DEATHS OF THE PAST WEEK

In the prime of life, death called away from those near and dear to her, Hilda Emma Fredericka Hammen (nee Backhaus), beloved wife of Fred Hammen of Campbellsport, on Saturday, January 10, 1931, at 11 o'clock at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, to which place she had been taken six days prior to her death, and where she was operated upon for appendicitis. After having withstood the operation well, pneumonia set in, which together with other complications is attributed as the cause of her death. Mrs. Hammen was born June 10, 1888, at Kewaskum, Wis., having attained the age of 43 years and 5 months. Her carly life was spent in Milwaukee where she worked at the millinery trade. On pt of check for September 23, 1911, she was married to Fred Hammen. Shortly after their marriage they made their home at Oakfield, after three years' residence there they moved to Lomira, where they resided four years when they came to their present home near Campbellsport. Besides her griefstricken husband, she is survived by the following children: Harold, aged of Christmas 17, Edna, aged 16, Lester, aged 14, ch as our Edwin, aged 11, Florence, aged 7, Delores, aged & Elaine, aged 1, all at lome. Besides these she leaves to nourn her early demise, her aged mother, Mrs. Fred Bartelt and stepfather, Fred Bartelt of Kewaskum, two brothers. Roman Backhaus of Campbellsport and one step brother Arnold Bartelt of Kewaskum. Mrs. Hammen was a woman of sturdy character, possessed with those traits g the campaign that made her a fine wife and mother, WILL CONTINUE REVIVAL MEET- BANK OF KEWASKUM HOLDS AN. HOME NEAR FILLMORE THREAT-ENED BY FIRE

Fire starting in the attic of the Julius Geidel lome near Fillmore last Tuesday afternoon for some time hreatened destruction of the building, but the prompt arrival and common sense methods of the Fillmore. Boltonville and Waubeka fire departments confined the blaze to the attic and the damage will run in the neighborhood of only $300. The cause of the fire has not been determined. Household furniture stored in the attic was damaged, but the blaze was controlled with chemicals. The fire companies, however, had laid hose line to the river nearby, and were ready to nump water if the need arose .- West yellow fruit, scrape the banana to remove the strings which give an acrid flavor to the fruit. Cut into halves lengthwise, place in a buttered dish and sprinkle with sugar. Pour over six tablespoonfuls of water and bake in a moderate oven until translucent. For six bananas, use six teaspoonfuls of sugar (brown is best), with a pinch of salt.

Bananas Baked in Lemon Juice .-Cut four large bananas into halves lengthwise and put into a baking dish. Peel two large oranges and divide into sections. Add the sections to the top of the bananas. Sift one-half cupful of sugar over the oranges and add one-half cupful of lemon juice with any of the juice left from the oranges. Bake 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold. Very nice with cold meats.

Banana Fritters .- Remove the skins from eight bananas and cut into halves lengthwise, then into quarters. Sprinkle with powdered sugar, onehalf tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-half tablespoonful of grated orange rind. Cover and let stand half an hour. Then dip into the following batter and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve.

For the batter-mix and sift one cupful of flour, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, add one-half cupful of milk and one beaten egg. Add a tablespoonful of melted butter and beat thoroughly before using.

Bananas fried in butter make a fine garnish for broiled steak. Served with ooked chops they are especially good.

If only their mother would dress them differently or put some distinguishing mark on them! Should she ask them in the morning which was which and put labels on them? Or what should she do? They were adorable, blue-eyed, fair children with soft, light hair. If only the hair of one were straight and the other curly! But, no; even their ringlets were exactly alike. What should she do?

One morning they came to school and, O. joy! One had a tooth out, right in the middle of her upper jaw! The teacher ascertained that the lacking tooth was from Elinor's set of pearls. Now her problem was solved and when she looked at Elinor and called her by name Elinor, and not Evelyn, would answer. One less worry, she rejoiced.

But the next morning when they appeared each child was minus a tooth and each gap was right in the middle of the upper jaw !- New York

Grain Measurements

For many years grains were measured in bushel containers, or peck containers. However, in different states the exact size of these containers varied, and they frequently varied within the same state. Consequently, the Department of Agriculture found it necessary to set some standard amount to the grain. In compiling a standard measurement it was found that some grains took up more space than others. This necessitated another form of measurement in order to insure accuracy. The answer to this was a table of weights. Now all states use tables giving the pounds to the bushel of the various grains.

For TEETHING troubles

HUSSY, fretful . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria — made especially for babies and children It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness. That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants-as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue

THE CLOVEN HOOF

By FANNIE HURST

(©. McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) OMETIMES neither the management nor a large part of the audiences which crowded the kind of variety theaters where this attraction appeared, knew what Cloven Hoof meant.

But seldom did they miss its connotation. Even to the ignorant and the unenlightened, the term "cloven hoof" suggested the pagan, the fantastic, the unrestrained, the naughty and forbidden.

The Cloven Hoof act did not disappoint.

It consisted of a series of "Solo Ballets" as the programs put it, performed by none other than the Faun himself, a role that had for years been successfully impersonated on vaudeville circuits by Renold Renolds.

There was a stage name for you. Renold Renolds. It intrigued the fancy. It made girls who had stood on their feet all day in shops and factories thrill with surmise.

It was said that his performance had once included a stirring trapeze act that had yielded him over twice the salary he now enjoyed, but that his bride of two weeks had fallen off the bar and broken her back and that, since then, the Cloven Hoof act had consisted merely of the Solo Ballet.

Be that as it may, the performance still retained sufficient vigor and novelty to insure Renolds steady and long-term bookings.

His scene consisted of a grotto, moss grown, lichen grown, woody, tropical and full of strange under-and-overgrowths of fern, mosses, orchids and climbing plants. The effect of a waterfall was achieved by lighting. Birds of strange plumages sat in the trees, a red moon rose slowly out of a clump of jungle. Owls hooted. A nightingale fluted its half-finished notes. The beholder was transported from his consciousness of city streets, banging cars and day of moil-and-toil, into the curious, half-rank, half-fragrant mysteries of the jungle.

It was said that Renolds' "fan letters" amounted to hundreds a week. At any rate, every month he sent a packet of them to the headquarters of his management in New York as evidence of the continuing and hardy success of his act.

There were those who said the success of that act was not Renolds himself, but his animals. During all three of his Solo Ballets there appeared upon the stage, birds, dogs, cats, a small trained leopard, a pair of mar-

Two love-birds lit on the faun's shoulders and picked cherries from his lips. A tiny poodle dog ran into the scene on rear legs, carrying a dollbaby in his fragile paws. The tame leopard walked out of a moonlit clump of trees and permitted Renolds to turn double somersaults across his beautiful back. The marmosets staged a chase up and down the long, slim flanks of the solo dancer. Three pale gold angora cats played ring-around-arosy. A flaming macaw flew across the scene and alighted on the branch of

It was quite an act, ending with Renolds surrounded by his menagerie, hirds on his arms, leopard at his side. the dog standing on the back of one of the angoras, the marmosets chittering, the macaw waving its tri-colored, widespread wings and the lights causing the waterfall to leap in glory. This final tableau was posted in lithographs all over the lobby and along the billboards of the town.

It gave people pause. Especially the young girls whose feet could ache so at night liked to gather before the faunal figure in its jungle setting. Small wonder that the letters continued to stack up on the table in Renolds' dressing room. Girls flocked to his act. Women, especially the tired, earth-bound ones who stood on their feet behind counters all day, wondered about him. There was an ecstatic sort of mystery about the man who can be wondered about. What was Renolds' life? Fantasy, indulged in by the meager girls in their meager rooms, ran wild. Actually his everyday real life was this:

There was truth in the rumor that the two-week-old bride of Renolds had fallen from a flying trapeze. The short, blunt facts were that she had broken her back, cracked her skull and met with tortuous internal injuries. She was a frail beauty of a girl who had danced before a row of footlights most of her life, and, with the sometimes astonishing endurance and vitality of the frail, had weathered the horribleness of the accident and had at least won her life. Precious little more than that. The back healed, but kept her flat on it. The skull healed, but the mind could bend and flicker like a lamp in a gale. Internal displacements sometimes tore at Emadie and made her frantic with pain. And yet the mystery of it!- The eternal mystery of the will to live! Both Renolds and Emadie fought for that life, clung to it, struggled to keep it going. There is an old Hindoo saying that "No one but God and I knows what is in my heart." Well, no one but God and Renolds could quite have known the quality of love, endurance and forbearance that Renolds poured into those long years that were aftermath to the night his crushed and broken bride had lain writhing at his feet after the hurl from the trapeze. Renolds gave himself to the remnant of this life that had been left to him with a zeal, with an intensity that were nothing short of fanatical, and with the sometime tendency of a mind that is tortured, to vent itself parasites and parasitic diseases. The against the one most loved, Emadie literally pirated off the quality-of-mercy that was Renolds'. She was exacting, she was jealous, she was dictatorial and was often abusive. Even her doctors sometimes forgot forbearance, reminding her that there are limits even to the tyrannies of the afflicted. But no so Renolds. It was as if he bared his neck, bowed his head and said: "Strike, strike, strike." And strike Emadie did. For fifteen years Renolds had carted the poor little ruin that was his wife from town to town with him. He had invented beds, carrying chairs, spinerest devices, mattresses, especially designed for berths, cold-water bottles, hot-water bottles, traveling medicine kits, that might, if patented, have made him a rich man. Not a step had by adult turkeys. When large enough Renolds taken in all those years with- to range the poults were given large out the litter that bore his wife, at fenced lots and shelters.

It was a matter of transporting the frail body, establishing it in hotel rushing off to the theater and home

The leisure of Renolds, if it might so be called, and about which the hundreds of wistful-eyed girls wondered, was spent ministering to the broken doll he called wife, and attending the needs of a menagerie that was rapidly growing old. For nine years there had not been a break in those animal ranks. The birds, marmosets, dogs, cats, had managed to survive intact. Some said it was the marvelous care that Renolds lavished on them. Some, the few who knew, said it was that same incredible quality of devotion that he lavished on Emadie, which had kept her alive.

Be that as it may, when the faun unthonged his sandals that were soft as panther skin, ungirded his loins of the skin of a leopard, and hastened into civilian clothes, no matter what the town or what the season, his destination was the same

Back to the hotel, into the room where lay the querulous invalid, suspicious of his slightest delay. Never a meal would Emadie eat without him there to feed her spoon by spoon. No one could touch her pillow, ease her position, massage her aching head, read her the daily newspapers, or minister to her capricious moods, but Renolds.

Her demands, her commands, were without limit. She loved him with a frenzy that made her insane where he was concerned. She tortured the thing she loved to limits that were incredible.

Between the demands of his menagerie and the demands of Emadie, Renolds' time was crammed to its limit. In a way his animals had come to depend upon him just as surely and just as exactingly as Emadie. The french poodle would only eat from Repolds' hand. The macaw would let no hand but his place him on his perch at night. The marmosets pined and would not eat until Renolds personally administered to them. Countless times he had sat up the night through with one of the orange angora cats who was subject to asthmatic smothering spells. If ever a man had two worlds entirely dependent upon him, that man was Renolds. The world of his wife, the world of his animals. He was their sustenance, their all. His time was theirs, his life devoted to their creature comforts, and to the exacting task of keeping the rough places of life out of their sight. His nights and his days were full of them. Eau de cologne for Emadie. A toy to amuse her on the days when her back was particularly bad. Sugar for the poodle. A new asthma medicine for the cat. A bit of a sweet for the leopard. A tiny oil burner for the cage of the marmosets. A new device of an air-pillow for Emadie.

Sweets. Sedatives. Service. And every night, as he bounded on stage into his jungle and the waterfall began to flow silver, and the shy, sweet sounds of the forest began to emerge, the rows of girls with the tired feet sat feasting their eyes and hearts on the beautiful pagan mysteries of the young god with the cloven hoof.

RAISING TURKEYS IS NOT GAMBLING

Study Being Made of Parasites and Diseases.

With no poker game handy the farmer who was overtaken by a spasm of the gambling fever has always been able to get his excitement by raising turkeys. Now the United States De partment of Agriculture is trying to spoil the sport by removing from it the element of greatest uncertaintyparasites have been the factors responsible for the greatest losses in the turkey flock and for making turkey raising a side issue and a gamble for the average farmer or poultryman.

A foundation flock of turkeys raised for experimental purposes has been established at one of the federal experiment stations in Montana, and the specialist in charge has devoted all his time to the investigation of parasitic disease in the flock. He will do other work later, however.

The flock was established by artificially incubating the eggs, and brooding the poults in special brooder houses with clean yards until they were eight weeks old. These precautions were taken in order to prevent infestations by parasites introduced

"Artificial brooding has been of particular value in preventing losses from blackbead disease which at one time quarters, assembling his menagerie, threatened to destroy the turkey industry," says the specialist in charge again without removing his make-up. of the flock, "Prevention of this disease calls for rearing the young turkeys or clean ground and away from chickens and other turkeys."

Check Up on Flock's

Production for Year In case you wish to check up on your flock's production for the past year, the average per hen should be about as follows: December, 10; January, 10; February, 12; March, 19; April, 21; May, 20; June, 18; July, 16; August, 13; September, 6; October, 7; November, 8; or a total of 160 per When records are kept it is interesting to check each month by these figures to see where the hens fall below the average and where they exceed it. These figures have been taken from many records made by hens that were trap nested for the purpose of finding the average egg production per month for a number of years. The hens in the 90-egg class lay almost all of the eggs in the spring and early summer, while those in the 160 egg class lay every month during the year.

Night Light Will Pay for Chicks in Brooder

Experiments at Massachusetts Agricultural college seem to prove that a dim light burned at night in a brooder house increased the growth of small chicks from 8 to 15 per cent at four weeks of age. This gain did not come from eating during the night, but more from the chicks spreading out and sleeping more comfortably and to finding their way back to the hover without being chilled. About a 10-watt electric light seemed to give the best results in the experi-

Mighest Paid Short Fiction Writer

FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people.

Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

Waupaca-Douglas Parfitt, 14, youngest of a trio of Clintonville boys who attempted to extort $10,000 from Dr. W. J. Finney, was sentenced by County Judge Martin in juvenile court to the industrial school for boys at Waukesha until he is 21. Howard Hundertmark, 17, leader in the vouths' thrill plot, received a similar sentence. George Popp, 15, was slain by a posse when the three boys walked into a trap set for a suspected criminal gang after the doctor had left a dummy package which the boys obtained.

Appleton-The business depression is blamed for the needly condition of 100 Indian families on the Oneida reservation. Many native redmen and their wives and children are suffering from want of food and clothing, according to Outagamie officials who have renewed their plans for assistance. A survey of conditions showed that many of the children were barefooted and that the food supplies were rapidly dwindling. Their present food consists largely of a few vegetables and the little game that the men can kill.

Madison-The first official act of

Philip F. La Follette as governor of Wisconsin following his inauguration on Jan. 5 was to announce the appointments of his executive staff. He set a new precedent by naming two secretaries instead of one. They are J. K. Kyle, Whitewater, and Edward Littel, Madison. Both are under 30 years of age. Mr. Kyle has been identified with the La Follettes several years. He was secretary of Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., at Washington for a time and managed Philip La Follette's campaign. He attended Whitewater Teachers' college and later the University of Wisconsin, which graduated him in 1927. Mr. Littel lived in Milwaukee until recently. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1927. During the recent campaign he traveled with Philip La Follette as a member of his staff. cavalry.

Madison-Railroad officials who recently conferred with Gov. La Follette about the elimination of dangerous grade crossings are reported to have decided that they can hardly afford to undertake three years' work in one, as first suggested. The latest proposal, it is said, is to do two years' work in one. The La Follete administration faces the problem of providing the state's share of the cost involved. One report is that it might be met by increasing the gasoline tax to 4 cents, although there is likely to be considerable opposition in the legislature to any such increase.

Ripon-Edward Kopplin, 55, volunteer fireman, is dead and 50 members of Delta Sigma Psi fraternity at Ripon college are temporarily homeless as the result of a fire which destroyed historic Smith hall, causing damages estimated at $55,000. As the city fire truck speeded toward the fire it struck an icy pavement and careened over a curb. Kopplin, the driver, collapsed at the wheel and died of a heart attack. WORK TO UNEMPLOYED

Millions for Improvements; $8,500,000 R. R. Order.

Washington.-In spite of the handicap of snow and ice, highway work is being expedited all over the country, Chairman Woods of the President's employment committee reported, as a means of bringing jobs to those out of work.

Reports to the committee show that in many states a large amount of preliminary work, such as grading and clearing, is under way, and indications are that much more will be started within the next few weeks. Chicago is planning betterments in its 35,000 acres of forest preserves. San Francisco is considering a $2,-500,000 bond issue for park and street construction. Cleveland plans $200,-000 for improvement of city parks, the work to be given to needy. New York city has put 15,000 men to work in municipal parks three days a week. Most of the state legislatures are in session and Colonel Woods expects many of them to appropriate funds to meet $80,000,000 of federal aid funds now available.

New York .- The delicate needle on the gauge of national employment has shot upward under the pressure of encouraging news.

The prospect of work for an additional 100,000 men was announced at Washington by Thomas MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads. That many men, he said, will cash in on the increased road construction funds voted by congress. A survey by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce showed 69 concerns there planning to increase their pay rolls this month. One thousand employees already have been recalled by one clothing company.

TWO BILLS TO CURB GRAIN SPECULATION

Measures Are Introduced in Both House and Senate.

Washington,-Bills were introduced simultaneously in the senate and house of representatives to curb speculative operations in grain in all American markets and to tighten government regulation of exchanges under the grain futures act.

The two bills were introduced in response to a recent request of Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, for legislation "with teeth in it" calling for strict government regulation of exchanges dealing in agricultural products.

The proposed program also is a direct result of disclosures late last fall that Soviet agents had been operating on the Chicago exchange, selling Russian wheat short for the deliberate purpose of further depressing the sagging American markets. The Soviet agents, it was charged, sold wheat short at a price on which delivery could not have been made.

The bills are identical, the measure being introduced by Senator Arthur Capper, Republican of Kansas, and the house measure by Representative L. J. Dickinson, Republican of Iowa. They are aimed directly at short selling and at further operations in domestic markets by foreign governments or their representatives.

The Capper bill seeks to control short selling by limiting to 2,000,000 bushels a day the future sales by any individual or firm. Brokers also are forbidden to buy or sell grain for a foreign government without first obtaining the consent of the secretary of agriculture. Full publicity of such a prospective sale also must be given.

LEO BROTHERS HELD AS LINGLE'S SLAYER

Witnesses to Murder.

Chicago.-Leo Brothers will go to the electric chair for the murder of Lingle, it was declared by Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office. "This man will sit in the electric chair for the Lingle murder, I'll stake my official reputation on that," said Roche. "If he is not the killer, then Lingle still is alive.".

Chicago.-This city's most intensive murder investigation, the search for the slayer of Alfred ("Jake") Lingle, Tribune underworld reporter, killed last June 9 in the subway to the Randolph street station of the Illinois Central railroad, has brought the aunouncement that Leo B. Brothers, alias Louis V. Bader, a St. Louis gunman, has been positively identified as Lingle's murderer. He was arrested December 21 and Brothers was then commanded to dress and pack a bag. He was taken to the downtown hotel, where he has since been held a closely guarded, secret prisoner.

An immediate trial for Brothers, on the charge that he is the murderer of Alfred Lingle, will be asked by the state. The state will ask the jury to send him to the electric chair. A woman, said to be a former sweetheart of Brothers named Margaret Farmer, who is also known by the names of Welsh and Clark, was ar rested by the St. Louis police.

Congress Draws Teeth From Jones 5-10 Law

Washington.-Anti-prohibition forces in congress scored their biggest victory in the eleven years of Volsteadism when the house passed the Stobbs bill modifying the drastic Jones "five and ten" law.

The bill was sent to President Hoover for his signature, as the senate previously had acted on it.

Liberal members of congress hailed the passage of this bill. drawing "teeth" from the Jones law, as the first step toward a return to reason in prohibition legislation. Under the Stobbs bill, judges will be unable to send hip flask toters and other petty offenders to prison at hard labor for as long as five years. The brand of felon is lifted from the minor offender.

The Jones law provided a maximum penalty of five years in prison at hard labor or $10,000 fine, or both, for any violation of the federal prohibition

ence has just been utilized by automotive engineers in making the operation of automobiles practically noise-

This phenomenon is that a sound wave under certain conditions will destroy or neutralize another sound wave, thus producing quietness. Physicists have experimented with this fact for years and now research engineers, after intensive study, have made practical use of it in what is called a "carburetor intake silencer."

The purpose of the silencer is to eliminate "power roar" which becomes most audible at wide open throttle, such as occurs in hill climbing, accelerating and at high speeds. This roar, engineers discovered, originates not in the exhaust, but in the intake system and emerges from the car-

The silencer by removing this noise makes motoring much more pleasant and gives one the feeling that the engine is performing without effort and with quiet and intense power held in abevance. The combination air cleaner-car-

At that moment the Washington crew commenced to raise its stroke and change the entire situation.

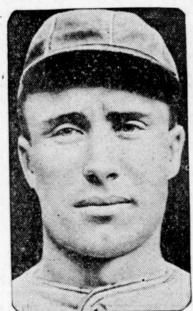

They were rowing very evenly, more so than the Navy, and between the mile and the two and a half marks they picked up the Navy, and at that point started a sprint which carried them ahead. The Navy then started their mighty sprint to overhaul Washington and for a quarter of a mile there was a terrific struggle.

The Washington crew was rowing about 36 strokes to the minute and the Navy 42. It hardly seemed possible that the Navy could maintain this terrific stroke and pace with which they set out to overtake Washington. However, stroking with the precision of a tireless, well-oiled machine, they pulled abreast of the Washington crew about three hundred yards from the

The wonderful stamina of the Navy men was further shown by the fact that in these last few hundred yards they gained a lead of nearly a length on Washington and pushed the nose of their shell over the finish line in the record time of 13 minutes and Philadelphia baseball men backed Hemphill's campaign for governor in 33 3-5 seconds. the hope that Sunday ball might be

NOVEL SAFEGUARD FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Prof. Grover Van Duyn, superintendent of schools at Greenfield, Ind., with his new invention for safeguarding the lives of children who travel to school in hacks or busses. The invention consists of a brightly colored enamel girl, 26 inches high, which projects from the left rear of the car when it stops. It is a signal that the bus is taking on or discharging children and all motorists should use extreme caution. A pull on a cord in the driver's seat propels the figure from its hidden compartment and another yank on the cord causes it to fold back out of sight.

PRESCRIPTION in use over 47 Years Really Helps Bowels

Don't you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't turn everything to water, but cleans out all that hard waste clogging your system. It cleans you out without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs a famous doctor found so good for the bowels, combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to move freely, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache tells you that you're bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice) and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or have a sallow look.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago: your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it always for constipation.

Deadly Weapon of War Credited to Germany

That the Germans used in the World war an engine of destruction off the Belgian coast about which practically nothing has been revealed, was the assertion of Rear Admiral G. R. Blount of the British navy in an address in opening a missions to seamen exhibition in Leeds, England, recently. This was an electrically driven crewless launch controlled from the shore capable of high speed and quick turning and carrying 500 pounds of guncotton in its bow. It was designed to ram its prey. It took very skillful seamanship to dodge the craft which could port starboard or run with its helm amidships and took a lot of shaking off. Warships were able to sink it with gunfire once its nature was recognized but merchant ships were at its mercy.

THE NEW FORD

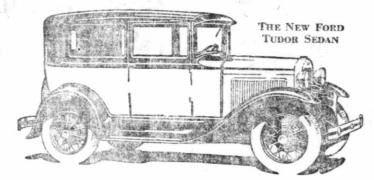

Everything you want or need in a motor car

THE more you see of the new Ford, the more you realize that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car. . . . And at an unusually low price.

Its substantial beauty of line and color is apparent at a glance. Long, continuous service emphasizes the value of its simplicity of design and the high quality that has been built into every part.

The new Ford accelerates quickly and it will do 55 to 65 miles an hour. It is an easy-riding car because of its specially designed springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. It has fully enclosed four-wheel brakes and the added safety of a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield. Operation and up-keep costs are low and it has the stamina and reliability that mean thousands of miles of uninterrupted service.

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the new Ford. Check up every point that goes to make a good automobile and you will know it is a value far above the price.

The name Firestone is on every tire Firestone makes. They do not make tires under Special Brand names for mail order houses or other distributors. Such tires are made by some unknown manufacturer and sold under a name that does not identify him to the public, usually because he builds his first line tires under his own name.
