

KEWASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

This week marks the close of another six-weeks of school. The usual tests covering the work of the past six weeks are being given.

Ruth Corbett of the Class of 1932 visited school on Monday, Henry Lay of the Class of 1931 was a visitor on Tuesday.

Oratorical and Declamatory work is now being organized. Each of the two contests have an ample number of participants.

The Milwaukee School of Engineering will give an electrical demonstration and a short explanation of each demonstration at the high school on Tuesday evening, March 13th. A general admission of 15 cents will be charged. This electrical demonstration is highly educational and is so planned that the interest of the audience is never lost. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The class tournaments in basketball were started on Thursday with a game between the Freshmen and Sophomore girls. The winner of this game will play the Grammar room girls' team for the girls' championship. The Freshmen and Sophomore boys will play at 3:15 on Friday. Their game will be followed by the Junior-Senior game. The championship game will be played on Tuesday of next week.

GRAMMAR ROOM

In a recent survey the following Masterpieces of Art were voted as favorites: "Men are Square" by Beneker, "The Fighting Temeraire" by Turner, "Spring" by Corot, "Avenue of Trees" by Hobbema.

We are testing our wits by checker games before and after school. The championship has not been decided.

Talks on First Flowers of Spring and First Returning Birds are being given during morning exercises.

"Pop-eye" our canary, has learned to sing. His cheerful song is a source of pleasure to us. Last week he visited the other rooms.

Dickie Edwards was a visitor in our room on Wednesday.

KEWASKUM RESIDENTS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William Bunkelman, Sr., prominent residents of this village since 1918, last week Friday, March 2nd, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bunkelman, Jr.

At five o'clock a wedding dinner was served to the immediate relatives. Later in the evening several of the neighbors joined the celebration. At seven o'clock Rev. Gerhard Kanless gave a very appropriate address. This was followed by several. The remainder of the evening was spent in conversation and social entertainment.

Mr. Bunkelman, 77, was born October 26, 1856 in Germany. Mrs. Bunkelman, 77, whose maiden name was Helen Albrecht, was also born in Germany on April 13, 1857. They were married in Milwaukee on March 2, 1884. For several years after their marriage they made their home in Milwaukee, then moved to Campbellsport. Later they lived on a farm one mile east of St. Michaels in the Town of Farmington which they operated until they retired in 1918, then moving to this village.

Their union was blessed with five children. One son, Frederick, died as a youth. Those living to enjoy the golden wedding are Mrs. Martha Staeger of Town Scott, William, Jr., and Mrs. Elmer Martin of this village and Mrs. Walter Kronhelm of Milwaukee. The venerable couple also have eleven grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunkelman, who are highly respected citizens of this community have a large circle of friends who join the Statesman in extending hearty congratulations and best wishes.

"THEIRS NOT TO REASON WHY" — By Albert T. Reid

HIGHWAY 67 NOT TO BE RELOCATED AT PRESENT

After listening to delegations from Campbellsport, both for and against the proposition of relocating Highway 67 in that village, the Fond du Lac County Highway Commission voted to hold the proposition in abeyance until a state highway commission official inspect the two routes proposed and makes his recommendation.

The village board of Campbellsport requests that the Highway be left in its present location entering the village from the west over Union street and coinciding with Fond du Lac avenue and Main street, while the businessmen want it relocated so that it will enter the village on Main street. The businessmen have asked for the relocation believing that they would be materially benefited giving them an opportunity to take advantage of the tourist trade.

LOCAL ODD FELLOWS LOSE TO FOND DU LAC

A basket ball team representing the Kewaskum Odd Fellows journeyed to Fond du Lac last Sunday afternoon for a return engagement with the Fond du Lac Odd Fellows Five, and lost to their brothers in a very interesting and spirited game.

Up to the last five minutes of play the locals were in the lead by a 37 to 31 score, but the length of these five minutes and the anxiety of winning affected the team mates and consequently several fouls were called upon them which aided the Fondy brethren to forge ahead via the free throw route and finally winning the game by one point, 40 to 39. Although the locals did very well in making field goals, inability to loop the ball through the net from the free throw line was the chief reason for the defeat.

VILLAGES TO BENEFIT BY DUST LAYING PROJECT

The Fond du Lac highway commission last week voted favorably for a dust laying project which will benefit every village and city in that county. The project calls for 34 miles of highway to be treated. It is expected that before the summer is over at least 50 miles of highway in said county will be oil treated.

Some of the highway patrol men selected at the commission meeting included: Edward Koch, Highway 65 south of Fond du Lac city to county line and Highway 67 from Highway 55 to Campbellsport. A. H. Urban, Highway 67 from the west county line to Campbellsport. M. Elmer, Highway 67 from Campbellsport east to Highway F, at Dundee, and S. O'Connor, Highway 67 from Dundee north and east to the Sheboygan county line.

Mr. Koch will patrol 25.10 miles, A. H. Urban 27.72 miles, M. Elmer 26 miles, and S. O'Connor 24 miles.

VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Kewaskum, Wis., March 5, 1934

The village board met in monthly session with President Peters presiding and all members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

A resolution by Trustee Schaefer pertaining to the nomination of candidates for village offices was on roll call, passed and adopted. All members voting "Aye".

RESOLUTION

Resolved by the village board of the village of Kewaskum that candidates for village offices shall be required to file nomination papers with the village clerk in accordance to section 5.27 of the statutes.

The following resolution signed by Trustee Heppie was on roll call, passed and adopted.

Resolved by the village board of the Village of Kewaskum that the salaries of the following offices for the ensuing year shall be and hereby are fixed as follows:

Village Clerk, $200.00; Treasurer, $100.00; Health Officer, $15.00.

It was moved and carried that the amount of $30.00 be paid to President Peters for time and expense for supervising C.W.A. projects.

Bills were allowed as follows:

GENERAL FUND

Wis. Gas & Elect. Co., Service street, hall and S. pump, $123.49
A. G. Koch, Coal, 18.45
H. J. Lay Lumber Co., Sew. pipe, cement and supplies, 69.01
Kewaskum Statesman, Pub. Proceedings for 1933, 65.00
E. M. Romaine, Treas. Bond Premium, 12.50
W. Belger, Labor, 12.50
Val. Peters, President Salary, 25.00
Va. Peters, Allowance for expense C.W.A., 30.00
S. N. Casper, Clerk Salary, 200.00
John Marx, Treasurer Salary, 100.00
Herman Belger, Trustee Sal., 15.00
Frank Heppie, Trustee Sal., 15.00
P. J. Haug, Trustee Sal., 15.00
K. A. Honeck, Trustee Sal., 15.00
John F. Schaefer, Trustee Sal., 15.00
Geo. F. Brandt, Marshall Sal. and dance sup., 120.00
Dr. R. G. Edwards, Health Off., 15.00

WATERWORKS FUND

Wis. Gas & Elect. Co., Elect. Service at P. H., $41.00
S. N. Casper, Secy. Sal. and attendant (February), 125.00

Upon motion made and carried the Board adjourned to 7 o'clock P.M. March 26, 1934.

S. N. CASPER, Village Clerk

CORN-HOG ASSOCIATION PERFECTED

The organization meeting of the Washington County Corn-Hog association was held at the Court House, West Bend on Thursday afternoon, March 1. The representatives present adopted the articles of the association approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

They also fixed and approved a budget to complete the organization work and set March 15 as the final date for acceptance of Corn-Hog Reduction contracts in Washington county. Final plans were made to obtain the necessary information from producers who are not signing Reduction contracts. According to Administrative Ruling, the committee is held responsible for obtaining some information from every farmer whose 1933 Assessment figures show him to be the owner of two or more brood sows. Farmers who do not sign the contracts are urged to see one of the committee members in the township and give him the required information.

The officers and allotment committee elected at the organization meeting attended by the permanent chairman of each township are:

President—Paul Horlamus
Vice-President—Wm. H. Grubbe
Secretary—E. D. Byrns
Treasurer—John Mayer

Allotment Committee Members—Ray Lepein, Henry Gettleman.

The president automatically acts as one of the County Allotment Committee members. The vice-president acts in the absence of any of the members of the committee.

The members of the permanent township committee are as follows:

Addison—Louis Kuhaupt, George Schmidt, Thomas Pfeiffer.
Barton-West Bend—Paul Horlamus, Guido Schroeder, Paul Fromm.
Trenton—Glen Barber, Milo Salter, Edwin Ahlers.
Farmington—Wm. H. Grubbe, Ben P. Stahl, Hugo Hauch.
Kewaskum—A. H. Seefeldt, Christ. Backhaus, Wilmer Prost.
Wayne—John Mayer, George Herman, Franklin Blank.
Polk—Christ. Mehlius, Harry Kissinger, George Nehm.
Hartford—Ray Lepein, John Bayer, Math. P. Becker.
Jackson—Paul Schubert, Theodore Steffen, E. J. Schöwalter.
Germantown—Henry W. Gettleman, Wm. Wetterau, Seno. Bast.
Richfield—Albert Schulteis, James Friday, Archibald House.
Erin—J. F. O'Neill, John Flynn, Alvin Roemer.

ADELL

Miss Agnes Plautz called on Miss Gladys Wilke Tuesday.

Paul Manske called on Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Staeger and family Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Borgenhaagen and Mrs. Emil Spieker, Sr., were Sheboygan callers Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Staeger and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Staeger and family.

Miss Nelda Staeger of Milwaukee visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Staeger and family.

Mrs. Aug. Schmidt, Sr., and Mrs. Otto Schmidt, visited Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Gust. Plautz and family.

Those who attended the birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gust. Plautz Sunday evening in honor of their daughter, Anita's, birthday anniversary were: Mr. and Mrs. William Wedke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Plautz, Ruth Plautz, Orsta and Anna Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt and family and Miss Lydia Schmidt, all of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt and family, Mrs. August Schmidt and daughter, Alma, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Staeger and family, Eldred Michaels, Paul Manske and Harry and Art. Plautz. The evening was spent in playing cards.

CAUCUS CALLS

TOWN OF KEWASKUM

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Town of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, that a caucus for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices of said Town of Kewaskum will be held at the Town Hall, Kewaskum Village, on Saturday, March 10, 1934, and that the polls of said caucus will be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., on said day. Nominations will be made by ballot furnished by the undersigned caucus committee. Every candidate for nomination is requested to make written application to the undersigned committee to have his name placed on the ballot not later than Thursday, March 8, 1934, at 12 o'clock noon. Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $1.50, which amount will be used in defraying expenses for ballots and conducting the caucus.

LOUIS HADECK
JOHN ETTA
PAUL BACKHAUS
Caucus Committee

TOWN OF AUBURN

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Town of Auburn, Fond du Lac County, that a caucus for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices of said town will be held in Corbett's place at New Fane on Thursday, March 15 between the hours of 2 p. m. and 4 p. m. Nominations will be made by ballot.

Every candidate for nomination is requested to make application to the undersigned committee to have his name placed on the ballot, this request to be made not later than Saturday, March 10th at 6 p. m.

Dated March 1, 1934.

JULIUS REYSEN
ADOLPH HEBERER
CHAS. KRAHN
Caucus Committee

ROAD PATROLMEN NAMED

The Washington County Highway Commission at their meeting held in the court house, West Bend, Tuesday named the road patrolmen for the ensuing year. They are:

Marcus Vogelsang, West Bend, route 3.
Sol. Gilligan—Jackson.
Joseph Eiche—Hartford, route 3.
Arthur Becker—Slinger.
Fred Wenborne—Allenton.
Anthony Staehel, Kewaskum, route 5.
Alex. Thelsen—Kewaskum, route 4.
Clarence Schloemer, West Bend, R. 5.
Milton Wicket—West Bend, R. 4.
Paul Kannenberg—Rockfield.
Joseph Rice—Richfield, route 1.
Raymond Jeffords—Hartford, route 1.
Arnold Wittig—Hartford, route 3.

LICENSE FEE SET BY RANDOM LAKE COUNCIL

On February 21st the village board of Random Lake passed an ordinance to license and regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors within the limits of that village. The license fees to be paid are in two classes.

Retail Class "A" liquor license, where the retailer sells, deals and traffics in intoxicating liquors only in original packages or containers, in quantities of not more than one wine gallon at any one time, and to be consumed off the premises so licensed, the fee shall be $100.00 per year.

Retail Class "B" liquor license, where its holder sells, deals and traffics in intoxicating liquors to be consumed on the premises so licensed by the glass only, and not in original package or container, the fee shall be $50.00 per year.

FOND DU LAC COUNTY TO RECEIVE $47,390 AID

County Highway Commissioner, J. H. Bottkol, Fond du Lac, Wis., Saturday received notice from the State Highway Commission that the total amount of state aid for the improvement of city, village and township roads which are not portions of the state or county trunk highway systems and not direct connections through cities between state trunk highways will amount to $47,390.40 based on 924.46 miles of road.

In the towns and villages the rate of allotment is $40 per mile. Allotments for villages and townships in the southern part of the county include: Campbellsport village $154.40, Eden village $15.20, Ashford $2,188, Auburn $1,732.40, Eden town $1,924.40, and Osceola $1,519.

OFFICE OF THE VILLAGE CLERK.

Kewaskum, Wis., March 6, 1934.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES AT THE ENSUING MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Independent or Non-partisan nominations for municipal offices as provided for by Section 5.26 of the Election Laws of the State of Wisconsin, may be made by nomination papers signed by qualified electors of the village. Such nomination papers must be filed with the village clerk not later than 9:00 o'clock p. m., March 19, 1934.

Blank nomination papers may be obtained from the Village Clerk.

S. N. CASPER, Village Clerk

NOTICE OF ELECTION

State of Wisconsin) County of Washington) ss.
Village of Kewaskum)

Kewaskum, Wis., March 6, 1934.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the village of Kewaskum, that a regular municipal election is to be held on the first Tuesday in April next, being the third (3rd) day of said month A. D. 1934. Officers in and for said village are to be elected as follows, to-wit:—

A President to succeed Val. Peters.
A Clerk to succeed S. N. Casper.
Two Trustees (term two years) to succeed Frank Heppie and John F. Schaefer.
One Trustee (term two years) to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Chas. Hafeman.
A Treasurer to succeed John Marx.
An Assessor to succeed Frank Quandt.
A Supervisor to succeed Newton W. Rosenheimer.
A Justice of the Peace for two years.
A Justice of the Peace for one year.
A Constable.

Polls will be open from 9:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

S. N. CASPER Village Clerk.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

Turning from city newspapers to small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shattering of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.—Christian Science Monitor.

WILL ASSIST IN MAKING OUT INCOME TAX RETURN

representative of the Assessor of Income's office will be at the court house, West Bend, today, March 9th to assist anyone who desires information and assistance in making their state income tax return for 1933. All returns must be in assessor of income's office by not later than midnight, March 15, 1934.

IN LOVING MEMORY

One year ago, March 12, 1933, Shirley Louise Backhaus passed away, and is greatly mourned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loran Backhaus.

We had a little treasure once,
She was our joy and pride,
We loved her, ah perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died.
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly,
Has forever passed away.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I am now fully equipped to do grafting, pruning and spray fruit trees and shrubbery. Give me a call, Word deacon, reasonable.—Ted Schoofs, Kewaskum, Wis. R. 3, Tel. 641F2. (Adv.)

PUBLIC AUCTION

The undersigned will on Thursday, March 15, 1934 beginning at 1 p. m. sharp sell at Public Auction on her farm located in the Town of Auburn two miles east of New Fane, 5 1/2 miles northeast of Kewaskum, 6 miles south of Beechwood, and 3 miles north of St. Michaels, on County Trunk DD, her real estate and personal property. In case of bad weather auction will be held on March 17, same hour.

The farm for sale consists of 40 acres, mostly under cultivation, with good frame barn, 32x55, chicken coop, 14x18, all buildings equipped with electric power, 7 room residence, good well on place, if farm is not sold it will be offered for rent the same day of the auction.

For list of personal property to be sold read the auction posters.

Terms made known on day of sale.

Mrs. Theodore Mertes, Owner.
Geo. F. Brandt, Auctioneer.
M. W. Rosenheimer, Clerk.

CONGRESSMAN REILLY RECOMMENDS NAVY APPOINTMENT

As a result of an examination held February 17 in which 23 candidates participated, Congressman M. K. Reilly last week recommended that Jack A. R. Josephson of Oshkosh be appointed to the navy department as midshipman. Chester F. Pinkerton of Oshkosh was selected as first alternate, Robert August Merck of Chilton, second alternate, and Karl A. Raloff of Thesville as third alternate.

PEACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH

A special unveiling service will be held in Sunday school Sunday at 9:00 a. m. All are cordially invited! German service at 10:00 a. m.

Lenten service (German) Wednesday evening at 7:30. Come! Rev. A. Graf of Wayne will preach.

This year's class of catechumens will be presented Sunday, March 18th and confirmed the following Sunday.

Richard M. A. Gadow, Pastor

NOTICE

The dumping of rubbish on my property near St. Michaels is positively prohibited. Those refusing to obey this order will be punished to the full extent of the law.—Gregory Schmitz, Kewaskum, Wis. (Adv.) 3 32p

TAX COLLECTION NOTICE

The undersigned will be at the Bank of Kewaskum on March 20th, 1934 to receive tax money. Any person unable to pay at that time should file an affidavit with the Treasurer for an extension of time. Blank forms for affidavits can be secured from the Treasurer.

LOUIS OPGENORTH, Treasurer
Town of Kewaskum

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Carl and John Keller who died two years ago March 12, 1932.

There is no death: an angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread
And takes our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead."
He leaves our hearts all desolate.
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers;
Transplanted into bliss, they now
Adorn immortal bowers.
Sadly missed by his parents, brothers and sisters.

Leaders of county rural clubs in Milwaukee county recently held a leaders' school at which they gave attention to problems connected with the organization of drama, recreation and music work in their respective clubs. The school was conducted under the leadership of the home demonstration agent of that county.

Subscribe for The Statesman NOW.

Subscribe for THE KEWASKUM STATESMAN.

Wisconsin News Briefly Told

Madison—E. E. Parker, former Madison city engineer, has been appointed Wisconsin state highway engineer to succeed the late John T. Donaghey.

Ashland—Loot allegedly stolen from three summer cottages and one farm home was recovered in treetops near an Odanah fur farm by Sheriff E. J. Hennell.

Asland—The Asland city council voted unanimously for a special election with the state election Apr. 3 on whether Asland should purchase the local water plant.

Beaver Dam—Miss Mary Shellman announced that she would be a candidate for mayor at the spring election here. She retired last year after teaching school for 51 years.

Madison—Public school aids totaling $4,348,522.74 for this year were certified by State Supt. John Callahan to Secretary of State Theodore Dammann for payment to the school districts.

Madison—Wisconsin leads the nation in per capita beer consumption by a matter of three gallons per person, according to figures compiled by Joseph Dublin, editor of Brewery Age.

Oconto—James Felix, 78, chief of the Oconto volunteer fire department, died at the Oconto hospital of blood poisoning resulting from a scratch. Felix helped fight the Peshtigo fire in 1871.

Madison—Incorporation papers have been filed with Secretary of State Theodore Dammann by the Burlington Lians' club, nationally famous group of "tall story" experts, it has been disclosed here.

Madison—The late Minnie P. Huber, widow of Lieut. Gov. Henry Huber, left an estate of more than $50,000, of which $25,000 has been set aside as an educational fund for needy farm boys and girls, according to terms of a will filed in Dane county court.

Milwaukee—An explosion and fire at the Schlitz Brewing company here killed one employee and severely burned another. The fire started when a gasoline tank on an air compressor exploded. The fire was extinguished after causing only slight damage.

Madison—Nearly 1,000 disabled persons in Wisconsin have been placed at work since last June, largely because of aid given them under the rehabilitation division of the state board of vocational education, according to W. F. Faulkes, state supervisor.

Manitowoc—Water gave out so firemen used whey from a nearby cheese factory when fire badly damaged the parsonage of the Rev. Harold O. Grundwald of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church at Louis Corners, southeast of here. The whey helped firemen prevent spread of flames to other buildings.

Stoughton—Henry Fladden, 23-year-old Utica farm hand, shot and probably fatally wounded Miss Mary Gylan, 21, and then killed himself with a shotgun near here. Authorities believed unrequited love was responsible for the tragedy which occurred at the farm home of Hans Rustad, an uncle for whom Miss Gylan kept house.

Madison—Effective Mar. 2, wage scales for civil works employes in Wisconsin will range from 45 cents to $1.20 an hour for a 24 hour week, the state CWA headquarters here has announced. The prevailing wages of the various communities are used as the basis for the new schedule which has been approved by the industrial commission.

Madison—Public utilities must obtain the owner's consent to erect wires on his land, the state public service commission has ruled. The commission advised Edward Malek, Polonia, that the statute of limitations does not apply in such cases and that he is entitled to damages for use of lands on which the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, Stevens Public, erected to poles about six years ago without his consent.

Madison—The state industrial commission indicated that it will wait for a few more weeks at least before ordering the official publication that will put the state unemployment insurance law into general effect. The index of employment had increased sufficiently last fall to fulfill the requirement established by the 1933 legislation when it postponed the operation of the law beyond July 1, 1933, the original effective date.

Winter—Burns suffered in a fire which destroyed their farm home near here caused the deaths of Chaney Fisher, 41, his wife and two of their children. The fire started when Fisher poured a can of gasoline instead of kerosene on a kitchen stove fire.

Richland Center—The report of Richland Center's municipally owned electric and water utilities shows an operating profit for the year of $15,067.67. The gross business of the joint utilities is $87,238.06.

Dodgeville—Dr. F. W. Philip died here, the fifth victim of the Philip family within two weeks. A brother shot and killed two other brothers and a sister and then committed suicide in Canada. Dr. Philip died unaware of the death of his brothers and sister.

Juneau—A $25,000 libel action has been filed in county court here by Ernest Kufahl of Milwaukee against A. M. Thompson of Watouakee, who wrote an article about a year ago in a detective magazine in which Kufahl was mentioned.

Wausau—James E. Van Zandt of Washington, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will come here Mar. 12 to make an address. Burns post No. 288, Wausau, plans a civic celebration.

Madison—The first slash in Wisconsin civil works payrolls in accordance with the federal order to wind up this program May 1 took 9,500 workers from the present 68,000 quota, the CWA office announced here.

Juneau—The former Libby, McNeill & Libby condenser here is being operated by a group of Dodge county farmers who call themselves the Producers' Co-operative association.

Antigo—Operating since late in December, the Antigo Milk Products Cooperative will ship its first Swiss cheese early in March. About 25,000 pounds of milk are being made daily into eight rolls of cheese weighing more than 200 pounds each.

Manitowoc—Construction of three patrol boats for the coast guard service will be under way in a few days at the shipyards here. Staging is being erected for the work on the steel hulls and the boats are expected to be completed almost simultaneously next fall.

Oshkosh—After winning eight cash prizes and breaking a world speed record in the Pan-American air races at New Orleans, S. J. Wittman, Byron Aviator, has returned to Oshkosh. He reached the airport here five hours and 10 minutes after taking off from New Orleans, nearly 1,000 miles away.

Milwaukee—Fourteen hundred employes of the Seaman Body corporation went on strike while walkouts were averted at two shoe companies here. The strikers demanded a 20 per cent wage increase and recognition of the demands of the 1,200 employes of the Racine division of the Nash Motors company now on strike.

Antigo—Something new in maple sirup production may soon be undertaken here. The plan is to have the owners of sugar bushes, instead of completing the process of sirup boiling on their farms, bolt the sap down to a condenser, where sirup making will be completed by the vacuum pan process.

Madison—Ten thousand injuries to CWA workers were reported to Harry A. Nelson, state director of CWA compensation, since the start of the civil works program last November, Nelson has announced. Approximately 2,000 cases involved neither disability nor the necessity for medical treatment and approximately 8,000 cases required treatment.

Juneau—Dismissal of two actions brought against Sheriff Henry E. Lehman of Dodge county and one of his deputies, Elmer Hall, by Tony Kuris of Horicon and Alfred Yacks of near Iron Ridge, brought about the dismissal of 12 criminal actions pending in circuit court against persons arrested during the milk strikes for destruction to property.

Madison—Contributions ranging all the way from a few pennies donated by school children to those of several hundred dollars given by large dairy firms have been received by the Babcock State Fund. The gifts are to be used to build a fitting memorial to the late Dr. Stephen Maniton Babcock, University of Wisconsin scientist who gave the world the Babcock milk test.

Racine—Motion of Walter and Russell Holding for a new trial in their $25,000 damage suit against Sheriff Miles A. Hulett and Deputy Vested Jensen has been denied by Judge C. M. Davison, who presided at the first trial. The jury returned a verdict that Hulett Holding was shot during an unlawful assembly. Holding was wounded during a milk strike disorder last May.

Madison—Every man, woman and child in Wisconsin would owe, besides personal obligations, a public debt of $81.83 if long-term public obligations, totaling $184,144,578, were apportioned according to the 1930 census. A state tax commission analysis for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1932, showed that the public debt was cut down $3,792,068 from the high point in a five-year period of $184,936,636 in 1931.

Madison—Finding that six former inmates of the Northern hospital for the insane at Winnebago had met death by violence and brutality at the institution, the legislative prison committee submitted a report to Governor Schmedeman asking immediate discharge of 20 hospital employees. The employees whose dismissal was requested included Dr. Peter Bell, hospital superintendent, now on leave of absence and senior physicians, Drs. J. E. McElligott and Russell C. Morrison. The others are Margaret Keenan, graduate nurse, and 16 hospital attendants, two of whom are women.

Kenosha—Kenosha city employes may get a 15 per cent reduction in pay, authorized two years ago, returned to them in the form of baby bonds to be applied on their delinquent taxes. If a resolution authorized drawn by the council here is enacted into an ordinance.

Madison—Careless smokers were blamed for 1,375 Wisconsin forest fires which caused more than half the damage to state forest last summer in a report issued by the state conservation department.

Madison—Wisconsin nurseries put out 5,101,700 forest trees in 1932, of which the state planted 2,281,000 on county land and 2,855,100 on state land and private land owners planted 757,000 the state conservation department reports.

Eau Claire—Richard Westlund, deputy collector of internal revenue with headquarters here for the last 15 years, announced his resignation to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the ninth district.

CORN BELT FOR "PRODUCTION COST"

Two Farmer Groups Bolt the Wallace Program.

Columbia, Mo.—The corn belt committee and the Missouri Farmers' association, both headed by William Hirth, followed their leader into line with the movement for farm prices based on "average production cost" as opposed to the AAA farm relief program.

Terrell Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's program as "little more than a tumble weed in a cyclone," Hirth called on members of the corn belt committee and other farm organizations and leaders affiliated with him to meet at the farm conference called to attend at Des Moines on March 10, 11, and 12 by Governor Herring of Iowa. Purpose of conference will be to consider means of obtaining a fair price parity between agricultural and industrial products.

Hirth, who said he had reached his decision after consultation with Governor Olson of Minnesota, was, as leader of the M. F. A., largest farm co-operative in America, a constant thorn in the side of the now defunct federal farm board.

His announcement, however, was his first sharp break with the Roosevelt administration's farm relief program. Hirth was a staunch supporter of Roosevelt.

"Because of the hundreds of NRA codes which have been recently adopted and which have already caused sharp advances in certain merchandise prices," Hirth said, "the farmer's position has become more critical than ever, and the only possible answer to this situation is the fixing of fair farm prices in our home markets based on the average production cost, and this means compulsory control of the various farm surpluses.

"Last year's gross farm income was less than half that of 1923 and 1929, and thus the billion dollars which Secretary Wallace proposes to add to this year's farm income, even though the codes did not promise to wipe it out and more, would amount to little more than a tumble weed in a cyclone.

"Under the Bankhead bills, which President Roosevelt favors, the price is taking steps to fix a fair price on domestically consumed cotton, and I trust that the above conference will convince Secretary Wallace that the corn belt demands the same assurance on wheat, hops, and dairy products.

"There can be no doubt that the farm situation has become more dangerous than ever, and that the time has finally arrived when half way measures will no longer suffice. Unless the farmer is placed on an even footing with industry not only is the complete collapse of agriculture inevitable but it will be impossible for our farmers to become the deciding factor in national recovery."

Peek to Head Three Export-Import Banks

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt, in conference with his foreign trade advisors, including cabinet members and officials of different departments and agencies, decided to inaugurate a system of three government export and import banks to finance trade with Russia, Cuba and foreign countries generally.

George N. Peek, foreign trade advisor to the President, accepted an invitation of the President to assume the presidency of all three banks while continuing in his present post as well. Mr. Peek will direct the development of a foreign trade administration to advise not only on financing but on the control of exports and imports and the adjustment of tariffs.

Pennsylvania Passenger Train Wreck Kills Twelve

Pittsburgh, Pa.—At least 12 persons were killed when a fast Pennsylvania railroad passenger train was wrecked near the Federal street station here. The engine plunged through a bridge into an underpass, piling steel and iron wreckage in the street below. Five cars piled up over the engine, one of them crashing into the Clark Chewing Gum plant, ripping off a corner.

Bear Tears Off Muscles

Hollywood, Calif.—A Himalayan bear in a jungle scene attacked John Hellott, fifty years old, animal trainer, and bit away entirely the calf muscles of Hellott's right leg. A few hours earlier a lion attacked Alvin Wykoff, a cameraman.

Pinchot in Senate Race

Harrisburg, Pa.—Gov. Clifford Pinchot entered the Republican primary campaign for the United States senate, announcing his candidacy in opposition to Senator David A. Reed.

Admits Killing Father

Muncie, Ind.—Marvin Gleason has confessed, authorities say, that he killed his father, Lloyd C. Gleason, during a scuffle for possession of a bottle of liquor after the elder Gleason dared him to take it.

Oberlin, Ohio—Dr. Henry Churchill King, nationally known educator and president of Oberlin college for 24 years, died at his home here. He retired as president of Oberlin in 1927.

Three Burned to Death

Winter, Wis.—A mother and two small children were dead and the husband was in critical condition at a hospital as the result of a fire which destroyed the home of Chaney Fisher near here.

Tornado Sweeps South

Birmingham, Ala.—Winter tornadoes cut an erratic path of destruction across Alabama, Georgia, and Mississippi, leaving in their wake more than a score of dead and dozens of injured.

EMPEROR KANG TEH

Henry Pu-yi, who once was known as the emperor of China, was crowned emperor of Manchukuo, taking the name Kang Teh, which means "tranquillity and virtue."

KANSAS CITY BANDIT SLAYS BANK RUNNER

Cold Blooded Murder Marks $207,294 Robbery.

Kansas City, Mo.—Underworld characters were routed from their haunts here by policemen seeking the slayers of a bank messenger who was robbed of cash and bonds worth $207,294.

Two men and a woman were under arrest. The police said one of the men had been identified as a member of the gang which shot down Webster Kemmer, Commerce Trust company messenger, and escaped with the loot within sight of dozens of persons on a downtown street.

Those under arrest were Sam DeCaro, his wife, and Joe Martino. They were arrested in a hotel an hour after the crime.

Kenner was walking to the post office to mail the securities. He was accompanied by Doyle Swoford, bank guard. One block from the bank three men leaped from a small sedan to the sidewalk.

One bandit covered Swoford with a machine gun, another leveled a pistol at the guard. The third, armed with a revolver, wrenched the watch from Kenner, then fired a bullet into the messenger's heart.

Kenner, though armed, had made no attempt at resistance. The loot included $1,000 cash which was to have been mailed to the Dierks Lumber company at Pineville, Ark., and $3,000 in government bonds consigned to Chicago.

Gold Basis Payment Ordered by Judge

Columbus, Ohio.—Common Pleas Judge John R. King has ruled that the gold embargo invoked by congress and President Roosevelt does not invalidate lawful contracts calling for payment of gold.

The payment, Judge King said, must be made in lawful currency of the United States in a sum equal to the amount of gold called for in the contract.

The ruling was given in a foreclosure action brought by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States against Theodore A. and Edna Freda of Columbus.

Under the decision payment would call for about 41 per cent more on a basis of the present-day dollar, since its value has been cut to slightly more than 59 cents.

American Dies After Crossing Sea 145 Times

Copenhagen, Denmark.—Gloer Phillip G. Peenaboy of Boston, globe-trotter, who had crossed the Atlantic 145 times, died here at the age of seventy-seven.

Beer in Mississippi After 25 Years

Jackson, Miss.—A quarter of a century of state-wide prohibition ended in Mississippi when Governor Comer signed a measure legalizing the sale and manufacture of 4 per cent beer.

Passing of John McGraw

New York.—John J. McGraw, for more than 30 years manager of the New York Giants, died in New Rochelle hospital of uremia complicated with other disorders. He would have been sixty-one years old April 7. Since his retirement as manager in June, 1932, he had been vice president of the club.

Famed Puzzle Maker Dies

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Sam Loyd, king of puzzle makers, is dead. The man whose brain teasers had challenged newspaper readers for 40 years died suddenly of pneumonia in Peck Memorial hospital. He was sixty years old.

Rejects Child Labor Law

State Capitol, Richmond, Va.—The Virginia senate rejected by 30 to 9 a resolution for ratification of the federal child labor amendment.

Tragedy at Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H.—Nine Dartmouth students perished in the Theta Chi fraternity house, victims of fumes of deadly carbon monoxide spread when a furnace pipe in the cellar became disconnected by an explosion of coal gas.

Ustrud Out for Governor

Huron, S. D.—Lieut. Gov. Hans A. Ustrud announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in the primary election.

AIR LINER HITS MOUNTAIN IN UTAH

Seven Men and One Woman Are Killed in Crash.

Salt Lake City.—The bodies of seven men and a woman were found in the wreckage of a United Air liner which crashed on a flight from Salt Lake City to Cheyenne, Wyo.

Rescue parties pushed through the snow from Salt Lake City after the smashed airplane was sighted from the air at dusk and flashed the news that the craft's five passengers and crew of three were dead.

Pilot Lloyd Anderson, a thirty-two-year-old flyer with 7,000 hours' experience, apparently had brushed the plane against a knoll in seeking the plane had developed mechanical trouble in the murky weather.

Apparently the group met death instantly. The wreckage was found only 20 miles from Salt Lake City at the top of Parley's canon, leading out of the Salt Lake valleys. Searching planes had covered hundreds of square miles in hunting the lost ship during the previous 50 hours.

Eric G. Danielson, twenty-nine, who, like Anderson, lived in Cheyenne, was co-pilot of the ship on its last trip. Those killed were:

J. J. Sterling, fifty-six, mayor of Benton Harbor, Mich., who had been to the west coast on legal business.

Marcellus Zinsmaster, fifty-eight, head of a Des Moines, Iowa, baking company.

Erald W. Berglund, thirty-five, a Boone, Iowa, civic leader.

Bert McLaughlin, fifty-two, wealthy Perry, Iowa, business man.

E. L. Walker, Rock Spring, Wyo.

Lloyd Anderson, twenty-nine, co-pilot, Cheyenne.

Miss Mary Carter, twenty-four, stewardess, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Saves His Dixie Farm by Phoning President

Columbus, Miss.—Sylvester Harris, who believed in dealing with the man at the top, knew what to do to save his farm.

Sylvester put in a toll phone call for President Roosevelt and got results. Here's what happened as Sylvester tells it:

"The White House gentleman who answered the phone got mad and said: 'Quit calling the president, but I kept on and finally got him.

"He said: 'Who's this' and I say 'It's Sylvester.'

"I say 'Sylvester Harris, a negro down in Mississippi. A man is getting ready to take my land and I want to know what to do. The papers say call you and here I am.'

"The president says, quiet-like, 'Sylvester, I'll investigate and you'll hear from me.'

The telephone conversation occurred February 15. Since then George Hamilton, local representative of the New Orleans Federal Land bank, has received a telegram from Washington requesting investigation of the mortgage of Sylvester's farm and an adjustment through extension.

House of Commons Snubs Hunger Marchers

London.—The 2,000 hunger marchers who flocked to London to protest against an unemployment bill remained here dejectedly—their last chance of presenting their grievances before the government apparently gone.

After a bitter debate the house of commons upheld the action of Prime Minister MacDonald in refusing to receive representatives who sought an opportunity to appear before him, the cabinet or the bar of the house.

The government had turned thumbs down on the marchers' demands for a hearing, taking the stand that the manifestations were "organized by a body of unscrupulous agitators and propaganda."

Famine Relief Rushed to Virginia Mountains

Richmond, Va.—Emergency relief funds totaling $6,000 were rushed to Buchanan county in southwest Virginia to aid snowbound mountaineers in their desolate cabins, who are threatened with famine and illness as a result of the storm which swept the state.

Youth to Be Hanged in Canada

Quebec.—Nelson Phillips, eighteen, convicted of murdering Maud Aschaf, fourteen, at Peninsula, Que., last fall, was sentenced by Chief Justice Green-shields to be hanged May 18.

XER Ordered Closed

Medico City.—The communications department announced officially that it had ordered the closure of station XER, Kansas City "goat gland" specialist.

Wetmore Dies in Fire

Marietta, Ohio.—A woman perished and four other persons were endangered when two houses burned at Willamstown, Va., across the Ohio river from here.

St. Paul Hotel Robbed

St. Paul.—Three men, transferring $4,000 to the auditor's office of the Lowry hotel, were held up and robbed here by two bandits who escaped. E. H. Reynolds, auditor, said the loot, consisting of the week-end receipts, was half in checks and half money.

Death of College President

Wahoo, Neb.—Dr. A. T. Seashore, sixty-two, president of Luther college, here for 19 years, died at his home from heart disease.

FIRST JOB

By R. H. WILKINSON

IT WASN'T entirely Bruce's fault, though people credited him with the greater part of the blame.

Jocelyn was one of that kind of girls who never show when they are hurt or depressed or feeling badly.

She could, for example, sit in a dentist's chair and let the dentist drill away on a sensitive tooth, and never once mention that the pain was terrific.

It never occurred to her to complain or seek sympathy from others or indulge in self-pity.

She wasn't made that way. She was the sort of person who invites confidences, who is an interested listener.

She was, in fact, an understanding soul and wholly lovable.

But because of this peculiar trait in her makeup, it couldn't be said that Bruce was wholly to blame.

Bruce had no way of knowing that he was hurting Jocelyn.

And he would have loved had anyone else suggested such a thing. For Jocelyn acted exactly the same as she had four years before when she and Bruce were married.

The first year and the second year were perfect.

Bruce was thoughtful and kind and very much in love with his attractive young wife.

And his regard for her increased, if anything, during the third and fourth years.

But after all, a young man who is especially ambitious and extremely interested in his work, and has been married for four years, can't be expected to be as thoughtful as his wife would like to have him.

It began about the middle of the third year.

Little things.

Bruce forgetting sometimes to kiss his wife when he came home at night, dropping into a chair and removing his shoes and apparently thinking of nothing else but relief from a hard day's work.

Forgetting to take off his hat sometimes when he met her on the street.

Forgetting to remark on a new dress she'd put on especially for him for the first time.

Referring occasionally to other women and how smart they looked.

At first Jocelyn didn't mind. She would excuse for him.

But after a while she began to notice, and nothing but.

She'd think about it during the day; alone all day long with nothing much to do but think of Bruce and look forward to his homecoming.

It hurt when the hour of that homecoming arrived and he forgot to kiss her.

She began to brood and the hurt was more poignant.

It wasn't wholly Bruce's fault, because Bruce didn't know.

If he had known it might have been different.

He might have tried to be a little more thoughtful and attentive.

But Jocelyn was always the same.

Always smiling, always eager to listen to his talk about his work, always thoughtful and sympathetic and kind.

Never complaining, never finding fault or letting him know she was hurt and that her heart was aching.

Never letting him see the longing in her eyes, or feel the pounding of her heart.

And so things drifted along, and Jocelyn became more miserable and unhappy; brooded more and fell to wondering and scheming and thinking up ways to win him back without letting him know he'd hurt her.

Those first four years were profitable ones for Bruce.

He was a brilliant young man and a plunger.

He kept his nose to the grindstone, and prospered in a mild sort of way, with prospects of a greater prosperity in the future.

They moved three times, each time into a larger and infinitely more elaborate home.

Bruce was able to give his wife about everything she could possibly want; clothes and a maid and a car to run around in and a liberal amount of spending money with which to entertain her friends and do interesting things.

Everything to make her happy.

Everything, he thought, because he knew that the things he was giving her were the things that most women wanted, that served to fulfill the ambitions of their lives.

Bruce begrudged her nothing, was glad he could do these things to make her happy.

And when on the very eve of their fourth anniversary he completed an exceptionally profitable deal, he remembered suddenly that their anniversary was on the morrow, and decided to celebrate.

He drove home from the office earlier than usual, thinking how he'd surprise Jocelyn with a suggestion that they go off together on a week's trip, just the two of them.

Anywhere she suggested.

Goodness knows he needed a vacation, and it would be nice to have Jocelyn to himself for a week. He sort of a second honeymoon.

It was 4:30 when Bruce reached the house.

He was a little disappointed not to find Jocelyn there waiting for him.

It was sort of an anti-climax. Some of his enthusiasm about the trip died.

He had pictured himself rushing in, sweeping her into his arms and breaking the news; he checked the glow of excitement on her cheeks and the glad light in her eyes.

It was always satisfying to tell Jocelyn any good news.

EXCEPTIONS LISTED FOR FISHING SEASON

To correct public misunderstanding about legal fishing conditions for the next two months, the conservation department issues the following statement.

The season closed on March 1 on large and small mouth bass, white bass, strawberry bass, calico bass, silver bass, rock bass, crappies, pike, pickerel, muskellunge, catfish, and bullheads except in water specified in Section 29.191, Wisconsin Statutes, as listed below. The trout season closed on August 31, 1933, in all waters to reopen May 1, 1934.

The sturgeon season which opened Jan. 5, will close March 15 in the waters of Lake Winnebago in Calumet, Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties. There is no open season on any variety of sturgeon in other waters in the state.

There is no closed season for perch, sunfish, or roach in any of the general inland waters in the state except in waters specifically closed to all fishing.

The bag limit on sunfish or roach in Starkey's lake, Racine county between December 1 and April 1, is 20 each day, or 20 in possession at any one time.

Section 29.208, Wisconsin Statutes, specifies that no person shall take, kill or catch any fish or fish for fish in the waters of the town of Siderlake, Vilas county, excepting Circle Lily, Clear Island, Little Trout, and Lost Lakes between November 1 and May 25 in each succeeding year.

Special open seasons as listed in Section 29.191, Wisconsin Statutes, are as follows: There shall be no closed season for hook and line fishing, except for large and small mouth bass, sturgeon and trout, in any of the following described waters: In the waters of the Mississippi river, the bayou and bayous connected therewith and in the waters of La Fayette and Iowa counties; in the waters of Lake Winnebago, Calumet, Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties; in Buffalo lake, Marquette county; in Puckaway lake in Marquette and Green Lake counties; in Lake Poygan in Winnebago and Waushara counties; in Lakes Winneconne, Big and Little Butte des Morts in Winnebago county; in the Fox river in Marquette, Green Lake, Waushara, Winnebago and Columbia counties except where it flows through Park lake (in which the general laws shall be applicable); in the Wolf river in Shawano, Winnebago, Outagamie and Waupaca counties; in the Rock and Crawfish rivers and in Lake Ripley and Lake Koshkonong in Rock, Jefferson and Dodge counties. There shall be no closed season for hook and line fishing in Park lake in Columbia county and in Lake Wisconsin in Columbia and Sauk counties for perch, bluegills, sunfish, crappies and bullheads. There shall be no closed season for fishing through the ice with hook and line of any variety in the waters of the Mississippi river, and the lakes, bays, bayous and sloughs thereof, or in the waters of Allouez bay, Superior bay, St. Louis bay and St. Louis river connected with Lake Superior; the quantity and minimum length of fish so taken shall be as prescribed in section 29.19, and such fish shall not be sold. In the Lemonweir river in Juneau county the open season for pickerel, bullheads and sunfish shall begin on April fifteenth.

WAYNE

Miss Verna Spoerl was a Sunday visitor of Miss Arline Mertz. Mrs. Jake Hawig visited Sunday with Mrs. Simon Hawig and family. Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Menger and family visited relatives at Jackson last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schultz and son, Allen, spent Sunday at the Ralph Petri home.

Arthur Schneeweis of Milwaukee visited Wednesday with his aunts, the Arnet Sisters. Frank Wietor and Oscar Boegel spent Monday evening with John Werner and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bachman and daughter, Virginia, spent Sunday with relatives at Fillmore and West Bend. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kuehl and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gritzmacher spent one evening last week at the Henry Schaub home near St. Killan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Geidel and son, John, of Kewaunau and Mrs. Peter Gritzmacher visited Sunday with John Schmidt and sisters.

Miss Ruth Menger, who is a student at the Campbellsport High School, visited over Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Menger.

Mrs. John Niesus and daughter, Liz, and Alex Schmidt, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hawig and family of Milwaukee visited Sunday at the John Werner home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bachman were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Martin near Allenton Monday evening where they helped celebrate Mr. Martin's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scharrar and son, Franklin and Sylvester, and Max Baupert of Nabob and Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Ed. Bruessel and sons of Kewaunau visited Sunday at the home of Arnold Howard and family.

Frank Murphy, Herman Polzean and Wm. Foerster, Jr., accompanied by Lloyd Murphy motored to Fond du Lac Sunday evening where Mr. Lloyd Murphy boarded the Soo Line train for South Dakota. While there he expects to purchase some horses.

More than 4200 people have recently attended corn-hog information meetings in Dane county. An average of 215 persons per meeting were reported as coming out to obtain information regarding the corn-hog reduction plan.

GUARD YOUR HOME AND FAMILY

About one-half the number of fires occur in homes. There also the majority of accidents occur.

Common-sense remedies, care and good housekeeping would prevent most of these costly fires and bad accidents. "Home Sweet Home" must also be a SAFE home.

Safety demands that some thought be given to these questions.

Are children permitted to play with matches?

Is kerosene used to start or to quicken fires?

Are kerosene stoves or lamps filled while lighted?

Is gasoline or naphtha used indoors?

Is benzene stove polish used on hot stoves?

Are clothes or other combustible materials too close to stoves or smoke-pipes?

Is the fireplace screened?

Are rubbish and waste allowed to accumulate in basements, attics or closets?

Are gas lights near window shades and curtains?

Have you any rubber hose gas connections?

Can small children readily open gas cocks?

Are open electric wires supported and fastened with porcelain cleats or knobs instead of nails or staples?

Are there any fuses larger than 15 amperes on any lighting circuit?

Is the insulation on electric wires sound?

Are portable light cords of the reinforced type?

Have you a metal stand for the electric iron?

Is the current turned off when the electric iron or appliance is not in use?

Have you any brass shell sockets on electric lights in bathrooms, basements or other damp places?

Have you any switches to control such lights?

Is your radio antenna equipped with lightning arrester?

Are stairs equipped with handrails?

Are stairways well lighted?

Are stairs cluttered up with loose objects?

Are there loose rugs at the foot of the stairs?

Are steps or floors too highly waxed?

Are boxes or chairs used instead of safe stairclimbers?

Are porches provided with railings?

Are floor openings trapped or guarded?

Are sharp tools left where children can get them?

Are poisons properly stored and labeled?

Do you let the automobile engine run in a closed garage?

Have you a good chemical fire extinguisher?

Have you any first aid materials handy?

Do you teach your children safety?

Consideration of these matters may save your home and loved ones.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

GEDAR LAWN AT ELMORE
Bert Thelen of Ashford was a business caller here Monday.

W. Siedl looked after business at Campbellsport Wednesday.

Mary Guggisberg was entertained by her friends at Campbellsport on Tuesday.

Miss Anita Struebing of Lomira visited over the week-end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schaefer of Milwaukee spent Sunday here with relatives.

Miss Marcella Rauch visited with Miss Lillian Odekerk at South Eden last week.

Miss Mary Schaub of Milwaukee spent from Friday until Sunday here with her mother.

E. E. Dellert returned to Milwaukee Sunday after visiting at his home here since Friday.

Mrs. W. Siedl, who was quite ill for a number of weeks, is able to be about in the house.

Mrs. William Rauch, Sr., from south-east Ashford visited her son, Edward Rauch, and family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Huirs and daughter, Dona, of Campbellsport called on Mr. and Mrs. John Frey Sunday.

Gerhard Weifer, Frank Markert, Elsie Pieper and A. Weisfogel of Milwaukee called on the Joe Markert family Sunday.

William Michels, Mrs. Dieringer and Mrs. Sabish visited with Mrs. Michels at the St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, last Sunday.

Ervin Dieringer is still seriously ill with pneumonia and pleurisy. Dr. Leo Hoffman of Campbellsport is the attending physician.

WISCONSIN CHEESE EXCHANGE
Plymouth, Wis., March 2.—On the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange today 250 boxes of cheese were offered and all sold as follows: 100 Twins at 13 1/4c and 150 Daisies at 14c, State Brand, One-half cent less was suggested for Standard Brand. The sales a year ago today were 120 Twins at 8c and 50 Daisies at 8 1/2c.

FARMERS' CALL BOARD
Plymouth, Wis., March 2.—On the Farmers' Call Board today 1,070 boxes of cheese were offered for sale and all sold as follows: 305 cases of Longhorns at 14c, 30 Young Americas at 14c, State Brand, One-half cent less was suggested for Standard Brand. The sales a year ago today were 810 cases of Longhorns at 8 1/4c, 40 Young Americas at 8 1/2c, 265 Daisies at 8 1/2c and 37 Twins at 8 1/4c.

Signers of corn-hog contracts are agreeing to milk in 1934 not any more cows than they kept in 1932 or 1933 for the production of milk or its products to be sold.

BEECHWOOD

Mrs. Stephen Klein visited Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Ray Krahn.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis visited with Mr. and Mrs. Art. Klein Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ed. Stahl last Sunday had as her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schoetz, Master Kenneth Engelmann spent Sunday afternoon with Robert Krahn.

Misses Helen and Esther Rosenthal spent Friday evening with Miss Veila Staage.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sauter and daughter, Yvonne, spent Saturday at Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Al. Sauter and daughter, Margery, motored to Sheboygan on Tuesday.

John and Emma Held visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Renard at West Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stegried visited Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schroeder.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Firme visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Firme at Slinger Sunday.

Miss Catherine Luker of Milwaukee visited from Saturday until Tuesday at the Chas. Firme home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Jung of Milwaukee called at the Frank Schroeder and John Held homes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Engelmann were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stegried last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trapp visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krahn and son, Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Held of Plymouth visited Tuesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kaiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Krueger visited Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Stahl and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Engelmann and family visited with Mrs. Monroe Stahl and family and Mrs. Ed. Stahl.

Mr. and Mrs. Art. Staage and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Krautkraemer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krahn and son, Robert, visited Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schroeder.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trapp and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmar Janssen visited last Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dickliver.

Mr. and Mrs. Art. Staage and family and Mrs. J. Hintz and son, Art, visited Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McElroy at Adell.

Mrs. Louis LeFever and son, Clarence, and Miss Helen Mehlos of Iatavia visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. LeFever and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mertes and family of Kewaunau and Messrs. Wm. Umidenstock and Casper Schick of West Chicago, Ill., visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krahn and son, Robert, Tuesday evening.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In last week's issue, this column appeared a news item stating that Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gatzke are the proud parents of a baby boy. Mr. Gatzke was in the Statesman office on Tuesday and informed us that this was erroneous. He also advised us that he is not nor ever was married. We are pleased to make this correction.

FOUR FORKNS

Mrs. Mary Furlong held a wood bee last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Butzke spent a few days with friends at Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Klabuhn, Sr., were Sheboygan callers Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ketter were Fond du Lac callers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Klabuhn, Sr., were Kewaunau callers Friday.

Mrs. Frank Bowen, daughter Delores, and son Leo, were Fond du Lac callers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Butzke spent a few days of last week with relatives in Milwaukee.

Arthur and Orrin Weasler of New Fane were callers at the Mary Furlong home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bartelt of Hartford spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ketter and family.

Mrs. Clarence Marx and children of Fond du Lac spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ours.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Butzke and Mr. and Mrs. Alb. Butzke called on Mrs. Ted Backhaus, who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Sheboygan hospital last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butzke and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. Weasler and Edward Tunn were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Pflitter at West Bend Friday evening.

Local branches of the Production Credit Corporation have recently been organized by one or more counties in several sections of Wisconsin. La Crosse and Monroe counties have joined in forming such an organization. Rock, Sawyer and Barron counties have joined to organize a production credit bank. Waukesha, Milwaukee and Jefferson counties formed an association in Wisconsin and in the seventh land bank district was formed in Dane county.

Local Club leaders of Douglas county recently met to form a county organization. At their leader's conference plans and objectives for the year in club work were set forth.

The total sum of corn and hog reduction payments which will come to Wisconsin farmers for participation in the corn-hog program could amount to between $5,000,000 and $9,000,000.

Wisconsin has more silos and harvests more corn for silage than any other state.

Corn used for silage or cut green will be included in working out corn-hog contracts.

HINTS for the HOME

BY NANCY HART

Fold your sheets in half, place them across the ironing board and press other articles on top of them until the sheets are almost dry. When the rest of the ironing is done, you will find the sheets require only a little touch here and there with the iron.

Two or three potatoes scraped finely into a quart of warm water and left standing for ten minutes will form an excellent cleanser for soiled carpets. The potatoes should be strained out before use. If the mixture is rubbed over dirty or dull places in the carpet, it will clean and brighten them.

The kettle will never boil over if its inner rim has been greased.

In carving meat never cut across the grain.

Always use a dry cheese for grating. Otherwise the cheese will stick to the grater.

Paint brushes will clean well in a solution of hot soda water and soft soap.

ARMSTRONG

Misses Laura May Twobig and May Murphy were in Lomira Saturday.

Miss Ella Twobig is nursing at the St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac.

John O'Brien, a student at Marquette University, Milwaukee, visited his parents.

Thirteen hours devotion will be held at Our Lady of Angels church Sunday, March 18.

Miss Magdalen Schwindt of Chicago spent the week-end with relatives in the village.

Miss Edna Wentker, county supervising teacher, visited the Armstrong school last week.

Mrs. Simon Kasper, who has been critically ill at her home for the past two months, is convalescing.

Stephen O'Connor has been reappointed patrolman of Highways 67, B and G for the ensuing year.

Mrs. James Scannell, who has been suffering with an infection in her leg for the past two weeks, is improved.

William Albers has returned from St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

A son was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baus, Marytown. Mrs. Baus was formerly Miss Mary Schwindt of here.

Donna Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartley Weish, celebrated her birthday recently when little friends were entertained at her home.

The St. Patrick's Day program to be given by the Social and Dramatic Club of Our Lady of Angels' congregation has been indefinitely postponed.

Daniel Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shea, has returned home from the St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, where he underwent treatment.

The Theta Delta chapter of St. Mary's Spring Alumni will meet Friday evening, March 3, at the home of Mrs. Herman Brinkman at Elmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Michells and daughter, Rita, of Cudahy visited the former's brother and parents, Rev. J. J. Michells and Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Michells Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Mitchell entertained ladies of the neighborhood at a quilting bee Thursday. Lunch was served by Mrs. Mitchell assisted by her daughter, Elenore.

Pupils of Armstrong and Mitchell schools under the coaching of David Twobig are preparing to enter the Rural School Basket Ball tournament to be held in Fond du Lac in a couple of weeks.

Mary Scannell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Scannell, submitted to an appendix operation at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, last Wednesday. Her aunt, Mrs. Harold Flood, formerly Miss Katherine Merjay of here, is also a patient at the hospital having been operated upon for appendicitis one day last week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Redmond, widow of James Redmond, died Saturday, Feb. 24th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Nolan, in West Mount, Ill. The body was brought to Fond du Lac and removed to the Hardrove and Gordon Funeral Home from which funeral services were held at 9 a.m. Tuesday and at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Angels church, Armstrong. Rev. J. J. Michells officiated. Burial was in the adjoining cemetery. Pall bearers were Raymond Briggs, Harold Hardgrove, Gordon Smith, Frank Redmond, Dr. T. J. Hargrove and Dr. H. E. Twobig.

Mrs. Redmond was a daughter of Henry and Mary Redmond, pioneer residents of the Town of Forest. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Nolan, a grand-son, Kenneth Nolan, and two great grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Nell Smith of Eden, and a brother, Henry Hardgrove of Madison.

Those from away attending the funeral services were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nolan and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nolan of West Mount, Ill., Henry Hardgrove of Madison, and Attorney Gilbert Hardgrove of Milwaukee.

Members of the Fruit Growers' association in Milwaukee county recently held a meeting where they made plans for their production and marketing program for 1934. Fruit growers in Milwaukee county recently held a meeting where they made plans for their production and marketing program for 1934. Fruit growers in Milwaukee county recently held a meeting where they made plans for their production and marketing program for 1934.

LUMBER: In January production was a third higher than in the same month last year.

STEEL: Railroad and public utility orders have been low and the industry has lagged on that account. Rising automobile orders have done much to offset this.

Subscribe for the Kewaunau Statesman and get all of the news of your community.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual, National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Being more dramatic, the air mail embargo, which has degenerated into a name-calling contest between the principals on both sides, has obscured the stock exchange investigation and the proposed National Securities Exchange Act. That Act, however, is considerably the more important of the two events so far as business, large and small, is concerned. It came out of the Senate's Banking and Currency Committee, and is about as stiff a piece of legislation as the New Deal has produced. If it passes, expert opinion predicts the stock exchanges of the country are going to gather moss, and the brokers, banks and investment houses, as well as individual speculators, will have to find new outlets for their energies. Among the things the bill prohibits are: Wash selling, through which speculators create an illusion of market activity by placing buying and selling orders at the same time; pool operations, designed to force stocks up and down by manipulation; starting of rumors and the retelling of market tips; the use of firm capital for private trading by brokers; short selling, pegging and stop-loss orders. The minimum margin requirement is 50 per cent—and this provision caused the most bitterness of all among financiers' inasmuch as it would force the liquidation of thousands of existing accounts, including millions in bank loans. All corporations with listed stocks must furnish to the exchange and the Federal Trade Commission voluminous data concerning salaries, bonuses, options, income, etc. To enforce the bill drastic penalties are provided—in the case of violations on the part of exchanges a $500,000 fine may be levied. Individuals can be hooked to the tune of $25,000 plus ten years in jail.

Mainstay of opposition to the bill is urban, cool-headed, aristocratic Richard Whitney, great power of the New York Stock Exchange. He summoned the heads of all the big brokerage houses—and wires went out to all their branch managers, instructing them to point out the dangers of the bill to friends and clients. Next Whitney step was a letter to the head of each of the 800 corporations whose issues are listed on the New York exchange. Those corporations include the bulk of the great businesses of the country, which furnish most of the jobs and investment opportunities. When Mr. Whitney went to them, he was aiming not only at Big Business, but at the small stock owner and the worker.

Biggest Whitney gun, however, is of a different character than most would anticipate. It lies in appealing to the small corporation man, owner of firms with small stock issues which never appear on a major exchange. According to Mr. Whitney the bill would make this stock ineligible for collateral for loans either at banks or exchanges, would thus pinch the little fellow as hard as it would pinch his big brother, the super-capitalist.

Supporters of the bill, so far, seem limited to the Senate and minor, left-wing New Dealers. Mr. Roosevelt, who will have the final word in this as in so many matters, has said little, and the belief is that the Act is not a White House measure, that much of the sting will be taken out of it. He wants to put a bit on speculation—but he doesn't want to hobble it entirely. And Lawyer Samuel Untermyer, crusader extraordinary for many years for financial legislation of this nature, on reading the bill, murmured sadly that it went to the opposite extreme from uncontrolled speculation, was impractical and impossible.

Notes from business, taken principally from government reports, follow:

COMMODITY PRICES: Following the December recessions, and advance started which has been maintained without deviation.

RETAIL TRADE: January figures show less than seasonal decline. Substantial gains in dollar volume are reported from all parts of the country, as compared with 1933.

EMPLOYMENT: Is registering more than seasonal decline. The dissolution of the CWA will release 4,000,000 more people on the already glutted labor market.

TRANSPORTATION: Constant improvement is shown in car loadings. Complete financial returns of railroads for 1933 show substantial improvement over 1932. Railway expenditures, however, remain low and the railway supply business is dormant.

Automobiles: The only adequate word for this industry is "booming." Employment and wage levels are very high. Unfilled orders are the greatest in several years. Allied industries are prospering accordingly.

AGRICULTURE: Better than might have been expected, in view of the disturbances of a few months ago. Markets are fair and prices stable. Buying power of the major agricultural districts is better than that of urban areas.

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired), your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Patricia Dow, Kewaunau Statesman Pattern Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dependable--Reasonable
We Serve to Satisfy
Millers Funeral Service
Edw. E. Miller in Charge Personally
Phones 10F7 and 30F7 Kewaskum, Wis.

LET YOUR WANTS BE KNOWN

Phone 28F1

RINGING a bell, out on the corner, is an obsolete method of making wants known—The modern way, the 1933 way in Kewaunau, is to read the Classified Ads in the Statesman—or if your want cannot be filled there—to use the Statesman Classified Ads. To place an ad simply dial 28F1 and ask for ADTAKER. The rates are low.

Read and Use Classified Ads

VERY LATEST
By Patricia Dow

Pattern No. 8130: Designed in 4 Sizes: 2, 3, 4 and 5. Size 4 requires 1 1/2 yard of 35 inch material. To make the collar portion of contrasting material requires 1/2 yard 35 inches wide. Bias binding 3/4 yard. Dress with collar 1 1/2 yard.

Pattern No. 8121: Designed in 4 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 38 requires 2 1/2 yards of 32 inch material together with

A McCormick-Deering Drill for every Grain Grower's Needs

Good Seeding Pays for Itself

DRILLED grain always stands a better chance than broadcasted grain, particularly in dry weather. When you drill your grain it reaches the bottom of the seed trench and is covered to the proper depth. All the seeds germinate, grow, and ripen evenly. An even, heavy crop invariably is the result. And the extra yield more than pays for your work of seeding carefully with a drill.

McCormick-Deering Grain Drills are the result of one-hundred years of manufacturing and engineering experience. And farmers in this district who use McCormick-Deering's say these drills are doing their stuff in the field. They're mighty hard to beat!

There is a complete line of McCormick-Deering Grain Drills. Sizes from 10 to 28-furrow. Models for horse or tractor use and for various kinds of seeds. We'll be glad to show them to you.

A. G. KOCH, Inc.
Kewaskum, Wis.

KEWASKUM STATESMAN

D. J. HARBECK, Publisher

Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office, Kewaskum, Wis.
SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS

TERMS—$2.00 per year; $1.00 for six months. Advertising rates on application.

AROUND THE TOWN

Friday March 9, 1934

—Clifford Rose and family visited at Milwaukee Saturday.

—Miss Edna Schmid, was the guest of relatives in Milwaukee over Sunday. —Mrs. Elizabeth Koerbe is spending the week with Mrs. Lena Selp in Milwaukee.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ramthun visited with relatives in Milwaukee Saturday and Sunday.

—August E. Ebenreiter motored to Sheboygan and Kiel Monday where he transacted business.

—John Struchota and family of Milwaukee spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Val Peters.

—Geo. Goetz and family of Milwaukee were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Schmitz over the week-end.

—Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Casper of Waukesha spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Casper.

—Hubert Wittman and family spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kroner and other relatives at Theresa.

—Mrs. Joseph Eberle and daughter, Loraine, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Flisch at St. Kilian.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schlosser of Milwaukee visited Sunday with the Jacob Schlosser family and other relatives.

—Sheriff and Mrs. Jos. Kirsch and Mr. and Mrs. G. Berger of West Bend were pleasant village visitors Monday evening.

—Fred Bassil and family of West Bend were Sunday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Ramthun.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Backus of Milwaukee spent Sunday here with Dr. and Mrs. N. Edw. Hausmann and other relatives.

—The World's Finest—Swifter Vacuum Cleaner—THE ROYAL—See this fine Vacuum Cleaner at Millers Furniture Store. (Adv.)

—Messrs. and Mesdames Joseph Eberle and Arnold Martin motored to Fond du Lac Sunday evening where they visited with friends.

—The Misses Ruth Pottl and Gretchen Gehl of Hartford spent the week-end here with the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Schmidt.

—Arthur and Ervin Koch and their respective families and Wm. F. Backus motored to Milwaukee Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. Lena Selp.

—August Ebenreiter, Jr., returned home last week Saturday from Eagle River, Wis., where he spent six months in one of the civil conservation camps.

—Mrs. N. J. Mertes is at present visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kippenhan, and family at Campbellport.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Groeschel, Mrs. Leo Vyvan and Mrs. N. J. Mertes spent last week Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Groeschel at Fillmore.

—Jack Andrae was at Juneau last week Friday where he took "a safety first" examination for blasting. The test was given under the supervision of the C.W.A.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ph. McLaughlin, Sr., and Ph. McLaughlin, Jr., and family motored to Milwaukee Sunday where they spent the day with the Fred Budenhagen family.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hauerwas and daughter, Lillian, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scheder of Milwaukee visited with Mrs. Margaret Mayer and other relatives last Sunday.

—Dr. Chester Perschbacher of Appleton, William Kniekel and family of Wauwatosa and Carl Peters and family of Milwaukee were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Perschbacher last Sunday.

—Civil service examinations for postmaster of Theresa and Lomira were held at Mayville last Saturday. There were three applicants for the office at Theresa and eight; competed for the position in Lomira.

—Last week Thursday afternoon while playing ball with a number of companions, Robert, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber, slipped and fell against a post, fracturing his right leg above the knee.

—A wise purchaser, buying shoes, an automobile, jewelry or anything else considers two prime factors. One is the price of the desired commodity. The other is its quality. Price counts—but it isn't everything.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber on last Sunday had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Guthjahr of Allenton, Mrs. Ed. Mehlos and children, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Bintlizer and children, Mrs. Henry Schalles and Roman Gruber of West Bend.

—In normal times the construction industry is one of the greatest direct employers of skilled and unskilled labor—carpenters, bricklayers, metal-smiths and a dozen other categories of workers. And, indirectly it employs many more in the industries making construction products.

—Messrs. and Mesdames, Joseph Straub of Lomira and Lehman P. Rosenthal returned home Friday from a three week's auto trip in Florida. They report Florida is having its best boom in years. Thousands of people from all parts of the United States are spending the winter months in that state.

—Station Agent A. P. Schaeffer has been confined to his home the past week on account of sickness.

—K. A. Honeck, Chevrolet dealer, this week delivered a two ton truck to John F. Schaefer, the A. & P. milk hauler.

—Attorney P. O'Meara of West Bend on February 27 reached the age of 89 years. Mr. O'Meara served as county judge of Washington county for 25 years. We extend congratulations to the Judge.

—Alfred Seefeldt was agreeably surprised on his birthday on Tuesday by Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Ladewig, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Drewitz, Mrs. Caroline Spindler and Miss Rose Hartkopf of Milwaukee.

—Several Woodmen from this village were at West Bend Monday evening attending a "booster" meeting. Plans have been made for a drive to secure new timber in every camp in the county.

—Attention Ladies.—Clean your upholstered furniture and mattress well with a Hand Vacuum Cleaner. You can rent a cleaner at a reasonable rate from Millers Furniture Store. (Advertisement.)

—Oscar Kocher of West Bend recently leased the Carnation lunch room and tavern of that city, which was formerly conducted by the late Mrs. Anna Saueressig-Meyers. He took charge of same on March 1.

—Sylvester Muckerheide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muckerheide of the Town of Kewaskum, on Tuesday, March 13 assumes management of the oil-filling station on Highway 55 and the old Fond du Lac road in the village of Barton. We wish Mr. Muckerheide success in his new undertaking.

—Joseph Eberle, Dr. L. Brauchle, John F. Schaefer and Jack Andrae were at West Bend Saturday evening where they attended a meeting of those interested in the conservation of game in Washington county. Mr. Schaefer was chosen as a member of a committee to represent Washington county on the conservation commission.

—Mrs. Albert Schrauth, 78, resident of Theresa for 52 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Wagner in that city last Friday, March 2. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Jos. Krill, of Clairton, Pa., and Mrs. Wagner, a son, Joseph Wiesenbacher of Manila, Philippine Islands, eight grand-children, four great grandchildren, a brother and a sister.

—Alfred Seefeldt attended the organization meeting of the Corn-Hog Control Association of Washington County at West Bend last Thursday. While at West Bend he also visited with "Bob White" of the WLS Merry-go-Round at the West Bend theatre.

—"Bob White" in private life is Chas. Duax, a former beekeeper of Wisconsin and a friend of "Al" for many years.

—Some day lawmakers and tax spenders will wake up to the fact that it is the private citizen, private investor and private employer on whom they must depend to fill the public treasuries. Instead of hamstringing him at every turn they will find it necessary to encourage him in order that they may be able to collect the money to pay the terrific tax bills they run up against the people.

—A period of expert opinion regarding the present state of the American currency reveals an interesting fact. Most qualified observers believe that a start has been made in the right direction. They also believe that much remains to be done. A great many hold to the position that the next major step should be the establishment of a fixed permanent ratio between the values of gold and silver.

BOLTONVILLE

Please telephone your news to Wau. beka 8F21.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dettman and son, Norbert, were Sheboygan callers Saturday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Mich. Yearling of Barton visited with Mrs. August Arndt and sons.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frauenhelm and daughters were Kewaskum visitors Sunday afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Hiller and sons visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frohman and family.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eisenbraut, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frohman were Sheboygan callers Tuesday afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Quass visited with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Geldel at Random Lake Wednesday evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Orin Conrad and family of West Bend spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Voltz.

—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schultz and son, Merlin, of Waldo spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eisenbraut and family.

—Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Hauch and family and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Krabn and family visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. George Hiller and sons.

The following tendered Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Mathias and family a surprise party at their home Saturday evening:

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eisenbraut and daughters, Arline and Iva, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frohman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Groszklaus and son, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Wendel and son, Allen, Art, Wendel, George Becker, Fred Belger and son, Fred, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dettman and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stautz, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frohman, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eisenbraut, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Stautz, Dr. and Mrs. Ed. Morgenroth of Kewaskum, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grubbe, Mr. and Mrs. Max Grubbe, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stautz of West Bend, were guests at a six o'clock supper given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stautz and family one evening last week. The occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in card playing.

GROCERY SPECIALS

March 9th, 10th, and 12th '34

SUGAR.
10 pound bag 47c

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR,
Bulk, 2 pounds for 9c

HEINZ SOUP—Cream of Mushroom, Cream of Oyster, Cream of Tomato, Noodle Soup, 2 for 25c

LIPTON'S GREEN JAPAN TEA,
¼ lb. pkg. 17c; ¼ lb. pkg. 1c, both for 18c

AMERICAN LOAF CHEESE, 18c per pound

NOODLES, 14c
1 pound package

KETCHUP, Heinz, 19c
Large

Post-Toasties (small), Puffed Wheat, Post Bran Flakes, pkg. 9c

POP CORN, Bulk, 9c
2 pounds

DEL MONTE COFFEE, 28c
1 pound can

SARDINES, Domestic, 14c
In oil, 3 for

OATMEAL, Bulk, 10c
3 pounds

PRUNES, Bulk, 9c
Per pound

BANANAS, 25c
6 pounds

ORANGES, Florida Sweets, 25c
2 dozen

APPLES, Delicious, Fancy, 23c
3 pounds

APPLES, Gano, 19c
4 pounds

GRAPE FRUIT, Texas, 25c
Seedless, 5 for

RADISHES, 5c
2 bunches

HEAD LETTUCE, Fancy, 6c
Per head

CELERY, Large Stalks, 15c
2 for

CAULIFLOWER, 15c
Large Heads

SPINACH, 20c
3 pounds

GREEN ONIONS, 9c
2 bunches

CARROTS, 5c
Per bunch

L. ROSENHEIMER

DEPARTMENT STORE

KEWASKUM, WIS.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Our rates for this class of advertising are 1 cent a word per issue, no charge less than 25 cents accepted. Memorial Notices $1.00. Card of Thanks 50 cents. Cash or unused government postage stamps must accompany all orders.

For Sale
FOR SALE—AT ALL TIMES—
Fresh milk cows, and Holstein, Guernsey, and Swiss service bulls. Inquire of K. A. Honeck, Kewaskum, Wis.—Phone 9F1. 1-26-tf

HORSES FOR SALE AT ALL TIMES—
Also fresh milk cows and service bulls. Inquire of K. A. Honeck, Kewaskum, Wis. 1-26-tf.

FOR SALE—One Dodge pick-up truck, one Studebaker Six pick-up truck, at reasonable prices. Inquire of John F. Schaefer, Kewaskum, Wis.

FURNITURE BARGAIN
4 room outfit to be repossessed. Just like new. Will sell for balance due, $155.75 at $2.50 a week or give discount for cash. Write Kewaskum Statesman, Kewaskum, Wis.

FOR SALE—High Grade Pure Hollywood strain White Leghorn Baby chicks, 7c and up. Portable Wisconsin type, 8x12 brooder house, like new. Cheap if taken at once. Also good used coal brooder stove.—Ervin F. Domann, R. 1, Kewaskum, Wis., Phone 825.

Notice of Application for Probate of Will and Notice to Creditors

STATE OF WISCONSIN, COUNTY COURT, Washington County

In the matter of the estate of Gustav Konitz, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that at a term of said Court to be held on Tuesday, the 20th day of March, 1934, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the Court House, in the city of West Bend, in said county, there will be heard and considered:

The application of Elizabeth Konitz for the probate of the Will of Gustav Konitz, deceased, and for the appointment of an executor or administrator with the will annexed of the estate of said Gustav Konitz, deceased, late of the Village of Kewaskum, in said county.

Notice is further given that all claims against the said Gustav Konitz, deceased, late of the Village of Kewaskum, in Washington County, Wisconsin, must be presented to said County Court in the city of West Bend in said county on or before the 15th day of June, 1934, or be barred; and that all such claims and demands will be examined and adjusted at a term of said court to be held at the Court House in the city of West Bend, in said county, on Tuesday, the 23rd day of July, 1934, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

Dated February 10th, 1934.
By Order of the Court.
O'Meara & O'Meara, F. W. BUCKLIN,
Attorneys for Petitioner County Judge

Local Markets

Wheat75c
Barley48-75c
Rye No. 155c
Oats30c
Unwashed Wool32-35c
Beans, per lb.24c
Hides (Calf skins)80c
Cow Hides6c
Horse Hides$2.00
Eggs14-16c
Potatoes, per 100 lbs.$1.35-$1.45

LIVE POULTRY

Fowls (Leghorns)11-12c
Colored Springers, 4 lbs. & up17c
White Rock Springers, 4 lbs. & up20c
Light Springers10c
Old Roosters9c
Anconas5-6c
Heavy Hens12c
Ducks, young15c

Subscribe for the Statesman now.

THE Bank of Kewaskum

Kewaskum, Wisconsin
"The Old Reliable Bank of Good Service" is a member of the Temporary Federal Deposit Insurance Fund

(Effective January 1, 1934)

Deposits Insured
Under the terms of the Banking Act of 1933.

THE HALF PRICE SILVERWARE SALE

On a few flatware patterns will be extended, so if you have not taken advantage of same, do so now. Think of how much you can save by buying now. Come in and see.

Mrs. K. Endlich
JEWELER—OPTOMETRIST
Established 1906
KEWASKUM, WIS.

AUCTION

100 HORSES & COWS
Tuesday, March 13, at 1 P. M.
Fair Grounds, Plymouth, Wis.

Iowa horses and brood mares, all well broken. These horses are consigned and must be sold. If in the market for a good team or a carload of horses attend this sale and buy horses cheaper than you have ever bought before. A Money Back Guarantee on all horses and delivered free of charge. Also good springing and fresh cows. Auction sale of Horses and Cows every Tuesday, and private sales daily.

Plymouth Horse & Cow Commission Co.
PLYMOUTH, WISCONSIN

To stimulate interest in quality cheese, the cheesemakers association of Brown county recently conducted a cheese recipe contest. More than 500 Brown county housewives cooperated by sending in as many favorite recipes showing how cheese may be used in the diet.

As many as 13 counties in Wisconsin are now employing A.A.A. agents to assist farmers in their counties in carrying out their acreage reduction programs. These counties are: Buffalo, Chippewa, Crawford, Dunn, Iowa, Juneau, Jackson, Monroe, Outagamie, Racine, Sauk Trempealeau, and Vernon.

LITHIA BEER

Choice Wisconsin Barley Malt and Home Aromatic Hops are Brewed in this Healthful Drink Lithia Beer is made according to an old formula, long used to make Wisconsin's Fine Beer

A Most Excellent Drink for the whole Family

Order a case now from any Kewaskum Tavern, or Phone 9 West Bend

West Bend Lithia Co.
West Bend, Wis.

BABY GRAND PIANO
Large manufacturer rather than ship back to the factory will sell to responsible party balance due on account. Perfect condition, for month. Write at once.
W. A. BYE, District Manager
729 Broadway Milwaukee

STOP GAS PAINS! GERMAN REMEDY GIVES RELIEF
Acting on BOTH upper and lower bowels Adlerika washes out all poisons that cause gas, nervousness and bad sleep. One dose gives relief at once.—At Leading Druggists. (Adv.)

Subscribe for the Kewaskum Statesman and get all of the news of your community.

Subscribe for the Statesman and get all of the news of your community.

CODE of the NORTH

By HAROLD TITUS

Copyright by Harold Titus

WNU Service

SYNOPSIS

Stephen Drake with his four-year-old son, is rescued from a blizzard by Jim Flynn, big timber operator, whom Drake has robbed. Flynn forgives the Drake, but, until his death, imprints on the boy, Steve, the debt they press on him. Twenty years later, Steve meets "Young Jim" Flynn, his benefactor's son. Sent by Old Jim, in a letter, through an accident in a capacious boat, his daughter, is temporarily blinded, to take charge of the company's—the Polaris—woods operations. Hoping to do something for Old Jim, Steve hastens to the company's headquarters, finding the Polaris crew assumes that Drake is Flynn's son, and he takes charge, as "Young Jim." A photograph of Kate, which Steve finds, intrigues him in which Steve finds the friendship of LaFane, woods scout, and adds to Drake's hate by driving him away from Mary Wolf, Indian girl whom he has been abusing. Franz discovers Drake's impersonation. Threatened with disclosure, Steve accuses Franz of attempting to murder him, exhibiting evidence, and the man dare not act. Steve sends LaFane to find Young Jim and sober him up. LaFane finds the youth, and makes definite progress in the sobering. Steve wins the friendship of MacDonald, who owns timber land vital to the Flynn interests, by his angling skill.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"Stand there," he said surlily when they had entered the dark room. "I'll make a light."

He took the fish from Steve and laid it on the table, moving the lamp to make room. A noble creature it was, indeed. For an interval the old man stared silently at the trophy. Then, without taking his eyes from it, he opened a drawer in the table and fumbled for a small spring scale reposing there. Together they leaned close, scanning the needle.

"Six pounds!" Steve whispered.

"Six?" in contempt. "Six! Look, man! Six pounds 'nd two ounces! Ay, better 'n two! Near two 'nd a half ounces!" He straightened with a deep breath. "Ah, what a fish! What a young, bonny fish!"

He bent low, hands on his knees, to gaze contemplatively.

"'Nd what," he asked, turning his head but not straightening, "was th' fly, lad?"

The brusqueness was gone from his voice, the animosity from his eye. In place of the crusty old fellow he had been, injured, defiant, unrelenting and scornful, he was now as a seeker after news from a superior.

"I used a light cordwain. It matched the insect's hatching."

"Ay, a gude fly. Th' smaller ephemeridae. . . . So he was feedin' on them, not waitin' for th' hatch of larger!"

He placed a hand on the younger man's shoulder.

"Mon, ye took him! Beside this one, noo, my grand trout's a youngster, I'll have ta admit. Ut disturbed me a mite, thinkin' ye'd took mine but . . .

"Noo, sit yersel' doon. Hae ye a pipe? So? Well, so ha' I." He went to the mantel and took down a great briar. "Ay, Sit yersel' doon. Noo, tell me, Flynn, how long did ye work o'er ye noble afore he took yer fly?"

Steve, with his heart leaping, seated himself and drew out his pipe. He sat silent a brief interval, telling himself that he was about to achieve the thing for which he had set out this evening. He marshaled his wit and his resources, and then began to talk, slowly and carefully, telling the best story he had ever told in his life!

Step by step, Steve relived the battle, recounting his own emotions, his hopes and his fears intimately. At the end he sat back and nodded toward the table and said:

"And there he is, Mr. MacDonald, to prove it."

"Ay, a grand fight for a lad. I could ha' done better myself, Flynn, if so gude."

He clasped his hands and from a doorway a squaw appeared.

"'Til hae a guest, Annie," he said. "Spread yersel' 'nd do yer best!"

Steve protested that he should be back at headquarters but the Laird would not listen.

"Stay, lad, stay! 'Tis an evenin' to mark well, to celebrate. Ye must stay th' night. Ut's been long since I've had by me 'n angler squaw as ye are! The others, I've taught them what they know. But ye, Flynn. . . . Well, ye took a better fish than I ever killed!"

And stay the night under the Laird's roof Steve did. Before the meal they drank liquor poured from an ancient jug and sat for long afterward with their pipes. In detail the stories of fish they had taken must be told and Donald led Steve to the room he was to occupy.

While Drake was thus engaged, his heart quickening at thought of what Franz sat on a bench in the store room of the men gathered there. He no longer a fallen favorite and had had their regard.

Warna came in. "Where's Jim?" he asked.

"Fishin'." Jim Todd replied.

"'Til ought to see him tonight. D' he say when he'd be back?"

"None. But he's been stayin' formed him."

Shortly, Franz went out unnoticed, fished a trail that led back into the wide margin, and approached the cabin which Steve occupied.

He stood near by for a lengthy interval; then, carefully he advanced, tried the door and went within.

It cost him time and pains to find the shotgun, but he did locate it, finally, wrapped in the grain sack and shoved in the leg of the old trousseau.

A half hour later he came out on the lake shore again. Gripping the gun by the barrel, he whirled it around his head three and let it go. The splash was far out, out where the water was deep enough so that the chance of ever locating the weapon would be negligible.

"There go your d—d finger-prints!" he muttered. "Now try to find a way to stop me!"

For breakfast Steve and the Laird had portions of the trout, broiled crisp and brown.

"Food!" the old man muttered. "After all his years, all his triumphs, he ends up as food for his chief enemy! . . . Ut's so w' th' country, lad: man destroys th' wild to put to his use."

A brooding look was on his face. He sat silent for a time and try as he would Steve could not rouse him. As they finished, he said:

"I'll have to be getting back to headquarters now, Mr. MacDonald. There are things to be done today. Important things."

The old man nodded.

"I understand," he said, half absent. "Ay. . . . Trouble's heavy on th' Flynn's." He sighed and stared

"'Til Hae a Guest, Annie," He Said. "Spread Yersel', Noo, 'nd Do Yer Best!"

through a window. "I've been thinkin', James lad, since last night that I'm 'n old man at last. I made myself a promise when I was young; that I'd accept age easy 'nd grateful. 'Nd here, ut develops, I've been fightin' ut off, shuttin' my eyes to 't. . . . Ay, I'm old. 'Nd do ye s'pose, lad, that yer father's still in th' notion o' buyin' my timber?"

Steve kept himself from shouting out a glad reply only by effort.

"Polaris would like it, Mr. MacDonald," he said finally. "It . . . Matter of fact it would save the operation. To get held of that timber,—playin' boldly on the favor he had found in the other's eyes—"would do the thing that I came into this country to do. Otherwise, it looks pretty dark ahead."

The Scot nodded.

"Ut's been a burden, in a way, holdin' this property. Ut might relieve 'n old heart to hae money out at intrust instead. . . . I'm a wonderin' if yer father'd be in a position to buy. He spoke on ut once but I'd hae none o' ut then."

"Polaris can and will buy at any time, Mr. MacDonald," Steve said calmly.

"Well, ut's a hard decision to make, —with a twist of his head. "I would nae sell 't all. I'd hold a section or two for myself. But come. . . . We will look. Ut's no matter to decide on th' turn of a moment."

He led the way outside and as they went along slowly Drake was checking against his memory with the cruiser's report on this stand which he had seen in the safe at Good-Bye.

Good timber, as good as the Polaris stuff, worth more, surely, than it had been, when the estimate was made. Three hundred and twenty thousand. McNally had said, was the price of Old Jim's offer.

They left the trail, making a wide circle, stopping here and there to talk. Once the Laird said:

"Ye not alone in wantin' to buy. Young Franz, a faithful lad, 's been wantin' ut. Had he taken yer grand trout, noo, ut might be him I'd be talkin' w' today. Mind, I'm not sayin' I'll sell to yer father yet. I'm considerin' only. . . ."

Thrice more during that rambling walk he spoke of Franz, saying that were he here now, instead of Steve, he might be talking over the possibility of selling with him.

When they reached the house again the Laird dropped heavily into a chair, more wearied with the sense of age that had come upon him than by the physical exertion. He listened to Steve tell him frankly of the Polaris predicament. He was careful not to mention Franz in connection with the good strategy to withhold nothing of the Flynn situation, because MacDonald had been wholly open with him.

He knew, from what Kate had written, that this purchase could be financed; he knew, as well, that to possess it was the only way out for Polaris. So much hung in the balance that placid summer afternoon!

Suddenly the Laird sat erect.

"Ye're authorized to represent Polaris?" he asked.

Steve did not hesitate: "I am representing the company," he said.

"Three hundred 'nd fifty thousand dollars, then, me to hold out th' section my buildin's stand on."

Drake calculated quickly. That was thirty thousand more than old Jim Flynn had offered and a section was held out. But Jim's offer had been made two years ago. Values had stepped upward.

"That's your best offer?"

"Ay, Th' best. Th' only offer, James!"

"And the terms? I've told you how badly Polaris is pinched, sir. A heavy down payment might make it impossible to take you up at once."

The Laird nodded. "Twenty-five thousand doon; fifty thousand in six months; th' balance in one year w' intrust 't six per cent."

"And how long before the first twenty-five?"

"If ye want ut," he said brusquely, "ye'll take ut w'out delay. If ye don't want ut, others will. Ye must take ut noo, in a week. Seven days. Ay, That's enough. That's final."

"A short time," Steve protested, but saw that it was no use to ask for more. "You'll give an option now, surely, so I'll have something to go on?"

"That's only fair. An option. 'Nd th' doon payment must be here, in th' room, in cash, 'nd on time. . . . Ay 't th' hour!"

He rose then and walked to a desk, rumbling for paper and pen.

"Ay. . . . mumbled. "Ah, a bonny trout, he was. . . . But age. . . . 'Nd ha' 'n' made up th' mind, ut's time 't act!"

Slowly, laboriously, the pen commenced to scratch.

From a book the old man copied the descriptions, muttering that it would all be legal and regular and that the down payment must be delivered on the hour. "Mind that, lad: th' hour!"

Again the scratching, MacDonald mumbled: ". . . seven days . . . four p. m. . . this date . . ."

Down by the river voices sounded and Steve, looking through the window, saw Franz there, sitting in his canoe, talking with one of MacDonald's Indians. . . . Franz! He was getting out, now, asking a question, glancing at the house.

The pen scratched on so slowly. . . . Franz was staring up the trail.

The pen stopped. The Laird leaned back, reading what he had written, moving his lips as he read.

"'Nd noo," the old man said, dipping the pen again. "Noo fer th' signature which binds ut!"

A scuff on gravel outside; a footfall at the threshold. Slowly the pen point traced the letters and as the door opened the blotter was pressed to the fresh ink.

Steve tried not to snatch the precious paper as Franz entered the room. He did not turn to look at him; MacDonald gave no heed. The option passed and a great wave of exultation swept Drake as his fingers closed on it. He read on down the lines of the script, conscious that the Laird was turning to the newcomer, feeling more than seeing that faint bewilderment, perhaps regret, which came over the old man.

"Ah, lad!" he said gently, hitching his chair about. "Come here, lad. Ye know this mon?"

"Sure! I know Young Jim Flynn," Franz replied and laughed.

"Well, lad, ut's th' fortunes of war that 'twas you James' instead of yersel' who came today to catch me in my state o' mind. I'm sellin' th' timber to th' Flynn's."

A slight tightening of the month was the only indication Franz gave of what that news meant to him. Then he asked:

"It's gone, you mean? The deal is closed?"

"Well, an option's bindin'. James has th' option, w' ink scarce dry."

Franz swallowed.

"A sale isn't a sale until the transfer is made," he said, smiling at MacDonald but Steve caught the menace in his tone. "And perhaps something may happen that the Flynn's don't take you up."

"Well said, Franz!" The Laird rose and put his hand on his arm. "Well said!" "Twouldn't become ye to sulk 'nd be angered because luck was nae w' ye. . . . Noo, lads, we'll drink to 't."

He turned, leaving them alone.

As soon as the door closed behind him Franz spoke:

"So Young Jim Flynn, so-called, has won a fall, eh?"

"Right!"

"But the timber's not yours yet. Not yet. Mr. Whoever-you-are!" He advanced closer and Steve could see a bulge under his armlet which could be nothing but a holstered weapon.

"Until a few hours ago you had me partly stopped. Now, squawk all you please about set-guns! You've no evidence!"

"What d'you mean by that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Laird nodded. "Twenty-five thousand doon; fifty thousand in six months; th' balance in one year w' intrust 't six per cent."

"And how long before the first twenty-five?"

"If ye want ut," he said brusquely, "ye'll take ut w'out delay. If ye don't want ut, others will. Ye must take ut noo, in a week. Seven days. Ay, That's enough. That's final."

"A short time," Steve protested, but saw that it was no use to ask for more. "You'll give an option now, surely, so I'll have something to go on?"

"That's only fair. An option. 'Nd th' doon payment must be here, in th' room, in cash, 'nd on time. . . . Ay 't th' hour!"

He rose then and walked to a desk, rumbling for paper and pen.

"Ay. . . . mumbled. "Ah, a bonny trout, he was. . . . But age. . . . 'Nd ha' 'n' made up th' mind, ut's time 't act!"

Slowly, laboriously, the pen commenced to scratch.

From a book the old man copied the descriptions, muttering that it would all be legal and regular and that the down payment must be delivered on the hour. "Mind that, lad: th' hour!"

Again the scratching, MacDonald mumbled: ". . . seven days . . . four p. m. . . this date . . ."

Down by the river voices sounded and Steve, looking through the window, saw Franz there, sitting in his canoe, talking with one of MacDonald's Indians. . . . Franz! He was getting out, now, asking a question, glancing at the house.

The pen scratched on so slowly. . . . Franz was staring up the trail.

The pen stopped. The Laird leaned back, reading what he had written, moving his lips as he read.

"'Nd noo," the old man said, dipping the pen again. "Noo fer th' signature which binds ut!"

A scuff on gravel outside; a footfall at the threshold. Slowly the pen point traced the letters and as the door opened the blotter was pressed to the fresh ink.

Steve tried not to snatch the precious paper as Franz entered the room. He did not turn to look at him; MacDonald gave no heed. The option passed and a great wave of exultation swept Drake as his fingers closed on it. He read on down the lines of the script, conscious that the Laird was turning to the newcomer, feeling more than seeing that faint bewilderment, perhaps regret, which came over the old man.

"Ah, lad!" he said gently, hitching his chair about. "Come here, lad. Ye know this mon?"

"Sure! I know Young Jim Flynn," Franz replied and laughed.

"Well, lad, ut's th' fortunes of war that 'twas you James' instead of yersel' who came today to catch me in my state o' mind. I'm sellin' th' timber to th' Flynn's."

A slight tightening of the month was the only indication Franz gave of what that news meant to him. Then he asked:

"It's gone, you mean? The deal is closed?"

"Well, an option's bindin'. James has th' option, w' ink scarce dry."

Franz swallowed.

"A sale isn't a sale until the transfer is made," he said, smiling at MacDonald but Steve caught the menace in his tone. "And perhaps something may happen that the Flynn's don't take you up."

"Well said, Franz!" The Laird rose and put his hand on his arm. "Well said!" "Twouldn't become ye to sulk 'nd be angered because luck was nae w' ye. . . . Noo, lads, we'll drink to 't."

He turned, leaving them alone.

As soon as the door closed behind him Franz spoke:

"So Young Jim Flynn, so-called, has won a fall, eh?"

"Right!"

"But the timber's not yours yet. Not yet. Mr. Whoever-you-are!" He advanced closer and Steve could see a bulge under his armlet which could be nothing but a holstered weapon.

"Until a few hours ago you had me partly stopped. Now, squawk all you please about set-guns! You've no evidence!"

"What d'you mean by that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Laird nodded. "Twenty-five thousand doon; fifty thousand in six months; th' balance in one year w' intrust 't six per cent."

"And how long before the first twenty-five?"

"If ye want ut," he said brusquely, "ye'll take ut w'out delay. If ye don't want ut, others will. Ye must take ut noo, in a week. Seven days. Ay, That's enough. That's final."

"A short time," Steve protested, but saw that it was no use to ask for more. "You'll give an option now, surely, so I'll have something to go on?"

"That's only fair. An option. 'Nd th' doon payment must be here, in th' room, in cash, 'nd on time. . . . Ay 't th' hour!"

He rose then and walked to a desk, rumbling for paper and pen.

"Ay. . . . mumbled. "Ah, a bonny trout, he was. . . . But age. . . . 'Nd ha' 'n' made up th' mind, ut's time 't act!"

Slowly, laboriously, the pen commenced to scratch.

From a book the old man copied the descriptions, muttering that it would all be legal and regular and that the down payment must be delivered on the hour. "Mind that, lad: th' hour!"

Again the scratching, MacDonald mumbled: ". . . seven days . . . four p. m. . . this date . . ."

Down by the river voices sounded and Steve, looking through the window, saw Franz there, sitting in his canoe, talking with one of MacDonald's Indians. . . . Franz! He was getting out, now, asking a question, glancing at the house.

The pen scratched on so slowly. . . . Franz was staring up the trail.

The pen stopped. The Laird leaned back, reading what he had written, moving his lips as he read.

"'Nd noo," the old man said, dipping the pen again. "Noo fer th' signature which binds ut!"

A scuff on gravel outside; a footfall at the threshold. Slowly the pen point traced the letters and as the door opened the blotter was pressed to the fresh ink.

Steve tried not to snatch the precious paper as Franz entered the room. He did not turn to look at him; MacDonald gave no heed. The option passed and a great wave of exultation swept Drake as his fingers closed on it. He read on down the lines of the script, conscious that the Laird was turning to the newcomer, feeling more than seeing that faint bewilderment, perhaps regret, which came over the old man.

"Ah, lad!" he said gently, hitching his chair about. "Come here, lad. Ye know this mon?"

"Sure! I know Young Jim Flynn," Franz replied and laughed.

"Well, lad, ut's th' fortunes of war that 'twas you James' instead of yersel' who came today to catch me in my state o' mind. I'm sellin' th' timber to th' Flynn's."

A slight tightening of the month was the only indication Franz gave of what that news meant to him. Then he asked:

"It's gone, you mean? The deal is closed?"

"Well, an option's bindin'. James has th' option, w' ink scarce dry."

Franz swallowed.

"A sale isn't a sale until the transfer is made," he said, smiling at MacDonald but Steve caught the menace in his tone. "And perhaps something may happen that the Flynn's don't take you up."

"Well said, Franz!" The Laird rose and put his hand on his arm. "Well said!" "Twouldn't become ye to sulk 'nd be angered because luck was nae w' ye. . . . Noo, lads, we'll drink to 't."

He turned, leaving them alone.

As soon as the door closed behind him Franz spoke:

"So Young Jim Flynn, so-called, has won a fall, eh?"

"Right!"

"But the timber's not yours yet. Not yet. Mr. Whoever-you-are!" He advanced closer and Steve could see a bulge under his armlet which could be nothing but a holstered weapon.

"Until a few hours ago you had me partly stopped. Now, squawk all you please about set-guns! You've no evidence!"

"What d'you mean by that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Laird nodded. "Twenty-five thousand doon; fifty thousand in six months; th' balance in one year w' intrust 't six per cent."

"And how long before the first twenty-five?"

"If ye want ut," he said brusquely, "ye'll take ut w'out delay. If ye don't want ut, others will. Ye must take ut noo, in a week. Seven days. Ay, That's enough. That's final."

"A short time," Steve protested, but saw that it was no use to ask for more. "You'll give an option now, surely, so I'll have something to go on?"

"That's only fair. An option. 'Nd th' doon payment must be here, in th' room, in cash, 'nd on time. . . . Ay 't th' hour!"

He rose then and walked to a desk, rumbling for paper and pen.

"Ay. . . . mumbled. "Ah, a bonny trout, he was. . . . But age. . . . 'Nd ha' 'n' made up th' mind, ut's time 't act!"

Slowly, laboriously, the pen commenced to scratch.

From a book the old man copied the descriptions, muttering that it would all be legal and regular and that the down payment must be delivered on the hour. "Mind that, lad: th' hour!"

Again the scratching, MacDonald mumbled: ". . . seven days . . . four p. m. . . this date . . ."

Down by the river voices sounded and Steve, looking through the window, saw Franz there, sitting in his canoe, talking with one of MacDonald's Indians. . . . Franz! He was getting out, now, asking a question, glancing at the house.

The pen scratched on so slowly. . . . Franz was staring up the trail.

The pen stopped. The Laird leaned back, reading what he had written, moving his lips as he read.

"'Nd noo," the old man said, dipping the pen again. "Noo fer th' signature which binds ut!"

A scuff on gravel outside; a footfall at the threshold. Slowly the pen point traced the letters and as the door opened the blotter was pressed to the fresh ink.

Steve tried not to snatch the precious paper as Franz entered the room. He did not turn to look at him; MacDonald gave no heed. The option passed and a great wave of exultation swept Drake as his fingers closed on it. He read on down the lines of the script, conscious that the Laird was turning to the newcomer, feeling more than seeing that faint bewilderment, perhaps regret, which came over the old man.

"Ah, lad!" he said gently, hitching his chair about. "Come here, lad. Ye know this mon?"

"Sure! I know Young Jim Flynn," Franz replied and laughed.

"Well, lad, ut's th' fortunes of war that 'twas you James' instead of yersel' who came today to catch me in my state o' mind. I'm sellin' th' timber to th' Flynn's."

A slight tightening of the month was the only indication Franz gave of what that news meant to him. Then he asked:

"It's gone, you mean? The deal is closed?"

"Well, an option's bindin'. James has th' option, w' ink scarce dry."

Franz swallowed.

"A sale isn't a sale until the transfer is made," he said, smiling at MacDonald but Steve caught the menace in his tone. "And perhaps something may happen that the Flynn's don't take you up."

"Well said, Franz!" The Laird rose and put his hand on his arm. "Well said!" "Twouldn't become ye to sulk 'nd be angered because luck was nae w' ye. . . . Noo, lads, we'll drink to 't."

He turned, leaving them alone.

As soon as the door closed behind him Franz spoke:

"So Young Jim Flynn, so-called, has won a fall, eh?"

"Right!"

"But the timber's not yours yet. Not yet. Mr. Whoever-you-are!" He advanced closer and Steve could see a bulge under his armlet which could be nothing but a holstered weapon.

"Until a few hours ago you had me partly stopped. Now, squawk all you please about set-guns! You've no evidence!"

"What d'you mean by that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Laird nodded. "Twenty-five thousand doon; fifty thousand in six months; th' balance in one year w' intrust 't six per cent."

"And how long before the first twenty-five?"

"If ye want ut," he said brusquely, "ye'll take ut w'out delay. If ye don't want ut, others will. Ye must take ut noo, in a week. Seven days. Ay, That's enough. That's final."

"A short time," Steve protested, but saw that it was no use to ask for more. "You'll give an option now, surely, so I'll have something to go on?"

"That's only fair. An option. 'Nd th' doon payment must be here, in th' room, in cash, 'nd on time. . . . Ay 't th' hour!"

He rose then and walked to a desk, rumbling for paper and pen.

"Ay. . . . mumbled. "Ah, a bonny trout, he was. . . . But age. . . . 'Nd ha' 'n' made up th' mind, ut's time 't act!"

Slowly, laboriously, the pen commenced to scratch.

From a book the old man copied the descriptions, muttering that it would all be legal and regular and that the down payment must be delivered on the hour. "Mind that, lad: th' hour!"

Again the scratching, MacDonald mumbled: ". . . seven days . . . four p. m. . . this date . . ."

Down by the river voices sounded and Steve, looking through the window, saw Franz there, sitting in his canoe, talking with one of MacDonald's Indians. . . . Franz! He was getting out, now, asking a question, glancing at the house.

The pen scratched on so slowly. . . . Franz was staring up the trail.

The pen stopped. The Laird leaned back, reading what he had written, moving his lips as he read.

"'Nd noo," the old man said, dipping the pen again. "Noo fer th' signature which binds ut!"

A scuff on gravel outside; a footfall at the threshold. Slowly the pen point traced the letters and as the door opened the blotter was pressed to the fresh ink.

Steve tried not to snatch the precious paper as Franz entered the room. He did not turn to look at him; MacDonald gave no heed. The option passed and a great wave of exultation swept Drake as his fingers closed on it. He read on down the lines of the script, conscious that the Laird was turning to the newcomer, feeling more than seeing that faint bewilderment, perhaps regret, which came over the old man.

"Ah, lad!" he said gently, hitching his chair about. "Come here, lad. Ye know this mon?"

"Sure! I know Young Jim Flynn," Franz replied and laughed.

"Well, lad, ut's th' fortunes of war that 'twas you James' instead of yersel' who came today to catch me in my state o' mind. I'm sellin' th' timber to th' Flynn's."

A slight tightening of the month was the only indication Franz gave of what that news meant to him. Then he asked:

"It's gone, you mean? The deal is closed?"

"Well, an option's bindin'. James has th' option, w' ink scarce dry."

Franz swallowed.

"A sale isn't a sale until the transfer is made," he said, smiling at MacDonald but Steve caught the menace in his tone. "And perhaps something may happen that the Flynn's don't take you up."

"Well said, Franz!" The Laird rose and put his hand on his arm. "Well said!" "Twouldn't become ye to sulk 'nd be angered because luck was nae w' ye. . . . Noo, lads, we'll drink to 't."

He turned, leaving them alone.

As soon as the door closed behind him Franz spoke:

"So Young Jim Flynn, so-called, has won a fall, eh?"

"Right!"

"But the timber's not yours yet. Not yet. Mr. Whoever-you-are!" He advanced closer and Steve could see a bulge under his armlet which could be nothing but a holstered weapon.

"Until a few hours ago you had me partly stopped. Now, squawk all you please about set-guns! You've no evidence!"

"What d'you mean by that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Laird nodded. "Twenty-five thousand doon; fifty thousand in six months; th' balance in one year w' intrust 't six per cent."

"And how long before the first twenty-five?"

"If ye want ut," he said brusquely, "ye'll take ut w'out delay. If ye don't want ut, others will. Ye must take ut noo, in a week. Seven days. Ay, That's enough. That's final."

"A short time," Steve protested, but saw that it was no use to ask for more. "You'll give an option now, surely, so I'll have something to go on?"

"That's only fair. An option. 'Nd th' doon payment must be here, in th' room, in cash, 'nd on time. . . . Ay 't th' hour!"

He rose then and walked to a desk, rumbling for paper and pen.

"Ay. . . . mumbled. "Ah, a bonny trout, he was. . . . But age. . . . 'Nd ha' 'n' made up th' mind, ut's time 't act!"

Slowly, laboriously, the pen commenced to scratch.

From a book the old man copied the descriptions, muttering that it would all be legal and regular and that the down payment must be delivered on the hour. "Mind that, lad: th' hour!"

Again the scratching, MacDonald mumbled: ". . . seven days . . . four p. m. . . this date . . ."

Down by the river voices sounded and Steve, looking through the window, saw Franz there, sitting in his canoe, talking with one of MacDonald's Indians. . . . Franz! He was getting out, now, asking a question, glancing at the house.

The pen scratched on so slowly. . . . Franz was staring up the trail.

The pen stopped. The Laird leaned back, reading what he had written, moving his lips as he read.

"'Nd noo," the old man said, dipping the pen again. "Noo fer th' signature which binds ut!"

A scuff on gravel outside; a footfall at the threshold. Slowly the pen point traced the letters and as the door opened the blotter was pressed to the fresh ink.

Steve tried not to snatch the precious paper as Franz entered the room. He did not turn to look at him; MacDonald gave no heed. The option passed and a great wave of exultation swept Drake as his fingers closed on it. He read on down the lines of the script, conscious that the Laird was turning to the newcomer, feeling more than seeing that faint bewilderment, perhaps regret, which came over the old man.

"Ah, lad!" he said gently, hitching his chair about. "Come here, lad. Ye know this mon?"

"Sure! I know Young Jim Flynn," Franz replied and laughed.

"Well, lad, ut's th' fortunes of war that 'twas you James' instead of yersel' who came today to catch me in my state o' mind. I'm sellin' th' timber to th' Flynn's."

A slight tightening of the month was the only indication Franz gave of what that news meant to him. Then he asked:

"It's gone, you mean? The deal is closed?"

"Well, an option's bindin'. James has th' option, w' ink scarce dry."

Franz swallowed.

"A sale isn't a sale until the transfer is made," he said, smiling at MacDonald but Steve caught the menace in his tone. "And perhaps something may happen that the Flynn's don't take you up."

"Well said, Franz!" The Laird rose and put his hand on his arm. "Well said!" "Twouldn't become ye to sulk 'nd be angered because luck was nae w' ye. . . . Noo, lads, we'll drink to 't."

He turned, leaving them alone.

As soon as the door closed behind him Franz spoke:

"So Young Jim Flynn, so-called, has won a fall, eh?"

"Right!"

"But the timber's not yours yet. Not yet. Mr. Whoever-you-are!" He advanced closer and Steve could see a bulge under his armlet which could be nothing but a holstered weapon.

"Until a few hours ago you had me partly stopped. Now, squawk all you please about set-guns! You've no evidence!"

"What d'you mean by that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

DUTCH TULIPS

A "Garden Spot" in Tulp Land.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

DUTCH bulb growers have enlisted the aid of the Netherlands government in their industry.

Tulp growing once became a mania in some portions of the Netherlands. More has been written about that chapter in Dutch history, in fact, than its importance warrants; but it is interesting because the mania began at a time when the Dutch government was engaged in naval expeditions to acquire territory, and taxes were so high as to be almost unendurable. That the sober Dutch would lose their heads over a flower at such a time is a phenomenon that speaks highly of the fascination of the tulip.

Staid burghers abandoned ordinary business to engage in the tulip trade, and a period of gambling began that could not result in anything but financial ruin for the participants. The mania started in France in 1635 and quickly shifted to the Netherlands.

Once the gambling was under way, the plants about which it swirled became mere symbols. All trade was for tulips "in the onion." Buyers would contract for "futures," risking enormous sums on the expected prices of beds newly planted. A bulb of the "Admiral Liefkens" sold for more than 4,000 florins—the equivalent probably on current exchange of nearly 300 guineas. The "Semper Augustus," which had not increased rapidly since its introduction in 1623, was exceedingly scarce, and a single plant brought 5,500 florins, worth at the time about $70 pounds sterling.

Queer bargains were made, an example that seems particularly ridiculous being the exchange of one bulb for a load of grain, four fat oxen, twelve sheep, five pigs, two barrels of butter, 1,000 pounds of cheese, four barrels of beer, two hogsheds of wine, a bedstead with its furnishings, a suit of clothes, and a silver drinking cup! At the beginning of the mania the buyers were real tulip fanciers who coveted the flowers, but these soon were shouldered out of the bidding by professional market operators who bought in lots and held for a rise. One successful broker made 60,000 florins profit in four months.

Stole His Friend's Rare Tulip.

That Dumus' picture of Isaac Bortel's machinations against his rival tulip grower is at least not impossible is proved by historic incident. A certain burgomaster of Holland used his influence to obtain for a friend a political post of some importance. Upon the friend's offering to make return for the favor, the burgomaster refused reward and asked merely to be invited to see the appointee's tulip garden. The invitation was forthcoming at once, and the visit was made.

A few months later the appointee returned the burgomaster's visit. He went into his benefactor's garden and saw there a rare tulip which had been taken surreptitiously from his own. So furious was he at this discovery that he resigned his appointment, sold his estate, and left the country.

With nothing of real value to support the trade, the mania rose to absurd intensity. Traders gathered at inns and marked bids on wooden plates. A bulb would be mentioned, and a prospective purchaser would jot down on his plate a tentative offer. The holder of the bulb would write down a much-inflated price. While the dickering was in progress, a small percentage of the amount in question would be set aside as "wine money," and the dealer would put this up in cash. When a price was reached that both buyer and seller would check on their plates, the sale was proclaimed; but no money beyond the wine fund changed hands in the inn. Profits and losses were wholly "on paper."

On April 27, 1636, a proclamation of the states of Holland put an end to the wild speculation by rendering invalid all contracts in connection with tulips. Confusion resulted. Bulbs which had been bought for more than 5,000 florins were sold for 50. In the wholesale liquidation many traders were ruined. The bottom was out of the market, and holdings were disposed of at 1 per cent to 5 per cent of their cost.

Despite all this furor the tulip fanciers, who had retired early from the market lists and were tending their flower beds, lost none of their enthusiasm. The fields around Haarlem and Leiden continued to glow just as they glow to this day. If a man offered a new and beautiful variety of tulip, he was sure of a ready market for it.

Popular fads afford rich material for satirists in both literature and art. The tulip mania called forth not only serious horticultural essays by such men as Pierre Vallet, John Parkinson, and Laurentius, but Juvenalian jibes by Petrus Hondius, who, in his side of the path, and on the next full moon of this path, and at the time of full moon the moon is 230,000 miles outside of the path, and at the time of new moon, 230,000 miles inside of the path.

The "Mania Pamphlets."

Probably the Dutch government, alarmed at the extent of the bulb gambling, inspired some of the humorists

Jamaica Pays No Honors to Morgan, the Pirate

There is no monument to Sir Henry Morgan in Jamaica, although he was once lieutenant governor there, following a career of piracy second to none in the wide confines of America's Mediterranean, the Caribbean sea. In all of Kingston there is not a street, square or lane named after him. Visitors to the island frequently express surprise at the lack of even a tablet perpetuating the memory of the man who ravaged the Spanish Main and then at the behest of his government stamped out buccaneering in the British West Indies.

Born in Wales, he first arrived in the West Indies as a stowaway on a ship bound for Barbados. A short time later he reached Port Royal, across the bay from Kingston, with a string of prize ships captured at Campeche. Shortly afterward he pillaged and burned Panama, the oldest town on the American continent. This raid netted him 175 mule loads of treasure.

He was infamous for cheating and ill-treating his men, usually robbing them of their shares of booty. His schemes of torture were fiendish in the extreme, combining practically all the brutalities ever invented in all countries since the very beginning of time.

Finally arrested in Jamaica and shipped to England to give an account of his crimes, his glib tongue and riches saved him from punishment. Instead of being hanged, he was knighted and sent back to Jamaica as lieutenant governor with a commission to abate piracy on all the waterways leading to or surrounding any of the British West Indies, the king of England believing it to be a good idea to set a thief to catch a thief.

Morgan betrayed his former accomplices, hanging them without trial or mercy, and thus for the time ending piracy in British dominions. His despotism finally led to his recall.

Some say Sir Henry Morgan died peacefully in England under an assumed name; others that he resumed his piratical career and was killed in

NEVER FORGET THIS TABLET

It Means the REAL ARTICLE

GENUINE ASPIRIN

WHAT KIND OF PRINTING DO YOU MAIL?

The personality of a business is quite often established by the character of its printed matter, such as letter heads, folders, circular letters, billheads, mail enclosures, sales bills, etc., etc.—Building business personality through printed matter has been our job for forty years. Our quality printing costs no more than inferior work. Let us assist you in the creation of business stationery and other printed matter. There is no extra charge for such service—Simply phone, 28F1.

BUSINESS STATIONERY	BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS
SOCIAL STATIONERY	MAIL ENCLOSURES
CATALOGUES	PERSONAL CARDS
FOLDERS	SALE BILLS
BOOKLETS	CIRCULAR LETTERS
LETTER HEADS	BLOTTERS: MENUS
ENVELOPES	PLACARDS: POSTERS

Phone 28F1, and a Representative will call

STATESMAN PRINT

Kewaskum, Wisconsin

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

BY MICHAEL K. REILLY: M. C.

Another week, rather unimportant in legislative history, has passed into the common tomb of time, so to speak.

The Senate adjourned on Thursday, until Monday, after spending most of its four-day session in a further discussion and passage of the Independent Offices Appropriation Bill, that was passed by the House some time ago. The Senate's amendments to this bill increased appropriations about $300,000,000, and upon the bill's return to the House, it was immediately referred to the House Appropriation Committee. This was an unusual procedure but strictly in order under the rules of the House. The amendments attached to the Bill in the Senate required such a huge increase of appropriations for the next fiscal year, that it was thought that the bill should be returned to the Committee for further consideration.

The Senate also passed, during the week, a bill giving the President power whenever he finds, that in any part of the world, conditions exist, such that the shipment of arms or munitions of War from countries which produce these commodities, may promote or encourage the employment of forces in the course of a dispute or conflict between nations, he the President, may issue a proclamation forbidding the exports of our arms and munitions from our country to those countries. However, with the limitation, that the prohibition must apply to all countries, to any dispute or conflict.

In 1929, Congress passed a law giving the President power to forbid the export of arms and munitions to any of the warring countries of the South American republics. This new bill extends such power to all countries of the world.

This new legislative enactment of Congress will have a very decisive effect upon the arms and munitions export question, in the event of any future European conflicts.

During the World War, the question was raised as to whether or not, our citizens should be permitted to sell arms and munitions to the allies. Of course, our arms and munitions makers, were willing to sell their products to the central powers could not take advantage of any such willingness on the part of the manufacturers, because the arms and munitions sold to these powers could not be delivered because the allies controlled the highways of the sea.

Under international law it was claimed that both sides of an armed conflict, had a right to purchase arms and ammunition from any of the neutral countries, and that it would be a discrimination for our country, in the midst of a War, to forbid such privileges to any or all of the parties of an armed conflict, because the countries that did not build their arms and ammunition plants, did so under the belief that they could buy arms and munitions of war in neutral countries during a War.

This Bill to which the writer referred, was passed last Session by the House, and now, it will undoubtedly become a law by the approval of the President. In the right direction, and that the nations of the world, disposed to engage in future wars, ought to understand, that our country will not see fit in the future to feed the flames of War of permitting the sale or export of arms and munitions or other elements of Warfare to warring nations.

The House spent the greater part of the week in discussion of the agricultural Appropriation Bill. This bill carries appropriations for the fiscal year of 1934—1935, of about $60,000,000. There was very little opposition to it on its passage through the House, although three days were consumed in general debate, wherein the members were given the privilege of expressing their views on all measures pending in Congress.

This bill also contained something new in agricultural appropriations, and that is an allotment of $2,000,000 to carry on a war to exterminate the grasshoppers, which appear to be a real menace, to crops in certain sections of the country.

Of course, the grass-hopper pest does not affect a great many states. Only once in a while has it been serious in Wisconsin, but in some of the Western states, the information is, that the farmers are continually up against the ravages of the grass-hopper.

Times are picking up not only all over the country, as reports would indicate, but also as regards the House Restaurant.

The restaurant in the Capitol, where the members of the House of Representatives and their friends generally eat during the day, up to twelve years ago was under private management; a concession, but because the proprietors did not furnish the Congressmen just the quality and kind of food that they thought they ought to have, the House took over the management of the restaurant itself. The result was that for many years huge deficits have piled up because of the operation of the restaurant by the House. Some years this deficit amounted to $30,000. A week or so ago, Mr. Warren, Chairman of the House Accounts Committee, who manages this restaurant, reported to a startled House, the fact that in the past year, the restaurant had really made $5,000. In explaining the cause for the favorable change in

The Kewaskum Statesman GETS THE BUSINESS MESSAGE INTO THE HOMES OF BUYERS

THE functions of advertising are to search out buyers and inform them of new merchandise styles, explain values and tell where and at what prices they may be had. Getting these business messages delivered in as an efficient and inexpensive manner, as is consistent with good taste, and, through a medium that insures attention and acceptance, is a merchandising problem that was solved years ago by the establishment of the good, reliable and dependable newspapers—The Kewaskum Statesman is a good newspaper—it will get your sales message, Mr. Merchant and Business Man, into the homes of Kewaskum and neighboring buyers. Every week, throughout the year, the Statesman goes into hundreds of Kewaskum homes. Advertising display space in the Statesman is the most economical method of parading your merchandising offerings before an attentive audience who are the home newspaper readers of the Statesman.

COMPLETE ADVERTISING SERVICE

The Statesman is equipped to supply a complete advertising service to Kewaskum business and merchant advertisers. This includes fine merchandise illustrations, attention-compelling layouts and merchandise display copy. A phone call will bring a Statesman representative to explain all detail and assist with sales promotions, if desired. Simply dial, 28F1.

ELMORE

Miss Anita Struebing was a Sheboygan caller recently.

County Supt. Ernest Hornby was a village caller Tuesday.

Elmer Struebing has rented the former Christ, Guggisberg farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Straub were Fond du Lac callers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dellert visited the Clarence Thill family at South Elmore Saturday.

Frank Markert and Engelbert Volks of Milwaukee spent Sunday at the Joe Markert home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schaefer of Milwaukee were callers at the Al, Struebing home Sunday.

Miss Elsie Pieper of Milwaukee visited Saturday here with her sister, Mrs. Joe Markert.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sabish, Jr., visited Mrs. Wm. Michels at the St. Agnes hospital Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Michels returned from the St. Agnes hospital Tuesday where she underwent an operation for the removal of a goitre.

Irvin Dieringer, who has been ill for some time with pneumonia and pleurisy has been removed to St. Agnes hospital for treatment.

TOWN SCOTT

Mr. and Mrs. John Pesch were business callers at Oostburg Wednesday.

Miss Cecelene Pesch spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Enright and family at Boltonville.

John Pesch and Vincent Feilenz visited Wednesday with John Weyker and family at Port Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moldenhauer and Mrs. Bertha Habek entertained company from Milwaukee Sunday.

John Cechvala, Sr., the cattle buyer from Orchard Grove, was a business caller in this vicinity Tuesday.

Mrs. Anna Mellinger, daughter of Lorraine, and sons, George and Edwin, visited Tuesday evening with John Pesch and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moldenhauer and Mrs. Bertha Habek helped Paul Moldenhauer celebrate his birthday anniversary Saturday evening.

Misses Anna, Cecelene and Rose Pesch spent Wednesday with William Enright and family at Boltonville. They were accompanied home by Marie Enright, who visited several days here.

WAUCOUSTA

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Engels and family were Fond du Lac callers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson of Milwaukee called on relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Norges spent Saturday with relatives and friends in Fond du Lac.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Burnett and son, Howard, spent Saturday with relatives in Fond du Lac.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Buslaff of Kewaskum spent Thursday with relatives and friends here.

Mrs. John Fords and daughter, Audrey, are spending a few days of this week with relatives at Osceola.

Roland Buslaff and Miss Florence Lau of Waukesha spent the week-end at the Louis Buslaff home.

Subscribe to the Statesman now.

AUBURN HEIGHTS

Marvin Kleinke spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. A. Kleinke.

Rev. and Mrs. C. Gutekunst called on Mrs. A. Kleinke Tuesday afternoon, and Mrs. A. Kleinke, Ray Luckow and son, Wallace, called on Mrs. Amanda Kleinke and family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hinn and son, Harold, called on Mrs. A. Kleinke and family and Theo, Fick Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ray Luckow and son, Wallace, returned home Saturday after spending a few days with her parents at Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schultz and son, Elmer, visited with Mrs. A. Kleinke and family and Theo, Fick Tuesday evening.

Milton Yankow returned to his home in Manitowoc on Saturday after visiting a week here with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Luckow.

Ray Luckow made a business trip through Illinois, Indiana and numerous places in southern Wisconsin the forepart of the week.

EAST VALLEY

Miss Ruth Reysen spent Sunday in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Pesch spent last Friday with relatives at Milwaukee and Germantown.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schiltz spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Klug and family.

Gerhard Schladweiler of Manitowoc is spending this week at the Mike Schladweiler home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pesch spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. John Pesch in Town Scott.

Grandmother Rosbeck left Friday for Milwaukee where she will spend some time with her children.

Miss Cecelia Pesch of Kewaskum, Miss Lorraine Pesch and Joe Hammes of West Bend spent the week-end with their parents.

The following spent Sunday evening at the Wm. Pesch home, where they surprised Mrs. Elroy Pesch in honor of her birthday anniversary, namely: Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Guldian and son of Lomira, Mr. and Mrs. Nic, Hammes and family, Mike Thoennes, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schiltz, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Reysen, Mrs. Peter Schiltz, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Klug and family from near New Fane, Mike and Gerhard Schladweiler. At eleven o'clock a delicious lunch was served.

NEW FANE

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Dworschak visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Loran Keller.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ehnert visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Loran Keller.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Laubach visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bremser and family.

Miss Helen Naumann of West Bend spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Art. Naumann and family.

The Misses Bernice and Beatrice Dworschak were visitors at Fond du Lac on Monday where they attended the "Walkathon."

Subscribe to the Kewaskum Statesman and get all of the news of your community.

DUNDEE

H. W. Krueger transacted business in Fond du Lac Tuesday.

Wm. Quitzow of Wauwatosa called on the C. W. Baetz family Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Krueger and son, Kermitt, spent Saturday in Plymouth.

Lloyd Bartelt of Horicon spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bartelt.

Rev. and Mrs. Gerhard Kaniess of Kewaskum visited Thursday with Rev. and Mrs. Walter Strohschne.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kempf of West Bend spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Roehl.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baetz of Hartford, and Archie Baetz of Thompson, N. D., visited Wednesday with the C. W. Baetz family.

Sunday, our barber, Franklin Wald, wore a broad smile because the stork had visited his home Saturday evening and brought the parents an 8 pound baby girl. Congratulations.

Franklin Wald and daughter, Jeanette, spent Sunday at Red Granite with Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Fraser, who will visit here for several weeks.

A number from this vicinity helped August Stern celebrate his 52nd birthday anniversary on Wednesday evening at his home in New Prospect.

Messrs. present were: Messrs. and Mesdames, Chas. Melnecke, Louis Bunkelman, and Otto Melnecke, Mrs. Theodor Stern and brother, Henry Elbert, Wendelbom; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wendelbom and family, West Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stern and family, Beechwood; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ebert and family, Campbellsport; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schultz, New Prospect; Mr. and Mrs. George Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Molkenhuth, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kutz and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquardt of Dundee. The evening was spent in playing cards and games. At midnight a large lunch was served, shortly after which, all departed for their homes wishing Mr. Stern many more happy birthdays.

LAKE FIFTEEN

George Buettner spent one evening of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wunder.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gatzke visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Rob. Buettner.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sook and son, Melvin, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wunder.

Rev. and Mrs. Gutekunst called on Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wunder and Mrs. C. Krewald Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wunder and Mrs. C. Krewald spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. William Trapp at Beechwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Molkenhuth and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Molkenhuth and son, Vernon, of New Prospect visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wunder and Mrs. C. Krewald.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hahn spent last Sunday evening at Fond du Lac and while there attended a surprise birth. Day party in honor of their daughter, Miss Clara Hahn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Gatzke and son, Elroy, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Muench and son, Vernon, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haferman and family at Dundee.

the financial operations of the House restaurant, Mr. Warren announced that about a year ago, he brought to Washington from North Carolina, a hard-boiled manager for the restaurant, and this efficiency expert announced that the reason he was able to come out ahead in his year's management of the restaurant, was because he adopted a no-credit plan, as far as the dining Congressmen and others were concerned.

For many years it has been the practice for certain Congressmen to sign slips, and thereby have the meal cost, charged to their accounts, with the result that many of these accounts have not been collected, to the loss of the Government. The credit days of the Congressmen and their guests in the House restaurant is over.

The Senate Restaurant is run, to a large extent on the credit system, that is Senators come into the restaurant, get their meals and sign a slip such as a guest at a hotel run on the European plan may sign and have the bill charged to his room. This method has resulted in a substantial loss to the Government, for the reason that some times these neglected United States Senators neglect, over-look or refuse to pay what they owe the Senate restaurant for meals charged to their accounts.

It is hoped that, the hard-boiled plan,—pay as you go plan,—adopted by the manager of the House Restaurant, will shortly be adopted by the United States Senate and thereby save the government several thousand dollars a year.

NEW PROSPECT

Adolph Heberer of New Fane was a business caller in the village Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Uelmen and Mrs. Augusta Krueger spent Sunday with relatives at Cascade.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Meyer spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Uelmen at Campbellsport.

Miss Martha Kaehne from near Campbellsport was an over week-end guest of Miss Betty Tunn.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sook and son, Ellis, of Waucoasta spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bartelt.

Monroe Stahl and daughter, Joyce, of Beechwood called on relatives in the village Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Butzke and daughter of Round Lake spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. August Stern.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Romaine of Fond du Lac visited Thursday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Romaine, Dr. O. W. Guenther and daughter, and Dr. Leo Hoffmann of Campbellsport were professional callers in the village Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tunn spent last Thursday with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Adolph Flitter, who is a patient at the St. Agnes hospital in Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Clarence Hill and daughter, Beverly, of Fond du Lac spent from Thursday until Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Romaine, and the Richard Trapp family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haupt and children, Walter, Eugene and Margret, of Milwaukee, Gust and Emil Flitter of Waucoasta were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Tunn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Krueger of Cascade and granddaughter, Joyce Stahl, of Beechwood spent Tuesday with the former's mother, Mrs. Augusta Krueger, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Uelmen.

BELL RINGERS 1934

THE bell-ringer of 1934, who announces the business or social news of the day, will be printed matter of the better kind, clever in conception of idea and presented in a manner which will get the attention and the interest of the readers—We specialize in printing of the better kind, backed by 40 years of experience—Good printing costs no more than inferior work, sometimes and quite often it costs less—We do printing, binding and mailing of all kinds—No job too large or too small. Let us make estimate on your printing. You incur no obligation—and you will be agreeably surprised at the low cost and prompt service.

Statesman Print

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

Lax the Bladder with Juniper Oil, Buchu, Etc.

Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of BUKETS, the bladder laxative, also containing Buchu leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box from any drugstore. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleaning—and you get your regular sleep.—"Otto B. Graf, Druggist, says BUKETS is a best seller." (Adv.)

Farmers and homemakers in La Fayette county recently held a series of meat cutting and canning demonstrations. They were assisted by extension workers from the College of Agriculture in their program to make most use of home grown and home canned meat.

Subscribe for the Kewaskum Statesman and get all of the news of your community.

Every Week

There are fair and profitable changes every week through the Want-Ad columns of the Statesman. If you have something to sell, tell of it through a Want-Ad. If there is something you want to buy and want a bargain, then read the Want-Ads. The Want-Ad rate is only 1 cent a word.

Read and Use The WANT-ADS

Phone 28F1

MATH. SCHLAEFER OPTOMETRIST

Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted. Sell, Sell, Sell. Wisconsin