WILLIAM QUANDT PENED TODAY DIES SUDDENLY

Will am Albert Quandt, 63, well to- known merchant for many years in the village of New Fane, Fond du Lac county, died suddenly of a heart stroke while helping to haul in grain on the Feuerhammer farm near that vilage at 10:15 a. m. Wednesday, Augist 11. He died within a short time af er being stricken. Mr. Quandt, who owned the New Fane General store, which is at present being operated by his daughter, had been known to remark several times in the past year that he d'd not feel so well at periods but he did not consider himself ailing.

Born in the town of Kewaskum on June 3, 1874, Mr. Quandt spent a large part of his life there. Later he moved this village and 20 years ago went to New Fane where he has resided

He was married to Miss Emma Fick or Nov. 14, 1899, at Campbellsport, ho survives, along with two children. ora (Mrs. Alfred Firks), and Malinda (Mrs. Glenway Ehnert), both of New Fane. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Fred Backhaus, of the town of Kewaskum and three grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. from the house and at 2:00 p. m. Saturday, August 14, at St. John's Lutheran church, New Fane, with the Rev. C. J. Gutekunst officiating. Burial will take place in the congregation's metery.

Mr. Quandt wa's widely known throughout the entire community and all found in him a good and upright man. Hard work filled out most of his n. m. Dairy Queen days and the care for those who de pended on him was always foremost ir, his mind. H's family was attached to him and his memory will be keenly cherished. To them we extend our nonstrations be sincere condolences.

HEAVENLY DAYS FOR THE JORDANS

Marion and Jim-'Fibber McGee and Molly' to You-Hit the Top in Radio After Years of Labor, Love and Laughter.

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

• WHY don't you forget about that guy Jordan?" a suitor asked Marion Driscoll about 18 years ago. "He'll never amount to anything. If you marry him, you'll be living out of a suitcase all your life.'

That settled it. For there was nothing Marion Driscoll would rather have done for the rest of her life than live out of a suitcase-with her Jim.

It was a good thing for you and me, too. If this swell romance hadn't blossomed into happy and lasting marriage, we would have had to do without two of the most good-humored and welcome visitors who "call" at our homes-Fibber McGee and Molly.

Marion and Jim Jordan "lived out | for the one hundred twenty-second | of a suitcase" and worked like the dickens for a good many years be- his seeing service, and he was in a fore, as Fibber and Molly, they became one of the five or six top- signed. Meanwhile, was Marion, ranking radio teams. In the rural areas and small communities they rank first. "We've got a bigger audience than even Jack Benny has," is the way Jim puts it.

Fibber Born on Farm.

No wonder, either. They've always been "small town folks," even though they've lived in Chicago for a long time. Like Fibber and Molly, the Jordans themselves are as genuine as the eggs in a home-made cake. One indication is sufficient: During the leaner years when they sometimes worked for $35 a week, the Jordans and their two children -Katherine, seventeen, and Jim, Jr., thirteen-lived in an unpretentious residential district on Chicago's northwest side, where they had a lot of friendly neighbors, plain, ordinary folks like themselves. When they suddenly found themselves in the "big money" class at last, did they buy a fine mansion on the Gold Coast, with more servants than closets? They did not. They built a little seven-room house right in their old neighborhood; it was HOME to them, and that was important.

Fibber (or Jim, if you prefer) was and worked on it until he was twelve; he had seven brothers and sisters to help him out. Marion was a Peoria girl, the youngest save one of a family of 13.

An Agent Gets Fired.

Billed as a 15-piece ensemble, the company was literally that-a 15 piece affair-but there were only six people in it; some of them played several instruments. This led to complications.

An advance man preceded them on tour and arranged for their billing. When they arrived they usually met a stage crowded with 15 chairs and a manager stirred start. C Bell Syndicate .- WNU Service.

WOMAN, 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighing 225 pounds, consulted a physician regarding the best method of reducing her weight. Before putting herself under his care, she stated that she did not want to eat less food, hated exercise and so would do none of it, and insisted that she be allowed to remain in bed until 10 a.m. each day as at present.

As there are only three ways of reducing weight in the ordinary overweighteating less food, taking more exercise, and taking less rest during the 24 hours -the physician was about to dismiss the patient with the polite remark that as she would not follow any of the three

Dr. Barton methods of weight reduction, nothing could be done.

However, close questioning revealed the fact that the lady got a great deal of pleasure out of shopping; her hobby being the spending of every afternoon in the stores of a large city.

The physician then stated that he would allow her to follow her present habits and eat the same amount of food, if she would eat her heaviest meal-dinner-at noon instead of in the evening. She followed this advice and lost 7 pounds the first month, 5 the second month, 3 the third month and 1 the fourth month; a loss of 16 pounds in four months.

Exercise Requires Fuel.

Eating the heavy meal at noon, and the light or lunch meal in the evening caused a loss of weight for 2 reasons: (a) the exercise of walking about the stores actually used up some of the excess fat on the body, and (b) the light meal in the evening was so light or so poor in food value, that after it was eaten, there was not much excess food to be turned into fat during the "rest" period of the evening, and during the 12 hours or more in bed during the night. The 3 or 4 hours of walking exercise that this patient took every afternoon required extra fuel and the excess fat on her body was what furnished the food or fuel necessary.

Work Requires Energy.

"Muscular work has a far greater genuine, witty, and at all times effect in raising the energy consympathetic, surrounded by some of sumption (using up of fuel or fat) the funniest characters radio ever than any other factor." For inhas known. Fans have learned to stance, the average man needs 3,000 calories or heat units of food daily, and the average woman about 2,000. Marion says these candid camera shots of Jim and her are typical of a Jordan day at home.

It must have been a two-way mirranges. ror, for Jim Jordan decided the same thing.

Jim sang with a quartet which was rehearsing with the choir. They had their first date on New Year's eve. Marion can't suppress a little giggle whenever she thinks | was a doubting Thomas with a bit of it.

"His mother went along with us, and took him home afterward!" she laughs. Even after 20-odd years this charge still makes him hot under the collar. "Oh, here now," he objects. "Cut that out!" Then, with a grin: "Anyway, didn't you always bring your big brother along on our dates after that?"

For three years they courted before they were married, and for 19 years since. Before their marriage. Jim toured in vaudeville with a salary. Marion and Jim for eight musical act called, "A Night With months broadcasted two hours a the Poets." He sang on the Chautauqua circuits, and later started a concert company that toured the tank towns, an experience which may have developed some of the "tank town tourist" flavor which characterizes the McGee and Molly skits.

Coin Many 'Catch Phrases.'

You'll find no "mother-in-law" jokes on the Fibber McGee and "'Taint funny, Molly program. McGee!" Molly said, and that was that. And you'll never hear anything on the program that you wouldn't want your children to hear; Marion and Jim have children of their own. Don Quinn, who has written the Jordan scripts for seven years, has taken a lesson from the honest-to-goodness romance that has followed the pair throughout their married life. You will never hear any serious arguments between Fibber and Molly; it's very apparent that they love each other, and you love them for it.

Seldom has any troupe in the show business coined so many catch phrases that have become by-words throughout the nation. Among all classes of people today you may hear repeated almost any time Molly's "Heavenly days, McGee!" and "'Tain't funny, McGee!"; Fibber's "Dad rat it!"; the little girl's "I betcha!" and Grandma's "Hi, Skippy!" They're riding on top of the world right now, the Jordans. But would they quit if they could? "Just give me a chance," says Jim. "Boy, I'd like to go right back where I started. I'd like to live on a little farm by a lake and take life easy."

"Heavenly days!" says Marion. "You bet," Jim replies. @ Western Newspaper Union

erate pace, as much as 500 calories of food or body fat may be used up; walking a mile at a brisk pace or at a slow rate of running might easily use up 1,000 to 1,500 Many professional wrestlers carry ten to thirty pounds of excess fat because they wrestle 3 to 5 times each week (sometimes for an hour or more) and must carry extra weight to prevent going "stale." It is not unusual for them to lose 5 to 10 pounds during each bout, such is the effect of hard exercise in reducing weight.

Nothing Much to It.

It is all very simple. "The fuel for doing work or taking exercise must come from the food eaten or from the tissues of the body; if part of the fuel foods taken in are used up in doing muscular work, the excess food eaten (which would naturally be stored away as fat) will store that much less. When the food intake is too low to provide, the energy needed both for maintaining the body and for the work done, the body tissues will be called upon to supply part of the required energy and a loss in weight will re-

However, an important point about exercise in reducing weight is not fully recognized and that is that using the will power to take any exercise is a big step forward. It is no easy matter for the overweight to move the excess weight about; it means so much more effort than for one who is of normal weight. Then as the exercise becomes easier to do because of practice and because there is less weight to move, the overweight individual finds himself or herself gradually increasing the amount of exercise taken daily. A feeling of "lightness," of renewed energy replaces the "heaviness" of moving about not only during exercise but at other times during the day. As it is not much effort to walk short distances, go upstairs or perform household duties more of these little chores are done. This means more reduction of weight. Of course, just as the reduction of weight by diet, drugs, or gland extracts should be under medical supervision so should the patient be thoroughly examined before taking exercise and at intervals thereafter so that if there should be disturbances of the heart or blood vessels, the exercise may be regulated accordingly.

Patricia did not answer. She had slumped down on the cot and was sobbing at her abject failure to save Craig.

"Don't give up, partner," Northup attempted encouragement. "We'll try Lovett again. We'll get him the next time."

CHAPTER XVIII

A while later Patricia roused herself and wandered out into the cool night air. Her cheeks burned with fever; she felt sick and a little giddy. In the cabin she had cried her heart out over the wreckage of all her plans, all her happy castles; and a numb hopelessness had settled upon her. Wandering aimlessly in the darkness, she found a pine tree, leaned weakly against it and plucked at its rough bark with her fingers, oblivious to everything except the numbing anguish in her heart.

In a dazed way she realized that she and Craig had lost their long bitter fight, the men had lost this mining field, and Craig's splendid ambition for the years ahead was now only a dead dream. Out of the wreckage there was but one thing which might possibly be salvaged, and that was Craig's very She doubted whether she could save even that. She was no match for Warren. Corporal Northup, for all his experience with crime, was entirely outclassed. Except for her surrender to Warren's ultimatum, she had no power left of any sort.

Even if she did give in to that unthinkable bargain. Warren would likely doublecross her. She put no faith in any promise from him. He hated Craig with a primitive jealous hatred.

Through her numbed thoughts ran arren's sentence of

By H. H. Alp. Extension Poultryman, University of Illinois.—WNU Service. Cheapest of all ways to feed pullets this summer will be to feed them well. Egg production n e x t September and October will depend on the summer feeding. Experience has demonstrated that worms and disease thrive best in poorly fed flocks, and that good pullets are never raised by making scaven-gers out of them during July and August.

Prospects look favorable for egg prices next fall because many people will attempt to economize on feed. Such a practice will make the feed used doubly expensive.

A ration which has given good results with pullets after they are eight weeks old is the one made of a starting mash and ground grain. For each 200 pullets two range feeders are recommended; one containing starting mash and the other a coarsely ground grain mixture of equal parts of corn, wheat and oats. Grinding the grain has a tendency to insure greater consumption of it and less of the mash. Some poultrymen are making a practice of closing, for a part of the day, the feeder containing the mash, especially if there is a tendency toward too early sexual maturity of the pullets.

This ration in combination with a good clean green range such as alfalfa, plenty of clean drinking water and some protection from extreme heat should go a long way toward developing pullets of normal growth, free from worms and ready to lay next fall when egg prices are expected to be high.

Despite the fact that most laying flocks are laying well at this time of year, the need for careful culling should be noted. Every bird not laying and not having any value as a future breeder will consume about 20 cents worth of feed a month.

Gulfy Control Varies

With Local Conditions Farmers keep in mind economy, effectiveness, and permanence when they build soil-saving check dams, earth fills or diversion ditches to control gullies, says T. B. Chambers of the Soil Conservation service. Check dams of straw, poles and logs, woven wire, and loose rock serve their purpose well, although they do not last as well as dams of well-laid rock or concrete and earth.

Gullies waste millions of tons of valuable soil every year. SCS men on more than 140 demonstration areas are showing farmers how gullies can be prevented and checked. Control varies because climate, Warren Came Over to Patricia's Cabin a Little After Dusk.

Lupe hates him because of you. Therefore I should say that the thing for you to do, if you really want to save Tarlton's life, is to convince Lupe absolutely that you've given Tarlton up."

"How can I convince him? Tell me!" "Shall I advise you, dear?" "Yes, yes!" Patricia begged. She knew that under cover of that word

"advise," Warren was going to deliver his terms. "I believe," he said, with a wariness that was maddening to her, "that Lupe would not be convinced by any mere promises, especially now that Rosalie is dead and Tarlton is free to marry you. I believe he would demand some absolute guarantee of your sincerity. Your willingness to return to Chicago is all right, as far as it goes, but in this situation it hardly goes far enough. In my opinion"-he dropped his cigarette into his tea dregs-"there is only one earthly way for you to convince Lupe. It's drastic, but then . "What is it? I'll do it!"

Warren said slowly: "Your friend Northup is a magistrate. He can issue a marriage license and perform the ceremony. If you and I should be married, here at the Bay, at once, and then you should go back to Chicago announcedly as Patricia Lovett, I rather believe that Lupe would be entirely satisfied. Nothing short of that would do." Patricia drew back, shocked and incredulous. She had never imagined that Warren would drive so merciless a bargain. Or so preposterous a bargain. Didn't he realize that she would never live with him? That she would divorce him the instant she could?

But then she looked deeper into his ultimatum and saw that instead of being preposterous his bargain was a shrewd far-seeing play, based on the blunt realities of the months ahead. His marriage to her, however it might be, would give him a heavy advantage in his battle against Russell Parkes. After that when he had her in Chicago, had the firm in his grasp again, had control of the Wellington interests and her family's fortune-he could just about dictate his terms to her.

Warren saw how she recoiled from the thought of marrying him.

"You don't seem to like my advice," he snapped. Formerly he would have argued patiently, but now he was sharp and hard. "All right, don't take it!" He got up to go.

panicky with defeat. "Warren, please-I haven't refused-I will sents the initial letter of Ohio, but take it! I promise, here, now-if is suggestive of its being the Buckintends to have warily refusing to commit himself. you'll only send word to Lupe. Won't eye state."

"The guilt will lie with you!" ago, By a mere word then she could have saved all this disaster. And she had refused. The guilt did lie with her. She should have taken Warren's offer and gone back to Chicago. If Craig should be murdered, because of her refusal . .

It was a horrible thought. Over at the community house, 30 yards away, the windows and doors had been flung open. For some reason the usual droning hum of conversation was stilled. Inside, a person was talking. His voice was raised a little, as though he was making some sort of speech to the men.

Occasionally, as he paused, Patricia heard a low rumble from the listeners, a muffled outburst of surprise, or anger, or both; but the noise always died down quickly as the man took up his speech again. The voice sounded to her like Warren's. She stopped plucking at the bark and listened. The voice was Warren's.

Unable to make-out what he was saying, she left the pine and stumbled nearer the community house. A few distinguishable words came drifting out to her then: "Tarltonradium lake-disappearance-"

In spite of her faintness she knew that Warren was putting across some bold stroke with those prospectors. He must have gone straight from her cabin to the Den. This must be the "something important" which he had mentioned, with elation in his tones.

The tense quiet of the prospectors sounded ominous to her, but even more ominous were those rumbling outbursts whenever Warren paused. She had heard that same ugly ground-swell once before-on the March night when Phil Kessler betraved the men and skipped their wrath.

In alarm she started around toward the main door, to find out what Warren's move was and to fight it. (TO BE CONTINUED)

Designed Ohio State Flag The Ohio state flag was designed by John Eisemann, an architect, for use on the Ohio building at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo in 1901. It had no legal status then, but the following year the legislature approved the design. The symbolism is somewhat fanciful, but it is thus described by the designer: "The triangle formed by the main lines of the flag represent the hills and valleys, as typified in the state's seal, and the stripes the roads and waterways. The stars, indicating the thirteen capital states of the Union, are grouped about the circle which represents the original Northwest Territory; and that Ohio was the seventeenth state admitted into the Union is shown by adding the Patricia caught his arm. She was four more stars. The whole circle with its red center not only repre-soils, and cropping methods vary in different parts of the country, but farmers will find one or more of three methods effective.

In practically all sections of the country gully sides may be planted to grass, shrubbery, or trees. Once established, the vegetation slows the flow of "little waters" after rains and holds the soil. Choice of grasses, trees, or shrubs for such plantings is a question which may be referred to county agents or SCS specialists on demonstration areas. When gullies drain a fair-sized watershed, run-off can be retarded by the right crops and contour farming. Terraces or diversion ditches take care of excess run-off.

Where the volume of run-off is high, earth, masonry, or concrete dams may be necessary. These dams are most effective where a gully slope is comparatively gentle and where they can be high enough to prevent further cutting back of the gully head. These dams also create reservoirs for livestock water and irrigation.

With the Farmers Large eggs do not hatch so well as small ones.

Nearly 900,000 tons of wheat was grown in Great Britain last season. The University of California conducts a large horse breeding farm. . . . Poultry raising in America is rightly called "a billion dollar business."

Non-layers of all ages should be carefully culled out of the flock until September 1.

The Department of Agriculture says that the cost of keeping a farm horse, including cost of depreciation, is approximately $100 per year.

A summer shelter provides cheap, comfortable quarters for housing yearling layers at the end of the first laying year.

The Rose Comb White Leghorn is identical with the Single Comb White Leghorn except in the matter of the rose comb.

Eggs are imported into the United States in the form of shell eggs; whole eggs, dried; whole eggs, frozen: dried and frozen yolks; and dried albumen. . . .

Leading states in order of milk production are: Wisconsin, Minnesota, New York and Iowa. Ohio has led all states in honey output, three years in the last six with production varying between 15 and 21 million pounds annually.

Washing Linoleum .- Dissolve a lump of sugar in the water when washing linoleum or oilcloth, and a brilliant polish will result. . . .

Clear Blueing. - To prevent blueing from streaking clothes on washday, dissolve a tablespoon of soda in the "blue" water.

Removing Wallpaper. - To remove wallpaper quickly, put a heaped tablespoonful of saltpetre to a gallon of water and apply freely with a whitewash brush while the water is very hot. The paper then can be stripped from the walls quite easily.

SAVINGS. AND Confidence

It is our privilege to know many savers-young and old, men, women and children.

Somehow, it seems that as a group, they have a little more confidence than other people. Perhaps this comes from knowing that they can take advantage of any opportunities that may arise requiring cash. Perhaps they feel less anxiety because they know they are prepared for unforeseen trouble. Or perhaps it's just because they see their way clear to the goal they have set. . . Whatever the reason, wouldn't you like to join them in saving-here?

News Review of Current Events GREEN SHAPES WAGE BILL Dictates House Amendments . . . Thousands Flee China, Expecting War . . . Housing Measure Stirs Up Senate

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Where Was John Lewis?

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor, emerged as the administration's favorite son in matters affecting labor as he was permitted virtually to write his own amendments to the house version of the wages and hours bill. The senate had passed the bill, 56 to 23, only after President Roosevelt had called Green to the White House and persuaded him to give lukewarm approval to the measure, with the understanding that the house would amend it.

Southern Democrats in the senate, led by Pat Harrison of Mississippi, bitterly opposed the bill, but their motion to recommit it to committee was defeated, 48 to 36. The same vigorous opposition was expected from Dixie's representatives in the house labor committee, but the 'Green amendments'' (so called because of the federation president's complete domination of the committee meeting) patched up the essential differences.

The bill, as passed by the senate, would create a labor standards board empowered to set minimum wages up to 40 cents an hour and maximum work weeks down to 40 hours. The house committee had intended to extend the limits to permit the board to set wages at 70 cents and hours as low as 35. Under Green's influence the house committee decided to accept the senate provisions on this part of the measure, but the scope of the board was greatly curtailed by an amendment which would permit it to deal only with employers who maintain "sweatshops" and "starvation wages" through fake collective bargaining agencies.

The "Green amendments" in brief are:

1. Board jurisdiction over wages and hours in any industry only if it finds that collective bargaining agreements do not cover a sufficient number of employees or facilities for collective bargaining are inefthe front. fective.

2. Acceptance of wage-hour standards established by collective bargaining in any occupation as prima facie evidence of appropriate standards in that occupation.

3. Board cannot alter wage-hour standards already prevailing in occupation in community considered, or establish classification in any community which affects adversely the prevailing standard in the same or other communities.

4. Industries are protected against prison-made goods. 5. "Label provision" of original

U. S. Keeps Naval Pace

NDICATIONS were that both the United States and Great Britain would embark upon unusually large peacetime naval building programs n 1938.

Britain, according to reports in London, will lay the keels for from three to five battleships, six or seven cruisers and a proportionate quota of destroyers, submarines and smaller craft, to surpass the 1937 total of 664,000 tons, a peacetime record. It was also reported that personnel would be increased ultimately by 125,000.

With the placing of additional 1937 contracts, Britain will soon have 110 vessels under construction. These will include: 5 battleships of 35,000 tons, 5 aircraft carriers, 8 cruisers of 9,000 to 10,000 tons, 5 cruisers of 8,000 tons, 7 cruisers of 5,300 tons, 16 superdestroyers of 1,650 tons, 18 submarines of from 540 to 1,520 tons, 12 sloops and 10 motor torpedo boats.

Armament of the five new battleships will include 10 or 12 new type 14-inch guns, 12 to 16 4- or 4.7-inch anti-aircraft guns and numerous light machine guns. Upper deck armor will be specially strengthened against airplane bombs and bridges and turrets will be gasproof.

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of American naval operations and acting secretary of Uncle Sam's navy, said in Washington that congress will be asked to provide funds for the construction of two battleships and two cruisers in the 1938 fiscal year. The admiral inferred in a press conference that the

14 Lost in Flying Boat

T WAS believed 14 persons were lost in the Caribbean sea when the Santa Maria, luxurious new flying boat of the Pan American-Grace airways, crashed 20 miles off Cristobal, in the Canal Zone, after nearly completing a scheduled flight rom Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Last radio reports from the pilot ndicated he was trying to spiral lown to the surface of the sea in a torrential rainstorm. Two United States submarines, cruising the area in the hope of picking up some survivors, found part of the airliner's shipment of mail, an engine casing, a few other parts and a bucket of ice cream floating in the water. It was feared the pilot, copilot, steward and 11 passengers, mostly Americans, were locked in the cabin and lying on the bottom of the sea, which at the point the wreckage was found reaches a depth of 1,000 feet.

INSURGENT Spain has a "head man" and also has a name for him now. In Germany things are bossed by "Der Fuehrer," and Italians scurry to obey "Il Duce." Now Rebel Spain has dubbed Gen. Francisco Franco "El Caudillo." Throughout the realm on walls and fences are signs bearing the motto, "Homenaje el Caudillo"-"Obey the leader." And the people salute him by raising the right arm.

Franco's followers are protesting that he is not a fascist, but he has never announced just what form of government he will propose for the nation. There is said to be a scheme afoot to shape it along the lines of Portugal's corporative government. Since he openly declared on July 19 that he believes the restoration of a monarchy is vital to cohesion of Spain, it is believed that this is what he will eventually effect. Prince Juan, third son of the former King Alfonso XIII, is the likely candidate for the crown.
