JOHN KLUG
John Klug, 75, a native of Kewaskum, passed away at his home in the town of Auburn, Fond du Lac county, at 8:00 p. m. on Wednesday, Jan. 26. He had been ill for several weeks. ## WOMAN'S CLUB TO PRESENT PLAY

On Friday and Saturday evenings, February 4 and 5, a mystery-comedy play entitled "The Haunted Castle," will be presented at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Kewaskum Women's club. The play is being coached by the Misses Charlotte Lay and Agnes Busch. Following is the cast of characters:
Tommy Barksdale, "His Excellency" ..... Henry Lay
Johnny Nolan, Tommy's best friend ..... Lloyd Hron
Aunt Martha, Tommy's aunt ..... Mrs. Paul Landmann
Fritz Von Bismarck, Baron of Bavaria ..... Paul Landmann
Eloisa, his daughter ..... Elizabeth Quade
Patricia, Eloisa's slave .....
Mrs. Charles Miller
Manfred, Earl of Saxonburg .....
Ralph Wollensak
The Duchess, owner of the castle ..... Ibez Stelling
Malissa, her servant ..... La Verne Bratz
Rinaldo, Tommy's body guard ..... Howard Schmidt
The Peasant, Johnny's personal slave ..... Raymond Koch
Miss Lake, the reporter ..... Janice Smith
Instrumental music, under the direction of Al. Hron, will furnish the entertainment between acts.
Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Women's club. The reservation of seats will begin at four o'clock on Tuesday, February first, at Miller's Drug Store.
The aim of the Women's club is to be a civic organization to do things for the village of Kewaskum. They can, however, do much without financial help. They are willing to work, and do work hard to raise money for various public enterprises. For years they have wanted to equip a domestic science laboratory for the school, and they have had to use every means of raising money for that fund. But the fund grows slowly because their membership is small and the dues are low and they contribute annually to all the needy organizations who ask for help and try to help the needy who do not ask for help. Right now, during this cold weather, if the school had a stove and some cooking utensils and some dishes (cups, spoons, etc.) for serving the food, a hot dish could be prepared for the eighty or ninety pupils who carry their lunches.
As mentioned above, the club is giving a home-talent play next week. They have worked hard on it and it will provide a good evening's entertainment. The women don't want the public to think, "they have contributed the library and the slides and musical instruments for the school ALONE. They did the contributing with YOUR money and for you people."
Since time began there has always been someone or some group fostering an idea. That's what the Women's club is—a group fostering BETTER COMMUNITY CONVENIENCES OR SERVICES.

TWO VICTORIES HELP LOCALS GAIN

PORT MAROONS BEATEN ON HOME FLOOR SUNDAY

In the first game of this week at Port Washington on Sunday evening Kewaskum gained another Land o' Lakes victory over the Maroons of that city. The score was 39 to 33, in the last meeting of the season for the teams.
This game found both teams playing hard with Kewaskum superior in strength except for the opening quarter when the Maroons pulled away to a 14 to 6 lead. In the second quarter the locals began to click and quickly overcame the big lead of the opponents by scoring 13 points to Port's 2. The half ended 19 to 16, Kewaskum. Again in the third period it was all Kewaskum, bringing its total up to 31 as compared to the Maroons' 22. Thus the game kept up until late in the final quarter when a final Port rally fell short, 39 to 33.
The all-around playing of Marx, and the basket shooting of Gibson, with 15 points, were the highlights in Kewaskum's victory. Stevens paced the Maroons with 11 points.

LOCALS BEAT ALLENTON FOR FOURTH STRAIGHT

The Kewaskum team won its second game of the week Wednesday evening in the local gym over the Allenton Gonrings by a score of 43 to 36. This was the fourth victory in succession for Kewaskum after losing four in a row earlier in the season. The team now possesses undisputed fourth place in the league standings, coming up from second last place in the last four games, and now has a fair chance remaining to win first place.
Although Kewaskum was greatly handicapped by the absence of three of its players in the Allenton game, the team still was good enough to down the visitors. Kohn was out of town for the contest, Dorn was snowbound and Stenschieke played only part of the game due to an injured ankle. On the other hand, Allenton was at its strongest for the game, and played its hardest for a victory over what is considered its biggest rival in the league.
Led by Rudiger, Milwaukee State Teachers college all-conference player last year, who now coaches at Slinger, Allenton matched Kewaskum point for point in the first half, leading 8 to 7 at the quarter and 15 to 14 at the half. At the start of the second half Stenschieke entered the game for the locals and immediately scored seven points to give Kewaskum a lead which the visitors never again threatened to overcome. Only after Gibson left Kewaskum's lineup in the last quarter on fouls did the losers make a final spurt, which the home five withstood and still won handily, 43 to 36.
The game was very exciting, roughly played and close enough to cause a great deal of enthusiasm by the small crowd on hand, which braved the snow-baked roads and cold to attend.
Besides Rudiger, who scored 16 points, Ritger, with 13, and Baehring, played fine ball for the losers. Rudiger, whom it is reported, has not missed a single free throw all season, again made six in a row. Marx and Gibson led the local scoring with 11 points apiece while Stenschieke netted nine in the second half.

NEW CEILING IN HOLY TRINITY SCHOOL HALL

Workmen members of the Holy Trinity congregation have been at work the past two weeks putting in a new ceiling in the school hall, under the supervision of the St. Mary's sodality of the parish. This work was deemed necessary because of cracking and sagging of the old plaster which made it dangerous to hold social events in the hall. Where advisable the walls in the hall and stairway were also repaired with a new coating of plaster to insure safety to the public when attending doings in the place and to greatly improve the appearance of same.
The only real thanks that can be fully expressed, is in the hearts of those who will be benefited by your generosity. May God bless you all for the fine way you have stood by, is our final word.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE HERE NETS RECORD AMOUNT

KEWASKUM FIRST TO REPORT IN THIS COUNTY

The citizens of Kewaskum responded very readily in the recent Salvation Army annual appeal, conducted during the week of Jan. 15 to 22, by going over the top and breaking all previous records. The local quota was $100.00, which was exceeded by $13.12, the total amount subscribed being $113.12.
Mrs. D. M. Rosenheimer, chairman, wishes to express her thanks to each and every person who donated funds during the successful drive, especially the committee doing the soliciting and A. G. Hron, who represented the Kewaskum Aluminum Co., H. W. Quade, the Kewaskum Creamery Co., and Clifford M. Rose, the Kewaskum Public school.
The following letter of appreciation and thanks was received by this office from A. H. Christian, appeal director, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan division of the Salvation Army, as a result of the splendid record attained by local residents in the drive:
TO THE PEOPLE OF KEWASKUM:
Words are inadequate to express the Salvation Army's, and my own deepest appreciation for THE WONDERFUL WAY IN WHICH YOU AGAIN SMASHED ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS IN THE KEWASKUM SALVATION ARMY ANNUAL APPEAL WHEN YOU RAISED $113.12. YOU HAVE A GREAT LITTLE TOWN, WITH A FINE, PHILANTHROPIC SPIRIT. CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR VERY EXCELLENT 1938 ARMY APPEAL!!! As first town to report in the Washington County Salvation Army annual appeal YOU HAVE SET A HIGH MARK FOR THE OTHER TOWNS TO SHOOT AT.
Firstly, I wish to thank this paper for the generous space given our publicity—A BIG FACTOR IN THE SUCCESS OF THESE APPEALS.
Secondly, allow me to express our heartfelt appreciation to the executive committee who handled the organization, and all the workers whose self-sacrificing efforts brought about such excellent results.
Lastly, I wish to express our deepest gratitude to ALL CONTRIBUTORS, whether firms, organizations, institutions, or individuals, whose generosity in the support of this great humanitarian service the Salvation Army is rendering the unfortunates of this county, made this campaign such a fine success.
If any were deprived of the joy of having a part in this great work of bringing sunshine into darkened lives, during the "Campaign Week," they may still have that pleasure by mailing their check in to the Salvation Army Divisional Headquarters, 823 N. 4th Street, Milwaukee, any time before October 1st, 1938, and it will still be credited to the fund for this fiscal year.
Should there be those wishing to leave a lasting memorial to bring blessings to unfortunates, long after they themselves have passed away, the Army's Legacy Department in Milwaukee will furnish them with information of the wonderful good being accomplished through legacies and endowments.
The only real thanks that can be fully expressed, is in the hearts of those who will be benefited by your generosity. May God bless you all for the fine way you have stood by, is our final word.

Better Be Natural!

Instead of "gilding the lily," Darryl F. Zanuck, Hollywood director, lets nature take its own course. Picture No. 1 shows siren-like Alice Faye a few years ago. Compare that picture with Alice Faye No. 2, from a recent picture. The same technique was applied to Sonja Henie, shown (No. 3) as Hollywood found her and (No. 4) as Zanuck has made her for the new picture, "Happy Landings," soon to be released.

DORIS DENE'S COLUMN

Young Couple Require a Home of Their Own for Happiness.

DEAR MISS DENE: I am twenty-five years old and the girl I love is very anxious to get married. Her people have money and we can go to live with them after our marriage but I am against this. However, my fiancée insists and says she will not wait to marry me if I don't agree. Actually I couldn't give her a home of her own for two or three years and she knows this. But she is keen on living with her parents, and for some reason I cannot look to the future with any enjoyment. I am worried and upset about this affair. Give me your opinion.—D. R. K.

ANSWER—When a maiden is so determined to marry that she actually forces her young man to the altar against his wishes and against all rules of common sense, she is demonstrating clearly the fact that she is more in love with the idea of marriage than with her future husband.

And she is also showing a lack of character which bodes ill for her matrimonial future. It is sheer weakness to rush into marriage when there isn't sufficient capital to finance the undertaking. It argues that the impatient lady is over-anxious to attain to the dignity of being a "Mrs."—that she is perhaps too much concerned with showing her friends that she's captured her man—or that she fears ridicule if she sticks too long to a suitor who is unable to offer her an engagement ring and a smart little apartment on the right side of town. Her cry is therefore: "Give me marriage at any price—even at the cost of my husband's self-respect!"

What kind of love is this—which demands such a sacrifice from the beloved? And what kind of woman is this who welcomes the prospect of living in somebody else's home? Show me a woman who doesn't want a home of her own—who doesn't long to be mistress of her own domain—and I'll show you a lazy little bride who prefers to have mother do all the working and worrying. Once this type of damsel becomes snugly ensconced in mother's nice comfortable home, it will take more than a mere man's wish to pry her out. Let her get used to having somebody else do the planning and budgeting and she'll refuse to change the state of affairs so long as she lives.

Her family and her husband suffer the consequences. A too indulgent father and mother let their declining years be burdened with an extra family around the house. And a patient long suffering husband has to get used to being a permanent guest in the home of his wife's people.

However kind his in-laws may be, they cannot help showing some resentment over the situation.

DEAR MISS DENE: I have been in love with a boy for years. He is popular with the girls, and although he says he loves me I have caught him cheating on several occasions. I have forgiven him, and taken him back time after time. I have gone looking for him, when he has not been around to see me. He earns practically no money and is not a good worker. I want to help him as I know his upbringing was unfortunate. Sometimes he seems to care for me, and other times he doesn't write for months or come near me. I would be heartbroken to go through life without him. Whenever I try to reason with him he reminds me that I haven't as many boy friends as he has girl friends. That is true as I am naturally shy and reserved. Please help.—M. V. H.

ANSWER—You're too young to go in for reforming an indolent youth who uses your affection and your good-nature as a pleasant refuge from the cares of his crowded life. The fact that he is still adolescent enough to gloat over the number of girl friends he's able to annex means that he can't be taken seriously by anyone. Obviously the reason he's treating you so badly is that he feels it would injure his reputation as a Don Juan if he were to show one girl too much attention.

You can do him no greater harm than by encouraging him to believe your sympathy and devotion are always on hand when he becomes a little weary of his round of pleasures.

You strengthen his conceit and his belief in himself when you take snub after snub and doggedly pursue him with the determination to reform him at whatever cost.

No weak sinner was ever reformed by being spoiled, flattered and humored. Life must teach him some sharp lessons before he understands clearly the error of his ways and the necessity for repentance.

So if I were you, M. V. H., I should give your wandering hero a long rest and plenty of time in which to stand on his own feet and face his own problems without the comforting assurance in his heart that you're just around the corner waiting to spoil him to death when he is in need of sympathy.

No lazy, shiftless boy ever resolved to do better things because his sweetheart made it clear that she was an ever present source of affectionate sympathy. The wise girl knows when to withhold forgiveness in order to strengthen the character of the man she loves.

Grief Real With Dogs
Grief is as real with dogs as with humans; often causes death. So-called "one-man dogs" are especially afflicted when separated from their masters. Making Winter Hours Count

SEW - YOUR - OWN means most at this season of the year when dark and long winter days make time hang heavy on your hands. You can get your Spring wardrobe well started by making these days count. This is the time to sew and sew—and then when the first crochuses show their heads, you will be all ready for Spring; your wardrobe in order and the right clothes to wear. With sew-your-own patterns and a few yards of material, you can make short work of this whole business of sewing.

Practical Slip. This four-gore slip is the choice of every woman who likes comfort. The side panels prevent the slip from twisting and turning and keep it comfortably in place on the most strenuous day. The pattern includes built-up and strap shoulder—and you can make it for your own wardrobe in a few hours at a fraction of what you would usually spend. Keep the pattern, you will use it again and again once you see how really comfortable this dress is.

Cheery Morning Frock. No matter how many of these informal dresses you have, you never have enough. So start right in to sew now and make two or three of them for Spring. This dress (the one in center) is designed on clever shirt-waist lines and buttons from neck to hem. Piping is used at edge of collar, cuffs and pockets. It's the neatest, trimmest little frock you have ever seen. You'll enjoy it all through the summer.

There are bachelors who do not complain, although in their lifetime they have bought 127 wedding presents.

CHEW LONG BILL NAVY TOBACCO

Are Women Better Shoppers than Men? GRANTING a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electrical refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean—rugs, floors, bathrooms, tiling—and have energy left over for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious entrees and desserts that surprise and delight her family? Where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that the careful reader of advertisements, because she has found that the advertisements believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family.

For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an insurance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads advertisements, too!

BUMBLE BEE WON'T HELP

Bee, Bee, Bumble Bee, Wouldn't tell a thing to me!

SO SAID Peter Rabbit to himself as he sadly took his way back to the dear Old Briar Patch. Peter was tired, for he had had a long hunt to find Bumble. His nose was sore, for Bumble had thrust a sharp little lance into it to teach Peter not to poke his wobbly, inquisitive little nose into places where it had no business to be. But Peter wouldn't have minded these things if he had found out what he wanted to know. But he didn't find out a thing, and so he was anything but his usual happy self as he plodded wearily along. He was hot, tired, disappointed, and cross.

And it was all because Peter wanted to find out where the storehouse of Bumble's cousin, Mistress Busy Bee, was, so that he could tell Buster Bear, who is very fond of honey, and so make Buster his friend. He knew that it was in a hollow tree, probably high up, somewhere in the Green Forest, but how ever was he, who couldn't climb trees and couldn't fly, going to find it? Then Jimmy Skunk had suggested that if he wanted to find out, which he didn't, he would ask some one who knew to tell him. Right away Peter had thought of Bumble Bee. Of course Bumble Bee would know, being own cousin to Busy Bee. So Peter had run all over the Green Meadows trying to find Bumble Bee, only to get stung on the nose and find that Bumble couldn't if he would and wouldn't if he could tell where Busy Bee's storehouse was.

Now Peter and Bumble are old friends and neighbors, and it surprised Peter to have Bumble refuse his request. But when Bumble, who is very short-tempered and much given to rumbering and grumbering, not only refused, but took Peter to task and gave him a regular scolding for trying to find that storehouse, Peter hadn't been able to find a word to say.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Peter Rabbit. Yes, sir, you ought to be ashamed of yourself to ask an old friend like me to make trouble for one of his own relatives," Bumble had said. "It would be bad enough for you to try to make trouble yourself, and I wouldn't have believed it of you before this. But to try to get me to tell you where my cousin's storehouse is so that that great robber, Buster Bear, can steal all she has worked so hard to make and save is—why, it's—it's just simply awful! Buz-z-z, buz-z-z. I never heard of such a thing! How would you like to have your cousin, Jumper the Hare, go tell Reddy Fox of a hiding place where he would be sure to catch you? You'd think it's perfectly dreadful, wouldn't you? Well, what you have asked me to do is just as bad. Yes, sir, it's every bit as bad."

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Peter Rabbit."

Now Peter had not once thought of it in that way. It was a new idea to him. He thought it all over after he got back to the dear Old Briar Patch as he nursed his sore nose. Little by little he began to see that Bumble was right. "Why," said he to himself, "I didn't think of it in that way. Of course, I wouldn't want Bumble to do anything to hurt one of his own relatives. Of course not. I didn't once think that finding that storehouse and telling Buster was going to hurt any one. But, of course, if he stole the honey, why—why—well, I wouldn't like it if it were my honey."

Boulder Dam Today

Wedge in Black canyon of the Colorado river, Lake Mead is the huge creation of Boulder dam, seen in the foreground. Lake Mead is 115 miles long and now holds 15,250,000 acre-feet of water, enough to cover West Virginia to a depth of one foot. Eventually it will hold 30,500,000 acre-feet. Below is a "beach of the desert" on Lake Mead, the new tourist mecca.

Dark Walls Can Be Brightened By Simple Plan

By BETTY WELLS

"My walls have distemper," she wailed. The lady was exaggerating but nevertheless dark walls, the sort that aren't deliberately planned by a smart decorator, can present a difficult problem. Not many years ago many English type homes were built with darkish rough plaster walls. We don't think the builders had the esthetic values so much in mind as the fact that such walls are extremely practical, never showing dirt or children's finger marks. But what to do about them if the budget doesn't allow a complete change of wall-view?

And what if our furniture bought to last a lifetime does not exactly fit in a background like that? With the dark tan rough plaster, the ideal type of furniture is Jacobean—heavy, sturdy oak that dignifies the dark walls. But with a heterogeneous group of furniture, it is still possible to achieve a pleasant, warm room, even if the walls are darkly forbidding. The rug should have brilliance. Use a bright Turkish type oriental, a modern rug or a twist weave broadloom in a warm vibrant color. Or polish the floor to shining splendor and use bright throw rugs. The sombre walls won't matter if the floor is gleaming. Windows should be treated simply, yet colorfully. Try stripes—clear greens with pale rust, bright blues with deep dubonnet—in simply tailored drapery-type draperies and with no glass curtains, of course.

Furniture can be pulled together with slip covers; a rough textured tweedy material in neutral-toned stripes might be the thing for the sofa, while incisive tones of the colors used in the draperies could be picked out for upholstered chairs. Season with ceramics and get as many highlights in the rooms as possible. Perhaps a huge green bottle standing in one corner will catch the light from the hall and drag it by its heels into the room.

If one or two pieces of furniture can be added try a long, low oak table in front of the fireplace or a sturdy, straight-backed Jacobean arm chair.

Aquaplaning where a desert once stood! With huge Boulder dam in the background, this water sports enthusiast is riding the waves in Lake Mead. Bath houses and all kinds of beach facilities have been established for the tourist crowd. Next year even more tourists are expected.

Almost forgotten in the public interest surrounding its larger brother (Grand Coulee dam in Washington) Boulder dam is now furnishing power to Los Angeles, 250 miles away. Only one-fourth the ultimate power equipment has been installed at the dam power house, where huge turbines work 24 hours each day.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY Newly appointed United States ambassador to the Court of St. James (London), Joseph P. Kennedy is one of the few New Dealers trusted by Big Business. His career has been amazing. At twenty he played baseball with Harvard, at twenty-six he was a bank president and at thirty-six a motion picture magnate. Four years ago he was named chairman of the Securities Exchange commission to guide Wall Street. Later, as chairman of the Maritime commission (with no previous maritime experience) he led preparation of the recent report which altered the government's ship building plans. Because he predicts rapid growth of trans-oceanic airplane travel, Kennedy recommended small boats. Kennedy's wife is a daughter of John Francis Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston. They have nine children. At forty-nine, a freshman in diplomacy, Mr. Kennedy is taking America's highest-ranking foreign post. He is the first Irishman to become United States ambassador to St. James, a post recently vacated by the late Robert Bingham of Louisville, Ky. Reported reasons for Kennedy's appointment are (1) formation of a reciprocal trade treaty with Great Britain and (2) developments in the American foreign policy necessitating a hard-headed business man at the London post.

CHEESE

Madison—Resumption of the idea of selling cheese in valentine packages was recommended to the Wisconsin cheese industry today by Charles L. Hill, chairman of the state department of agriculture and markets, as an excellent merchandising plan.

Ample evidence of the merit in marketing cheese in gift packages was obtained last year, he said, when the Oshkosh Wisconsin Booster club launched the idea, and during the holiday season when many cheesemakers merchandise their product in Christmas packages at the suggestion of the department.

Cheese wrapped in attractive packages is welcomed by persons residing in other states and makes an appropriate gift from the leading dairy state.

MORE CATTLE AND SHEEP IN FEED LOTS THIS YEAR

Madison—More cattle are now on feed in Wisconsin than a year ago but recent estimates indicate that there has been no change in the number of sheep on feed in the state as compared with a year ago, according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States Department of Agriculture.

With good feed supplies this year, a substantial increase in both the number of cattle and sheep on feed in the eleven Corn Belt states as compared with a year ago, is reported.

WORK OF 1937 WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE

By Henry O. Schowalter, Assemblyman, Washington County

WORK OF THE 1937 WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE

In closing this series of articles on the work of the Wisconsin Legislature, I am going to set out some of the questions often asked regarding our law-making body and my answers thereto. Should any reader have any further questions I shall be glad to answer them if possible.

Q. Does the legislature meet this year?

A. No, the regular sessions of the legislature are held in the odd-numbered years (every two years). The session starts on the second Wednesday of January.

Q. Can the legislature meet outside of its regular sessions?

A. Yes. Upon call of the governor of the state. When so convened no business can be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the purpose for which the session was called.

Q. Is a legislator required to be in Madison at all times?

A. No, only when the legislature is in session. The sessions for this two-year period ended October 16th. There will be no further meetings until January 11, 1939.

Q. How many representatives are there in our Wisconsin legislature?

A. There are one hundred assemblymen and thirty-three senators.

Q. How is the area a legislator represents determined?

A. Under the present membership of the legislature the state is divided into approximately one hundred districts as determined by the population. Such districts are bounded by county, precinct, town or ward lines consist of contiguous territory. A senator represents approximately three times the area of an assemblyman's district.

Q. How long do the legislators hold office?

A. The assemblymen hold office two years. The senators hold office four years. Each senate district is numbered in rotation, and the senators are chosen alternately from the odd and even numbered districts. This means the senate has at least sixteen experienced men at the start of each session.

Q. From what "walks of life" do our legislators come?

A. Of the 132 legislators (one died before the legislature convened) who answered the opening roll call of the 1937 legislature approximately forty were farmers, twenty-eight in various lines of business, twenty-three lawyers, about ten retired, seven or more in the labor organizing field, and others which must be classified under the general heading of "assorted."

Q. Is it advisable if interested in a particular bill before the legislature, to write or call your representative?

A. Absolutely. Every legislator welcomes the opinions of his constituents and will be glad to give you all the information available to special groups have their lobbyists represent them.

Many requests have been received by the governor and the secretary of state from business firms and industrial organizations as well as a copy of a resolution passed by the Common Council of the City of Milwaukee Jan. 17, 1938, asking that no arrests be made of persons using 1937 Wisconsin automobile license plates on their cars until after March 1.

In view of these appeals for an extension of license, it is requested by Governor La Follette and Secretary of State Theodore Dammann that enforcement officers make no arrests of automobile owners using 1937 plates on their cars until after Mar. 1, 1938.

In asking for this extension, however, automobile owners should be urged to have their new plates by not later than March 1.

EGYPT'S BOY KING

King Farouk I, 18-Year-Old Monarch, Marries the Fairest Flower of His Land in Elaborate Ceremonies Climaxing Royal Romance

By JOSEPH W. LABINE

For several centuries Egyptians have forgotten their illustrious national background. Their ancestors threw British troops into the sea and fought all Europe during the Crusades. Indeed, is not Egypt the center of the world and the mother of civilization?

Egypt's awakening dates back only a few years. Her passionate revival of nationalistic feeling is a still more recent development, hastened by the ascension of a boy king who is just now beginning to feel his strength. King Farouk I is 18 years old, not so young as to be putty in the hands of a scheming premier, nor old enough to be very diplomatic. Thus far his ultimate ambitions are not very clear. But the powerful Wafd (National party) has been driven from the cabinet and an allegedly pro-Fascist governing body has replaced it.

King Farouk ascended to the throne in 1936 following the death of his father, the diplomatic King Fuad, who managed to maintain his power without bowing too deeply before the strongly democratic Wafdists. If Farouk were older he would probably follow a similar strategy instead of attempting to safeguard his power by liquidating the Wafd.

Although street riots between Wafdist Blueshirts and pro-Farouk university students have been common the past few months, a truce has been called until the current tourist legendary Egyptian charm." The royal romance resulted from a childhood friendship between Farida and Farouk's four sisters. Early last year when the royal family visited Switzerland they took the new queen along. Romance budded in the Alps.

Actually, King Farouk will not be eighteen until February 11. But he is already more than six feet tall. Egyptian press agents claim he has "a finely trained mind, a strong and stalwart physique."

Like monarchs of old, Farouk has been trained from birth to the arduous duties of kingship. His childhood, although happy, was not as carefree as that of children born to a less exalted destiny. He was taught the necessity of punctilious courtesy, to bow acknowledgements and return salutes, all a part of the burden of responsibility which was destined to fall on his shoulders.

Find Historic Parallels

Wafdists may have some reason to believe their new king is being impressed with his importance. It has been conveniently discovered

Said to be the first independent king Egypt has had since the days of Cleopatra, King Farouk I isn't content with merely sitting on the throne. He also wants to rule.

the senate, Farouk refusing to approve the Wafd majority's nominee. A few days later he declined to sign a bill authorizing expenditure of funds for suppression of foreign propaganda, demanding an accounting for every cent.

Eventually Nahas was forced to resign when his differences with Farouk failed to dissolve under arbitration. In his place Farouk appointed Mahmoud Pasha, whose private army—the Greenshirts—have often clashed with Nahas' Blueshirts. With so many "shirts" flying through Cairo, it was quite obvious that somebody was going to lose one. A few days before his forced resignation, Nahas had ordered dissolution of the Greenshirts. Mahmoud, in turn, not only abolished the Blueshirts but also all other "shirts." Whether this wise move will stop the rioting remains to be seen.

Fascist Trends Apparent

Great Britain is justified in being doubtful about Premier Mahmoud. Although he has given every assurance that his new cabinet embraces the policy of friendship for Britain, there is too much Fascist zeal in the patriotic slogans of Mahmoud and his followers. Egyptians are encouraged to despise everything foreign, to speak only in Arabic, to buy only from Egyptians and to keep as their motto something like: "Allah, the Fatherland and the King!" Still another Fascist note, paradoxical though it may be, is the Wafdist Blueshirts' determination to defend democracy with an organization that is itself Fascist on the surface.

Great Britain realizes that Egypt is in the center of a political hotbed. In Libya, along the Egyptian frontier, Italy has placed highly-mechanized army units. Arabs throughout the Near East are aroused by England's policy in Palestine.

King Farouk's latest attempt to drive the Wafdists from power was an order dismissing the highly democratic parliament for one month. The order followed close upon the heels of Nahas' dismissal as premier, but its immediate end was merely confusion. As the chamber speaker was about to read Farouk's order, irate Nahas jumped to his feet and began to protest. Police were called, the lights turned out and the parliamentarians stumbled to the streets. Nahas could smile, however, for he had won temporary success. The dismissal order had not been finished.

Election in Offing

Scheduled almost at the same time as the royal wedding is a new parliamentary election in which King Farouk and Premier Mahmoud hope to see the Wafdists defeated. At present the Wafd has 184 deputies out of the total of 232, and 94 senators out of 132. If this great majority is wiped out, Egypt's democratic government may be on the way to disaster.

Among plans already announced by Premier Mahmoud is enlargement of the army from 11,000 to 50,000. Even 50,000 troops would be an unimportant stumbling block to any invader who might covet Egypt. Therefore observers believe the military expansion is for internal defense of Farouk and the palace government. Built swiftly, it would be a loyal army, ready to do the bidding of its king and premier. With such a force behind them, Farouk and Mahmoud might successfully eliminate the Wafdist competition.

But perhaps the influence of his beautiful young wife will help pacify the boy king. Possessed with the idealism of adolescence, Farouk is possibly going through a period when he wants to play with his power, to be as strong as the pharaohs of old.

season is over. And tourists are swarming through Cairo right now, because the boy king is taking unto himself a wife.

The Bride Is Pretty

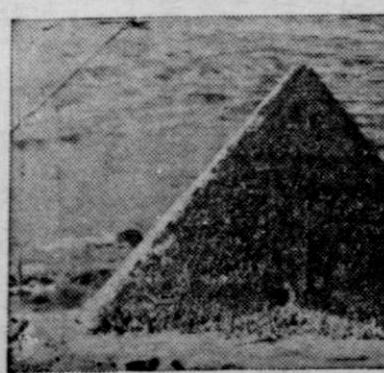

Preparations for the elaborate marriage ceremony starting January 20 have been under way for months. The bride is comely Miss Farida ("The Only One") Zulfikar, daughter of Zulfikar Pasha, senior justice of the mixed appellate court of Alexandria. ## RAMBLER

Due to the bad weather this week, the attendance in school has been very poor. Regular classes have been held, however, so as little time as possible will be lost in keeping up with our school work. We realize that some students living in the village are taking advantage of the fact that there are so few in school, and are enjoying a little vacation at home (wouldn't it be exciting if Kewaskum had a truancy officer?). Everyone is happy about the results of the game Friday night. It certainly was a thrilling game and there were plenty of tense moments. All of us are thankful that the heating system has been repaired. The school building is really very comfortable, especially during these cold days. If you'd like to see some fancy "banqueting," just come to school during the noon hour and see the lunches brought by a group of sophomore girls—there's everything from soup to nuts (and more). Isn't it too bad that we can't award medals of bravery to those few faithful students from the country who have walked to school through the deep snow. Heard in the freshman science class the other day—Mr. Furlong: "If the world is round and turns every twenty-four hours, what keeps us from falling off?" Alfred Holzman: "The law of gravity." Harold Bunkelman: "Well, but how did people stick on before the law was passed?" We can't understand why Pearl Hron, who lives right next door, can't possibly go to school on

BIRTHDAY BALL

PLANS COMPLETED
All plans have been completed for the celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday, a anniversary in Washington county this Saturday, Jan. 29, in his date in an effort to raise funds for a new national foundation for the scientific study, treatment and cure of infantile paralysis. Since coming into office, the president has dedicated his anniversary to this fine cause, and the nation has willingly followed in his footsteps.
Communities and organizations everywhere are uniting in the fight against one of our most dreaded diseases—infantile paralysis. Every year, in some town, some county, some state, this grim terror produces fear, panic, death, or human wreckage, and thus war has been declared against this disease.
Amputation in the war is money raised by respective community celebrations of the president's birthday, for the chief executive has given his birthday in perpetuity to the new created national foundation, aiding in the fight. Funds raised by this year's celebrations will be concentrated in the hands of this national foundation, from which directed dollars will flow to further the fight against infantile paralysis on all fronts—throughout the country.
Every citizen of the United States can participate in the good cause by attending his or her community celebration. One such celebration has already been held in the county. This was at Newburg last Saturday evening, Jan. 22, featuring a dance at Geib's hall. A fine crowd participated in the event.
West Bend will hold a birthday dance at West Park ballroom on Saturday evening, Jan. 29, to the music of Chick Sale's orchestra. Admission will be 40 cents a person. Tickets are already on sale, and indications are that a record crowd will attend.
Hartford and Slinger will hold a joint celebration at the Schwartz ballroom, Hartford, on Jan. 29. A dance will be the feature.
Kewaskum and Wayne have united in a joint celebration, a dance to be held at the Kewaskum Opera House on Saturday, Jan. 29.
Jackson will hold a party on Jan. 29 at the village hall. The program starts at 8 p. m. with a talk by a well known speaker. Card playing will begin at 8:30, with prizes to be awarded, and dancing will get under way at 10:30. Lunch and refreshments will be served, and a free will offering will be taken for the benefit of the infantile paralysis foundation.
Barton is sponsoring a benefit movie at the West Bend theatre next Wednesday, Feb. 2, arrangements having been made with the co-operation of August C. Berkholz, manager of the theatre. Tickets may now be obtained at any of the Barton business places. The admission is 30 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The picture to be shown is entitled "The First Lady."
Germantown is holding a dance at Habermacher's hall to the music of the Seifer orchestra. Admission is 25 cents a person.
Once again, the public is urged to do its part. Only by attending one of these community celebrations can the national foundation be assured of the necessary funds to fight the awful scourge of infantile paralysis.

Melius led the Kewaskum scoring with 21 points while Harbeck tallied 15.
