KEWASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

The high school gym is a place of activity during the months when children cannot comfortably play outdoors. During the morning it is used by the pupils in the grades. From 1:40 o'clock the Freshmen and sophomore girls' physical education classes are held in it. From 3:15 until 4:00 o'clock the Freshmen and sophomore boys use the gym for their educational classes. From the 4:15 o'clock until nearly 6:00 o'clock the basketball squad of about 15 boys have their basketball practice. About as many minutes in a week as in an average class room.

DOUBLE HEADER

Friday of last week both our first teams defeated the representatives from the Sheboygan Falls School. The score of the B team was 11 to 9, while that of the A team was 19 to 16.

The first team started fast, piling up 4-1 lead at the half. During the second half we saw our lead gradually melt down until the final gun saw us knotted at 15 all. In the overtime period that followed, Claus got the lead with a shot, one following another until he had scored 10 points in an attempt at goal from the key.

It was difficult to single out any one player and say that he contributed more than the others toward victory. Claus who scored the winning shot for his guarding player play deserve more than mention. Every man played well.

The team game was a good fight through with never more than 5 points separating the score. Our "B's" are commensurately appreciated the home boys and helping them to win at the Falls.

The next home game will be played on Saturday, November 29 with the following lineups:

MAN SWALLOWS 50 CENT PIECE

Frank Galbinska, 30, Campbellsport, R. 3, is "out" 50 cents and glad of it. He swallowed the money Monday in the form of a 50-cent piece. On Wednesday it was removed from his oesophagus at St. Agnes hospital and on Thursday he returned to his home, a "sadder but wiser man."

Galbinska did not explain to attending physicians and surgeons why he had the 50-cent piece in his mouth, or how he happened to swallow it, but "there it was," stuck about half way between throat and stomach. He was in considerable pain for nearly forty-eight hours and was unable to eat, finally deciding that surgical help was necessary.

That "handy little" instrument known to medical profession as an oesophagoscope, which enables a surgeon to explore the inner recesses of the human body and remove foreign articles, was used to relieve Galbinska of the obstruction.

When he said goodbye to the surgeon who conducted the "expedition of exploration" he asked for return of the half-dollar, but the request was refused, and the physician now has a new pocket piece—Fond du Lac Commonwealth-Reporter.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Erwin Andrae of Milwaukee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrae of this village, last Sunday night at about eleven o'clock escaped a miraculous death in a peculiar accident when the car he was driving hit the frame work of an iron bridge near Otto Ramthun's home two miles east of the village on Highway 28. The automobile was practically damaged beyond repair and the bridge so badly damaged that in all probability a new one will be erected. Mr. Andrae was driving west towards this village at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Werner in another car were driving east and stopped their car on the west side of the bridge when they saw the Andrae car approaching them at the bridge to permit him to pass. Seeing the crash Mr. and Mrs. Werner rushed to the scene expecting that someone might be seriously or fatally injured. When they arrived Mr. Andrae crept out of the wreckage unhurt, not even a scratch. Otto Ramthun was called to aid in extricating the car, which was securely wedged in the frame work of the bridge. It was necessary for Mr. Ramthun to get his team of horses to pull the wreckage from its position.

After seeing the wrecked automobile and the damaged bridge it is a miracle that Mr. Andrae escape death or injury.

Since the accident we have heard rumors that the bridge was condemned several months ago as being unsafe for travel on account of being too narrow. This bridge, an iron structure, is one of the oldest, if not the oldest bridge, in this community, and was large enough at the time when the method of travel was with horse and buggy, but since the automobiles have come into the limelight the bridge has become too narrow, as two cars are unable to pass each other on same. The approaches to the bridge on both sides are also too narrow forming a bottle neck. It is hoped that some definite action will be taken by the county highway commission immediately to erect a suitable bridge that will in the future prevent similar accidents.

WASHINGTON COUNTY BOARD DOINGS

During the past week members of the Washington County Board were busily engaged in listening to reports of the various county officials and resolutions providing for the administering of county government affairs for the ensuing year.

Last week Friday, upon invitation of the board, Congressman Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, addressed the gathering upon the general conditions of the country at present and told what the federal government is doing to bring back prosperity. The senior class of the local high school accompanied by principal E. E. Salsky were present to hear the Congressman.

The board last week Friday afternoon went on record to pay the assistant deputies who served during the last milk strike $2.00 per day. The resolution recommending this amount was hotly contested, with two amendments proposed. One amendment was to pay the assistants $1.00 per day, and the other one was for $3.00 per day. The original amendment was finally adopted. The allowance was made in view of the fact that the sheriff had no authority to pay his assistants or those of his deputies during the strike, although the law specifies that the board must authorize payment if it finds that an emergency existed at the time the deputies were sworn in.

MANY FARMERS HAULING BARLEY THE PAST WEEK

Activities about the L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Company's elevator the past week reminded us of years ago when farmers brought their barley to the village before the prohibition days.

The difference, however, is that the barley is being hauled these days via auto trucks instead of with wagon and horses. Every day the past week could be seen long lines of truck loads of barley waiting at the elevator to be unloaded. This year the price of barley being paid the farmers range from 70 to 76 cents per bushel according to test, compared to about 35 cents per bushel a year ago. Quite a bit of the barley brought to this village comes from farmers living many miles away, which proves that the Kewaskum market is the best in the community.

PETER PIPER'S PICKLE

By Cosmo Hamilton

"A CEST PARIS," said Peter, flinging open the window of the bridal suite in the Continental hotel. "In other words," he added, performing that trick with his hat which made all London laugh, "so this is Paris, eh? And here begins the honeymoon which we'll remember all our lives."

And there he sat for an hour, in higher and higher spirits, with his kind and cordial friend. The number of their Side-cars would have made a traffic jam. Finally, having come to that subtle moment when he felt that a touch could be made, he turned to his providential companion and laid his hand on his knee.

"What's the matter, dear? Still feeling a wee bit giddy after that tossing on the sea?" A little thing she was, with amazingly small bones, baby eyes and a round face, a very kissable mouth and something that passed for a nose.

Peter gave his hat a tilt, touched his tie with a loving finger and walked all around his stick. "Honey-moon, old boy," he said, "just dashed over the pond."

With a monocle screwed in his eye he kissed his charming bride and left her lying in bed with the clothes about her ears. What was he to do? Like a man who drops eight thousand feet in a faulty parachute he went into the passage and walked downstairs.

After being lost for many years a tapestry, declared to be the most valuable in France, was found in a dusty closet in the Church of St. Eustache, one of the largest churches in Paris.

Salt, Long Ago, Was Medium of Exchange and Aided in Commercial Development

Salt as a standard in the history of commerce antedates the gold standard. As a medium of exchange salt was widely used in many ancient countries. The Mogul conquerors of India made decrees thousands of years ago regulating the standard of salt that was used for money.

Old and New Kitchen Types

In Comparison With Other Periods, Modern Housewives Have Many Conveniences That Were Unknown to Their Great Grandmothers.

Before you can really appreciate the conveniences of your modern day kitchens with their cupboarded walls, ventilation systems, and enameled furnishings, you have to have some conception of what your great grand-

The modern kitchen shown was a revelation of science. It lacked some of the quaintness and picturesqueness of the other displays, because today it is no longer the "living room" of the home, but has been de-

Light in color, with gleaming metal fixtures, the cabinets, stoves, sinks and refrigerators, all of which were shown at A Century of Progress, are easy to keep clean, as well as being beautiful in their simplicity.

Electricity has played a major

Then you would want to see what the earlier kitchens looked like. In the American kitchen of 1869 you could find the old fashioned stove with copper hot water boilers, the iron sink with the pump attached, the inevitable rocking chair, the trimming being in harmony with the plain red linoleum on the floor.

The early Colonial home centered about the big flat hearthstone in the kitchen, or fireroom as it was called then. Their fireplaces were huge cav-

About the Acadian kitchen there was a rustic simplicity, combined with a delicacy of line and coloring that was charming. To this simplicity had been added touches of old France in the coloring of the walls and beams, and in the china, clocks and pictures.

Then one might have visited the comely Dutch house—with its delft tile fireplace. Here a crane is suspended over the fire, and nearby stands a copper and brass door-pot, used by the thrifty ones to keep the growing briquettes overnight. There are also numerous spoons and long pronged forks, a fine bellows of brass, foot warmers, and earthenware bowls.

But the most radical departure, for a kitchen, is the built-in wall bed, concealed in daytime by curtains of bright color, and reached at night by

McCORMICK-DEERING ALL-PURPOSE TRUCK

YOURS FOR $61
f. o. b. Chicago

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER has perfected a new all-steel, all-purpose, roller-bearing truck which is a remarkable value at the price—$61 f. o. b. Chicago.

The new McCormick-Deering All-Purpose Truck is designed for hard use behind either tractor or horses. Tractor hitch is regular equipment, horse tongue is available, and the truck may be made in a minute. Track is standard, wheelbase adjustable from 84 in. to 126 in., and the truck will take any track, or other standard equipment.

The steel swivel-reach coupling makes the truck extremely flexible, taking care of any rough going. Front wheels are steering, and they clear the wagon box on short turn. The exceptionally strong wheels are dust-proof, fitted with take-up rollers, and with Zerk oiling system. Roller bearings (two on each axle) make lightest draft ever found in a wagon.

Every possible detail is right in this sturdy McCormick-Deering truck—it is "all-purpose" in every sense. It will haul anything anywhere for a horse farmer or a power farmer.

We have this new ALL-PURPOSE TRUCK on display at our store, ready for your inspection. You will find it a remarkable value at $61 f. o. b. Chicago.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual, National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

Strangely enough, there's no economic subject the average citizen knows less about than money. He uses it daily, but the tokens with which he barter, aren't really money at all. Their only value lies in the credit of the government issuing them. Real money is seldom seen—it is gold and is jealously hoarded by treasurers.

As a result, the average citizen was pretty well puzzled when the U. S. Government announced that it had started a world gold buying campaign in an effort to raise commodity prices. He couldn't see the connection. As a matter of fact, the connection is simple enough if simply explained—its very much like an auction. The more people you get to bid for an object, the more valuable it becomes. That's true of gold. When the United States went into the market there was another important bidder for the yellow metal, and its price rose accordingly. At the same time, the value of the dollar, which has a definite gold backing, declined, and commodity prices went up. Briefly described, the dollar has been cheapened, and it is worth less wheat, clothing or gasoline than it was a while ago.

At the moment, the world's free gold supply, if melted down, would amount to a ten-foot cube, worth about $400,000,000. Since 1492, when Columbus discovered the new world, all the gold mined would amount to only a 40-foot cube and over half of that has vanished, either through being sunk in ships, made into jewelry, or hoarded.

Most important foe of the U. S. gold policy is the British Empire. London is the world's largest gold market, and any buying campaign will naturally center there. Dollars are exchanged for pounds, in order to buy in the English market, thus increasing the international supply of American currency and increasing the demand for English currency. A more expensive pound must follow, discouraging Britain's foreign trade. Matters are at a deadlock. It's going to be a monetary battle of the giants, with the two greatest financial powers of the world opposed.

Businessmen cheered the recovery plan recently presented by Gerard Swope, General Electric's able, far-sighted president. Briefly stated, the Swope plan proposes the setting up of an organization very similar to the NRA with this essential difference—control would be in the hands of boards of business men instead of government officials. Not pleased by it at all were labor leaders who doubted that the boards of big corporations executives would protect workers.

President Roosevelt said of the Swope proposal that the present time is not propitious for a change in plan—that "the next few months are expected to bring forth hundreds of other reports." Then he issued a summary of reports showing late achievements of the NRA, including: New employment for 2,000,000 people; increase in industrial outlets; a 20 per cent rise in hourly wages and 40 per cent in working hours. To his defense came distinguished Professor Edwin Seligman, saying that the depression is actually ending; that for the first time in history recovery from the bottom is being speeded consciously and effectively; that there is no basis for fear of uncontrolled inflation; that we are in the midst of a social revolution within the framework of capitalism, which promises lasting benefits.

Another very important bone of contention is the securities act. Some of the Administration's best friends, as well as business executives, believe it needs overhauling, is not only preventing issuance of worthless securities, but securities entirely legitimate and most essential to industry.

Prohibition repeals means the end of a number of the so-called "nuisance" taxes. These are: The 5 per cent tax paid by stockholders on dividends received; the one-tenth of one per cent tax paid by corporations on declared value of capital stock; the 5 per cent tax paid by corporations on income in excess of 12 1/2 per cent of declared value of capital stock. The 1 1/2 cent federal gas tax will be reduced to 1 cent. It's likely that other taxes, such as that on bank checks, will go.

Both the Federal Government and the states are looking forward to liquor as the provider of tremendous sums of new revenue, are planning what to do with it. Principal danger is that there will be too many fingers in the flowing bowl, forcing the price of legal stuff to where the bootleggers will stay in business and undersell.

WISCONSIN FARM TAX RATE LOW

According to figures compiled by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics at Washington, D. C., which were given to the various county treasurers throughout the United States, the tax rate per acre of farm real estate in the state of Wisconsin is the lowest of any of the adjacent states. The figures show that the tax rate per acre of Wisconsin farm land in 1932 was 76 cents compared to 89 cents in 1931, a reduction of 13 cents per acre. The comparison also shows that the rate of taxation per acre of farm land in 1932 in Ohio was $1.02, Indiana 91 cents, Illinois 92 cents and Michigan 85 cents. In these same states the tax rate for 1931 per acre in Ohio were $1.15, Indiana $1.32, Illinois $1.03, and Michigan $1.18.

LOCAL FARMERS TO BE PAID FOR CORN AND HOG CROP CUTS
 Fond du Lac and Washington counties corn and hog producers will receive a share of the $350,000,000 federal funds to be paid to farmers who cooperate in the government plan which aims to increase corn and hog prices and to discourage the production of further surpluses of these products.
 Fond du Lac county had 43,800 hogs on its farms on January 1, 1932, reports Walter H. Ebling, federal crop reporter for Wisconsin.
 In Fond du Lac county, working through County Agent S. P. Murat, and in Washington county working through County Agent Byrnes, the county agriculture committees of these counties have been asked by officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the United States Department of Agriculture to assist in handling the administration of the plan in these two counties.
 The plan as considered by a committee of 25 corn and grain belt hog and corn farmers, and finally prepared by officials of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration, provides for bonus payments by the government of $5 a head on 75 per cent of the average number of hogs farrowed annually on farms of contracting producers and sold by them during 1932 and 1933.
 To receive this benefit the farmer is asked to reduce in 1934 the number of litters farrowed and the number of hogs sold by at least 25 per cent. At the same time, contracting farmers must agree to reduce their corn acreage by at least 20 per cent.
HOW THE PLAN WORKS
 The plan as it affects hog production will operate as follows: Farmer A has been raising eight litters of pigs a year from which he has annually sold about 40 market hogs. To come under the plan he must reduce the number of litters at least by 25 per cent or to six litters and the number of hogs marketed at least to 30.
 Carrying out this contract the farmer is due to receive a bonus of $5 a head on 30 hogs (75 per cent of the average number farrowed on farm and sold). Roughly then he will be paid cash benefits of about $150 for the hog part of his adjustment. In addition there will be a cash benefit paid him for his 20 per cent reduction in corn acreage. Provisions of the corn acreage reduction will be explained in an early issue of the Statesman.

WHEN PAYMENTS ARE MADE
 The first payment of $2 a head on hogs is to be made to Farmer A on acceptance of the contract, one dollar a head more about September 1, 1934, and an additional two dollars a head about February 1, 1935. The grower who fails to fulfill his contract forfeits his final payment and must surrender also the initial payments received.
 The Wisconsin representative on the committee which originally drew up the corn-hog adjustment was John D. Jones, Jr., Racine County farmer and former Commissioner of Agriculture for Wisconsin.

Cabbage growers in Wisconsin, Michigan, New York, and Ohio by report of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, have been getting $1.10 ton instead of an average of $1.00 ton as stated in the original contract with packers. Because of an exceptionally short crop, cabbage on the market has been selling well above the contract price.

The corn crop of the United States is estimated at 2,291,000,000 bushels which is 581,000,000 bushels more than the five year average. Stocks of corn on hand are estimated at a little over 312,000,000 bushels, or a little over 13 per cent of last year's production. These are the largest corn stocks on hand since estimates have been made during the period of the past eight years.
