VOLUME XXXIX

KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN, FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1934

NUMBER 21

KEWASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

In a state wide mental ability examination taken by the Seniors last December the following students ranked commendably well, namely: Earl Kohler, Robert Rosenheimer, Eleanor Hron, Gladys Schiefel and Beulah Budenagen.

In a test similar to the one taken by the Seniors the following members of the Sophomore class made commendable grades, namely: Dorothy Backus, Viola Backus, Doris Mae Rosenheimer, Armond Mertz, Killian Honeck and James Koch.

It is significant to note that both our Sophomore and Senior classes made percentage grades considerably above the average for the state.

NEW CARS BEING PURCHASED

Signs of prosperity is best evidenced by the fact that people are purchasing new pleasure automobiles. According to Secretary of State Theodore Dammann, eleven new pleasure cars were registered in Washington county during the month of February, while in Fond du Lac 32 new cars purchased has been added to the 1934 total. In Dodge county the February registration totals 21. In the state during this month 1,560 new pleasure cars were registered bringing the two month total to 2,563 registered pleasure cars.

FIRE DAMAGES BECKER RESIDENCE

Sunday evening at about 7:20 o'clock the fire siren sounded because of a stubborn chimney fire that was in progress at the Jacob Becker residence on Fond du Lac avenue. Although the fire was kept in check at all times, it took approximately four hours before all danger of completely destroying the building ceased.

The fire was first noticed at about 5:30 p.m. when Miss Elvirena Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Becker, was preparing supper, smelled smoke. She called attention of same to her brother, Norbert, who went outside to investigate and noticed flames shooting out of the chimney. Chief Harry Schaefer was called. Nothing serious was anticipated, but as the time drew on, fire could be noticed between the walls, and finally became so serious that Chief Schaefer thought advisable to turn in an alarm. Several times flames shot through the roof. That the building was saved from complete destruction is attributed to the good work of Chief Schaefer and his volunteer firemen. The chief stated that it was a stubborn fire to fight and very hard to get at the source.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker were at a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Geidel at the time. It is estimated that the damage done to the building will total several hundred dollars. Very little damage was done to the furniture. The loss is covered by insurance.

On Friday evening the local fire department responded to a chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. Val Dreher, east of the bridge. The damage done was slight.

The fire department was called to the home of Mrs. Louis Brandt in Rosenheimer's addition on Wednesday noon, where the smoke house on the rear of the premises was afire. The flames were extinguished before the arrival of the apparatus. This was the third alarm that the department responded to within five days.

ALEX LEIKAM GETS 14 TO 25 YEARS

The circuit court jury at West Bend Tuesday afternoon found Alex Leikam, 19, of Milwaukee, guilty of second degree murder, for shooting to death Dean Farrell of Hartford the night of January 24, 1934. Judge C. M. Davison sentenced the convicted young man to 14 to 25 years in the state prison at Waupun.

Leikam shot Farrell, and Policeman Allie Schwartz of Hartford when the two men surprised him while he was asleep in Farrell's car on the outskirts of the city of Hartford. Leikam had stolen the car which belonged to Farrell a few hours before.

The jury that convicted the man included eleven men and one woman, Irene Jaehnl. They deliberated less than four hours. Leikam was taken to Waupun by Sheriff Joseph Kirsch on Wednesday morning.

Dis. Attorney Lester Buckley represented the state. He had introduced evidence that Leikam had been convicted once before for burglary.

John Cannon of West Bend represented the defense. His plea to the jury was that Leikam was startled into wakefulness by Marshall Schwartz's command to raise his hands, and shot without completely realizing what he was doing.

MRS. FRED JUNG PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Fred H. Jung, 64, (nee Ellen Wagner) who was of late making her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wittman, of this village, suddenly passed away at said home about six o'clock Friday morning, March 16. She was found dead in bed by her husband. Death was due to heart failure. She had been ill for several years. She died on her birthday anniversary.

Deceased was born March 16, 1870 at Theresa and was married there on May 27, 1893 to Fred H. Jung. The couple resided at Theresa until fifteen years ago, when they moved to Fond du Lac. For the past few years they made their home with their children. She is survived by her widower, four daughters, Agnes (Mrs. Frank Kroner) of Theresa, Edna (Mrs. Hubert Wittman) of Kewaskum, Helen (Mrs. David Hilbert) and Olive (Mrs. Chas. Edkins) of Fond du Lac, three brothers, Peter and Reinhold Wagner of Theresa, and Ambrose Wagner of West Allis, two sisters, Mrs. Charles Schick of Milwaukee and Mrs. Theodore Lehner of Fond du Lac and three grandchildren.

The body, after being prepared for burial by Undertaker Clem Reinders, was removed to the Zacherel Funeral Home in Fond du Lac where it laid in state until Monday morning, when the funeral was held at 9 a.m. with services at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic church, Fond du Lac. The Very Rev. Peter W. Gersbach officiated. Burial was made at Calvary cemetery near said city.

TOURING MILWAUKEE

In Friday's, March 16, Milwaukee Sentinel appeared a picture "Milwaukee Touring" which proved to be quite interesting to a number of the older citizens of this village, for in this picture appeared the late Dr. Ralph Elmergreen, who at one time was a resident of this village, and who was the husband of Mrs. Clara Rosenheimer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Moritz Rosenheimer, also former residents of this village. In describing the picture the Sentinel printed the following writeup:

"Touring Milwaukee—In July, 1900, the New England steam engine shown above was seen on Milwaukee streets. The owner, Dr. M. Rosenheimer, Sr., is at the wheel or tiller. Next to him is Dr. Elmergreen and the two sons of Dr. Rosenheimer, Hugo and Irving. Photo submitted by Mrs. Emma Rosenheimer, 2359 N. Palmer street." The Dr. Rosenheimer referred to, who has since died, was the brother of Mr. A. L. Rosenheimer of this village.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our many relatives and friends for their sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement, the loss of our dear mother, Mrs. Wilhelmine Lavrenz; also for the beautiful floral offerings, the pall bearers, the choir for their beautiful songs rendered; special thanks to Rev. Richard M. A. Gadow for his kind words of consolation, the funeral director, Edw. E. Miller, those that furnished cars and to all who attended the funeral.

IN MEMORY

In sad but loving memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Wilhelmine Lavrenz, who passed away on March 13, 1934.

Farewell dear mother, sweet thy rest Weary with years and worn with pain.

Farewell, till in some happy place We shall behold thy face again. 'Tis ours to miss thee, all our years, And tender memories of thee keep Thine in the Lord to rest, for so, He giveth his beloved sleep.

Sadly missed by the children,
The Children

With Accents of White for Spring

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

TO MOST women there is nothing more flattering than a dash of white to enliven the costume, be it either in the form of fetching little trimming details or worn in an accessory way. Wherefore, the prospects are that the fair sex will be appearing at its loveliest during the coming months, seeing that the new suits, frocks and ensembles are being prettified with the most winsome white accents creative genius can devise.

There are so many phases of the white vogue to be considered, one scarcely knows where to begin to tell the story. For instance, there are the frothy little necklines which are making even the simplest spring daytime print and crepe, likewise sheer woolen frocks, take on infinite charm. Masses of flutings, ruchings and fine pleatings of sheerest organdies, swisses, mousselines and nets make it seem as if milady's spring-hatted head was rising from out a halo of billowy whiteness. Lace fixings, too, are lavished about throat, shoulders and arms as if to tell an admiring world that fashions, this season, are going decidedly feminine. Then there are the new lace and net jabot blouses, it is indeed a winsome touch of white which they are contributing to present-day modes.

In response to this hue and cry for white the new suits are being adroitly trimmed with details of dainty white fur or perhaps topped with neckpiece of snow-white fur. A very attractive suit which expects to go stepping in the gay springtime is shown to the left in the picture. The material which fashions this costume is a cord-tucked rabbit woolen in black and white. This fabric, with rabbit fur woven into it, is very soft to the touch and its corded surface brings it right up to the moment in chic. Then, too, it is unbelievably light weight, which is another reason added to its good looks why style creators are showing such enthusiasm for these weaves. The white galyak scarf adds a touch of infinite chic. Its flyaway lines take their cue from the much discussed airplane and wing effects. The hip-length box-jacket with swagger saddle shoulder is a high-style note. With its horizontal use of the stripping the modish wrap-around skirt contrasts pleasantly with the vertical and horizontal stripes of the jacket.

Ripped revers of ermine, a white ribbed satin blouse together with a patrician styling makes the suit the right an outstanding number. The manner in which the jacket fastens with a tie of self fabric is characteristic of new fashion trends. The hat with a forward movement to the brim has made its entry into the millinery realm.

And now we want to be telling you about the clever bag and scarf ensemble shown below to the right in the picture. It is made of white vel de lux, which is none other than the handsomest crinkled white velvet eyes ever beheld, and give ear to this—it's washable! Comes in colors, too, does this new summer velvet. You can wear the soft drapery triangular scarf in many effective ways. Fasten it to the front and the scarf drops to the back between the shoulders in the new monk-hood lines which designers are so widely featuring this season. Reverse the order of things by buttoning this scarf at the back and presto! you have the fashionable draped cowl neckline.

WEAR FLOWERS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

With the return of feminine elegance and charm, women are again wearing real flowers. A single orchid secure in one of the very new and practical tube pins is the smart thing to wear on the shoulder of your chic bouclet suit, as photographed in the picture herewith. Orchids should always be worn stems down. With tailored clothes the small cypripedium or lady-slipper orchid is correct and ultra. What could be lovelier for formal occasions than a beautiful corsage of orchids, the aristocrat of the flower world? For evening, a corsage of two or three orchids simply tied with ribbon matching the flowers or stems is in high fashion.

Windswept Hats

A windswept effect is remarked on fashionable heads. Hair is dressed swept back from the face and hats are worn rolled back from foreheads.

NET AND PRINTED SATIN FOR MISSES

Net for junior misses is here in all its femininity and is displaying a great variety of trimming. Lace and metal combined with chiffon has been well indorsed in stiffened or starched finishes.

Tailored in silhouette, you can take your touches either in crisp effects or in the softer ruffly effects. Also, net is now being shown in the very happiest colors. There is something about black net, but it comes in appealing blues, the summer tones of yellow, peach.

Typical of net frocks was one in black, flared from the knee to the hemline—which showed considerable of a silver slipper and a gleaming buckle.

Also the juniors should know that printed satins in navy, brown, black, red, green—all with touches of white, are quite something for spring.

Now, the Shankless Shoe, Hardly Anything at All

Here's the latest development. After years of experimentation a shoe has been turned out that to all appearances is completely shankless. That means that in under the arch of your foot the sole simply vanishes into nothingness.

A black kid opera pump, for example, might have some sweet and lovely stitching as decoration which would extend right under the shoe, being joined under the arch by a seam running from sole to heel. In case you haven't caught on, this new system makes a size 8 foot look about 5, and 3 practically nothing at all.

Popular Dress Trimming

Hand fastenings are in high favor as trimmings for day time and afternoon dresses and jacket costumes and light-weight woolen dresses and costumes are especially attractive when treated with this type of embellishment.

Hints About Styles for Spring Wardrobes

Women in Paris are wearing monacles this season.

Latest berets in Paris are of straw and resemble pineapples.

The vogue for hand-knit sports wear has swept the country.

Divided skirts are the latest note in sports clothes.

Evening slippers are very lovely this season, and are patterned on Greek sandal lines.

Kasha, wool and lame outfit the Parisienne for a day.

Little caps made entirely of paradise plumes are the latest for evening wear in London.

Lovely halo hats vie with flattering brimmed models in capturing millinery interest just now.

Shoes should look British for sports wear, Continental for street wear and Parisian for evening.

TICKLING THE PALATE

"This duck is certainly enough to tickle the palate," the boarder told his landlady. The woman beamed. "I'm very glad you like my cooking," she replied.
 The boarder looked squarely at her. "I didn't say I liked your cooking," he quickly replied. "I said that this duck is enough to tickle the palate. I was referring to the feathers you left on it."—London Answers.

He Knew

The doctor surveyed his patient with a critical eye.
 "Hm," he muttered, "you confess that you are bad-tempered, eh? I suppose I need not tell you that a bad temper is caused by an ugly little microbe?"
 The patient gasped.
 "Shh!" he exclaimed. "For Heaven's sake, speak quietly, doctor. She's sitting in the room next door."

True Enough

An Irish small farmer was asked by his landlord if the report of his intended second marriage was true, and replied: "It is, yer honor."
 "But your first wife has only been dead a week, Pat," said the landlord. "An' shure," retorted Pat, "she's as dead now as she ever will be, yer honor."—Border Cities Star.

Names

"How did you like the reception?"
 "Very much," answered Miss Cayenne. "Not only was it noteworthy because of the distinguished people present, but it was interesting because of several who were prominently listed among those absent."

"How can you let your wife go round saying she made a man of you? My wife could never do that."
 "No, but she told my wife she did her best."

"CHIC" AT HOME EASILY ACHIEVED WITH COTTONS

PATTERN 1532

There is nothing smarter, or more practical or inexpensive for home wear than printed cottons! And it would be hard to find another model so good for cottons and as chic to wear as the one sketched today. It boasts tiny turn-back revers, perky sleeves, and clever waistline seaming that gives that desired tall, slim effect—easily adjustable, too, for the sash ties in back. You'll be surprised how quickly and easily it can be put together—and the instructor given with this pattern is an excellent guide in cutting, sewing and finishing the frock. Wash silks, too, are good.

Pattern 1532 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 3/4 yards 38 inch fabric. Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.
 Address orders to The Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City. —Adv.

THE FLAVOR L-A-S-T-S

America
- here they are!

To fill the record-breaking nationwide demand, Chevrolets are being produced at a record-breaking rate of

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

CHEVROLET factories are breaking records, trying to give America all the cars it wants. 4000 units a day are rolling off the assembly lines. In fact, more Chevrolets are now being produced than any other make of automobile in the world.

Naturally, Chevrolet is proud of the record its factories have made this year. Especially so, in view of the fact that the 1934 Chevrolet is not merely last year's model improved, but a basically new automobile throughout. Producing so many of these cars so early in the season, and producing them all up to Chevrolet high standards of quality, is nothing short of a real accomplishment!

Chevrolet takes this opportunity to thank the American public for the wonderful way it has received the 1934 Chevrolet car. And Chevrolet is happy to report, that with over 4,000 cars a day being built, dealers everywhere will soon be in a position to make immediate deliveries.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual, National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Has it failed? Has it been an unqualified success? Or has it fallen between two extremes? Those were the questions that were being universally asked concerning the colossal recovery program when the first year of the second Roosevelt's reign came to end on March 4. There were as many viewpoints as there were speakers and writers. One thing was fairly evident—partisanship on the part of the press is still at a low ebb. Few Republican papers damn the President as a matter of course because he is a Democrat; few Democratic papers claim that his batting average has been 100 per cent. Most of the editorial comment reviewing the amazing year was measured, reasoned, realistic. Opinion on various major phases of the program runs about as follows:

National Recovery Administration—The enthusiastic, almost hysterical approval that came with its creation has abated. It is given credit for bettering working and wage conditions, for stabilizing certain industries, for manufacturing a certain amount of employment, for helping to correct such spots on the economic landscape as child-labor and sweat-shops. But the gain in employment due to NRA has been less than was forecast, and there is growing fear that the tremendous weight of restrictions on business management, in matters which have had nothing to do with labor, constitute a dangerous tread toward fascism.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration—This was one of the most extensively debated of the new bureaus when it started; it remains so now. Secretary Wallace's warning that concentration of our present policy of nationalism will require government licensing of every farm, with government-determined quotas and government-controlled marketing methods and markets, came as something of a bomb-shell. The farm problem remains as acute as ever; income has increased but so has the cost of living, and surpluses are still being produced in vast quantities. Opinion is about evenly divided on the wisdom of the government's policy of subsidizing farmers to reduce production.

Civil Works Administration—"Questionable, dangerous—but necessary." That is about the way much responsible viewpoint runs on this. It carried 4,000,000 men through what might have been an inconceivably horrible winter, prevented want, destitution, starvation. Some hold that it would be better and cheaper to simply have provided straight doles instead of largely manufactured jobs.

Money—This is where the Administration's best piece of slight hand was performed. It cut the value of the dollar to 59 cents—and presto! the Treasury found itself 40 per cent richer. Economists are divided as to whether the results obtained will ever amount to much; many regard the Treasury gold policy as being unjustified and potentially dangerous.

Taxation—Taxation is being used as a means of taking from them-who-has to give to them-who-hasn't. In doing that it has thoroughly frightened business. There is conservative opinion freely expressed that oppressive taxation menaces recovery, is likely to prolong depression. Liberal opinion still is working on the basis that equalizing incomes will offset any existing or potential tax burden.

One of the best summings up of all appeared in the United States News of March 5. Listed as Administration assets were: Restored confidence in the banks; rapid liquidation of closed banks; insurance of bank deposits up to $2,500; increased farm prices; rescued local relief from breakdown; built up navy; saved property owners from foreclosure; effective campaign against kidnapers; better relations with Latin America; fixed minimum wages; diminished child labor; protection for business against cut-throat competition; revaluation of the dollar at about 60 cents; revived faith for working population; reinstated employment; improved public confidence. On the liability side, the News lists: Largest deficit in history; failure to provide comprehensive revenue-getting plan for future; the securities act; stagnation of capital markets; lack of coordination among government agencies; repudiation of gold pledge; wrecking of World Economic Conference; damage done by gold purchase policy; usurpation of powers of states; government competition with business; unfairness to aviation industry; tragedy to army fliers; revival of spoils system in public offices; waste and scandals in CWA and war department purchases.

So there you are—at the end of a year in which a slow, insidious and bloodless political revolution took place.

Potato growers of Wisconsin harvested 6,000,000 fewer bushels of potatoes in 1933 than they did in 1932, according to crop reports. Wisconsin growers, however, are giving increased attention to producing disease-free potatoes for the seed trade and quality table stock that will meet market demands.

To supplement their limited feed supply, Clark county farmers, last year seeded five times their accustomed acreage of Soy beans and three times their former Sudan Grass acreage.

Pattern 8155—Have you been looking for something really simple to make and really slimming to wear? Here is your pattern and you will be amazed at its simplicity in the making. These squares when cut on the straight become bias and fitted, and the bias sides cling to the figure. The panels in front and back may be cut on the straight if the material if preferred, but this is really a bias slip, except the shoulder straps which may be made of ribbon.

REFRESHING HOUSE FROCK

Pattern 8144—Now that March has flustered through, a new dress for morning wear is an absolute necessity. In selecting a pattern no better choice could be made than this style. Consider the smart white collar and turn back cuffs or long sleeves if you prefer, and note the clever diagonal closing on waist and skirt which is very simple to make because stitched on the outside. When you come to buy your material, you will be dazzled by the wide choice of gay prints, plaids and stripes in percale, seersuckers and various other cottons.

HINTS for the HOME

BY NANCY HART
HINTS FOR THE HOME

Water spots on waxed wood may be easily removed by rubbing in circles with a flannel cloth moistened in turpentine.

Glass stoppers may be easily removed from bottles by heating the neck of the bottle in hot water. The water should not be so hot as to break the bottle.

Oilcloth will brighten up if washed with a solution of borax and water, and wiped with a flannel cloth that has been dipped in milk and wrung as dry as possible.

The skin of tomatoes may be removed by placing them in a basin, pouring boiling water over them, and allowing them to stand a few moments. The skin will peel off them, without trouble.

Glass which has become cloudy will be quickly restored to its original clearness and luster if a little vinegar is used on it. Or, if washing soda is used in warm water, instead of soap, the same effect will result.

Chamois gloves should be washed in castile soap and warm water, with a spoonful of ammonia added to each quart of this solution. They should soak for fifteen minutes, after which they should be pressed out with the hands. Rinse them in cold water to which a little ammonia has been added. Dry them in the open air after blowing in the fingers to puff them out.

McCormick-Deering No. 3 Field Cultivator

MAYBE it's Quack or Johnson Grass . . . perhaps it's some other noxious weed . . . but—nine chances out of ten—weeds in your fields are stealing fertility from your crops and lowering your yields and profits.

After deep plowing, use this McCormick-Deering Field Cultivator on your land and yank out those fertility-robbing weeds by the roots. Then rake them up, and burn them!

This cultivator is great for summer-fallow, alfalfa cultivation, or seed-bed preparation. It does good work under all conditions because its entire weight can be thrown on the gangs when the going is tough.

Bring your weed problem to us. We can supply this cultivator in different sizes with sweeps best suited for attacking your weeds.

Like All Women, You Want Your Clothes to Be Right

AND the only way that you can be sure they will be right is to know what the designers and creators of new styles have decreed shall be right.

Cherie Nicholas, nationally known authority, who writes on women's fashions for this paper, tells you just what you want to know and pictures for you the garments and hats that the well-dressed woman will be wearing in the weeks to come. The styles that Miss Nicholas describes are authentic and the garments that she depicts are up-to-the-minute, but they do not represent style extremes. The garments are those that will be worn by the average woman and that you will find for sale in your home stores.

Keep up with the changing styles through Miss Nicholas' illustrated fashion articles, appearing in these columns, and tell your friends about them.

Up-to-the-Minute and Practical

Every woman wishes to be as well-dressed as possible without spending too much time or money on her clothes. That is why so many women in this community turn first to the page in this newspaper which contains the illustrated fashion articles by Miss Cherie Nicholas. For Miss Nicholas is an authority on fashions—not the freak models and the extreme styles, but the fashions in dress which the modern woman demands, those which are up-to-the-minute and at the same time economical and practical.

Be sure to look for these articles in each issue of this newspaper and then tell your women friends about them. They will be glad to know how they, too, can wear clothes which carry the message of the well-dressed woman.

All Around WISCONSIN

Kewaunee—The Kewaunee municipal water and light plant last year made a net income of $11,539.96, the annual report of the local commission shows.
Oshkosh—More than 500 philatelists in Wisconsin have been invited to attend the third annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Philatelic Societies here Apr. 7.
Antigo—Two Milwaukee men, Paul Donner and Ellis Bremer, were fined $54.50 each in municipal court here when they pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal fishing. Each had one pickerel when arrested at Long Lake.
Green Bay—The board of education, at a special meeting here, established a policy of issuing no future contracts to married women as teachers unless they can prove to the satisfaction of its members that they are the sole support of themselves and their families.
Fond du Lac—Enforcement of the N. R. A. code for the graphic industries may halt the practice of vocational schools printing for the city unless charges for the work are made equal to that of job printers for similar work, job printers who attended a recent meeting of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan zone report.
Madison—Eleven attendants at the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Winnebago, who were suspended by the state board of control at the order of Gov. A. G. Schmedeman following receipt of a report on alleged hardships, brutality, and neglect at the institution, have been permanently discharged, the board revealed.
Wausau—The retail council of the Chamber of Commerce here announced, following a meeting, that all stores controlled by the council will be closed between the hours of 12 noon and 3:30 p. m. on Good Friday. Other merchants are expected to fall in line. This is the first time Wausau stores have agreed to such a plan as a unit.
Racine—Racine voters refused, 4,997 to 3,944, a $205,000 federal grant and a $555,000 federal loan to complete a sewage disposal plant which already has cost the city more than $500,000. Mayor William J. Swoboda had urged the voters to favor the project, but the Racine county unit of the Wisconsin Home and Property Owners' association opposed it.
Madison—An outdoor exposition to advertise the attractions of Wisconsin's northern lake region will be held here in July, according to the Association of Commerce. The program, to start July 2, is expected by its sponsors to attract 200,000 persons and build a reputation for Madison as the "gateway to the ideal summer vacation ground of America."
Milwaukee—Alfred Kay, 51, attorney and president of the closed Milwaukee Commercial bank, was sentenced to one to three years in the house of correction after he pleaded guilty to a charge of making unauthorized loan of $4,000 to himself. When Kay agreed to plead guilty to the loan charge, Special Prosecutor Winifred C. Zabel agreed to noli prosequi other charges against the banker-lawyer.
Madison—Federal construction of a continuous highway around Lake Michigan is the proposal of a movement underway to enlist support of four of Wisconsin's neighboring states, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. A conference of highway commissioners representing these four states regarding the proposal was planned for Milwaukee, Apr. 10, by a delegation of Milwaukee county and city officials and civic leaders who met with Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman.
Madison—Although Wisconsin canneries produced 30 per cent more cases of beans last year than in 1932, it was the second time in eight years that the state had ranked second rather than first in production of canned beans. New York produced 535,389 cases in 1933 and Wisconsin 392,507. Milwaukee, Waukesha, Washington, Brown, Dodge and Outagamie counties have the largest acreages in Wisconsin, shipping part of their output fresh to the markets.
Milwaukee—At least one picket here isn't angry at the place he's picketing. This man has been assigned to picket a grocery store in Milwaukee. After walking up and down all day, he put his sign down on the sidewalk, walked into the shop, bought his groceries, picked up his sign and walked home.
Elkhorn—The Walworth county board refused to allow claims of the Lyons Milk Co. for $558 damages and the Walworth Milk Co. for $1,052 damages caused by strikers in the embargo on milk deliveries to Chicago last fall.
Baraboo—The German Methodist Episcopal church and parsonage here were purchased by the Baraboo American Legion Building Co., a corporation recently organized. The building will be maintained as a clubhouse and memorial home for patriotic organizations.
Madison—The state public service commission ruled that it is illegal for members of the governing bodies of cities, towns and villages which operate municipal utilities to serve on utility management boards.

Madison—Wisconsin deaths during January totaled 2,603, considerably less than the current three-year average for that month, the state board of health announced.
Sparta—Moosehide gas was believed to have caused the deaths of J. A. Solberg, Sparta dry cleaner, and Margaret Durlingame, a widow, whose bodies were found in an auto parked at the outskirts of the city.
Madison—Voters who are required to register or re-register to be eligible to cast a ballot at the statewide election Apr. 3, must do so on or before Mar. 22. Secretary of State Theodore Dammann has announced.
Waupaca—Louis F. Shoemaker, 78, Wisconsin's oldest county clerk, both in age and in years of service, died at his home here. He was elected clerk of Waupaca county in 1896 and had served continuously since then.
La Grange—Producing an average of 904 pounds of milk and 33.3 pounds of butterfat, the 17 grade Holsteins owned by C. J. Rieck finished high in herd production in the La Grange Dairy Herd Improvement association for February.
Milwaukee—Wisconsin has been allocated 44 summer Civilian Conservation Corps camps, an addition of one camp to the winter quota, with an enrollment of 7,200 men, Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation, announced at Washington.
Manitowish—Tavernkeepers here have agreed that the 5 cent glass of beer is practically obsolete. Local breweries have raised the price $1 a barrel, to $14, which makes it impossible to sell the usual 10 ounce glass for a nickel, they claim.
Superior—Enraged because his romantic attentions were spurned by the girl he loved, Charles Bremer, 21, shot and killed his sweetheart, Alda Carlson, 22, at a farm in Poplar, Douglas county, and then turned the gun on himself, committing suicide.
Sheboygan—Sheboygan has received an offer of a grant of approximately $75,000 and a loan of approximately $225,000 from Federal Public Works money for erection of a vocational school and will vote to accept or reject this offer in the spring election, Apr. 3.
Washburn—An option for purchase of the Washburn water plant has been taken here as the result of action by the city council. The purchase price will be $67,500. It is reported. The Washburn council has voted a retail liquor license of $50 per year. The drug store fee will be $15 a year.
Madison—Appointment of Dr. Gilbert A. Seaman, Milwaukee, recently retired surgeon general of the Wisconsin national guard and nationally known neuro-psychiatrist, as acting superintendent of the Northern State Hospital for insane at Oshkosh was announced by the state board of control.
Antigo—Two hundred and fifty farmers who came to Antigo with intentions of blocking two mortgage foreclosure sales, looked on peacefully while the sales were made by Sheriff Brack Gillespie. The sheriff was surrounded with deputies and police officers and no attempts were made to interfere.
Barron—This town has the world's meanest landlord, at least in the opinion of Duffy Broten, who is under arrest on charges of jumping a board bill. Broten says that his former landlord, at whose home he had been living, is holding Broten's false teeth pending outcome of the trial. Broten is living on mush and milk.
Monroe—A member of a research exploration party, which also includes three big game hunters and two physicians, John Dreier, who graduated from Monroe high school with the class of 1926, has left for Egypt and the Belgian Congo, where the explorers plan to remain nearly two years. Mr. Dreier is a son of Mrs. Adelia Dreier, of Monroe.
Madison—Smokers, farmers and settlers clearing land, campers and incendiaries have been responsible for most of the 11,467 forest fires Wisconsin experienced in the 14-year period from 1920 through 1933, according to the state conservation department. A tabulation made five years ago showed that land clearing was the outstanding cause of fire outbreaks.
Racine—Charges that numerous unlicensed "holes in the walls" were selling liquor at 15 cents a pint, and demand why the police department doesn't do something about it were made at a city council meeting in a hearing on a liquor licensing ordinance. The discussion arose out of a proposal, which was finally adopted, to reduce from $250 to $150 the cost of a Class B license.
Madison—Adj. Gen. Ralph Immell, acting state conservation director, has announced that Horicon marsh will be reflooded. The dam in the Rock river, which regulates the water level in the marsh, will be closed in about two weeks in order to hold spring flood waters, he said.
Portage—City officials here announced that another street lighting contract has been signed with the Wisconsin Power & Light Co. The city council rejected a proposal to enlarge the city's own Diesel engineering plant.
Burlington—Burglars carted a 500-pound safe from a local filling station, took it 10 miles to a secluded spot between Saron and Walworth and opened it by smashing the combination. They took $150 but left station records intact.
Madison—A victim of the sweeping "reforms" of the German Nazi government, Dr. Victor Jolow, scientist formerly of the University of Berlin and Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, began his services with the University of Wisconsin in.

NRA SEEKS DATA ON HOURS, WAGES

Johnson to Act After Committees Report.

Washington.—The NRA is awaiting reports from spokesmen for the capital goods and consumer goods industries before determining its next step in bringing employment to new millions of workers.
Gen. Hugh S. Johnson said he would wait for the reports of the committees of the two great groups of industry before acting to enforce anything like a uniform order for a 10 per cent hours reduction and wage increase for all industry.
He said the committees had been asked to make suggestions and had promised such co-operation. If their proposals appear sound, he said, they will be tried out.
"We want to promote self-government of industry just as far as it can be carried out," he said. He pointed out that the suggestions made may not be convincing and specific and in such case indicated the previously announced "10 per cent" program probably would be put into action immediately.
The hours-wages program, probably would be effected by executive order applying to all industries except those which bring to NRA evidence justifying exemptions.
Johnson thinks the reduction of hours will be applied to many industries, in any event, and expects the shorter work week to be effected to a considerable degree by April 15.
On reports from the capital and consumer goods committees will be based the decision on creating a division of code authorities for trades and service groups, such as laundries, divers and cleaners, restaurants, garages, building management and retail stores.
Among problems particularly affecting this group is the question how far NRA shall continue to establish and enforce price controls. The division administrator, A. D. Whiteside, said he believed in open price associations before the conference and that testimony heard there made him "fanatical" in favor of them.
Many industries named the provision for posting prices, to be effective five, ten or fifteen days later, as the greatest benefit they had received from recovery codes.
Whiteside said if open prices increased prices, as charged by opponents, they also resulted in raising standards of quality. He minimized dangers of uniform prices.
Retail stores continued opposition but have weakened in facing the flood of favorable comment. Whiteside said.
Many industries are delaying decision on hours and wages until future NRA policy on price control is announced.
Much revision and change in code compliance was hinted at by Johnson, although plans have not been completed. It is believed much of the "cracking down" on code violators will in future be handled by NRA legal division. Among the possibilities is that of closing of the compliance division and withdrawal of its director, William H. Davis.

Tax Evasion Suit Is "Politics," Says Mellon

Washington.—Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, charged in a statement that the action of Attorney General Cummings in ordering an income tax evasion suit against him was "politics of the crudest sort."
He denied ever having failed to pay his proper income taxes, and said he had paid more than $20,000,000 in this form of rates in the last 20 years.
Cummings announced that actions would be begun against Mellon, Thomas S. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan and company, James J. Walker, former mayor of New York, and Thomas L. Sidlo, Cleveland lawyer.

Plot to Blast Ohio Prison Frustrated

Columbus, Ohio.—A bold plot to dynamite the walls of the Ohio penitentiary in an effort to free Howard Brown and Joe Filkowski, desperadoes serving life terms, was frustrated by Warden Preston E. Thomas. He intercepted a code message from Brown to his brother, Neal, who escaped from the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane last Christmas day.

League Board Drops Chaco Peace Efforts

Buenos Aires.—League of Nations conciliators, finding Paraguay and Bolivia "irreconcilable," have abandoned an attempt to stop the jungle strife in the Gran Chaco border area. The league commission, which has sought for months to settle the dispute, announced it had ended its efforts.
Two Atchison Banks Raided
Atchison, Kan.—Willard Linville, chief of police, was wounded by machine gun fire, two bank employees were slugged and nine were kidnapped here by four men who took $21,000 from the Exchange National and Exchange State banks. The kidnapped employees, used as a shield, were released after the robbers made their getaway.
Five Die in Mine Fire
Wheatcroft, Ky.—Five miners lost their lives in gas and smoke caused by a fire in mine No. 10 of the West Kentucky Coal company near here. All the other employees, numbering 350, escaped.

DR. KHALID SHELDRAKE

Dr. Khalid Shel Drake, a medical missionary and son of a British pickle manufacturer, has been selected as king of Islamistan, the new name of the Chinese province of Sinkiang, the independence of which was declared by its chiefs.

WILLARD IS ELECTED U. OF I. PRESIDENT

Noted Authority on Heating and Ventilation.

Chicago.—Arthur Cutts Willard, acting dean of the state university college of engineering, is the president-elect of the University of Illinois. He will take office July 1.
He was elected unanimously by the board of trustees at a meeting in the Blackstone hotel and accepted the post when the board notified him by telephone at his home in Urbana.
President-Elect Willard, who is fifty-five years old, succeeds Harry Woodburn Chase, who resigned the presidency last July to become chancellor of New York university. Dean Arthur Daniels of the graduate school has been serving as acting president in the interim.
President-Elect Willard is an internationally known authority on heating and ventilation. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and joined the faculty of the University of Illinois in 1913 as an assistant professor in the department of mechanical engineering.
He was made a full professor in 1917 and was named head of the department of mechanical engineering in 1920. He was made acting dean of the college of engineering last fall.
He has been consultant on ventilation for the Holland vehicular tunnel under the Hudson river, the proposed Chicago subway, for the national bureau of mines, for the chemical war service and the United States public health service. He is the author of books, pamphlets and magazine articles on ventilating, heating and kindred subjects.
President-Elect Willard, who will be the school's seventh president, is a member of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Pi Tau Sigma, Sigma Tau and Triangle.
Previous to the vote on the president Walter W. Williams of Benton was elected president of the board of trustees. He succeeds Edward E. Barrett of Chicago. Harrison E. Cunningham was re-elected secretary and Lloyd Morey was re-elected comptroller.

More Pay in Sight for 230,000 Auto Workers

Detroit.—Upward of 230,000 workers in the automotive industry will receive increased wages and shorter hours by March 31, it plans announced by Henry Ford and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce are carried out.
Mr. Ford announced he had restored the $5 a day minimum wage to 47,000 of the 70,000 employed in his plants.
The directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce recommended that their member firms cut the average working week of productive employees from forty to thirty-six hours, with compensating wage increases.

Death of Dillinger's Pal

Lima, Ohio.—Henry Pierpont, member of the notorious John Dillinger gang, was found guilty on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of Sheriff Jess Sarber. The jury of 10 men and 2 women failed to recommend mercy for Pierpont and thereby made mandatory a sentence of death in the electric chair.

Vessel's Crew Rescued

Hallfax, N. S.—The Red Star liner Westernland reached port with the crew of the Halifax fishing schooner C. E. Levy, rescued from their battered craft after drifting helplessly for 14 hours in the teeth of a gale.

Two Brothers Killed

Baltimore.—Two bandits, fatally shot in an attempted holdup here, were identified as James Collins and Harry Davis. Joseph Kelley fired at the bandits after they had ordered Willis M. King to throw up his hands.

Fielder Jones Is Dead

Portland, Ore.—Fielder A. Jones, the former big league baseball player and manager of the "hitless wonder" Chicago White Sox, died from heart inflammation. He was sixty-two years old.

Three Beheaded in Germany

Berlin.—Richard Bahr, twenty-four, a Communist convicted of setting fire to granaries, was beheaded, along with two other men sentenced to death for murdering and robbing a woman seventy-five years old.

RAID IOWA BANK AND GET $52,000

Bandits Shoot Way Out With Living Shields.

Mason City, Iowa.—Defying more than 50 customers and employees, seven machine gun bandits raided the First National bank here and escaped with cash estimated by officials at $52,000.
As they fled they lined the running boards of their automobile with bystanders to protect them from possible gunfire of vigilantes and police who had stationed themselves on nearby roofs during the holdup.
The hostages were released after the bandits had gained the city limits.
A large crowd that gathered outside the bank during the holdup was held at bay by machine guns stationed at each entrance to the bank. The bandits fired wildly at the crowd and into the air and wounded one bystander, R. H. James, in the leg.
The bandits parked their car near the rear door of the bank and, brandishing machine guns, ordered the 31 employees and about 25 customers to raise their hands. They seized persons in the lobby to prevent guards from firing.
While some of the robbers looted the cages, one of them took H. C. Fisher, assistant cashier, back to the main vault, forced him to open it and pass out the money.
Tom Walters, the bank's guard, was in his cage overlooking the bank lobby. He was spotted by the bandits after their entry and a machine gun was trained on the shatterproof glass. It was struck in a dozen places, but no bullet pierced it.
Because the lobby was filled when the bandits entered, it was impossible for Walters to get a fair shot at any of the bandits without imperiling the lives of patrons.
Walters fired a couple of tear gas bombs.
When their task was completed the bandits herded all the employees of the institution out the back door, surrounded their car with men and women for protection, and drove calmly away.

St. Lawrence Waterway Pact Loses in Senate

Washington.—The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway treaty between the United States and Canada was defeated in the senate. The vote was 46 for ratification and 42 against. Proponents of the treaty were 13 votes short of the two-thirds majority required for ratification.
The result was President Roosevelt's first major defeat at the hands of congress.
Failure to obtain ratification did not constitute outright rejection of the treaty. But it was agreed that further negotiations between the United States and Canada would be necessary before this plan for making inland ports available to ocean-going steamers could become an actuality.
Shortly before the senate rejected the treaty, the President indicated he intended to send it back to the senate later for another attempt at ratification.
They looked for all the world like visiting monks.
They mingled with the crowds surging through the gates.
Slim was breathing a silent prayer of thanksgiving when suddenly he stopped.
A guard had seized his arm. Jerry followed directly behind, stopped also.
"Senior, your pass."
Slim did not lift his head.
Feigning a meditative state of mind, he reached carefully beneath his robe and produced the square of cardboard that he and Jerry had carefully prepared on the night previous.
Breathlessly he waited what seemed like an eternity, while the guard, his face a mask of bewilderment, studied the card, turning it one way and then another.
Behind, the crowd was creaking forward.
"Gracias, Senior."
Slim felt the card pressed back into his hand.
He moved forward, uninterrupted.
"Boy, what a close one! The old man ought to double our pay for this."
"Better not crow till we get the pictures."
Slim stopped suddenly, looking around.
"Say, you don't suppose that Express Reporter got inside, do you?"
"Not a chance. Whoever he is, he's new at the game. We've been trying to crash that gate for three years. It doesn't seem likely a cub could do it on his first attempt."
Reassured, they mounted an iron staircase to a balcony overlooking the street.
There were others there ahead of them—a girl and two old men.
It was an excellent observation point, and the youths found vantage points close to the railing.

House Passes Bill for Veterans' Bonus Payment

Washington.—An unruly house overtop party leaders to pass the $2,400,000,000 inflationary soldier bonus bill. President Roosevelt has made it clear that he will veto the measure if it passes both houses, and opponents of the bill denounced its passage as a mere political gesture. The vote was 295 to 125.
The fate of the bonus bill in the senate is uncertain, but it is conceded that it cannot be passed over the President's veto, though it had more than a two-thirds majority in the house.

U. S. Gunboat Burned; Crew Saved by British

Hongkong.—The 157 men aboard the United States gunboat Fulton when flames enveloped it during a heavy storm six miles south of Single Island were brought safely to this port.
Three of the crew were injured. One suffered from smoke in the lungs, another had a broken arm, and the third a broken leg.
The rescue of the crew by the British destroyer Wishart and the British steamer Tsinan was an example of wonderful seamanship, the survivors said. The Fulton was completely abandoned.

THE GATE CRASHERS

By R. H. WILKINSON

MALJORCO is a gay and romantic city at any time of the year.
But gayest and most romantic of all days is Dia Conmemorativa de Somjesta, a day of feasting and merry-making; a day of celebration and of paying homage to the memory of the nation's most revered hero—El Miguelo de la Somjesta.
It is a day of solemnity, also.
For it is on this day, at the hour when daylight merges into dusk and dusk into darkness that the coffin of the honored and celebrated El Miguelo de la Somjesta is removed from its tomb and paraded slowly about the walls of the inner temple.
It is a rite that has become a tradition, the most sacred of all functions to be sponsored throughout the year, attended and participated in by the nation's nobility.
It is a moment at which the most distinguished personages in all the nation bow to the admitted superiority of the great Somjesta.
The procession itself takes place within the walls of the temple.
It is as secret as it is sacred.
Only a chosen few have ever witnessed the spectacle, and those having first pledged their solemn oaths to maintain the trust down through the ages.
Thirty minutes before the procession is scheduled to get underway, a hush falls over the city.
And until a half hour following its conclusion the hush remains.
No word is spoken, no hand blades from the carnival stands, no dancers hold gayly forth in the street. It is an hour of silence and of worship.
The hour for silence had come. Young Jerry Murdock and equally young Slim Darrell stood across the street from the temple gates and watched the chosen few file past the guards, with bowed heads and solemn looks.
Occasionally a guard reached out and tapped a spectator on the shoulder. There followed a moment of delay while credentials were displayed and scrutinized.
Fifteen minutes passed, and Jerry Murdock nudged his companion.
"Wed' better make a try now, if ever. The crowd's getting thicker."
Slim Darrell nodded.
"Righto. Got your pass ready?"
"Yee. Listen, Slim, it's pretty risky business. If we're caught they'll treat us badly."
"Should have thought of that a month ago. Too late to turn back now. Besides, if we get the pictures, the Post will jack our salaries to the limit. Come on."
He started across the street. Jerry followed.
Both young men were dressed in long flowing robes, their faces almost obscured in peaked hoods of the same material.

Community Medical Service Tried

The theory of state medicine, so often debated as an academic proposition, is being given a practical test, if a voluntary one, in the little Alberta town of Cardston, which has a population of 2,000. Cardston is the center of the Mormon settlements in Southern Alberta, and it is dominated by the beautiful temple which is a shrine of the Mormon faith to which most of its citizens adhere.
The Cardston plan of community medicine guarantees to any family complete medical service, including even major operations—but not hospital service—for all its members for an advance payment of a small fee. The enterprise is handled by a committee of citizens, and the subscription money is paid in monthly installments to the town's two physicians. Approximately 1,500 persons are guaranteed medical service and each of the two physicians was assured of an annual income. In addition the physicians have their fees from families which for one reason or another have not joined in the community effort.
The scheme is said to be working admirably. The contributing families are spared the worry about doctor bills; they obtain frequent medical advice because no extra cost is involved; and if an operation is recommended there is no ground for the least suspicion that the surgeon is interested primarily in his fee. The physicians, for their part, are certain of a decent small-town income without the annoyance of making difficult collections.
Eat Fish Eyes
We may consider ourselves connoisseurs of fish, but natives of some parts of the world would think we were ignoring the best part of a fish when we throw away the head, particularly the eyes. These are considered the most delicious part and always eaten first in certain parts of the West Indies, while boiled salmon eyes are a favorite dish in sections of northeastern Asia.

Up at the street's end the procession was getting underway.
Slim, concealed from those behind by his own bulk, removed a camera motion picture camera from beneath his robe, adjusted it between the railing bars and waited.
It was a tense moment.
They could hear the deep measured roll of drums, they saw fantastically dressed figures leaping and cavorting in the street below.
Solemn high priests, wearing wide hideous head dresses and masks and carrying beautifully carved wands, marched far in the lead of a train, carried by eight handsomely costumed footmen.
The tiny movie camera was perched on Jerry leaped over and spoke terrifically.
"Save your film, Slim. This is the beginning."
Slim grinned.
"No need to whisper."
"These jiggers can't speak English, no more than that guard could read it. Here, get another film ready. I'm going to catch the whole of this if I have to hold them up with a gun."
Hastily he snapped open the camera lid, removing the used film.
Jerry thrust forward another, which was deftly inserted.
"Get would be best that the British take care. To be detected would mean death."
Both youths whirled.
It was the girl.
She was looking at them without turning her head.
Her expression revealed nothing though they knew she had both heard and understood, was aware of their purpose.
"Queeck, zee priest!"
Some one was coming up the stairs. The girl's hand was extended.
Without hesitation Slim relinquished camera and film and turned away.
Behind them the priest had stopped.
And in that moment an icy fear clutched at the hearts of the two reporters.
They saw vividly, mental pictures of the horrors of a Maljorco dungeon prison.
Footsteps sounded on the stairs.
"El ees gone. Zee camera."
Slim stared dumbly at the girl.
He wanted to say something, wanted to tell her how much they appreciated what she had done.
But already her eyes were back on the procession.
"Say, that girl was a little bit of all right, eh?"
"Saved us from a nasty mess. Wonder if we could find her again? Like to express our thanks. If it wasn't for her, we'd probably be rotting in one of those dungeon prisons."
They were back in their hotel room. The procession was over, and they had successfully got past the guard coming out.
Slim was opening the camera.
Suddenly his eyes bulged.
He opened his mouth and started.
"Wha's eating you, feller?"
"The film! It's gone. It couldn't have been there when we shot those scenes!"
Jerry leaped off the bed and came across the room.
"Well, I'm a . . . An idea came to him. 'Slim! Do you suppose . . . Say, where's that first film?"
"I gave it to you!"
"You did not! You gave it to the girl, and she still has it! Moreover, she removed the second roll when you handed her the camera. She didn't want us to get any more shots!"
Slim was staring like one in a stupor. "Jerry! That girl was on the Express!"
"Of course, idiot! The cub reporter! And did she play us for a couple of suckers! Oh, sure, she helped us out of a nice mess and got us in a worse one. I can see the old man's face now."
"So can I. And there's not another parade until next year."
In another room in the same hotel, a young girl removed a roll of film from her handbag, looked at her own reflection in a mirror and said, "Queek! Zee camera!" And laughed merrily.
Originated Campaign Song
The campaign song, "Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too," which was to the Harrison campaign in 1840 what the Marseilles was to the French Revolution, was thought out in the mind of its author, A. C. Ross, of Zanesville, Ohio, as he sat in the choir loft listening to the Sunday sermon, as the preacher started the sermon, Ross, choir director, began to think out the composition and when the services closed he had the entire song completed—words and tune.
Zoo's Hungry Population
The following is an estimate of what the London zoo needs for animal food yearly: Apples, 8 tons; grapes, 2 tons; currants, 10 cwts.; sultanas, 12 lbs.; oranges, 14,680; meat, many tons; egg yolk, 140 lbs.; eggs, 20,000; sirup, 200 lbs.; condensed milk, 18,000 lbs.; and 457 gallons; dates, 18 cwts.; nuts, 15,000 lbs.; biscuits, 15 tons; honey, 51 lbs.; bread, 6 tons; vegetables, 30 tons; fish, 45 tons.

The Story of Eastertide in Music

FIXING OF EASTER Presented a VEXING PROBLEM

WHAT Easter Sunday is what is known in ecclesiastical circles as a "movable feast," falling now upon one calendar date and again upon another, yet always at present upon a Sunday, is a fact usually accepted without question. It is a fact, however, that this chronological paradox has now and then perplexed the curious and the inquisitorial, declares a writer in the Kansas City Star.

The time of the Crucifixion is fixed as coincident with the Jewish Passover, or paschal feast, in the Jewish calendar month "Nisan," the month of the vernal equinox. The first obscurity in regard to the day arose from the Christian Gospels themselves. The Synoptic Gospels seemed to favor the day as the fifteenth of Nisan, that of St. John, the fourteenth. This established, by the preponderance of evidence, that the Crucifixion occurred on Friday, the day before the Jewish Sabbath. According to Matthew, the resurrection occurred "in the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week." Mark placed it as "very early in the morning, the first day of the week, at the rising of the sun." Luke also fixed the event on "the first day of the week, very early in the morning." Thus it seemed to be definitely established that Christ arose from the dead on Sunday morning, the first day of the Jewish week.

Ecclesiastical history preserves three distinct phases relating to the subsequent commemorative day which came to be known as Easter. Although the observance of Easter was at a very early period the practice of the Christian church, a serious difference as to the day for its observance soon arose between the Christians of Jewish and those of Gentile descent. With the Jewish Christians, who associated the death of Christ with the sacrifice of the Paschal Lamb at the Passover, which ended "on the fourteenth day of the moon at evening," the Easter festival followed the paschal tradition, no matter what day of the lunar month it chanced to fall upon. The Gentile Christians, on the other hand, following the Synoptic Gospels, identified the first day of the week, Sunday, as the day of Resurrection, and kept the preceding Friday as the anniversary of the Crucifixion. This was the phase of the controversy that characterized the first centuries of Christianity.

The second stage in the Easter controversy centers around the Council of Nice, A. D. 325, where so many doctrinal points were given authentic sanction. This council was summoned by Emperor Constantine. The decision of the council was that Easter was to be kept on Sunday throughout the Christian world. It was at this point that astronomical science entered into the controversy. The correct date of the Easter festival was to be calculated at Alexandria, the then home of astronomical science, and the Roman pontiff was to communicate the date to the churches. This arrangement fixed the date of Easter Sunday as the Sunday "following the fourteenth day of the paschal moon," and defined the paschal moon as "the moon whose fourteenth day followed the spring equinox." But this ruling did not settle all difficulties. The third phase of the controversy arose from the divergent calendars and cycles in vogue in the Eastern and Western church centers. St. Augustine tells us that in the year 387 the churches of Gaul kept Easter on March 21, those of Italy on April 18, while the Egyptian Christians celebrated April 25 as Easter day. The British and Irish churches for a long time adhered to

Easter Time

This Easter time!
I sing again
Of love's redeeming grace
That opened wide the heavenly gates
To make for me a place,
And may I ever faithful be
Until I see His face.
'Tis Easter time!
I pray again
To know His blessed will,
And in my heart I hear again
His voice say, "Peace, be still";
For all the emptiness of life
He comes from heav'n to fill.
'Tis Easter time!
I live again—
The stone is rolled away
From every tomb of doubt and grief—
My night is turned to day,
And in my heart Christ reigns as king
This Resurrection Day!
(Psalm Chapter 113 in Latin-Globe-Dominant)

EASTER RABBITS AND EGGS HAD PAGAN ORIGIN

EASTER, commemorating the Christian belief in the resurrection of the Son of Man, is almost universally observed as a time for joy and feasting. On Easter Sunday morning thousands of boys and girls will return home from Sunday school and church to hunt for Easter rabbits and eggs.

The origin of egg-rolling which most youngsters enjoy so much, says Pathfinder Magazine, is supposed to have begun centuries ago from the practice of farmers rolling eggs over their land to be sure of abundant yields at harvest time. This was because the egg was the pagan emblem of the germinating life of early spring. The children are told that the rabbits lay the eggs, and for that reason the latter are nearly always hidden away in nests or in flower beds in the yard and garden. The rabbit is another pagan symbol and has always been an emblem of fertility. Modern people have lost mean, yet they have continued these old pagan customs, perhaps by force of habit, and certainly for amusement of the youngsters at Easter time.

As to the coloring of Easter eggs a religious encyclopedist says: "Because the use of eggs was forbidden during Lent, they were brought to the table on Easter day colored red to symbolize for those youngsters in Washington. On that day thousands of them go to the White House and Capitol lawns to roll their var-colored eggs. The President and First Lady watch them and cast sympathetic eyes upon those who, unfortunately, sometimes break their prettiest eggs.

Prehistoric Bison Unearthed by Boy

McArthur, Calif.—A small boy's curiosity resulted in the discovery of a prehistoric buffalo head believed to be 20,000 years old.

Burnett Day, thirteen, was trying to round up some wayward sheep when he picked up an object to throw. It was too heavy. It looked like an old horn. Burnett called his father's attention and J. R. Day took it home.

Some time later, Day began digging into a high bank on the Pit river, where the object was found. In the sandstone 20 feet down he discovered the skull of a strange animal.

Paleontologists said the skull and horn were remains of a buffalo which ranged the California plains 20,000 years ago. The horns had a spread of 10 feet or more, and were 7 inches in diameter at the base. The skull weighed 100 pounds.

Scientists at the University of California began a study of the find.

Phenomenal Growth Shown by This New Baltic Seaport

On Way to Rank Among Harbors of Europe.

Washington.—Gdynia, in spite of the world depression, continues its phenomenal growth. Although a mere infant among the ports of Europe, it seems on the way to rank among the great ports of the continent.

"In the early years of the nineteenth century, Gdynia's site was a bleak region of sand dunes flecked with a few shabby fishermen's huts and isolated from the commercial and industrial regions of Europe," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"Then, perhaps, little thought was given the sandy shore as a harbor site. When the allied powers aided Poland in securing an outlet to the sea—the so-called Polish corridor to the Baltic—engineers were put to work to plan a new port; and today travelers are astounded that in so brief a time, a huge, modern world port has risen on the former barren wastes.

It has 50,000 inhabitants.

"There is no trace of the fishermen's huts at Gdynia. Now, in their places are fine residences that house the city's more than 50,000 inhabitants, theaters, hospitals, office buildings and parks that flank broad, bustling boulevards and inviting promenades.

"Along with Gdynia's development, steel rails began to spread inland and shipping men were drawn to its harbor. Now one can step on a train at the railroad station bound for almost any of the capitals and commercial centers of central Europe and eastern Russia; or one may buy tickets for passage on ships that will deliver him and his baggage, at any one of approximately 120 American, European, or oriental ports. Thirty-eight regular shipping lines call at Gdynia. The most recent line to make it a port of call links it with far eastern ports including those of China and Japan.

"Many shippers in rich agricultural and industrial regions of an area as large as France, Italy and the British Isles combined, are using Gdynia as a doorway through which to send their wares. The Polish government has established a free port to draw commerce toward the city.

"The harbor is entered directly from the Baltic sea. There are no rocks or other obstacles to navigation. The harbor bottom is firm and requires little dredging. The Baltic sea is practically tideless at this point; winds are light and waves are seldom high.

Miles of Modern Docks.

"A view of the waterfront of the city from the rail of an approaching steamer startles the stranger who knows its brief history. There are miles upon miles of modern docks, mostly of concrete equipped with a forest of cranes which rapidly load and unload cargoes of every description. In the same panorama rise huge warehouses with thousands of square feet of floor space for commodities awaiting shipment inland or to other ports. Then there is the port's refrigerating plant, the second largest in the world, that can accommodate a whole train of cars at a time; a huge rice husking plant, an oil mill, a 3,000-ton floating dock, and modern coal transhipping equipment. The latter has a capacity of 450 tons per hour.

"Some idea of the port's growth may be found in Gdynia's commercial statistics. In 1924, 24 ships with a combined tonnage of 14,000 entered the port. Not many cities would thrive on that record, but Gdynia took it as a signal for a boom. People from nearly all the countries of Europe began to filter into its boundaries; new ship lines sought it and railroads and highways threaded through strange lands toward it. In 1930, 2,200 ships with tonnage of 2,000,000 sailed in and out of the harbor, and last year, 7,200 ships with a tonnage of 5,570,000 and representing 23 countries docked there.

"Any day a panorama of the harbor might include ships flying the flags from fifteen or more nations, and the Stars and Stripes is frequently among them."

Ormsbee gives high praise to the workmanship of the dish cupboard. He points out that when the corner cupboard was on display in Los Angeles it bore a card which said: "Corner cupboard—made by Abraham Lincoln, with the assistance of his father."

Ormsbee suggests that if Abraham Lincoln worked on it at all, it was probably as apprentice to his father. He talked with Ida M. Tarbell, biographer and authority on Lincoln, and quotes her as saying that Abraham had little aptitude for tools; that records indicated he was glad enough to give up cabinet making for the less exacting occupations of rail splitting, trading, and storekeeping.

Watch Lost in Wreck Found Far From Scene
Prague.—A diamond wrist watch belonging to one of the victims of the railway disaster near Lagny on December 23 was discovered in the eastern corner of the Czechoslovak republic.

A farmer in Carpatho-Russia recently offered a valuable platinum wrist watch with 14 diamonds to a jeweler in Munkacsvo for sale. The jeweler consulted the police, who questioned the farmer's wife, Mrs. Stesova. She said that she had worked as a housemaid in New York and traveled back home on the Strasbourg train which hit the Nancy express at Lagny. She had found the watch among the debris of the Nancy train. Police are trying to establish the rightful owner's identity.

Luxurious Abode for East Indian Potentate

A British firm has designed a modern palace for the modern maharajah of Jodhpur. The palace will cover six acres and stand on a 120-foot hill overlooking the capital of the state.

It will contain: A circular swimming bath 60 feet round, ballroom, theater built on modern lines to hold 200, a bathroom to every suite of rooms, 40 in all. A zenana, or part of the house for the women of the family, with a two-acre walled garden overlooking the city.

The palace will cost about $1,200,000. It would have cost much more in England, but labor and materials in Jodhpur are cheap.

There will be accommodations for 50 women in the zenana, but the maharajah has only one wife. The zenana will be used for her relatives and guests. As the women in this state are kept in strict purdah, no man may see them, all the rooms in the palace will be accessible from the zenana by concealed galleries, so that the women may look on without being seen.

Everything in the palace will be in accordance with the latest scientific principles, telephones, electric light, modern bathrooms, with hot water.—London Answers.

Cuticura Healed

"When baby was between two and three months old an eruption appeared on her face and scalp in small, red pimples which became inflamed with fluid and later formed a crust giving the skin a very disagreeing appearance. Due to the severe itching baby would scratch, causing bleeding. Not until she was five months old did hair grow on top of her head.

"A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I bought them. After two weeks there was a wonderful improvement, and with the use of one cake of Soap and one box of Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. W. R. Groves, Lincoln, Ga., Aug. 10, 1933.

Black Sea Poison Laid to Dead Fish by Expert

New Haven, Conn.—Dead fish make the Black sea poisonous, according to Prof. Reginald A. Daly, of Harvard.

Their carcasses, he claims, decayed and poisoned the water from a depth of 2,000 yards up to a level of 150 yards, and the water remains poisoned to this day.

A half million square kilometers of waetr in the Black sea are of poisonous quality, and this condition is traced to the last glacial period in the sea level, Professor Daly said.

Tells Girls to Beware of Flat-Headed Males

London.—Matrimonially-inclined girls are warned to beware of flat-headed men. An English woman, Dr. Ida Spelleman, asserts they are conceited and faithless.

The man whose head is flattened on top has a tremendous conceit of himself and his worth, says Doctor Spelleman, who is librarian of the British Phrenological society. He definitely is not the ideal husband.

Pointing to the fact that women's heads normally are longer from the ears backward than men's, Doctor Spelleman said that this was to provide the extra accommodation for housing the larger portion of brain, which, in women, is busied with love and every other so-called "tender" emotion.

From this the phrenologist argues that women are more easily swayed by their affections than men, and she solemnly warns her sisters to beware of the dictates of the heart at the expense of the head in choosing their life partners.

The Deeper Note in Easter Joy

EASTER lies beyond Calvary. Eliminate the cross, and the morning of faith and hope that came to a little group of men and women in Jerusalem has no meaning. Out of the experience of tragedy is developed the strength of confidence. Life grows in power through surviving catastrophe, declares S. J. Duncan Clark, in the Chicago Daily News.

The true spirit of Easter is less a light-hearted happiness than a resolute joy. It sings, but not with carefree abandon. There is a deeper note—a note that in some way transmutates pain and fear into glad triumph without wholly losing the memory of what lies behind or ignoring the road of struggle which lies before.

For Easter did not mean the end of conflict for those to whom it brought its quickening message. It meant rather an assurance of strength for whatever battles remained to be fought, whatever tasks had yet to be performed. It meant that the hardships must still be encountered. The agony of martyrdom awaited many. Easter conveyed to them no promise of escape from these. Easter banished doubt, put an end to questioning about the outcome.

That is the assurance men need today. They want to know that endurance has justifying purpose; that the struggle is their duty; that there is possibility for the fruition of life's high and holy and immortal hopes. They want to know that when they hurl themselves against the battlements of a human society, or wrestle with some dark evil in their own lives; when they choose the way of sacrifice rather than of selfish advantage, and set the high values of the spirit above material gain, they are putting a significance into life that is worth what it costs.

And the Easter story is the reassuring answer.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By MICHAEL K. REILLY: M. C.

The past week has been rather an eventful one in the legislative history of the present session of Congress. On Monday the House passed the Patman Bill for the immediate payment of the balance due on the adjusted service certificates of the veterans of the World War.

This Bill calls for the issuing of about $2,300,000,000 of new money by the Government. The two principal arguments used to support the bill were first, that in cleaning up these obligations of the government toward the ex-service men, the government would be simply liquidating obligations that is owed and would have to pay some time. Second, that the issuing of $2,400,000,000 of new money by the Government would help bring about better times.

In 1925 Congress passed, over the veto of President Coolidge, a bill giving to the ex-service men adjusted compensation, as a means for leveling up the inequalities of the pay received by the citizens and the ex-service men. This Bill provided that the ex-service men should receive $1.00 a day extra for services in the United States and $1.25 a day extra for services in foreign lands. To this sum the Government added 25 per cent, and then the sum was made payable in 1945 with accumulated interest, much in the form of a paid up endowment insurance policy.

In 1931, Congress passed over the veto of President Hoover, a bill permitting the ex-service men to draw, not to exceed 50 per cent, of the amount coming to them on their adjusted service certificates, the said amount drawn to bear interest at 3 $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent a year. Under this law all but about 500,000 of the 3,500,000 ex-service men who had adjusted service certificates drew  $\frac{1}{2}$  or less of what was coming to them.

In 1932, the House passed a bill, the Patman Bill, for the immediate payment of the balance coming to the ex-service men on their adjusted service certificates. This bill failed to pass the Senate.

Of course, no member of the House who voted for the Patman Bill on last Monday, could believe for one minute, that the bill had any show for becoming a law. The passage of the bill by the House was simply a gesture and nothing more, because the United States Senate had recently on two occasions decisively defeated the same kind of a measure and because the President of the United States had declared that the enactment of the Patman Bill into a law, would disrupt his whole program for the revival of industry in this country, and has announced that he will veto the same.

The House spent part of two days fighting over the question as to whether or not the Independent Offices Appropriations Bill that came back to the House last week with amendments involving an increase in expenditures of over $300,000,000 would go to conference or whether the House would accept the Senate amendments. On yesterday with the Speaker voting in favor of sending the bill to conference, the conference advocates carried their point by one vote and the celebrated Independent Offices Bill will be taken up in conference next week.

The conference will not be an open conference because the House in sending the bill to conference limited its conferees as regards salary cuts, Spanish War pensions and other veterans' pensions. The idea in sending the bill to conference was that inasmuch as the President had announced that he would veto the bill as passed by the Senate the House felt that to accept the Senate amendments to the bill would mean there would be no legislation for soldiers at the present session of Congress because of the threatened veto but by sending the bill to Conference it would give an opportunity for the conferees of the House, the Senate and the President, to see if they could not find some common ground upon which all could agree.

For many weeks the Senate has had before it the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty between Canada and the United States. On Wednesday of this week the Senate having voted 46 to 42 refused to ratify the Treaty.

The writer has recently received letters from his constituents inquiring about the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty, so I am going to give some space to state some facts about the same.

During Mr. Hoover's term of office, he negotiated a Treaty with Canada, whereby Canada and the United States agreed to construct a canal with a 27 foot channel from the foot of Lake Ontario to the tide-water at Montreal. Both the Democratic and Republican parties approved of this treaty or its ratification in the campaign of 1932, and in voting on the proposition in the Senate the other day, members of both parties went back on their parties.

This treaty provided for the construction of a system of locks at the eastern end of Lake Superior; a dredged channel between Lakes Huron and Erie; another series of locks between Lakes Erie and Ontario; a two stage dam and canal system at the international rapids section around Ogdensburg, New York, and additional locks and canals at two other major rapids below the international section, one about fifty miles from that section and the other near Montreal.

It was stated on the floor of the Senate that it would take seven years to construct this Waterway. The cost was computed at about $272,000,000 for the United States and about $240,000,000 for Canada, but Canada was to receive credit for $142,000,000 for money expended in the construction of the Welland Canal, which would be part of the St. Lawrence Waterway when constructed.

Treaty opponents claimed however that the costs to the United States would go over a half-billion dollars or about twice the amount claimed by the friends of the treaty.

Of course, the Treaty failed in the Senate because it did not secure a two-thirds vote, the vote required to ratify a treaty. The report is that the President and the friends of the Treaty will bring the matter up again, but before the question involving the St. Lawrence Waterway project can be brought up again in the Senate a new treaty will have to be negotiated, between United States and Canada.

The St. Lawrence Waterway project has two phases, one is commercial and the other is power. President Hoover had a view of commercial possibilities of the Waterway, while President Roosevelt is more concerned with the power possibilities of the project.

Opposition to the bill was based upon the fact that the Treaty as drafted, gave too great an advantage to Canada, both as regards the use of the Water and the use of the power. It was stated in the debate that the Waterway when completed would produce electrical energy to the amount of 2,200,000,000 horse-power, which energy was to be divided between Canada and the United States. The electrical energy coming into the United States was to go largely to the State of New York, and that State was to pay about $30,000,000.00 of the cost of the Waterway to the United States.

The usefulness of this proposed waterway from a commercial standpoint was challenged by opponents in the Senate. They contend that there was no great demand for such a waterway, and that because of climatic conditions it would be closed for four or five months in the year. Thereby necessitating the railroads to be ready at all time to carry the traffic, although in non winter times, a great part of the freight that moves east and west from the central part of the United States would be carried by the new waterway.

The Atlantic coast states, particularly New York, put up a strong fight against the treaty, and so did Senator Lewis from Illinois and Senator Clark of Missouri. The New York Senators felt that the St. Lawrence development idea would divert traffic from the New York harbor. Senator Lewis was opposed to the treaty because of its possible effect on the waterway diversion situation at Chicago, and Senator Clark of Missouri, because of the way the Treaty might affect the Mississippi development idea or the project to have a waterway from the Lakes to the Gulf.

WE BELIEVE IN AMERICA

We get a little tired sometimes of hearing people run down America. In the newspapers and magazines that come to our attention we see many articles which appear to have been written for the purpose of making readers believe that the United States is on its last leg, that we have got to discard everything that has been done in the past and change the whole nation over into something modelled on Russia or Italy or Germany, or we're going to be sunk. And there is no end to the books, novels and others, whose sole theme is that we Americans are a pretty low-grade, incompetent set of ignoramuses, lacking in "culture" and intelligence, not to be compared with the enlightened and highly-cultured citizenry of other nations.

We do not believe the authors of these books, stories and articles mean precisely what they seem to imply. If we thought so for a minute we would be glad to join a movement to banish them to these other countries that they think are so superior to our own. Rightly understood, much of this sort of talk springs from the peculiarly American passion for self-improvement. It has its roots in the same urge that sent our ancestors from other countries to this one, the urge to find a better way of life. These gentlemen see defects in our civilization—which everyone must admit there are—and by magnifying those defects hope that the public will be sufficiently stirred up to do something about them. But the net effect of their diatribes upon the young and impressionable is to make them feel inferior to the people of other lands, and to regard their country as rather a low sort of place in which to live.

There is nothing wrong with America! We say that in the full knowledge that there are still a great many persons out of work, a great many people who have a hard struggle to make both ends meet. Whatever is wrong with America, we are ten times better off than the people of any other country who know anything about our country, that may be wrong with our country, there is a distinctly American way of fixing it, and the American people now, as they have always done in the past, will find and apply their own remedies, which will not be remedies prescribed by either Dr. Stalin, Dr. Hitler or Dr. Mussolini.
