HIGHWAYMEN SHOOT AT MILK TRUCK

An encounter with gunmen who fired three revolver shots through the windshield of his truck late Saturday afternoon was reported to sheriff's officers at West Bend and Fond du Lac by Walter Wiskirchen of St. Ann.

None of the shots struck Wiskirchen but they broke the windshield and nearly caused him to lose control of the truck.

Wiskirchen, who hauls milk for the Hobart Bartel creamery at Marytown, was returning from Germantown when the assault took place. He was driving north on Highway 55 through the marsh about a mile and a half south of Kewaskum. Two men in a new automobile without license plates, he said, drove up beside his truck and commanded him to stop.

"They were suspicious looking and I stepped on the gas," Wiskirchen said. "I outdistanced them but they caught up with me again and motioned for me to stop. I kept going as fast as I could."

"They drove past me and about a mile ahead they turned around and headed south. As they passed me they fired three bullets into the windshield. The driver was doing the shooting and I saw the revolver. They kept on going toward Milwaukee."

Wiskirchen continued to Kewaskum where he reported the shooting to the Honeck and Kippenhan garages. The Washington county sheriff at West Bend was notified, as was the sheriff's office at Fond du Lac.

Wiskirchen said that the men wore white shirts and white hats.

That short haul passengers are coming back to railroads because of the low basic rates now in effect in the western territory is borne out in figures of the first five months travel of 1934 on the Chicago & North Western Railway.

During these months, the number of passengers carried one mile, exclusive of commutation passengers, showed an increase of over 30,000,000 or nearly 40 per cent, according to R. Thomson, Passenger Traffic Manager of the North Western.

The number of passengers falling in the "local" classification during that same time showed a gain of about a half million or 50 per cent over the previous year when the rates were not in effect.

GOVERNMENT CREATES JOBS FOR NEEDY STUDENTS

The government has created, under Federal Employment Relief Act funds, the possibility of employing approximately nine hundred students by the University next fall. Each student may earn from ten to twenty dollars per month. A proportion of the students may be students who were not enrolled in any college or university the second semester of 1933-34.

It occurred to me that each high school principal might know of some outstanding capable young people who are eager to attend the University but who have been so financially embarrassed that they have not found it possible to realize their hopes. We are sending notice to all seniors of 1934 who said that they were interested in the University and also to all 1934 seniors who ranked in the upper third on the basis of the scholastic aptitude test and who gave no indication of interest in any institution of higher learning. You may be in touch with high school graduates of earlier years who are interested in continuing their education. The two considerations that will be fundamental in determining the students to be given work are first, NEED and second, SCHOLARSHIP. The successful applicants will be those who would find it impossible to attend the University without the opportunity to do part-time work and whose high school record strongly predicts success in college.

We shall be happy to have you get in touch with any young people whom you would like to recommend and ask that they write us for the blank upon which they make application for F. E. R. A. work. APPLICANTS MUST, OF COURSE, HAVE THEIR HIGH SCHOOL RECORDS SENT ON TO THE UNIVERSITY AND BE ADMITTED BEFORE JOB APPLICATION FORMS WILL BE SENT TO THEM. I shall also be happy to have a letter from you making special recommendation of cases that in your judgment are of unusual merit.

Any graduate of the Kewaskum high school who would like to secure the above mentioned work while attending the University, should communicate with Prin. E. E. Skalesky, Care of Dayton Hotel, Kenosha, Wis.

LONE BANDIT IN HOLD-UP HERE

Last Wednesday evening, at about 9 o'clock a daring hold-up was perpetrated in this village in the dental offices of Dr. Nolting, while many mid-week shoppers were on the streets and a number of customers in the John Marx I. G. A. store, directly underneath the dental offices.

Dr. Nolting and Melvin Brandt were in the former's office when a man in a dark suit of clothes with a handkerchief over the lower part of his face and his hat pulled over his eyes, entered the office and said: "This is a hold-up." With that he pulled a gun from his pocket and demanded that they enter an adjoining closet, which they did, the bandit proceeding to lock them in.

After that he ransacked the office and made his get-away without anyone on the street knowing that anything had happened. The robber succeeded in getting about $220 in gold and currency.

After his departure, Dr. Nolting climbed out of a window onto the cornice of the building and entered another window. He then released Melvin Brandt and notified the police, but no clue or trace of the bandit could be found.

Dr. Nolting describes the bandit as about 5 ft. 9 in. tall and weighing about 150 pounds.

Kewaskum lost another game by the slim margin of one run Sunday. Four of the five games the team lost this season were by one run; one of the games going ten innings and another eleven. It only takes one run to win a game but lady-luck is long overdue in giving Kewaskum that one decisive run.

West Bend was first to score; scoring one run in the first inning, when Heil and Patterson drew a base on balls and Dengel singled, scoring Heil. This one run looked quite immense until the fourth inning when Harbeck's home run with the bases full put the locals into what was thought, at the time, to be a comfortable lead. It happened like this: Faris singled, Grahl singled, Murray struck out, Posschwitz walked, and Bassler then struck out. So it stood at two men out, bases full, three balls and two strikes on the batter, who was Harbeck. On the next pitch, he sent the ball over Patterson's head in center field for a home run, the ball going to the porch.

With a lead of 4 to 1, favoring the locals, they took to the field in high spirits, but before the West Bend half was over, they had scored three runs and knotted the score. Thull's triple, Heil's safety on an error, Schuning's single and Patterson's double completed their uprising.

Kewaskum couldn't have done things like this going on so they went out and gathered in two more runs in the fifth on singles by Marx, Grahl and Murray. In this inning the "Benders" failed in their efforts to once more force up.

With a three run lead not being sufficient in the fourth inning, the locals once more decided to try a three run lead. This was fulfilled in the sixth when one run was scored on a single by Bassler, a passed ball and a single by Harbeck.

This three run lead again proved to be unlucky to Kewaskum as West Bend scored one in the seventh and two in the eighth to again make it a fight. Their one run in the seventh was scored on a walk to Paetti, an infield out and a single by E. Sonnenberg. The two in the eighth were put over on a three-bagger by Heil, and singles by Patterson and Paetti. Kewaskum 7; West Bend 7.

No runs were scored in the ninth and the game went into extra innings. It took but one extra inning to spell defeat for Kewaskum. Rau doubled and Schuning walked; Rau took third on a long fly to center field. Patterson then hit to Murray with Rau immediately legging it for home. Murray scooped up the ball and in attempting to cut off the runner at the plate, threw the ball directly at the runner, the ball hitting him back of the neck and rolling away. Rau scored and the game was abruptly ended.

The game put Kewaskum down to second place, in a tie with Grafton, as Port Washington won its game. This is the first time the locals were ousted from first place for quite some time and the team has great intentions of going right back up into the first by beating Port on their home grounds next Sunday.

Call for Dark Accents on White

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

HERE'S how to give your white costume an air of topnotch swank—touch it up with a few effective dark accents. The modes illustrated offer excellent suggestions in this direction.

What could be smarter than the white topcoat in the group here pictured with hat, scarf, gloves and bag done in bright green? Gingham accessories are good looking and chic, too, and then there are the new black velvet berets which are so fashionable worn with summer white apparel. Be sure to order a velvet neckpiece or scarf with your beret to make the picture complete.

The interesting worthwhile thing to keep in mind in regard to the coat pictured is that it is made of one of those new cotton coatings which are creating such a furore in the fabric realm not only because of their handsome appearance but particularly because of the fact that they launder as successfully as a pocket handkerchief. Then, too, these most attractive coatings tailor like quality-kind woolen.

The young girl seated is also wearing an all-cotton outfit, for about the most fashionable thing one can do this summer is to wear cotton from head to foot—silk hosiery of course taken for granted. Her suit (she has thrown the jacket over the back of her chair) is of white seersucker, which is a style note to jot down for it is a new gesture, this of tailoring one's jacket suit of ordinary crinkled seersucker. Her blouse is of a new cotton sheer (plume chiffon) which is delightfully cool and wearable in the summer time. It has a diminutive polka-dot on a dark background.

The other stylishly-clad young modern is wearing a white crepe spectator sports dress with the voguish dark note interpreted via a vestee with a wide sailor collar and matching cuffs of starched brown dotted swiss. Her footwear tunes in with the color scheme in that the "nifty" white kid spectator sport pumps which she wears have brown kid tips and heels.

In this dark-with-white movement it is also good style to wear a gay plaided gingham coat with one's white frock or if preferred a coat fashioned of cotton ratine in monotone navy or brown or any desired colors.

A pleasing effect is also achieved when the belt (it should be wide) gloves and bag are dark in contrast to the white of the rest of the costume.

COTTONS APPEAR IN MANY DESIGNS

Medium pastels and white have greater consideration in the latest print showings of cottons and linens. Dark grounds, however, are more widely represented than last year, since they afford the most effective background to the very colorful designs that have gained in popularity.

Among prints the cleverest are coin spots and multicolored. The newest stripes have taken to blazer variations, and are particularly well regarded in seersuckers and pinnees for shirts and shorts. Plaids are wearable in multiple line variations, and have taken very strongly to multicolor. They appear in a wide variety of cottons, including sports weaves and sheers.

Candlewick Muslin Frocks Latest Thing in Fashions

Candlewick muslin evening frocks seem to be the last whisper in summer fashions. And for country or resort wear, they are impudently casual and completely effective.

Most of them come in the regulation unbleached muslin, with tufts of colored yarn in the good old candlewick fashion.

And to cap the climax, there's a candlewick "fur" coat-muslin with white tufting so thick that it looks at least a little like ermine, or something.

Supple Taffeta Popular in Variety of Designs

The vogue of taffeta is increasing daily. The old-fashioned stiff taffeta has disappeared, and the new fabrics are extremely supple and are used either for dresses or costumes.

Little tailors or one-piece dresses with a basque effect in front are the favorite theme for this material.

Fig Leaf Is in Style

More and more are we getting back to nature in our clothes. Diamond fig leaves now trim our best coiffured hair, and carved in ivory or jade, fasten our Sunday-best pocketbook.

SMART CROCHET

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here is a winner when it comes to a collar and bib effect of cotton crocheting. It is the sort you will be wanting to duplicate the moment you see it. It is easy to make and it will bring your navy or black summer sheer gown up into the very foreground of fashion. Works miracles in freshening up most any dress. The collar and frilly bib pictured is made of soft mercerized yellow crocheted cotton. The tiny buttons down the front are covered with cotton crocheting. The gloves are good looking, too. With all the emphasis in sports fashions laid on knitted and crocheted articles, this pair of gauntlet gloves knitted of charoizise yarn becomes indispensable.

Some Advance Tips From Fashion Centers

Metal blouses are being shown for autumn.

Capes seldom fail to flatter. They are a boon to the skinny-shouldered.

The peasant influence is definitely making itself felt in cotton and linen dresses and blouses.

POULTRY

ROOSTERS MUST GO FOR SAKE OF EGGS

Special Day Marketing Gets Rid of Males.

Prepared by the Poultry Division, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

The open season for roosters is on, and right now the life of the "King of the Barnyard," who plays the leading role in lowering the quality of summer eggs, is in a hazardous position.

Rooster days are being sponsored by farm advisers, chambers of commerce, newspapers and poultry companies in all parts of the state, with the result that male birds, young and old, are being corralled for market. Premium prices and prizes are offered to farmers who bring their roosters to town on special days.

Even old age records do not protect the birds, for on rooster day in one county a bird claimed to be fourteen years old failed to survive the "last round up" there.

Back of these rooster day celebrations is an almost statewide effort to produce higher quality eggs this summer and fall. During the warm months fertile eggs are the first to deteriorate, but by removing the male birds from the flocks, farmers can take the first step toward insuring better keeping qualities in their market eggs.

Approximately $5,000,000 is believed to have been lost by Illinois egg producers in one year as a result of marketing low quality and bad eggs, and to fertile eggs can be laid the blame for a large portion of this loss. In a survey of 369 farms made in one section of Illinois, it was found that 80 per cent of the flock owners were producing fertile eggs during all seasons. A community that follows this practice cannot hope to get premium prices for its eggs, poultry authorities predict.

Fertile eggs should not be produced except for hatching purposes, and even then the male birds should be removed from the laying flock at the end of the hatching season, not to be returned until a few days before fertile eggs are needed again.

During the fall months a common cause for fertile eggs is the presence of young cockerels on the farms. Thus the young male birds might well join their older flock mates in the rooster day parade.

Plenty of Good Feed Is Needed by Late Chicks

Late hatched chicks, to be profitable, must be given the best of care; if properly cared for, Leghorn chicks hatched in late spring can be brought into laying early enough for fall production or by the time they are six months old.

Late hatched chicks need a constant supply of fresh, clean, cool water, abundant tender, green feed, plenty of shade on good clean range and plenty of good feed. If these things are provided, the chicks should be profitable.

A good feed can be made of 40 pounds of cornmeal, 15 pounds of ground oats, six pounds of meat scrap, six pounds of cottonseed meal, six pounds of dried milk, two pounds of steamed bone meal, two pounds crushed oyster shell, and one pound salt.

If milk can be given up to six weeks old to drink in place of water, the dried milk, meat scrap, and cottonseed meal may be left out of the ration.

Select Breeding Cockerels

The first point to consider in choosing breeding cockerels is whether there is a need for new blood in the flock. Unless a definite system of breeding has been established, it is best to introduce new blood from a known satisfactory source every three years. If new blood is not necessary, then select the large boned, early maturing and early feathering cockerels from the home flock. Be sure that only birds of high vitality are selected. Select about twice as many cockerels as needed, as this will allow for late culling.

Poultry Notes

Turkey eggs can be hatched in incubators quite as successfully as in the natural way.

Tests show that as a rule chicks hatched from small eggs are smaller than chicks from larger eggs.

Successful turkey raisers are finding it highly profitable to keep both the laying hens and young stock enclosed in a fenced area.

Cowpeas are an excellent feed for chickens when used to supplement part of the grain and not the protein supplement.

One of the more profitable sidelines of the poultry business is the production of eight-to-ten-week-old pullets, the sale of which can take place when the cockerels are sold.

Six breeds of geese are recognized as standard in this country, namely, Toulouse, Embden, African, Chinese, Egyptian, and Canada or wild.

Land birds have claws adapted for scratching purposes, whereas waterfowl have webbed feet and "boat-shaped" bodies adapted for swimming.

It does not pay to confine turkeys to a pen during the fattening period. Treating birds occasionally with sodium fluoride or blue ointment will keep them free from body lice.

Slender Lines for Heavier Figures

Of course you want a slender looking dress if you have a somewhat heavy figure. The up and down points of the hip-line are wise planned for this, as is the V-neck with its delicate touch of lace. This dress is delightful in the of the bright silk or sheer or cotton prints that are enlivening the season. Polka dots or colorful circles on dark ground are a nice design, as the picture shows. The belt may be of a contrasting or harmonizing color. You'll like yourself in this dress. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Pattern 1779 is available in the 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and 3/4 yard 2 1/2-inch lace.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15¢) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to Sewing Dept. Pattern Department, 243 West Eleventh Street, New York City.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© by Western Newspaper Union.

ENGELBERT DOLLFUSS, intrepid little chancellor of Austria, has fallen a victim of his political enemies. A group of 141 Nazis, disguised in uniform, broke into the chancellery in Vienna and made prisoners of Dollfuss and a number of his ministers. The chancellor was beaten and shot and left to bleed to death, his captors refusing to permit a physician or a priest to be called. Without revealing the fact that they had murdered the dictator, the Nazis then surrendered on promise of safe conduct across the German border, being aided in the negotiations by K. Riehl, the German minister to Austria. When it was learned that Dollfuss had been killed the promise was revoked and the Nazis were locked up.

Meanwhile another small bunch of Nazis had seized the radio broadcasting office and had given out a statement that Dollfuss had resigned and would be succeeded as chancellor by Dr. Anton Rintelen, the minister to Italy. Rintelen was called to Vienna immediately, put in a cell and there shot seriously. Officials said he tried to commit suicide.

President Miklas called on Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, minister of education under Dollfuss, to head the government, and he, together with former Vice-Chancellor Emil Fey and Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, the vice-chancellor, took charge of the situation with the help of the army. Soon afterwards it was announced that Von Starhemberg had been made chancellor. In the province of Styria and some other regions civil war broke out almost at once and the Nazis, strong in numbers especially in Graz, were desperately fighting with the regular army and the Heimwehr.

Italy, France and Great Britain were conferring as to the best measures to take to carry out their pledges of last February that the integrity of Austria should be maintained. Italy, especially, was determined that the Austrian Nazis should not gain control of the country and was ready for armed intervention. Mussolini had 75,000 troops encamped near the Austrian frontier and personally assured Prince Von Starhemberg that he would defend Austrian independence. The French professed to look on the Nazi revolt as an internal event not warranting intervention at present, but the question of maintaining Austrian independence is one of the few in which they agree entirely with the Italians.

Naturally, everyone blamed Germany for the tragedy in Vienna, for the German Nazis have carried on a long and persistent campaign against Dollfuss, making use of the radio without restraint. Hitler's government, however, tried to avoid implication in the Vienna uprising. Minister Reith was recalled to Berlin because of his unauthorized action in helping the Nazi group, and Hitler appointed Franz von Papen to succeed him. The border was closed to all political fugitives from Austria. The German press, always under control, was careful not to express joy over the killing of Dollfuss.

On the side lines, waiting to see what course would prove most advantageous to themselves, were Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Hungary.

The situation in central Europe thus was packed with dynamite almost as it was twenty years ago, and in all the world capitals the danger of serious international repercussions was recognized. Another general European war may be avoided for the present, but bloody conflict in Austria seemed certain.

FOR the first time in history a President of the United States set foot on Hawaiian soil when Mr. Roosevelt landed at Hilo. He went ashore there especially to visit the great Kilauea volcano, and being driven to the edge of the huge freight of Halemauama, he made a sacrifice to Pele, the fire goddess, by tossing a bunch of red ohelo berries into the crater. The city of Hilo gave the President a warm welcome and staged a pageant. Then he proceeded to Honolulu for the main events of his visit. His activities there included a review of 15,000 troops and an inspection of the Pearl Harbor naval base. He was entertained at luncheon by Maj. Gen. B. H. Wells, commander of the army department, attended a picnic given by the Harvard club, ate dinner with Gov. Joseph Poindexter and, after a reception at the governor's mansion retired to the Royal Hawaiian hotel at Waikiki beach.

MINNEAPOLIS became the labor riot center of the country, the police engaging in bloody fights; and, as in San Francisco, much of the violence was attributed to Communist agitators. The striking drivers sought the stoppage of all industry but only the cab drivers joined them.

Father Francis J. Haas and E. H. Donagan, federal labor conciliators, offered a plan of settlement which was accepted by the strikers, but the employers turned it down, asserting that the Reds were behind the strike and that they would have no dealings with Communists. Gov. Floyd Olson immediately declared martial law in the city and Hennepin county and Adjutant General Walsh of the National Guard became dictator. The decree even muzzled the press to a considerable degree. Four thousand guardsmen were mobilized and motor patrols toured the streets at intervals.

Following a conference of delegates, J. J. Noonan, president of the Licensed Turners' Protective association, announced in Detroit that a unanimous vote bound all unions and continued strike action in demand of an eight-hour day and a $2,400 yearly wage. Noonan said the next move was up to the shipowners, chiefly represented by John W. Cushing, Chicago, and G. A. Tomlinson, Cleveland.

About ninety tugs have been tied up at Great Lakes ports since the men left their jobs June 1, Noonan said.

WITH the collapse of the general strike in the San Francisco area and the defeat of the radical element among the workers, the longshoremen at all ports of the Pacific coast voted to submit to arbitration their differences with the ship owners. The latter had agreed to arbitrate and at the same time had promised to bargain collectively with other maritime unions. In the San Francisco bay region there were 108 vessels in port and the work of loading and unloading these went on rapidly. In other respects normal conditions there were restored. The "vigilante" bands continued their raids on Communist headquarters and the police arrested a number of radicals. The hope that the alien agitators captured can be deported was rather dashed by the attitude assumed by Secretary of Labor Perkins in the matter of deportations. She is waiting for the next congress to pass the leniency measure that would give her dictatorial power in these cases.

JOHN DILLINGER, murderer, bank robber, outlaw and most notorious of America's modern desperadoes, is dead. Traced to Chicago, he ventured a visit to a moving picture theater to see a film of the life of a man who ended in the electric chair. As he came out of the theater federal agents and a police squad from East Chicago, Indiana, surrounded him. He drew his pistol and was instantly shot to death. Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the investigating forces of the Department of Justice in Chicago, led his men in this final and successful effort to get Dillinger, dead or alive. The outlaw had sought to disguise himself by having his face lifted and his hair dyed and by growing a short mustache. His fing tips, also, had been treated with acid. His identification, however, was immediate and certain.

It was credibly reported that a woman had given the tip that resulted in the killing of Dillinger, but naturally, her name was not made public, for five members of his gang are still at large and might be expected to avenge their leader. The informant is due to receive at least a considerable share of the rewards offered by the governments of the United States, Indiana and Minnesota for information leading to the capture or death of Dillinger. These rewards total $15,000.

Attorney General Cummings in Washington was elated by the news of Dillinger's death. He warmly praised the work of Mr. Purvis and his men, who had devoted most of their time for four and a half months to the elimination of the desperado.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation, rushing to his office at word the desperado had been slain, told reporters: "This does not mean the end of the Dillinger case. Anyone who ever gave any of the Dillinger mob any aid, comfort, or assistance will be vigorously prosecuted."

Three of the Dillinger gang besides the leader have been killed in battle with the law. Eight others are in prison, two of them under sentence of death.

Acting Governor Olson declared a moratorium on every form of debt where the debtor can show inability to pay. It is designed to protect the farmer, small business man and home owner from foreclosure, and even suspends payments on conditional sales contracts.

WITHIN a few weeks the agricultural adjustment administration may announce a new basic policy, with the exception of cotton, the unprecedented drought has forecast the wiping out of farm surpluses in the United States.

With the elaborate AAA control machinery completely overshadowed by the forces of nature the policy swing will be away from enforcement of decreases in production but the program will still be one of limitation. The AAA is prepared to reverse itself entirely, if necessary in some crops, and encourage production but Secretary Wallace said he saw no need at present of adopting a program of stimulation.

ALL American possessions except the Philippines, Samoa and Guam are now under the direction of a single government agency. The division of territories and island possessions, created by President Roosevelt under authority of the government economy act, has taken over control of Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Previously Puerto Rico was under the War department and the others under the interior department. The navy will continue to govern Guam and Samoa, and the War department will have charge of the Philippines until they accept independence voted them by the last congress.

AN executive order given out in Washington, the President set in motion his great reforestation program designed to help the plains area of the Middle West. He allocated $15,000,000 from the $25,000,000 drought relief fund for the beginning of work on a $75,000,000 forest shelter belt a hundred miles wide and extending more than 1,000 miles through the heart of the drought area from the Canadian border to the Texas Panhandle.

Announcement of the President's action and the gigantic undertaking was made by Secretary Wallace, who authorized the forest service to use up to $10,000,000 of the $15,000,000 allocated to begin work on the project immediately.

AS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT aboard the cruiser Houston was nearing Hawaii he took time to announce the membership of the national mediation board for the settlement of railroad disputes. The men he appointed are:

William M. Leiserson, Yellow Springs, Ohio, for the term ending February, 1936.
James W. Carmalt, Washington, D. C., for the term ending February, 1936.
John Carmody, now chief engineer of the federal emergency relief administration, for the term ending February, 1936.

MOSCOW has finally realized that it cannot get trade credits in the United States until it in some way squares up the old czarist debts owed in this country. Therefore Ambassador Trojansky and Secretary of State Hull have begun preliminary conversations on the subject, at the instance of the Soviet government.

Russia owes the United States government $337,000,000 which this country lent to the czarist and Kerensky governments during the war. The Reds repudiated these debts when they seized control of Russia. The Roosevelt administration has firmly refused trade credits to the Soviet government until some sort of an agreement is reached on these debts. Although the Reconstruction Finance corporation has had an export-import bank set up for months to finance Russian trade, not a single loan has been made. Under terms of the Johnson act, which prevents new American loans to foreign debt defaulters, the bank has held that it cannot extend credit to Russia.

FOURTEEN persons lost their lives in a spectacular tragedy at Ossining, N. Y. A bus carrying members of a Democratic young men's organization and their families to a baseball game at Sing Sing prison got out of control and plunged off a ramp over railway tracks 35 feet down into a lumber yard. The gasoline tank exploded, the lumber caught fire and many of the victims were burned to death.

HAVING given nearly three months to the study of the nation's air defense, the board headed by Newton D. Baker has submitted a report which calls for immediate strengthening of the army air corps to meet "the most serious war threat against our country that can be conceived."

The report says the army air forces are decidedly inferior to American navy and civil units that lead the world in strength and efficiency. The budget bureau and niggardly appropriations by congress are held to blame.

Shortage of modern equipment, resulting from the reduced appropriations and stagnation in promotion of army air officers, the board warned, has affected the morale of the entire army.

The report scoffed at reports the United States was vulnerable to air invasion. It also opposed the unification of army and navy air forces under a separate national defense unit. First giving assurance that its recommendations do not embrace a national policy of aggression, the board proposed:

3. Steady program of procurement which would keep alive the nation's airplane building industry.
4. Drastic changes in the air corps regulations which would increase flying hours per pilot from 150 to 200 in the hours to 300 yearly; revised training system for officers; increased promotion system under dangerous conditions and with instruments common on consessional planes.
5. Consolidation of the joint agencies of army and navy, such as the joint munitions board, the joint aeronautics board, etc., under the authority of the army and navy board functioning as a superior board for both departments.
9. More adequate provisions for ammunition and live bombs for training.

SIMPLER NAMES GROW IN FAVOR

Modern Child Not Burdened With Great Ones.

Curious changes in the fashions of bestowing Christian names are brought to light in a compilation made from the records of English public schools—schools, that is, corresponding to our Groton and St. Paul's and Exeter. There is apparently a going back to the old, simple names. There is a great preponderance of the name John. Seventy years ago it occupied only fifth place in the lists; now it is almost double that of its nearest competitor, which is Peter. Peter, it seems, was not represented in any of the lists of 30 years ago. During that period Robert and Richard have more than doubled in popularity, and Michael and Anthony have risen from no place at all to the twentieth. One name that is steadily but not spectacularly popular is William, and we imagine that that might be found to be true in this country as well—at any rate among those who are British in their origin.

The English are not so inclined as Americans to name their children after heroes and heroines. We hear of no Horatio Nelson Smiths, no Arthur Wellesley Browns. The Williams are just plain Williams. William Ewart Gladstone Joneses are so scarce as to leave not a trace; so are the Benjamin Disraeli Thompsons. Among girls of the same classes there are few Victorias. There are, of course, thousands of Georges and Marys, but no George Windsor So-and-So, no Mary Windsor So-and-So. It seems to savor of presumption to name a young Britisher after one of the great or near great. It is only in those rare periods when the lion and the unicorn are fighting for the crown that Englishmen name their children to show their political partisanship. In the early days of the Georges, when the banished Stuarts had enough followers to make an effort twice, in 1715 and again in 1745, to wrest the crown away from the Hanoverians, only little James or Charles in the families of the nobility meant just as surely that his father was a Jacobin as every little George meant that his father was a Hanoverian whig.

It is perhaps as well that English children are not so generally named for heroes as ours are. One of these days Vice Admiral, the Hon. Reginald Aylmer Ranturly Ernie-Erle-Drax-Plunkett, now chief in command of his majesty's fleet in North American and West Indian waters, may win a famous victory.—Boston Transcript.

CHILDISH IMAGINATION

Parents tell "lies" to children about Santa Claus and encourage them to read "Baron Munchausen," "Mother Goose," "Gulliver's Travels," and so on, without end—all "lies."

By the same token, it seems, Dr. David M. Trout told parents at the annual child welfare conference at Iowa City, Iowa, to encourage the "lies" told by small children. "Before the fifth year," he said, "the child is unable to imagine time, or distance, accurately, and, for that reason, the tall tales he tells are not lies, but products of an awkward imagination. Parents should treat this story-telling as a game, and help the child play it."

All children, of course, live in a dream world, in which miracles are the law of nature. Some parents, then, may have difficulty in understanding why Doctor Trout also advised that it is unwise to require a child to say prayers, or to try to give him some concept of God.—Literary Digest.

QUESTION APPEARED TO VERGE ON THE PERSONAL

A harassed-looking man entered a gramophone shop and inquired for some modern light music, preferably dance records. "Very well, sir," said the assistant. "I understand perfectly. By the way, didn't you buy some records of operatic music here last week?" "That's right," said the customer, miserably; "but my wife doesn't care for them. She wants something really snappy."

The assistant took down a number from the shelves. "Have you had 'Seven Years With the Wrong Woman'?" he asked, naming a popular piece of music.

"No, twice!" snapped the customer. "But, anyway, what the blazes has that got to do with you?"—London Answers.

NEED OF CENSUS TO SHOW VITAL NATIONAL FACTS

A good deal of the governmental, business and social activities of any community depends upon accurate knowledge of the number of inhabitants which compose it.

Such vital information is seriously lacking these days. A leading life insurance company discusses the subject in a statistical bulletin under the heading, "How Many Are We?" Apparently there is no reliable information regarding the population of the country as a whole or of any of the states or large cities. The depression is to blame. Formerly it was comparatively easy to make population estimates in the years between the decennial census, but today it is difficult to make even an approximate guess. The simple and usually reliable methods then employed no longer are suitable to the sudden and fundamental changes which have taken place in our population during the last few years.

Economic conditions have pushed down the birthrate, the tides of immigration have reversed, and millions of people are coming and going in search of work, never settling down in one place long enough to be counted. Washington has given up and is no longer preparing the usual estimates of population.

Meanwhile business men and governmental officials are clamoring to know the population facts about the various states and cities. It is information necessary for the apportionment of representatives, taxes, water supply, schools, roads, transportation, police services and for the conduct of industrial and commercial enterprise. Only another federal census can solve the problem, and the suggestion has arisen to take one in 1935, or five years early.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Up-to-the-Minute and Practical

Every woman wishes to be as well-dressed as possible without spending too much time or money on her clothes. That is why so many women in this community turn first to the page in this newspaper which contains the illustrated fashion articles by Miss Cherie Nicholas. For Miss Nicholas is an authority on fashions—not the fashions models and the extreme styles, but the fashions in dress which the modern woman demands, those which are up-to-the-minute and as the same time economical and practical.

Be sure to look for these articles in each issue of this newspaper and then tell your women friends about them. They will be glad to know how they, too, can wear clothes which carry the message of the well-dressed woman.

The regional wool marketing associations represent the happy medium and are now able to give their members satisfactory service.

Economic Highlights

Happenings that affect the dinner pails, dividend checks and tax bills of every individual. National and International problems inseparable from local welfare.

As was anticipated, the appearance of summer brought definite declines in business activity. Early in July steel ingot production dropped from 62 to 40 and automobiles slid from $2 to $9. During ensuing weeks automobile production recovered somewhat, while steel stayed down.

There is nothing extraordinary in this. But the question is being asked: Where are we going in business? In other words, Have we dropped to a "permanently lower level" or will activity rebound shortly to the levels of May and June?

In answering that question, various business observers are a long way from agreement. The Analyst, for example, which is a conservative authority, and is inimical to many important Administration measures, tends to the belief that only part of the loss will be recovered, and that the future of business is clouded with doubt. Other agencies of information are more encouraging, although a highly cautious note is evident in most pronouncements and forecasts. Experts are uncertain, and as a result they are avoiding, as much as possible, definite guesses as to coming events in the business world.

This much, however, seems definite: Progress of recovery generally has been disappointingly slow. The new federal bureau, including the NRA, have not accomplished nearly as much as was hoped. The picture is inevitably confused by government spending—no one knows how much of the rise in business achieved since two years ago, is due to artificial stimulation of this sort and how much to genuine recovery. It is an obvious fact that if the government puts out billions for one kind or another of relief—and all the special activities, from the building of dams to the CCC camps fall under that relief heading—sales of all types of products are bound to rise. It is not equally obvious what will happen when the government is forced to slow down or stop this kind of spending, as no one knows to what extent private enterprise will be able to take up the load.

Conservative business is again faced with renewed demands for inflation and for the issuance of fiat money. The Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy forecasts that with the convening of the next Congress, the President will attempt to further devalue the dollar and issue more currency against our gold reserve. Results would be problematical—one person's view is about as good as another's in this regard—but it would undoubtedly cause much uncertainty during the devaluing process.

In brief, business is suffering from the summer drop plus labor troubles, and there is doubt as to whether it will be able to recover at a normal speed. One good sign is that the strikes seem closer to settlement—but the labor problem, important as it is, is but one of many issues industry must face. We are entering a crucial period and events of the next half-dozen months will show where we, as an industrial nation, are going.

The much opposed, much defended, Reciprocal Tariff Bill, which gives the President the unchecked power to make agreements with foreign nations where by we lower the tariffs on their goods by as much as 50 per cent, passed the last Congress. On July 23 the machinery it created went into motion for the first time, when negotiations for a reciprocal treaty with Cuba was started.

No piece of legislation of the last two years is more far-reaching than the tariff bill, or more potentially important. The Administration plans to use it in a vast effort to rehabilitate world trade, break the international commercial deadlock that is now tying up the ports of the world, and make the tariff an instrument in restoring prosperity.

The problems the Administration faces in doing this are of the greatest and most involved kind. For example, debts and currencies, most debated of subjects, contributed to the trade collapse—they are inextricably involved in trade revival. Perhaps more important still, is the growth of nationalistic feeling which has stirred up much ill will between most of the great powers. At any rate, this and other countries will move very slowly in negotiating trade treaties. Early agreements will cover but a few commodities. More sweeping agreements, relating to all types of products, will come later.

Whatever the result, it is a vital and interesting experiment. If the United States succeeds in bringing back world trade, all powers will owe it a debt.

To stimulate recovery and employment, the Administration is pinning great hopes on its new housing bill, which will go into operation shortly. Under it, a part of mortgage loans are guaranteed and interest rates lowered—it is thus supposed to benefit both lender and borrower. Its proponents believe it will liberate $1,500,000,000 of private capital and provide employment for millions.

Cooperative organization is the key to business and improved business operations for agriculture are imperative. Cooperation has now become one of the foremost needs of American farmers.

Designed in Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 42 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material with 3/4 yard contrasting.

SLENDER LINES

Pattern 8250—Comfortable, easy to wear, smart and easy to look at—this is the dress pictured here. And we must add one more easy—it is so simple to make. The wide revers falling in soft folds and surprise contrast make it good style and comfortable to wear and the straight lines of the skirt make it slenderizing.

A cotton voile or printed silk could be used in developing this pattern with a white organza edging the revers and sleeve trimming. And the construction has been all figured out and gives you in the Step by Step Sewing instructions.

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired), your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Patricia Dow, Kewaskum Statesman Pattern Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Wisconsin News Briefly Told

Black River Falls—Charles W. Chasey, 85, last veteran of the Civil war in this city, died Tuesday, July 24, 60 years to the day since he joined the fraternity.

Madison—The federal AAA has given virtual assurance that it will purchase 3,000,000 pounds of surplus Swiss cheese for relief distribution. Gov. Schmedeman said Washington officials informed him.

Coloma—Two robbers held up the Coloma State bank here and escaped with between $800 and $1,000. They and two confederates waiting in a car forced Cashier Alan Gibbs to ride with them for three blocks.

Milwaukee—Ole Evinrud, president of the Outboard Motors corporation, who died July 12, left an estate of more than $450,000 in personal property and $30,000 in real estate, his will on file in county court revealed.

Manitowish—Preparations are being completed here for two weeks of homecoming celebration from Aug. 13 to 26, which will include the Elks state convention, a three-day Manitowish homecoming and four days of county fair.

Madison—A proposal to reduce Madison street railway company fares from 10 to five cents as a solution of the two-year competitive struggle between it and three taxi companies charging 10 cents per person awaited consideration of the city council here.

Markesan—The largest yield of green peas on record here was harvested by Walter Knapp last week. Knapp harvested 22,738 pounds net weight from a five-acre field of Green Admirals, which were delivered to the River View Canning Co. here. This is a yield of 200 cases per acre.

Merrill—The Four-H club, an aggressive group of young people in this county, has stepped into the breach and the Lincoln County Fair association has been incorporated, and will put on a four-day fair Aug. 13-16, with $1,250 premium list. Special programs for each day are being arranged.

Madison—The extreme heat has renewed the forest fire hazard in Wisconsin's north woods and the state conservation department clamped down its most rigid restrictions. H. W. MacKenzie, conservation director, issued orders to resume patrolling back roads to warn people of fire restrictions.

Manitowish—After serving 62 years as a priest, Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. Peil, 85, has announced his retirement, effective Aug. 10, on the anniversary of his ordination. Of the 62 years of Father Peil's service, 53 were spent as pastor of the Benedictine church here. Father Peil came here in 1881 after serving several years at Milwaukee and Caledonia.

Madison—The average June milk price received by Wisconsin producers gained two cents over the previous month and was one cent higher than for June of last year. Prices paid for milk delivered to cheese factories in June averaged 37 cents, which is 5 cents more than that paid during May. The price of milk delivered to creameries during June advanced 4 cents to $1.04.

Merrill—Dedictory services of the Crescent Lake Bible conference grounds at Crescent lake were held with nearly 500 in attendance. This non-sectarian corporation to teach the Bible to young people was founded by the Rev. A. F. Perkins in co-operation with other pastors in this vicinity. Crescent lake buildings represent an outlay of $1,400, all of which has been from voluntary donations.

Racine—With full data for a dozen local F. E. R. A. projects now before the proper agency in Madison and city officials ready to put the program into effect, the Racine county workers' committee, following the example of the socialists, has come out in opposition to the plan. Members of the workers' committee say their organization is opposing the F. E. R. A. because men employed under it would still be on the equivalent to relief.

Madison—The average wage paid by Wisconsin farmers on July 1 was the highest paid since October 1, 1932, according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States departments of agriculture. Using the average of the farm wages paid during the period of 1910-14 as the normal rate, Wisconsin farm wage rates were 70 per cent of normal on July 1 as compared with 4 per cent of normal on July 1 of last year.

Stevens Point—Two members of a Portage county family are dead and three others are suffering from what was believed to be food poisoning. Mrs. Rose Plasky, 50, a widow living on a farm near Almond, died at home. A son, Raymond, 22, died after being brought to a hospital here.

Allenton—Two men who had apparently broken into the State Bank of Allenton some time during the night held up Joseph P. Weininger, cashier, as he opened the bank, forced him to the basement at the point of a gun which they had taken from Weininger's desk and made off with an undetermined amount of cash.

Racine—The S. C. Johnson and Son Wax company announced it had let a contract for a $15,000 addition to its plant here in an effort to raise its production between 35 and 50 per cent.

Baraboo—A precedent in Sauk county political history was set with the announcement of candidates for a fall Socialist ticket.

Grantsburg—The old hard shell potato bugs, that usually descend on the potato fields in this section by the millions, were a month late in arriving this season, and came in greatly reduced numbers.

Monroe—The proposal for a 30-day holiday in the foreign-type cheese industry was opposed by an estimated 3 to 1 vote in an informal poll among about 1,000 producers, dealers, and makers meeting here.

Madison—Creditors of the Joseph M. Boyd Co., defunct Madison bond company, shortly will receive a 2 per cent dividend, Edward J. Samp, assignee, has announced. Samp has on hand $11,200, including a $1,700 loan to pay off on allowed claims totaling $338,000.

Milwaukee—Oscar "Happy" Felsch, former major league star outfielder, now playing in the Milwaukee Municipal association, was made defendant in a $5,000 damage suit which grew out of an alleged assault by Felsch on the plaintiff in Felsch's tavern, May 13.

Fond du Lac—Two gunmen, each carrying two revolvers, held up the Onis roadhouse on Highway 23, west of the city, obtaining approximately $75. It was the second time the roadhouse of Leo Dreis has been robbed in less than two months and the third time within three years.

Milwaukee—More than 100 employees of the Oswald Jaeger Baking company are on strike in a demand for union recognition. Union officials said that the entire baking trade in Milwaukee soon will be unionized. Another bakers' strike is in progress at the local plant of the National Biscuit company.

Waupun—Captured by a woman deputy sheriff less than two weeks after he escaped from camp Gordon, Napoleon Vertz, Sturgeon Bay, is back in prison with his camp privileges canceled. His captor, Mrs. John Shary, is a candidate for sheriff of Douglas county.

Rhineland—Absolutely opposed to an early deer season in the fall of 1934, conservationists of four of the best deer counties in the north have gone on record here as favoring a deer season opening no earlier than Nov. 24. The counties, all in conservation District 8, were Oneida, Vilas, Iron and Price.

Green Bay—Duane McCall, Oconto editor, was freed of charges growing out of the death of a Marinette man in an automobile accident. A circuit court jury here returned a verdict of not guilty after deliberating 24 hours. McCall was charged with failure to stop after an accident. A manslaughter charge previously had been dismissed.

Madison—Barney Devine, Webster, was named chief conservation warden of Wisconsin. He succeeds Harley W. Mackenzie, who became director of the conservation department. The former has been in the service since 1913, the latter since 1924.

Milwaukee—Roaring along at 90.1 miles an hour for 63.9 miles, a Milwaukee road passenger train set a new world speed record for steam railroads. The five-car steel train pulled by a three-year-old locomotive made the entire 85-mile trip from Chicago to Milwaukee in 67 minutes and 30 seconds, an average of 75.5 miles an hour. The record run of 90.1 miles an hour was made between Mayfair, Ill., and Lake, Wis., two terminal limit points.

Madison—Lawrence C. Whittet, state recovery administrator, dismisses the statement that operators of threshing machines in Wisconsin must pay a fee of $75 to $150 and are under a code. There is no such fee, and neither federal nor state codes apply to the threshing business, he declared. Whittet's statement came in response to scores of queries he had been receiving from threshers asking about the fee they had heard they must pay.

Milwaukee—Boxing in Wisconsin was increasingly popular with fans during the past year, receipts of the state athletic commission indicated. Fees collected by the commission increased 35 per cent for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1934. Secretary Al Goetter reported. The total was $7,673 as compared to $5,676 for the preceding year. Receipts for the 21 years of the commission's existence now total $235,581, exceeding disbursements by approximately $104,000.

SUN IS NATURAL HEALTH FACTOR Strong Preventive of Rickets in Children. By EDITH M. BARBER

FOR a long time now people have realized the pleasure and healthful benefit to be derived from fresh air and sunshine. It is only recently, however, that the actual curative and protective value of the sun rays has been understood.

With the discovery of the importance to health of those unknown factors which have been given the name of vitamins, intensive studies have been made of most food with the vitamin content in mind. It was found during these studies that milk from cows differed in vitamin content when they were in pasture and when they were in winter quarters.

This discovery led to further experimental work with animals, and a few years ago it was definitely proved that the source of vitamin D, the vitamin which has the power of protecting from rickets, could be obtained from two sources—from certain foods and from the action of the sun's rays on the body or on any food which contains a certain form of fat.

The mother who has her children's welfare at heart will take advantage of the sunlight as a natural health factor during the summer, and at the same time will continue to provide an easily digested, well balanced diet. For the sake of prevention of rickets this will contain plenty of whole milk and fresh vegetables and egg yolks.

It is not generally understood that poor teeth are often a symptom of a mild form of rickets. Aside from the question of good teeth as a health and beauty factor, the preventive methods as outlined are much pleasanter than Lights of New York By L. L. STEVENSON Fishing is far from being sport for the men of the beam trawlers that operate in the vicinity of New York. Some of the stout craft that tow the great nets—a beam keeps them open, hence the name—have power-operated equipment, which lightens the labors of the fishermen somewhat.

Highest Paid Short Fiction Writer

FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people.
Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

Items of Interest Taken From Our Exchanges Which May Prove of Value to Our Readers

Jackson, Wis.—Among those who met death by drowning this last Sunday is little Kenneth Geppert, aged 2, a resident of the town of Jackson. The child fell into a lily pond at what is known as the village of Katzebach, located at the junction of Highways 60 and 55, about ten miles east of this city. He is thought to have tumbled in about 7 o'clock in the evening; he was discovered by his parents about fifteen minutes later. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geppert, are tenants of the farm where the tragedy occurred.

West Bend News—Mistaking the bird for a large and fierce owl which had been preying on chickens on his farm in the town of Trenton, Clarence Schloemer after dark on Monday evening shot an eagle having a wing spread of 7 feet. The eagle is one of the finest specimens of its kind ever shown here.

Although it is illegal to shoot eagles because of their rapidly diminishing number, Game Warden R. J. Lake says there will be no prosecution in this case because of the fact that the eagle was mistaken for an owl and had been preying on the chicken flock.

Mr. Lake says that the bird will be mounted and placed on display in some store window on Main street with an appropriate sign warning hunters that it is illegal to shoot eagles.

Cedarburg News—The fifth suspect in the Biever & Ditch tavern hold-up which took place near Thiensville a week ago Saturday, was picked up by Milwaukee police on N. Green Bay avenue in that city Friday and turned over to Sheriff Peter I. Jung of this county. He is Peter Gumina, 19, of Milwaukee.

Four men already being held in connection with the robbery were arraigned Thursday and placed under $15,000 bonds. They are charged with assault and robbery. They are Anthony Genaro, Peter Soce, James Guina and Norman Kinder, all of Milwaukee.

The quartet was arrested a few hours after robbers had entered the Biever tavern and robbed Mrs. Biever of $185. She and her son, Charles, were alone at the time of the hold-up.

Lomira Review—Eddie Lehmann, of Knowles and star pitcher on the Brownsville baseball team, was struck by a pitched ball last Sunday and will be out of the games for the balance of the season. Eddie was leading the Browns to victory over the Mayville club when he was hit and his teammates were unable to carry on, they finally losing the game 6 to 3.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter—Lightning struck wires leading to a chandelier in St. Peter church at St. Peter while 10:30 a. m. services were being concluded Sunday by the Rev. E. J. Rodenkirch, pastor. Members of the congregation were startled by a flash but were unaware what had happened until they had left the church. Damage was slight.

West Bend Pilot—Two beavers are making their home at the east end of Smith's lake (also known as Drickens' lake) in the town of Barton. They were seen a number of times, but it was not until a few days ago that their house was located. It is built of brush and is not yet built up very high, but judging from appearances the beavers expect to make their home in it permanently. Just where these beavers came from is not known, but the general belief is that they came from the game preserve at Moon lake, near Kewaskum. The beavers are protected and even though there may be an open season for the trapping of them their number is still too small to warrant them being taken for their fur.

CHARLES R. FISS OF OSHKOSH FOR CONGRESSMAN

Oshkosh, Wis., July 25.—With the sincere belief that the welfare of the country demands action which is not mere political gesturing, Charles R. Fiss, Oshkosh businessman, is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Sixth District. His pledge to the people of this District is that he will not be guided by political influences but will seek at all times to do his part in promoting practical action which will provide for the common good.

As the basis for his position he advocates a more equitable distribution of the wealth of the land, believing that the common good of the country depends upon this being an accomplished fact. A keen student of the economic problems which confront the country today and sincerely interested in the particular problems which confront the mass of men, Mr. Fiss has long been an ardent supporter of the principles which underlie the Roosevelt "New Deal."

Fully appreciating his liberal and aggressive thought and seeking to take advantage of his many years of practical experience in business, public and fraternal affairs, many of his friends in the District prevailed upon Mr. Fiss to become a candidate. Now actively in the field making new acquaintances and renewing old, Mr. Fiss' candidacy is arousing unusual enthusiasm and interest. Democratic leaders in the counties throughout the District are rallying to his support.

Mr. Fiss has always been a staunch Democrat, but he seeks office as a Democrat-businessman, not as a Democrat-politician. He has worked diligently for the Winnebago County Democratic Committee, and has served as a member of the State Central Committee.

An untiring worker and a natural leader, Mr. Fiss has taken an active and prominent part in the civic and fraternal affairs of his locality. Although he has never before held public office he has been called upon on numerous occasions to serve in semi-public capacities in the fields of education, agriculture, and health. A veteran of both the Spanish-American and World Wars, Mr. Fiss is widely known for his work among the defenders of the nation. He has served the American Legion, the United Spanish War Veterans, and the Military Order of Foreign Wars in official capacities. He has likewise been prominent in the fraternal activities of the Elks and Eagles, and has long been connected with agricultural affairs through his membership in the Wisconsin Horticultural Society and his five years of service on the County Agricultural Advisory Committee of Winnebago County.

Mr. Fiss intends to visit every community in the District before the primary election in September.
