

Lights of New York

by L. STEVENSON

Curious characters hide their faces in the hotels of New York...

When the decorators had finished, the manager took the guest back to her room...

BACK UP!

Are you sure that he was in his back after the accused hit...

The Baileys at the Fair took up temporary quarters in another room.

When the decorators had finished, the manager took the guest back to her room.

In another hotel, also one with social prestige, is a man guest who has occupied the same room for five years.

The recent shooting of a chow by a count in an apartment house corridor...

Back to the land note: One moving van owner at Garden City, L. I.—where many of The Seven Million sleep—has moved fifteen families to Connecticut farms within the last few weeks.

Speaking of back to the land, there's that shack colony in the Jersey meadows across from the Newark airport.

GOOD MENUS FOR SUMMER PARTIES

Hints for Planning Dinners or Luncheons.

By EDITH M. BARBER

Early summer brings with it many excuses for throwing a party.

If we ourselves are going off to a summer cottage there may be a party or two which we have been intending to have all winter still left on the list.

I have been having half a dozen or so of my friends at a time for dinner recently, and you may like to hear what I chose for the menu.

It is not only by gangsters, however, that this phrase is used to indicate a hasty departure.

The phrase is nautical, coming to us from the lexicon of the sea.

sey meadows across from the Newark airport. The meadows are those famous stretches of salt marsh which are still un-reclaimed despite the many plans that have been advanced to make them useful.

My Neighbor Says: GRAPEJUICE sauce blends well with baked spiced or cottage puddings.

To wash the leather on furniture, add one tablespoon of vinegar to each cup of warm water required.

If your popover mixture is lumpy, when you add egg to the flour, continue to beat with egg beater, then add the milk, a little at a time, continuing to beat until all is thoroughly mixed.

passed with it. I omitted dessert and served coffee in the living room.

Another day dinner began with a tomato juice cocktail, with which thin cucumber sandwiches, stuffed celery and ripe olives were passed.

This was also true at an informal dinner in the country recently, which began with mixed hors d'oeuvres.

He—I have been a bachelor for years and now I long for a home. She—Well, I hope you don't expect me to furnish one.

Tear Gas Routs New Hampshire Strikers

When a mob of 3,000 strikers became disorderly at the gates of the Amoskeag Textile mills at Manchester, N. H., it became necessary for National Guardsmen and police to stage this tear gas attack.

Of these 33 banks, the "Big Five" own or control twelve. Thus, aside from the "Big Five," there are only 26 banks in England, Wales, Scotland, and northern Ireland which are actually listed as banks.

listered as among the real banks. Even Morgan-Grenfell, the London branch of J. P. Morgan & Co., are listed by the Bankers' Almanac as "merchants."

Smart Simplicity of Casual Dress

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

YOUR daytime clothes to be really chic, must carry that casual look about them which nothing other than accidental-on-purpose simplicity can accomplish.

The combination of a dark blouse with a light-colored linen suit is good to look upon you will agree, after taking note of the stylish outfit the young woman to the left in the picture is wearing.

The very materials themselves are tuned to this movement which demands that one look casual and easy-chained outfits during the shopping hours and at outdoor events.

A black or a navy linen suit is considered too smart for words. Maybe you prefer gray or the now-so-much-talked-of string color for your linen spectator sports or go-about-town suit.

prepare brown butter melt butter in frying pan and brown slightly, add grated cheese and stir well. Pour over asparagus.

Quick Meal. Tomato juice cocktail. Lamb chop. Potato chips. Fresh peas in cream.

Lamb chops are always the standby of the busy housekeeper. Fresh peas are so good and so reasonable that we are tempted to use them more often than when they were a luxury.

By the way, speaking of costume jewelry reminds us of the adorable little crystal nosegays which this same designer is conjuring out of crystal and beads and such.

Fashionable Women Now Match Sweater to Skirt. As a change from the theme of color contrast, smart women are matching up sweaters and skirts this season for active sportswear.

New Coats Slim. The new coats are slim and molded as to silhouette, but they do things in a big way when it comes to fur. Shoulders are broadened by huge collars and the fur is the long-haired type.

What Women Want to Know About Fashions. String-knit dresses and sweaters are quite the thing for summer.

Velvet is definitely considered in all couturier collections. Little caplets of organdie or crepe satin are tied with scarfs of self-material.

AMERICAN ANIMALS

BLACK BEAR

NOW honey's sweet, as children know; That's why this black bear loves it so; He'll hunt it till his feet are sore, And always wants a little more!

When summer days are hot, he seeks The shady pools along the creeks, Or goes to find a muddy bog Where he can wallow like a hog!

He gobbles acorns by the peck, Until he's full up to his neck! And just as soon as days are cold, He hi-ber-nates, as you've been told.

And black bear cubs are brown, sometimes, A thing we can't explain in rhymes; But anyway it's really true That brown bears are just black bears, too!

"Big 5" Controls Banking in Britain

London—Branch banking, prohibited in all except seven states of the United States, is the chief observable factor which distinguishes British banking from banking in the United States.

referred to as the "Big Five," now have what amounts to about a 70 per cent monopoly of the British deposit banking business.

mlion stocks, all readily realizable in cash. In the absence of official bank examiners, the chief check on the soundness of a British bank is the annual audit, taken by recognized certified accountants, appointed by the stockholders at the annual meeting.

The Bankers' Almanac and Year Book lists only 24 banks in England and Wales, eight in Scotland, and six in northern Ireland. A few of them, like the Bank of England, operate under royal charter.

Poultry Meat Deserves Attention and Thought

The production of poultry meat deserves more attention and thought if the maximum profits are to be derived above the labor and feed costs.

Cull Out Weaklings

When putting chicks out on the range it is a good plan to discard everyone that as you handle it seems to you to be notably below the average of the lot in substance and vitality.

Eggs With Watery Whites

Where eggs are discovered to have watery whites and weak yolks after a heavy laying period the exhausted condition of the egg-producing organs is the cause, according to a poultry expert.

Extremes in Fowls

The common weight of fowls is from 3 to 5 pounds for hens and 4 1/2 to 6 1/2 for roosters.

When Production Pays

The number of eggs a hen lays to pay the cost of her feed naturally fluctuates with the cost of feed but a good formula to follow is to divide the price of 100 pounds of feed by the selling price of eggs per dozen.

STEAK IN ITS PERFECTION

Many Methods of Cooking, and Each Has Its Adherents—Some Excellent Sauces for Its Embellishment.

Steaks, their cooking and serving, and sauces to accompany the popular masculine dinner-table standby, are thus dealt with by an authority on the subject:

Discussion waxed hot the other evening among a group of men and women, and what do you think it was about?—not the depression or the war in China but about food.

There was the man who uses charcoal briquets in the fireplace for the two-inch steak, which he brings forth black but not burned on the outside, rare and juicy inside, and covered with a quarter pound of butter for sauce.

It is often possible to get round cut rather thin for "minute" steaks, which will be tender because the beef has "hung" a long time in the interest of tenderness.

If you buy a tenderloin steak be sure to have the "tail" ground and either skewered into the steak or keep it to flavor a casserole dish or a sauce for an omelet, rice, or noodles the next day.

Onions and mushrooms are also delicious accompaniments for steak, whether you call them sauce or not.

Divide butter into 3 pieces, put one piece in saucepan with the yolks of eggs and tarragon vinegar, place the saucepan in a larger one containing boiling water, stir constantly until the butter is melted, then add the second piece of butter and as it thickens, the third piece. Add the water, stir 1 minute, remove from fire and season. Add parsley just before serving.

Quick Meal. Broiled steak. Baked potatoes. Hot rolls. Lettuce salad with cottage cheese and jelly. Toasted crackers. Coffee.

I seldom suggest steak—or chop for a quick meal because it is always the first thought of the housekeeper who must get a meal quickly and easily.

We've hardly yet so much as taken the first whack at the bush in the new pioneering. We're still only in the beginning of the flying art, yet plans are already in the making for regular transatlantic service by airplane.

The motor cars of the next decade, running at undreamed-of speeds over surfaces not yet invented, may link our country with the Spanish republics to the south in an industrial expansion now unthought of.

EFFICIENCY IN APPLYING BAIT IS EMPHASIZED

Rate of Application and Ways of Spreading Explained for Users

Farmers who apply poison bait for grasshoppers are urged to handle it as efficiently as possible. The bait will be prepared ready for use without adding any more water to it.

CARE OF MILK MACHINES

Method for Equipment Clean

The milk load at its heaviest and harvesting and anything that will clean "cut corners" but very little on cold, damp days.

Ways of Spreading

For gardens and small fields the most bait may be scattered by hand from a bucket carried on the arm in the same manner that seed is broadcast by hand.

Early Action Best

Two or three applications at about five-day intervals are sometimes necessary to heavily infested areas to destroy the migrating larger nymphs and adults whereas in poisoning breeding areas to destroy very young hoppers treatment at ten-day intervals is adequate.

PORK CONSUMPTION IS ON INCREASE IN UNITED STATES

The American people now are eating approximately 8 percent more pork and lard per person than they did in the pre-war period, reports the United States Department of Agriculture.

THE FARM ACT COMMODITY HEARINGS

If the selling prices of all kinds of goods—agricultural and industrial—moved up and down together, there would be much less necessity for the new farm act.

Out of Balance

Today it takes three bushels of corn to buy what one bushel bought at the time farming and industry were more nearly in fair balance. It takes about two and a half bushels of wheat to buy what one bushel bought then.

Supplies Wipe Out Values

These tremendous surpluses, along with other unbalanced production, have demoralized markets, forced down prices, reduced the farmers' purchasing power, and added to city unemployment.

Supply Must Equal Demand

Bringing supply into line with the real demand would tend to restore a fair exchange value for farm products. Fair exchange value would mean more than social and economic justice to farmers alone. It is one vital key to a restoration of an equitable interchange of farm and city products.

LIVESTOCK AND DAIRY PRICES MORE FAVORABLE

Wisconsin Grains Also Showed a Gain of 50 Per Cent Over February

Important to Wisconsin farmers are the advancing prices for dairy products and livestock. Prices paid producers for butterfat averaged twenty cents per pound on April 15 but by mid-May the price had moved to 23 cents. The gain in livestock prices averaged 22 percent in the thirty day period. Farm prices for hogs advanced from $3.10 per hundred-weight in mid-April to $3.50 on May 15. Farmers were receiving an average of $4.20 per hundred-weight for veal calves on May 15 as compared with $3.80 a month earlier. The May 15 price for beef cattle, $3.50 per hundred pounds, was 80 cents above the June mark.

Wisconsin farm prices for grains on May 15 averaged fully 50 percent above the February low point and about 27 percent above the April level. Farmers reported receiving an average of 39 cents per bushel for corn on May 15 as compared with 30 cents in April and 24 cents in February. Oats advanced from 17 cents in February to 25 cents on May 15 while May 15 barley prices to growers averaged 44 cents per bushel as compared with 27 cents in February.

Prices paid farmers for eggs averaged 11.9 cents per dozen on May 15, a gain of almost two cents from April, and the price of chickens advanced eight-tenths of a cent per pound during the thirty days. Wisconsin potato prices averaged 24 cents per bushel on May 15, a one cent decline from April. The nation-wide advance in prices paid farmers raised the United States farm price index to 62 percent of the pre-war average on May 15 as compared with 53 percent on April 15. This nine-point rise is the largest recorded for any month since April, 1919. The present level of farm prices is six points higher than a year ago and the highest since January, 1932.

CAMP VACATIONS ARE POPULAR IN NATIONAL FORESTS

Camps for unemployed men who are working in the forests this summer do not interfere with the use of the national forests for recreational purposes, says the United States Forest Service. There are more than 2,000 public camp grounds in our 148 national forests, so situated that for the most part, work in other sections of the forests does not affect the free camp grounds or those who use them.

If you live within easy driving distance of one of the national forests—and 30 States have them—you might try a camping vacation there this summer. Most of the forests have many miles of good roads and trails and beautiful scenic attractions. Within their boundaries one can enjoy driving, hiking, horseback riding, hunting, fishing, amateur photography, or nature study. You can sleep in a tent, cook over an open fire, and live out of doors in old clothes. The principal expense is for traveling.

All the public camp sites in the national forests are provided with safe water, fireplaces, sanitary toilets and garbage pits, and suitable places to set up tents. No permit is necessary to camp in one of the established camp sites. If, however, you wish to build a fire elsewhere you have to have a permit in most of the national forests. This is because fire is the great and ever-present menace to the woods, and every precaution must be taken to safeguard against it, and to prevent carelessness or ignorance from causing irreparable losses to the standing timber. Forest Service officers will tell you where the camp grounds are, and give you useful suggestions for a successful camping trip. The only stipulations made are care with fire and cleanliness about the camp so that others may enjoy it too.

Live Sparks on Livestock

By E. H. Clough
Consumption of meat in the United States, especially beef, was hard hit by the depression.

During the ten-year period starting in 1921 there was a gradual increase in the consumption of beef and pork, both reaching the highest points in 1928. In the case of beef consumption there was a quick falling off, and while there was an accompanying drop in pork consumption it was nowhere near comparable to beef's.

Figures for federally inspected slaughter of beef showed that in 1921 the annual per capita consumption of beef was 41.74 pounds, that a steady climb resulted until in 1926 the per capita consumption reached 49.16 pounds. It dropped to 45.18 the following year, but with the smash of 1928 it dropped to 40.11 pounds, and continued downward until last year when the total was but 35.37 pounds, considerably under the 1921 level. And none of the years since the business crash has gone above 39 pounds per capita.

Pork, on the other hand, has held its own during the last three years, largely due to low prices of hog products. In 1921 the per capita consumption of pork and lard was 48.34 pounds. The following year consumption jumped to 52.87. In 1923 and '24 there was an unusual demand, consumption reaching 63.15 and 63.32 pounds respectively. It dropped back to 54.57 in 1925 and then continued to climb, reaching the highest figure in 1928—61.09 pounds per person.

There has been a drop since, due largely to the fact that there has been less consumption of all meat products due to lack of buying power, but the lowest figures reached was last year when the per capita consumption of pork and lard was 58.06 pounds, which was far above the 1921 figures. Interesting to hog producers during this same period is the average cost to the packers of live hogs. In 1921 the average for the year was $8.52 per hundred, and the average weight was 226.03.

There was a jump the next year to $9.30 on an average weight of 225.87; a drop in 1923 to $7.57, and then an increase in price to $11.81 in 1925, and $12.47 in 1926, which was the peak price. The following year it was $10.03, then $9.13, held at $10.09 in 1929, was $9.40 in 1930. A big drop came in 1931, to $6.11 on an average weight of 232.71 pounds, and last year marked the record low of $3.70 per hundred pounds.

While 1933 has five full months to go there has been some recovery during the early months, and it seems certain that the year is going to see a much better average for the final months. Much depends upon what is done by the United States Department of Agriculture, which, under the new bill, gives Secretary Wallace almost unlimited powers in fixing prices in the hog market.

It is generally believed that while the government may fix a minimum price on hogs no attempt will be made to interfere with the open markets for curtailment of the open market would mean that a minimum price would also be a maximum price.
