CAMPBELLSPORT HAS BAD FIRE

Last Tuesday night at 11 o'clock fire of unknown origin gutted the interior of the Stella Cheese company warehouse, located just north of the Northwestern railway station at Campbellsport, and for a time it looked as though the nearby residential buildings would also go, as there was a heavy wind, of about 35 miles an hour velocity, blowing at the time.

Although the fire was confined to the interior of the building, the loss will be about $10,000. It is also claimed that about $50,000 worth of cheese stored in the warehouse is badly damaged.

The fire was noticed by Engineer Bashford on a southbound Northwestern passenger train when they pulled through the village shortly before 11 o'clock. The engineer sounded the locomotive whistle repeatedly until he succeeded in arousing the village.

Fire departments from Kewaskum and Fond du Lac were called and responded promptly. The building, 60x140 feet, was used as a cold storage for a large quantity of Italian cheese, which is made at the plant. The building was only recently re-constructed and insulated.

The manager of the plant, Louis Rosini, states that the building is covered by insurance, but does not know whether the insurance policies cover the stock of cheese or not.

Repairs on the building will be begun immediately.

AMERICAN LEGION OFFERS SPEAKERS

A state-wide speakers bureau, now being organized by The American Legion, Department of Wisconsin, will supply speakers to appear before Chambers of Commerce, Kiwanis, Lions, Optimists, Parent Teachers and other civic organizations. The subjects of the discussions will be Americanism; National Defense, to assure peace; Universal draft, to take the profits out of, and thus prevent war; Child Welfare and the abolition of child labor; Exclusion of alien malcontents and communistic agitators; Protection of our educational system; The elimination of subversive influence from our schools and colleges; The promotion of safety and the elimination of traffic hazards; Individual and collective community service, and the promotion of civic pride through the "See Wisconsin First" series, sponsored by patriotic newspapers and The American Legion of Wisconsin. Organizations wishing to secure Legion speakers, and Legionnaires who wish to appear on the speakers' program are requested to communicate with Richard "Dick" Evans, chairman of the Wisconsin Legion Speakers Bureau or with G. H. "Gil" Stordock, Department Adjutant, 744 No. 4th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

KEWASKUM TEAM PREPARED FOR OPENER

Don't forget that this coming Sunday evening, December 9, is the date of the opening basketball game for Kewaskum as a member of the Land O' Lakes league.

The team, under the able guidance of Coach Rose has practiced hard and diligently and has rounded into shape nicely for the opening game. In their last practice before Sunday, the boys played an exhibition game with the strong West Bend Comets team in the local gym last night. Considering the strength of this West Bend aggregation, and the game put up by the Kewaskum five, the outlook for a successful season is very promising.

Cedarburg will furnish the opposition Sunday evening. There's one good reason for you to see the game. Everyone remembers the exciting games Cedarburg and Kewaskum have put up in the past, and now that both teams belong to a league and will be striving for the pennant—wow!

The boys started this team amongst themselves, bought a franchise in the Land O' Lakes league and are now going to try to put Kewaskum on the basketball map by building up a good home-town team. Now show them you appreciate their efforts and ATTEND THE GAME. The game will start at 8:15.

LEGION TO SPONSOR CHRISTMAS DANCE

The Kewaskum Post No. 384, of the American Legion, will sponsor a grand Christmas dance at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, December 26th, second Christmas day. Music will be furnished by Frank Eikenbusch and his cowboys. The legion is making great preparations for this event and will do everything in their power to make it a very enjoyable affair. All should reserve this date and attend this dance, as a very good time is assured to all.

SLINGER BOY SIGNS BASEBALL CONTRACT

Stanley Hepe, a relative of Frank Hepe of this village, and a member of the Slinger baseball team of the Land O' Lakes league for the past two seasons, has signed a contract to play with the Knoxville, Tenn., team of the Southern league for the 1935 season.

Stanley was recommended by Larry Hoffmann, a former state league star, who has watched him for the past two years. Because of Stanley's remarkable fielding record and his keen batting eye, Mr. Hoffmann was satisfied that Hepe should have a trial in faster company, so he arranged such a trial.

WEST BEND COMPANY LOSES BLUE EAGLE

The recovery administration at Washington Monday ordered Blue Eagles removed from the Carl Pick Manufacturing company of West Bend, Wis., on charges of the labor relations board that the firm had violated labor's collective bargaining guaranty.

The West Bend concern makes automobile parts. The labor board found that 11 employees were discharged for union activity and not reinstated.

In view of the fact that the 1934 acreage of canning vegetables was the second largest on record, an acreage which under average growing conditions would have produced a pack that might have proved burdensome, the United States Department of Agriculture suggests that no appreciable increase in acreage for 1935 seems justified.

TWO YOUNG MEN IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Frank Deutch, an employee of the West Bend Aluminum company, and Thomas Gruenwald, proprietor of the Dugout Beer Garden at West Bend, had a narrow escape from death at 7:30 p. m. last Thursday when their automobile, missing a curve at the top of the DeNeveu hill near Fond du Lac on Highway 55, turned over endwise three times and landed upside down on the brink of a three foot ditch. The two men were on their way to Menasha, where they intended to attend the opening of a new moving picture theater by Aug. Berkholz of West Bend.

Both men suffered bruises and lacerations and were taken to St. Agnes hospital, where they were confined on Friday. Deutch, believed to have been thrown through the windshield, suffered a laceration extending from the back of the head around the neck to the chin which narrowly missed the jugular vein.

The automobile belonged to Gruenwald, who was driving, according to Sheriff Freund of Fond du Lac county. The sheriff supervised traffic while the two men were taken to the hospital.

Dogs-Giese Wedding

Miss Evelyn Giese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Giese of Route 2, Mayville in Dodge county, and Peter E. Dogs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dogs of the town of Wayne, Route 3, Kewaskum, were married by the Rev. H. H. Laabs at the Lutheran Emanuel church in the town of Theresa, Dodge county, at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday, November 25.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown with lace train, a lace turban with pearls and orange blossoms, and a long veil. She carried white chrysanthemums and baby's breath. Mrs. Norbert Dogs, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length yellow satin gown and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids, and Myrtle Giese, a sister of the bride, wore the bridesmaids. Miss Dogs wore a floor-length green satin dress and carried orchid chrysanthemums, while Miss Giese wore a floor-length pink satin gown and carried orchid chrysanthemums.

Norbert Dogs, a brother of the groom, acted as best man, while Wallace Pasprich, a cousin of the bride, and Clarence Giese, a brother of the bride, served as groomsmen. The ushers were Erwin Giese and Armond Boeder.

After the ceremony, a wedding dinner and supper were served to about 75 guests at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were from Kewaskum, Chicago, Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac and Mayville.

The newlyweds will make their home on the bridegroom's farm in the town of Wayne.

THIS COUNTY HAS HIGH ACCIDENT RATE

Washington county has the highest fatal accident rate of any county in Wisconsin, according to a partial report announced today by Gov. A. G. Schmedemann's commission to investigate street and highway safety. Its rate was 79.2 per 100,000 of population, compared to a state average of 21.7.

The report showed that most fatal accidents, contrary to general belief, occur in the rural counties, rather than in the thickly populated areas.

Fond du Lac and Milwaukee counties were in the lower brackets of the statewide report. Fond du Lac had a fatal accident rate of 16.7 while Milwaukee had a rate of 15.2. Marathon county, which includes the city of Wausau, had a rate of 11.3.

Racine's highway fatal accident rate was 23.3, Dane county, which includes Madison was 23.4, Sheboygan, 25.3, La Crosse, 25.8, Douglas, containing the city of Superior, 25.8, Brown county, 22.2, Eau Claire, 21.9, Manitowoc, 15.4 and Winnebago, 15.7.

The figures were compiled in connection with a report which is to be made the basis of a zoning speed plan for restricting speed near cities and busy resorts. Five counties, Buffalo, Florence, Forest, Bayfield and Marquette reported no fatal auto accidents.

REV. BEYER NOW AT JOHNSBURG

Two weeks ago we made brief mention of the transfer of Father Jos. F. Beyer, from St. Michaels to St. John's congregation at Johnsonburg, (near Mt. Calvary, in Fond du Lac county), since then Rev. Beyer has taken charge of the above congregation, which is considerably larger than the one at St. Michaels. He will succeed Father Theo. Toeller, who passed away several months ago.

Rev. Beyer had served the St. Michaels parish faithfully and conscientiously for the past twenty-four years, and was beloved by his parishioners and those outside the pale of his influence. He was always a promoter and willing worker for those things which were of interest and benefit to the members of his congregation, and to the young people of the parish in particular. Although it was hard for his people at St. Michaels and vicinity to part with him, it was doubly hard for him to leave, and every member of his church and mission will miss his kindly ways and ever present personality. It is the most ardent wish of his numerous friends that God's blessings attend him in his new field.

During Father Beyer's stay at St. Michaels he estimates that he has been instrumental in making improvements in the parish of St. Michaels and the Mission at St. John of God to the amount of $30,000. Among some of the improvements made were the building of a hall, where excellent plays, dances, card parties and suppers were given; the installation of a modern heating plant; a complete renovation of the church at St. Michaels; the laying of new sidewalks; the installation of bells, and obtaining of electricity from the Wis. Gas & Electric company. There are also numerous other minor and major improvements.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 27th, the members of the congregation and choir gave Rev. Beyer a farewell banquet in the St. Michaels hall, which was attended by his parishioners, a large number of priests and relatives and friends. An appropriate address was delivered by M. T. Buckley, County Superintendent of Schools of Washington county, with a farewell speech by Rev. Beyer, as a response.

Father Beyer served approximately 22 families in St. John of God parish and 70 families at St. Michaels. At the time of his leaving there were 74 children enrolled in the school at St. Michaels. In his new charge he will serve 150 families.

Up to the present time no successor has been assigned to the St. Michaels parish.

FRANK BUSS IS CALLED TO REST

Frank Buss, aged 64, passed away at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ulrich in the town of Lyndon on Friday evening, Nov. 30th, at 6 o'clock.

The deceased was born May 29, 1870 in Germany and at the age of two years came with his parents to the United States settling in Sheboygan county. Mr. Buss has made his home with his sister for the past six weeks.

Survivors include the following brothers and sisters: Charles and August of here; Albert of Seattle, Wash.; Louis and William of Sheboygan; John of Plymouth; Mrs. William Thiel and Mrs. August Lau of Sheboygan and Mrs. Herman Ulrich of the town of Lyndon.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Herman Ulrich home in the town of Lyndon with the Rev. E. C. Ward of the United Brethren church at Cascade officiating. Burial was made in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Imports of potatoes in 1934 were 2,102,000 bushels compared with 440,000 bushels for the preceding season. The increase in imports was a result of the short United States crop in 1933, reports the United States Department of Agriculture.

Robinson Says President Plans No New Taxes—Franco-German Agreement Concerning the Saar Reported—Vinson's Warning to Japan.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© by Western Newspaper Union

JOE ROBINSON of Arkansas, senate floor leader, spent four hours in conference with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, and emerged with the welcome assurance that the New Deal program to be presented to congress in January does not contemplate the imposition of new taxes or the substantial increase of existing taxes. He added that he believed expenditures for normal government purposes would be kept well within the national income. Of course, this does not mean a balanced budget, for this cannot be had while enormous sums are being spent for relief and re-employment, but the senator would not admit that the cost of these would go above the ten-billion-dollar mark.

"Unemployment relief is to be preferred to the dole," he said. "A reasonably conservative program should be adopted with a view to tapering off the deficit."

Senator Robinson said that the bonus was discussed at some length but no conclusion was reached. Intimates of the White House have expressed the hope that a bonus program calling for expenditure of more than two billion dollars may be passed over a veto. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, who was also present at the conference, left for Washington to begin a study of unemployment insurance.

Next day the President's chief caller was Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, and he told Mr. Roosevelt that business would move rapidly on the road to recovery if only it were assured of a safe and sane federal program of expenditures. To correspondents Mr. Roper said he was greatly cheered by Senator Robinson's statement. He felt that the left wing demand for vast sums of money for relief of the unemployed must be checked and that there must be a further shifting of relief control to communities.

TRouble over the Saar plebiscite may be averted after all the alarm, for it is reported unofficially that Chancellor Hitler of Germany and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France have reached an accord providing that Germany will pay for French mining properties in the Saar if France abandons the effort to keep the region under the jurisdiction of the League of Nations. Substance was given this report when Reichsfuehrer Hitler instructed all Nazi propaganda forces in the Saar to cease their activities. He ordered that disturbances must be avoided and that the Nazis must rely largely on the press to keep the swastika flying in the disputed territory after the plebiscite. This would seem to insure an impartial vote on January 13.

JAPAN, having given unofficial notice that she will withdraw from the Washington naval treaty, still seems to have hope that the United States and Great Britain will agree to give her naval parity. But just in case, she has now invited France and Italy to join her in denouncing the pact. Those nations may consent, but the two great Anglo-Saxon nations are as one in demanding that the 5-5-3 ratio be maintained.

DISPATCHES from Germany tell of serious unrest in the reich, and though the government calls them "malicious lies," it is a fact that the army and police forces are being held under emergency orders. A long smoldering feud between the reichswehr (regular army) and the schutzstaffel (black shirt picked Nazi guards) was believed responsible for the disorders, which involved suspension of Christmas bonuses for soldiers and military police. Drilling of Nazi storm troops has increased, reports said, while all marriages of army men and police set for the Christmas holidays, popular wedding period for Germany's military men, have been postponed.

Baron Werner von Fritsch, chief of the reichswehr, in a memorandum to Hitler, said plainly in discussing Nazi suppressive methods that, unless a more liberal spirit prevailed, the government would face opposition from all sides in case of war. He told Hitler something must be done about the bad blood between the schutzstaffel and the reichswehr.

BOLIVIA'S troops in the Chaco were being soundly whipped by the Paraguayans and President Daniel Salamanca was blamed. He visited the war front and was arrested by Gen. Enrique Penaranda and forced to resign. Menzies Vice President Jose Sorzano had taken over the presidential powers by decree and installed a new cabinet. Penaranda appeared to be the virtual dictator and it seemed likely he would take steps to bring about peace with Paraguay.

GEN. LAZARO CARDENAS, who though only thirty-nine years old is a veteran of the Mexican revolution, was installed as president of Mexico on December 1. He is of Spanish and Tarascan Indian stock, a fine soldier and statesman and has held office under the revolutionary government for five years.

A trial lasting only a few minutes, Lord Ashley won a divorce from his wife, the former Sylvia Hawke, actress, and the costs, estimated at $10,000, were ordered paid by Douglas Fairbanks, who was named as co-respondent. Neither Lady Ashley nor the American film star made any defense, and there were but two witnesses, Lord Ashley and George Edwards, Fairbanks' secretary. A decree nisi was granted by Justice Sir Boyd Merriman, and it may be made final in six months.

It is, therefore, the duty of the council to face this question as soon as possible, it asserted, "and thus guard against the grave dangers which arise from the situation that Hungary is still bound to bring to the attention of the council."

INSPECTOR SAMUEL P. COWLEY and Agent Herman E. Hollis of the bureau of investigation, Department of Justice, engaged in a gun battle with Lester Gillis, better known as George ("Baby Face") Nelson, Public Enemy No. 1, and a companion, near Barrington, Ill., and both the federal men were shot to death by machine guns in the hands of the bandits. The killers, accompanied by a woman, escaped for the time being in the agents' car, their own being disabled.

Next day Nelson's body was found miles away, in Niles Center, at the entrance to a cemetery. He had died of nine bullet wounds from the guns of the federal agents he killed and evidently his body had been left at the roadside after his companions had failed to save his life. In the same region were found Nelson's clothing and the car the bandits had fled in after the battle.

Cowley was the man who killed John Dillinger, chief of the gang to which Nelson belonged, and he also was in command of the posse that ran down and killed "Pretty Boy" Floyd in an Indiana cornfield not long ago.

THANKSGIVING day in America was wedding day in London for the duke of Kent, fourth son of the king and queen of England, and Princess Marina of Greece. The metropolis swarmed with royalty and nobility from many lands, and vast throngs of ordinary persons watched the parade to Westminster Abbey, where the marriage ceremony was performed. The ancient church was filled with the fortunate ones who had been invited and the scene was glittering. The only Americans present were United States Ambassador and Mrs. Robert W. Bingham.

The ceremony in the abbey was celebrated at 11 o'clock in the morning, and it was followed immediately by another, the Greek Orthodox. The latter took place in the private chapel of Buckingham palace and was celebrated by Archbishop Germanos, archbishop of the Greek church in London. Only a select company of royal witnesses was present.

REPORTS of various business groups indicate that "luxury spending" is becoming more noticeable and is aiding industry considerably. This includes everything from the baby's doll to the paintal yacht—and some place in between is fine furs—and all trade organizations report an increase. Reports to Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper by business leaders indicated that sales some greater lines this year would be 40 per cent greater than a year ago.

CHARITY is not forgotten in this revival of spending. Community chests and councils reported that contributions to community chest drives this year already are within 10 per cent of the 1929 total, and national income has dropped about 50 per cent in that time.

TAKE it from the Department of Agriculture that American farmers have these reasons to be thankful this year: Cash farm income from sales of crops and live stock, AAA benefit payments, and emergency drought sales of cattle to the government totaled $730,000,000 in October, compared with $570,000,000 in September and $620,000,000 in October, 1933.

Total farm cash income for ten months this year was $5,045,000,000 compared to $4,099,000,000 for the corresponding period last year, of which $4,614,000,000 was derived from marketings and $483,000,000 from benefit payments and emergency cattle sales, compared to $3,967,000,000 and $132,000,000, respectively, in 1933.

The department noted, however, that the monthly increase was less than the usual seasonal rise, due chiefly to marked crop curtailment produced by drought and governmental restrictions.

SAMUEL INSULL and his sixteen co-defendants in the great mail fraud trial in Chicago were acquitted by the jury, despite the long work of the government officials in preparing and presenting the case at an estimated cost of $100,000. The verdict was reached on the third ballot, and the attorneys for the prosecution could say only that they had done their best. It was apparent that the jurors were not convinced that Insull and his aides had an intent to defraud. There are other charges standing against Insull, but whether or not there will be further prosecution is undecided. Insull said:

"I am ready to face these other trials that are pending. I have been vindicated in this case and I am confident that I will be vindicated in the others." There were rumors that the former magnate, if cleared of all charges, planned to re-enter La Salle street and the utilities field.

THERE is bound to be another hot fight in the senate over the revamped St. Lawrence waterway treaty, but it looks now as if President Roosevelt were justified in his expectation that the treaty will be ratified. Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, leader of the opposition that defeated the pact in the last session, said in Washington that he had heard rumors that some major provisions involved in the controversy had been eliminated in a new treaty with Canada that is being negotiated. The omitted provisions, he understood, have to do with the American share of the cost of the seaway and limitations on the diversion of water from Lake Michigan to the Chicago drainage canal. He added rumor also had it that the new pact would acknowledge complete American sovereignty over Lake Michigan.

The St. Lawrence treaty was one of the live topics discussed in the annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association in St. Louis. The association voted to continue its opposition to the treaty unless its objectionable features are removed.

SAMUEL UNTERMYER of New York was unanimously elected in London to be president of the newly formed world non-sectarian anti-Nazi council to champion human rights.

Badger State Happenings

Oshkosh—The Winnebago county board voted to build a new courthouse here, but no mention was made as to site or cost.

Beaver Dam—Edwin Putnam Brown, 65, principal of Wayland academy for 33 years and widely known as a Baptist educator, died here after a year's illness.

Madison—Raymond Davis, Hamden, Conn., a guard, was elected captain of the 1935 University of Wisconsin football team by fellow players at a banquet here.

Milwaukee—After 34 years of married life, Mrs. Emma Gaeth, 64, and John, 66, were divorced by Circuit Judge August E. Braun. They were separated since 1922.

Sturgeon Bay—John Walker, Joe Schauer and Lester Nebel, all of this city, returned from Fennee, Wis., with three bears and one buck as the results of two days' hunting.

Madison—The state department of agriculture and markets will ask the next legislature to adopt a program to improve the quality of Wisconsin cheese as a means of increasing its market.

Two Rivers—In order that this city may carry on its business for the rest of the year without borrowing money, the Aluminum Goods Co. turned over a check for $41,000 in advance for real estate taxes on its two plants here.

Madison—Wisconsin's petition for a $1,000,000 addition to its federal relief allotment cannot be met and the $3,400,000 granted in November, A. W. Briggs, state relief administrator, said he was informed.

Madison—Burglars who attempted to rob the Madison Dairy Products company safe left the place in tears—with only a few pennies. Gas released when they tried to pry into the safe caused them the tears. The pennies were all they could find in the cash register.

Montello—A heart attack, suffered while bowling with four Montello businessmen at Portage, was fatal to H. A. Melcher, 58, mayor and principal of schools here. Melcher was elected mayor last April. He came here as principal in 1923 from Delavan, where he taught many years.

Richland Center—Daring bandits held up a filling station in Spring Green and then came here and held up three more in rapid succession. They worked swiftly, forcing the attendants to stretch out on the floor in every case before they rifled the cash register. They escaped without leaving clues of value.

Jefferson—The Jefferson county board has voted a reward of $250 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits that killed Ellsworth Ladien in a filling station hold-up on Nov. 19. The board is considering a standing reward offer for all bandits and armed robbers found in the county.

Madison—Complete unofficial returns from the general election, as tabulated by the secretary of state, showed that a total of 950,129 votes were cast for governor on Nov. 6, the largest of year total ever recorded in Wisconsin. The total polled in the race for governor exceeded the senatorial total by about 50,000.

Madison—State departments and institutions are asking a $22,855,855 increase in appropriations for the next two years. Budget Director James B. Borden has disclosed. Requests for $38,470,649 compared to $45,614,794 appropriated for the current biennium were laid before Governor-Elect Philip F. La Follette as he began his budget hearings.

Reedsburg—David Dobson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dobson, was seriously injured when attacked by a pet bear at Lake Delton. The animal, brought from Texas four years ago by Ralph Hines, broke loose from the stake to which it was chained and crushed the boy's shoulder and injured his neck before Hines beat the bear off with an iron bar. The bear was killed.

Madison—Measures to protect Wisconsin's dwindling black spruce and balsam forests against excessive cutting of Christmas trees will be enforced strictly, the state conservation department warned. Conservation wardens and rangers were instructed to prevent cutting of trees on state and county owned lands and to see that those who cut on private land have written permission from the owner.

Lake Tomahawk—After chasing a deer through the woods, Charles Graham, 54, came close enough to shoot. He fired two shots, one which wounded the deer, and then fell dead of a heart attack. The deer, weighing 225 pounds, was killed by his hunting companions. It was one of the largest bucks taken this season.

Jefferson—Jefferson county's budget will be approximately $108,000 higher than it was last year, it was reported here. The money to be raised by taxation will be $421,455.81.

Madison—Two Racine detectives, after an investigation, reported that they could find "absolutely no evidence" as to who broke into communist headquarters here and wrecked the place. Tables were overturned, chairs broken, pictures torn from the wall and smashed, a red banner ripped to bits, pamphlets torn and scattered over the floor and the walls defaced.

Green Bay—Joseph Martin, Green Bay attorney, has denied that he is planning to resign as chairman of the Democratic State Central committee.

Eau Claire—The 1935 county tax budget of $207,584.99, adopted unanimously by the Eau Claire county board here, is $54,517.44, or 24 per cent less than the $351,901.43 budget of 1934.

LaCrosse—Due to the good financial condition of Grant county, the county board was able to cut the tax levy $30,000. The budget voted was $299,731, as compared with $329,000 last year. The county has no indebtedness and a cash balance of $50,000.

Madison—The state is expected to have liquor revenues totaling about $920,000 to turn over to localities in January, 1935, for real estate tax reduction. State Treasurer Robert K. Henry disclosed. This would be nearly double the $400,822 refunded in July.

Madison—Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman visited the executive offices in the capital last week for the first time since the accident which cost him his left leg. He expects to be able to give little attention now to the work which has piled up in his two months' absence.

Milwaukee—Pickets appeared at three more Milwaukee laundries with strikes now in effect at nine plants. Union workers at the Campbell, Baxter and Snow White laundries walked out on completion of all work on hand. The union is demanding a closed shop and wage increases.

Two Rivers—A new wrinkle in the tavern business has been discovered. "Pay the regular price for one drink and get another for 1 cent." Is what local tavern keepers are advertising. The idea started in Manitowish several weeks ago. It is said to stimulate beer and whisky sales.

Waukesha—Reduced prices for slaves and hair cuts were announced by nearly every barber shop in Waukesha in defiance of the state barber code. A "price war" started after one barber announced he would violate the code and invite arrest by charging 35 cents for haircuts and 20 cents for shaves.

Milwaukee—There are 115,000 families and individuals on relief rolls in Wisconsin now, according to Dr. Alfred W. Briggs of Madison, director of federal relief in the state. Dr. Briggs announced that the present total on relief is higher than it was in March, 1933, when there were 90,000 names on the rolls.

Fond du Lac—William Vanderkin was unable to collect a $7,000 insurance claim after a circuit court jury decided a fire in a barn on his land near Waupun Oct. 25, 1933, started in a still. Vanderkin said the Waupun Mutual Life Insurance Co., which had refused to pay the claim, contending that its policy on the barn contained provisions against stills.

La Crosse—The federal government is subject to an order to pay the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad a damage judgment exceeding $300,000 after Federal Judge Patrick Stone denied a motion for a new trial. The judgment was awarded at Superior last September in connection with condemnation proceedings in the development of the Mississippi river channel.

Sturgeon Bay—According to the operating statement submitted at the annual meeting of the Door County Fair association here the 1934 festival made a profit of $800.27. It was the seventh consecutive year that County Agent B. F. Rusy, secretary of the association, had reported the fair as making money, except for 1931, when the event broke even. The fair gets no county aid.

Monroe—The fourth arrest in Green County in the state's drive against hog cholera came with the arraignment of Ned Brennan of Monroe on a charge of selling 40 infected hogs. He was released on payment of $1,000 bond. His preliminary hearing will be held Dec. 7. Jacob L. Babler and Cecil E. Wells, both of Monroe, and now out on bail facing similar charges, will also appear on that date.

Milwaukee—Milwaukee gasoline prices returned to normal ending a long price war. A joint meeting of the state and county stabilization committees on the petroleum code promoted agreements between all classes of gasoline dealers. The price boost represents an increase of from 1.2 to 1.7 cents a gallon. The new prices of three grades of gasoline are 16.8 cents for low grade, 17.8 cents for regular, and 19.8 cents for high test.

Chippewa Falls—Jake Braden, 43, Chippewa county farmer, confessed, authorities said, that he shot and killed Joseph Yakish, 54, a neighboring farmer, from ambush, November 12. Mrs. Jennie Yakish, widow of the victim to whom Braden had been paying attention, was held as an accessory. Braden was arrested after Yakish died in a hospital here November 15. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned on a first degree murder charge and at first denied any connection with the shooting.

Green Bay—Pope Pius received at Vatican City in private audience Bishop Paul P. Rhode of Green Bay, who delivered his report on the progress of his diocese during the last five years. His holiness felicitated the bishop on the developments shown and imparted his apostolic blessing.

Madison—Low bids on six highway projects totaling $270,315 were announced by the state highway commission. A large part of the work is to be started this year after the contracts are let.

Milwaukee—Application for a marriage license has been filed in the county clerk's office here by Mrs. Norma Koehring, 44, widow of the late Philip A. Koehring, Milwaukee industrialist found shot to death at Mauston three years ago, and Henry F. Ziese, 52.

Fond du Lac—Sentenced to one to 25 years on charges of stealing an automobile, William O'Loughlin will remain free on parole providing he practices total abstinence from intoxicating liquor for the next 25 years.

A Christmas Prize in Person

Flourance Harris Wells

"DO YOU ever win anything in those contests you are always entering?" Muriel Wilton queried of her sister Agnes, who was home for the holidays, as they sat on the bed doing up last minute family gifts Christmas eve.

"Not yet," Agnes laughed. "But by the law of averages I should win sometimes."

"Soon, I'd say," Muriel said grimly. "You've been entering contests of one kind and another ever since we were infants and mother entered you in a prettiest baby contest."

"That's where I began my losing. If I'd won then I'd probably have kept on winning like these people we read about who live on what they make from contests."

"Phooey!" Muriel scoffed. "What makes you do it, anyway?"

"Just my love of adventure. I'm really a born gambler—in a discreet way, of course. That's why I write for my living. Just to see if my brain children will find a place or come back home to me."

"Was it your love of adventure, or gambling spirit, or whatever you call it, that made you turn down Harold Ryan three years ago when he came home from college with his cousin Fred to spend the holidays? Now, why did you do that, Agnes? He was everything anyone would want in a husband—looks family, money, and aren't we always told that marriage is the great adventure?"

"Maybe it is an adventure but what sort of a gamble is it to marry a man who already has everything. No. I preferred to gamble with my own career."

"And now that you've made a success where is the gamble in it?" Muriel carefully stuck a sprig of holly in the knot of her red tissue ribbon.

"When Agnes replied it was in a more serious manner:

"Since you ask me so pointedly, Muriel dear, I think, perhaps, if Harold lost his money during the depression, as so many did, and if he were to present himself now as a man winning his way through his own efforts, I might trust myself to adventure along with him. But, I fancy, it is too late. He's probably found some less adventurous soul ere this."

"Most likely," Muriel answered, as she rose to answer the door bell which had been persistently ringing. "Guess we're home alone." She hurried down the stairs.

Five minutes later she was back, trying vainly to refrain from any show of excitement:

"Some one on business for you, Agnes. He's the persistent kind, I held her had to see you right now."

"Oh, well, all right. I'll go down and get it over with," Agnes took off her smock and departed.

Muriel heard Agnes' surprised ejaculation, but it was some time before she was summoned to join the two in the living room below.

"Muriel is just dying to congratulate me," Agnes joyfully greeted her younger sister. "Behold, sister mine, I've actually won in a contest. You see, Harold is managing editor now of the paper that was running this particular contest. When the judges were sort of stuck as to which of three people had won second prize they referred the matter to him and, recognizing your honorable sister's name among the three, he immediately decided in her favor and came, in person, to deliver it."

"But I thought it was for another reason I was to congratulate you," Muriel did not try to conceal her disappointment.

"There is," Harold answered promptly. "I let Agnes speak first. But the reason I had for bringing Agnes the prize in person was to see if I could win this prize person."

Just then the door of the room adjoining was thrown open and another overcast young man appeared. This time it was Agnes' turn to show astonishment:

"Of all things, Fred Ryan! Have you been there all the time?"

"Sure thing. I came with Harold, a sort of moral support. You see, Muriel and I have our wedding all planned. Let's make it a double one!"

To which bright idea they all joyfully agreed, hugging one another and shouting "Merry Christmas!"

GIVE THIS SOME SERIOUS THOUGHT

The prosperity and general welfare of any community is directly proportional to the amount of money that circulates regularly in that community. It follows then, that any act that tends to drive or take money out of a community, is detrimental to the welfare and prosperity of that community. It also follows that people who are responsible for any exodus of money, from a community, are harming themselves, as well as every member of the community. They deprive the community and its people, themselves included, not only of the dollars so diverted from local circulation, but of the earning power of such dollars. Many dollars in local circulation change hands as often as twenty-five times a year, and every time they change hands someone makes a profit. That profit—often as high as 25c or more per dollar transaction—passes from hand to hand in the form of wages, rent, fuel, taxes and contributions to church and charity. Whether the wages, rents, taxes and contributions resulting from the circulation of money, go to people or institutions in any community, depends on whether such money circulates in or out of the community. Dollars that leave any community, for any purpose except for the purchase of articles or service that cannot be supplied locally, constitute an avoidable loss, to every member of that community. If you would benefit yourself, and every member of your community, think well before you exile your dollars!

Highest Paid Short Fiction Writer

FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people.

Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

Economic Highlights

Happenings that affect the dinner pails, dividend checks and tax bills of every individual, National and International problems inseparable from local welfare.

The three great Pacific powers—the United States, Great Britain and Japan—are at present involved in a complicated embroglio, with counter-plots, quiet diplomacy and plain ordinary hard-feelings dominating the proceedings, and with the chance of armed conflict in the offing.

As Raymond Leslie Buell recently pointed out in a feature article in the New York Times, the three-power navy discussions, now going on in London, have reached an impasse because of disagreement over three vital issues.

First, the military question, involving Japan's demand for naval parity with Great Britain and America (the present ratio is 5-5-3, with Nippon on the short end);

Second, the political question, involving Japan's ambition to expand into Asia;

Third, the commercial question, involving the expansion of Japanese foreign trade, at the expense of England and the United States.

Japan has flatly refused to continue the existing naval ratio—she demands parity and threatens to sign no more treaties, when the present one runs out in 1935, unless it is given her, both England and the U. S. are afraid to agree to parity—yet each nation knows that if Japan starts building ships, undeterred by treaties, they will have to follow. The result would be a gigantic naval race, costing hundreds of millions of dollars, and increasing the chances for war. Once a nation newly develops a first-class naval or military machine, it is inevitably eager to try it out on some adversary.

As for the second issue, Japan's desire to take over part of Asia may be explained in two words: Iron; oil. No nation can be a major power without these commercial and military essentials, and Japan at present must obtain all her steel and oil from abroad. If she could control the great, undeveloped iron mines and oil fields of Manchuria she would be in a much stronger and safer position. It is also commonly believed that Japan needs new territory in order to provide room for her people—she is vastly overpopulated at present. However, the Japanese are poor colonizers—they seem to possess little pioneering instinct. For example, some years ago Japanese officials made a determined effort to send emigrants to Korea. They offered substantial payment, both in land and in cash, to those who would go. Yet only a handful of the underfed, underpaid, overworked Japanese peasants were willing to take on the job. As a result, it seems certain that colonization is a comparatively small item in Nippon's ambition to move eastward.

The third issue, that of commerce, is one of the most irksome. It's a well known fact that the Japanese are poor innovators—but magnificent imitators. If someone starts manufacturing a product in a western country, the Japanese are usually able to produce a competitive product, as good or almost as good, at a fraction of the price. Between 1921 and 1923, Japan increased her world exports of rayon yarn by 22 per cent; her exports of woolen yarn by 54 per cent; her exports of woolen piece goods by 78 per cent. In addition, she is sending other products into the world market, to be sold at prices American and English manufacturers cannot meet. This is partly due to Japanese efficiency—and largely due to low wages, depreciation of the yen and long working hours. The Japanese worker puts in between 55 and 60 hours a week—and all major industries have been formed into cartels and trusts, to lower costs. It seems certain that a trade war will develop before long—already both England and the United States have put up tariff barriers to lessen imports of certain Japanese products. However, Japan is a good customer of both countries—and it is obvious that if her exports are cut off, she will retaliate by reducing her imports.

That is the Pacific question as it now stands, and all the disagreements in London over the naval treaty revolve around these three issues. It is an important fact that, under Japan's form of government, the army and navy are not subject to the control of the Diet—they are responsible solely to the "Son of Heaven." Japan's much-beloved young Emperor, thus, it would be possible for Japanese government officials to talk resoundingly in favor of world peace—while Japanese troops and ships set out for war.

The government's great housing campaign is beginning to show results. Construction touched bottom in 1932, when, during an average four weeks, only $18,000,000 was spent, as compared with $59,000,000 during a similar period in 1931. The new campaign started in the middle of August, and in the four weeks following $19,000,000 was spent. In the four weeks ending October 13, $29,000,000 went into homes, and $36,000,000 was spent during the four weeks which closed on November 10. It is estimated that more than 1,000,000 homes, involving an expenditure of $5,000,000,000, would have been built had there been no depression.

The heavy slaughter of livestock has resulted in a marked increase in the production of tankage and prices of this product have declined sharply.

Numbers of fruit trees in farm orchards all over the country have been declining rapidly in recent years through neglect and abandonment, a recent report shows. On the other hand, commercial orchards generally are receiving good care with shifts to the more popular varieties and a tendency to supply local consumers with a greater number of fruits over a longer season.

White pine blister rust, a serious menace to white pine forests wherever present, was brought under control on more than a million acres during 1934, reports the United States Department of Agriculture. Nearly 69,990,000 wild currant and gooseberry bushes, the alternate host plants that spread the rust to the pines, were destroyed in this work.

Washington Digest
National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington.—Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, is giving his armor to fight off a drive to revise the agricultural adjustment act.

is considerably more of a liberal than most bankers and business men.

While most financial authorities are not now alarmed over the prospect of any inflation by means of reckless running of printing presses, they do fear that the banks of the country will be forced into the position of buying government bonds whether they desire to do so or not.

As the laws now stand, it apparently would be difficult for the treasury, acting through the federal reserve board,

Glass would like to tell any particular bank how many government bonds it must absorb.

Obviously, such financial students as the veteran Senator Carter Glass, Virginia Democrat, would fight to the death against what he believes to be misuse of the federal reserve system and the country's banking structure.

There is banking legislation scheduled for this coming session. Its scope has not yet been determined but it will be more far-reaching than the previous legislation and, in all probability, there will be some brand new pet schemes put forward by professional advisers who have been called into conference by Secretary Morgenthau and his aides.

It seems reasonably certain, therefore, that the discussion of farm legislation in the new congress will develop that which has not been developed before, namely, the voice of the consumer.

Consumer To Be Heard
The consumer has not been developed before, namely, the voice of the consumer.

Because weather affects our daily lives as nothing else, it proves an ever fascinating subject. It is always interesting as well, really a fascinating occupation, to look ahead. The goose-bone prophets have been busy, and they say that the forthcoming winter is going to be a tough one.

While we cannot definitely foretell the weather this winter, the American Nature association and the United States weather bureau have compiled some records about other winters that are most interesting. Take for example, the country-wide blizzard of 1888. The boys, and girls of those days, those who now say, "do you remember way back when," insist that that was a winter which really was winter. The later generations point to the "war winter" of 1917-18, a period of excessive cold and of great snow throughout the United States east of the Rocky mountains.

Two outstanding winters were: 1912—Severe cold weather during the first three months of the year when unprecedented ice formed on all northern lakes and rivers. It was during this cold spell that Lake Superior was frozen from shore to shore and moose crossed on the ice.

Notwithstanding President Roosevelt's speech at the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association here, a speech that was believed at the time to have salvaged the bankers' feelings, considerable distrust of administration policies has begun to accumulate among the banking fraternity.

Give the Little Folks Hand Crochet

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

MAYBE you will and maybe you won't have time to crochet one or the other of the cunning garments here pictured before Christmas, but where there is a will to do and dare why not "get busy" and find a way?

the lovable child seated is easier to make and takes less time to complete than the one just described.

Anything what if you do not see your way clear to finish before the holidays, a gift as adorable as this will be hailed with delight any day on the calendar.

Perhaps you think a gift of jacket-sweater with matching beret would be more apropos for the youngster you have in mind.

To "brighten the corner where you are" is no task for a little girl dressed for a party in the hand-crochet dress of bright yellow pearl cotton (centered in the group). The skirt is a series of crochet-lace ruffles done in shell mesh stitch, matching the round collar and slightly puff sleeves.

There now! We have told you about crochet for little folks but have you seen the stunning triangle scarf crocheted or knitted of mercerized cotton in the color you like best, which make such acceptable gifts for grown-ups?

BIAS-CUT CLOTHES POPULAR IN PARIS

There is much more give and take in our new clothes judging from the numbers of things brought out on the bias.

Sleeves are set into shoulders biasly, or very often sleeves and yoke, coming down in a design back and front, appear on short jackets as well as on three-quarter and full-length coats, and on dresses themselves.

Another 1934 winter notion is the use of solid color in two and three-piece suits with the splash of color coming in a short scarf about one yard long and six to ten inches wide. This is knotted rather close at the throat and the ends are sometimes tucked in or else they are tucked through tabs that button or fasten on the back of the lapels of the jacket or coat.

Long Slender Tunics in Latest Afternoon Models

Elaborate afternoon models this season show long, slender tunics, almost following in style the three-quarter or seven-eighth coat. These tunics are always in contrasting material and tone.

Two outstanding winters were: 1899—A record cold wave from February 11 to February 13, with zero temperatures extending from the Gulf coast northward.

Dresses, Tight to Knees, Now Develop Into Train

Lucien Lelong shows evening dresses extremely close-fitted in front and at back down to the knees, where, through a clever cut, it develops into a long graceful train.

Timely Suggestions From the Style Centers

Printed wool tulle is a new material.

Very lovely are the metal-threaded lace gowns for formal.

SWISH OF TAFFETA By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Again the swish of taffeta resounds in fashion's realm. Especially during the romantic evening hours does the murmuring of its rustle make music in the air.

Snappy Buttons
This is a year of snappy buttons as seen in new collections.

Contrariness of skirts and tops characterizes many of the new winter evening gowns.

POULTRY

HOPE TO END HIGH PULLET MORTALITY
Massachusetts College and Poultrymen Study.

By G. O. Olason, Extension Editor, Massachusetts State College.—WNU Service.

The State college poultrymen are launching the second phase of a three-part program to obtain more information concerning the causes of high mortality and to take measures to correct the trouble.

Applications are being received from poultrymen who desire to co-operate in the project of keeping pullets healthy in the laying house.

In return for the educational assistance received, the poultrymen will keep records of their management practices and the death rate of their birds.

Keeping Poultry Records Found Good Judgment

The poultryman who is progressive should by all means keep some simple record of his poultry enterprise.

The popularity of the American class of fowls began with an exhibit of especially attractive barred Plymouth rocks by D. A. Upham of Wiltonville, Conn., at Worcester in March, 1890.

Plenty of Scratch Feed
It is a good practice to feed an abundance of scratch feed especially during the developing period, according to an authority at the North Carolina State college.

O. K. to Feed Chicks

Time was when poultry experts advised withholding all feed from baby chicks until sixty to seventy-two hours after they had left the shell.

Profitable Birds

As to the best breed of birds, Reds and Rocks, says a writer at the North Carolina State college, there is little to choose between the two.

TIMELY ADVICE ON GOOD SOUPS

Here Is the Secret of Being an Excellent Cook.

By EDITH M. BARBER

Reputation of a cook is often made or ruined by her—or his—soup. I am not so sure that this is not a just criterion, for the rest of the meal is better than its soup course. What you make of all soup must have strength. It must have a subtle blend of seasonings.

from your supply of spices and herbs which I hope you have in great variety in your pantry shelf.

Cream Soups

- 3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 1/2 cups ground or strained cooked vegetables.

Melt butter, add onion and cook one minute. Stir in flour and seasonings and add milk gradually. Stir over fire until smooth and creamy. Have ready about 1 1/2 cups of ground or strained cooked vegetables. (Mixed vegetables may be used.) Add to first mixture. Reheat and add more seasoning if necessary. A dash of nutmeg with pea soup, of cloves with tomato, of celery salt with

Shake That Fatigue With Pinch of Salt

Cambridge, Mass.—When you are tired, don't drink water, just use horse sense and take a pinch of salt. That will restore your pep, authorities at Harvard university fatigue laboratory said, in a recent announcement.

If the first pinch of salt makes you thirsty, reach for the salt shaker instead of a glass of water. The salt will counteract the lactic acid which causes that "ho-hum" feeling.

potato, of paprika with corn, will improve the flavor. Minced parsley may be sprinkled on top. Preparation time, ten minutes.

If freshly cooked vegetables are used, add the stock in which they have been cooked and reduce the milk in proportion. If tomatoes are used, add one teaspoon of sugar and one-quarter teaspoon of soda before combining with cream sauce.

Jellied Tomato Soup.

- 2 tablespoons gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 1/2 cans tomato soup
1 1/2 cups boiling water

Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Combine tomato soup with boiling water. Stir gelatin into hot mixture. Add seasoning to taste. Chill in refrigerator until set. Beat with a fork and serve in bouillon cups. Garnish with sliced lemon and parsley. Preparation time, ten minutes.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Curious are the ways of souvenir hunters. Years and years ago, when a man was lynched in our town, the big maple over the limb of which the rope was thrown was practically ruined and a business man held himself to be fortunate because he had a piece that the hump had rubbed. In 1918, a French officer showed me some bits of stained glass, which he prized greatly. They were pieces of the famous rose window of the Cathedral of Rheims. The government was trying to assemble them all to restore the window. But those bits were souvenirs. Then a dozen years ago, the famous crabapple tree of New Brunswick, N. J. Because the bodies of a rector and his choir singer had been found under it, it was not only cut down but the roots were dug up. More recently, Asbury Park concessionaires displayed charred oars and other grim mementoes of the Morro Castle.

When that Lindbergh ransom money was discovered in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's garage at 1279 East 222nd street, a strong police guard was placed about it. There was also a guard around the house, the purpose being of course to protect such evidence as might still be concealed. But the police guard served a double purpose. The Sunday following the discovery, fully 20,000 persons made a journey away out into the Bronx not only to stare at the house and the garage but to collect souvenirs. If it hadn't been for the police, the house and garage would have been carried away piece by piece. The protection didn't do Mrs. Paulina Rausch, the owner, much good. The police tore down the garage and just about demolished the Hauptmann abode in their search for clues.

Shortly after Hauptmann was indicted in New Jersey, a group of business men, including a New York city official, were discussing whether or not the suspect had been given the third degree. The city official, thoroughly conversant with police methods, told of how a confession was obtained in a manner well out of the ordinary conception of how such things are done. The suspect was taken to the office of a dentist. The dentist was making some preliminary flourishes and preparing his tools and machine, when a detective remarked, "Drill right through the nerve of his tooth, doc." The confession came immediately.

In view of the Lindbergh ransom money, it is interesting to note that there are many bills, especially tens and twenties, in circulation today on which appear these words: "Redeemable in gold on demand at the United States treasury or in gold or lawful money at any Federal Reserve bank." Of course, the government now doesn't keep the gold part of the promise. That doesn't make much difference, as few persons read the wording on bills. But Mrs. Grantland Rice did recently and was worried for fear she might have been hoarding gold certificates which, of course, was not the case.

That story about Norman Krasna, dug up by Leonard Lyons, amuses me. Krasna was a third string critic on an afternoon tabloid and was assigned to cover "Shuffle Along." In his review, he said that Miller and Lyle were not so hot in black face. That gave Broadway a real chuckle because Miller and Lyle are sepias. Time has passed, Miller and Lyle are no longer a part of the Broadway picture. The tabloid has folded and Krasna may now laugh if he feels like it. He has given Broadway "Small Miracle," which is one of the season's few successes.

Morning paper public notice: "Abandoned computer's home cheap. Improvements." Wonder where that computer was abandoned?

How It Started

By Jean Newton

That Word "Stateroom"

INQUIRY has been made as to the origin and significance of the word stateroom which we use for a cabin on a boat or a compartment on a railway train. Literally a stateroom is a magnificent apartment in a palace or mansion. Tourists visiting the castles of Europe are always shown the "state" apartments as separated from the private apartments. We are said to have taken over the word "stateroom" from the British navy, where it developed from "state-cabin." Under date of April 4, 1690, Pepys said in his "Diary." "Very pleasant we were on board the 'London' which hath a stateroom much bigger than the 'Nazeby,' but not so rich." Coming down to 1748 the distinction is made clear in Smollett's "Roderick Random," as follows: "A cabin was made for him contiguous to the stateroom where White slept." In the history of this word we must not overlook the fact that on the Barge canal that extends from Ostend to Bruges, the cabin in the stern for the barge was always reserved for the "states of the Province"—meaning the personages and high officials or delegates—and hence came to be known as the "Stateroom."

Very these are democratic days when anyone who has the price of one can occupy a stateroom!

Cornstalk on Iowa Farm

Grew 5.28 Inches a Day

Viola, Iowa.—A stalk of corn in a field planted by Dillon Atherton grew to a height of 131 inches in 75 days. Planted June 12, the stalk grew with the rapidity of Jack's beanstalk and reached 101 inches by July 25. Atherton said the corn averaged 5.28 inches growth per day during the period from July 15 to July 25, a week in which there was piteous heat combined with excessive heat, conditions which are ideal for corn.

Atherton said the entire field averaged 2.1 inches daily growth the first 60 days.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

The children were full of high spirits and gambolled about the train aisle, much to the annoyance of other passengers. Finally one could stand it no longer. "Madam," she said, "if you can't keep your children quiet I shall lodge a complaint." The mother sighed. "I'm afraid one more thing can't worry me," she replied. "My little girl has just swallowed our tickets, the boy has broken a carriage window next door, I've left my purse at home, and we're in the wrong train."

GIVES CHANCE TO COMBINE FABRICS

A two-piece frock is nice for a number of reasons, one of the best being that it affords such an excellent opportunity for the combination of different fabrics. Take this design—you can make it entirely of wool with just buttons and a belt buckle for trimming, or you can make it with, for instance, a plaid wool skirt and a plain velveteen blouse, repeating one of the most attractive shades in the plaid. However you make it up, the well-cut skirt with its smart kick-pleats and the becoming lines of the blouse will appear to advantage!

Pattern 9135 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3 yards 54 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Complete, diagrammed sew chart included. Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighth Street, New York City.

Science to War on Common Cold Germ

In his will Sir Henry set aside one-tenth of his fortune for "research for the improvement of health, or preventing disease, in the human race." After careful consideration the trustees of the estate have set up two Royce research fellowships, one at Manchester university and the other at London university, with the object of the fellowship researches to be "the cause and cure of the common cold and the cause and cure of influenza."

The decision to direct the research toward the colds followed the revelation a few weeks ago by the British Medical Research Council that common colds cost the world billions of dollars annually, not only in actual expenditure but in lost working time.

The medical council, for some years conducting research toward a positive cure, recently announced it would abandon its existing researches and present a new line of investigation presented by its researches had failed to develop effective treatment.

"We do not expect the problem to be solved in a day," C. B. R. Tildesley, one of the trustees, declared. "To expect such would be foolish. But we do feel that the research fellowships offers an exceptional opportunity for uninterrupted and progressive work which may produce good results. In any case, this is an initial effort and it is one, we feel, that Sir Henry would have approved." When certain other provisions of Sir Henry's testament have been fulfilled, research funds may be expanded. Mr. Tildesley said, and other common ailments of man looked into.

(By J. B. Lindl)

Last week we pondered over a loss of approximately $18,500,000—$6 to every man, woman and child in Wisconsin—as a result of the exodus of Wisconsin money, via the tourist route. We were amazed at California's boast, which indicates that tourists from all over the world bring enough money into California to provide an average of $600 for every man, woman and child in California. Much of that enormous amount is supplied by Wisconsin people, who do not know or appreciate their own great state. However, Wisconsin's failure to get its share of tourist trade, dwindles into insignificance, when one considers that "Get-Rich-Quick" Florida, Texas and California citrus-orchard; Georgia pecan-groves; Texas and Oklahoma oil wells; Mexican rubber plantations and other "Distant-Green-Pasture" money-getting schemes and rackets, have taken over $1,000,000,000.00 out of Wisconsin. Most of that staggering total, is lost to the "Easy Marks" and to the people of Wisconsin, as a whole.

"High-Pressure-promoters" got that billion by creating the impression that the Garden of Eden had been re-discovered, and that its gates were ajar to all who were willing to pay up to $1,500, or more for an acre of salt-delta or sand-dune, and a PROMISE to plant trees. They failed to tell the "Suckers" that these "PROMISED" trees would turn out to be "Trees of Knowledge"—the "Sadder-But Wiser" brand of knowledge—as soon as the roots reached the salty sub-soil. They advertised glowingly in national magazines, the metropolitan press and by mail. They employed squadrons of high-pressure closers, and whole regiments of lead-getters whom they dubbed "Bird-Dogs." Transportation companies aided them by issuing enticingly illustrated booklets of glowing descriptions and pseudo-statistics, and by offering ridiculously low fares to whatever re-discovered Eden held the limelight at the time. It is to the everlasting credit of Wisconsin's newspaper-men, that—except in a few instances—they refused to fall for these schemes to the extent of giving their promotional backing. Most of them went so far as to cut into their own profits by refusing to accept paid advertising, of such schemes. I know whereof I speak in this connection, for, I was, at one time, connected with an advertising agency that served one of these promoters, and in that connection, I saw order after order, some with certified checks attached, issued to Wisconsin newspapers, returned to the agency with notations similar to this:—"We do not deem it advisable to publish this copy." Such unselfish loyalty calls for the co-operation of every patriotic Wisconsiner. Give your home paper—which is giving Wisconsin a square deal—a break in turn, then join the press of Wisconsin and 60,000 Wisconsin Legionnaires. Auxiliary and Junior members, in boosting Wisconsin, the one state that has never had a Yellow Peril, Earthquake, Typhoon, Tidal Wave or Greaser Invasion; a state that even in this dry year, produced crops in excess of the nationwide average; a state that still has many thousands of acres of untilled, fertile land, that offers comfort and plenty to home-seekers; land that can be bought at one percent or less of what the suckers paid for salt-deltas or sand-dunes in California, Florida and Texas; a state that holds a world record for health and longevity; a state that according to the voluntary testimony of disinterested outsiders—holds within its borders, a greater variety of natural resources, scenic beauty and points of interest than any similar area on the Western Hemisphere; a state that only needs favorable publicity, to popularize it as the nation's summer and winter sport and vacation paradise. (This is the tenth of a series of 52 "See Wisconsin First" articles, sponsored by the PRESS and The American Legion of Wisconsin. Another will appear in the next issue of the Kewaskum Statesman.

Allis Seifert is spending several weeks at the home of his parents and family while on his return trip from Montana to Chicago, where 17 farmers from there shipped 17 carloads of 2-year-old steers to Chicago. They realized $20 per head. Mr. Seifert and brother Herbert farm four sections at Roundup, Montana.

On Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, Nick Abler, Earl Henning, Melvin Rantuhn, Rudie Rosenbaum, Rob. Buslaff, Buck Weiss, Gus Laverenz, Walter and Clarence Daliese, Lehman White, Irvin and Clarence S'fert, Bernard and Archie Flitter and Clem Brown returned from Hurly and the northern part of the state where they were deer hunting for ten days or more. They were fortunate enough to kill five deer. They say the forests up there are alive with hunters and cars. Thirty-five cars were reported parked in one place. It was difficult travelling through the woods on account of deep snow and slush, as it had rained considerable. Roads were very bad with snow and ice on their return trip from the camps.

WISCONSIN CHEESE EXCHANGE

Plymouth, Wis., Nov. 30—On the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange today 200 boxes of twins were sold at 12 1/2c. One-half cent less was suggested for Standard Brands.

The sales a year ago today were 100 twins at 10 1/2c and 150 daisies at 11c.

Commercial supplies of late cabbage, onions, potatoes, and sweet potatoes are generally larger the season than in 1933, and the carry-over of these crops is expected to offer more competition to early 1935 spring-grown vegetables.

With a light supply of canned sweet corn in sight for the 1934-35 marketing season, growers of sweet corn for canning may be in a position to contract tonnage in 1935 at prices equal to or exceeding those received for 1934.

Supplies of feed grains (corn, oats, barley, and grain sorghums) for the 1934-35 feeding are the smallest since 1881, a recent government report states.

THE GREATEST GIFT

Between the ages of 15 and 45 tuberculosis takes the lives of children and young parents and makes more orphans than any other disease. Some idea of the number of families who lost children and number of children who lost parents to tuberculosis in Wisconsin year may be gained from the fact that almost 53 percent of the tuberculosis deaths were of people under 45 years of age. Surely a dollar for Christmas Seals is not too much to invest in the greatest gifts of HEALTH and HAPPINESS!

"Captain of the Men of Death" among the communicable diseases which rob Wisconsin homes of their children is tuberculosis, according to figures supplied by the State Board of Health.

While accidents are the greatest death dealers to school children, tuberculosis takes more lives between the ages of 5 and 20 than any other communicable disease.

"Probably all accidents cannot be prevented but every single death from tuberculosis can," Dr. Paul A. Teschner, Milwaukee, a member of the Medical staff of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Ass'n., says.

"Tuberculosis is caused by a germ. While it is not hereditary the disease is a family disease because it is spread through intimate contact. Tuberculosis is curable, especially if it is discovered early and proper treatment is used promptly. It can be prevented if a person gets plenty of rest, good food, fresh air and sunshine and does not live in close contact with someone having tuberculosis. The many sanatoria of the state provide a place for a person to take the cure and provide a place for the isolation of the from the well.

"Health is not a gift that is wrapped up and hung on a Christmas tree," Dr. Teschner declares a gift that parents must give their children all the year round, and to give the "greatest gift" of Christmas Seals work every day of the year. The free chest clinics, the medical and social services and general educational campaigns of W.A.T.A. are financed entirely by sale of Christmas Seals.

Such progress has been made in tuberculosis, the greatest death dealer from the disease having been cut in half since the first campaign conducted in Wisconsin, says Dr. Teschner, but there must be an up in the fight against the disease takes so many of our children.

Nobody Loves a Policeman

That's an old saying but it isn't true any more. At least, it hasn't been true since F. O. Alexander added "Finney of the Force" to the list of famous comic strip characters. For "Finney", with his twinkling humor and his shrewd comment on people and the common everyday events of life, is a lovable character, and thousands of newspaper readers who have followed him through his various adventures will testify.

"Finney of the Force" is a regular feature in this newspaper with whom our subscribers are acquainted, and all enjoy him. Then tell your friends about him, for they will enjoy him as much as you do.

Delayed fall frosts have kept Wisconsin dairy cattle on pasture throughout most of November with cows at the beginning of the month getting about one-half of their total feed supply from pasture.
