Miss Ruby McKenzie, County Nurse announced that the regular chest clinic in Washington county for November will be held at the City Hall at Hartford on Friday, Nov. 6.

The clinic, which will be conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association under the auspices of the Washington County Board, will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

KEWASKUM COUPLE CELEBRATES 60th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Backhaus, residing about a mile northeast of here, was the scene of a most happy event on Sunday, October 25th, 1931, when their children, grand children and great grand children met there to celebrate the venerable couple's 60th wedding anniversary. At five o'clock, a five course wedding dinner was served to about forty guests, who arrived at the home early in the day to shower congratulations and best wishes upon the aged couple, who are blessed in celebrating an anniversary, the kind of which is a rare event in the course of a family life. The surprise event, was celebrated amid pretty decorations of cut flowers, the color scheme of which was appropriate of the event, while the centerpiece of the table consisted of a large, beautifully decorated wedding cake with the years 1871 and 1931 lettered upon it. The day was pleasantly spent in card playing and social conversation.

Mr. Backhaus was born in Barnhagen, Germany on December 27, 1843, and has therefore attained the advanced age of 88 years. Mrs. Backhaus (nee Caroline A. Koch) was born on March 9, 1853 in the town of Kewaskum where she has resided practically all of her life. She has passed the 78th milestone of her life. When ten years of age, Mr. Backhaus immigrated to America and settled in Milwaukee. After residing there for six months he came to Kewaskum in 1855, taking up the homestead where they now live. Mr. and Mrs. Backhaus were married on October 26, 1871. They are the parents of nine children, all of whom are alive and who are as follows: Mathilda (Mrs. Carl Backhaus) of Kewaskum; William Backhaus of the town of Auburn; Edward Backhaus of West Bend; Ricka (Mrs. Julius Dreher) of Kewaskum; Emma (Mrs. Henry W. Ramthun) of Kewaskum; Adolph Backhaus of Marshfield; Elsie (Mrs. Herman Backhaus) of Kewaskum; Otto Backhaus of Kewaskum and Alma (Mrs. Otto Ramthun) of Kewaskum.

Mr. and Mrs. Backhaus who are among this community's oldest citizens, passed through their life's journey enjoying times of happiness and times when all looked gloomy, they met their problems face to face, solved them to the best of their advantage and to the interest of the community in which they reside, as such they can now look upon the past as a life well spent. Not only can they proudly look upon a family of nine children who are held in high esteem and respect by all who know them, but happy are they in the thought that they themselves are still hale and hearty enjoying the best of health, well alert to what is going on in public affairs here and elsewhere, able to do their daily routine of work and enjoying the fruits of the harvest reaped in bygone days, in their age of practical retirement.

Those present at the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Backhaus and family of West Bend, Mrs. Carl Backhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Ramthun, Mr. and Mrs. William Backhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Backhaus and family, Mrs. Herman Backhaus and family, Mrs. Otto Ramthun and family, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Dreher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Krueger and family, Lester Dreher, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Porschbacher, Mrs. Albert Glander, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Dreher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Ramthun, Earl Dreher and Mrs. William Ramthun, all of Kewaskum.

The Statesman joins their host of relatives and friends in extending hearty congratulations and wishing them continued health and happiness that both may live to see the century mark.

HORICON MARSH REFLOODING COST $1,500,000

Reflooding of the Horicon marsh in Dodge county by the State Conservation Commission will cause damage of at least $1,500,000, Peter J. Meyers, Racine attorney, testified before the Public Service Commission at Madison, Saturday. "While the conservation commission's appropriation is $250,000, the money now available for this project wouldn't be a drop in the bucket to what eventually will be needed," the counsel said. He referred to the litigation which undoubtedly would follow raising of the dam level. More than 75 witnesses, including many land owners whose property may be affected by the recent order permitting a rise in the Rock river pond level at Horicon, were present at Madison for the hearing.—Hartford Times.

HOGS CAN BE KILLED BY SALT POISONING

While some Wisconsin hogs find salt as scarce as it is in the land of Mahatma Gandhi, others are actually killed by salt poisoning, asserts Dr. W. Wisnicky, Wisconsin director of livestock sanitation.

While hogs need regular rations of common salt, they are very susceptible to overdoses. Accumulation of salt at the bottom of the swill barrel is a frequent source of such poisoning.

If a handful of salt is thrown into the swill barrel day after day without being completely and thoroughly mixed it settles to the bottom of the barrel because it is heavier than the swill. With the daily practice of adding salt without proper mixing, there soon accumulates on the bottom a sediment of almost pure salt.

Comes a day usual ambition and the swill barrel gets a vigorous stirring. A swill heavily charged with salt results, and the pigs which were in the land of Gandhi with a tax on salt.

Scripture Quotation Puzzle

Upon this bit of abandoned back fence some one printed a six-word quotation from the Bible. But some one else came along and rubbed away the upper part of the letters. Can you take a pencil and finish out the letters to make them spell the six words?

A Bear Who Finds Ice and Snow Warm

We can't all be of the same opinion, that is certain. To most creatures, snow and ice are cold but not so to the beautiful white bear of the frozen North. In the picture you may see Mrs. Bear and her baby. Spring has come, the ice has broken away, and POLAR BEAR AND HER BABY she has brought her baby out of their snow cave to hunt for food.

She can make the coldest nest in all the world—in the snow! This she does by lying close to a cliff and letting the snow fall over her until she is entirely covered and has left only a tiny breathing hole open. Here in this tightly packed home she is content to sleep with her baby until spring comes. Mr. Polar Bear roams about all winter long; he doesn't seem to need a long winter sleep. Mrs. Bear stores up a great deal of fat to keep her alive through her sleeping season. When her baby grows up and is strong she, too, will make herself a snow cave and follow her mother's example.

The Polar Bear's feet or paws are very powerful and in order that they may be secure in walking on slippery ice, many prickly hairs grow on the soles. And oh, how these beautiful creatures can swim and dive! You see they must be able to, for the food they like best lives in the water. Seals are a great delicacy as is walrus meat, but when these are not to be had, the bears content themselves with berries. Perhaps these make rather nice dessert!

Baby bears are born as blind as they can be and without one little bit of fur. They must be nearly five weeks old before their eyes can see or before their bodies begin to grow their lovely thick coats. These Polar Bears are the largest in all the bear family and certainly the most beautiful. Sometimes they may swim for many miles, or drift on ice cakes far from home. They do not mind, for the whole Northland is their home and if they can find plenty of ice and snow they are comfortable and happy.

Gotham Police Rookies Get Gas Instruction

Police rookies at Camp Mulrooney, City Island, N. Y., wearing gas masks and walking through gas fumes as they received tear bomb instruction during their three months' schooling.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

Why We Call Them "Cops"
THAT a policeman should be known colloquially as a "cop" seems strange and puzzling not only to those who run and read but apparently to others who profess to have made a study of these things and should know. It has been suggested that the reason for this colloquialism was the fact that many years ago, when Fernando Wood was police commissioner of New York City, he designed a copper badge which all policemen had to wear for purposes of identification. The fact is that this suggested history of the term is quite erroneous. The word "cop" for "policeman" far antedates the advent of Fernando Wood. It is derived in fact, from the old English "copp" meaning "to catch," so that its use in the sense indicated is quite logical.

Swedish Invention Will Eliminate Radio Fading

Ostersund, Sweden.—The so-called "fading" difficulty, known to most radio listeners, seems to have been eliminated by a new invention in the field of broadcasting recently made by K. E. The KITCHEN CABINET

Banbury Tarts.—Roll puff paste one-eighth of an inch thick and cut into three-inch squares. Rich pastry made in the ordinary way may be used, but it is not so delicate. Put two teaspoonsful of the following filling on each square on one side, fold over and press the edges tightly together after moistening. Bake twenty minutes in a hot oven.
Orange Shortcake.—Prepare the rich biscuit dough in any form desired, either in a large cake or in biscuits. Slice peeled oranges very thin and mix with sugar to sweeten. Let stand for an hour or more to dissolve the sugar and season. Pour over the buttered shortcake and decorate the top with slices of orange.
Sheep Kidneys.—Skin and split the kidneys and place on skewers with pieces of bacon between each kidney. Season well with mustard, salt and pepper, or any savory seasoning desired. Place in a dripping pan, so that the meat does not touch the pan and bake in a hot oven until the bacon is well cooked.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

by WALTER TRUMBULL

James and May Wilson Preston have recently returned from a summer in France. They spent some time at Brides les Bains, that little town in a little valley at the edge of the Alps. While there, Mr. Preston met Huntington Harter from Mansfield, Ohio, whose father, it seems to me, was a congressman or senator. At any rate, they used to go climbing over the hills together and often spoke of the beauty of the scenery.

 "As I think back," said James Preston, one day, "I cannot remember many more picturesque places than Manayunk, the Pennsylvania town where I was a boy."
 "Manayunk!" exclaimed Mr. Harter. "Why, my sister married a man from the place which lies shoulder to shoulder with it. Wissahickon. His name was Vaughn Merrick, and he was head master of the Episcopal academy in Philadelphia."
 "Well," said Mr. Preston, "then you may remember a family who lived right across the lane from my brother-in-law. One of those kids grew to be a pretty well-known writer. His name is Struthers Burt."
 So a man from Mansfield and another from Manayunk had to go all the way to Brides les Bains to become friends and discover that they might have met as boys in Wissahickon.

It was one of the most famous of New Yorkers who said to his brand-new daughter-in-law, "My dear, as an extra wedding gift, I present you with this formula for happiness in marriage: Give your husband one night a week off and ask no questions." In these days, the man might have switched and given that advice to his son. It is getting so that if a man desires perfect solitude he can find it in the home. The little woman who used to run the sewing machine is now out running the political machine.

The daughter of the founder of a string of nickel-and-dime emporiums married, and her husband bought a large country place. Not long ago this couple gave a big party, to which both old and young were invited. It was a gorgeous affair with all the trimmings wealth could give it. Ev-

Geologist Finds Fish 380 Million Years Old

Red Lodge, Mont.—A number of fish which swam in the waters of Montana 380,000,000 years ago were caught here recently—with a geologist's pick. Prof. R. T. Chamberlain, leader of the Princeton geological expedition in the Beartooth mountains last summer found embedded in the red shale on the face of Beartooth butte several fossilized specimens of ostracoderm—fishlike creatures that swam in American rivers eons ago. The ostracoderm resembles a cross between a crab and a flounder. Its body was about seven inches long and was covered by a bony plate much like a crab's shell. Projecting from beneath the plate was a tail and a pair of jointed flippers much like the large claws of a crayfish.

Tommy Melghan told me a story recently about acting in the screen version of a story by his friend, Peter B. Kyn. Playing with him was a professional wrestler. They were supposed to engage in a scuffle. Melghan put his hand on the wrestler's forearm and found it the size and consistency of an oak tree.
 "Relax," he said to the grappler. "Look. Feel my arm. Can't you see it's relaxed? Loosen up your muscles. This is acting."
 "I am loosened up," growled the wrestler. A moment later, when the cameras began to grind, the director called for action.
 "That wrestler gave me a shove that sent me the entire length of a ship's deck," says Melghan. "Of course, there had to be a retake, because he shoved me right out of the camera field, and I was supposed to be in the picture. In fact," said Mr. Melghan, "I was supposed to get in the last shove."
 Look at pictures of competitors in the rotogravure sections of the newspapers. The veterans look at each other while they shake hands. The new title holders, or many of them, appear to fumble for the hand of an adversary while staring intently at the camera.

was placed, was well preserved, and pieces of weaving instruments for such work, and all other small items found near the body were in good condition and were placed in the case with the body. Dawson's theory is that the mummy was once a weaver in his ancient tribe, and these articles were placed beside him in death, so that he might continue his occupation in another world, as was the ancient belief. Remarkable, too, was the fact that the shroud which covered the torso, and the cords which bound the man's knees, even to the knot which connected them, are plainly visible. The shroud, investigation showed, was constructed of feathers.
 The finding in the Toltec ruins had added a great deal to man's present knowledge of the ancient peoples. Dawson, during the past year working alone, has discovered knives, pottery, arrowheads and other properties of the ancient inhabitants of the village. Plates carrying hieroglyphics, which he says contain the history of the people of that day, have been uncovered, together with a key which will enable him to decipher the plates.

"OFF" SEASONS BEST TIME TO ADVERTISE

Too many advertisers are non-believers. They like seeing their names and their goods in print, they feel that "maybe" it helps, certainly it doesn't hurt. They are glad to advertise when times are good and a little extravagance and display seem justified. But do they believe that their advertising is an essential part of their business, as essential as the machines that make their product or the salesman who call on customers? Not a bit. Advertising is the first thing to go overboard, followed perhaps by the last new "vice president in charge of This-and-That."

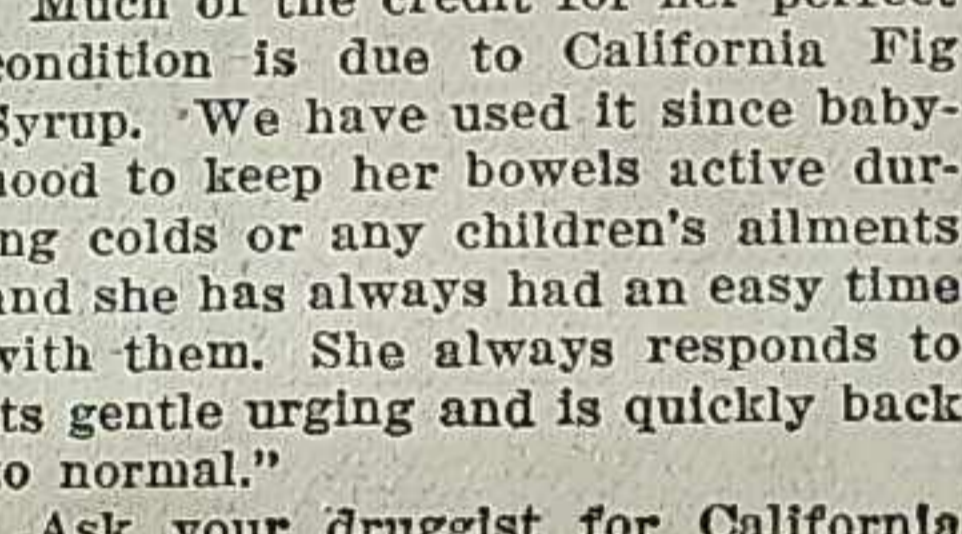

What advertising needs is more converts to the faith who feel that advertising is not an emotional outburst, but part of their long-time plans to grow through better selling of better goods—not a thing lightly to be discarded or interrupted. But if advertising needs more converts, perhaps it needs also more evangelists to preach the true faith.

Said an able manufacturer: "The hardest thing to do with an advertising manager is to keep him from spending all his money when times are good and make him save it for bad times when it's really needed."

Times are bad, but already they show signs of becoming better. When they are really good, can advertising men direct some of their great abilities to making true believers of those in the pews who are enjoying the music and displaying their new clothes?—Nation's Business.

Girl at the Top in Health Tests

Millions of boys and girls all over the world, thousands of them right here in the West, are being restored to health and strength by the purely vegetable tonic and laxative known as California Fig Syrup and endorsed by physicians for over 50 years. Children need no urging to take it. They love its rich, fruity flavor. Nothing can compete with it as a gentle, but certain laxative, and it goes further than this. It gives tone and strength to the stomach and bowels so these organs continue to act normally, of their own accord. It stimulates the appetite, helps digestion. A Kansas mother, Mrs. Dana Allgire, 610 Monroe St., Topeka, says: "Bonnie B. is absolutely the picture of health, now, with her rosy cheeks, bright eyes and plump but graceful little body and she stands at the top in every health test. Much of the credit for her perfect condition is due to California Fig Syrup. We have used it since babyhood to keep her bowels active during colds or any children's ailments and she has always had an easy time with them. She always responds to its gentle urging and is quickly back to normal." Ask your druggist for California Fig Syrup and look for the word "California" on the carton so you'll always get the genuine.

 "Moreover am a Biblical name, sah," Junius, the owner of the dog, explained.
 "Yes," said the gentleman. "How so?"

A Far Better External Remedy
 No matter how up to date your doctor is, there is one old-fashioned remedy he often finds most helpful—the mustard plaster. For generations it has been recognized as useful in treating bad colds, particularly where pneumonia is feared. But today many physicians realize that there is something far better in the way of external treatment, giving results never before obtained. It is B. & M., The Penetrating Germicide. For quickly checking coughs and colds it is always dependable. Should always be used where pneumonia threatens or has set in. B. & M. is the only germicide that penetrates when externally applied. There is nothing else like it, no substitute for it. Your druggist should have it in stock. Or we will mail a full-size bottle on receipt of $1.25 and his name. Useful booklet free. P. E. Mummy Interests Archeologists

Cortez, Colo.—The Toltec ruins, owned by Lee Dawson, three miles southwest of Cortez, are yielding some valuable archeological specimens. Dawson's most recent discovery, and perhaps the most valuable, is a perfectly preserved mummy, which was uncovered a short time ago. The mummy is that of a man of one of the ancient races which inhabited the Southwest centuries ago, and is in such a remarkable state of preservation that Dawson was able to put it in a case immediately after it was unearthed, for display near the ruins. The body, finger and toe nails, and hair are in a splendid state of mummification. One ear is dried to the head, but is visible. The mummy was discovered in a long tunnel which connects two rooms. HELPFUL HUSBAND LARGELY A MYTH

Little Gained by Letting Him "Tinker."

Men are supposed to be handy with the hammer and good at doing odd jobs round the house, but from what I hear from women who have them (husbands, I mean, not hammers), it's a tradition lacking in truth. If a trusting wife asks her spouse to repair a chair leg or an electrical fixture it cannot be done until a suitable kit of expensive tools is bought. When the tools arrive he does not know how to use them. In the end the wife has to hire a workman, and instead of saving money she is out the price of the tools.

One wife decided it was ridiculous to pay a carpenter to hang the porch swing when her husband and grown son were able-bodied and reasonably intelligent. The twin were willing to lend both brains and brawn, and started operations by tapping the porch roof to locate the joist. The sound told nothing to their untrained ears, so they bored eight experimental holes without ever touching the secretive beam. Eventually the lady of the house sent for a carpenter who filled up the eight holes, and hung the swing.

One summer this same father and son tried to save the family budget by building a coal bin in the basement in which to hoard coal bought at low prices. Their fancy carpenter work loosened the brick foundation so that the cellar leaked all winter, and in the spring a brick mason repaired the damages at considerable expense.

Then there's the woman who hated to spend $10 for an outside aerial for her new radio. She insisted that her husband could save money by building one. Accordingly he bought the necessary material. He crawled under the edge of the house to ground the wire properly, and as he was a hefty brute he got stuck under the foundation, and pulled a Floyd Collins. Sympathetic neighbors dug him out and he went to bed to nurse his bruises while a hired bull built the aerial. Instead of saving money he paid a doctor's bill.

The most interesting trait these helpless husbands show is their willingness to spend hours in inventing a way to escape the work their wives assign to them. This tendency has led to most of our important household inventions. Of course it was a man who first thought of washing, ironing, sweeping and heating eggs by electrical power. Probably his wife asked him to help her one day when she was sick. As often as not his inventive powers lend him to grief instead of success, as in the instance of the man too lazy to carry out his wife's garbage pail. She kept the garbage in the rear by the garage door, and asked him to put it on the curb each Monday morning. Therefore when he backed the car out he would place the garbage can on the running board and stop at the curb long enough to park the can, thus saving at least a hundred feet of unnecessary can carrying. One morning he forgot to remove the garbage can from the running board, and never gave it a thought until he made a quick stop at a prominent traffic intersection. There was a fearful clatter on the left of the car, and he looked out in time to see his breakfast grapefruit peels rolling beneath a flossy limousine, not to mention coffee grounds and potato parings strewn all over the scenery. This husband insists that he never recovered from the resultant infertility complex, and his wife lost her garbage can which he couldn't possibly stop to collect.

The fond father who spent $2 for a bomb to amuse his children on the Fourth of July "meant well" when he put it on top of the grape arbor before he lit it. His idea was to remove it as far as possible from the bodies of his young hopefuls. It fell off and exploded in his wife's favorite flower bed, uprooting the pride of her life and undoing months of hard labor.

There are some women who can do more with a hairpin than the men of the family can accomplish with the most useful tools. The vaunted superiority of the male in all mechanical matters often falls flat when he is asked to tinker. Sometimes it's safer to leave the head of the house behind the newspaper, and hire outsiders to take care of repairs. It's cheaper in the long run to pay one bill instead of several.—Indianapolis News.

A Cold

Colds are common because people are careless. Prompt use of aspirin will always check a cold. Or relieve your cold at any stage. And genuine aspirin can't hurt you. Take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin at the first indication of a cold, and that's usually the end of it. If every symptom hasn't disappeared in a few hours, repeat. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. Take enough to give complete relief. And if your throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in water and gargle away all soreness. In every package of genuine Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for colds, headaches, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis. Millions who used to suffer from these things have found winter comfort in aspirin.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN 79 DISASTERS IN YEAR

Forest Fires, Plagues, Storms, Earthquakes, as Well as Drought, Call for Help.

The forest fires which have raged in Idaho and other western sections this year have presented a serious disaster—one of a number, in addition to the enormous drought relief problem, which have been met by the American Red Cross relief forces.
Suffering, faith and courage are contained in a story coming from the Priest River section in Idaho, told by a volunteer Red Cross worker as follows:
"Picture a happy little homestead near the banks of Priest river in northern Idaho. While father, with a little son tagging at his heels, is out tending crops and adding to the clearing, mother is at home making preparations for another arrival. Then comes the fire demon, sweeping all in its path. While father fights to protect his little home, the stork announces its arrival.
"Mother and baby are bundled in a quilt and loaded on a truck for the race through the flaming forest. Father drives the truck and the little boy sits at his mother's side, brushing away the sparks which fall like rain upon the improvised litter.
"To the Red Cross worker, the mother expressed her anxiety to return to the hills to rehabilitate the little homestead. All they possessed was lost in the forest fires. The Red Cross aided all of the families and is working to help them rebuild their homes.
"Altogether seventy-nine disasters called for Red Cross help and money during the year just closed. Aside from the drought, which required services of volunteer workers numbering more than 60,000, and a drought relief fund of more than $15,000,000 of which $5,000,000 came from the national Red Cross treasury, help was given in 22 fires, 12 tornadoes, eight storms and eight floods, six forest fires, four earthquakes and four mine explosions, three typhoons and three epidemics, two cloudbursts, and one each hurricane, mine cave-in and railroad accident.
Aside from a major catastrophe, such as the drought, when the whole
