ODDITIES

Odd happenings gleaned from all parts of the world. Believe them or not.

"Boots," a cat belonging to J. C. Prestal of Montclair, N. J., bit off an inch of its own tail while chasing it around in a circle.

Singing loudly and with a Bible in his hand, an unidentified man waded into the bay at San Diego, Calif., and was drowned. As the water deepened about him the louder he sang.

Convicts in the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary, who objected to sleeping in their underwear, have presented to the prison's officials an elaborate petition for pajamas.

Reinhardt H. Polish of Milwaukee choked to death when his false teeth slipped into his throat.

While Clarence Hargue was digging a grave in a cemetery at Seymour, Mo., lightning struck and killed him.

Nearly all the hair was burned off the head of Miss Christine Logan of Duluth, when it caught fire from a gas jet.

An old Colonial flag, containing 13 stars and 13 bars, believed to be 150 years old, was found in the loft of an abandoned log cabin near Manchester, Ohio.

Arrested for desertion and ordered to return to his wife, Charles Cerin of New York asked that he be fined.

Caught in the act of burglary, James Morin of Chicago lost one of his eyes, put out while he was resisting arrest.

Mrs. Martin A. Jenks of Chicago who testified she had forgiven her husband a dozen times for his escapades and couldn't do it again, was granted a divorce.

James Carrick of Evanston, Ill., used a $50 bill as a bookmark at the library and forgot it. It was found and returned a week later.

Mrs. Caroline Walsh of Newark appealed to a judge to make her 19-year-old son work, declaring he was "too lazy to wash himself."

Mrs. Ella Cannon of Brooklyn was fined $50 for kicking a policeman.

Henry Weed of London, who named a man now dead as co-respondent was granted a divorce.

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin of Chicago testified that the only work her husband has done in four years was to take his dog for an airing.

A. S. Russell of St. Paul hanged himself because he lost a purse containing $1,365.

Miss Joan Wright of Dover, Eng., was fined $150 for smuggling, $150 for impertinence to customs guards, and $152 for lying to the court.

G. F. Horne, 64, of London, who has more than 400,000 miles.

Hubert Rallise of Paris, branded his wife for life by slashing a cross on her forehead with a razor.

Four times a month Mrs. Clara Neilson of Paighton, Eng., places food on the grave of a woman friend who died several years ago.

"I won't accept it," declared Miss Dorothy Morrison of Belfast when awarded $50 in a breach of promise suit. But she did.

Testifying against disorderly conduct, Mrs. Clayton of Chicago said the young woman's "language was as thick as the paint on her face."

Following the death of M. Marcel Caudet of Marseilles, it was learned that she married 40 years ago and kept the wedding secret.

J. Mafente of Healsburg, Calif., took a stranger's boy baby as security for a pair of automobile tires, and when the parent did not return he decided to adopt the child.

An old mule that eats very young chicks is reported from a farm near Orange, Texas.

Federal Judge W. I. Grubb of Alabama, who in a recent ruling questioned the constitutionality of the TVA's power program, has been on the Federal bench 25 years. The story is told that when he was being urged for appointment in 1909 a group of Birmingham lawyers sent President Taft the following telegram: "North Alabama is starving for justice. For God's sake give us Grubb." And the president did.

North Dakota claims the youngest legislator in the country in the person of Arlo Beggs, 21, who was elected to a seat in the state legislature in November. Many will question whether a youth of that age should be elected to such an office. Still, William Pitt, the younger, became prime minister of Great Britain at 24 and was one of its greatest.

Lafayette county has 32 lime grinding and mine tailings projects. Much of the lime produced will be used to grow alfalfa in the campaign against the white grub.

(By J. B. Lindl)
From Racine, we follow highway 42 to Carrollville, home of The United States Glue Works, whose products are distributed over the entire world. The interesting processes employed in this institution are decidedly worth investigating. Continuing on 42 we reach Grant Park, 360 acres of natural and man-made beauty spots, deep ravines, miniature water falls, interesting botanical specimens and enticing trails that depict a constantly changing panorama of nature's and man's artistry. Climbing the winding stairs at the lake end of the ravine, we reach beautiful wooded picnic grounds where countless thousands of people find recreation and rest from metropolitan toil during the summer months. On the gently rolling slopes of the upper park, we find one of the most popular golf courses, winding in and out among recent plantings of early every known variety of trees and shrubs, as well as many of foreign origin. A short drive brings us to the Bucyrus-Erie plant in South Milwaukee, an institution that exerts a world-wide influence, as there is hardly a canal or noteworthy engineering project completed within the past 25 years, in which Bucyrus shovels did not play important roles. A trip through this plant is well worth while, for anyone who is interested in mechanical processes for moving materials. Patrick Cudahy, the pioneer packer, whose name it bears. Here millions of cattle, sheep and hogs are converted into delectable meats and meat products, thus supplying a convenient market for Wisconsin live stock, and a "low-distribution-cost" source of supply for Wisconsin consumers of meat products. Cudahy is also the site of the Milwaukee County Airport, an institution that is well worth visiting, by those interested in modern aviation. At St. Francis, we stop to inspect St. Francis seminary, prep-school and orphanage welfare institutions, founded in the wilderness by Dr. Salzman, almost 100 years ago. The Lake-side power plant—the largest steam power plant in the world—is another point of scientific interest, that rates a visit here. From here we pass on into Milwaukee, where, next week, we will visit one of the world's most interesting and complete museums of natural history, arts and phenomena. This is the 14th of a series of 52 "See Wisconsin First" articles, sponsored by patriotic newspaper publishers and The American Legion of Wisconsin. Another will appear in next week's issue of The Statesman.

Highest Paid Short Fiction Writer

FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people. Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

NOW ON DISPLAY

A New Ford V-8 That Brings New Beauty, New Safety, and a New Kind of Riding Comfort Within Reach of Millions of People

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments. But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders." This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Moving distribution of car weight by correct engine and body forward eight and a half inches.
2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.
3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal. A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full horsepower and capable of 40 miles an hour. All Ford cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

We invite you to see the New Ford V-8 for 1935 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it to drive it yourself. You will find new experience in motoring.

Farm credit, backed by the government, is no novelty in some countries. Germany backed farm credit before the American Revolution, and Denmark, Hungary, Poland, Russia and Norway followed suit. England backed land improvement in the fifties, France in the nineties, and India, Australia, New Zealand and Canada in the present century. Uncle Sam backed farm credit as long ago as 1916, and now supervises the distribution of sound farm credit for almost any agricultural enterprise.
