"THE CHARM SCHOOL"
 "The Charm School" is a fascinating comedy in three acts relating the adventures of a handsome young automobile salesman, scarcely out of his teens, who upon inheriting a girls' boarding school from a maiden aunt, insists on running it himself. According to his ideas, the dominant feature in the education of the young girl of today should be CHARM.
 The situations that arise are teeming with humor—clean, wholesome humor. In the end the young man gives up the school and promises to wait until the most precocious of his pupils reaches a marriageable age. The freshness of youth, the charm of originality and the wholesome pleasant entertainment embodied in the play make it one of the most popular plays of today.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph L. Rosenheimer, Sr., highly esteemed citizens of this village and community, were the center of a family gathering on Tuesday evening, the occasion being their fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

At 6:30 p. m. a bountiful dinner was served at the Republican House, covers being laid for thirty-five. The dining room being beautifully decorated with roses and spring flowers. On the center of the table were fifty golden colored roses. After dinner, the party returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenheimer where the remainder of the evening was very pleasantly spent in conversation and card playing.

Mr. Rosenheimer always was a public spirited citizen, ready to help every improvement. He was instrumental in carrying on a successful fight for the incorporation of the village of Kewaskum in 1895. For his good work, the citizens honored him by electing him the village's first president, which office he held for several terms. He also was a member of the Washington County Board for a few terms.

Mr. Rosenheimer was born at Wayne, Wisconsin, on January 25, 1862. She is a daughter of the late Wendel Petri, a pioneer merchant of Wayne, which he established in postmaster and had large farming interests.

Mr. Rosenheimer was born on March 25, 1861, at Schleisingerville, now Slinger. He is a son of the late Lehman Rosenheimer, who in 1856 opened a store at Schleisingerville and in connection with it, carried on a large trade in cattle, grain and other farm products. The business continued with uninterrupted success until the death of Mr. Rosenheimer, which occurred September 21, 1878. Mr. and Mrs. Rosenheimer were married at Schleisingerville on Feb. 2, 1882, and immediately took up their residence at Kewaskum, where they have resided ever since.

In 1874, Mr. Rosenheimer became actively engaged with his brother, Moritz, in the general store and grain business under the firm name of "L. Rosenheimer." During the early years the grain shipments aggregated 200,000 bushels. The general store business is still being successfully conducted by the children of the late Moritz Rosenheimer, a department store that has a state-wide reputation.

On Oct. 14, 1904, the Bank of Kewaskum was incorporated and Mr. Rosenheimer was elected its president, in which capacity he has acted since. Through his careful and conservative policies, the bank has grown to be the largest state bank in Washington County, and at present has over $1,000,000 on deposits. Mr. Rosenheimer can be seen daily at the bank very actively carrying on its affairs.

When the Kewaskum Limited Mutual Fire Insurance Company was organized on Aug. 17, 1901, he was a charter member and elected its President, which position he still maintains. He is also president of the L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Co., and the Kewaskum Aluminum Co., both of these industries being world-wide known.

CITY TEAM IN ANOTHER VICTORY

KEWASKUM 40; ALLENTON 37

Kewaskum on Sunday evening eliminated another team from claim to title for the championship of Washington county, by defeating the Allenton five in the second game of the series by the close and interesting score of 40 to 37.

In spite of the extreme cold weather a large number of rooters were present. Allenton being represented in large numbers. This game came very close to being the upset of the season, and with only a few more minutes to play, the visitors surely would have gone home with the victory. They appeared on the local floor ready to do or die against Elliott and his combination. All told it was a great game played by two good teams.

The game opened with Kewaskum taking the lead and before Allenton scored 11 points. At the end of the first half Kewaskum maintained the lead, Allenton being somewhat slow in breaking up the plays of the locals the second half proved different, the visitors going at breakneck speed, giving the locals the surprise of the season. Only the blowing of the final whistle gave them the best of the argument. Elliott and Andrews were the point getters for the locals, each scoring 13 points, while Heberer followed closely with 10 points. Ritger for the visitors was easily the star of the evening. He had lots of speed and was very accurate with his basket shooting, scoring 17 points. His team mates gave him wonderful support. Hanrahan at center was very effective, with 4 field goals. The score by periods: quarter Kewaskum 15, Allenton 6; half, Kewaskum 27, Allenton 16; third quarter. Kewaskum 32, Allenton 23; final, Kewaskum 40, Allenton 37. The lineup for Kewaskum was: Elliott and Heberer, forwards; Kohn, center; Dreher and Andrews, guards; Meilahn substituted for Heberer first part of third quarter. Allenton, Kirsch and Ritger, forwards; Hanrahan, center; Hess and Bahring, guards; Goodrich, substituted for Kirsch during the second half.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK

PHILIP ROOS
 Philip Roos, a pioneer settler of the Town of Wayne, Washington County, passed away at his home last Saturday morning, January 30th, death being due to heart failure.

Mr. Roos, as usual, on Saturday morning assisted his son with the daily morning chores, and appeared to be in the best of health. The extreme cold of that morning proved too much, when the end of life came without his work.

Deceased was born in the township of Wayne, on March 11, 1863, attaining the age of 68 years, 10 months and 19 days. As a boy and young man he aided his parents and others in the pioneer work of the township in the clearing of land.

On November 18, 1891, he was married to Miss Frederica Heider, of the Town of Barton, and immediately settled on the farm on which he died.

He is survived by three children, Philip, Jr., living near the home; Louis A., of West Bend; and Mrs. Ella Ritger, of the Town of Wayne; two sisters, Mrs. John Hosp of the town of West Bend, and Mrs. August Ringe of Chicago, and seven grand children.

Mr. Roos was always a hard working man and was held in high esteem by his fellow citizens. Those who learned to know him, appreciated the sterling qualities of his character.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, February 2nd, at 1 p. m., with services in the Salems Reformed church at Wayne Center. Burial was made in the Paulus cemetery. Rev. A. A. Graf, officiating.

Now—A MILKER

in the McCormick-Deering Line

THE NEW McCormick-Deering MILKER is ready! It is something entirely new in design, construction, and operation. And it has more than proved itself satisfactory to hundreds of dairymen who know the meaning of good milking.

With a McCormick-Deering Milker you save more than 50 per cent in time and labor. It milks in the same natural, even way at every milking, keeping production at a high point. It is easy and simple to keep clean. The patented pump provides a uniform vacuum to the pulsator, which in turn regulates the speed at which the suction and massaging action is applied to each teat. The positive no-oil, no-spring pulsator operates efficiently, regardless of temperature. The two-piece teat-cup assembly is easy to take apart and clean. It consists of a non-breakable metal shell and a fastening rubber liner which adjusts itself to fit the teat. The teat-cup cluster assembly provides a uniform distribution of weight which permits the milking of cows with mis-shaped udders or abnormal teats. See these remarkable features and a number of others that are found only on the McCormick-Deering Milker. You are welcome to inspect it in our store at your convenience.

EDISON AT CEDARBURG

Charles A. Edison, son of the famous inventor, L. W. McChesney, general manager of the Splitdorf Electrical Co., and Roy Dunham, chief engineer of the company, spent an hour here Friday inspecting the plant of the American Electric Motor Co., a subsidiary of the Splitdorf Electrical Co. They came here by automobile from Chicago, and from there went to New London to visit the plant of the Edison Wood Products Company.

Commenting on present day conditions Mr. Edison said: "What we need right now is bankers who have the nerve to loosen up and grant credit to business men. The Hoover credit corporation will help some, but they won't replace individual effort. The business world needs nerve right now."

This is Mr. Edison's second visit to Cedarburg. They visit the local plant here each year. Mr. Dunham, the chief engineer, paid his first visit here.—Cedarburg News.

Wisconsin News Briefly Told

Madison—Rev. P. B. Knox, 65, dean of St. Patrick's Catholic church and a priest here for 44 years, is dead as a result of fracturing his hip in a fall on the ice January 11.

Madison—Gov. La Follette has voluntarily cut his own salary of $7,500 a year by 20 per cent. Upon receiving his January salary check, he returned $125 to the state treasurer and ordered the latter to deduct that amount thereafter.

Madison—Abnormally mild weather and a large number of cows have combined to break all January milk production records in Wisconsin, the state department of agriculture and markets believes. Although the 1932 production for each cow is below the average for last January, the larger number on Wisconsin farms account for the increase.

Oconto—Extensive curtailment of expenses by all city departments was recommended to the city council by Mayor Carl Riggins as a means of reducing taxes. A reduction of 30 per cent in salaries of all city employees and officials was the mayor's chief demand. He also asked elimination of physical training, manual arts and home economics courses from the school curriculum.

Madison—Farm trucks used for transporting farm products and goods necessary to the operation of a farm will not be subject to the tonnage tax, the public service commission has announced. The commission will amend its interpretation of the law, enacted by the 1931 legislature, to conform with this view, recently expressed by the legislature in a resolution as its intent.

Madison—Paul H. Raible, Chippewa Falls attorney and former assemblyman, was acquitted by a circuit court jury on charges of attempting to bribe Senator Peter J. Smith, Eau Claire, to vote against pending utilities legislation. The state charged Raible with suggesting to Senator Smith on Feb. 4, 1931, that the latter's constituents might raise the differences between the senator's $300 salary and the $240,000 each that Raible took out a few weeks before his death. Raible, which would invalidate both policies, is claimed by the insurance company.

Madison—The task of eliminating one Wisconsin congressional district to conform with the 1930 census was completed by the legislature when the senate concurred in a bill putting Congressman Charles Kading, Watertown, and John Nelson, Madison, in a new second district. Districts provided for by the bill are: First—Green, Kenosha, Racine, Rock, Walworth. Second—Columbia, Dane, Dodge, Jefferson, Waukesha. Third—Crawford, Grant, Iowa, Juneau, La Crosse, La Fayette, Monroe, Richland, Sauk, Vernon. Fourth and Fifth—Milwaukee. Sixth—Calumet, Fond du Lac, Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Washington, Winnebago. Seventh—Adams, Green Lake, Langlade, Marathon, Marquette, Portage, Shawano, Waupaca, Waushara, Wood. Eighth—Brown, Oer, Florence, Forest, Kewaunee, Manitowish, Marinette, Oconto, Ocontoague. Ninth—Barron, Buffalo, Chippewa, Clark, Dunn, Eau Claire, Jackson, Pepin, Pierce, St. Croix, Trempealeau. Tenth—Ashland, Bayfield, Burnett, Douglas, Iron, Lincoln, Oneida, Polk, Price, Iron, Sawyer, Taylor, Vilas, Washburn.

Madison—After giving final passage to the La Follette-Beggs surtax bill providing $8,000,000 for unemployment relief, the Wisconsin legislature virtually ended its special session on Jan. 29. A majority of the senators left for their homes at once and it was predicted that not enough of them would return to the capital to transact further business. The special session, lasting for nine weeks, was the longest one in Wisconsin history. The unemployment relief bill levies a surtax of 100 per cent the normal tax on 1931 incomes. It also levies a surtax on dividends received from Wisconsin corporations and does not permit the deduction of capital losses. The bill does not permit deductions for security losses, but fire losses and other business losses, such as uncollectible debts, are deductible. The bill levies a chain store tax for two years. When the measure left the assembly it contained an amendment designed to create a permanent chain store tax, but the senate killed the amendment, and the assembly consented to the change, which makes the chain store tax temporary instead of permanent.

The eight-hour day and $5,000,000 farm subsidy bill as approved by the assembly was left to die automatically on the senate table. Thirty-two amendments had been attached to that measure and ten of them awaited senate action.

Stevens Point—Needy families in Stevens Point can feast upon potatoes to their heart's content and it won't cost the city anything. A donor whose identity was not disclosed has promised to provide the city's relief department with all of the tubers needed for the remainder of the winter.

Burlington—Howard Wood, farmer living near here, has lost 248 sheep following an attack by dogs. About thirty of the sheep had been badly bitten and the 248 stamped and were smothered to death.

Tomah—One of the engineers of a double headed fast freight was fatally injured when the train piled up on the North Western road here. The dead engineer is Louis Corbett, 55, of Portage, whose engine rolled down a 30-foot embankment. Fire broke out and twenty of the cars burned.

Appleton—Residents of the towns of Hortonla, Ellington and Greenville are to vote on a plan for a rural fire department, owned jointly by the three communities and stationed at Hortonville.

Waupaca—Adelbert D. Quinby, 72, Marion, was married here to Mary Dinwiddie, 27, also of Marion.

Madison—Directors of the First National bank and the State Bank of Wisconsin have approved a merger of the two institutions.

Menominee—Two hundred farmers meeting here adopted a resolution asking the state department of agriculture and markets to re-establish the e-grading law.

Rhineland—Four local men found guilty of transporting trout that had been caught illegally will lose their 1932 hunting licenses as a result of the convictions.

Lake Geneva—Biglio Pinto, an Illinois Italian, was shot to death here in a cafe operated by his uncle, Frank Maili, by two strangers believed to be gangsters. The slayers escaped.

Ladysmith—Sam Jacobson, 42, owner of a bus line operating between here and Eau Claire, was found dead in a garage here, seated at the wheel of his car. The engine was running and a hose leading from the exhaust gave evidence of suicide.

Madison—Gus May, federal prohibition agent, was absolved from blame for the death of four cows belonging to Ben H. Boardman, St. Croix county farmer, by a federal court jury here. Boardman's cows died after eating mash emptied in a pasture by May when he raided a still.

Milwaukee—Faced with the largest tax delinquency in its history, increased expenditures for public relief and an inability to meet the February payroll, the Milwaukee county board voted unanimously to borrow $200,000 from a banking syndicate of Milwaukee and New York at interest of 6 per cent.

Jefferson—George J. Kispert, 70, prominent in state republican circles and cashier of the Farmers and Merchants bank of Jefferson, is dead. Mr. Kispert served as postmaster of Jefferson from 1898 to 1913 and at the time of his death he was a member of the state bureau of personnel, a post to which he was recently appointed.

Milwaukee—Heirs of Phil A. Koehring, Milwaukee manufacturer, who was found shot to death in his auto near Mauston, have started suits to collect on two life insurance policies of $50,000 each that Koehring took out a few weeks before his death. Suicide, which would invalidate both policies, is claimed by the insurance company.

Madison—Acting upon instructions of the governor, Secretary of State Dammann ordered inspectors of his department to make no arrests of motorists lacking 1932 license plates until after March 1. Police and county officers were asked to follow a similar course. The deadline is fixed by law at Feb. 1.

Green Bay—Highway district 3, composed of Brown, Oconto, Marinette, Calumet, Door, Kewaunee, Shawano, Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties, is scheduled to get 168.3 miles of new paving in 1932. Of this, 111 miles will be concrete and 57.3 other types of paving. The longest strip will be 33.5 miles of concrete from Abrams to Grivitz.

Madison—A meeting of 75 cheesemakers at Richland Center has sent a protest to state authorities against enforcement of the new ruling to require a seven-day period for the curing of American cheese. The present ruling requires that cheese be cured four days before it is sent to the warehouse. This, the cheesemakers claim, is sufficient at any time of the year if the cheese is kept at a proper temperature.

Madison—Figurs prepared for the federal and state department of agriculture show that wages paid by Wisconsin farmers have reached the lowest point in 19 years. Returns from crop reporters showed that men hired by the month with board received an average of $18.25 per month on Jan. 1. Most farm workers are hired on this basis. Men hired without board were receiving $33.50. Average farm wages for 1931 were only 2 per cent above the 1910-14 average and about equal to wages paid in 1912.

Madison—In an opinion given the state board of control, the attorney general's office holds that if county boards or proper authorities failed to comply with orders of the state board of control regarding improvement or replacements of jails, such an order may be enforced by court action instituted by the attorney general at the request of the governor. Among institutions condemned by the board of control were the Fond du Lac police station; the Eau Claire county jail, and lockups at Elroy, Hartford, Hayward, Lake Geneva, Two Rivers, Ogeons, Glidden and Elkhart Lake.

Madison—The bill giving authority to cut the budgets of state departments as much as 20 per cent has passed both houses of the legislature. The measure was amended by the senate so as to transfer authority from the executive council to the emergency board and to prevent cuts in salaries of less than $2,000 a year.

JAPANESE OCCUPY CITY OF SHANGHAI

Grave Situation Involving Other Nations.

Tokyo.—Foreign Minister Yoshizawa called Japan's ambassador abroad to explain to the foreign governments that the situation in Shanghai was so grave the Japanese military authorities would be obliged to begin occupation of the city at 6 p. m. Thursday, when the Japanese ultimatum to the Chinese authorities expired. The Japanese demand for dissolution of anti-Japanese societies, Yoshizawa said, had infuriated Chinese workers and students, who, instead of obeying, had redoubled their anti-Japanese activities.

Shanghai.—A state of emergency was declared in Shanghai and all citizens were called upon to defend the city by the municipal council meeting in special session.

Volunteers were being rushed to earthworks and barbed wire defenses. British and American marines were entrenched themselves behind defense positions in their settlements. The International defense forces were taking over the defense of the settlement, troops of all treaty powers represented occupying their positions on the settlement borders.

The volunteer corps of the settlement, composed of civilian foreigners here, also was called out. It numbers 1,200 men, in a tank corps, infantry, cavalry and light gun batteries, as well as special police.

Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general, asked the consuls of the other powers to bring their defense forces into action. American marines, British "Tomnies" and French soldiers immediately began to take up their places.

Twenty-four Japanese warships were in the harbor and the Japanese armed forces numbered about 8,000 men.

Geneva.—The League of Nations council resumed consideration of the Sino-Japanese dispute. The council heard Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese minister to the United States, and Naotaka Sato, Japanese representative, go over the whole question, and in the words of Joseph Paul-Boncour, who has replaced Aristide Briand as President, found that both were agreed on one thing: that there is now a "grave situation" in Shanghai.

Doctor Yen demanded that the council enforce the league covenant without delay. He declared that the league's conciliatory procedure had proved insufficient and hinted repeatedly that China would invoke articles of the covenant not yet called on.

Washington.—Japan's continued operations in China are causing increased uneasiness here and officials are considering what further step can be taken for the protection of American interests.

Some administration officials favor a far more drastic and decisive course than that which has been followed. The question has been discussed repeatedly at cabinet meetings. Secretary Stimson took up the question with President Hoover at the White House. The secretary has held consistently to a policy of calm conciliation.

Mrs. Hudson was found shot to death in an automobile abandoned in a clump of woods behind the Ford airport. Nearly 12 hours later Schaefer shot himself at his parents' home near Saline as officers were alighting from their automobile to arrest him. Ray Hudson, the deserted husband, was with them.

WILLIAM WRIGLEY DIES IN PHOENIX

Chewing Gum King and Owner of the Chicago Cubs.

Phoenix, Ariz.—William Wrigley, Jr., capitalist, world chewing gum king and owner of the Chicago National League Baseball club, died at his winter home here. He was seventy years old, and had been ill for about a week.

Death was due to complications of heart disease and acute indigestion. He had been confined to bed since January 18, when he suffered a severe attack of indigestion followed by apoplexy and heart attack. His condition, according to his personal physician, Dr. George Goodrich, had been critical since he became ill.

The announcement of his death came as a shock to those outside his immediate family, as the extremely serious nature of his illness had been kept secret. Doctor Goodrich disclosed that Mr. Wrigley had been only semiconscious for several days and that his death had been expected for more than 24 hours.

Mrs. Wrigley and their two children, Philip K. Wrigley and Mrs. James R. O'Neil, had been summoned to Phoenix when Mr. Wrigley was stricken and were at the bedside.

Mr. Wrigley became interested in Phoenix three years ago, when he purchased the Arizona Biltmore, a winter resort hotel. Shortly after its purchase he created a 40-room home on a hill overlooking the city, and it was in this he died.

Mr. Wrigley was one of Chicago's richest men, and in at least one year he paid the highest income tax of any Chicagoan. That was in 1924, when he paid $836,565. December 14, 1928, another figure was revealed to show the profits of gum at a nickel a package. It was estimated in that year that the Wrigley's net profits would be $10,000,000. In 1924, he was listed as having one of the four biggest incomes in the country, with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Henry Ford and Edsel Ford.

Mr. Wrigley's interest in sports was as intense as anything else. He backed the $25,000 channel swim between Catalina Island and the mainland, and distance swims at Toronto, and he was one of the backers of the Chicago stadium.

On Catalina Island, Calif., near the home he loved best, Wrigley will be buried, with the sound of the Pacific waves. That was the expressed wish of Mr. Wrigley. Until a mausoleum is built there the body will remain in a vault at Pasadena, in which city the funeral services were held.

COAL MINERS STAND FOR FIVE-DAY WEEK

Urge Federal Regulation and Attack Wage Cuts.

Indianapolis.—A six-hour day, with a five-day week, and federal regulation of the coal mining industry were proposed by international officers of the United Mine Workers of America here, as a means by which the economic ills of the industry may be cured.

The proposal was made at the opening of the thirty-second convention of the United Mine Workers. It was signed by John L. Lewis, president; Phillip Murray, vice president; and Thomas Kennedy, secretary.

In line with recommendations of officers to bring about a revival of the mining industry was the statement by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that labor again will be placed on a high economic plane only when the United Mine Workers are recognized and accepted as a stabilizing force.

Bituminous coal mining was cited as the "horrible example" of the result of wage cutting, competition, and destruction of employee purchasing power, company profits and assets in the officers' annual report.

"Wages have been deflated below the point of purchasing ability that will permit American employees to sustain our mass production facilities," the report said. "The net result is that the masses of people do not possess the earning power, the money or the credit to buy back prosperity."

The report set out that the per man production of bituminous coal miners has increased 20 per cent in ten years, and that "this increased production has resulted in decreased earnings for coal miners and created a competitive situation that has eliminated profits for coal companies and in addition, has thrown more than 200,000 miners out of employment."

The officers held that the shorter day and week would mean that 500,000 miners would receive from 230 to 250 days working which would give permanently-employed miners an increase of 75 to 150 working days a week.

The report recommended support of the bill introduced in congress by Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania, which provides for creation of a federal coal commission.

Abraham Lincoln in 1864, From a Portrait Considered by Many to Be His Best

Simple Beauty Marks Rebuilt Tomb of Lincoln

Shrine at Springfield Now More Worthy of the Great President.

PRESIDENT HOOVER dedicated a transformed Abraham Lincoln tomb at Springfield, Ill., June 17, last year.

When the monument over the spot where the body of the Civil war president rests was given to the world again pilgrims to the grave found that it is a place of simple grandeur befitting a national shrine.

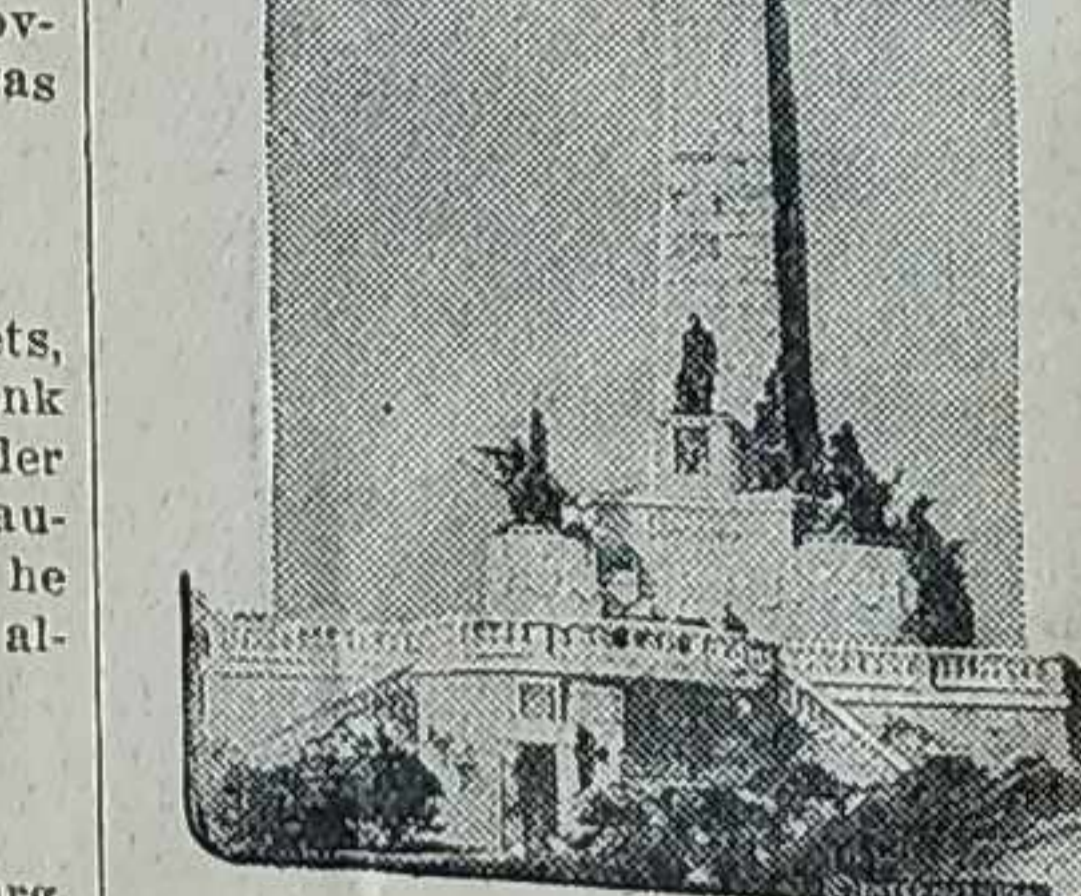

For months it was closed to the public while skilled artists plied their arts to repair and rebuild it and gave it beauty, simplicity and dignity.

The reconstruction was made possible by the passage of a $175,000 appropriation by the general assembly in 1929.

Much the Same Outside. Outwardly the monument appears the same, except that it has an air of newness, of freshness. In a terrace created at the south or entrance side of the monument there is a bronze head of Lincoln by Gutzon Borglum on a pedestal of granite.

The great transformation is in the interior of the monument. Under personal supervision of C. Herrick Hammond, state architect and former president of the American Institute of Architects, the previously unused and unfinished area at the base of the monument was opened and architectural skill and art combined to fabricate a rotunda connecting galleries and sarcophagus chamber.

LINCOLN'S TOMB

All the solemnity and decorum befitting the last resting place of America's beloved President has been exemplified in the re-designing program.

One of the main features of the galleries joining the rotunda and the sarcophagus chamber are nine Lincoln at various stages of his career. These are the handwork of internationally famous sculptors.

At each of the four corners of the central unit of the monument there is one of these statuettes, about three feet in height, resting on a pedestal of these is a statuette in a similar

These bronze statuettes were obtained by the state through the efforts of Mr. Hammond and H. H. Cleaveland, director of the state department of public works and buildings.

The sculptors, Daniel C. French, Fred Torrey and Leonard Crunelle, each represented by two models, while late Augustus St. Gaudens each have galleries, the supreme effect is attained in the sarcophagus chamber. There the pilasters and frieze are of french black marble, as dark as midnight, with walls of St. Genesieve golden veined marble. On the upper portion of each jet-black pilaster there is a bronze wreath.

The ceiling of the chamber is covered with gold leaf, and the room, like the rotunda, is lighted indirectly by lights hidden by an ornamental cornice.

There over the spot where Lincoln's body lies beneath many feet of concrete has been placed a new sarcophagus of solid marble of warm red hue. On it is the simple inscription:

"Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865." Directly above what formerly was the north door, but now transformed into a window covered with a wrought-iron grill, there is cut in the marble this famous tribute to the emancipator.

"Now He Belongs to the Ages." Across from the sarcophagus in a crypt sealed with slabs of marble rest the bodies of Mrs. Lincoln and three of their sons, Edward Baker, William Wallace and Thomas.

Flags Form Honor Guard. Arranged along the semicircular wall of the sarcophagus chamber, flanking the sarcophagus, there is an array of nine flags.

In the place of honor, at the right of the sarcophagus, stands the Stars and Stripes. The official standard of the seven states in which the Lincoln family lived from the time of their arrival in America until the end of the emancipator's career—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois—occupy the next seven positions.

President Hoover personally installed the flag of the President of the United States.

Adversity Served Only to Strengthen Lincoln

Against the hard blows of adversity Lincoln suffered as only sensitive souls like his can suffer. His tragic love affair, his struggle to overcome poverty and for educational opportunities, his political reverses, his grief and anxious concern during the Civil war! Suffering embitters and defeats the weak man. It emboldens the strong man and makes him stronger. It brings him a closer, more sympathetic understanding of the needs of his fellowmen.

Some one recently said that he never knew a great character that had not suffered. Perhaps this has not been the experience of all of us. But I believe that we are quite agreed that most great characters have suffered, and that suffering had much to do with their greatness.

Serious, independent thinking was another cause of Lincoln's greatness. Somehow the myth has grown up among us that Lincoln was an omnivorous reader. It is likely that the man who had to work so much of a time for a living should be much of a reader? He doubtless snatched what moments he could from his work and read, as we like to think, by many a dim fire-side, but even this would not equal the amount of time which the average schoolboy is required to spend in reading.

Some of our clearest and most original thinkers have not been great readers. Jesus, one of the clearest and most profound thinkers of all time, was probably not a great reader. The Lincoln was a close observer of the realities of nature and human life, and thought much and deeply upon these realities. Few men saw so clearly, few have been able to think so clearly. Thus his speeches were so much his own, so emphatically stamped with his own independent thought and personality.

Lincoln's simple, apt, beautiful language, his almost unerring insight into human nature, and his strong, vigorous, but partly they were not original, and perfected by adversity. Robison

As a background for these statuettes there are rich, warm-colored panels of marble.

Lace Frock Repeats Its Triumphs

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ALL through the winter style program the lace frock for afternoon and evening wear proved a favorite and now at the threshold of a new season the world of fashion is yielding to the lure of lace with renewed enthusiasm. With milder weather coming on and with the opportunity to wear light garb which sunny winter resort environment presents, the fair for lace is taking on an outstanding significance.

It makes it more interesting that the midseason and resort fashions reveal the use of so many kinds of lace. Furthermore, when one considers that not only party and afternoon frocks are scheduled to be of lace, but that jacket suits tailored all of lace are foretold in advance Paris collections, one realizes that lovely and fluttering lace is destined to play a very important role during the coming months.

Generally speaking, the new laces are divided into three classes, namely, cotton, wool and silk with some very attractive linen types also being shown. Alencons and valenciennes are dividing honors in the cotton range, and they are as a rule of the most exquisite sort. A most beguiling effect and one which promises a program of lovely debutante gowns is valenciennes lace in dress width. It comes in white or in pastel shades. Many of the aliencon laces employed are also dyed, and if the dress is not entirely of lace, then this colorful and desirable fine mesh is worked in for yokes or for the popular contrasting bodice top. Some designers are showing black frocks topped with this sort of laced dyed perhaps a vivid green or red or deep pink or a delectable old blue.

The revival of Irish crochet lace is also a matter of comment. At a recent style display, a dress entirely of this type lace was greatly admired. It is said that for lingerie touches on the spring frock, Irish crochet will be very smart.

There is also a new variety called angel skin lace. A suit fashioned of pink angel skin lace comes from the atelier of a French style creator. The jacket and skirt are somewhat tailored, a distinguishing feature being a spiral banding of dainty gray fur on each sleeve.

Favor for wool lace continues especially in glowing red tones. The lovely gown with the bertha collar developing into a cape effect at the back as shown to the right at the top of this picture is of ruby red wool lace. The soft undulating movement of the flare of the skirt accents a graceful silhouette.

Charmingly in delicate shadowy patterning is a foremost favorite when it comes to handsome silken meshes. Dresses of these filmy laces are often enhanced with charming scarf arrangements or by clever drop-shoulder treatments. The exquisite dress to the right below in the picture is just such as women of discriminating taste recognize at a glance as being exclusive. This charming model has a fish-like cape of the lace which ties in a generous soft bow at the front, at the same time that it achieves a quaint and lovely neckline. Taffeta cordings stiffen the tiers of the full skirt and the pelium.

Speaking of colorful effects, the handsome costume to the left is fashioned of almond green lace. The picturesque cape of lace is fur collared. It is designed to serve also as a dainty wrap with other dresses as it is detachable.

ACCESSORIES MAKE BIG RUN ON METAL

Winter accessories are making a big run on metal. Handbags are using wide bands of shining silver to finish off the flap of an envelope, or to construct the top. Imposing monograms, in gold or in silver, are featured impressively on street handbags.

The ever-present belt fasteners more often with an important-looking metal buckle than with any other kind.

Aluminum is making bracelets of assorted widths to wear with winter woolen outfits. Metal buttons and Schipardelli's metal clips are proving both useful and ornamental in dress and coat fashions.

Tiny metal kid pipings are featuring upon formal afternoon and evening slippers—metal kid heels on the latter. Maggy Rouff sponsors the return of old-fashioned colonial buckles for shoes, made of silver, or of cut steel.

CHIC CAPE WRAP

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Cape wraps are the last word in Paris. This one is typical of those favored by the haute monde. While the original model was in bright blue the same style would be equally as effective in black or any color which would relate it to the dress with which it is worn. The inevitable trimming of white fur is accentuated on this beautiful evening wrap.

Nothing So Flattering as Magnificent Furs

Nothing is more luxurious or flattering becoming than magnificent furs, or fur-trimmed coats and the rich velvets and lames that glorify our afternoon frocks.

Any woman becomes a figure of delight and romance when she wears, say a velvet coat with rich fur providing a soft frame for her face, a slim velvet frock and perhaps a cluster of snowy gardenias to set off the deep black of the velvet. And if she seeks color, surely the lame frocks and the lovely coats in brown, red or green offer ample opportunity for colorful attire.

Winter Sports Trousers to Be More Voluminous

Trousers for winter sports costumes will be more voluminous this season, but will keep a very neat waistline at the same time.

Many of the smart skiing suits just appearing at the big sport designers have the blouse buttoning on to the inside of the trousers, with a slimming belt outside. Others have a belt attached to the bottom of the blouse and still others join the two garments with a zip fastener which keeps the waist terribly trim and trig.

Little Suggestions on Winter Clothes

Lemon yellow promises to be one of the smartest spring colors.

The southern season is proving a period of novelty footwear.

A black satin gown has a white top with three-quarter volume wrap.

A pale blue chiffon dress is embroidered in strass topped by a sable cape.

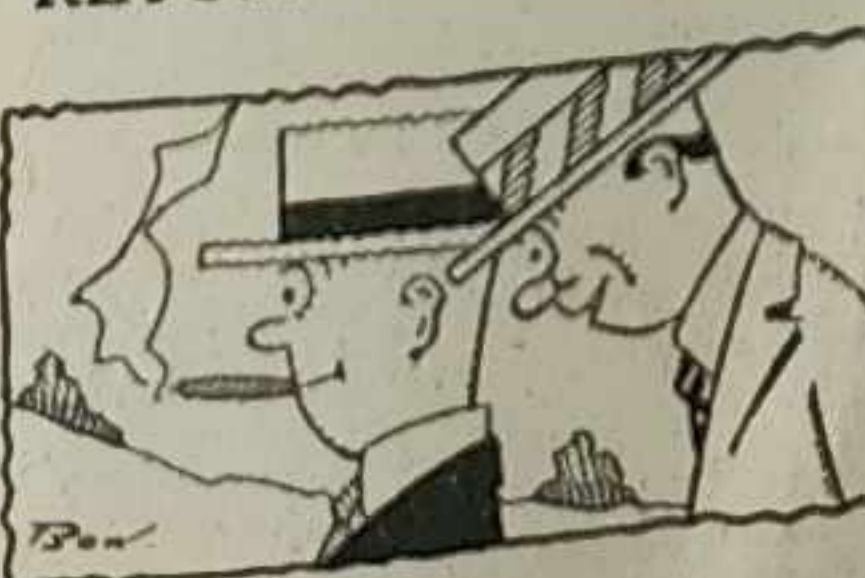

A beret and scarf of gay knit or woolen weave add a dash of color to many a midseason outfit.

Jersey scarfs are a smart accompaniment for that new fall Jersey frock. A black chiffon gown, the skirt arranged in tiers with a jacket of ermine is collared in black lynx.

Get out the buttonhook. Some of the smartest oxfords seen about town these days button on the side.

The student's beret of velvet is sure to be extremely popular this season, for it is both becoming and chic.

RETURNED HIS CALLS

"What do you pay for your doctor's calls?"

"Don't pay—just return them."

All But "So you're not going to Paris this year?"

"No—it's London we're not going to this year; it was Paris we didn't go to last year!"

Was She One of Them? "Why do some girls always stutter when they want to be kissed?"

"I-I-I d-d-don't k-k-know."

If a lullaby doesn't put a baby to sleep, it may have no ear for music.

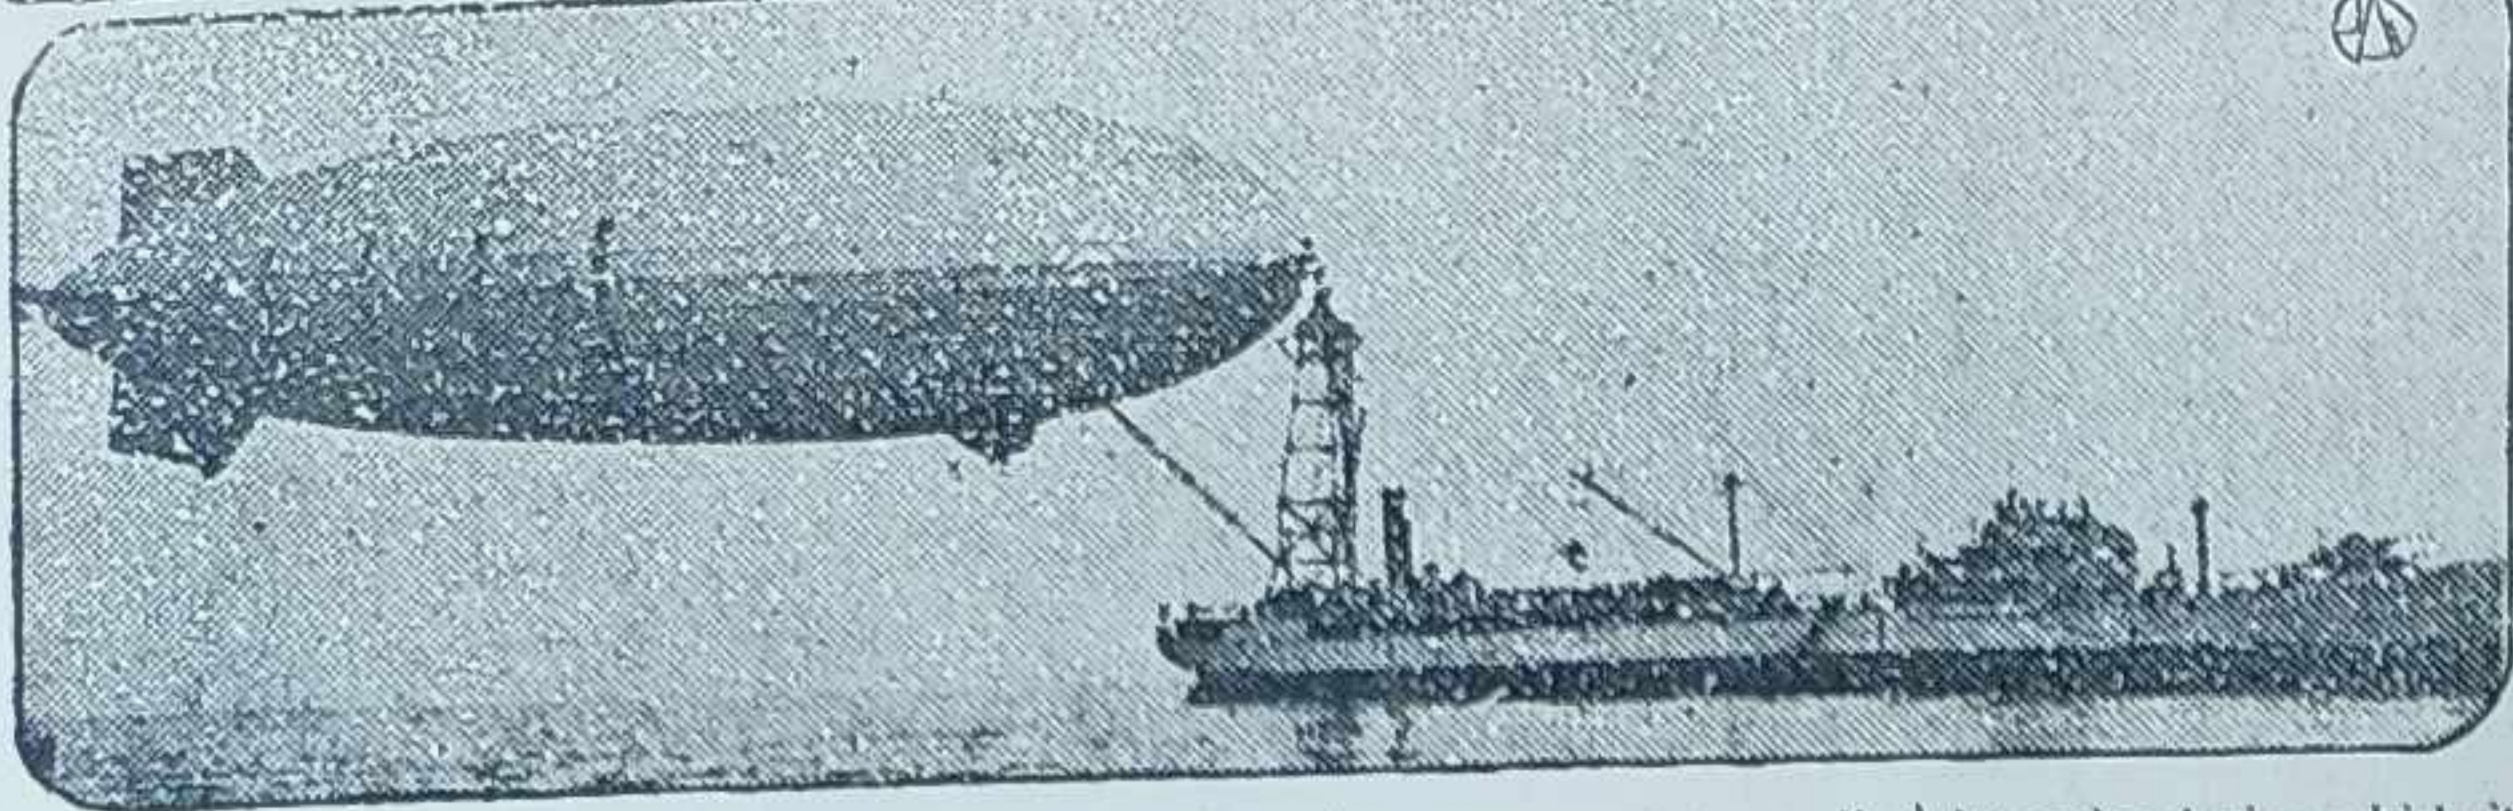

Catastrophic Friend—I see you are limping. Have you hurt your foot?

Severich—Yes; a fortnight ago my pocketbook fell on it.

True to Life "Do you have many lines to speak in the new play?" "No; I take the part of the husband."

Be yourself. But can you ever be, you have to take the role of "prominent citizen?"

NEW PHILCO HAS SOUNDING BOARD

Announcement by Miller Furniture Store, Kewaskum, Wis., local distributors, of the Philco 1932 line of radios are dominated by reference to a new model which he says: "Looks like ferret, sounds different, is different."

The difference in appearance from any and all radios previously offered is instantly apparent at even a casual glance. So far as appearance is concerned, the outstanding feature is a large Sounding Board, heavily constructed of hard wood to avoid vibration and pitched at an angle to throw the sound upward and directly into the field of the listener.

It is claimed that this new creation of the Philco Engineering Laboratories delivers the full musical register, including the very high notes which travel in a straight line from the point of delivery and are ordinarily absorbed or lost on the floor.

Besides the new sounding board, this new Philco introduces an Echo-absorbing screen which takes up the "after tones" that are ordinarily delivered from the back of the sound chamber, and by reflection reach the ear a fraction of a second late, causing echo or blur.

This and other outstanding features of the new Philco Model 112X are covered by pending patents. From the standpoint of the purchaser and the retail dealer, the new model is striking in appearance and affords very decided talking points. The Philco announcements designate it as "The First Radio Scientifically Designed as a Musical Instrument."

RELATED AUTO LICENSES SAFE

Wisconsin's tardy motorists who have not applied for their 1932 auto license plates received a month of grace Friday when the "deadline" was extended from Feb. 1 to March 1.

The extension order followed a conference between Governor La Follette and Theodore Dammann, secretary of state.

Mr. Dammann instructed inspectors not to arrest motorists with last year's licenses after Feb. 1, although the law requires new plates on that date.

He said he would request police heads and county authorities to extend the time limit and make no arrests.

Recently the legislature adopted a resolution asking the secretary of state to extend the time limit, but the attorney general's office said a postponement could not be made legally without legislation.

The matter of enforcement, however, comes within the jurisdiction of the state department, Mr. Dammann said.

WISCONSIN INCOME BLANKS OUT

The 1931 State Income blanks have been mailed out by Assessor of Income, E. P. Worthing, to taxpayers of his district composed of Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Dodge and Washington Counties and are now in the hands of taxpayers for execution and return.

Mr. Worthing states that blanks have been mailed to all Washington County taxpayers whose names appear on his mailing list. The fact that a taxpayer's name does not appear upon Mr. Worthing's list, or the failure of taxpayers to receive a blank through his office does not release or excuse those taxpayers who have a taxable income from making a report to his office and it is the duty of every individual who has the required amount of income to apply for a blank and to fill it out and return it to Mr. Worthing's office at Fond du Lac.

For guidance of taxpayers Mr. Worthing says that the following persons, firms and representatives are required to file a return of income to-wit:-

- 1.—Every single individual 18 years of age or older, who has a net income of $800 or more.
  - 2.—Every married man whose net income combined with that of his wife and children under 18 years of age equals or exceeds $1600.
  - 3.—Every partnership.
  - 4.—Every trustee, guardian, executor, administrator or other fiduciary who receives any money or other income for or on account of any beneficiary.
  - 5.—And in addition to the foregoing every person from whom a report is requested by the assessor of income, without regard to the amount of income received by such person.
- THE MAILING OF A BLANK BY THE ASSESSOR OF INCOMES TO A TAXPAYER IS IN ITSELF A REQUEST FOR A RETURN.

The law requires that income reports be made out and filed with the Assessor of Incomes on or before March 15th and Mr. Worthing calls specific attention to a provision of THE LAW which PROVIDES THAT IF ANY PERSON WHO IS required by law to,—or who has been requested to,—file a report either FILES HIS REPORT AFTER MARCH 15th OR FAILS TO FILE it at all that a PENALTY ASSESSMENT OF $5.00 MUST BE ENTERED AGAINST SUCH PERSON or taxpayer by the assessor of incomes and such penalty shall be and is in addition to any other tax or penalty to which such person or taxpayer may be liable and such penalty tax must be paid whether such person has a taxable income or not.

Income reports should be mailed to Mr. Worthing addressed to Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, with the postage fully paid and they should be mailed sufficiently early to assure their delivery, through the mail, at the assessor's office on or before March 15.

In addition to the mailing of blanks to all persons on the assessor's mailing list Mr. Worthing has arranged for the distribution of blanks through banks, lawyers, county, city and village clerks and others who are accustomed to the distribution of blanks or the making of them out for taxpayers, and a supply will be kept on hand for distribution at all such places.

In addition to the above, blanks can be secured direct from Mr. Worthing's office by applying therefore either in person, by letter or telephone.

In making out returns Mr. Worthing suggests that whenever the taxpayer is in doubt as to whether or not any item of income or expense should be reported that the taxpayer report the same and pin to the inside of the report a short explanation of such item and that such explanation will be considered a part of the report.

Full explanation of all items claimed as deductions should be made otherwise such deductions can not be allowed and in those cases where the space prepared on the blank is not sufficiently large for full explanation a rider, giving the explanation in detail, should be attached to the blank.

Mr. Worthing also says that his office will be prepared to answer any inquiries that may be sent in for advice or directions relative to the filing out of the blanks.

IN NEW DISTRICT

Washington County, will, according to an act of the legislature recently passed, be in a new congressional district, the Sixth, Counties of the new district are Fond du Lac, Winnebago, of the old Sixth district, and Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington counties of the old Second district.

With the re-apportionment of the districts, Wisconsin loses one congressman, from eleven to ten, which is the result of the decrease in proportion of population shown by the 1930 decennial census.

The new second district will comprise the counties of Dane, Dodge, Columbia, Jefferson and Waukesha.
