At the Milwaukee auditorium Thursday those present saw the up-to-the-minute accomplishments of farm equipment engineers, as revealed in machinery and accessories new to the trade. This was the first time in the farm equipment trade history that the consumer has had a chance to see a preview of new tools.

BASKETEERS LOSE THEIR FIRST GAME

Before a fair crowd in the high school gym last Sunday evening the village basketball team dropped its opening encounter of the Land o' Lakes league to a fast and tricky Hartford five by a score of 34 to 23. In a preliminary to the nightcap the Kewaskum Bees defeated a game Rubicon team by a 26 to 18 count after a hard battle.

In the main event the opening game of the season found the home team decidedly off color, in shooting and all-around play. Naturally perfection or near perfection can not be expected in the first competitive scrimmage but yet editor is confident that as the season progresses Kewaskum is going to have one of the best in the league.

Another great handicap in the game was the absence of one of the star players, Lyle Gibson, from the lineup, because of a date with the dentist in the afternoon which left him in no condition to participate in the evening.

A young chap from Hartford carrying the name of J. Simpson was a potent factor in causing the locals "Waterloo," by taking the scoring honors with 12 points. Had his barrage been stopped the score might have looked different. The failure of Marx and Miller to score a point, and the usual sharpshooting of Stensche and Kohn being missing, left the team stranded on the bottom.

However, it was a close and interesting contest. The first quarter found both teams playing a strictly defensive game and the period ended 2 to 0, Hartford. Following this the teams began to spurt and by halftime Kewaskum had earned a 9 to 8 advantage. In the third quarter the battle reached its height as the rivals clashed to a 21 to 17 score, favoring the visitors, going into the fourth period. At this stage Kewaskum's exhausted players showed a let down and the visitors steadily pulled away to a 34 to 23 decision.

PLAY AT GRAFTON SUNDAY

Next Sunday evening the Kewaskum team will invade Grafton in its second Land o' Lakes start and hopes to win at that place to gain a 500 rating. Kewaskum will also play an out of town game next Wednesday evening when it travels to Port Washington for a game in their spacious high school gym. Remember these two dates.

MORE CO-OPERATION FOR COUNTY SAFETY COUNCIL

In an effort to secure more co-operation and, if possible, more action leading toward tangible and definite results the Washington County Safety Council, meeting at the courthouse in West Bend at 8 p. m. Monday, Dec. 7, appointed a committee of three of its members to be present at a meeting of the county's road and bridge committee at the courthouse on Friday, Dec. 18th.

Named to meet with the road and bridge group are M. T. Buckley and Frank Bingham, West Bend, and Traffic Officer William Johnson, who resides on Highway 60, south of Slinger. It will be the purpose of this trio to appeal to the road and bridge committee for co-operation in the matter of policies and suggestions of the safety council and eventually to bring the council into closer harmony with the county board.

This action was taken after considerable discussion in which the consensus of opinion was that thus far the meetings of the safety council have been for naught but a waste of time and effort on the part of its members. It was pointed out, excepting in one or two instances, that little attention has been paid to the policies of the council and to suggestions made by it and directed to those in a position to act upon them.

This inattention to the council's work, it was revealed, is probably due to the fact that the true aim of the council, that of promoting greater safety on our highways, is not generally thoroughly understood by those higher in authority; that it is not known that the council is part of a state-wide system of safety councils under the state highway department, and that there is ignorance of the fact that the council consists of members from all parts of the county who are expressing the wishes of the people in the various sections of the county in regard to safety matters rather than being an organization of a few persons having an "axe to grind."

It is in an effort to overcome these things that Monday's action was taken by the council. It was pointed out that more action and co-operation is needed or the council will be forced to disband because of the futility of holding meetings ending with no tangible result. If proper interest can be gained, there is a strong possibility that a reorganization of the council to include members active in the county's administration may be effected. It was felt that this may produce the results desired.

The discussion was precipitated by a report on the resolution presented by the council through the highway commission to the last session of the county board, asking that the board establish one full-time traffic patrolman to aid in the fine work being done by Officers Johnson and George Brugger and for the appointment of one part-time patrolman to assist in the heavy tourist travel season. This original resolution was defeated by a vote of 22 to 2. The resolution amended to have an additional officer on duty during the period of May 15 to September 15, inclusive, was automatically defeated by an 11 to 11 tie vote of the board.

Various other suggestions and motions made prior to the one affecting the road and bridge committee were tabled in favor of the latter. Justice Orville Kiesel of Hartford presided in place of General Chairman Harold Riley of West Bend, who was forced to be absent because of other business.

A report of the safety council committee's meeting with the road and bridge group will be heard at the next meeting of the safety council at the courthouse in West Bend on Monday, Jan. 4.

King Edward Defies Cabinet, Clinging to Mrs. Simpson— Garner Mixes in House Leadership Battle— President's Buenos Aires Address.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

CONFRONTED with the opposition of his cabinet, the high clergy, the leaders of both the Conservative and the Labor parties and many of the ordinary people of his empire, King Edward VIII insists on continuing his intimacy with Mrs. Wally Simpson, presumably with the intention of marrying her.

Such, at this writing, is the status of what has become a genuine crisis for the British empire, highly interesting to all the world. The cabinet discussed the affair at length and sent Prime Minister Baldwin to remonstrate with the king, but the statesman got nowhere with the self-willed ruler, and next day told the house of commons he was not yet ready to make a statement.

The British press at last has abandoned the self-imposed silence concerning the king's course but most of them declared their opposition or their regret. Public opinion will probably have a great deal to do with solving the problem.

It is reported on good authority that King Edward is negotiating the sale of his Canadian "EP" ranch to Lincoln Ellsworth, the American explorer.

O'Connor of New York, chairman of the rules committee, and Sam Rayburn of Texas, chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

mere 'rubber stamps' of the President. That accusation hurt the members' feelings sufficiently without rubbing it in by having the country get the notion that the duly elected Democratic members of the house are going to become the 'rubber stamps' of the vice president, so that the Lone Star state may run both ends of the capitol to the exclusion of any participation by any of the other 47 states.

ACCORDING to the New York Daily News, Former President Herbert Hoover may become an expatriate. The newspaper quoted Mr. Hoover "intimates here and in Washington" that he had virtually decided to take up indefinite residence in England as did Col. Charles Lindbergh more than a year ago.

RECALLING that Mr. Hoover had seldom lived in the United States after his graduation from Stanford university until the war years, the Daily News said that some of the happiest years of his life had been spent in London, which was headquarters for his mining enterprises in all parts of the world.

SENATOR BORAH of Idaho returned to Washington, and one of the few topics he was willing to talk about was the proposition of some French deputy that France get her war debt to the United States by a payment of 10 cents on the dollar, in order to clear the way for further borrowing of American money.

"We settled once at 51 cents on the dollar and that was just about what they owed us at the close of the war. We have no reason to believe that they will keep their word before. This is no cash proposition. It is another installment scheme. Remember this money belongs to the American taxpayers. If we continue to loan this money and then take it back at 10 cents on the dollar we cannot do any more to promote armaments."

In the French chamber Jean Mistler, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, requested the deputies to drop discussion of the debts question in order that the government "may have a free hand in its present negotiations with the United States." Details of the "negotiations" were not disclosed.

Madison—M. W. Torkelson, Wisconsin works progress administrator, issued final instructions for a reduction in the ranks of WPA workers, asserting that limited funds necessitate a virtual dropping of drought relief employment by Dec. 15.

Madison—Wisconsin led all states in tree planting by industrial organizations during 1935, according to a report just issued by the United States Forest Service. Wisconsin industrial planting amounted to 2,008 acres and was done almost entirely by pulp and paper companies.

Barron—At a special election the electors of District No. 1, city and town of Barron, approved a $50,000 issue to erect a 50 by 65 foot addition to the present high school. The bonding also includes equipping the building and the Ward school with a new heating, lighting and ventilating system.

Sheboygan—Married women employed in county offices were authorized by the county board to keep their jobs. The board voted 23 to 13 against a resolution which would have banned their employment. An amendment to prohibit employment of married women whose husbands earn more than $90 a month also was rejected.

Milwaukee—The seven day deer season in Wisconsin ended with three gun shot fatalities, half the number who suffered fatal wounds during the 1934 season. In addition to the three shooting fatalities, two hunters died from heart attacks apparently induced by over exertion, and another was burned to death in an automobile accident.

Kenosha—Placing more than 5,000 persons in jobs in Kenosha and Walworth counties during the last year was the achievement of the Wisconsin state employment service, Bert A. Thompson, director of the service, reported to the Kenosha county board. The bureau is affiliated with the United States employment service and operates with a staff of 17 persons in offices here.

Milwaukee—Chauncey Yockey, Milwaukee fire and police commissioner and official city greeter, died of a heart ailment here. He was 59. Yockey, an attorney, was long prominent in civic affairs before Gov. Philip F. La Follette appointed him city greeter in his first term. He was a former state assemblyman. As exalted ruler of the Milwaukee Elks club for 17 years, Yockey set a national record for that office.

Oshkosh—The board of education unanimously adopted the 1937 school budget including a 5 per cent raise in pay for teachers. About $28,000 will be divided among the school employees, proportioned according to the amount they are below the salary schedule. Oshkosh teachers are more than 1 1/2 per cent below their normal pay checks. Police and firemen are at their 1931 level and other city employees 5 per cent below.

Kenosha—Kenosha county employees' salaries will not be raised, the Kenosha county board determined here in a session in which it voted, 14 to 7, to reject the salary committee's recommendations for general increases. The committee had suggested a return to the 1931 level, but was turned down. The salary of the county judge was increased, however, from $3,600 per year to $5,400, and the salary of the juvenile court judge was set at $2,200 per annum. Judge R. V. Baker holds both positions.

Appleton—The Outagamie county board set its 1937 budget at $961,166.88 and the county tax levy at $620,041.88, which is $96,110.57 more than the levy for this year. The levy includes $122,878.70 for highway purposes. Anticipated revenues from other sources were figured at $341,125.

Balsam Lake—The Polk county board adopted a resolution setting the 1937 budget at $235,464.95. The assessment will be 10 mills on the county valuation of $23,546,495.

Madison—The public service commission staff told directors of the Rock County Rural Electric co-operative at a recent conference that a study it made of construction costs supplied by the Wisconsin Power and Light company indicated the private utility could build lines at a cost from $31,000 to $54,000 less than the co-operative.

New Holstein—The seventieth annual meeting of Wisconsin Turnverein societies will be held for two days in New Holstein next June.

Washington Digest National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington. — In proposing a peace pact for the western hemisphere, President Roosevelt in his speech at Buenos Aires has directed attention to two important positions that the United States has taken in its foreign relations. Whether Mr. Roosevelt so intended or whether it is by the very nature of the circumstance, he nevertheless has set up before the American people the necessity for re-examination of the age-old Monroe doctrine and has brought up for fresh scrutiny the policies of President Woodrow Wilson that were designed to establish eventually world peace by collectivist action.

I think that it must be admitted that the Wilson policies for international peace have not worked. Anyone who examines them squarely and frankly must recognize one outstanding inescapable fact: they have proved to be the illusions of an idealist.

They constitute a landmark, however, and in so doing it seems to me they should serve as a guide on what not to do. Candidly, the Wilson policies, beautiful in theory that they were, have been shown to be futile because they did not consider the periphery nor the chicanery of European statesmen. They were predicated upon a belief that the world leaders were sincere in their desire for peace—and it is sad but true that such is not the case. In other words, the Wilson theories that were built up into a supergovernment to be called the League of Nations overlooked the element of human fallibility.

It requires only a brief review of the history of the League of Nations to reveal the definite conclusion that there is an absolute lack of sincerity on the part of the European statesmen. Each one has been concerned only with gains and advantages accruing to his own nation. His actions have been permeated to the core with selfishness, sometimes aggravated with desires for personal distinction. The league fell down in dealing with Russia's Stalin and Germany's Hitler. It took a mighty flop in the movement to check Italy's Mussolini in Ethiopia. Having flattened out, none of the three above mentioned has any respect for the league authority. When you add to this the absolute dismissal of the league as a world influence as was done by Japan, you have less than nothing left.

Mussolini said the other day that in order to straighten out the European tangle it would be necessary to wipe out all of the "Wilsonian illusions." He could have referred only to the Wilsonian slogan upon which we entered the World War, namely, the "war to make the world safe for democracy." Later, it will be remembered, the World War was "the war to end war." Neither of these slogans bore fruit. Each was an illusion, a dream of world peace held by a great man whose only weakness in assuming world leadership was that he trusted the American people, to arrive at a sound conclusion and stick to it.

I am not prepared to say that the Wilson policies led us in a wrong direction. The fact remains, however, that the war that was to make the world safe for democracy led directly into destruction of democracy and the establishment of fascism and communism in various parts of the world as an important factor in the government of peoples.

All of this, of course, was not visible nor predictable at the time the policies were initiated. It is all too plain now, however, and that is why President Roosevelt can very well be governed in his new move with the Pan-American. He can proceed upon a Pan-American basis with at least a hope of success because it is quite apparent that the Americas, North and South, can protect themselves if arrangements for prevention of war relate only to the western hemisphere. International affairs will have to be considered, obviously. But among those authorities with whom I have talked about this problem, there seems to be little doubt that if the idea of collectivist action, first enunciated in the Wilson policies—is to avail anything, it must be applied not to the world but to a section of the world.

I noted in the official agenda, the program outline of the Buenos Aires conference, that no reference at all was made to the Monroe doctrine. Apparently, that course had to be followed. The Monroe doctrine is a ticklish matter among our neighbors to the south. Frankly, they do not like it.

Considering all of the factors involved in the Monroe doctrine, there seems no conclusion ahead but eventual abandonment of that pronouncement. When I say that, I do not mean that the principles of the Monroe doctrine need be thrown into the ocean. Yet, the name has been the focal point around which much antagonism has been built up and the romantic Latin blood of South America can hardly be expected ever again to subsist on the Monroe doctrine by which that continent is to be ruled. What, then, is the course? The Monroe doctrine, whether the United States in a position where it is made to appear as boss. No nation of people ever being bossed. So, if the Buenos Aires conference is to result in definite understanding by which the peoples of the western hemisphere are welded together in an effective group, some understanding of the evolved which will replace the Monroe doctrine in the direction being followed by President Roosevelt. Apparently, he is willing to subordinate the Monroe doctrine and concede to those other peoples on behalf of the United States the end of our world's lordship.

They All Advertise!

A hen is not supposed to have
Much common sense or tact,
Yet every time she lays an egg
She cackles forth the fact.

The mule, the most despised of all,
Has a most persistent way
Of letting folks know he's around
By his insistent Bray.

The busy little bees they buzz,
Bulls bel'ow and cows moo,
The watchdogs bark, the geanders quack,
And doves and pigeons coo.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks,
Pigs squeal and robins sing,
And even serpents know enough
To hiss before they stidg.

But man, the greatest masterpiece
That Nature could devise,
Will often stop and hesitate
Before he'll advertise.

Of What and When
Three-fourths of all deaths from heart disease occur after 60; nine-tenths from cancer after 45. BUT three-fifths of the tuberculosis deaths occur before 45. This means broken homes and orphaned children. Christmas Seals fight tuberculosis the year around throughout Wisconsin.

Working on the theory that a hunter should pay admission to the fields on which he shoots just as if he were going to a football game, farmers of six Ohio districts cooperating with their State Conservation Division, established pay as you shoot preserves, with season fees ranging from $2 to $4. It was reported that some 6,000 hunters rushed to take up rights to hunt. This eliminates animosity between farmers and hunters.

DO FARMERS WANT COLD STORAGE LOCKER PLANTS?

The Department of Agriculture and Markets, Madison, Wisconsin, is interested in knowing what interest, if any, Washington county farmers may have in community cold storage locker plants. Iowa has perhaps better than 75 such refrigeration plants in operation. Most of these plants have three refrigeration rooms and a small office. There is a chilling room carrying a temperature around 20 to 30 degrees F.

In this room the carcass of the butchered animal is thoroughly chilled. When chilled it is cut into the desired sized cuts, wrapped in water proof parchment paper, labeled and placed into a basket or hopper and transferred into the fast-freezing room carrying a temperature of about 5 degrees below zero. When frozen solid it is removed into the third room where the meat is placed into the individual lockers. This room carries a temperature from 10 degrees to 12 degrees F.

The lockers are of a size suitable to the average farmer's needs. These lockers are rented to the farmer at about $10.00 per year. The farmer carries the key and may get his meat at any time during the hours when the plant is open.

Fruits and vegetables may also be frozen to very good advantage. While in Iowa a few weeks ago checking on some of these plants, members of the state department saw strawberries packed in June, 1935, in very good condition and strawberries of last June in excellent condition. They found very keen interest in these plants.

Poultry adapts itself very readily to freezing. It gives the farmer an opportunity to pack away some broilers for himself at a time when they don't bring very much on the market.

The department of agriculture and markets is assembling information on the usefulness of community cold storage plants. Any farmers, wishing further information may write directly to Madison or to the county agent's office.

CHRISTMAS PLAY BY RURAL PUPILS

The state-graded schools and the Washington County Teachers' chorus will present a program at the West Bend High school, Thursday, Dec. 17, at 8:00 p. m.

The children of the state-graded schools will present the operetta "In Quest of Santa Claus." The story centers around a little girl who is anxious to find Santa Claus, so starts off in search of him. The rabbits come to practice their Christmas hop so she asks them to direct her but they cannot—she had not been kind to her pets at home.

The Snowflakes come, but they cannot help her—she hadn't been friendly at school. The Brownies haven't her name on their Christmas list of good children. Because she regrets having been unkind the Spirit of Helpfulness directs her to an old stump on the way.

Finding the old stump she eagerly watches the Sunbeams frolic and the Tin Soldiers march, but they cannot help her. The Spirit of Goodwill then directs her a bit farther. Here she finds a number of beautiful dolls. Jane tells one of them to go to her little sister who has no doll. The Spirit of Unselfishness then directs her to the crossroads warning her against the Wangaloo, who is the Spirit of Selfishness and Cruelty.

Jane wanders into the cave and is horribly frightened. She tries to escape but the Wangaloo's hold her prisoner. When all are away and asleep the Spirit of Love enters and takes Jane. The two reach Santa's Court in safety, to Jane's delight. Suddenly the Christmas Star flashes before them and all bow in reverence as Christmas Day dawns.

The Washington County Teachers' chorus and the upper grades of the rural schools will be seen in a skit of pantomime and Christmas carols. At this time the following scenes will be depicted:

First: The amazement of a group of shepherds in the fields of Bethlehem upon seeing the bright star in the east.

Second: People coming from all around singing carols in adoration of the Christ Child.

Third: The stable at Bethlehem with the Christ Child, Mary, Joseph and the faithful who have come to sing His praises.

The operetta is under the direction of Miss Celestine Peaschek, who is also acting as pantomimist of the skit.

The schools will be represented as follows:

Barton—Goblins and Jane.
Boltonville—Rabbits and Snowflakes.
Pilmore—Rabbits, Snowflakes, Spirits of Kindness and Unselfishness.
Germantown—Brownies, Sunbeams, and Spirit of Goodwill.
Jackson—Brownies, Sunbeams and Spirit of Helpfulness.
Pilot—Soldiers, Dolls, Wangaloo and Spirit of Love.
Richfield—Soldiers, Dolls and Santa Claus.

Things To Consider

When Choosing a Bank

Safety of funds, naturally, comes first. Such factors as high standard of service to customers, courteous attention to every detail, a willingness to co-operate and discuss your money affairs in confidence are also highly important.

In choosing this bank as YOUR bank, you find these all-important points of service at your command. We invite your business on a basis of banking strength, good management, considerate and courteous service—always!

Prices of milk cows are likely to increase materially during the next two years. They will average rather high for the next four or five, federal economists predict.

Because of feed prices, returns from milk may be relatively low this winter. But average harvests in 1937 are likely to improve these returns and reduce costs, particularly in the middlewest.

The first shipment of Argentine corn to reach as far north as Chicago this year arrived there the week of October 25 and consisted of $3,000 bushels, according to a report. The cost of delivering the corn, including a tariff of 25 cents a bushel amounted to $1.01, will leave the Argentine farmers little as a profit for their effort.

NEW YORK BUILDS 1939 FAIR

Exposition, With Historical Background of 150 Years, Will Attempt to Answer Question: "Where Do We Go From Here?"

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

COMING events cast their shadows before. In long barn-like rooms with unfinished walls two hundred or more artists, designers, architects and their helpers are busy today.

From the ceilings hang flags, banners and bolts of cloth in bright hues and without apparent rhyme or reason.

The scene is the eightieth floor of the tallest structure in the world, the Empire State building in New York.

How exhibit buildings will be concentrated around the 250-foot Theme tower in the New York World's Fair of 1939, now under construction, is seen in the sketch shown here.

hattan as if they were upon a mountain top—and as far removed from all apparent association.

Building Fantastic City. In the late hours of the afternoon, when the sun has sunk low in the West, the shadow of the great building points a long black finger across Manhattan.

In carrying out the plan, the New York fair will pursue what is something of an innovation in international expositions. It is not going to permit exhibitors to be allotted to them in the zones in which their exhibits belong.

Green Pins Again. Fan-shaped avenues, all starting from the Theme Tower, will spread through the exhibit zones for the convenience of the visitor.

It will cover the largest area—1,216 1/2 acres.

It will cost more money than any other exposition—some $125,000,000.

Of the predictions of its sponsors are fulfilled, it will attract the most visitors of all the fairs the world has known—at least 50,000,000 they say.

Certainly the New York fair will be the most ambitious in scope and purpose.

"The theme," says Grover Whalen, its colorful president, "is the creation of a better and fuller life—the advancement of human welfare.

Purpose of the Fair. "All that has been learned, or discovered, or fabricated toward this end in the one hundred and fifty years since George Washington's first inauguration as President in the City of New York; all that Don't be a three-quarter wife!

The New York fair, looking over the past, will try to answer the questions: "What kind of a world have we built?" and "What kind of a world are we building?"

Exhibits Will Be Zoned. It is the intention of the fair-builders to show "the significant alliance between all the important contribinto a World's fair. There will be no main entrance, but through the nine entrances planned it will be possible for 160,000 persons an hour to enter the grounds.

To make it easy to reach the fair grounds, New York's new independent subway (which, out in Flushing, will be paradoxically EL-EVATED) will be extended two miles from the terminal in Kew Gardens.

An inspiring and picturesque scene awaits the 1939 visitor who approaches the grounds by water, and for aquatic craft Flushing bay will be dredged and improved.

Prevention of Horns on Young Calves Explained

In response to frequent requests, a county agent, in the Pacific Rural Press, gives the following directions for prevention of horns on young calves:

When the calf reaches the age from three to five days, clip away the hair from around the horn buttons to expose the spot where the horns will normally develop.

A man, apparently three sheets in the wind, strolled into a commissioner's office, bet $5 he could name 20 states Wilson would carry.

Oats, Barley for Calves In general oats are preferable to barley for growing calves if one must be fed to the exclusion of the other.

Large dairies use artificial pure cultures to give aroma to their butter in winter.

Best time to wean pigs is at ten weeks of age, says the bureau of animal industry of the federal Department of Agriculture.

During 1933, New York dairymen proved more bulls than did the farmers of any other three states.

Best Pork From Conditioned Hog

Animals Should Weigh From 200 to 250 Lbs., to Make the Best Meat.

By H. W. Taylor, Extension Swine Specialist, North Carolina State College, WNU Service.

Getting hogs in good condition for slaughtering is one of the main points in successful butchering.

Butcher hogs should be well finished. A well finished hog weighing from 200 to 250 pounds produces the most satisfactory pork for curing on the farm.

Smooth, evenly fleshed animals produce a better meat, and will cut up with less waste than coarse, rough, wrinkled, and flabby ones.

Hogs that are gaining in weight are usually the healthiest and will make the best pounds in shipping before butchering will not lower the quality of the meat.

The muscles of a thin hog are tough. They lack the flavor and juiciness found in a well marbled piece of meat.

Although hogs may be slaughtered at any age, meat from young pigs is watery and soft and does not have the flavor and keeping qualities of meat from animals a little older.

ALLISON OF IOWA

FIRST honors for "coming close" to the presidency, although he is minus even the standing of an "also-ran," must be awarded William B. Allison of Iowa.

Allison's doubtful honor came to him at the Republican convention of 1888, which ended finally with the nomination of Benjamin Harrison, later elected President.

Delegates to the convention had balloted ineffectually for several candidates when a four-hour recess was taken to permit a counting of noses.

New York state had been represented, however, by only three of its four delegates-at-large.

Subsequent events proved that if Depew had not balked, the conferring states would have nominated Allison and he would have been elected President in place of Harrison.

The ironical part of this personal catastrophe is that Allison's stature measured fully as high as the job demanded. He had moved out to Iowa as a young lawyer, served eight years in the lower house of congress and, beginning in 1872, was a United States senator from the Tall Corn state for an unbroken period of 35 years.

BRITAIN TRACES 1776 FAILURE

The British attribute their failure in our Revolution to the fact that, according to them, it was largely a naval war and the English fleet lacked its usual dash and enterprise.

The Titanic was sunk on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York on April 15, 1912, as a result of collision with an iceberg.

Two thousand, two hundred and twenty-three passengers and crew were on board, and of these 832 passengers and 685 crew were lost; 706 were saved.

HOW'RE YOU BETTING

THOSE loose old days, before betting was considered illegal, brought considerable wagering on the results of presidential campaigns—the amounts at stake frequently totalling millions.

It was back in that era, 1908 to be specific, that brokers making book on the election actually recorded 80,000 to 1 against the chances of one of the candidates.

That same campaign demonstrated that the professional odds-layers knew considerable about their business. In September, 1908, Taft was the 2 to 1 favorite over Bryan; by October the odds lengthened to 3 to 1 and on election day Taft's chances were rated at 8 to 1, with few takers.

Anyone who believes the professional wagers are infallible should thumb back the record to 1916 when it is estimated from five to ten million dollars changed hands on the result.

Wilson and Hughes were the leading contenders, with Wilson on the inside track because he was up for re-election. In September, 1916, the financial district in New York was betting 2 to 1 on Hughes.

Closeness of the contest, in doubt for days until California returns moved into the Wilson column, perhaps was excuse for the error in judgment by the financiers.

They may be wrong again in 1936 but perhaps it would be well for readers to confine themselves to freak bets, any at all are made. Perhaps the most ingenious of these occurred in that same 1916 election.

A man, apparently three sheets in the wind, strolled into a commissioner's office, bet $5 he could name 20 states Wilson would carry.

When the rush to take him subsided, the bettor, miraculously sobered, named his states.

IN THE CLASSROOMS

The beginning typing class has started to type business letters. Up to this time they have been typing single paragraphs.

The social problems class has taken up the study of community planning.

Miss Lea and a group of sophomore girls wanted to get some first-hand information about a lathe. One day last week during the noon hour, Mr. Furlong, the shop director, showed Miss Lea and the girls the lathe and how it works, and also the band and power saws and the jointer. He also showed them the fine articles of wood work that were completed by the freshmen and sophomore boys. Some articles that were completed were smoking stands, end tables, magazine racks, and radio benches. The lathe is a very important machine because it is used to turn out these small articles of wood work.

The geography class has taken up discussion on the surface features of the land. This study includes plateaus, mountains, and plains.

SPORTS

On December 1, the high school basketball team defeated the Fond du Lac Commercial school basketball team by a score of 24 to 8. The lopsided score indicates that the locals found their "shooting eyes" and expect to keep it up. Marx and Bartelt were high scorers for the locals.

December 4, the strong North Fondy team played on the local floor and were defeated in a thriller by a score of 14 to 15. The locals had an early lead and were ahead 11 to 4 at the half. During the second half North Fondy put on a short rally which brought them within one point of tying the score. It was a thrilling game from start to finish. Marx was high scorer again with six points.

The next game will be December when Brandon will play in the local gymnasium.

College Tries Liquorless Night Club

IOWA CITY... The newest educational experiment here at the University of Iowa is the liquorless night club. It was inaugurated in late November with a complete floor show of student performers, student waiters and student patrons. The idea upon which it is founded is "that students will have town entertainment and will remain off dangerous highways over the week-ends." Photo shows the "Silver Shadow" opening night diners.

GREENVILLE, Del. ... Ethel du Pont and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. (above), are going to be married next June. Their engagement was announced in late November by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont, parents of the bride-to-be. The President's son and the du Pont heiress good-humoredly posed for news photographers, striding up and down the sun room and seated side by side before the fireplace. They laughed each time they were told to look at each other... but refused to hold hands. "It is to be a small church wedding," says Miss du Pont.

A Paying Investment

A seven per cent dividend indicates good business. That's what the campaign against tuberculosis paid in lives saved in 1935 when the death rate was forced down from 37.5 deaths per 100,000 population to 21.9. Christmas Seals, that good investment, helped to bring this about.

Social Security

Act Explained

Beginning November 24, 1936, the United States Government set up a Social Security account for you, if you are eligible. To understand your obligations, rights, and benefits you should read the following general explanation:

TO EMPLOYEES
There is now a law in this country which will give about 26 million working people something to live on when they are old and have stopped working. This law, which gives other benefits, too, was passed last year by Congress and is called the Social Security Act.

Under this law the United States Government will send checks every month to retired workers, both men and women, after they have passed their 65th birthday and have met a few simple requirements of the law.

What This Means To You
This means that if you work in some factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office, or almost any other kind of business or industry, you will be earning benefits that will come to you later on.

From the time you are 65 years old, or more, and stop working, you will get a Government check every month of your life, if you have worked some time (one day or more) in each of any 5 years after 1936, and have earned during that time a total of $2,000 or more.

The checks will come to you as a right. You will get them regardless of the amount of property or income you may have. They are what the law calls "Old-Age Benefits" under the Social Security Act. If you prefer to keep on working after you are 65, the monthly checks from the Government will begin coming to you whenever you decide to retire.

The Amount of Your Checks
How much you will get when you are 65 years old will depend entirely on how much you earn in wages from your industrial or business employment between January 1, 1937, and your 65th birthday. A man or woman who gets good wages and has a steady job most of his or her life can get as much as $55 a month for life after age 65. The least you can get in monthly benefits, if you come under the law at all, is $10 a month.

IF YOU ARE NOW YOUNG
Suppose you are making $25 a week and are young enough now to go on working for 40 years. If you make an average of $25 a week for 52 weeks in each year, your check when you are 65 years old will be $53 a month for the rest of your life. If you make $50 a week, you will get $74.50 a month for the rest of your life after age 65.

IF YOU ARE NOW MIDDLE-AGED
But suppose you are about 55 years old now and have 10 years to work before you are 65. Suppose you make only $15 a week on the average. When you stop work at age 65 you will get a check for $19 each month for the rest of your life. If you make $25 a week for 10 years, you will get a little over $23 a month from the Government as long as you live after your 65th birthday.

IF YOU DIE BEFORE AGE OF 65
If you should die before you begin to get your monthly checks, your family will get a payment in cash, amounting to 3 1/2 cents on every dollar of wages you have earned after 1936. If, for example, you should die at age 64, and if you had earned $25 a week for 10 years before that time, your family would receive $450. On the other hand, if you have not worked enough to get the regular monthly checks by the time you are 65, you will get a lump sum, or if you should die your family or estate would get a lump sum. The amount of this, too, will be 3 1/2 cents on every dollar of wages you earn after 1936.

Taxes
The same law that provides these old-age benefits for you and other workers, sets up certain new taxes to be paid to the United States Government. These taxes are collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the U. S. Treasury Department, and inquiries concerning them should be addressed to that bureau. The law also creates an "Old-Age Reserve Account" in the United States Treasury, and Congress is authorized to put into this reserve account each year enough money to provide for the monthly payments to you and other workers as to receive what you are 65.

YOUR PART OF THE TAX
The taxes called for in this law will be paid both by your employer and you. For the next 3 years you will pay 15 cents a week, maybe 25 cents a week, maybe 30 cents or more, according to what you earn. That is, during the next 3 years, beginning January 1, 1937, you will pay 1 cent for every dollar you earn, and the same time your employer will pay 1 cent for every dollar you earn, up to $5,000 a year. Twenty-six million workers and their employers will be paying at the same time.

After the first 3 years—that is, say, beginning in 1940—you will pay and your employer will pay, 1 1/2 cents a year. This will be the tax for 3 years, and then, beginning in 1943, you will pay 2 cents, and so will your employer, for every dollar you earn, up to $5,000 a year. After that, you and your employer will each pay a rate of 3 cents, and finally, beginning in 1948, twelve years from now, you and your employer will each pay 4 cents on each dollar you earn, up to $5,000 a year. That is the most you will ever pay.

YOUR EMPLOYER'S PART OF THE TAX
The Government will collect these taxes from your employer, but part of the tax will be taken out of your pay. The Government will send from your employer an equal amount out of his own funds.

This will go on just the same if you go to work for another employer, long as you work in a factory, mine, mill, office, store, or other place of business. (Wages earned in employment as farm workers, domestic workers, and on a few other kinds of jobs are not subject to the tax.)

Meanwhile, the Old-Age Reserve fund in the United States Treasury drawing interest, and the Government guarantees it will never earn less than 3 percent. This means that 3 cents will be added to every dollar in the fund each year.

Maybe your employer has an age pension plan for his employees, so, the Government's old-age benefit plan will not have to interfere with that. The employer can fill his plan to the Government plan.

What you get from the Government plan will always be more than you have paid in taxes and usually more than you can get for yourself by putting away the same amount of money each week in some other way.

If you want more information write to the Social Security Board, Washington, D. C., or set in touch with the following office: Social Security Board, 211 West Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.
