FORMER KEWASKUM RESIDENT DIES

Word was received here of the death of Henry C. Bath, 63, brother of Louis, Mike and Math. Bath and Mrs. Mary Herman of Kewaskum, which occurred at his home, 1622 N. E. 2nd street, Minneapolis, Minn., last Saturday, July 24. Mr. Bath had been in poor health for the past year and one-half. He would have celebrated his 64th birthday Monday, Aug. 2.

Mr. Bath was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bath, pioneer settlers of the town of Kewaskum and later of this village, in the home now being occupied by Mike Bath. He was born and raised in the above township, on the Bath homestead, in which Math. Bath and family are now residing. He received his early education in the Holy Trinity Parochial school in Kewaskum.

Born in the town of Kewaskum on Aug. 2, 1873, the deceased resided there until 1905, when he went to Minneapolis. There he married Miss Anne Hanger on Sept. 15, the same year. She predeceased him on Feb. 10, 1930.

He is survived by two sons, Alvin M. and Carl J. Bath, of Minneapolis, and one daughter, Dorothy (Mrs. Emmett Germundson) of the same city. Mr. Bath also leaves five brothers and two sisters, namely: Jacob of Wabeno, John of West Allis, Math. of the town of Kewaskum, Mike, Louis and Mrs. Mary Herman of this village, and Kathryn (Mrs. William Stain) of Milwaukee; also one grandchild, Ronald Germundson of Minneapolis.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, July 27, at St. Boniface church, Minneapolis, Rev. Odilo Kahler officiating. Interment took place in St. Mary's cemetery, Minneapolis.

Mr. Bath had made many friends during the 32 years he resided in this vicinity, who will deeply regret hearing of his departure. We join with the members of his family, brothers and sisters in extending our condolences.

Louis and Mike Bath of this village, in company with John Bath of West Allis, Mrs. Wm. H. Stein, Mrs. R. Ragge and Mrs. Ed. Tobin of Milwaukee, spent the forepart of the week in Minneapolis attending the funeral.

MRS. LOUIS UBER DIES AT NEW FANE

Yesterday morning, July 29, at 6 a. m. occurred the death of Mrs. Louisa Uber, 71, nee Heffachmat, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Christ. Mueller, in New Fane. Heart trouble and complications, with which she had been ill for the past six weeks, caused her demise.

Mrs. Uber was born on May 31st, 1866, in Chicago, where she spent her entire life until seven years ago when she came to live with her sister at New Fane soon after the death of Mr. Mueller.

Deceased was the wife of John Uber, whom she married in Chicago. He predeceased her in death 35 years ago. No children were born to the couple.

Funeral services will be held tonight, (Friday) at 7:30 p. m. at Miller's funeral home in this village. Rev. C. J. Gutekunst of St. John's Lutheran church, New Fane, will officiate.

On Saturday morning the body will be removed to Chicago in Miller's funeral coach and in the afternoon a short burial service will be conducted at 2 p. m. (Chicago time) in the chapel at Graceland cemetery, where interment will be made.

Mrs. Uber had made the acquaintance of a wide circle of friends during her few years in this vicinity who will mourn her loss and join with us in extending sincere condolences to Mrs. Mueller and the bereaved survivors.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. John Mertes. We do not forget you, nor do we intend; We think of you often and will to the end. Gone and forgotten by some you may be. But dear to our memory you ever will be. Our lips cannot tell how we miss her.

Our hearts cannot tell what to say; God alone knows how we miss her. In a home that is lonesome today. Sadly missed by her husband, John Mertes and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harter and Mr. and Mrs. Nic. Schiltz.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned desire to express their heartfelt thanks in their recent bereavement, the loss of their dearly beloved wife and mother, Mrs. John Mertes. Thanks are also extended to Rev. Ph. J. Vogt for his words of comfort, to the ladies of St. Mary's sodality, to the pallbearers, funeral directors, and to all those who assisted in any way to lighten the load of sorrow surrounding the bereaved. Thanks are also extended for spiritual bouquets, to those who loaned cars at the funeral and to all who showed their respect for the departed one by attending the funeral.

Things That Burn Me Up — by A. B. CHAPIN

TWO CARS COLLIDE ON FOND DU LAC AVENUE

A loud crash was heard on Fond du Lac avenue last Sunday morning at about 7 a. m. when an automobile driven by July Weinberg of Chicago collided with that of Ervin Klem, who has been making his home on the Chas. Hagner farm in the town of Farmington, directly in front of Graf's drug store.

Klem, who does work in this village, was driving an Oakland coupe. He had parked in front of the Grand View Lunch Room, and upon starting out, made a U turn across the highway, when Weinberg, driving north in a Plymouth coupe, crashed into the rear right side of the Klem car, sending it up on the curb. Weinberg's car remained crossways on the highway.

Fenders and bumpers were wrecked and both automobiles were pretty well banged up. Neither of the men were injured.

WIN A FREE TRIP IN DAIRY MENU CONTEST

A magnificent 3,000 mile trip for two people throughout the most scenic and historical spots of the East is the coveted grand prize for the winner of the Wisconsin Dairy Menu contest. In this contest, which is sponsored co-operatively by the Wisconsin Press Association, the Department of Agriculture and Markets and the Wisconsin State Fair, the person submitting the best dairy menu will not only have this menu exhibited at the State Fair from August 21 to 29, but will be given a trip to Niagara Falls, New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Washington.

Throughout the trip, which will start from Milwaukee, the winner will be given a completely prearranged five day tour for two persons. All traveling will be done on the most modern Pullmans, and stops will be at first rate hotels. Hotel lodgings and meals have been included in the prize.

After passing through Chicago, the party will head for Niagara Falls. The Falls will be reached in time to see the illumination the first night, and the next morning will make a combination scenic trip which takes in every point of interest on both the Canadian and American sides of the Falls.

From here the tour will proceed to New York City where a comprehensive tour of the city will give the visitor a chance to examine upper and lower New York. After seeing the biggest city and the greatest port in the world the winner will go to the Quaker City, Philadelphia. Here a double tour of the historical and residential sections is offered, with a short jaunt to Atlantic City, the ocean playground of the East.

Finally in Washington the party will see all the famous and historic sights of the nation's capital. A personally conducted tour will include the White House and the government buildings. The business, residential, and embassy sections of the city will be visited. North from Washington the tour traverses rich farm lands, crosses the picturesque Alleghenies and reaches Milwaukee at the end of the fifth day.

MILLERS ELECTRIC STORE OFFERS UNIQUE BARGAINS

Millers Electric store is making it possible for someone to buy an electric range or refrigerator at their own price. All you do is go to Millers Electric Store, place your bid on a card, and deposit it before 9 a. m., August 4th. At that time they will determine who is to receive the range or refrigerator. This auction is being conducted in conjunction with the Nesco Electric Roaster demonstration. The cooking school is to be conducted by one of the factory's home economists.

Remember the date, Wednesday, August 4th. See ads elsewhere in this issue.

LOCAL OPTOMETRIST ADDS EQUIPMENT

On Wednesday, July 21st, Wm. Endlich, local optometrist, received a hydraulic refraction chair, which he was fortunate in winning at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Optometrists held at Hotel Schroeder, Milwaukee, on June 20 to 22. The chair is a valuable piece of equipment and is valued at about $250. It has many adjustments which makes its use very efficient.

Mr. Endlich the past few months has fitted up an optical room in the Endlich Jewelry Store, and also added other equipment which places him in a position to give very efficient optometrist service to the general public.

If there is anything the matter with your eyes, or you think there is anything the matter with them, just drop in at Endlich's and he will gladly serve you in an up-to-the-minute manner.

SIX INJURED IN CRASH NEAR HERE

Six people were injured, none seriously, in an automobile collision about a mile south of Kewaskum, on Highway 55, last Sunday evening, July 24, at about 11 p. m.

Those injured were Mr. and Mrs. James Emmer, town of Kewaskum, Miss Evelyn Weinert, aged about 21, who resides with the Emmers, Miss Scheid, aged 10, of Chicago, who is visiting at the Emmer home, A. Edward Mayer, Kaukauna, and S. J. Landerman, Kaukauna. All received numerous minor cuts and bruises and were badly shaken up. Mr. Emmer was most seriously injured with a possible skull fracture and several deep gashes about the body. Mr. Landerman also sustained a severe bump on the right side of his forehead. All were sore and stiff after their experience.

Mr. Emmer, owner and driver of one car, a Willis-six sedan, his wife and the Misses Weinert and Scheid, were returning home from a visit. Mr. Mayer, driving a Ford V-8, 1937 model coach and his passenger, Mr. Landerman, traveling north, were en route to their home at Kaukauna from Chicago. Upon arriving at what is familiarly known as the Jas. Bruessel crossing, the Kaukauna men noticed the Emmer car coming out of the S. road to cross the highway. Apparently thinking that Emmer would stop before entering the thoroughfare, Mayer did not slow down. However, Emmer failed to see the oncoming car and drove onto the highway. Mayer immediately applied the brakes, but too late, the crash could not be avoided, and his car rammed into the Emmer machine on the driver's side with terrific compact directly where the driver's seat is situated. Both cars remained upright but the occupants were tossed about.

The entire front of the Ford V-8 was pushed in, one window was shattered and the top right side was dented. The Willis was badly damaged on the driver's side and all four of the side windows were broken. Both cars were brought to the Rex Garage here.

After being examined by a local physician, the Emmer party was taken to their home where Mr. Emmer was still confined to his bed on Monday.

BASEBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE SATURDAY

On Saturday afternoon, July 31, there will be a baseball game on the local field between the Briggs-Stratton team of Milwaukee and a home talent team of Kewaskum players picked from the Indians and city teams. These teams have played a series of games each season for several years past and will renew the feud Saturday. Any other home players desiring to participate are invited to be present. There will be no admission charge and all fans are urged to come and witness the contest. Game starts at 2:15 p. m.

PLAY BALL AT FOND DU LAC NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Kewaskum village baseball team will again play an out of town game next Sunday, Aug. 1, when it meets the strong Fond du Lac line on the spacious Lakeside park diamond in that city. Dressing headquarters and showers will be at the Hotel Retlaw. A very large crowd is expected to attend the game. Be there too, on the cool shores of Lake Winnebago, and see a good ball game. These teams have split even in two games thus far and the locals want this game. Be there a routin!

PURCHASES PROPERTY

A deal was closed last week whereby Harvey Backhaus of the town of Kewaskum purchased the Kludt residence and property on First street in this village from the three Kludt children, Mrs. Byron Brandt, Nettie and Johnnie. The home is at present being occupied by Herman Simon and family.

APPLICATION

The following application for amendment of contract motor carriers license will be heard by the state public service commission at 9 a. m. Tuesday, Aug. 3, at the county court house, Milwaukee: LC 12406-G. W. and William Foerster, d-b Foerster Bros., R. 3, Washington county; Assignment of LC-2846 by Arthur H. Nohr Jr. (Rev. App. N. 1: Milk from the Producers Consumers Co-op., Jackson, to Milwaukee).

PEACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH

No Sunday school the first three Sundays in August. No worship service Sunday, Aug. 1st. There is a possibility the Rev. John Voeks of Palestine, Illinois, will preach on either the second or third Sunday in August. Watch the Statesman for announcement. On the Sundays when there will be no services in our church be sure to attend services elsewhere.

EMERGENCY OPERATION

Adeline Voim, aged 9, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Voim of Kewaskum, route 3, underwent an emergency operation for the removal of her appendix at St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, last Sunday evening.

TO DEVELOP KETTLE MORAINES STATE PARK

The development of the proposed Kettle Moraine recreation area in the southeastern part of the state, part of which is located in the vicinity of Mauthe lake (Moon lake), town of Auburn, was expected to get under way soon following the approval by Governor LaFollette of a bill appropriating $75,000 annually to the state conservation commission.

The measure made the appropriation for the purpose of developing state forest lands, parks and soil erosion projects in 17 Wisconsin counties.

The annual appropriation is to be used for purchases in Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Outagamie, Manitowish, Calumet, Sheboygan, Dodge, Washington, Ozaukee, Dane, Jefferson, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Rock, Walworth, Racine, and Kenosha counties.

Explaining the bill, H. W. MacKenzie, state conservation director, said the area represented by these counties, which are heavily populated, "has been paying a large percentage of the forestry taxes and should have some return."

"We will now enable the people of these counties to get acquainted with our forestry work," he said. "They will soon have state forest lands in their own districts."

"The authority to purchase in those counties will enable the state to preserve many tracts of timber which remain from earlier days. These will be left for all time and it is vitally essential that we keep our trees or Wisconsin eventually will become a desert."

Surveys of the counties included in the district will get under way soon and the commission will formulate further plans within the next month, it was said. Mr. MacKenzie warned that the program will be begun slowly, however, and county officials need not expect land purchases immediately.

Other phases of conservation work, particularly soil erosion, will get equal attention with forestry, he said.

SCHOOL BOARD PROCEEDINGS MUST BE PUBLISHED

A new law passed by the 1937 state legislature in June provides that "the proceedings of all school boards... including a statement of all receipts and expenditures, shall be printed and published within thirty days after the annual school meeting in a newspaper having a general circulation in the school district or in such manner as the board shall direct. This act shall take effect upon passage and publication."

The act is now chapter 289 of the Wisconsin statutes, having been published in the official state paper on June 26.

B. J. HUSTING RENOMINATED BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

President Roosevelt has renominated Bertold J. Husting of Mayville as United States district attorney for the Eastern Wisconsin district. Mr. Husting has served as federal attorney in Milwaukee for the last four years. He was previously appointed by the president.

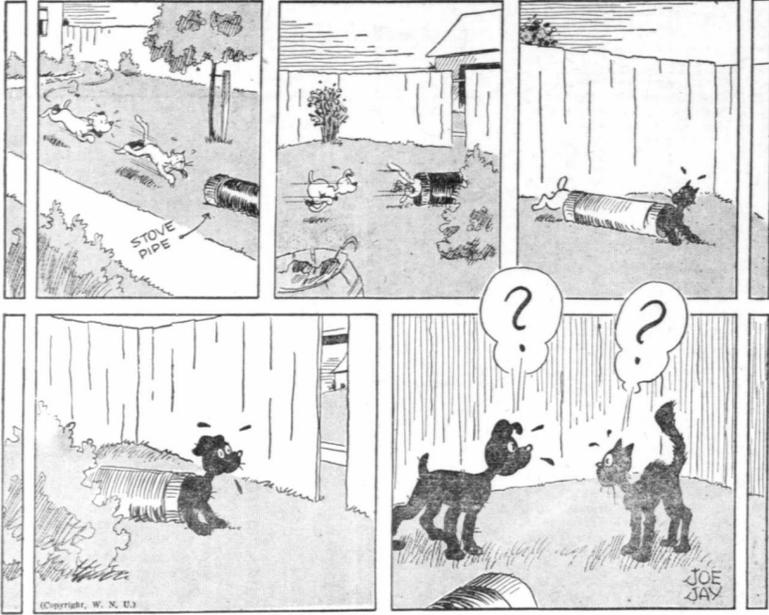

Mr. Husting is a relative of Mrs. Catherine Harter of this village, and is a brother of the late United States Senator, Paul O. Husting of Mayville, who was active in the Democratic party prior to his first appointment.

WEST BEND LAW OFFICES MOVED TO NEW LOCATION

Schloemer and Stoltz, West Bend attorneys, who have had their law offices in the Dr. A. Carl Marth building, wish to notify the public that they have moved their office to the second floor of the West Bend Pilot building on Main street. The firm has leased the quarters formerly occupied by the West Bend Building and Loan Association and the Community Credit Bureau, Inc. The need for larger quarters made necessary the change of location. The firm is composed of Attorneys C. J. Schloemer and R. J. Stoltz.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Semi-Nude Fashions.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Clothes may not make the man, but leaving them off certainly makes him foolish. And that goes double for the women. Hence arises the present-day delusion that going about dressed at half-mast enhances the attractiveness of the average adult? Our forbears of the Victorian era wore too much for health or happiness or cleanliness. But isn't it worse to offend the eye all through the lingering summer by not wearing enough to cover up the blotches, the blemishes, the bulges and the blots that come with maturity? Sun baths should be taken on a doctor's prescription, not at the corner of First and Main.

Women old enough to know better are the worst offenders, seems like. If only they'd stop to consider that the snail, which is naked, would lose in any beauty contest against the butterfly, which wears all the regalia the traffic will stand! But even though it's for their own good, you can't tell 'em. If somebody started the fad of going at the game while practically nude, inside of two weeks mumblebeep would be the national pastime—until somebody else thought up a game to be played by folks without a stitch on. Or anyhow, just a stitch here and there.

Doctoring Movie Scripts. USUALLY they lay these yarns on Mr. Sam Goldwyn, who thrives upon them and goes right on turning out successes, his motto being, "What's grammar as between friends so long as the box office shows results?" But, for a change, this one is ascribed to another producer, who proudly describes himself as a self-made man, which, according to his critics, is relieving the Creator of a considerable responsibility and putting the blame where the blame belongs. They also say no self-made man should stop with the job only partly finished. But then Hollywood is full of parties trying to push Humpty Dumpty off the wall.

As the tale runs, this gentleman entered the conference chamber at his studio and as, with a kingly gesture, he laid down a fat sheaf of typewritten pages, said to the assembled intellects of his staff: "Jumpmen, in all my experience in the picture business this is what you might call unique. Here is absolutely, positively the only perfect script I have ever read in my entire life. I tell you that before we start altering it."

Strikes Versus Wars.

DID you ever notice how like a war is a strike? The operator and his operatives are the shock troops that suffer the heaviest casualties. The owner risks his profits and perhaps his market and sometimes his plant. The worker gives up his wages, frequently his job, occasionally his life.

Stockholders see dividends vanishing and investments shrinking. Citizens see their communities disrupted. Women and children go on short rations, many a time go actually hungry. For, as in a war, the innocent non-combatants bear most grievous burdens. Those who really garner in the spoils—professional agitators; financial buzzards eager to seize on bankrupted industries; lawyers with their writs and their injunctions; imported thugs masquerading, for one side or the other as honest mechanics—these might be likened to stay-at-home diplomats and profiteers and hired mercenaries who induce friendly nations to turn enemies so they may gain their own selfish ends.

Crater Lake in Oregon
Crater Lake in Oregon has the most romantic geologic history of any lake in the United States. Its rim was once the base of a volcanic mountain which collapsed and sank into the earth. Later it cooled, springs came out of the sides, snow collected and it filled with water. It is 6 miles in diameter and contains the bluest water known to exist naturally today. There is no outlet and no streams running into it and yet the water is always fresh.

The Tailor Bird
One of the most common and noisier inhabitants of the gardens of India is the well-known tailor bird, so-called because it actually sews its nest together with thread from cobwebs, cocoon silk of caterpillars or any vegetable fibers or bits of string which may be within reach.

- Answers
1. A census of population was taken in this country in 1930 and the next will be taken in 1940. Any other figures that may be given are simply estimates. The United States had a population of 122,775,046 in 1930; the estimated population on July 1, 1935, was 127,521,000, showing an increase of nearly five millions in five years.
 2. The world's longest air line is that between Amsterdam, Holland, and the Dutch East Indies, 9,000 miles away. There are two departures weekly at each end of it.
 3. The eugenics department of the Carnegie institution estimates that 30,000,000,000 people have lived since the beginning of recorded history, some 6,000 or 7,000 years ago.
 4. For Cuba, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Colombia and San Salvador. This coinage totaled 72,180,449 pieces.
 5. In 1907 Selig opened the first California studio in Los Angeles. The first picture was the "Count of Monte Cristo" in 1,000 feet. Soon after that time other motion picture studios in New York opened California studios.
 6. More plant and animal life per square mile is found in the cold waters of the temperate and frigid zones than in the ocean waters of the tropics.

Past the Prime
WHEN Dean Inge entered his seventh decade he quoted the following maxims for old people:
The good man feels old age more by the strength of his soul than by the weakness of his body.—Sir Thomas Overbury.
But go thou thy way till the end be; for thou shalt rest, and stand in thy lot at the end of the days.—Daniel.
But at my back I always hear Time's winged chariot hurrying near.
And yonder all before us lie Deserts of vast eternity.—Andrew Marvell.

AROUND the HOUSE

- Removing Water Spots.—Equal amounts of turpentine and linseed oil mixed together will remove the white spots from furniture, caused by water.
- The Measuring Cup.—Grease the measuring cup before measuring sirup or molasses and the ingredients will not stick to the cup.
- Burnt Sauscans.—If the bottom of a saucepan is burnt, sprinkle salt over it and leave for an hour or two. Then add a little water, rub well, and when washed out the marks will have gone.
- For Washing Brooms.—Allow two tablespoons of ammonia to half a gallon of water, which should never be too hot. Speed is essential as the glue which holds the bristles in place will melt if allowed to rest in the water for long. Rinse the brooms in clear cold water and hang up to dry. Never allow a broom to rest on its bristles on the floor. Hooks should be high enough for the bristles to clear the floor.
- Turnip Patties.—Turnips can be made into little cakes if they are mashed, thoroughly drained, and then seasoned with salt, pepper and cayenne, and bound with beaten egg-yolk. When the mixture has got quite cold, divide it into small balls, coat these with egg and bread-crumbs, and fry them in a golden brown in hot fat. Serve garnished with lettuce.
- Washing Spinach.—When washing spinach, place a generous pinch of salt in the water to make the sand sink to the bottom.
- Sauce for Meats.—For a tasty and delicious sauce to serve with meats, mix one cup of sauce, 1/2 cup horse-radish and 1/2 cup whipped cream.
- Maple Mousse.—One cup of syrup, whites of two eggs, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 1/2 cup salt. Bring syrup to the boiling point and pour in a thin stream the whites of eggs beat until stiff. Whip cream until firm and pack in eight parts sea salt and three ice cream salts and mix. Scrape mixture over sides of freezer two or three times during the freezing to make sure of freezing.
- Shade for Ferns.—Erase a nasty light well-drained plant of ferns. They thrive in partial shade.

Why MORE FARM TRACTORS ARE EQUIPPED WITH FIRESTONE TRACTOR TIRES THAN ALL OTHER MAKES OF TIRES COMBINED

Farmers KNOW
Ground Grip Tires
PROVIDE GREATER TRACTION
INCREASED DRAWBAR PULL
SAVE MORE TIME AND MONEY

NOW THE Amazing New Firestone
GROUND GRIP TIRE
THAT PROVIDES STILL GREATER TRACTION AND SAVINGS

FIRESTONE has done it again! All you have to do is to examine the amazing new Firestone Ground Grip Tractor Tire and you will quickly understand why it provides still greater traction, greater drawbar pull, and makes greater savings in time and fuel. The basic Firestone patented Ground Grip tread design has been retained, but the extra heavy bars of rubber are spaced wider and built higher. The tire cleans itself still better, providing much greater traction.

Farmers everywhere are welcoming this new tire, for tests show that tractors equipped with it consume up to 50% less fuel, as compared with tractors equipped with steel lugged wheels. With this amazing new tire you get up to 30% more available drawbar pull on dry sod — up to 40% more on stubble — and up to 50% more on wet plowed ground, than with any other tire made.

Only Firestone can build all this extra traction into a tractor tire because only Firestone has the patented extra construction features of Gum-Dipped cords which are stronger to resist the strain of heavy pulling, and two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread which bind the tread and cord body into an inseparable unit. The tread is made of specially compounded rubber which resists the action of sun, rain, and snow.

See this amazing new tire at your Firestone Implement Dealer, Tractor Dealer or Auto Supply & Service Store today. You will want a set on your tractor so you can make the savings that only Firestone Ground Grip Tractor Tires provide.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone, Monday evening over Nationwide N. B. C. Red Network

If you have not received a copy of the new Firestone Farm Tire Catalog, please send your name and address to The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, or Los Angeles, California, and a copy will be mailed to you promptly.

POOR EYESIGHT DRIVERS.—Would you drive without brakes, or speed at night without lights? You do just that when you drive with faulty eyesight, according to Dr. E. Mason of the Missouri State Medical association, who believes that 15 per cent of American motorists are unsafe drivers because of poor eyesight.

County Agent Notes

ARMY WORMS

Many sections of Washington county and adjoining counties are infected with army worms. They can readily be discovered in grain fields where the grain is lodged. In many instances twenty or more have been found per square foot of surface area.

It may be too late to do much to poison them in grain fields, however, corn and adjoining hay fields should be protected. After the grain is removed, the worm will travel to hay and corn fields.

The worm can be detected in a corn field by looking for it among the heart leaves. Sometimes it also includes itself in the axils of the leaves.

To protect corn and hay fields against an invasion of the worm plow a deep furrow around each field, throwing the soil away from the field to be protected. Poisoned bran or sawdust be spread into the furrow.

Next, spray the three or four outside rows of corn with a Paris green mixture consisting of one pound Paris green, 2 lbs. slacked lime and 50 gallons of water.

Farmers can secure sodium arsenite free from the county agent's office. This is a strong poison and when mixed with bran or sawdust is effective in killing the insects.

Poison bait for the army worm may be made as follows:
Bran, 100 pounds
Sodium arsenite, 2 quarts.
Molasses, 2 gallons.
Water, 10 gallons.

Old sawdust may be substituted for the wheat bran and whey for the molasses. If whey is used very little water should be used in moistening the mixture.

The poisoned bait should be spread at about 20 pounds to the acre. Care should be taken that the bran or sawdust is flaky.

WATCH FOR PINK-EYE OF CATTLE IS ADVICE TO STATE HERD OWNERS

Madison: Wisconsin farmers who have not made a practice of visiting their cattle out at pasture should do so two or three times a week in order to detect the presence of disease conditions, Dr. W. Wisnicky, state director of livestock sanitation, advised today.

The prevalence among pasture herds of a contagious disease called infectious Keratitis, or what is commonly known as pink-eye of cattle, has been reported by quite a few farmers this year, Dr. Wisnicky said.

Animals so infected become blind and starve if treatment is not given early. However, if treatment is administered promptly, complete recovery can be effected in most cases, he pointed out.

"Discovery of an evidence of this disease should be reported to your local veterinarian immediately," he cautioned.

DEMAND BANGS TEST RECORD

Madison: As protection against unscrupulous sellers, the dairyman who buys additions to his herd should demand an official record which carries a report of a Bang test that has been made within 30 days of the date of his purchase, Dr. W. Wisnicky, state director of livestock sanitation, advised today.

Owners of Bangs-free herds and herd owners operating under the federal Bang agreement complain to the department of agriculture and markets every day that they have purchased cattle thought to be free from Bang's disease only to find, on early re-testing, that the animals are infected, Dr. Wisnicky stated.

"Investigation of these reports frequently discloses that the cattle have been purchased on the verbal recommendation of the seller that such animals are Bang's free," he said. "These statements," he emphasized, "should be regarded as insufficient proof."

The state laws provide that the seller representing cattle as negative to the Bang test must transfer to the buyer an official Bang test record, he pointed out. Such records of recent test may be secured through the veterinarian making the test.

FARMERS TO BE HONORED AT STATE FAIR

Madison—In recognition of their outstanding achievements in farming and unselfish service in the promotion of education for farm youth, more than 100 Wisconsin farmers will receive medals and certificates from the Future Farmers of America chapters of this state at special services at the State fair on Governor's Day, Aug. 25.

Announcement of this precedent in State Fair history was made today by Charles L. Hill, chairman of the department of agriculture and markets, who expressed the belief that it would inaugurate an annual feature of the fair. The plan is being fostered by the department and developed in cooperation with the state office of the future farmers.

If you didn't attend the Indianapolis races this year, you will be able to see most of these same speed-mad motor maniacs at the Wisconsin State Fair on August 22, 23 and 29th.

FEW TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.—Japan has few traffic regulations, no speed limit, no ticket-fixing, and few violations of driving laws. Each accident is investigated and the driver responsible loses his license and goes to jail for a period in keeping with the seriousness of the wreck.

4-H Club Notes

4-H girls attended a judging meeting at the West Bend court house on Tuesday of this week.

The judging meeting was conducted by Miss Jean McFarlane, university extension on clothing specialist, and Miss Charlotte Clark, foods specialist. Canned goods, baked products and clothing such as children's garments, shoes, underwear and dresses were judged and discussed.

Judging meetings are proving to be of real value. As the 4-H girl becomes an excellent judge or learns the characteristics of perfect products, her ability to do fine canning, sewing and baking increases.

COUNTY FAIR NEWS FOR WOMEN

Fourteen more days until Washington County Fair! (August 13-14-15).

All entries in women's departments should be made before 5:00 o'clock, August 13th. The judging of foods and baked products will begin at 7:30 o'clock on the same evening. Other judging will be done on Saturday.

Junior Homemakers clothing should be entered at the West Bend court house on August 9th. It will be judged August 10th.

Premium lists may be obtained by writing or calling the county home agent's office at the court house, West Bend.

FARM AND HOME NOTES

Butter prices during the next few months may not average as high as during 1935, but except for that year they will probably be the highest since 1930, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The Iowa apple crop is estimated at only 45 per cent of normal this year.

The rat causes an economic loss in the United States of about 200 million dollars a year.

Exactly 210,379 pounds of butter, 49,090 pounds of cheese, and 1,240,523 pounds of dry skim milk were distributed to Kentucky needy in 1935.

Rhode Island consumes about 287,000 quarts of milk a day—and the state imports about 40 per cent of the daily requirement.

About 275 carloads of certified Wisconsin seed potatoes were sold outside the state during the past season.

R. M. Reinhardt of Waukesha is the president of the newly organized Wisconsin dairy goat breeders' association.

Poultry premiums at the Wisconsin State Fair have been increased from about $2,000 to $2,300 this year.

All poultry received in New York City must be inspected by city inspectors according to a recent bill by the board of aldermen.

The 1937 Wisconsin State Fair will open on August 21st with Veterans' Day and Bargain Day. All veterans will be admitted free to the grounds.

SAVINGS.. AND Confidence

It is our privilege to know many savers—young and old, men, women and children.

Somehow, it seems that as a group, they have a little more confidence than other people. Perhaps this comes from knowing that they can take advantage of any opportunities that may arise requiring cash. Perhaps they feel less anxiety because they know they are prepared for unforeseen trouble.

Or perhaps it's just because they see their way clear to the goal they have set... Whatever the reason, wouldn't you like to join them in saving—here?

SENATE KILLS COURT BILL

Votes 70 to 20 to Recommit . . . Elect Barkley New Majority Leader . . . Spanish War Enters Second Year

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

'Glory Be to God!'

DURING weeks, the scheme to add to the number of justices of the Supreme court finally choked its last gasp and left this world. On a roll-call vote the United States senate voted to recommit the Robinson substitute for the President's original bill to the judiciary committee. The vote was 70 to 20, the most crushing defeat the President's legislation has yet suffered at the hands of a house of congress.

In an agreement made at a session of the judiciary committee earlier, it had been decided to let the opposition senators write their own bill, an innocuous measure for "judicial reform" not dealing in any way with the Supreme court. Senator Barkley, the new majority leader, attempted to save the President's face by having the bill left on the calendar, but he never had a chance. When the roll-call came, even Senators Ashurst of Arizona and Minton of Indiana, two of the Supreme court bill's chief supporters, voted to recommit.

"Glory be to God!" said Sen. Hiram Johnson (Rep., Calif.) when the results of the roll call were made known. The applause that followed forth from the senators and gallery alike left no doubt that the veteran from California had voiced the sentiments of the great majority.

Low Interest for Farmers

BY A vote of 71 to 19, the senate overrode the President's veto of a bill extending for a year low interest rates on loans to farmers. It was a defeat even more crushing than the recommitment of the court bill, and made the bill a law without the President's signature, for the house had previously passed it by a two-thirds majority over Mr. Roosevelt's veto.

Senator Barkley made a half-hearted attempt to stave off the overwhelming vote, and the defeat was accepted by many observers as an expression of resentment over Barkley's having been elected majority leader instead of Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

Barkley, 38; Harrison, 37

SEN. WILLIAM H. DIETRICH of Illinois changed his mind at the last minute and today Alben W. Barkley, hard-fisted, blustering senator from Kentucky, is the majority leader of the United States senate, succeeding the late Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas. The vote was 38 for Barkley to 37 for Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

The conservative Democrats in the senate had been assured of 38 votes, enough to elect Harrison, on the eve of the secret election. But that night Dieterich, apparently under pressure from the Democratic party organization in Illinois, begged Harrison to release his pledged vote, in order that the President's choice might head the party in the senate.

The slim victory by no means patched the obvious party rift. Even the administration admitted that the President's Supreme court bill was virtually dead, even then. Vice President Garner visited Sen. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, leader of the opposition forces, and invited the opposition, which it was believed had enough votes to recommit the substitute court bill to the judiciary committee, to draft a new bill.

President Roosevelt then told Senators Barkley and Harrison at the White House that four measures "must" be passed before the January session: The minimum wage, maximum hours and child labor bill; the new AAA and ever-normal granary bill; the Wagner housing bill, and legislation to plug loopholes

We May Soon Hear Ant's Song and Growing Grass

Do you know that ants and spiders sing? That termites whistle?

They do, declares Jennie E. Harris, naturalist, in Good Housekeeping. We don't hear them because human ears are not attuned to these sounds, but if radio perfects its intricate apparatus, we may yet tune in on an ant orchestra, or listen to the rush of sap in the trees.

in the federal tax laws. Congress was all for quick adjournment, the President was told. The possibility of adjourning congress, then recalling it in special session in the late fall, with committees continuing to function in the interim, was then discussed, but what agreement had been reached was not announced.

A Citizen Takes His Pen

CRUSHING blow to the President's court program, delivered at the time it hurt most, was a letter written by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York to Sen. Robert F. Wagner of that state.

The letter, made public, revealed Governor Lehman's opinion "as a citizen of the state of New York" that the bill would be "contrary" to the "interests" of the people of the state. "Its enactment," he wrote, "would create a greatly dangerous precedent which could be availed of by future less well-intentioned administrations for the purpose of oppression or for the curtailment of the constitutional rights of our citizens."

Bloody Anniversary

THE Spanish civil war entered its second year. For the populations of rebel cities, the occasion was one for joyous celebration, with fiestas, bull fights and concerts in the order of the day. Gen. Francisco Franco, commander of the insurgent forces, publicly proclaimed it a "year of triumph." He ordered that all communications and public documents for the next twelve months be dated as of "the second year of triumph."

In the first "year of triumph," more than a million persons, including women and children, were killed. The insurgents claim to have taken 34 of the 50 provincial capitals of the country, and all of its colonies. They have captured six of the eleven cities of more than 100,000 inhabitants: Seville, Malaga, Bilbao, Saragossa, Cordoba and Granada.

The rebels lost little time in attempting to regain their losses around Madrid. Franco unleashed the full power of his main army of 150,000 in a drive to recapture Brunete and other suburbs of the loyalist stronghold; they were met by at least 250,000 defending government troops. Every weapon of war except gas was used. There was hand-to-hand fighting in the trenches and the greatest use of artillery since the World war as the fiercest battle of the Spanish conflict raged. The battle was opened by as spectacular aerial fight as the world has seen in years; insurgents were reported to have lost 27 planes against only four for the loyalists.

If there were any definite gains made in a week's fighting, they were probably on the side of the insurgents, observers reported, although the government estimated the rebels had lost 10,000 men.

Japs Maul U. S. Women

ASSAULT upon two American women by sentries in the Japanese embassy in Peiping brought vigorous protests, both orally and in writing, from the United States embassy. The two women, Mrs. Helen R. Jones of Detroit and Miss Carol Lathrop of Washington, D. C., were walking through the embassy when sentries charged them from behind sandbag barricades. While one sentry kicked Miss Lathrop in the side, another held off Mrs. Jones with the flat of his bayonet. When the women were released they were roughly shoved, Mrs. Jones being forcefully kicked from behind.

Lives in Tomb

That he will spend the rest of his days and afterward in the $150,000 mausoleum which he built as his tomb in the cemetery in Cairo, Egypt, is the intention of Traki Efendi Okasha, a wealthy Arab. He has installed electric lights, a refrigerator, a telephone and two bathrooms. The curtains draping the walls cost $2,500 each. Traki entertained lavishly in his unique home. He was once an actor and made his fortune from a chain of theaters.

Sino-Japanese Crisis

JUST after a verbal agreement between Chinese and Japanese military commanders had appeared to have prevented an impending renewal of the Sino-Japanese war, the Japanese government officially announced that heavy concentration of Chinese troops had been made at Peiping, constituting a direct act of aggression against Japan.

At the same time the Nanking government claimed that 17 Japanese troop trains, carrying 30,000 soldiers, were en route to North China from Corea and Manchukuo. Earlier, 12,000 Japanese troops were said to have arrived in North China to supplement the regular garrison of 7,000.

At Tientsin, Gen. Sung Cheh-Yu-ar, chairman of the Hopei-Chahar political council and commander of the Chinese forces in North China, had complied verbally with the Japanese ultimatum for peace, although he refused to sign anything. In a talk with Lieut.-Gen. Kiyoshi Katsuki, the Japanese commander, he apologized for the clash between Japanese troops and the Chinese Twenty-ninth army at Lukowkiao July 7, the incident which perpetrated the new crisis, and expressed the regrets of the Hopei-Chahar council. He said that he would dismiss several of his officers as a punishment.

Gen. Sung assured the Japanese he would evacuate the area west of Peiping, and would do his utmost to suppress communism and anti-Japanese activities.

Part of the agreement was that both Chinese and Japanese troops should be withdrawn from the walled city of Wapingshien, suburb of Peiping. But Chinese troops refused to withdraw when, they alleged, it became certain the Japanese had no intention of withdrawing, either. In the midst of many conflicting and confusing reports the outcome of any truce was problematical to say the least.

Europe Short on Grain

EUROPE began to worry about the possibilities of a hungry winter as early threshing indicated a serious grain shortage.

Germany's shortage was estimated at 3,000,000 tons. The deficit will be met partly with increased consumption of potatoes and sugar beets, and partly with cheap, plentiful corn from southeastern Europe. It is expected, even so, that Germany will have to buy 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons from other foreign countries. Experts estimated that the German harvest for 1937 would be 10 to 20 per cent below the average for the years 1930-35.

Poland, from which Germany has been able to buy grain in the past, will not be able to sell any this year, while Hungarian, Rumanian and Jugoslavian crops will be smaller than last year, because of drought.

It was believed that if the current drought continued the farmers of Great Britain would likewise suffer; rainfall in the past month has been about one-fifth normal.

Of the Baltic countries only Lithuania, it is believed, will have a crop equal to her needs. Crops suffered badly in Latvia, Estonia and Finland. Only Spain, in all Europe, over last year's grain harvest, appears likely to enjoy a well-filled bread basket.

De Valera Is Re-elected

IF HIS party, Fianna Fail, can keep in power that long, Eamon de Valera will be president of the executive council of the Irish Free State for another five years. He was elected to the nation's highest office by a vote of 82 to 52 in the dail eireann (parliament). De Valera, in favor of Great Britain, won the vote of the labor group, which does not endorse his party.

It was believed that De Valera would go ahead with legislation necessary to implement the new constitution approved in the plebiscite of July 1. He would in that case set up a senate and elect a president by popular vote, as the constitution provides. If De Valera is elected president, to serve seven years, political experts say he will virtually disappear from politics and his party will break up.

Static Wrecked Hindenburg

THE spectacular crash of the Zeppelin Hindenburg, killing 36 at Lakehurst, N. J., last May 6, was probably caused by an unseen spark of static electricity which jumped from the atmosphere to the frame of the dirigible. At least this is the theory of the board of inquiry which investigated the accident and reported to Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper.

The experts considered every other possible cause—fire, sabotage, brush discharge of electricity from sharp points on the ship, broken propeller blade, radio transmitter spark lightning and structural failure—and decided that their theory most nearly fitted the circumstances attending the disaster.

Inventor of Wireless Dies

GUGLIELMO MARCONI, who altered the lives of all of us when he invented the wireless, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Rome. He was sixty-three years old, had been in good health and was planning the construction of a new radio station in the Vatican at the time of his death. Premier Mussolini paid homage to the great inventor, kissing the dead man's forehead in reverence.

Washington Digest National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—Many times in these columns I have had occasion to write in praise of Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader in the senate. His magnificent qualities, his capacity as a statesman and the regard with which he was held by Republicans and Democrats alike were such that further praise from this pen would be of little value. Suffice it to say that in Joe Robinson's death the nation is the loser because "he fought the good fight."

But Senator Robinson's sudden death a few days ago has precipitated a political condition of gravest importance. Although none of us who knew him nor those with whom he was associated in an official capacity could have foreseen his sudden death, I think it is proper to say that the passing of Joe Robinson may have more far-reaching influence upon his country's history than all of his long and distinguished career in public life. That is to say, fate possibly has turned in this instance to the role it sometimes plays—the role of master strategist.

The question may be asked: Why does the death of one man become so important?

The answer is simple. Joe Robinson was the field marshal for the Roosevelt administration. Particularly, he was the field marshal in the greatest legislative battle to reach the floors of congress since the days of slavery, and this coincided with the daring adventure of an epochal administration.

President Roosevelt leaned upon Senator Robinson to put through the Chief Executive to appoint additional justices of his own choosing to membership in the Supreme court of the United States. He leaned upon the Arkansas senator for many other things as well, but it was to be the consensus of opinion that Mr. Roosevelt's administration may well stand or fall by the success or failure of his program to reorganize the judiciary of the United States. It seems further that if the President fails to obtain congressional approval for this plan which would give the President domination over the court system of the country, he will have lost control of the legislative branch of the government for the remainder of his term. Few Presidents have been able to carry out successfully without the co-operation of the legislative branch.

It is too early, of course, to say whether the death of Senator Robinson means defeat for the court packing program. Nevertheless, most of the astute political observers in Washington—indeed, many of the President's own party in the senate—believe that the passing of the Democratic leader was a fatal blow to the President's power in congress. This results from the fact that Joe Robinson was able to mold together many groups and cliques and hold them by the sheer power of his lovable personality in a cohesive, workable unit.

The country never will know how well and faithfully Joe Robinson fought for the President and his policies. I have said in these columns heretofore and I repeat that I do not believe Senator Robinson favored all of the New Deal policies, in his heart. He was progressive but he had sound ideas; he stood by the President and the New Deal with courage and capacity, but on many occasions, I have reason to believe, he fought for those principles because he believed he should either fight as a member of his party or retire. Further, he knew that if he would retire he would not have the opportunity nor the influence to persuade the radical wing of the New Dealers to propose reasonable policies. In other words, the late Democratic leader was attempting to be a leader in fact as well as in name and many are the indications where he was able to pull the theorists and the radical New Dealers back from the brink of political destruction.

Star Route Bill Vetoed

President Roosevelt vetoed a little known and little discussed bill of the other day. It was known as "H. R. 448, An Act to Renewal of Star-Route Contracts for Four Year Intervals." The title, of course, will mean little to most of those who read these lines. But this was a bill intended to do justice to those underprivileged classes about which Mr. Roosevelt has often spoken in his fireside chats over the radio. The men who would have benefited by this piece of legislation were the star route carriers of the mails—the service that dates back to the stagecoach days of America and the service from which originated the Postal department's famous phrase, "the mails must go through." The star route is the only means by which a good many thousand persons are able to receive mails on anything like a modern basis because this service reaches the out-of-the-way inland towns where railroads are not yet and possibly never will be in operation.

I watched this legislation go through the house without dissenting vote; I saw Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, attack the bill in vicious language and then I saw the senate pass it by a vote of nearly two to one.

In addition, I know that the representatives of these little known carriers (little known except to those whom they directly serve) had tried for a number of years to obtain a basis of pay that will let them live. They finally were able to convince Postmaster General Farley that unless they were paid more money the number that would go broke in carrying out their contracts would be amazingly large. I have not the slightest doubt that this group ought to be paid more money for the work they do because their present basis of compensation is shamefully low—so low that if they were members of a labor union, they would all go on strike.

No change has been made in the basis of compensation for the service since it was organized in 1845, except in minor ways. Three quarters of a century or more is a long, long time. The President's action in vetoing this legislation, therefore, is very difficult to understand. His action is made the more inconsistent, many persons believe, because the additional cost to the government would be insufficient to maintain the smallest unit of the hundred New Deal agencies which the President has created.

as unwilling and unlikely to see social legislation through the same glasses as Mr. Roosevelt saw the situation in the country.

The Van Devanter resignation gave the President an opportunity to appoint a new member to the court. It also gave the senate an opportunity to burst forth with expressions of its own ideas concerning the type of man who should succeed Justice Van Devanter and the senators were not backward in promoting the name of the Democratic leader, Senator Robinson. But Mr. Roosevelt thus far has failed to fill the vacancy, and this failure has been interpreted by the opposition among the President's own party as an unwillingness to select anyone but a radical for the highest court. In any event, those opposed to the court bill contend that the President's delay constitutes only another reason why he should accept "the inevitable defeat" of the court revision program.

When it became apparent that the original bill for six new justices could not be passed because the Democratic-dominated senate judiciary committee reported the bill with a scathing denunciation, the late Senator Robinson astutely offered a substitute bill in the nature of a compromise. This substitute bore the authorship of Senators Logan of Kentucky and Hatch of New Mexico. Even the substitute which provided for one additional judge a year until the Supreme court numbered eleven members has received the same bitter criticism that characterized the first measure. Many members of the senate say they will fight it as long as they would have fought the original because it will give the Chief Executive control of the Supreme court just as the earlier one would have done.

Frankly, the substitute appears to be losing ground because in the house of representatives the other day, Chairman Sumners of the house judiciary committee, a Texas Democrat, announced that if the senate should pass the bill and if it reached his committee, it would never be reported to the house. Mr. Sumners is a long time member of the house and a highly respected one. He dominates his committee. There were few who believed that, after the chairman's declaration, the Supreme court bill ever could reach the floor of the house.

There is yet another phase of this picture. I refer to the line of cleavage that has been drawn within the Democratic party on account of the court legislation. It was this about which Sumner spoke but which he never mentioned directly in his speech. He talked about splitting the Democratic party and that was as near as he ever got to saying that if the President forces the court bill through congress (which he might yet be able to do) there will result a Democratic party and a New Deal party.

Must She Wear His 'Ex's' Discarded Ring?

DEAR Mrs. Post: I am really worried about how I am going to handle a situation which I feel coming on. I mean that I am engaged to a man who was married, and when he became divorced, his wife gave him back his engagement and wedding ring. I believe from something he has said to me that he expects to give me this same engagement ring. I don't believe it possible that he would consider giving me the wedding ring although I don't know definitely, but I'll cross that bridge later. The complicating point is the fact that his first wife used to live here and went with the same people I do now, and they would of course recognize either or both of these rings. It is beside the question, but I want to make clear that I had nothing to do with the divorce; and marrying him was far from my mind until just recently. But how can I make it plain to him that I must not be expected to wear her rings?

Answer: I can't imagine that he would expect you to wear a stone that was hers without having it reset so as to be unrecognizable. If you have reason to suspect that he intends giving you this same ring, tell him frankly—and now—that it would make you very unhappy to wear anything so closely associated with someone else. As to the wedding ring, he would certainly buy you a new one.

If Garnish Is Edible, Go Ahead and Eat It

DEAR Mrs. Post: I am a teacher of home economics and recently one of my students called attention to the fact that one does not eat the slice of tomato or the radish or whatever may be used to garnish a platter. We would like to have your opinion.

Answer: You may help yourself to whatever is your portion of the dish proffered, even to the decoration, if it is edible. Most people would not consider a trimming made of raw beet or turnip edible, but if you like one of these vegetables, there is no reason in the world why you should not eat even such garnishing if you want to.

First-Names for Step-Parents.

DEAR Mrs. Post: A friend of mine is to be married to a widower who has a grown son, almost thirty. His mother died several years ago. My friend is wondering whether the son should be asked to call her "Mother" or whether it is a modern custom for children to call step-parents by their first names. She is almost twice his age.

Answer: If they are strangers he will probably call her "Mrs.," at least in the beginning. Later when they know each other, what he calls her will depend upon their affection for each other. In any case I think she must let him decide this for himself. While it is true that many grown sons and daughters call their parents by their first names, this familiarity seems less unsuitable to others when the step-parent is younger than your friend.

Making a "Fourth."

DEAR Mrs. Post: Two years ago I began substituting for a friend in her bridge club, the idea at the time being that I was to take her place just for a few meetings. She has been ill and away but is now ready to come back. They are all insisting that I must stay in the club, too, each one taking turns at sitting out during the games. I would rather discontinue this bridge club altogether, but how can I do this diplomatically without having anyone feel that I am dissatisfied with the arrangement?

Answer: Why not tell them that you would be perfectly delighted to be put down as a supernumerary and that you would come any time in anyone's place?

Telling the Newspapers.

DEAR Mrs. Post: May I announce my engagement in the newspapers, as I have no parents and am not especially attached to any relative whom I would like to have announce it for me?

Answer: According to best taste, you should write notes to all your friends, and that is all. At least it is not considered proper that a girl send an announcement to the newspapers in her own name. It would be quite proper, however, to have your nearest relative send a notice for you saying the engagement of Miss Mary Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, has been announced.

Informal Lace Cover.

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is a lace table cover at a six o'clock informal dinner proper table covering?

Answer: Yes, entirely so, if it is becoming to your room and to the things with which you set your table.

LABOR'S 'BATTLE OF THE CENTURY'

Between John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and William Green's A. F. of L. Broadens on All Fronts; Government May Intervene.

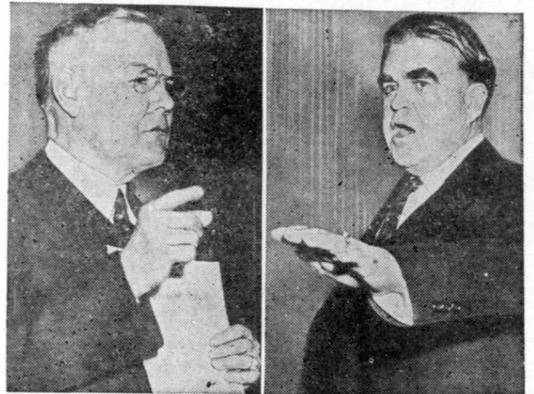

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

Bill Green, flashy stepper of the American Federation of Labor and the craft unions. And in this corner John L. Lewis, two-fisted mauler of the Committee for Industrial Organization and the vertical unions. The stake—the "ownership" of American labor organization. The fight—openly against John Lewis' C. I. O. When it began to recognize the C. I. O. threat to its supremacy, the A. F. of L. lost little time in raising its dues from one cent per month per member to two cents; the old rate has usually been enough to make both ends meet but it was not enough to finance the fight against John L. Lewis. Until recently the only funds in the C. I. O. war chest were those which affiliated unions contributed to it when money was needed to press its drives. But now C. I. O.

struggle is no toy conflict and will probably take a hand in it sooner or later. It hardly seems possible that the administration could overlook a struggle with so many and so broad implications. One solution which is reported to have been suggested by one high in administration circles would attempt to bring the two organizations together. The plan is to offer Green a government post, and let him be succeeded by George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks. Within the A. F. of L. there would then be formed a new division over the basic industries; this would be headed by John L. Lewis.

But one of the main issues of the present battle within the ranks of labor is over who shall dominate A. F. of L. policy—the craft union groups or the basic industries' unskilled workers. Lewis' bloc threatens now to get so powerful that it has started collecting dues of five cents a month per member of affiliated unions.

Of course there are national unions belonging to one organization or the other which have large treasuries of their own. The bricklayers' union is said to enjoy a balance of some $7,000,000, while the ladies' garment workers are $2,000,000 in the black. Lewis is said to have spent $1,000,000 in the steel workers' strikes against independent steel corporations.

What Employers Face. Employers are often faced with truly mortal problems as a result of the Green-Lewis friction. For instance there is the case of an automobile body corporation which was planning some major construction. The company's employees are dominated by the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. union. A C. I. O. union demands the work of digging the foundations. The contractor is afraid to begin work on the job for fear the A. F. of L. unions will not work on the superstructure. If he gives the foundation work to A. F. of L. men, he courts reprisals by C. I. O. automobile workers in the town. So the construction is not being done and nobody is benefiting from the employment it would provide.

Certain aspects of the rise of C. I. O. have reacted definitely to the advantage of the American Federation of Labor. Industries which in the past have been none too anxious will be able to vote itself into control of that policy. If the above plan would be successful, some agreement would have to be reached—and guaranteed—that would allow the two groups to share the power. But it does not appear that either wants to share it, and such a truce would be difficult indeed to effect.

Whether or not the C. I. O. is on the way downhill because of its failure to obtain written contracts in the strike against the independent steel companies is still widely debated. The campaign began a year ago, and by February some contracts had been obtained. The United States Steel corporation capitulated and signed C. I. O. contracts for its Carnegie-Illinois subsidiary's employees. This lent impetus to the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee drive until today it claims 260 contracts involving more than 350,000 steel workers.

Companies Woo Public Opinion. But the independent companies refused to sign contracts and are apparently getting away with it. Before the federal mediation board they opened up an attack concentrated upon Lewis, charging that any C. I. O. affiliate was irresponsible, threatened to break contracts and did break them. Examples cited included the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, with which General Motors and Chrysler signed agreements, only to be plagued with hundreds of sit-down strikes after the agreement had been made.

Companies lost no chances to impress the public with the violence on the picket lines that were established by C. I. O. unions. When there was resentment of the employment of vigilantes by local police and by the companies, the vigilantes were upheld on the grounds that C. I. O. had regular armies of its own which it continually threatened to move in upon strike areas.

The contention is made that with the failure of C. I. O. in the independent steel strikes, "Big Steel" and the automobile companies will refuse to sign again when their contracts come up for renewal. Predictions are also made that C. I. O. is due for another serious drop in prestige in its attempt to organize the employees of the Ford Motor company.

Despite its failure to date in "Little Steel," the C. I. O.'s leaders are determined that they are here to stay, and are going right ahead in their organization of other industries.

The U. A. W. A. is airing its complaints against Ford in a hearing before the national labor relations board. In Washington the United Federal Workers of America are trying to organize 800,000 federal employees. The drive is on in the maritime field. C. I. O. is seeking national organization of agricultural, cannery and fruit and vegetable workers. It is broadening out into transportation, textiles, lumber, tobacco and education. It does not regard the "Little Steel" failure (if indeed it can be regarded as such) as an important one.

Washington realizes that the labor

to deal with the A. F. of L. are now welcoming it as an alternative to C. I. O., of which they are apparently afraid.

Here's One Solution. Where local unions join the C. I. O., the A. F. of L. sets out to make up a rival union. This has happened in a number of cases. The A. F. of L. has been known to borrow employees from factories where its units are recognized to recruit new members in other factories where C. I. O. appears to hold a majority. As one faction or the other has sought to break picket lines, violence has sometimes occurred, with attendant injuries, both serious and minor.

Washington realizes that the labor

Protected by troops, workers return to jobs in an independent steel plant.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

MAYBE you can't trip off to the beach for a breeze, but don't let that stand in the way of you and comfort for the summer months.

Mary T., one of our readers, has the right idea about that. She writes: "We don't have money to burn but we are determined to make our home as attractive as possible during the summer. I selected the dining room for most of the improvements because it's the coolest room in the house. We've had a French window expanded into a French door so we can open the room right into the garden; not such a fancy garden, to tell the truth, but pretty in a tangled overgrown way. Our dining-room furniture is colonial mahogany—new, and we're very proud of it. The room itself is large with space enough for an old sofa and two mahogany Windsor rockers and an easy chair besides the dining furniture. We're keeping these because they add such a lot of comfort to the room, but everything had to be freshened.

"The walls were done over in white with light green woodwork and a very pale yellow ceiling. Then we got a green summer grass rug for the floor. The chairs in the dining set we slip covered in yellow rep. It took away the heavy dark effect of the furniture. The sofa and easy chair got slip covers, too, a fabric with green leaves on a white ground—washable and completely shrunken of course. The Windsor rockers have pads of this same cool looking cotton print. We used pongee dyed yellow for curtains, making them floor length and to draw back and forth on rings. The pongee hangs beautifully and seems so cool, yet it's bright and fresh looking.

"You've no idea how much we enjoy this room during the dog days. . . it's so simple and seems secluded yet beautiful. In the fall, we'll bring back out our old green broadloom rug from the cleaners and I'm going to have a flat weave mohair for slip covers on the sofa and easy chair, something in a floral with a coral ground. The dining chairs will doff their slip covers and keep their regular coral velvet seats and the Windsor will have coral velvet pads to match. That way the walls, woodwork and ceilings can stay the same for summer and winter, for we expect to go back to the use of summer rug and summer slip covers every season."

A Definite Lift.

Dining outside or dining in, a lady with a house does get tired of the same old table settings. It is a little depressing to think of the gigantic task of planning three meals a day every day in the year, but we've found that if the settings of these meals are varied and intriguing, a lady gets a very definite "lift" and her meals take on glamour and piquancy.

We don't know why, but summer seems to be the time when our "little gray cells" begin to perceive a new and unexpected ideas for table settings come natural to most of us. Just now we're terribly excited about some linen cloths and napkins we've seen lately in gorgeous audacious colors taken from Chinese paintings—mandarin red, old blue, moonstone gray and turquoise.

Even the most mundane of hashes, if set on white plates against any of these rich colors would bring zest to jaded summer appetites. These cloths are surprisingly inexpensive and are made even more dramatic by a simple band of white around their borders. We'd like them particularly with white pottery plates and cups and a dashing arrangement of the more flamboyant summer flowers. Perhaps you could mix black eyed Susans and baby's breath in a white bowl for a centerpiece on the moonstone gray cloth. Or for a really exotic centerpiece, try cutting madonna lilies very short and allowing their creamy blossoms to float on the water's surface in a low, square brass container—this would be lovely on the turquoise cloth.

If you have lovely, spiky zinnias, their colors will give you all sorts of new ideas with your Chinese cloths. We'd like the deep red zinnias in a blue container on an old blue cloth.

And, flamboyant dahlias will feel right at home if placed in exotic containers to grace any of these brightly colored cloths.

Modern Bedroom

A modern bedroom recently displayed in a nationally prominent furniture store has a tufted rug in beige with an unusual jade green pattern. The furniture strikes a new note in blond sycamore.

The Entrance Hall

An effective modern home designed by the prominent London decorator, Derek Patmore, has the rooms painted in a series of pastel colors—each of which blends with the others.

CORRECT FOODS FOR DIABETICS

Milk, Eggs, Fruits and Vegetables Should Be Basic.

By EDITH M. BARBER

AMONG the organs concerned with the digestion of food is the pancreas which supplies juices that aid in the preparation of all foods for absorption. Another juice, however, has a special function which controls the way in which carbohydrates are used by the body. This secretion is known as insulin. When its production is upset, the disease known as diabetes results.

There seems to be a hereditary tendency toward this disease, which, however, may be aggravated by bad food habits, lack of exercise and by overweight. It has been found that over 75 per cent of a group of a thousand diabetics were overweight.

Until the discovery that insulin could be isolated and given by the hypodermic needle, the diet for the diabetic was necessarily kept so low, not only in sugar and starch, but in protein and fat content, that malnutrition and sometimes tuberculosis as an after effect became common. Acidosis often resulted because some sugar or starch is necessary for the complete digestion of fat.

When insulin is used by the diabetic, practically all foods may be used, although the quantities of sugar and sweets, breads and starchy vegetables should be still kept low. The diabetic patient himself must learn to calculate the content of his diet by building it around essential foods, such as milk and eggs, vegetables, fruits and lean meats. Instructing the patient in regard to this is part of the treatment today.

Another reason for establishing good food habits! Avoid undereating of essentials and overeating on non-essentials.

Scalloped Cabbage.
1 head cabbage
2 tablespoons grated cheese
Cream
Salt, pepper

Clean and shred cabbage finely. Cook in boiling salted water until tender, five to eight minutes. Drain and put in baking dish. Add cheese and enough cream to moisten. Season with salt and pepper. Mix well and put in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) to brown.

Green Pepper and Cheese Salad.
Wash, cut into halves crosswise and remove seeds from green pepper. Fill halves with cottage or cream cheese which has been seasoned with onion juice, paprika and salt. Slice pepper halves into thin pieces and arrange on a bed of lettuce or romaine. Serve with French dressing.

Poulet Omelet.
9 eggs
6 tablespoons butter

Beat the eggs until very light and foamy. Melt the butter in a frying pan, add eggs and stir several times. Continue cooking over a low heat, pushing back the edges and letting the liquid and foam run down into the skillet as the omelet sets. There will be some foam remaining on top. Increase the heat, and shake the skillet until the omelet loosens from the skillet and is a delicate brown. Fold omelet with spatula.

Pin-Wheel Sandwiches.
For "pin-wheel" sandwiches, spread bread lengthwise liberally with filling, slice and roll tightly. Seal with butter, wrap tightly in moisture-proof paper, chill and slice. If bread is "crumbly," place on damp cloth before rolling.

Raisin Cake.
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup seeded raisins

Mix and sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream until fluffy. Stir in well beaten eggs. Stir in raisins. Add vanilla. Pour batter into two greased nine-inch layer cake pans and bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Croquets.
12 slices bread
6 slices cheese
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne pepper.

Trim crust from bread. Arrange slices of cheese between slices of bread. Mix egg yolks with milk and seasonings and fry in deep fat, 395 degrees F., until golden brown.

Leek and Potato Soup.
1 pound potatoes
2½ pints boiling water
Salt
6 leeks
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup cream
2 egg yolks

Pare and slice potatoes and cook in boiling salted water. Cut leeks in small pieces and add. Cook until potatoes are soft enough to be pressed through a sieve. Cream butter and blend in egg yolks and cream. Bring strained mixture to a boil and stir into the second mixture. Beat well and serve with small croquets, fried in butter.

Picture Frames Go Modern.
Once upon a time the picture frame was more important than the picture. Indeed it was the gilt on the lily. Present day trends in picture framing tend toward the severe as found in plain wood or in wood painted white. This tends to set off rather than to overshadow the picture itself.

Floors Need Attention.
Frequent waxing of the floors prevents the scratching of smooth surfaces and protects the floor coating.

The Two Classes of Overweight

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

YOU may read from time to time about the "different kinds of obesity-overweight," and if you are overweight you may wonder to which class you belong.

As a matter of fact there are only two classes of overweight, and while they have odd names their meaning is very simple.

The first class is the exogenous—"ex" meaning "out of," and "gen" meaning "beginning" that is, the cause of the overweight begins outside the body. Thus taking extra food and not taking enough exercise is the common or usual type of exogenous overweight. It usually comes on with the ease and contentment of middle life.

The second class is the endogenous—"en" within, and "gen" meaning "beginning,"—beginning within the body, which results from some gland disturbance or deficiency within the body. The glands at fault are the thyroid in the neck, pituitary lying on the floor of the skull, and the generative glands. Each gland has its own type of overweight but sometimes the overweight may be due to a deficiency in two or more of these glands.

When the thyroid gland in the neck is not manufacturing enough juice there is an increase of weight in all parts of the body. It is six times as frequent in women as it is in men. "The onset may occur with mental dullness, impaired memory, and obscure pains in the legs. As a result of this thyroid gland deficiency there follows an increase in the bulk of the body, with a firm inelastic swelling of the skin which does not pit on pressure."

Skin Becomes Rough.
The skin becomes dry and rough and wrinkles in the face smooth out leaving a childish or vacant expression. The mentality, speech and bodily movements become sluggish. Constipation is usually present and the rate at which the body processes work may be from 20 to 40 per cent below normal.

In deficiency of the pituitary gland lying on the floor of the skull there is sometimes a family tendency noted, and it occurs as often in males as in females. It usually begins in the very early teens just before puberty—the age at which girls and boys are entering into manhood and womanhood. Attention to this condition is first given because of the great amount of starch and sweet foods these youngsters can eat without having any disturbance in the stomach or intestine. They have a great craving for sweets and pastries. That these youngsters are going to be plump or chunky is evident even at this age. Fortunately the mental ability remains normal and there is no lack of alertness.

An X-ray of the skull may show changes in the gland itself or the structures about it. Late in the disease there may be eye trouble, blindness, headache or vomiting.

In this type of overweight there is a great increase of fat in the shoulders, breasts, abdomen and hips, while the forearms and lower legs are slender and hands and feet usually small.

In the generative or sex gland type of overweight, there is in the male wideness of the hips with also a great deposit of fat there. There is increased fat deposits under the skin of the chest, the abdomen and the hips.

Depends on Glands.
In the female there is lack of breast development and irregularity of the monthly periods.

When more than one gland is at fault such as the thyroid and the pituitary, or the pituitary and the sex glands, the symptoms will of course depend upon the glands involved.

In the treatment of overweight, as more than nine of every ten overweights got that way from overeating, cutting down on the food intake is the chief method of treatment if these individuals are to escape the dangers due to overweight—heart, kidney, and blood-vessel ailments. However, in addition to cutting down on the food intake these "gland" types of overweight need to take the special gland extracts under the supervision of a physician.

"Thus restricting the food or energy intake to less than the requirements of the body, and increasing the energy requirements by exercise, the reserve energy deposits of the body (where fat has greatly accumulated) are used to supply the required energy that is lacking in the food; thus, demands are made upon the fat deposits of the body, and so the fat is consumed."

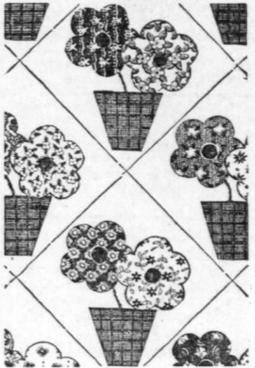

It would be well therefore if you think you are not the "common" variety of overweight (due to overeating and underexercising) to consult your family physician who by examination, metabolism and X-ray tests will be able to place you in your right class.

Thought It Paradise.
The Moors once inhabited Valencia, Spain, and to them it was paradise, over which they imagined Heaven to be suspended and that a portion of it had fallen down on earth.

Czechoslovakia Has No Sea.
Shakespeare, in one of his plays, placed the country of Bohemia on a seashore. The fact is, however, that Czechoslovakia of which Bohemia is the main province, has no sea.

Prize Applique Quilt With Much Variety

Here's simplicity in needlework in this gay applique quilt, Grandmother's Prize—they're such easy patches to apply! If it's variety you're looking for, make this your choice. There's the fun of using so many different materials—the pleasure of owning so colorful a quilt that fits into any bedroom. And if it's just a pillow you want, the 8 inch block makes an effective one. Household Helps

Do you know the proper thing to say when you sit on a wad of chewing gum?
If your suit is washable, here is the correct command—if you want to get rid of the chewing gum and not your garment:

"Bring me an egg white, some soap and some lukewarm water. Then stand back and watch me as I soften the gum with the egg white—so! And finally wash it completely away with the soapy water."

If your suit isn't washable, the fabric-saving element is carbon tetrachloride, which will remove all traces of stain.

The authority for these points of chewing gum etiquette is a new booklet called "Handy Helps for Homemakers," which has been prepared by a group of home economics authorities. This booklet is a convenient, compact handbook of practical remedies for the most common household problems. It is divided into four sections: laundering (which includes notably stain-removal formulae, but also detailed advice on the proper way to wash various fabrics); home lighting; heating, and cooking.

The writers of the "Handy Helps for Homemakers" booklet have confined the chapter on "Cooking" to an informative discussion of meat-selection rules, suggestions for improving actual cooking technique and a summary of the merits and problems of home canning.

A copy of the "Handy Helps for Homemakers" book can be secured by sending 5 cents to cover postage and handling to Miss Boyd, 210 S. Desplains St., Chicago, Ill.—Adv.

Greatest Salvage Feat

The greatest feat in salvage history was the raising of the Bayern, the 28,000-ton German dreadnaught, from the ocean bed of Scapa Flow on September 1, 1924. When the air locks went into action, after nine months of arduous preparation, they lifted the giant battleship from a depth of 120 feet in only 30 seconds.—Collier's Weekly.
