he struck up a tune on the pipes, while his two companions danced to the music. One of the lads said it would be fine if they had some lassies to dance with. He had hardly spoken when three women entered the shieling, and joined the dancing. The dancing and playing went on for a long time, and at last the two men sat down on the seat, and the women seated themselves beside them. The piper, feeling all was not right, looked at his two companions, and was horrified to see them dead. Slipping out, leaving his plaid with the women, he ran for his life as fast as he could. The women followed, and continued to pursue the poor, exhausted piper until dawn, when he came in sight of Fasgriannach, and escaped from his evil pursuers. When the mothers of the dead men arrived at the shieling the next day they bewailed their loss, repeating the words "Aueda No Dhubhach"—"Shieling of my sorrow."—Montreal Family Herald.

Nothing New

The young son of an Indianapolis physician is intensely interested in moths. He reads everything that comes to hand concerning them. One day when his father saw him poring over a big volume in the library, he said: "What are you reading, son?" The son replied: "Oh, about moths, but they don't tell me anything I don't already know about them." The interested parent asked: "Well, what is the name of your book," when son answered: "What All Mothers Should Know."

Woman's Vanity

The late begum of Bhopal, India, was the only woman potentate in Asia. When her son was born, she said: "The greatest depth of mercy and benevolence lies in a woman's heart. It has been a singular blessing of Allah that for three generations no son was born to take the throne."—Woman's Home Companion.

Surgical Knowledge

Honk and Bump

It is suggested that the time will come when pedestrians will carry automobile horns in their pockets and honk them loudly while crossing the street. Maybe so, but even more urgent is the need of front and rear personal bumpers.—Hamilton Spectator.

Valuable Cactus

Certain types of cactus grown in Arizona, even after three years of drought, produce delicious fruit, used for centuries by the Indians for sirups and dried fruit.

Dainty Presents for Friends at Christmas

Hand-Embroidered Gifts

This trio of lamp shade, table scarf and cushion, of heavy natural-colored linen, embroidered in gay wool yarn, emphasizes the vogue for ensemble furnishings in the home. As a Christmas-gift suggestion it scores 100 per cent perfect.

Hamper and Basket Ensembles

The ensemble's the thing! Everything in the household is supposed to match these days—to move in "sets" as it were. A word to the wise Christmas shopper is sufficient. The latest combination to join the ensemble movement is hamper and waste-basket ensemble. The shops are showing adorable flower-decorated sets.

Screens the Radio Light

Women who like to give hand-painted presents for Christmas are making these radio-light screens by the dozens for their friends. You buy the stand and the screen all ready to paint. You cover the base with sealing-wax paint, smearing it on with a palette knife so as to give it a rough surface. To paint the figures or design hold the pattern (cut from fancy crepe paper or a magazine) back of the mica screen which is semi-transparent, carefully tracing the outline. Then color with the liquid transparent sealing wax.

Miniature Spinning Wheels

The spinning wheel, as an article of decoration, has come back. Miniature ones are designed to set upon the what-not so as to create an atmosphere of quaintness, such as interior decorators are so keen about these days. A timely Yuletide suggestion, this.

"Give Her" This Novel Pillow

This is not "the house that Jack built." It is a soft-pillow which is made of linen cut in the outline of a house, the windows, doors, cornices, etc., detailed with a combination of fast-dye print and hand-embroidery, the latter lavishly used in working the flowers. Who can say "there's nothing new under the sun"? You will be wanting to embroider several cushions before Christmas, so get busy for "tempus fugit" and it is well to buy your materials before the holiday rush.

POULTRY

CHICKEN FLOCK ON EVERY FARM

Not Expensive Because of Excellent Food Produced.

The farm poultry flock is not expensive and because of the excellent food it produces, should be found on every farm.

"During a part of the year, a flock of from 50 to 100 hens will forage for much of their food," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department at the North Carolina State college. "The chickens consume bugs and worms which are injurious to crops and clean up waste grain about the cow and horse barns. The flock needs to have a comfortable house which can be kept clean and plenty of mash and grain feed. Corn, oats, wheat and barley to feed the flock may be grown at home and made into a ration that is just as satisfactory as any commercial mixture. Formulas for preparing these rations may be had from the poultry department."

Doctor Kaupp says that every person should eat at least two eggs every day. This means that two cases of 30 dozen eggs each is needed for each person in the state each year. Twenty to twenty-five pounds of poultry should also be consumed by each person on the farm in a year.

To find out the potential market for poultry and eggs in a county, one should ascertain how many hens there are within its borders. These hens should average at least 100 eggs each. If each hen lays 100 eggs and each person consumes 500 eggs, it would mean that there should be five hens for each person to supply only the home needs. More hens than this should be kept, however, so that a surplus of eggs may be available for sale.

Then, too, says Doctor Kaupp, pullets must be raised each year to replace about one-half of the mature hens. Five eggs to set will be needed for each pullet in the breeding pens. If the farm flock is to be kept at 100 hens, this means that 250 eggs must be set. To do this without an incubator requires 15 setting hens. If the family consumes 200 pounds of poultry on the table, 25 hens and 50 fryers will supply this amount.

Balanced Rations for Laying Hens Favored

Feeding dry mash is generally considered one of the essential practices in balancing rations for laying hens. Most farmers neglect to supply sufficient hopper space. There should be at least one linear foot of feeding space for six hens or a trough eight feet long should be provided for 100 hens. This is based on the assumption that the hens can feed from each side of the trough. One of the simplest and most efficient feed hoppers is an open trough. The trough is one foot wide with sides eight inches high, the ends of the trough extending four inches higher than the sides. On the inner upper edges of the trough are nailed 1-inch cleats to prevent the feed from being wasted. One of the essential features of this hopper is a reel which partly closes the trough and prevents the birds from roosting on the hopper. This reel is easily constructed, using 4-inch square blocks for spindles and nailing 1-inch strips in the center of each side. Pivots can be easily provided by using heavy screws or bolts at the ends so that it easily revolves.

Green Feed Problem

Alfalfa, red clover or soy bean hay of proper quality solves the green-feed problem. The way to feed the hay is to cut it into one-half-inch lengths with a clover-cutting and feed it in wire-netting feeders. The hay can be fed uncut in racks. If the proper quality of hay is unavailable, add 5 per cent by weight of the best quality alfalfa meal. Warm drinking water helps make winter eggs. Hens dislike cold water and drink it sparingly. When a layer fails to drink enough water, she eats less feed.

Use of Cockerels

In the general-purpose breeds, mate one male to every ten to twelve females; in the egg breeds, mate one male to every fifteen to twenty females. Fewer males are needed the larger the range. More cocks than cockerels are necessary for a given flock. Too many males are objectionable. Some breeders aim to mate cocks with pullets and cockerels with hens. Cockerels and pullets may be mated together if early hatched, and well matured.

Using Cod Liver Oil

Cod liver oil is an important item in winter rations for poultry because it helps to maintain egg production, prevents lameness and helps them to lay strong-shelled eggs. It contains vitamins A and D which promote growth and maintain vitality and disease resistance. Cod liver oil is essential to hens that are closely housed during winter. Vitamin D in the oil is a substitute for direct sunlight. Therefore its use is most desirable during winter.

Hatching Goose Eggs

Goose eggs usually require about 30 days for incubation, but the hatching may occur any time from the 28th to the 33rd day, and it may take longer. The eggs in the same nest may hatch unevenly and it often pays to remove the first goslings hatched and keep them in a box near the stove until the hatch is completed. This avoids losing some of the goslings in the eggs that hatch slowly by keeping the hen or goose from leaving the nest too soon.

Real Event in Parts of South America

As asked what was the world, would plump Australia, where rain fell as a drought that had lasted for years. They would have an English paper, for the parts of South America have seven years' drought. A man can live out the winter and ten" with a drop of rain. Of the rain sometimes, Lord Lima has described the winter in Lima, the capital of Peru, he paid there. He said the only shower which Lima had enjoyed for seventy years," he writes in his book "Forty Years On." "For five minutes it rained solid tropical rain. The terror-stricken inhabitants thought the end of the world had come." But if America can boast of some of the driest places in the world, it also contains some of the wettest. Greytown, in Nicaragua, has had as much as 297 inches of rain in a single year.

Catching Up With Bullets. If a shotgun is fired directly ahead of an airplane, within a few seconds the plane will run right into the shot, declares Gen. William Mitchell (in "Skyways"). This is because the shot has an initial velocity of 900 feet a second, which falls off very rapidly, until at 90 yards it has only about 400 feet velocity left, and at 100 yards it has none. An airplane going 100 miles an hour covers 100 yards in two seconds, which does not give the shot time to drop.

The Girl of the Golden West
With Ann Harding

She lived among bohunks—ran a saloon—an angel to the poor devils of '49—sought romance as they sought gold—I'll play you straight poker for this man. If you lose—he's mine. If you win—he's yours, and I'm yours, too. Strangest gamble a woman ever made. Strangest stakes ever left to the fate of cards. This one scene has thrilled more people than any ever enacted on the stage. Yet it is only one of the many tense moments of this great motion picture that is taking the entire country by storm. Tells a strange story of a girl who gave her first kiss to a worthless man—then staked her life on his love, and won. A love story that shines through the muck of "pay-dirt" days—a golden girl who stakes her happiness on a game of cards, and cheats—to win the man who came to rob her of gold and took her heart.

COOKING SCHOOL THURSDAY

A large number of housewives are expected to be in attendance at the cooking school to be held at the Firemen's Hall at Batavia on Thursday, December 4th at 1:30 and 7:30 P. M. under the personal direction of Mrs. Sara White, well known domestic science expert. A complete meal will be cooked on a gas range by means of Shellane a most efficient fuel gas which has been developed by Shell Petroleum Corporation, St. Louis for use in town and farm homes where city gas is not available. Those in attendance will be given the opportunity of sampling foods prepared, and there will also be drawings for prizes during the session.

At each session different items will be baked, prepared and served. Mrs. White will demonstrate how to be a successful cake maker, showing easier and better ways of baking all kinds of cakes, including Sunshine, Butter Creole, Cheese, etc. Meats or poultry will be baked and roasted to show how easier and better methods can be used in the home. It will be shown how to can and preserve fruits, vegetables, meats, etc., by the easiest methods. Mrs. White explains how whole meals can be prepared at one time without any attention.

Mrs. White has devoted years of her time developing ways and means of better preparing foods yet with one thought always in mind—How to make kitchen-work easier and to save time so that the housewife can spend most of her homelife out of the kitchen instead of in it.

Brides or those-to-be will be shown how to make biscuits successfully. Shellane gas may be used anywhere with a variety of modern gas ranges. It has all the advantages of city gas service plus refinements not found in any other type of fuel according to Eldon Ramthun of Ramthun Brothers, Shellane dealers of Kewaskum. "Housewives in farm or small town homes, or city suburbs need no longer be deprived of the comfort and convenience of cooking with real gas," said Mr. Ramthun. "Shellane is a refined natural gas (not gasoline) condensed into steel cylinders and delivered to the consumer as needed. These cylinders, each containing enough Shellane to cook an average family's meals for 2 or 3 months are housed in a neat steel cabinet placed outside the kitchen, and connected to the gas range indoors."

"All the housewife has to do is turn on the gas cock on the range, apply a match, and she has instantly an intensely hot clean concentrated flame several times hotter than city gas. She has no mechanism to operate. Meals that would take hours to prepare with other types of fuel can be done in a fraction of the time when Shellane gas is used."

ROUND LAKE

Mrs. Anton Seifert visited with Mrs. M. Calvey Tuesday afternoon.

Walter Smythfield, salesman, installed an electric pump outfit at the M. Calvey farm recently.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jewson and Mr. and Mrs. John Sook, were pleasant visitors at M. Calvey's Friday evening.

Mrs. Lydia Hennings and Mrs. Mich. Garietty and Mrs. Herman Polls visited Thursday afternoon at M. Calvey's.

Lawrence Corbett of New Fane and his helper did crubing and remodeling the well on the A. Seifert farm the past week.

Walter Smyth, agent for the Wisconsin Power and Light Company has installed a water system at the home of Charley Voigt.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Luedtke and Mr. and Mrs. Rohm and Mrs. Otto Roehl and daughter Edna visited Sunday at the A. Seifert home.

August Leibel, brother of Mrs. Anton Seifert, motored from his home in Minnesota to Washington to look after the property interests of their brother, who died at his home in Washington, and was brought to Batavia for burial last spring. From Washington he motored here to visit a few days. He has returned to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Tropp and children, Mrs. M. Calvey and children Vincent and Delia, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hodge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Romaine and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cahagen were pleasantly entertained Sunday evening at a bountiful chicken dinner, given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McDougal and family. Musical selections were enjoyed and a social time was had. At the close of the evening Amos and Andy appeared in person and made a great hit.

As Amos and Andy appeared in person

With black faces and red lips

Their eyes just gleamed with laughter

With red canes in their finger tips.

Although their cadies seemed so very small

Their full dress suits hardly fit at all

Their shirts as white as the driven snow

While their red neck ties fell far below.

They played their parts we all agreed

And all the people laughed with glee

As they sprang jokes on all the guests

We all decided they were the best.

So Amos and Andy when you call again

We surely will give you our right hand

For an evening spent in joyous delight

We all arrived home before it was daylight.

—Yours for Amos and Andy.

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Strikingly beautiful, fleet and smart
—a masterpiece of Fisher styling

Never has the superiority of Body by Fisher been more strikingly exemplified than in the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six!

With the added advantage of a lengthened wheelbase, Fisher designers have achieved in the new Chevrolet an impressive degree of smartness, comfort and luxury.

Inside and out, scores of refinements stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar form an unusually attractive and distinctive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back in an unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new color combinations lend a new individuality. Interiors, too, are exceptional. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is smartly tailored. Seats are wider and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision. And beautiful new modern fittings lend a final note of charm.

Many mechanical improvements are also evident in this Bigger and Better Six. Among these are a stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a quieter, smoother transmission; and important engine refinements.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six is now on display. See it today—drive it! It is the Great American Value!
