WASHINGTON COUNTY LEADS IN RNA DRIVE

Washington county today was much advanced over surrounding counties with the exception of Milwaukee county, in the successful completion of its part in the National Recovery campaign, according to reports of the drive which have been coming into committee headquarters at West Bend.

These reports, although as yet incomplete, show that nearly every manufacturing concern and business place in Washington county has indicated its willingness to co-operate heartily with President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his efforts to lift this country out of the depression doldrums by means of this emergency re-employment drive. As a result of this, more men in the county have succeeded in gaining employment since the NRA campaign opened than would have been possible had not such a movement been instituted.

It is estimated that the annual increased payroll in Washington county as a result of the local NRA committee efforts to date is $400,000. The number of workers re-employed as a direct result of the NRA campaign is estimated at 400, with an additional 25 at work on a part-time basis. The estimated number between the ages of 18 and 60 as yet un-employed in the county is placed at 300. These results, of course, are not yet fully complete, and it is expected that the total increased payroll and number employed, leading to a decrease of the number unemployed, will be considerably larger when the final result of the drive are tabulated.

In the drive to secure consumers' statements of co-operation under NRA a total of over 8,000 signers has been obtained. The total population of Washington county is placed at about 26,000, of which 15,000 are possible signers of consumer's statements. This means that about 50 per cent of these consumers have willingly placed themselves in a position to support those business places which are in accord with President Roosevelt's Emergency Re-employment program. The number of consumers under NRA is growing steadily, numerous calls daily at the NRA committee headquarters at West Bend for opportunity to sign consumers' statements of co-operation being testimony of this fact. Thus far, refusals to sign the consumers' statements of co-operation have been placed at less than 2 per cent.

Mrs. Thomas O'Meara, West Bend, county NRA vice-chairman, who has charge of the consumer drive in this county, states that consumers who have not had the opportunity and privilege of signing statements of co-operation can for the present go to their local postoffice to sign the statements and thereby receive their consumer blue eagle stickers for display in the windows of their homes.

R. C. Ziegler, West Bend, chairman of the Washington county NRA committee, states that the National Recovery administration at Washington, D. C., wishes to realize 100 per cent compliance with the President's Emergency Re-employment agreement and that the campaign will be continued until this goal is reached.

Mr. Ziegler further says that he has received instructions to set up local mediation boards in the county for the purpose of handling complaints, reported violations, and so forth under the NRA. He announces that this local machinery is now in the process of formation and that it will be made public next week.

The spirit of NRA is being enthusiastically demonstrated throughout the county, newspaper comment and motion picture scenes perhaps showing the greatest enthusiasm. However, the high point of enthusiasm for President Roosevelt's program was reached at Hartford last Friday evening when a huge demonstration and business parade under the sponsorship of Hartford Chamber of Commerce was held there. The parade and demonstration wound up at the high school grounds in Hartford where many of the officials and business notables of that city spoke words of praise for the NRA in a successful effort to get everyone in line.

Complete reports of the consumers' statements of co-operation received, the unemployment survey, and the president's emergency re-employment campaign will be made public next week when it is hoped that all tabulations will have been finished.

Nearly 100 new windbreaks were planted in Grant county last season at the suggestion of the agricultural committee.

EAGLE RIVER MAN FOUND STABBED NEAR JACKSON

Orville Kivisto, 25, of Eagle River, Wis., was on Tuesday found fatally wounded along the Northwestern road, right-of-way, a half mile north of Jackson. He died without regaining the power of speech. His larynx was severed.

The man was found by the crew of train No. 119, a north bound passenger train due in this village at 11:25 a. m. The train was halted and the injured man loaded on board and taken to West Bend where he was rushed to the St. Joseph's Community hospital, where he died a few minutes after his arrival.

Unable to talk because of several vocal cords being severed the wounded man attempted to write his name on a piece of paper. In his pockets were 43 cents and a telegram addressed to Finna Kivisto, signed "Arvo." The telegram read "Going to Penville, All is O. K." It was written about 3:30 that morning in the West Bend depot and presented with payment to Harold Soule, the depot telegrapher, but before Mr. Soule had the opportunity of sending the message, Kivisto changed his mind and Mr. Soule returned to him the message together with money advanced for sending charges. Kivisto stated the reason for not sending the message was because he would make a long distance talk instead.

Kivisto had lived at Eagle River for 17 years and of late years was employed in a well known summer resort. On Monday he quit his job and said he was going on a vacation. He is known to have $35 when he quit his job, $20 of which he gave to his mother.

It is believed by Washington county officials that the man was murdered for whatever money he had on his person.

WALTER STRACK GIVEN 1-5 YEARS

Walter Strack of Sheboygan Falls after entering a plea of guilty to the charge of inducing his son, Herbert, to set fire to a barn on the Elizabeth Strack estate in the town of Scott on Dec. 28, 1931, was on Aug. 29 given an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years in state's prison by Circuit Judge Edward Voigt. The complaint filed by District Attorney Charles A. Copp charged that "Walter Strack did procure, aid and counsel one Herbert Strack to burn a barn owned by the estate of Elizabeth Strack."

After nearly two years investigation by the State Fire Marshal, Strack a week ago admitted to Sheriff Ernst G. Zehms and District Attorney Copp of Sheboygan county that he induced his son to set fire to the barn, after his son, Herbert, 19 years, confessed to Deputy State Fire Marshal William A. Greenwald on Saturday, August 26th. Young Strack waived preliminary hearing and was arranged before Circuit Judge Edward Voigt, who placed him on probation under the state board of control for two years, taking into consideration that the defendant was only 17 years old at the time the crime was committed. After the arrest of the son, the father disappeared from his home at Sheboygan Falls, but returned at midnight Saturday, only to be placed under arrest by Sheriff Zehms and Chief of Police Ed. George of Sheboygan Falls.

When asked by Judge Voigt why he committed the crime, Mr. Strack said, "I wanted some money." He stated that he expected to receive one-sixth share of about $2,400 insurance on the barn to which his son set fire. He also admitted that he had collected about $500 as his share of the insurance on the barn.

The insurance on the barn was carried by the German Mutual Fire Insurance Company of New Fane. After the adjustment of the loss the company paid six heirs of the Elizabeth Strack estate approximately $2,400. One of the checks was made payable to Walter Strack, who is now serving a penalty for being dishonest.

PORT WASHINGTON HERE SUNDAY, SEPT. 10TH

The game Sunday will be the crucial game of the season. This time Port Washington will invade Kewaskum for their last appearance of the season. This will be the last home game of the Badger State league. The season closes on September 17th. On that day the Athletics travel to West Bend.

The game Sunday means considerable to the Athletics. With the season scheduled to close, Sunday, September 17th, a win against Port will cinch the pennant for Kewaskum. There should be a record crowd at the game. Kewaskum has already defeated Port Washington three times this season and the locals are out to sweep the series. Port has strengthened their aggression with a new battery since the last game with the Athletics, which accounts that they are a runner-up in the league. Port and West Bend are tied for second honors with each having won ten games and lost seven. The game on Sunday will be called at three o'clock instead of 2:30 as usual.

MISS ELEANORA KREAWALD MARRIED TO WILLIAM TRAPP

A very pretty wedding took place at St. John's Lutheran church, New Fane last Saturday afternoon, Sept. 2nd, at 2 p.m., when Rev. S. J. Gutekunst performed the ceremony that united Miss Eleanora Kreawald and William Trapp.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kreawald of New Fane, was attended by a shower bouquet of white roses and swansonia. She was attended by Miss Elvira Ramthun, as maid of honor, who wore a white tulle dress and carried tulle roses and artimeschia. Miss Rosella Trapp, sister of the groom, wearing peach tulle, and Miss Floreda Hintz, niece of the groom wearing blue tulle, were the bridesmaids. Both carried bouquets of astors.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Trapp of Beechwood. He was attended by his brother, Marvin, as best man, and by Lester Butzke and John Nieman, cousins of the bride, as groomsmen.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, and the house of the bride's parents was artistically decorated with crepe paper and cut flowers.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding dinner was served to about 65 guests. A reception followed.

The young couple will reside on the groom's farm near Beechwood, where they will be at home to their many relatives and friends after Sept. 15th.

For the United States barley production is estimated at about 158 million bushels, which is only a little over half of last year's production and only about 60 per cent of the five year average.

KEWASKUM 4, SHEBOYGAN F. 2

A good size crowd last Sunday saw the Kewaskum Athletics strengthened their position for first honors in the Badger State league by defeating Sheboygan Falls Franklin Hotels in a very beautiful game, score 4 to 2. This game undoubtedly was one of the nicest and cleanest games watched by the fans on the local diamond this season, and only for an error by Gaffke in the ninth inning, Wisniewski would have added another shut-out game to his record.

The game pitched by Wisniewski, we believe, was one of the best, if not the best, he pitched this season. He had perfect control of the variety of curves thrown and had the heavy Franklin Hotel men completely baffled. He allowed only three hits and struck out nine. The first hit made off of his delivery came in the sixth inning, when Wilbert secured his first hit of the day. At Sheboygan Falls Wilbert clouted the ball for five hits out of as many trips to the plate. Up to this time the only man to reach first base was Pfister, who drew a pass in the first frame. The second, third, fourth and fifth frames the Hotelmen were retired in one, two, three order because the Athletics backed up their pitcher 100 per cent. The boys did some of the best fielding work of the season and looked like a pennant winning team.

Nelson, a newcomer for the Hotelmen, faced the Athletics for the first time this season. Although somewhat wild at times, he managed to keep the hits of the home team well scattered, and for several errors made by his team mates the score should have been less. He was forced to retire in favor of Felsing after two men were out in the seventh. During his stay as pitcher, he allowed 7 hits, walked three and struck out one. The four runs scored by Kewaskum were made off his pitching. Felsing, in the eighth retired the Athletics in one, two, three fashion. Barron, who replaced Wisniewski in litter part of ninth, allowed one hit, a double, which was responsible for the two runs of the visitors and walked one man.

Kewaskum scored their first run in the third. Trotter flew out to Bacon in center. Stenscheke double to center. Kral save on first when Holtz fumbled his grounder at short, Stenscheke going to third. On a double steal, Kral was out at second, Wood to Pfister, and Stenscheke scored. Elliott grounded out, Nelson to Lorenz.—One run, one hit, one error.

The second run for the Athletics was added in the sixth. Elliott grounded out to Lorenz at first, unassisted, Marr hit to Nelson, who reflected the ball to Pfister at second, who threw to Lorenz at first in time to get the runner. Barron grounded to Nitschke, at third, and was safe at first on a bag throw, taking second on the error. Gaffke tripled to right scoring Barron. Marx fouled out to Nitschke.—One run, one hit and one error.

The seventh frame added two additional scores for Kewaskum. Wisniewski struck out, Trotter singled, Stenscheke walked, Trotter advancing to second. Kral singled and when Bacon in center field fumbled the ball Trotter scored and Stenscheke went to third. On the throw-in Bacon threw wild to third, Stenscheke scoring and Kral went to second. Elliott grounded to Holtz and on a fielder's choice, Kral was nipped at third, Holtz to Nitschke. Married lined out to Pfister.—Two runs, one hit, one error.

Sheboygan Falls scored their two runs in the ninth inning after two men were out. Buboltz, batting for Wilbert, struck out. Soch flew out to Marx in center. Pfister hit an easy grounder to Gaffke at second, who fumbled the ball long enough so that Pfister reached the initial bag save. After pitching two balls to Bacon, Wisniewski was forced to retire on account of a sore muscle. Barron came in to replace him. Pfister went to second on a wild pitch. Bacon drew a pass. Wood doubled along the third base line, Pfister and Bacon scoring. Lorenz hit a pop fly behind first base which looked like a Texas leaguer but Gaffke gobbled it up for the third and last out.—Two runs, one hit, one error.

The box score:

Smart Fashions for Immediate Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FEELING the urge, are you, which, ever at the dawn of a season, takes possession of the style-minded, to be off with the old and on with the new? Be encouraged, ye who are about to enter on a "what-to-wear" quest, for we promise you thrilling discoveries for those who seek new clothes for autumn-winter, year 1933.

A most exciting "find" for early fall wear is the satin suit or ensemble which is sure to make you look slender beyond your fondest hopes. We are illustrating a stunning black satin model in the picture herewith. It is just such as behooves every woman to consider who aspires to be clad in the latest or rather should we say the earliest so far as initiating the new season is concerned. The dress is made with cap sleeves and it has a back-and-front yoke of white satin. Bias cut and graceful flare distinguish the skirt and please to notice the snug tight fit—most of the skirts are that way in the newer styles.

The three-quarter length matching coat is the very quintessence of chic, its full long sleeves with inset sections above the elbow being obviously "new." Satin is also used for the jaunty beret. Which is the same as saying that milliners are going to be in for a busy season since headgear made of the same material as the dress or coat is said to be going over in a big way for fall.

And then there are the new dotted satins, how striking they are! It is safe to guess that you will covet an outfit fashioned of such at first sight. There are also in the showing some very attractive dotted woolsens. Choose either and you will be making no mistake. The model pictured happens to be satin. The blouse reverses the order of colors in that the background is white, dotted with black. Lest you might think it a pointed-fox box which mildly is wearing with her modish satin ensemble we hasten to inform you that her jacket is made outstanding with one of the new shoulder arrangements such as certain leading designers are sponsoring this season. It may also interest you to know that quantities of monkey fur are likewise worked into odd epaulets and other novel shoulder trimmings. The swagger little "pill-box" turban of self-dotted-satin is one of the newest of the new.

Supposing you have a navy blue suit, or perhaps dress, which you long to freshen up a bit so as to carry through the first weeks of the autumn season—here's how! Scout about town, you won't have to go far, for all the smart shops and specialty departments are displaying them—it's the "sets" which include scarf and gloves made of some one or other of the new novelty fabrics to which we have reference. The picture below in the group gives you the idea. "Nuff said!

If you happen to prefer a neck-piece and gloves of velvet or satin for dressier occasions you will have no difficulty in finding most any sort you want, for these made-of-fabric sets are being featured in every conceivable weave.

The navy blue hat which tops this intriguing outfit has a fashionable peak which found its inspiration in the harlequin hat which has played during the years so important a role in fantastic dress to many an admiring audience.

BLACK SATIN VOGUE EXTENDS TO HATS

Black satin's vogue for fall wear is extended to hats in the newest displays of fall millinery. Latest models in the smarter shops show a wide variety. The very wide-brimmed hats for dressier occasions are most often found with a flat crown, some of the new models measuring only an inch or two in depth. Their round, wide brims are an irresistible temptation to any brisk breeze.

High-crowned hats are plentiful also, some of them with fairly good-sized brims, but most of these are decorated with a cluster of flowers at the base to soften the harsher lines.

An attractive model is of black velvet with a brim which dips over the right eye. At this point at the base of the crown is a huge bunch of pink and purple violets.

The younger things seem more likely to revolve in the small brimless models. Berets that have more versatility and can be pulled into all sorts of odd angles already are giving proof of greater popularity.

HAIR ORNAMENTS

Paris is sponsoring the discreet rhinestone hair ornament. The one which poses on the exquisitely coiffed head of the pretty young lady pictured is in leaf design. Evening head-dresses which suggest a return to favor of formal jewelry have also been noted at many high functions, such as, for instance, a Juliet cap of silver lace mesh with a band of pearls, also a coronet done in gold wire with sprays of crystal leaves. Which is only the beginning of the program so fashion seers tell us.

Prints for Evening
There's a real old-fashioned flavor in some of the new evening gown materials—printed satin, printed velvet in particular. Developed into gowns with a last-century look, they can add much to the charm of the wardrobe.

What Women Want to Know About Fashions

Jackets with evening dresses are the thing. Patou uses blackberry color instead of black. Bead-trimmed velvets flourish among advance showings. Elbow-length organdie gloves in white are crispness itself. Both crystal and strass are making their appearance on the newest French hats.

Emphasis is placed on fabric novelty for fall. There is a decided elegance about the new fashions. Copper and dark green register on the new color program. White silk beach dresses have little striped silk jackets. Hats shown in Paris shows are even crazier and worn at an almost impossible angle.

The Dormitories

When Tommy Rankin reached headquarters at ten o'clock...

With this information came the additional facts Rankin had requested...

The second report for the detective was the autopsy report...

Careful analysis showed there had been nothing deadly in the wine used by the candidates...

The detective finished perusing this report and summoned an officer...

Recognizing the sensational aspects of the case, newspaper men swarmed into headquarters...

"That's just why I'm asking you to make an exception to the usual rule in this case," Rankin replied...

"No, I'm not," Rankin smiled amiably at her justifiable caution...

COMING EAST IMMEDIATELY BY EARLY TRAIN STOP EXPECT ME TOMORROW MORNING AT TEN O'CLOCK.

The signature was that of Howard Merrick, Jordan's relative and guardian.

Rankin had already decided upon the course of his investigations that day. Until Mr. Merrick arrived...

It was past noon when he entered the dormitory grounds. He reached Jordan's room, 315, on the third floor...

The single hint of anything strange in Jordan's life came from several books of check stubs in the desk. Also representing his account with the Philadelphia Western bank...

It was in the closet in the bedroom that the detective made his second important discovery. Jordan kept most of his shoes there...

Aside from this, Rankin's thorough search of the bedroom produced no results. As his hunt progressed, the detective grew increasingly disturbed...

If this were so, then this secret might plausibly have brought to bear on his life the forces which finally encompassed his tragic death.

Rankin left Room 315 in Croft hall after one o'clock. Pelham hall was the name of the dormitory given him as Walter Randall's address...

"Well, I guess it would be all right if you did wait here," the woman pondered uncertainly. "We got to be awful careful, what with the boys having money and valubles layin' about loose and it bein' so easy to get in and steal it."

"It's quite all right," he agreed sympathetically. "I understand you can't run any risk..."

"It ain't easy, sir, most o' them is that unconsiderate and careless. Mr. Randall is different. I've noticed he ain't much o' a one for foolin' with them and he's too sensible to invite them into his room to make free with it..."

"He must be a quiet sort of chap," the detective remarked, "not to mix much with the others."

"Mr. Randall is the kind that don't come to college and spend good money just for fun," the woman declared with conviction. "In a way, he has to keep to himself on account o' his health; that made him miss 'most the whole autumn term..."

"You Ain't One o' the Students Here, Are You? I Don't Remember Ever Seein' You Before."

things they're up to, if I told you, Pil-low fightin' like little children and breakin' furniture when they wrestle. Then in class fights, sometimes knockin' in the doors and climbin' out the windows..."

"Oh, they do it all right and get away if they're careful," the cleaner assured him. "They go out along the wall and crawl into the next room with open windows..."

"Not Dangerous" "My dear," said Mrs. Robinson with a shudder. "I had such an awful nightmare last night. I dreamed that all the animals from which my new fur coat is made were chasing me..."

"A Bold Youth" When the clock struck the midnight hour, father came to the head of the stairs and in a rather bold tone of voice said, "Young man, is your self-starter out of order to-night?"

"Selective Worriement" "You worry a great deal about your golf?" "It isn't really the golf," answered Senator Sorghum. "I'm worried about so many things that I mention the golf to avoid an argument over something more important."

CORRECTED

"Here you seen the afternoon papers, today?" Rankin introduced the subject of the crime casually. "I was reading that only last night a young man was killed at a fraternity house on the campus during an initiation..."

"There," she stated eagerly, "I told you you wouldn't have to wait long. That's Mr. Randall comin' back now."

"Here's a gentleman wantin' to see you, Mr. Randall," the charwoman announced. "I was just sayin' to him that you'd be in again any minute."

"Thank you, Mrs. Bixby." The newcomer delayed before speaking further until she had reluctantly gathered her belongings and gone. "Yes?" he asked the detective. "What is it you wish?"

There was some immediately striking quality about Walter Randall, difficult to define. Chiefly it was his somewhat pallid features, clean-shaven and exceptionally clear-skinned, with a freshness rare in a young man. They were almost cameo-like in outline; his dark and expressive eyes had long lashes, his nose, while not small, was thin and sensitive, and his mouth and chin mobile and delicate.

"He was not wearing civilian clothes, but a cadet's uniform, instead. This consisted of a dark blue coat with brass buttons along the front, long trousers of the same color, though her puttees, a single stripe running down either side and a round flat-topped hat with a metal shield above its stiff visor. About his waist was a brown leather belt."

In reply to the boy's question, Rankin took out a professional card from his pocket. "This will tell you my business," he said. "If you have seen the newspapers today, you'll know that a student named Jordan from the next dormitory was killed last night in a fraternity house. I am investigating his death. I believe the latest accounts mentioned that though a junior at the university, Jordan only entered this year. For the last two, he attended Aberdeen college in Hannibal, Mo., transferring this past autumn. The office of admissions informs me, Mr. Randall, that Aberdeen was also your original Alma Mater."

The boy closed the door of his room and invited Rankin to a chair; he took another.

HE ONLY HEARD

A mountaineer who had been convicted of being a desperate quick-trigger feudist was languishing in jail. His friends were trying to get a pardon for him from the governor, but the opposing clan was pulling wires against him and spreading all sorts of wicked reports concerning him. The culprit was finally moved to action by all this slander, and he wrote the governor, saying: "Dear Governor, if you all has heard what I've heard you all has heard, you-all has heard a lie."

BUT THE BLAME?

"George is just crazy about me," "Don't take too much credit to yourself. He was crazy before you ever met him."

"Unsatisfactory Transaction" "I'll admit," said Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "dat de mule I done traded off foh a half bushel of oats wurn't much good. But jes' de same I feels like I been cheated."

"What are de trouble?" inquired Miss Miami Brown. "I traded de mule off foh a hair bushel of oats. While I had my back turned de mule done et de oats, an' I don't see how I's gineter break even."

"Not Dangerous" "My dear," said Mrs. Robinson with a shudder. "I had such an awful nightmare last night. I dreamed that all the animals from which my new fur coat is made were chasing me."

"A Bold Youth" When the clock struck the midnight hour, father came to the head of the stairs and in a rather bold tone of voice said, "Young man, is your self-starter out of order to-night?"

Insect Foes That Beset Man

Seemingly Never-Ending Fight With Enemies That Would, if Unchecked, Wipe Out the Memory of His Existence; Lesson They Might Teach.

[Boston Globe Editorial.] There is an "internationale" of bugs, which sends its emissaries over vast distances on land and sea to foment ruin and jeopardize human security and happiness. Paris, a short time ago, complained because of an invasion from Egypt of strange beetles whose appetites were whetted on clothes and groceries. Here were invaders who had traversed the entire length of the Mediterranean to set up the beginnings of a new colonial empire.

The Mexican beetle which riddles beans in spite of all the magnesium arsenate offered him, has scooped at the loftiest mountains, the most sun-parched of deserts. And the Japanese beetles have even gone to the length of stowing themselves away in the holds of cargo ships, that they might carry war to the remotest habitations of man.

War on God" Decried by Union of Soviets

Starting on its second "five year plan," the Russian union of Soviets issues the following statement, according to press dispatches:

"On May 1, 1937, there must not remain on the territory of the U. S. S. R. a single house of prayer to God, and the very conception of God will be banished from the boundaries of the Soviet union, as a survival of the Middle Ages which has served as an instrument for the oppression of the working masses. In the first year it is proposed to suppress all religious schools. . . . In the capitals all churches and prayer houses are to be closed by May 1, 1934. . . . The printing of religious books will be strictly prohibited. Special attention will be devoted to the inculcation of the principles of 'reasonable unbelief' among the masses, and one of the main instruments for achieving this purpose will be the production of atheistic films."

When I'm through, the dishes and pans fairly shine. And my hands are out of water so fast, that they don't get red. Mother now swears by Fels-Naptha, too. She uses it for the family wash and says it's so much easier to keep the clothes white and sweet-smelling." Includes illustration of a woman at a typewriter.

MANY LETTERS Addressed to You Personally

THINK of the advertisements in this paper as so many letters addressed to you personally. That's what they're intended to be, and, actually, that's what they are. This newspaper is, in effect, a mail-bag which brings you news of events and news of the best merchandise at the fairest prices. You don't throw away letters unread. You don't read three or four letters carefully and skim through the rest. Treat the "merchandise letters" in this newspaper the same way. Read them all. Read them carefully. One single item will often repay you for the time it has taken to read them all. Many good housekeepers have formed the habit of reading their newspaper with a pencil and paper, ready to jot down the articles they wish to look at when they start out on their shopping tour. Try this method. It saves time, and saves money, and provides you with the pick of the day's merchandise. EVERY ADVERTISEMENT HAS A MESSAGE ALL ITS OWN

Highest Paid Short Fiction Writer

FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people.

Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

McCormick-Deering Corn Binders

Save Time Cutting Corn

WHEN your corn is ready to cut, depend on the McCormick-Deering Corn Binder to do this heavy job for you, quickly. It has a long record of successful, reliable performance throughout the corn belt. It does the work of 5 to 7 men. The McCormick-Deering gets all the corn—even the leaning and down stalks. The throat spring pushes the corn over against the elevator fingers so that cutting and carrying to the binding mechanism is positive. The reliable McCormick knot-ter assures binding every bundle.

Short corn is bound equally as well as tall corn, because the butt pan, which provides evenly butted bundles, has a wide range of adjustment. Clear, open sides permit easy removal of undergrowth. The shielded gear drive excludes trash and undergrowth and gives long life. A bundle loader can be furnished at additional cost.

Let us show you these features that have made the McCormick-Deering the popular binder among corn growers.

NINE-NINTH of the area of all Canada and one-third of the Dominion's population are included in Ontario's borders.

Ontario, like a colossal motor, is the heart of Canada. Exceeded by the provinces in forestry and fishing, Ontario takes first place in mining, trapping, electric power, banking, and manufacturing.

WOULD MAKE OLD LUCULLUS BLINK

Story of Two Dinners That Cause Mouths to Water.

By EDITH M. BARBER
THE other night I went to a dinner, cooked and served by a business man who prides himself on his facility in the fine art of cooking.

I wasn't worried—I knew that I should not mind if we had only two things—because I had seen the thick steak which was the excuse for asking half a dozen of us. Perhaps you think that steak is steak, however it is served, but this was prepared in a special way which I am going to copy myself and which I would love to tell you about, but I am honor-bound not to print this original recipe. Isn't that tantalizing?

Well, any way, we sat down to a meal which will make your mouth water. Tomato juice cocktail, cold and well seasoned, first, then the steak, mashed potatoes (not a lump in them), those tiny fresh peas, which taste like french peas, plenty of coffee—drip coffee and sponge cake, with many strawberries and cream for dessert.

Would you ask anything better than that? Note—there wasn't a spoonful of that plentiful supply of food left over!

Just a few days later I went to dinner, or rather to a buffet supper prepared and served by a business woman. It was just as good as the dinner of the previous night, but also very different. Chicken salad was the main part of the first course. Celery and apple were deliciously combined with the mayonnaise and the chicken. It was served on whole tomatoes cut into eighths and flattened out from the center to make a hollow. There were potato chips, ripe olives, green olives and hot asparagus with butter sauce. Home-made Parker house rolls, hot and buttery, were passed again and again, as was the coffee. Dessert was ice cream. There was homemade maple-put layer cake also. Nothing the matter with that meal, either—do you think?

At a Sunday night supper recently we had one of those meals which seem to fit the time especially well—that is to say, if you haven't had a heavy middle-of-the-day dinner. There was creamed chicken in tart shells, and baked beans, Boston type, but with a special flavor which perhaps was acquired by the addition of ketchup. There was sliced, tender baked ham and potato and apple salad. The addition of apple is surprisingly good with both chicken and potato salad.

There were hot cinnamon buns and tea or coffee, as you preferred. Dessert was shredded, fresh pineapple and coconut—fresh coconut cake. Here is another meal to make your mouth water.

And what do you think of this dinner?

"I offended George dreadfully." "Have you made up?" "Yes, I succeeded in getting him to ask my pardon."

O. K. NOW

Great Britain agreed in 1701, the new province, called Upper Canada (now Ontario), was established.

Ontario's Nickel.
Go to Sudbury, home of the great International Nickel company and of the Frood mine, and the rush and roar is the same. Here still more Finns, a "Finlandia" cafe, and Finns buying talking machine records of Finnish songs, and Finns squatting about shoe shops and cigar stands, playing more Finnish tunes on mandolins and singing boisterous Finnish songs in a "beverage bar."

How dramatic the story of Ontario nickel, first found by accident! Some odd-looking "red man" drew the attention of a worker, in building the Canadian Pacific railway, during 1883. The red mud was nickel ore. Then the world used only 200 or 300 tons a year. However, a Glasgow engineer, James Riley, in 1880, found how to harden steel with nickel. Soon the United States navy began to use nickel-steel in armor plates, and other naves quickly followed. The world war kept Canada digging nickel day and night.

After peace, when the Washington disarmament conference reduced battleship building and cut the demand for nickel, the International and the Mond Nickel companies, now consolidated, acted with courage and resourcefulness. "By technical research they found new uses for nickel," says Thomas W. Gibson, deputy minister of mines. "Now it is shown to be as useful in the arts of peace as in the shock of war, and the mines of Sudbury supply 85 to 90 per cent of the world's consumption."

In 1911 Ontario mined only about $42,000 worth of gold.
In 1931 more than $43,000,000 worth was recovered. From only about $2,500,000 in 1900, Ontario's output of all metals has increased enormously. In 1931 it was nearly $73,000,000.

ner served in a more formal style? Melon for the first course; then there was fried chicken—broilers cut in halves and sauted in much butter, with a dressing of white bread fried with a little onion. New potatoes dressed with parsley and butter, and buttered lima beans came next. There were celery, olives, radishes and jelly as well.

The salad was hearts of lettuce with that caviar dressing, which is made from mayonnaise into which is beaten grated horseradish and caviar. It is one of the few kinds of salad with mayonnaise that goes well with dinner.

The dessert was vanilla ice cream with a strained strawberry sauce. Did you ever try rubbing the sweetened berries through a fine sieve to make a sauce? Swedish wafers and small frosted cakes came with this and the coffee—that necessary finish of a meal of this sort. Perhaps you are one of those persons who think that the last three words "of this sort" are redundant?

Don't you think my friends serve epicurean food?

Caviar Dressing.
3/4 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons caviar
1 tablespoon grated horseradish
Fold caviar and horseradish into mayonnaise and serve with hearts of lettuce or romaine.

Refrigerator Rolls.
1 yeast cake dissolved in 1 cup lukewarm water
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup hot mashed potatoes
1 cup cold water
1 teaspoon salt
Flour (6 to 6 1/2 cups)
Add shortening, sugar and potatoes to yeast cake and water. Let stand two hours in warm room. Add cold water, salt and enough flour to make stiff dough. Let stand, covered, in refrigerator 24 hours. Shape in thin rounds, butter and fold over. Let rise until double and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) about 20 minutes.

The Baileys at the Fair

There are steep paths which supply plenty of exercise. For the less hardy, following the winding road, cut into the great rock masses, to the park entrance, is enough of a pull. Reaches of the Hudson and city scenes are the reward, the picture changing with every turn. Then, in the park, there are bold points that jut out shelf-like and give the dizzy impression of nothing below. But the commerce of the river and the towers and minarets of the great city are worth a bit of giddiness.

Park hikers usually go in parties. Most of them dress for the occasion. Noticed recently a group of young girls. They had come up from the lower East side—a bit of eavesdropping supplied that information—and were examples of what the well-dressed hiker should wear. But all had high-heeled shoes so without a doubt the itinerary was short. Strapping youths with knapsacks are common sights. Sometimes there are whole families, well loaded down with lunch baskets. They may not get far but they do get a few hours release from the city.

Interstate park, especially just across the river from Manhattan, is by no means wild. But it is not one of those manicured parks, and thus is the nearest approach to the primitive hereabouts. It's also possible to build fires and do other things usually forbidden in parks. Also it's a grand place for picnics, if you like picnics.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

To Be "Dunned"

THIS is an experience nobody enjoys, that is, neither the person who duns nor the person who is dunned.

Few of us like to owe money, and still fewer of us enjoy the necessity to press for payment of moneys due us. However, such things happen and have happened, ever since, we dare say, the cave man who created the institution of credit, bartered a stone hatchet for a promise to have delivered to him a basket of fruit—and then had to go after the debtor to get it.

However, we have the use of the word "dunn" in this connection from Joe Dunn, bailiff, who was known throughout the realm, during the reign of Henry VII and of whom Bacon has much to say!

thus definitely 33,568,235. The number registered in 1932 for the world, according to the statistics, was 48 per cent lower than the number similarly on record in the preceding year of 1931. In the United States alone the number dropped by 6.4 per cent during the year, while in the rest of the world alone, it fell only three-tenths of 1 per cent.

The list of 106 countries set forth in the report showed that when the census bureau started out to cover the world it means business with a vengeance, all guesswork eliminated.

There is a country called Chosen, Japanese name for Korea, for instance, where the bureau found 5,665 automobiles registered at the end of 1932. On the island of St. Kitts-Nevis the bureau found 256 autos, and on St. Lucia 171, while St. Pierre-Miquelon reported 156. Spitzbergen had the distinction of having the fewest motor vehicles in all the world. There the bureau found one, an American truck. In Bermuda there were 32 cars.

Next to the United States, in point of numbers, came France with 1,845,400 cars, England with 1,353,472, and Canada with 1,106,408. Following in order were Germany, Australia, Argentina, Italy, New Zealand, Belgium, Spain, and the Union of South Africa. China, with the largest population in the world, had only 41,092 cars, of which nearly half were trucks and buses.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

By L. L. STEVENSON

Sundays and holidays, New Yorkers by the hundreds take Dyckman street ferry over to Interstate park atop the Palisades on the New Jersey side. There, if they do desire, they may do a bit of mountain-climbing, within plain sight of the man-made mountains of Manhattan. For the hardy,

Many campers live in the park. They come from all over. Counted motor-car licenses from 23 states in the course of an hour.

Leaving Palisades park, went on up to Lost lake and did a bit of mountain climbing on my own account.

The Croton river, though a part of the New York water supply, is not protected that far up. So it is possible to go swimming in the drinking water without getting pinched. There is a grand swimming hole where Mary Alice and Andy Freeman live. But the Croton is away down in a mighty depression. Going down was fine. But the pull back up all but finished Tip Bliss.

And as for your correspondent, he made it but had nothing to say when he reached the top. It was like boyhood days, going swimming in a river again, and that was something.

My Neighbor

Says:

SAVE all fruit juices, put into a jar, seal and put in refrigerator. A cup of this juice added to a pint of ginger ale and poured over chopped ice makes a delicious hot-day drink.

Spread peanut butter between crackers and place them in the oven until crisp and a golden brown and you will have a delicious little tidbit to serve with almost any kind of a salad.

Appetizers should be the first course of any well-planned dinner. Very simple appetizers may be prepared by using bacon as a foundation. One of the most unusual is made of the large stoned queen olive wrapped in a slice of bacon and placed under the broiler until the bacon is nice and crisp, then served on rounds of hot toast.

AMERICAN ANIMALS

SILVER FOX

THIS fox's fur is soft and sleek, And he is really just a freak. His little brothers all are red, But he is silv'ry black, instead.

His fur is used to make fur collars For which folks pay two thousand dollars. But still in spite of any name, He is a red fox just the same.

We find that Arctic foxes, too, Are sometimes white and sometimes blue. The reason has been sought in vain, So please don't ask me to explain!

Since silver foxes are so rare A farmer often buys a pair And raises fox cubs in his pens Instead of cows or pigs or hens!

Auto for Every 5 Is Census Estimate

Washington.—Even with the depression, there still are enough automobiles in the United States to give every man, woman and child in the population a ride at the same time. It would be necessary now to put five persons in every auto for such a ride, for there is just one automobile for every five persons in the population, according to a count of motor vehicles taken by the bureau of the census in 1932. In 1931, however, only 4.77 people would have had to be squeezed into each vehicle then in operation.

In the United States alone, at the close of 1932, there were 24,317,020 automobiles, the census revealed, or approximately 72 per cent of all the cars in the world. The total number on the globe—at least those officially on the globe, by virtue of registration—was 24,317,020.

There is a country called Chosen, Japanese name for Korea, for instance, where the bureau found 5,665 automobiles registered at the end of 1932. On the island of St. Kitts-Nevis the bureau found 256 autos, and on St. Lucia 171, while St. Pierre-Miquelon reported 156. Spitzbergen had the distinction of having the fewest motor vehicles in all the world. There the bureau found one, an American truck. In Bermuda there were 32 cars.

Next to the United States, in point of numbers, came France with 1,845,400 cars, England with 1,353,472, and Canada with 1,106,408. Following in order were Germany, Australia, Argentina, Italy, New Zealand, Belgium, Spain, and the Union of South Africa. China, with the largest population in the world, had only 41,092 cars, of which nearly half were trucks and buses.

The world ratio of autos to persons fell in 1932 from one car for every 56.5 persons, to one for every 60, the census disclosed.

STATE PREPARES FOR REGULATION OF BOOZE

Official preparations of measures to regulate the sale and traffic of liquor in Wisconsin in anticipation of the repeal of prohibition was announced recently. A special legislative committee, appointed to draft a state liquor code held the first of a series of public hearings last Wednesday. Two measures which may be submitted to the legislature in special session were presented by Assemblyman Arthur Balzar, West Allis, and James Higgins, Milwaukee. Higgins bill provides for the sale of liquor in taverns, with a state retailer's fee of $25. Balzar's measure provides for state tavern licenses ranging from $200 to $500, the money to be used for schools and general state needs.

Mr. Legler was the founder of an enterprising business center for many years. A large number of acres of his land was platted and laid out in lots. Buildings were erected to accommodate the many pioneers, who came to Elmore and engaged in the various businesses. Mr. Legler built a substantial flour and feed mill, which he operated successfully for many years. The thriving village at that time was generally known as Leckerville, now Elmore.

FIRST VISIT TO BEAVER DAM SINCE 1877

Mr. John L. Gudex, Route 3, Campbellsport, Wis., a student at Wayland Academy in 1877, was a brief visitor in Beaver Dam on Thursday, this being his first visit here since that date 56 years ago when he completed his work at the academy. Naturally he found many changes had taken place especially at Wayland where he found a large group of modern buildings in place of the one, Wayland Hall, that housed the entire activities of the school a half century ago. N. E. Wood and R. F. Manning were the male teachers at Wayland when he was a student. Mr. Gudex said. Among former residents that he inquired about was the late J. S. Rowell, whom he remembered because of a horse, Badger Girl, and a number of fine dogs. He also stated that he still possessed a lamp which he had purchased during his school days at the A. P. Lawrence store. Mr. Gudex has been a life-time resident of Fond du Lac county, having been born in the Town of Eden. He now lives near Campbellsport, which, he says, was called Newcastle when he was a boy. During his long and active life he has held a number of town and county offices—Beaver Dam Citizen.

SMALL HOGS PARALYZE LIVESTOCK MARKETS

Wisconsin farmers, eager to take advantage of the premium offered by the government for pigs under 100 pounds in weight, glutted their livestock markets last week. Farmers in other states have done the same thing with other markets. As a result, markets were paralyzed with pigs. "Farmers must receive permission from the markets before shipping," cautions K. L. Hatch director of agricultural extension at the state agricultural college. "Unless farmers or local buyers receive this permission to ship, the pigs are held in the yards at the expense of the owner until the packers can handle them. Farmers desirous of shipping should write or telephone the market for permission or to the local buyer or shipper should get it," he suggests. "Holding pigs in the yards will do much to wipe out the premium for those not having permission to ship. The big task of the hog administration," says Hatch, "is to spread the pigs over the entire period so that the markets can handle this unusual number effectively."

In 22 other counties the season will start at the same time and continue four and one-half days. The bag limit is set at two cock birds in all counties and the possession limit is four birds. The short season will prevail in Dodge, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Columbia, Marquette, Sauk, Sheboygan, Washington and Waushara counties, and in Juneau county, south of the Lemonweir river, and in the townships of Poygan, Winnebago, Vinland, Oshkosh, Algomo, Omro, Rushford, Nepeuskun, Utica, Nekimi and Black Wolf in Winnebago county.

WATERFOWL OPENING SEPT 21ST

The date for opening the hunting season for waterfowl was set as Sept. 21 at noon, and the season will close November 20. The conservation commission decided to make a trial for the plan for a shorter shooting day and no Wednesday rest days in half of the counties. Fond du Lac, Dodge, Washington, Sheboygan and Ozaukee counties are among those in which the shorter shooting day will be tried, viz: First day from 12 noon to 4 p.m., succeeding days, one half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. The daily bag limit are Canvasbacks, redheads, greater and lesser scaup (bluebill) ring-necked ducks, blue-winged and green-winged teal, gadwall and shoveler ducks—10 in any single or aggregate species. All other ducks not mentioned on which an open season is provided, 15 in single or aggregate species.

Wisniewski's strikeout record in the Badger State League is mounting rapidly as the season is nearing its close. In the twelve games he pitched he is credited with nine wins and charged with three losses. He struck out 173 batters, allowed 91 hits, walked 27, hit four batters and made six wild pitches. CAN PUT WHEAT LAND IN PASTURE OR ALFALFA

A reduction in the acreage of wheat of but 15 per cent will permit a Badger farmer to qualify for the bonus of about 25 cents a bushel offered on 54 per cent of his three year average production. This is the official figure supplied by the wheat officials of the agriculture adjustment administration. There is one major point about wheat reduction plan that has caused a lot of doubt among farmers. That is, what can be done with the 15 percent acreage that cannot be seeded to wheat. There are a number of possibilities for the use of this land. The agreement provides that this land can be summer fallowed, planted to soil improvement or erosion preventing crops or to food crops for home consumption on the farm or to feed crops for the production of livestock or livestock products for home consumption. An official interpretation of this part of the agreement just received from Washington provides other alternatives. This land can be put into permanent pastures. Blue grass, red top, red clover, alsike clover, white or sweet clover or similar grasses can be used. The land so seeded is not eligible as contracted acreage the second year when the pasture or hay is available for feed. However, other acres can then be chosen and used so as to conform to the agreement. A second possibility for the use of the 15 per cent is the seeding alfalfa, clover, timothy and similar hay crops. As in the case of the pasture these fields cannot qualify the second year of the wheat plan, and other acres must be taken out of production if seeded to live up to the agreement. The planting of trees is a third alternative for the wheat grower. The planting of a wind break or a farm wood lot also come under the terms of what may be substituted for the wheat land not used.

Buying Habits Changing Rapidly

Definite proof that the buying habits of the country are changing rapidly is seen in reports that Kelvinator Corporation's sales of high priced models have been increasing more rapidly than even the record breaking volume of its entire line of electric refrigeration equipment, according to Edw. E. Miller of the Millers Furniture Store, local Kelvinator dealers. According to information received by the local Kelvinator representatives from factory officials at Detroit, sales of the famous "four refrigerators in one" deluxe Kelvinator models have increased $70 per cent while general sales have increased 150 per cent. In the three record months of May, June and July 1933, nineteen times as many of these deluxe models were sold as during the same period in 1932, it was said. "This information can only mean that people are becoming more willing to buy added quality if it does entail a larger expenditure," Mr. Miller said. "This increasing appreciation of quality value on the part of buyers is one of the best signs that the government's plan for increasing the country's purchasing power are succeeding."

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Ever since March 4, things have been humming at Washington, and of late there has been a noticeable acceleration. President Roosevelt described one of his late weeks as being the most exhaustive since he took office. The strain, of course, is mental as well as physical—he has an army of advisors but he must make the last decision in every case and will get the blame if it is wrong. A recent week went something like this: Dispatched warships to Cuba and withdrew them when need had passed. Speeded recovery program and approved steel, oil and lumber industries' codes. Approved a number of farm relief plans and worked on details of paying benefits to farmers reducing cotton crops. Got public works program moving more smoothly and rapidly. Decided to abandon several army posts in interest of economy. Made important diplomatic appointments. Held conferences on possibilities for inflation, and studied economic trends. Made plans for extending Civilian Conservation Corps through winter. Arranged for opening negotiations with Latin American countries on reciprocal tariff agreements. In addition the President must make innumerable less important decisions, meet many callers, go through a stiff and unyieldable routine that is part of the chief executive's job.

Most encouraging recent governmental achievement is completion of the steel and oil codes. Both have had thorny going; many steel and oil men have been recalcitrant, glum, non-cooperative. General Johnson has become puffy-eyed and weary from struggling with them. Finally he got steel leaders into a room, kept them there for 12 hours with hardly an intermission; almost literally tore an agreement out of them. Their demand for an open shop was defeated. Main provisions are a 40-hour week, which may be extended to 48 hours at seasonal peaks; a minimum 40-cents-an-hour wage; an eight-hour day after November 1 if the industry is operating at 60 or more per cent of capacity. The code represents a middle ground; the government wanted more than it got, and the industry wanted to give less than it finally did.

Chief oil code difficulty was over price-fixing. One group wanted it all the way from the well to the gasoline tank; another opposed complete price-fixing, and simply wanted a stipulation to prevent selling at below cost. No amount of argument could bring agreement. General Johnson finally handed them a code prepared by Secretary Ickes and James Moffet, ex-vice-president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey. There will a 40-hour week at 40 cents per hour. The President has the power to fix for 90 days a minimum gasoline price. He is likewise to appoint a committee of 15 to consider the price question, and to make recommendations to the states concerning oil regulations. Principal code problems left are soft coal and automobiles. Groups within each industry have been as far apart as the poles.

The resignation of Chief Braintrust-er Raymond Moley must be classified as one of the most dramatic of recent Washington events, but there's no particular surprise element of it. Friction between Mr. Moley and his chief, Secretary Hull, had grown to great size. Breaking point was the World Economic Conference, where Mr. Moley seized the spotlight, made statements which were entirely at odds with the viewpoint of Mr. Hull. Political commentators began forecasting the eventual resignation of one or the other then, a good many thought that Mr. Hull would be the one to see the exit. He probably would have, had not Mr. Moley's next job will be to edit a new weekly magazine which will be principally dedicated to analyzing, explaining and furthering Roosevelt policies.

During recent weeks there has been observable a slight let-down in general business. It's nothing to get excited about, however, and is much less intense than the customary seasonal drop. Best late progress has been made in promoting employment, due to both increased industrial activity and the NRA drive. Secretary of Labor Perkins announced that 1,100,000 industrial workers obtained jobs between March 4 and the middle of August. Four-hundred-thousand new factory jobs appeared in July. During May and June the number of families receiving public charity dropped from 4,222,000 to 3,745,000. Employment is about 21 per cent greater now than last year at this time. Only major industrial group to show decrease is tobacco manufacturers.

The last survey of current business issued by the Department of Commerce, which details conditions into the first three weeks of July, is very encouraging. Prices have continued to move upwards. Foreign trade showed a substantial increase. Freight car loadings, on the whole, expanded steadily. Automobile production continued its contrast seasonal rise. Stimulation was felt in the chemical group.

Bride Changes Mind

Janet Snowden, bride-elect, has changed her mind and is now engaged to be married to a different man.

PROSPERITY COMES FROM THE

It may turn out that the most important thing that has happened in the world in the past three years is the international wheat agreement, which has been signed by the representatives of 21 nations. We believe Frederick E. Murphy, the head of the American delegation to the Conference, is right when he says that the records for a thousand years show clearly that wheat has been the index to the price of commodities. In other words, as Mr. Murphy says, "prosperity comes from the wheat." Under the terms of the agreement, the great wheat nations are to reduce their wheat by about 15 per cent. The importing nations are to buy their own acreage down to or below levels to increase the consumption of wheat and they agree to pay a price less than 55 cents, gold, a bushel. At the present value of the dollar in foreign exchange that give an equivalent of about 40 cents for American wheat. And the trend of the dollar is downward, as Mr. Murphy points out, we can look for a "dollar wheat" minimum for years to come. However the price has been maintained at the 63 cent minimum for months, the importing nations reduce their tariffs, to further delay the importation of wheat. The importance of this agreement to woman and child in America may be apparent on the surface. It touches the pocket-books of all. It will cut down the surplus of wheat above the present world demand two ways, first by reducing production, second by increasing consumption. It should not take long to see the present world surplus of wheat like a half a billion bushels, however that is absorbed, however at a rate that is profitable to growers will begin to be absorbed in farmers' pockets; and that will break in the vicious circle of depression that is needed to get world back to prosperity.

ANOTHER FARM STRIKE

Milo Reno, national president of Farmers Holiday Association, last week Saturday sent a telegram to President Roosevelt threatening a "nationwide farm strike." In his telegram Reno urged President to act immediately to stabilize price stabilization "based on present cost," and said that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's opposition to farm commodities has "retarded the progress of farmers' confidence for any relief under his administration." "Bankrupt prices of farm products and failure of farm retaining programs have exhausted the patience of farmers," the telegram read. "We have permanent corrective measures for agriculture immediately, for nationwide strike grower's protest."

Cool Milk Rapidly To Avoid Bad Odor

Considerable trouble with bad odor milk at this time of year is caused by slow cooling of evening milk, according to Chester W. Fletcher, field representative of the Milwaukee Co-operative Milk Producers.

If they may have the advantage to which they are entitled — starting with good health — their future will be a happier and more prosperous one, according to the bulletin of the State Medical Society.

MILWAUKEE THEATRE "FINDS" SINGER

In a recent amateur contest staged by Cooper's Riverside theatre, a discovery was made of John Ward, an exceptional tenor soloist. Having all been forced, sometimes to our amusement, to listen to the amateurs try out on the stages of various theatres, we often wonder what becomes of all of the talent displayed there.

In the particular case of John Ward, the audience was very much delighted to hear the golden tenor voice resound to the strains of good old Irish melodies. It pleased the audience greatly, and Dave Miller, the orchestra leader and master of ceremonies at the Riverside, has given Mr. Ward a berth in his orchestra.

The background of Mr. Ward is somewhat interesting. His career as a singer started when a small boy, being hungry as most small boys are, he found it within his power to obtain a piece of good old German coffee cake for a song. He promptly burst forth with "Home Sweet Home," and thoroughly enjoyed the coffee cake.

Later, he literally sang his way through the Navy and into scholarships, which allowed him better voice training than his pocketbook would afford.

brilliant French and Italian operas, but somehow they did not seem to fit in his makeup and he constantly drifted back to the Irish ballads. He says, "There is probably a lot of money in singing operatic classics, but if you do not enjoy your work, there is not much sense to it. MECHANICAL HERON KEEPS FISH BOWL WATER FRESH
NEW ORLEANS — Gaspar R. Bossetta, New Orleans lawyer, couldn't bear to see his goldfish go thirsty. Too often they were forgotten, and left to swim in stale water.

So Bossetta invented a tin heron, which stands in the middle of his goldfish bowl. Fresh water drips constantly from its bill down to the fish below. When the water fills the bowl to a certain height, a siphon in the bird's leg draws off the surplus water.

CONNECTICUT PLANS DRIVE ON TUBERCULOSIS
HARTFORD, Conn.—The State Department of Health hopes in the coming school year to be able to X-ray and examine every school age child for traces of tuberculosis.

According to Dr. Stanley S. Osborne state commissioner of health, staff members will X-ray the children in the various towns at a cost of 75 cents or $1. The plates will be studied by competent diagnosticians, and where traces of the disease are found the plates will be sent to the family physicians designated by the child's parents, so that corrective treatment may be started.

U. S. WOULD HAVE SPIES IN ALL GANGS

So sure is Miss Jeanne of San Antonio, Tex., that there is no living cow as large as "Lone Star", which she is exhibiting at the Chicago Century of Progress exposition, that she offers a $500 reward to anyone producing a larger one. The cow, ridden above by Miss Frances Green, in Chicago, weighs 2,800 pounds, is six feet one inch high and measures 15 feet from nose to tip of its tail.

New York Racketeers In Search Of New Revenue

The underworld of New York is in a state of flux, revolutionized by the rapid change in status of the liquor trade, but the racketeers go on collecting just the same.

The once profitable illicit beer business is gone, and whiskey has become an over-the-counter commodity which offers only a meager portion of the revenue it provided until a few months ago. As far as New York is concerned, the eighteenth amendment already has been repealed.

This revolution came at a time when the city's gangs already were disrupted by assassination and federal prosecutions on income tax charges.

Vincent Coll and Vannie Higgins are dead.

Arthur Flegenheimer, better known as Dutch Schultz, is in hiding because of an income tax indictment.

Owney Madden has just got out of Sing Sing on parole after serving a stretch as a parole violator on an old manslaughter charge, and he is behaving with circumspection.

Of all the metropolitan gangsters, Waxey Gordon, safe in his Jersey stronghold, comes closest to executing his old time ways. Stringent supervision appears to have kept the gangsters out of the beer business on the New York side of the Hudson, but from the moment beer was legalized, Gordon had his fingers in its manufacture and distribution in the New Jersey section of the metropolitan area.

Escapes Death
By an accident he escaped assassination in the first days of legal beer when the Schultz mob from New York tried to keep him from catching his influence across the river. Max Hassel, his Pennsylvania ally, was killed instead. In safe deposit boxes of Hassel's, authorities found more than $250,000 in cash, supposedly destined, had the guns of the underworld not interfered, to be used in buying legal brews. Legal beer is no less a field for racketeers than was the old illegal brew, for a strong-arm mob can always force bars and stores to sell favored brands and pay high prices for them, excluding other brews.

In both New Jersey and Pennsylvania the Gordon-Hassel gangs and their allies have succeeded to some extent in putting legal beer on a racketeering basis, and there is ample evidence that the New York gangsters, enviously watching the Jersey side of the Hudson, are exercising all their influence in the hope of getting from beer and liquor from legal hard liquor—if the eighteenth amendment is repealed—some part at least of the revenue they used to get from bootleg operations.

FISH WAS CAUGHT WITH HOE
INDEPENDENCE, Ore.—P. L. Hedges, local hop grower, caught a two-foot carp with a hoe—and made the catch in his hopyard. High water had washed the carp into his fields and the fish had buried itself under the fresh mud.

That new ninety miles an hour train will present a new problem to seventy miles an hour motor car drivers. How will they be able to meet it at the crossing unless they start earlier?

COW BREAKS BUTTERFAT RECORD

There has been only one dairy cow in the world to exceed a production of a thousand pounds of butterfat in a year, on a twice-a-day milking basis, according to announcement of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This prize creature, Wintertur Boast Ormsby Ganne, bred and owned by H. P. DuPont, Winterthur, Del., completed her test recently with a record of 1,004.2 pounds of butterfat and 23,444.6 pounds of milk, with an average test of 4.3 per cent. Her butterfat yield exceeds the former world's record by the wide margin of 145.8 pounds. Her present record was made as a seven-year-old.

CAMERA HUNTER ON LONG TREK ACROSS NATION
Expert Seeks Photographs of Wild Life in Native Haunts

WASHINGTON—A survey of the outdoor assets of America, both along the roadside and in out of the way places, is the purpose of an auto-photographic trip of Arthur Newton Pack, President of the American Nature Association.

Noted as a "hunter of wild life with a camera," and active in wild life conservation, Pack is making a 10,000-mile trip that takes him twice across the continent and to Alaska.

Pack is an active campaigner against the billboard advertising which lines the nation's highways. "As we travel across the continent we are impressed with the extent to which Americans have allowed roads to be ruined by unsightly billboards and commercial structures," said Pack. "If the pleasure and safety of travel by automobile are to be preserved, rural billboards must come down."

War-time Measure to Be Used to Stamp Out Crime
CHICAGO — A secret police with a spy in every gang was the solution to the kidnaping menace suggested today by Patrick Terrence Roche, whose name long has been a terror of gangdom.
Roche, who has fought criminals 20 years as policeman, federal agent and crime investigator, is the only man to gather evidence in Chicago which drew a life sentence for a kidnaper who pleaded guilty. That was during his service under State's Attorney John A. Swanson, who was succeeded at the post election by Thomas J. Courtney.
"Kidnaping is a national problem," Roche said today. "It requires nation-wide alertness if we are to stamp it out."
"War-time measures should be used. During the war, the government has an anarchist and get the law-enforcement groups operating in this country. We can do the same now—learn the identities and plans of kidnapers and save lives and fortunes."
The tall nemesis of several kidnaping gangs, Roche, through jetted hair and a mustache, looked like a man of 35. He speaks with a pronounced Irish brogue.
"I was with the government during the war. I bought five bombs from an anarchist and helped break up his gang."
Roche has respect for the ingenuity of kidnapers. He believes that until six months ago, most gang kidnapers were motivated partly by revenge. Now, he thinks, gangsters crowded out of the liquor traffic have turned to kidnaping any person of wealth. That very factor, he believes, will prove the downfall of the gangs.
"Kidnapers are clever as the devil himself," Roche said. "A gang sends a few members to a distant city. They wait over the situation, pick their victim, nab him. Then they take the victim to a prearranged hideout and let the hushers in the gang be the go-between."
"The victim seldom sees his captors. He rarely knows them. For that reason, I believe, the first thing to do is to find the house or cellar where the victim was held. He usually can recognize some feature of the place."
"Then under-world contact men report on the activities of gangsters. They wanted out of the gang members of any gang are buying new clothes and spending their money freely. That's always a good indication of who the guilty may be."

IF YOU WON'T SAVE LIVES, SAVE DOLLARS
The high humanitarian purpose of safety campaigns against accidents is to reduce the thousands of deaths and hundreds of thousands of injuries each year. In itself, it should awaken entire communities to action. However, there is another side, too often overlooked, that appeals to the pocketbook, and has thrust for its foundation. While 29,000 persons will be killed in automobiles this year unless the accident rate is reduced, the loss in dollars that results will be $2,000,000,000.

In illustration, recently it was necessary for stock casualty companies allied in the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, to increase rates for automobile public liability insurance in several states. That was because the companies had suffered very severe underwriting losses in those territories. Simultaneously with the announcement of these revisions, the National Bureau issued a leaflet addressed to the more than 100,000 agents in the states where the rates had remained where they were. This was a plain straightforward statement of the situation not only for the
