TWO ESCAPE INJURY IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Allred Kennedy and a passenger of Abbotsford, Wis., escaped injury at about 5:30 a. m. Tuesday morning when an international truck in which they were riding left Highway 55 and sideswiped three trees and a hydrant on the lawn of the Joe Kohler residence on the corner of Prospect avenue and Fond du Lac avenue.

The men were transporting a load of chickens to Milwaukee in a truck owned by the Kennedy Community Cash store of Abbotsford. When passing through the village, Kennedy dozed off and the truck left the road and sideswiped a large tree. The impact threw the truck to the right and it sideswiped another tree on that side. Traveling at a good rate of speed, Kennedy was unable to halt the machine until after it hit a hydrant and a third tree on the corner where the two streets meet, about fifty feet from the first tree.

When the truck hit the first tree a part of the framework on the rack, a heavy angle iron, was driven completely through the trunk of the tree, and was twisted like a corkscrew when it emerged on the other side. The piece was about six feet long and the part protruding from the opposite side of the tree was about three feet long. When the truck struck the second or opposite tree a smaller piece of angle iron was also imbedded there and broken off. The tree is pierced about seven feet above the ground. Because the iron was so firmly imbedded in the tree it was sawed off on both sides of the trunk.

Neither the driver nor his helper was injured, but nearly 100 chickens escaped from the coops with which the truck was loaded and it took an hour or more to recapture them. The men then continued their journey to Milwaukee although the fenders were smashed, the front axle bent and the rack crushed on the truck.

EDW. C. MILLER PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN CALLED

This week, with deep regret, as the result of an unkind blow of fate, we must inform our readers of the passing of one of Kewaskum's most prominent business men and citizens, Edward C. Miller, aged 59, died at his home on Main street at 9:30 p. m. on Monday, August 16, following an illness of five days. He was stricken at 5 p. m. Wednesday, August 11, with a cerebral hemorrhage, and although hope was held for him at first, his condition grew worse until death became a matter of time, even though everything possible was done to save him.

Mr. Miller was engaged as a photographer and sporting goods dealer in Kewaskum since the age of 20, or for the past 39 years. During that time he became very widely known and served people from many miles around in his trade, who desired his very capable and reliable work in the photographic line. He studied and mastered this line, that is why his work was so in demand.

Ed. as his numerous friends called him, was also active in public life. He served as clerk of the village of Kewaskum for 17 years, from April, 1903 to 1920, and was also a member of the village board. Mr. Miller was a prominent member of the local chapter, No. 101, I. O. O. F. His expert advice was sought by many people in their problems.

Born May 10, 1878, Mr. Miller was a lifelong resident of the village of Kewaskum. He attended the local schools and later entered the photographic field. Following the death of his father, Mr. Miller also took over the patent medicine and drug business operated by his dad. Later he added the sporting goods line. On November 26, 1907, he was married to Miss Jennie Hoening, who survives him.

Besides his widow, he leaves two sons, Charles of this village, who is the proprietor of the Miller Electric store, and Dr. E. Allen Miller of Chicago. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Lulu Davies of this village and Mrs. Meta Shearer of Oconomowoc.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, August 19, at the home, the Rev. Richard M. A. Gadow officiating, following which the body was removed to Milwaukee for interment in Valhalla cemetery.

Six members of the local chapter, I. O. O. F. served as pallbearers. They were Dr. N. E. Hausmann, Arthur W. Koeh, Oscar Koehle, Dr. E. L. Morganer, Elwyn Romaine and Carl F. Schaefer.

To the residents of Kewaskum and a vast community, Mr. Miller's demise seems a sorrowful dream—a dream that couldn't possibly come true at such an inopportune time when he was enjoying the good years of his life and so many delighted in his acquaintance to such a great extent. Heads were bowed in reverence and hearts of bitter sorrow pierced the hearts of his fellow business men and friends of the village on Thursday when the body was taken on its last ride up Main street, where he had been seen walking daily, on its way to Valhalla, never more to return to the people to whom he was beloved. Mr. Miller was indeed a remarkable man, in his public, business and home life, a man who well used the talents given him. In his person were the fine qualities which we praise, those of righteousness, straightforwardness and cordiality. His home life was without a blemish, which made his family attached to him in love. To them, we join with his very large number of intimate friends in expressing our most sincere condolences.

BLACK NAMED FOR COURT

Choice Surprise to Senate . . . Chinese Central Army Clashes with Japanese . . . Legislation in Tangled Mess

Nominee Draws Rebuke

WITH his customary exercise of the dramatic, President Roosevelt nominated Senator Hugo L. Black (Dem., Ala.) to fill the vacancy on the Supreme court bench caused by the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter.

For 20 years it has been a custom, when a senator is appointed to high office, for his nomination to be considered in open executive session.

Senator Black has been a militant leader in the fight for the President's wages and hours legislation.

Black practiced law in Birmingham after being graduated from the University of Alabama in 1906.

Shells Pepper Great Wall

ALTHOUGH war was still without benefit of official declaration, the army of the Chinese central government clashed with the Japanese invaders for the first time.

The Japanese opened up immediately afterward with heavy artillery fire which the Chinese failed to return.

Japanese warned that all of their forces in North China, some 40,000 fighting men, would be loosed upon the Chinese if they made any attempt to return to the old capital in Peiping, now held by the invaders.

South Demands Crop Loans

CONGRESS regarded adjournment as possibly farther off than ever as the wage-hour bill got all tangled up with surplus agricultural control and cotton loans in what looked like a hopeless mess.

In a press conference, President Roosevelt indicated that he had no intention of permitting a 10-cent cotton loan until congress passed the agricultural control program and ever-normal granary bill which Secretary of Agriculture Wallace says is necessary before the new session in January.

Sheet Erosion a Thief

When a field is being robbed by sheet erosion, the thief may go on for years without a farmer knowing it. Erosion which carves deep gullies is pretty obvious.

committee doesn't know how to write such a bill and make it stick, in view of the Supreme court's decision on the AAA.

Now the Southern bloc has made it clear that it will not push through the President's much-desired wages and hours bill, as dictated by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, unless southern farmers get their cotton loans.

The result of the whole affair is a complete stalemate. Somebody will have to give in; somebody probably will, and there will be old-fashioned "horse-trading" on a wholesale scale.

Southerners in the senate were also worried when Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York succeeded in winning recognition to debate an anti-lynching bill, the type of which the South has been successful in blocking since the Civil war.

Senate O.K.'s Court Reform

ALL that was left of the administration's sweeping court reform proposals passed in the senate in an hour without a record vote.

The bill, as summarized by Sen. Warren R. Austin (Rep., Vt.), who wrote most of it, included: Provision making it the duty of the District court, in any constitutional suit between private citizens, to notify the Department of Justice that upon a showing by the attorney general that the United States had a probable interest the government would be made a party to the suit.

Permission for the senior circuit judge to reassess district judges within that circuit for the purpose of clearing congested dockets. (If necessary, a judge may be transferred from one circuit to another.)

Requirement that all suits for injunction against the operation of federal statutes to be heard by a three-judge court, including at least one circuit court of appeals judge.

Shanghai Smells Smoke

A JAPANESE officer and a seaman tried to enter the Shanghai airport, now under Chinese military control, in a high speed automobile. Chinese guards, after trying to halt them, shot and killed them.

The Japanese claimed the road on which the men were traveling was part of the international settlement, and threatened the severest reprisals unless the Chinese made satisfactory explanation.

Haiti Once Robber Stronghold

In the West Indies, Haiti, "Black Republic," is about one-third of the Island of Santo Domingo and was once a buccaners' stronghold.

Cutting Madrid from Sea

SLOWLY but determinedly Gen. Francisco Franco's rebels are pressing their campaign to cut Madrid off from Valencia and the sea. Latest advances of well-mobilized and mechanized troops, following up co-ordinated attacks, brought the insurgents near to the capture of Salvacanea, which is only 30 miles from Cuenca.

Reports revealed that the rebels were also opening a new drive on Santander, last government stronghold on the northern coast, and had already made important advances.

That all might not be going as well as General Franco insisted was indicated when he was forced into the paradoxical act of shelling one of his own cities, Segovia.

Meanwhile, other nations were on the point of being involved again. There was a riot among rebel troops at Toledo, and Italian soldiers were alleged to have aided in quelling the uprising.

Peiping Gets "Protection"

ALTHOUGH Nanking is preparing to wage a destructive war, do not be afraid.

Leaflets containing these words fluttered from the skies to come to rest in the hands of residents of the ancient Chinese capital, Peiping.

What would be the result of the new Japanese domination apparently begun by Maj. Gen. Kawabe was a matter for speculation.

New York's Share Cut

SENATOR ROBERT F. WAGNER'S (Dem., N. Y.) $726,000,000 housing bill was passed by the senate, 64 to 16, but the senator scarcely recognized it when his fellows were done with it.

Senator Wagner and other administration leaders struggled frantically to defeat an amendment by Harry F. Byrd (Dem., Va.) limiting the cost of housing projects to $1,000 a room or $4,000 a family unit.

The bill originally called for expenditures up to $1,500 a room or $7,000 a family unit. Opponents conceded that the Byrd amendment would prohibit the building of the type of houses Senator Wagner had in mind in New York City.

Purge Toll to Date: 320

SEVENTY-TWO Russians in East Siberia were lined up and shot by the government, bringing the total number of eastern executions in Russia's purge of "Trotskyists" to 320.

It was alleged the accused had wrecked a train, killing 14 persons and injuring 40.

Wants Crop Control Back

Washington.—President Roosevelt stated to the newspaper correspondents in his press conference the other day that crop control must be brought back.

The President was not specific as to details of the legislation in either case but it is important to note that he has reaffirmed his position on these two principles for it is to be remembered that both the NRA and the AAA were thrown out by the Supreme court a long time ago, and the President seeks now to restore them in another form.

This circumstance would seem to confirm assertions that have been made in various quarters lately that the President wants to maintain a "planned economy" for this country. It would seem that he is determined to go ahead along those lines and that his program for reorganizing the Supreme court was a part and parcel of the scheme.

After discussing these circumstances pro and con with proponents as well as opponents in the congress, the conclusion is inescapable that Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers are headed to make the federal government the most important factor in our national life and to set aside little by little the functions of state and local governments by their course of action.

Undoubtedly there is strong argument for the policies they have adopted; certainly, there are many functions which the national government can perform more effectively and more efficiently than they can be performed by state governments, and equally, it is true that some phases of our national life should not be subjected to the influence of state lines.

The reason I believe all of this is so important now is that always there has been a tendency of federal functions to expand. To say this in another way: Federal officials from the lowest to the highest seem to be equipped with a particular faculty for delegating to themselves additional authority as soon as they are accorded power.

Now, there are those persons in considerable number who believe sincerely that the federal government is the agency through which all public functions should operate. I cannot agree. Rather, long experience in Washington convinces me that the old, old argument for state rights—so long one of the tenets of the Democratic party—has too much merit to be overthrown without consideration for the effects of the new theories.

To get down to cases in application of the principles discussed above, let us consider the wages and hours bill. That measure shows how this encroachment takes place and gives a rather clear picture of the expansive nature of federal policies.

The wages and hours bill first creates a labor standards board. It is circumscribed by certain limitations which say that it cannot fix wages above forty cents per hour nor can it reduce the number of working hours per week below forty.

These delimitations would seem to leave the board without a great deal of authority. Such, however, is not the case. Among those industries remaining under jurisdiction of the board, there is yet as much power as obtained under NRA and its codes which were so hidebound and so inelastic that thousands of firms were in open rebellion against the restrictions unless they were able to pass on the higher costs resulting from these restrictions, to the public.

I do not say that the labor standards board as now conceived will go as far as the NRA codes but experience with the present national labor relations board indicates that the public should expect the maximum exercise of power instead of any middle of the road policies. The labor relations board has become a festering sore on private initiative. Business interests everywhere, while being pounded on the back by the administration to employ more workers, are kept in a constant state of confusion by the bias of the board.

Another Phase

But there is yet another phase of this policy that demands consideration. While the United States is one unit under the federal government, it is made up of a number of sectional units and each sectional unit comprises a number of states and even each state in some cases embraces subdivisions where practices in business and living traditions are as different as day and night.

I think there can be no denying that no law will be successful unless it has the co-operation, the active support, of a very large majority of the people. If proof be needed, it is only necessary to recall how the prohibition laws were not enforced in those areas where public sympathy with them was lacking.

Both Sides Will Back

There will be disgruntled groups of workers and there will be dissatisfied employers who will seek exemption or changes or special consideration by regulation. In some cases, obviously, the board will issue new rules. As likely as not those new rules will upset some other group or region or section and they will demand consideration.

Just here, it might be recalled how under the AAA crop control law, wheat, cotton and corn were originally considered but tobacco had to have protection and rice and potatoes and peanuts, and every other farm product had its champions battling for consideration before the Supreme court held that the law with its processing taxes was an invalid delegation of power by congress.

I have heard a considerable amount of discussion lately that indicates a growing belief among many sound thinkers in opposition to federal regulation of hours and wages. There are many students, experts, authorities, who entertain a conviction that wages and hours ought to be matters for regulation by states because of the diversified practices in a nation as large as ours.

It can be said in favor of that plan that the great industrial sections likely would have laws safely applicable to their local conditions.

As the situation now stands, there is no solution yet visible by which fair treatment of labor and fair distribution of capital can be administered by law. It is one of those things in which the human element constitutes ninety per cent of the problem and no nation has been able yet to legislate on the morals of people.

Is Overweight Important?

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

THOSE of normal weight and many also who are overweight may have the opinion that too much importance is being attached to overweight—its dangers to health and life.

One of the first facts the insurance company actuary will point out is the great amount of diabetes among the overweight. He will back this up by showing the figures of Dr. E. P. Joslin, Boston, the outstanding authority on diabetes, who tells us that diabetes is the result or penalty of overweight.

The figures for the death rate of diabetic men over forty-five years is as follows: The per cent of overweight to death rate is as follows: five to fourteen, twice the normal rate; fifteen to twenty-four, four times the normal rate; twenty-five and over, ten times the normal rate.

As you know, the commonest cause of death after middle age is disease of the heart, bloodvessels and kidneys, because the heart and bloodvessels have the hard work of carrying a large quantity of nourishment to the kidneys to have wastes or poisons filtered out and useful substances retained.

Dr. Herbert I. Coombs in the British Medical Journal, in pointing out the importance of overweight in addition to diabetes, heart, bloodvessel and kidney disease, tells us that "arthritis—inflammation of joints—is one of the commonest diseases encountered by the general practitioner, and it is almost always associated with overweight."

Another point brought out by Dr. Coombs, and one that is likely to be overlooked, is the great change in mentality or outlook with the increase in weight. It is generally agreed that overweighters are rather cheerful and good natured but after a period of time this good nature of the slightly overweight degenerates into lack of ambition and a "don't care" attitude toward anything and everything.

Figures from private and public hospital clinics show that at least three of four give a history of being constipated. Although these people are on the fat side and are not sick enough to be in bed, they can hardly be considered normal.

Of course at times when much fruit is eaten or when something "not fresh" has been eaten, diarrhoea often occurs, lasting for two or more days.

It is interesting therefore to read of the other type of cases, that is those who do not appear to be sick, but instead of being constipated are afflicted with diarrhoea.

As there may be no other symptoms but the diarrhoea (no great increase in heart rate, no enlargement of the thyroid gland, no bulging of the eyes, no trembling or nervousness), it would be difficult to locate the cause as due to an overactive thyroid gland except for the metabolism test.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

THEY'RE an outdoor family—great on hiking, camping, exploring and roughing it. So when they built their new home and started in to plan its decorations, they decided to use leaf greens as the color theme for the entire house, because that's the tone they like best. Their place isn't big and it's all on one floor, so there's a lot to be said for a unified color theme throughout the house. For one thing, it makes the place seem more spacious and tranquil. But this house wasn't to be rustic or camp-ish, not at all. They liked to come home from their outings to a very civilized establishment with its own individual charm. So they achieved a very smart effect with beige and white combinations with green.

The living room of this small house was to have some new furniture so that their old things could be relegated to other rooms. The new pieces selected were in blond wood—a secretary, end tables and a coffee table, a console table and a pair of small chests. The old upholstered furniture got new covers in tones of beige. The new living room rug was a brilliant leaf green, the walls white, the ceilings a paler green and the draperies were white ground chintz with a flower design with lots of green leaves and petals of peppermint pink. White lamps and white porcelain vases for fresh leaves made dramatic accents. Pictures were framed in blond wood frames.

The dining room adjoining had the same walls, floors, ceilings and draperies, but the old maple furniture was retained here. The master bedroom was the grand gesture—the walls here were painted a very brilliant leaf green, the ceilings, beige, the rug was an all over floral carpet on a beige ground and the wicker furniture was refreshed by combination with greens and curtains of permanent finish organdie, made with billowy white ruffles ten inches wide.

Little boy's room had beige walls with a row of framed prints all the way around the wall at a boy's eye level... these prints were botanical renderings of various types of tree leaves in blond wood frames. This room received some of the leftovers from the old living room.

A Miniature Appropriation.
"I'm like the rest of the world—I haven't much money to spend!" writes a lady who lives in a little white house on a pleasant but unpretentious street. "But I do think it's awful important to make my home as attractive as I can and keep it pleasant. Maybe you can help me with my present problems. I'm hoping to do things to my bedroom on a miniature appropriation. The furniture is maple—good enough, though not up to any fancy decorative scheme. We're buying a new rug and planning to have the room repapered. I'll get new spread, curtains and lamps if possible. Since we use this room a lot for sitting—it's large for a bedroom—we keep two old easy chairs here.

"These I'd like to slip-cover so they would add rather than detract from the effect of the room. But my husband and myself, I don't want it to be too feminine. Anything you suggest will be appreciated and followed out if it's not too expensive."

With maple furniture, we'd like yellow wall paper with little squares or dots in white, then brown and white checked gingham for spread and curtains. Make the spread with pleated flounce and you might have a pleated valance for the windows. If you have a skirted dressing table, have the skirt of starched dotted swiss in yellow with narrow brown ribbon bows at intervals around the yoke. The easy chairs might be effective in matching slip covers of a very gayly flowered chintz with quite a bit of yellow in the design, and it would be interesting to arrange them under a wide window, facing each other with a low table between. What a nice place for light refreshments or a late snack on a tray! Be sure to provide good lamps nearby for reading light. The rug we'd have in old blue... repeat this color in lamp bases, accessories and picture frames. Or you could have a flash of blue in the material chosen for chair covers, too.

Doing Over a Bedroom.
suggest will be appreciated and followed out if it's not too expensive."

Painting Wallboards
In many summer cottages several types of wallboard are used for room partitions. Wallboard makes excellent partitions. When painting such surfaces for the first time, a special sealer should be used as the first coat.

Protects Linoleum
Worn spots on the linoleum mar the effect of a pretty kitchen. A coat of varnish, shellac or lacquer, topped with wax, will prevent these unsightly scars.

ADVICE ON HOW TO MAKE PASTRY

Flour and Proportion of Fat First Consideration.

By EDITH M. BARBER

"THAT certainly is a good pie," I remarked to my hostess-not long ago when I was spending a week end in Boston. "Well, it ought to be," she returned. "You taught me to make it." I remembered then that when I was visiting her a few years previously, she had complained that she just could not make pastry. I gave her a demonstration then and there, of how easy it was to make what I call foolproof pastry.

First of all there is the flour and the proportion of fat. Bread and all-purpose flour demand one-third cup of shortening to each cup of flour. One cup of pastry flour, on the other hand, will take only one-fourth cup of shortening. As far as the type of shortening is concerned, lard or hardened vegetable fat is usually preferred to butter, which makes a less tender crust.

For large and small quantities the salt should be sifted with the flour and the cold shortening should be cut into it with a fork or with a knife. Perhaps you can use your hands for this purpose, but mine are too warm. The fat should be well mixed with the flour, but should not be too fine. A hole at one side should be made in the mixture and into this one tablespoonful of cold water should be poured. As much flour as the liquid will take should be drawn into it with a knife until you have a small ball of dough. This process should be repeated with the rest of the flour mixture. The balls of dough and any dry mixture left over should then be pressed together with the fingers. A few extra drops of water may be needed.

When making crust for pies you will find it easier if the dough has been chilled in the refrigerator half an hour or so. With custard pies, however, you will have better results if the dough is rolled immediately, your pan lined with it and then the pan itself set in the refrigerator to chill thoroughly.

Pastry.

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup fat
Cold water

Sift together the flour and salt. Cut in the fat with two case knives. For a large quantity a wooden bowl and chopping knife may be used. When fine, add at one side of the bowl one tablespoon of cold water and stir in as much of the flour and fat as the water will take up. Continue this until you have four or five balls of dough and some dry flour left in the bowl. Press together with your fingers. If all the dry flour is not taken up add a little more water. Chill and roll.

Apple Pie.

5 or 6 apples
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour

Pare, core and slice the apples. Mix the sugar, salt and cinnamon. Line a pan with pastry, sprinkle with a tablespoon of flour mixed with a tablespoon of sugar, and add the apples and sugar in layers. Dot with butter, cover with an upper crust, and bake in a hot oven for ten minutes, then lower the temperature and bake until the apples are soft. This method of arranging the filling may be used for all fruit pies.

Chocolate Chiffon Pie.

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup sugar
2 squares melted chocolate
1 cup hot milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cream, whipped

Soak the gelatin in the water five minutes. Make a sirup of the sugar, chocolate, hot milk and salt. Add the softened gelatin to this mixture, stirring thoroughly. Allow to cool, add the vanilla and as the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the whipped cream. Fill a baked pie shell with this mixture and chill. Before serving, garnish with whipped cream.

Coconut Custard Pie.

2 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup shredded coconut
Nutmeg

Beat the eggs, add the remaining ingredients in the order given. Pour into a deep pie pan lined with pastry. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) ten minutes then at a lower temperature thirty minutes or until the custard is firm and the crust brown.

Lemon Souffle Tarts.

4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup sugar
1 lemon, rind and juice
1 tablespoon boiling water
4 egg whites

Mix egg yolks with sugar, lemon juice and water, cook over hot water until smooth and thick. Beat egg whites stiff and add to the first mixture. Fill baked tart shells and bake a few minutes in a hot oven.

Color Scheme

Distinctive Exterior

A distinctive and different effect was obtained for the exterior of a white painted house by using shutters on the windows of the upper floor, but not downstairs.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Advertising's Value.

VERNALIS, CALIF.—On the train a charming young woman said: "I always read the advertisements whether I want to buy anything or not. Do you think I'm crazy?"

I told her she was the smartest young woman I knew. If I were asked to describe the race in any bygone period since printer's ink came into common use, I'd turn to the advertising in the papers and periodicals of that particular age. For then I'd know what people wore and what they ate and what their sports were and their follies and their tastes and their habits; know what they did when they were healthy and what they took when they were sick and of what they died and how they were buried and where they expected to go after they left here—in short, I'd get a picture of humanity as it was and as some prejudiced historian, writing then or later, would have me believe it conceivably might have been.

I'd rather be able to decipher the want ad on the back side of a Chaldean brick than the king's edict on the front—that is, if I craved to get an authentic glimpse at ancient Chaldea.

Running a Hotel.

I'VE just been a guest at one of the best small-town hotels in America. I should know about good hotels because, in bygone days, I stopped at all the bad ones.

The worst was one back East—built over a jungle of side tracks. I wrote a piece about that hotel. It had hot and cold running cockroaches on every floor and all-night switch-engine service; the room towels only needed buttons on them to be peekaboo waists, but the roller towel in the public washroom had, through the years, so solidified that if the house burned down it surely would have been left standing. The cook labored under the delusion that a fly was something to cook with.

Everybody who'd ever registered there recognized the establishment. So the citizens raised funds and tore down their old hotel, thereby making homeless wanderers of half a million resident bedbugs; and they put up a fine new hotel which paid a profit, whereas the old one had been losing money ever since the fall of Richmond.

A good hotel is the best advertisement any town can have, but a bad one is just the same as an extra pesthouse where the patients have to pay.

Poor Lo's Knowledge.

SOMETIMES I wonder whether we, the perfected flower of civilization—and if you don't believe we are, just ask us—can really be as smart as we let on.

Lately, out on the high seas, I met an educated Hopi, who said to me: "White people get wrong and stay wrong when right before their eyes is proof to show how wrong they are. For instance, take your delusion that there are only four directions—north, south, east and west—since you've invented the compass, a thing our people never needed. Every Indian knows better than that."

"Well then," I said, "how many are there, since you know so much?"
"Seven," he said, "seven in all."
"Name 'em," I demanded.
"With pleasure," he said. "Here they are: north, east, south, west, up, down and here."

The Russian Puzzle.

UNDER the present beneficent regime, no prominent figure in Russia's government, whether military or civil, is pestered by the cankerous fear which besets an official in some less favored land, namely, that he'll wear out in harness and wither in obscurity.

All General So-and-Sokri or Commissar Whatyoumaycallovitch has to do is let suspicion get about that he's not in entire accord with administration policies and promptly he commits suicide—by request; or is invited out to be shot at sunrise. To be sure, the notion isn't new. The late Emperor Nero had numerous well-wishers, including family relatives, that he felt he could spare and he just up and spared them. And, in our own time, Al Capone built quite an organization for taking care of such associates as seemed lacking in the faith. "Twas a great boon to the floral design business, too, while it lasted.

But in Russia where they really do things—there no job-holder need ever worry about old age. Brer Stalin's boys will attend to all necessary details, except the one, formerly so popular in Chicago, of sending flowers to the funeral.

Meaning of Different, Various
Different means other than, not like, distinct, various means diverse, manifold. There are two different ways of bowling, overarm and underarm. There are various ways of swimming, breast-stroke, crawl, side-stroke, on the back. It would be incorrect to say there are two various ways of bowling.

Household Questions

Cooking Salt Meat—Salt meat, to be tender, requires longer boiling than fresh meat.

When Using Soda—To prevent the soda taste in foods in which soda is used as a leavening agent, dissolve the soda in a small amount of liquid called for in the recipe before mixing it with the other ingredients.

Keeping Apples—Apples will keep longer if rubbed over with a little glycerin, which can be washed off before the apples are used.

Sparkling Glasses—To get a beautiful sparkle on cut glass, wash in cold water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Dry and polish with clean tissue paper.

For a Delightful Odor—Add a drop of perfume to starch as it cools and children's dresses, which require starch, will have a delightful fresh odor.

Testing Fish—If fish is fresh and has been properly refrigerated from the time it was caught, it will have a little odor. If it has a strong odor do not serve it. Let your nose and eyes tell you whether or not it is usable.

Keeping Cut Flowers—To help prolong the life of cut flowers, wash the vases thoroughly with soap and water, and scald them. WNU Service.

McCormick-Deering Corn Binders

Save Time Cutting Corn

WHEN your corn is ready to cut, depend on the McCormick-Deering Corn Binder to do this heavy job for you, quickly. It has a long record of successful, reliable performance throughout the corn belt. It does the work of 5 to 7 men. The McCormick-Deering gets all the corn—even the leaning and down stalks. The throat down pushes the corn over against the elevator fingers so that cutting and carrying to the binding mechanism is positive. The reliable McCormick knot-ter assures binding every bundle.

Short corn is bound equally as well as tall corn, because the butt pan, which provides evenly butted bundles, has a wide range of adjustment. Clear, open sides permit easy removal of undergrowth. The shielded gear drive excludes trash and undergrowth and gives long life. A bundle loader can be furnished at additional cost.

Let us show you these features that have made the McCormick-Deering the popular binder among corn growers.

WHAT'S BEHIND THE WAR IN CHINA

Japanese Seek New Wealth They Failed to Find in Manchukuo; Chinese Are Not Yet Ready for Unified Resistance.

Circled on the map above are the five North China provinces which may be the next step in Japanese expansion.

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

JAPAN is an ambitious nation and a needy one. Her ambition is the governmental and economic leadership of Asia, or at least eastern Asia. Her needs are territory for an ever-expanding population, raw materials that her own islands cannot produce in sufficient quantity, markets for her manufactured goods and adequate defense against her enemies.

This is why you read every few years—or even every few months—of a new war scare in North China. Sometimes it is not merely a scare, but an actual war, even as today, whether war has been officially "declared" or not.

Always upon the Chinese who oppose her gradual expansion, Japan wreaks a vengeance which to us across the Pacific often seems all out of proportion to the "aggression" committed by opposing her. But after each of these retributions she is found, when the smoke and flame are clear away, to have assumed domination or even actual control over one more piece of territory.

Just how much more her influence will be extended after the present conflict has died out it is impossible to say. Indeed, that may depend upon the degree of opposition she meets. If the Chinese national government at Nanking, under the dictatorship of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, decides to let the twenty-ninth army carry the main burden of defense, Japan will probably emerge with nothing more than an extension of control to cover the Peiping-Tientsin area and part of the province of Chahar. If, however, a China now more united than at any time since the downfall of the Manchu dynasty decides to come en masse to the aid of the twenty-ninth army, Japan may attempt to punish China to a degree. Successful in this, Japan would probably extend her dominance throughout all the five northern provinces and virtually all of China south of the Yellow river valley.

Japan's Westward March.

If Chiang Kai-shek does throw the full strength of China at Japan, it will be a fight to the death. For the Japanese are full of that strange oriental pride which permits no loss of prestige. They will fight China to the bitter end before they will submit to a compromise on their demands. "Death before dishonor!" is more than a slogan with them. It is a law of nature as inexorable as the law of gravity.

The fighting in North China today is but another step in Japan's westward march. Earlier steps were those which resulted in control, tantamount to annexation, over the Chinese provinces of Manchuria and Jehol. For a short time after those steps were taken Japan marked time, strengthening her hold upon these provinces, and fortifying her front against Russia, the eternal enemy.

Manchukuo was supposed to open up vast, new and desirable horizons. Japan's population of 70,000,000 was growing at the rate of 1,000,000 a year; her people needed more room and more raw materials. Since 1931 she has poured investments totaling 1,400,000,000 yen into the puppet state. Some results were forthcoming—soy beans and kaoliang, chemicals, slight increases in iron ore and coal, and a good increase in oil shale—but these fell far short of Japan's hopes.

Manchukuo was supposed to open up a great new market for Japanese manufactured goods; but the increase in exports to the United States for 1935 over 1934 was equal to one-third of the total exports to Manchukuo. As a new home for Tsingtao. With Hopei and Shansi, Shantung forms the transportation center of North China. In possession of the peninsula Japan would be in a position to control the Gulf of Chihli and the Yellow sea.

Key to domination of China is its railroad system. Who controls the railroads can control the territory they serve. It may be seen upon the accompanying map how the railroads of North China radiate from the area about Peiping and Tientsin. Once Japan is in complete control of this area her influence could follow the rails to the important city of Kalgan in Chahar, and from there to Paotow in Suiyuan; into the southwest over the Peiping-Hankow railway to Shihkiachiang and southern Hopei, and to Taiyuan in Shansi; southward from Tientsin to Tsangchow and across the Yellow river to Tsinan, thence southward again to Nanking itself and eastward to the port of Tsingtao. These railroads, in addition to one across Hopei from Tsangchow to Shihkiachiang which the Japanese wish to build if they can get the permission of China, are of tremendous military importance.

From the latest dispatches it appears Japan is in control of the all-important line between Tientsin and Peiping, although it is a precarious sort of control, with the Chinese twenty-ninth army constantly threatening to attack. Actually, during the early days of the present crisis, the Chinese did press a drive along this railroad, capturing three key stations, only to lose them again after a brief tenure.

Anti-Japanese Spirit Grows.

In Hopei's eastern countries, Japanese influence blossomed into a virtual protectorate. But when it reached a certain point Japan's peaceful invasion was halted. With the rise of Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese were developing a new unity, although they were not nearly so unified as our states are, for instance. Yet the anti-Japanese spirit was becoming more widespread and more open. It probably culminated in the skirmish between Chinese and Japanese at Marco Polo bridge, the incident which gave rise to the present grave crisis.

It is assumed by many observers in the Far East that the incident was seized upon by Nippon as an excuse for further Japanese invasion on the pretext of retaliation, which would extend Japanese control over the five North China states and even to the south, eventually. Others contend that Japan's immediate objective is the strengthening of her grip on Hopei and Chahar.

Yet it cannot be overlooked that the other three provinces hold rich prizes for Toyo. Shansi contains more than half of all the coal in China; the other northern provinces are capable of great cotton production for Japanese industries and for the manufacture of gunpowder, so essential to a militant nation. Japan once imported the bulk of the cotton crop of China, which is third in the world's production; but China began to restrict her cotton exports to Japan and left the latter in a bad way.

Suiyuan and Chahar are extremely important to Japan's military strategy, for they would act as an efficient buffer along the left flank of her Asiatic front, greatly strengthening her position on the mainland.

On the other side of these provinces lies Sovietized Mongolia. The terrain of Suiyuan and Chahar, partly included in the Gobi desert, is wild and difficult, and without satisfactory transportation facilities. It would take only a small, well-trained Japanese army to prevent penetration by the Russians and to prevent the spread of communism. Further, the Japanese, in possession of these two provinces, could then put an end to their use as a base for communist guerrilla warfare against Manchukuo and Jehol.

Railroads Key to Control. On the peninsula of Shantung are the rich Yellow river valley and the ports of Chefoo, Weihaiwei and

Hands Off Chicken, Modern Code Insists

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is it incorrect, according to etiquette, to eat even the slightest bit of chicken in the fingers? I don't mean whether it is correct to take up what can be cut off the bone easily enough, but I am referring to the very small bones from which it is impossible to cut meat loose with knife and fork. Aren't good table manners today more lenient about these foods, especially if finger bowls are provided?

Answer: No, people are less lenient than they used to be. That is, if we go back to the descriptions given us by the writers of long ago, and as copied for instance in the moving picture of Henry the Eighth, who picked up a whole chicken in his hands and tore it apart, our table manners have become positively finicky. The only thing that could soil the fingers and is not taboed by the meticulous are lobster claws. And when such lobster is served, finger bowls of hot soapy water should be provided at once. Perhaps, if this practice were followed when serving chicken, there would be no objection to taking the wings in the fingers.

Address Invitations to Wedding Tactfully

DEAR Mrs. Post: Our families are both large and I really can't include all the children at my wedding, so must end the lists with aunts and uncles. Would you suggest that it might be a good idea to enclose a card with the invitations saying "no children"? Or how should I break the news to the parents without hurting them?

Answer: To emphasize the fact that they are not invited would be needlessly cruel, especially if some of them have been looking forward to a wedding in the family. Merely address invitations to Mr. and Mrs. and say nothing about the Marys and Johnnies. Should you be asked whether the children may come, then explain that unhappily you can't include so many more.

The Bridesmaid's Dress.

DEAR Mrs. Post: (1) I have been told that taffeta is a better material for the dresses at a spring wedding than one in winter time. Is this also true of moire? (2) Also, if a bride wears a simple velvet dress, must her only attendant wear velvet or would she be suitably dressed in crepe or any of the more practical materials which she thinks would be better suited to her needs after the wedding?

Answer: (1) Moire is particularly suitable for autumn and winter. (2) Her dress need not be of velvet. It would be quite all right to have the bridesmaid wear crepe.

White Gold Ring.

DEAR Mrs. Post: I've always liked plain yellow gold wedding bands and would like to have one of this description when I am married. But one never sees yellow gold wedding bands today, that is, not on the new brides. Also, I am wondering whether yellow gold will look well with my other rings, which happen to be set in platinum. What would you suggest?

Answer: Although I myself have a strong prejudice in favor of the yellow gold wedding ring, I think that the bride of today would better have a ring of white gold, for the reason that you yourself give.

Folding the Napkin.

DEAR Mrs. Post: When eating a meal in someone's house, how is the napkin supposed to be left at the table?

Answer: Fold the napkin together loosely and lay it at the left of your place. If you are staying for the next meal, you would be more careful to fold it neatly in its original creases, especially if the others at table make it obvious by the way they fold their own that it is not customary to provide fresh napkins at each meal.

Guests Go First.

DEAR Mrs. Post: When I ask friends home with me to my apartment, after unlocking the hall door should I go first or let them go in first? And does the same answer hold for both women and men friends?

Answer: Unless it is necessary that you go into the apartment in order to turn on a light, you would open the door and stand aside for a woman to go ahead of you. A man would of course follow you.

Tea for Many.

DEAR Mrs. Post: Please tell me whether you think I can use a big silver electric coffee percolator, which has a spigot, as a water kettle on a large afternoon tea table?

Answer: If there is an electric outlet under your table so that no one will trip over the cord, there is no reason why you shouldn't use it.

A "Tiger Wedding"

Arranging a "tiger wedding" is perhaps one of the most hazardous jobs the men have to tackle, says a zoo manager. It is so difficult to know just what a bride and bridegroom think of each other until they actually meet.

The Phalanger

From far away Queensland the land of strange animals, comes the phalanger. It uses its fore paws for gathering food and its long prehensile tail to hang on the tree.

Smiles

Fancy Meeting You? Two friends met in a crowded room. "Where have you come from?" asked one. "I've just come from an airplane." "Oh," replied the other, "rising from my stove."

No Orders. An old lady sat knitting at the end of the pier, from which a pleasure steamer was about to start. Suddenly the captain appeared. "All right! Cast off now!" The old lady looked up and said: "Thank you, officer, but I'm quite capable of casting off my own knitting."

A Method. "I was sorry for your wife's sermon," said one minister to another. "She had a noble fit of coughing, and her body was looking at her." "You needn't feel sorry," replied the other dryly. "She was wearing her new hat for the first time."

KEWASKUM LOSES IN NINTH INNING

With the score tied, 8 to 8, in the last of the ninth inning, Robel, Grafton pitcher, hit a home run with a man on base to give his team a 19 to 8 victory over Kewaskum at Grafton last Sunday afternoon. This was Kewaskum's third defeat this season by Grafton, their jinx team, and the second loss for the team this second half. The game was loosely played, with plenty hits, plenty runs, and plenty errors.

Kewaskum took the jump on their opponents, by tallying five runs in the first inning, but Grafton came back in its half with three. Another Grafton run in the second frame made it 5 to 4, Kewaskum. The locals scored one more in the fourth but Grafton made two in the fifth to tie the count. Both teams scored two in the sixth for an 8 to 8 deadlock. No more runs were scored until the ninth, when Grafton's winning two crossed the plate. The locals left two men stranded on the bases in each of the seventh and eighth innings.

The locals' ninth Grafton Marx allowed 15 hits and Robel 17, but Kewaskum could not hit in the pinches. They had 11 men left on bases. Marx struck out 11 to Robel's 7, but five Kewaskum errors to the home team's 2 hurt. Three home runs off Marx singled the game because all were hit with men on bases, accounting for seven runs. Goldberg hit one with two on, Habich with one on, and Robel with one on.

Mathias of Kewaskum and Wester of Grafton were the starting stars. Both got four hits out of five trips to the plate. Kudek accounted for three out of five. Eggert, Grafton shortstopper, played a sparkling fielding game, robbing Kewaskum of several hits.

FIRST INNING
Kewaskum—Kudek singled, Marx fanned, Kudek stole second, Jagmin singled, scoring Kudek, Mathias singled, sending Jagmin to third, Jagmin scored on a passed ball and Mathias went to second, Mucha walked, Hepple doubled, scoring Mathias and advancing Harbeck to third, Goldberg threw out Harbeck, scoring Mucha and sending Hepple to third, Kral singled, scoring Hepple, Miller forced Kral at second. Five runs, five hits, no errors.

Grafton—Rilling singled, Fries singled, Muenier singled to Kudek, Muenier fouled out to Mucha, Goldberg got a home run when Kudek misjudged his fly ball and it went past him, scoring Rilling and Fries ahead of himself, Spaeth singled, stole second and went to third on Kral's bad throw. Eggert flied to Miller. Habich fanned. Three runs, four hits, one error.

SECOND INNING
Kewaskum—Kudek flied to Rilling, Marx fanned, Jagmin flied to Rilling. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Grafton—Weber singled, Robel singled, sending Weber to third, Weber scored on a passed ball and Robel went to second, Mathias threw out Rilling, error, advancing Robel to third, Marx threw out Muenier, holding both base runners, Goldberg fanned. One run, two hits, one error.

THIRD INNING
Kewaskum—Muenier catching in place of Spaeth and Spaeth playing first base in place of Muenier for Grafton, Mathias singled, Mucha flied to Fries, Hepple flied to Rilling, Harbeck singled, advancing Mathias to second, Kral fanned. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Grafton—Spaeth and Eggert both fanned, Habich flied to Kudek. No runs, no hits, no errors.
