Elmer Retzlaff Wed To Miss Erma Schulz

In a spring ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Gerhard Redlin 'r Zion's Lutheran church, in the town of skum and officials of Wayne, at 1:30 p. m. on Easter Monday, April 18, Miss Erma M. Schulz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schulz, Route 3, Kewaskum, and Elmer Retz. Sept. 4th, after laff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Retzlaff, Route 3, Hartford, became husband and wife.

The bride was attended by Miss Pearl Derge, a cousin as maid of honor, and Mrs. Raymond Schulz, a sister-in-law, as bridesmaid. Attendants for the bridegroom were his brothe: Harvey Retzlaff, as best man, and Raymond Schulz, brother of the bride,

The bride was attired in a beautiful white satin gown of princess style with train. Her turban of veil effect had lace trim and she had a long trailing tulle veil. Her bouquet consisted of white roses and Easter lilies with streamers. The maid of honor wore a peach colored net over a satin taffeta gown with a Bolero jacket. Her bouquet was of white and vellow roses tied with a white bow. The bridesmaid was attired in a gown similar to the one worn by the maid of honor and carried a bouquet like hers. Both wore peach coronets as headdresses, white slippers, and gloves to match.

Granddaughters of Amercan Millionaires Run Away With Titled Europeans, Taking Money With Them!

Last December Countess Barbara Haugwitz Reventlow walked into a United States court at New York and renounced her citizenship. A few days later employees walked out of the F. W. Woolworth stores her grandfather founded, carrying signs which "We like the United States, but want more pay . . . Babs with our money runs away!"

Meanwhile Uncle Sam's bookkeepers in Washington discovered that the former Barbara Hutton was depriving John Public of $30,000,000 in estate taxes. And citizens generally became aware that their nation places no restriction on export of Amer-

The first was Prince Alexis Mdivani, who also demanded $350,000 a year when did not approve at first, because she divorced him in 1935. The Mathilde McCormick received no current choice, once-impoverished Count Haugwitz Revent- a Swiss riding master. But in 1929 low, is more conservative.

Frank Woolworth is not the only self-made American who wound was healed. But to eccentric Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, would snort. Another is the Max Oser was always a "gold seeklate Charley Manville, a Mil- er.' waukee tailor and Black Hills gold prospector who made millions from roofing and asbestos.

Only a few weeks after Countess Barbara renounced her citizenship, Mrs. Lorraine Manville Dresselhuys of Holland returned to New York for a brief visit, just long enough to take a similar step. The former Lorraine Manville is old Charley's granddaughter, and a sister of the notorious Tommy Manville whose blonde wives get him in the headlines periodically. And her cousin, the former Estelle Manville, is married to Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden.

It's an Old Habit.

But Lorraine Manville and Barbara Hutton are not the first rich Americans to renounce their citizenship. It's a habit of social aspirants that dates back to the nineties, when Anna Gould, headstrong daughter of old Jay Gould and heir to $18,000,000 of his railroad holdings, automatically renounced her citizenship to marry Count Boni de Castellane in Paris.

The count spent $3,000,000 in American gold in five years and Anna divorced him. But a short time later her brother, Frank Jay Gould, formally abandoned his native flag for France.

Probably the most famous ex-Americans are the Astors, descendants of the German butcher's son who left New York for the great Northwest and made a fortune in fur trade. The Astors began going British in 1899 when William Waldorf Astor shipped for London and took his money with him. A few years later came his sons, Waldorf and John Jacob. The former married romantic Nancy Langhorne of Virginia in 1903, necessitating her renunciation of American citizenship. Today she is Lady Astor, a member of parliament!

It was in 1916 that old William Waldorf Astor went through an imposing ceremony that made him a baron, a title he'd been coveting for years. It meant that approximately $50,000,000 in New York land were controlled by a member of the English aristocracy.

John D.'s Grandchildren.

The late John D. Rockefeller was another self-made American magnate whose grandchildren married foreigners. Mrs. Max Oser, a Swiss citizen, received millions by way of her mother, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Margaret Strong de Cuevas, daughter of the late Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas was John D. Rockefeller's favorite grandchild and she received $25,-000,000 in his will. This was because Mrs. de Cuevas' mother, Bessie, was not living at the time old Rockefeller bestowed large sums on each of his children. In addition to this huge sum, Mrs. de Cuevas received more than $2,000,000 from her grandfather in 1919, and $100,-000 when her grandmother died.

Married "Poorest Duke."

The list of Americans abroad is quite a bit longer. Close on the heels of William Waldorf Astor was Helena Zimmerman, daughter of the late Eugene Zimmerman, Cincinnati railroad magnate. She married the duke of Manchester in Paris in 1900. Known as the "poorest duke in England," he shared her $15,000,000 until she divorced him in 1931 to marry the earl of Kintore.

Mrs. Harry Symes Lehr, a native of Philadelphia, formally re-Unlike Frank Woolworth and Charley Manville, old John D. lived to witness the formation of "foreign nounced her citizenship by marrying Lord Decies of London. The truth is that most European nations make greater assessments than the United States. Others claim they have flown to Europe to avoid publicity. In the former Barbara Hutton's case this may be true, but an equally wealthy and comely American girl-Doris Duke Cromwell-lives in her native land quite happily. As for John Public, he doesn't care where the Manvilles, Huttons or Astors live. But he does like to see American dollars stay in American pockets. @ Western Newspaper Union

Proximity Best Ally to Young People Who Think They're in Love.

DEAR MISS DENE: I have only one daughter whom I have to support. My work takes me all over the country so I am not with her much. She is sixteen now and has fallen in love. The boy is perfectly all right, and his family are delightful people. I tell her that she is too young to marry. This is her first love affair. The boy's family have suggested that my daughter come to live with them for the next two years. This will mean taking her out of boarding school but it will give her time to test her love which I think is the most important thing .- Mrs. D. B.

ANSWER-The trouble is that two years of constant companionship with her first love may simply allow your daughter to slip into a rut. Proximity is Cupid's best ally when boys and girls are young-and in love with the idea of being in love.

There may be no earthly reason why your girl shouldn't marry her Romeo-but you think yourself she should be given the chance to discover whether she's experiencing the genuine blue white emotion or not. And I suggest that while she lives with her fiance's family-who will take care that she sees no other boys and has no opportunities to make other friendships-she isn't going to get any proper perspective on her love affair at all.

Keep her at school and let her mind keep on growing up. Let her be where she will have opportunities to meet other men. Let her develop outside interests through her school life. In that way you'll be equipping her to be soundninded so that one of these days she can depend on her own judgment and be competent to choose a husband for herself. You see most girls of sixteen would like nothing better than to be almost-en-gaged-to-be-married with both families encouraging the romance as hard as possi-ble. At sentimental sixteen we ask nothing better than that life should be one Fortunately few of us attain this heavenly state. Against our will we are kept at school, we are constantly jacked up to common-sense standards-we are urged to cut out foolishness and to pay attention to the business of getting ourselves educated. We hate it at the time-but in the end we find that we have been saved from making a mess of our lives. The very treatment against which we rebelled has prevented us from becoming serious about Tom, Dick or Harry who is the first boy who ever cast languishing glances in our direction, and who might easily have become our beau ideal if we hadn't been rudely ridiculed out of romance.

Now your daughter, Fond Mother, is just another sweet sixteen, all wrapped up in her great love affair, and probably purring with happi-ness because Eate is propelling her in exactly the direction she wants Taken away from school she can devote all her time to the business of being in love-she can become daily more absorbed in the hero of her dreams who even if he doesn't fulfill all her expectations, will soon become a habit with her. Don't you see that in allowing her to have this experience, you are depriving her of the discipline and the common-sense which would make a real person of her-and give her opinion and ideas of her own with which to confront the world? I honestly think you would be doing the kindest thing, in insisting that your girl keep on with school -that she make new friends-and that the engagement be postponed.

DEAR MISS DENE: Is it unreasonable of me to demand that husband show me affection? Other wives are constantly showered with affection in my presence, and I am treated as if I'd been married for fifteen years. My husband says I am unreasonable. Am I?-Amv.

ANSWER - Probably you are, Amy. If you married an undemonstrative man you knew what you were in for and it isn't fair for you to start complaining now because a reserved fiance has turned out to be, quite naturally, a husband who objects to showing his affection in pub-

You must admit that the fact that man is demonstrative doesn't actually make him a good husband. There are plenty of traits more handy to have around the house than the faculty for incessant love-making. Begin to count your blessings, Amy, and see whether after all the other women's husbands are as kind or generous or sweet-tempered, or easy going as your own

And don't forget that nothing can be worse for your undemonstrative spouse than your constant reminders that he is a perfect frost. The more you tell him about his shortcomings, the more disinclined he'll be to show affection. His reserve rises from shyness anyhow, and you can't cure shyness with nagging criticisms.

Be sensible and thank Providence for all the good qualities you've annexed in one man. Hang on to your sense of humor and let go some of your vanity. You're worried mostly about this situation because the other wives are getting something sider that you wouldn't change your own silent but devoted life-partner for all the petting sheiks in the world. © Bell Syndicate.-WNU Service.

The earliest specimens of tapestry which can be accurately dated were found in the year 1903 in the tomb of Thutmosis V (1420-1411 B. C.) at Thebes. They are in the Cairo museum. There are three small examples, woven in colored linen threads.

For the time being she withheld some of the truth from her aunt, who was the housekeeper. She merely said that her horse had become frightened and run with her and that Frank had saved her from a nasty accident.

"I'll tell her the whole of it later, when I'm not in such a funk myself," she said to Merry when Mrs. Clayton left the room for a minute. returned to the school, but she asked him not to go so soon.

"I've just got to have a talk with you, Frank," she declared earnest-

"Now, Don't Forget, Not a Word to My Father."

"We've got our wires all crossed up. Please wait for me to get out of this rig and into something else. I won't be long."

It was queer, or maybe it wasn't, but he was willing enough to wait. There was something about her, and he was beginning to think it was more than the fact that she was such a positive stunner, that now made him ready to do more than a sealed receptacle of Hodge's perlittle waiting.

So he sat in the pleasant and talked to Mrs. Clayton, who revealed herself to him as a widow

She came down shortly in a dainty frock that had bewilderingly altered her appearance.

Outwardly at least, she had shaken off the shock of her unpleasant adventure.

"But I've forgotten all about Walter," she said, laughing. "That's me, the champion forgetter. Somebody's sure to tell him about the runaway, and he'll turn a handspring. So I'm going to phone him now and let him know I'm all okay. I'll make it snappy, Frank."

Mrs. Clayton smiled as Inza danced lightly away into the next room to telephone. "She's always making things snappy," she ob-"She can turn a dull moserved. ment into a blaze of fireworks when she wants to." She excused herself now, and Inza found Merry alone in the library when she returned. She came straight to him and gave him both of her warm hands.

"Now," she said, "we've got to find out where we go from here, and there's only one way to do it. I've got to talk to you about Bart Hodge. I want to tell you why I asked you to be friends with him.' Inza's words gave Frank a small jolt. She had kept him there to talk about Bart Hodge, and that was not so good. Almost anything else, he thought, would be better. She saw a faint cloud pass over his face and spoke again quickly: "Now don't get me wrong, Frank.

Wait till you've listened in on what I'm going to tell you." She made him sit down again and then seated herself in front of him, where they could talk quietly and confidentially. "I know what you've thought of my friendliness with Bart, for I'm

"But your brother said you were hot over the piece that appeared in the newspaper later. He said you were ready to fry Hodge."

"Well, I was. I go off the deep end that way sometimes, before I get all the angles on a thing. I hadn't seen the newspaper then, and the way I heard it Bart had said the old dog was merely sick and not mad at all, but when I read it I found Silas Gleason had said that. Then I had another talk with Bart." "Just turned yourself into a guardian angel, eh?' "I'm no angel, Frank. I'll never sprout wings. But I felt there was a mystery about him that I wanted to pry into. So I got out my pry and went to work. Maybe that wasn't nice, but I did it. Now, Frank, I'm going to tell you some things in strict confidence, and I wouldn't do it if I wasn't sure you'll never spill one of them to another living soul-Bart much less than anybody."

Merriwell was uncomfortable. He didn't feel like being made the sonal secrets, but she went on swift-

"Well, what-" "Wait a minute, Frank. Let me lay it all on the line first. Bart went in for sports against the wishes of his father, who never took any interest in athletics. Now his father lays Bart's flops to the time he's spent on football, baseball and other things outside the usual curriculum. And he's threatened that one more blow-out is going to be just too bad for Bart."

"But I don't see how I can-" "But you can do a lot for Bart. and all you need to do now is overlook his bad breaks and keep shooting straight with him. He'll come round in time. I've seen signs of it already. He has admitted to me grudgingly, that you're not the sort of fellow he figured you were."

"But you've asked me to be friendly with him, Inza, and I can't imagine our ever getting on that basis."

"You never can tell what'll happen, Frank. Don't I know it! He was all shot over his failure to stop my horse, and he gave you an awful queer look when you said so promptly he had done his best. Frank laughed now, his spontane ous, infectious laugh. "Why, that'll be easy, Inza. And I'd do much more for you."

Laughing also, she flung out her hands again, impulsively, and of age. "I guess we've got those crossed wires all clear, Frank. Let's not (TO BE CONTINUED)

English Lord's Romance Told In 'Patrician'

By ELIZABETH C. JAMES

LORD MILTOUN, main character of John Galsworthy's "The Patrician," was born into the titled class of England. His family owned and controlled vast properties and the lives of countless people. Amid the varied interests of his family, in which three generations lived in close contact, and against a background of town houses and country houses, Lord Miltoun grew to maturity with an ascetic soul and a highly "I was ready to burn him up my- cultivated mind. World travel had added breadth to his university training so that he now felt himself somewhat qualified to take his place in James

It was at this time, just when his parents, Lord and Lady Valleys, were satisfied with the trend of things, he met Mrs. Noel

Mrs. Noel lived alone in a little house not far from Lord Miltoun's country place. Through music and over the tea cups before a warm fire, she grew into the barren heart of the young nobleman, who loved her warm, soft coloring and her artistic insight. As soon as Lord Miltoun's family heard of this situation, they had much to say about it to each other. As usual Lady Cas-terly was first to do something. Using her walking cane and holding the arm of Lady Barbara, her beautiful granddaughter, the seven-ty-eight-year-old grandmother went down to the little house to see this person who dared intrude into the well-arranged life of Lord Miltoun. The conversation was such that Mrs. Noel decided to give up seeing Lord Miltoun.

Family Discovers Marriage.

In the family a sort of crisis arose after Lady Casterly's call. There was much talk and it was discovered that Mrs. Noel was already married. Lord Miltoun was shocked. He had interpreted her situation to mean divorce.

Lord Miltoun went to see her. She told him now she had been married very young to a much older person, a clergyman of the Church

THE GREATEST NOVELIST

Into a family of wealth and prestige, John Galsworthy was born in 1867. His education included the best preparatory schools and then Oxford, where he studied to be a lawyer.

The practice of law, wide travel, and a well-balanced life passed the years until Galsworthy was forty. In that year he published his first novel, and from then until his death in 1933 his fame continued to grow. In 1932 he was awarded the Nobel prize for his novel, "The Forsyte of England. How life had grown intolerable and how she had lived alone for this long time. He told her good-by and left at once for London and his affairs in parlia-

His first speech brought acclaim to the name of Lord Miltoun and honor to the family. Lady Barbara went into London to congratulate her brother. Going to his suite of rooms, she found him raving with a brain fever. His ravings were to Audrey Noel and he spoke beautifully of his love for her.

Immediately Lady Barbara went to a telephone and made communication with Mrs. Noel, asking her to come at once to take care of Lord Miltoun. Of all this, Lady Barbara said nothing to her family. Mrs. Noel came at once and remained for days with Lord Miltoun, bringing him out of his delirium and giving him peace of mind.

Confronts Indecision.

Convalescence brought no peace of mind to Lord Miltoun. He had not the strength to fight the solid wall of his family, yet his mind and body were ill with longing for his loved one. As soon as he was strong enough, he went to London to see her.

Wishing to settle the dangling ends of the affair as quickly as possible, Lord Miltoun sought out his mother and father at their country place. The son stated that he would resign from parliament because his life was already joined with that of Mrs. Noel.

Sought Advice of Others.

But Lord Miltoun did not have what it takes to face a strongly united family. He did not rely upon himself, but instead he turned to others whose opinions he had been taught to follow instead of his own. When Lord Miltoun went again to see Mrs. Noel, he found only a letter that said little. She was gone. Rushing into the home of Lady Casterly, he spoke with fury to her, rushing out into the night again like a madman. Lady Barbara followed him into the automobile and drove all night with him.

Again Lord Miltoun entered the affairs of parliament, intent on becoming a successful statesman.

Health and Happiness Depend on Sound Teeth

That is a strong statement, but would be difficult to over-estimate the influence of the teeth upon human health and happiness.

Do you wonder how teeth can affect happiness? Consider, then, that a pretty face depends, first upon the position of the mouth when the lips are closed, and second, upon the appearance of the teeth when the lips are parted. You cannot have a lovely mouth when the lips close over crooked front teeth; you cannot have an attractive smile if the teeth are

And when gums recede, and loosened teeth are forced out of their natural position, the position of the lips is likewise changedwith the result that the lower part of the face is disfigured.

President Proposes Huge Spending and Loans Program ... Demands United Recovery Action

Because a federal statute prohibits taking of a foreign vote in the United States or its territorial waters, the crew of the German liner Hansa voted on the question of Austrian "anschluss" with Germany while the ship was in mid-ocean en route to New York. Here is the scene in the public room of the liner during the balloting. Seated is Purser Karl Zeplein, who registered the voters. Of the crew, 330 voted "jah"; six voted "nein," and that "there can be no dictatorship by an individual, or by a group in this nation save through division fostered by hate. Such division there must never be." Three groups of measures were proposed. The first involves mainly additional appropriations for the coming fiscal year, as follows: One billion two hundred and fifty million dollars for the Works Progress administration; $175,000,000 for the Farm Security administration; $75,000,000 for the National Youth administration; $50,000,000 for the Civilian Conservation corps, and the $1,500,000,000 already made available to the Reconstruction Corporation for lending to business enterprises. In a second group of measures

Mr. Roosevelt asked:

Three hundred million dollars for immediate expansion of the housing and slum-clearance work of the United States Housing authority; $1,450,000,000 for public works loans and grants; an additional $100,000,-000 for public roads; an additional $37,000,000 for flood control and reclamation projects already authorized and an additional $25,000,000 for federal buildings.

A third group listed by the Chief Executive referred to private credit. It involved desterilization of $1,400,000,000 of gold and a reduction by the Federal Reserve board of member bank reserve requirements which would add another $750,000,000 to the credit resources of the nation's banks. With these actions Mr. Roosevelt coupled a simplification of Security commission regulations to expedite smallbusiness financing.

The heads of the C. I. of battle has cleared away and a had been advised. It was a letter, Rebuke for Roosevelt dent Roosevelt has had since he entered the White House. Perhaps, indeed, by killing the government reorganization bill, the house of representatives administered to Mr. Roosevelt the most stern rebuke he ever has had since he entered politics. That licking has been given now and we are, or ought to be, concerned with its meaning because the story contains valuable informa-

First, I think it ought to be said that Mr. Roosevelt was made a victim of his own brand of politics. It is quite absurd to say that the bill to reorganize the federal government would have given him dictatorial powers. It did add to his powers, but he has powers now which would let him be a dictator if he felt that he dared to use them. So we can dismiss that dictatorship phase of the controversy insofar as its merit is concerned. We can not dismiss it, however, as a factor, indeed, the factor, that brought about the President's crushing defeat. There is no use in hemming and was decided in the house vote, which was by the narrow margin of 204 to 196. That issue was the combined fear and dislike of Mr. Roosevelt against confidence in and blind following of Mr. Roosevelt. In other words, it was the climax of a fight that has been going on since Mr. Roosevelt attempted to force legislation granting him six additional appointments to the Supreme Court of the United States, an accumulation of undercurrent bitter-

The real importance of the reorganization bill, therefore, lay in the fact that it was a political football, a vehicle. It was being carried by Mr. Roosevelt's faction in congress-and eventually was booted off of the field by those who dislike or distrust him.

The reason I feel so certain about the real issue in the case is that a Democratic congress only a few short years ago almost gave the then President, Herbert Hoover, the same powers sought by Mr. Roosevelt now. Further, an overwhelmingly Democratic - New Deal congress did give Mr. Roosevelt virtually the same powers in 1933, and he neglected to use them. The quesclear cut. In fact, it is made to appear that there is no question. A | President!" majority of congress-representatives and senators—were looking for a chance to show the President they again want to be congress and not a rubber stamp.

The strangest thing about this battle was that a mistake by the President provided the basis for a new courage on the part of congress. I said above that it was absurd for anyone to believe the reorganization bill would make Mr. Roosevelt dictator. It would have done some dangerous things which I shall discuss later in this article, but the dictator phase was rather silly. Yet, it was the conviction of hundreds of thousands of persons that the legislation would make Mr. Koosevelt dictator that licked the bill. And paradoxically, Mr. Roosevelt caused them to believe that. His own act was responsible for that conviction.

It will be remembered that Mr. Roosevelt was in Warm Springs, Ga., on vacation when the bill was passed by the senate. It was obvious from the close call it had in the senate, even after certain concessions had been made, that it was confronted with trouble in the house. Mr. Roosevelt told newspaper correspondents at Warm Springs of his gratification that the 'senate could not be purchased by misrepresentation." That provoked a row in the senate. Sen. Hiram Johnson of California told the senate he would be "wanting in courage if he did not resent" such statements. Others spoke as frankly.

The congressional record for that day contains several emphatic observations to the Then the effect that Mr. Storm Broke Roosevelt was treading closely to the edge of constitutional rights. The Constitution, it will be recalled, assures the right of petition. It says that congress must make no law that will interfere with the right of petitioning the government. That was just a flurry, however, when compared with that storm which was to break next day. According to authenticated reports, Mr. Roosevelt informed the correspondents in his party at Warm Springs that he would have an important announcement to make very late that night. They were enjoined to say nothing; they were not to let their home offices know that an important announcement was coming. In the middle of the night-between midnight and one o'clock-the correspondents were given the impor-

It praised the purposes cal defeat Presi- and plans of the reorganization bill and then said in these words:

"I do not want to be a dictator; I have none of the qualifications to be a successful dictator, and I have too much historical background and too much knowledge of existing dictatorships to make me desire any form of dictatorship for America. Publication of that statement convinced hundreds of thousands of persons that Mr. Roosevelt could be a dictator under A. They deluged house members with telegrams, letters, telephone calls, personal calls. The pressure was terrific, although in the morning of the day the bill was killed, I doubt there were twenty men in the house who believed the measure would be sent back to committee for burial. They hoped to emasculate it, but they did not believe they could destroy it completely.

Now, as to a further reason why I believe the President's denial of a dictatorship desire proved his own undoing, I quote here a paragraph of a statement made on the floor of the house by Representative Barton hawing about the real issue that of New York (an advertising executive in private life): "Mr. Speaker, one of the first lessons I learned in advertising was taught me by the head of a great concern manufacturing radiators. He said to me: 'Never advertise that our radiators do not leak. I do not want the word, leak, or the idea of leaking associated in the public mind with our product in any way.' Mr. Speaker, night before last a certain gentleman got up in the middle of the night to associate the words, dictator and dictatorship, with his name, thereby putting those words into the minds of 130,000,000 people, many of whom may never have thought of them before. I do not know much about political strategy, but I do know that this national advertisement of an idea of dictatorship, like his use of the word, purchase, and his use of the word, feudalism, was bad advertising practice."

And there you have the complete answer. It was the greatest political mistake Mr. Roosevelt has made, greater even than submission of the bill to appoint six new members of the Supreme court. When he mentioned dictatorship, millions of Americans, proud of America, its tion, therefore, strikes me as being | traditions and its heritages, suddenly understood and said "No, Mr.

> Earlier. I mentioned some dangerous phases of the bill. Those phases concern Money and federal money and Patronage federal patronage.

> Patronage, pap and projects, as the thing is now broadcast.

At the outset, the bill contained provisions for placing the interstate commerce commission under political control. That would provide political control of the railroads-and railroad rates. Politicians have wanted to get fingers in that pie for half a century. Outbursts against that were terrific and it was eliminated. Provisions which would have permitted political control of the securities and exchange commission also were sidetracked. But there remained provisions which would have destroyed the general accounting office and the civil service commission. The first named agency decides whether congressional appropriations have been spent or are being spent according to law. The second has been the defender of the merit system in government. It has fought off political spoilsmen successfully until recent years.

Had these two provisions mained in the bill and if it had passed congress, Mr. Roosevelt, or any succeeding President, would have had direct control of spending billions of dollars, ordinary government expenses, relief, public works. grants to cities and states-all of the money. And reference must be made to political appointments for the spending of this money because they go hand in hand. There you have executive control that could perpetuate any kind of a political machine; Pendergast, in Kansas City, or the Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago, or Guffey in Pennsylvania. had to be in league with the White House in Washington or sink, if the President had the control that was proposed.

In summation, then, it seems proper to say that Democrats are breaking away from the New Deal faction in a more definite manner than ever before. I firmly believe we shall see reprisals against many of them; I believe, too, we will see some who voted against the reorganization bill come crawling back for presidential favors in order to gain re-election, and I think we saw in the reorganization bill defeat, the beginning of the end of the New Deal in control of American national policies.

Vitamin D Material Removed From Skin by Shower and Rub

By DR. FRANK THONE

Washington.—You play a few sets of tennis, or toss a medicine ball, or take some other kind of vigorous exercise in the sunshine. You come in to the shower feeling full of pep and vitamins. You rub yourself down briskly with a rough towel, and feel even better. But you've lost a good part of the vitamins you have just been acquiring!

For now it appears that the shower and rubdown that are orthodox parts of the American exercise and health ritual actually remove from the skin some of the stuff that vitamin D is made of. This is the conclusion of experiments at the Institutum Divi Thomae in Cincinnati, performed by Agnes C. Helmer and Rev. Cornelius H. Jansen.

In the experiments, groups of students, after exercising, had their bodies above the waist washed with clear water, which was all carefully saved and evaporated down. The terry cloths with which the students dried themselves were also saved. The residue from the washing and terry cloths was extracted with ether, and the material thus obtained subjected to ultraviolet irradiation and fed to rats afflicted with rickets.

What the Athletes Lose. The defective bones of the rats healed up, showing that the athletes' "washings" had contained the precursor or raw material for vitamin D, which was then converted into the vitamin by the ultraviolet treat-

In a second experiment the students were first irradiated with ultraviolet and the extracts then made in a similar manner. The results with rats proved that the washing had removed vitamin D itself from the boys' skins. In their conclusions the experimenters state: "There is a definite evidence that the secretions from the skin contain precursors of vitamin D. which after irradiation are due to be reabsorbed by the body, and the removal of which tends to produce a dearth of the vitamin unless it be supplied in some other form.'

Poker Excels Art Works for Rousing Emotions

New York.—Art does not contain emotion, nor is it very powerful in rousing emotion, Dr. Carroll C. Pratt, psychologist of Rutgers university told the New York Academy of Sciences here.

"The emotional effects of a game of poker, the news of the death of a friend, or reports o' fluctuations in the stock market are frequently far more powerful than any of those which come from the contemplation of work of art," he said.

"Certain patterns of tone may sound agitated, but the person listening to them need not necessarily feel agitated. The resemblance of the two has led most aestheticians to assume that there is a real emotion somewhere, when actually there may be no emotion, in any strict sense, anywhere."

Red Pine Has Disease That Causes Forking

Philadelphia.-Red pine, recommended as a hardy and diseaseresistant replacement for the fungus-threatened white pines of the northeastern United States, is not without its own disease troubles. A newly detected one is described in Science by Dr. John Austin Jump, botanist at the University of Pennsylvania. The disturbance consists in abnormally accelerated growth of one or more of the side buds at the tip, causing a forked growth of the tree. The angle between the forks is not always properly healed up, which of the Oriental inst permits fungi and other decay organisms to enter. The cause of the disorder is not yet known, but a fungus origin is suspected.

Chemical War on Ants Is Found to Be Very Effective

New Haven, Conn.-Chemical warfare methods have been proved effective against carpenter ants, which have been ruining large numbers of telephone poles in Connecticut and other states. The ants do not eat wood, as termites do, but only dig out nests in it. The effect, however, is just as ruinous.

Scientists at the state experiment station here have found that poles not too much hollowed out can be saved by sounding for the top of the cavity, boring a hole, and injecting a mixture of coal tar and creosote and gasoline or refined creosote. A pressure gun is used for forcing in the liquid.

poultry business is keenly competitive and requires a large investment. Unless a beginner has a sound knowledge of production and marketing problems, he will be seriously handicapped. The poultry population has increased more than 30 per cent since 1930. Numbers of eggs on the market show an even greater increase because hens are better layers than they were seven years ago.

These things ought to be carefully considered by one who is thinking of going into the poultry business. The premium price for eggs has practically disappeared. There is the advantage of savings in transportation and perhaps some of the handling costs. There is also the opportunity for a limited number to sell eggs at retail, which gives an

This does not mean that it is no longer possible to make a satisfactory income from the poultry business. It does mean that more careful planning is necessary and that more birds per farm must be kept to realize the same income that was derived ten or fifteen years ago. Poultry account studies have shown that the best paying part of the business is the sale of baby chicks. Following closely would be the sale of hatching eggs, and of course retailing gives higher income than the sale of eggs at wholesale.

The baby chick business is limited and will not stand a much greater expansion. The same is true with the sale of hatching eggs and establishing of retail routes. This should not discourage one who is able to do a little better job than the average fellow. It requires about 850 hens per person employed if eggs are to be sold at retail or for hatching and 1,200 to 1,500 if eggs are to be sold at wholesale. These numbers are necessary to derive an adequate income from the poultry business.

Twelve acres of land are needed for each 1,000 birds. As for investment, figures from farm studies show an investment of approximately $10 a bird. This figure includes the poultry, supplies, land and buildings, equipment and ma-

The guard should be kept over the emery wheel whenever the work permits. Certain tools, such as scythe, mowing-machine sickle, ensilage-cutter, blades, and ax require the removal of the grinding guard. The emery wheel itself needs care to sharpen tools well.

Goitre Prevention

The State Board of Health recommends that one iodine tablet (1/6 gr.) be given to school children once a week during the school year. The use of these tablets is for the prevention of simple goitre to overcome the lack of iodine in the food in this part of the country.

We have been informed that a great many of the adult goitres have been the continuance of the simple goitres of childhood, and it is appearent that the prevention of the simple goitre will prevent many of these chronic goitres in adults.

In order to carry out this program during the past year, an appropriation was made by the County Board for iodine tablets which are furnished to the schools.

There has already been an excellent response throughout the county and 3,300 or over 90% of the school children have received consent from their parents to take the tablets. In order to have an appreciable reduction in the number of children suffering from simple goitre, this program should be continued throughout the entire school life of the

Immunization

During the fall of 1937 a survey was conducted throughout the entire county to determine the number of children still unprotected against smallpox and diphtheria. All children over one year of age and through 18 were included in this group. We received a report from 4,394 children and found that 2,740 were not vaccinated against smallpox and 2,766 were unprotected for diphtheria.

The significant fact is the greatest number of these unprotected children are in the lower age group-one to eight years of age, and they are the most susceptible toward these diseases.

The supervision relates to such aspects of health as the nutrition of the individual, formation of habits of personal hygiene, clothing, exercise, rest, and the observing of physical defects and the overseeing of their correction according to medical advice.

Included in this group are the infant and pre-school children. The Parent-Teachers' Association of West Bend organized and conducted a pre-school round-up program this past summer at which time many children who were to enter school in the fall were placed under dental and medical supervision.

Washington County has been fortunate in having the services of Miss Gertrude Lorber, the District Nurse of the State Board of Health office in Fond du Lac. Miss Lorber has carried on work in infant and maternal hygiene in this county for several weeks during the past sum- ing 7, and Mr. Riley was declared elected as highway Commissioner.

Tuberculosis

Seven chest clinics were held in Washington County this year. Too many individuals are entering our tuberculosis sanatorium at Pewaukee, "The Oaks" at an advanced stage of the disease.

With the assistance of Dr. Hoel, Sanatorium Superintendent, we are symptoms.

Tuberculin tests are also given to children in an effort to determine the Road and Bridge Committee. if they have had contact with anyone having the disease. Plans For the Coming Year

Nine County Health meetings were held during the past year, and telt, 2; R. Storck, 2; Nehm, 1. at the last meeting held or November 1st the committee outlined the following plans for the coming year: 1. Continue goitre prevention.

2. Stress more health educational programs, such as dental hygiene, health films, poster material for schools, etc.

3. Preparation for a county-wide immunization program which Nehm, 1. Sell was declared elected as the second member of the Road will be successful only when each local community sees the and Bridge Committee. need for their children to be protected against smallpox and diphtheria.

4. School inspection visits throughout the county, inviting all parents to attend school for the health talks and general discussions.

REPORT OF HUMANE SOCIETY To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Washington County, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen: We herewith submit to you our report to November 1st, 1937.

Investigated a case and tried to reason with the man. After he saw his mistake he left for parts unknown.

Investigated neglected livestock, and children. Investigated underfed livestock.

Neglected horses that were sick. During August horses were lying in a field day and night suffering from heat prostration, with no shelter or water. The horses were shot.

And now I'll tell you about an average drunken father, who takes something stronger than beer. The father made his young daughter bring the cows home when the

In mid-winter when the wife had a six-weeks-old baby, the husband chased her out of the house while she was wearing a thin gingham dress. He kept her outside for a long time by putting chairs under the doorknobs so that she could not open the doors.

At one time the mother and the nine children were driven out of the house and had to sleep in the woods for a whole week. They lived on stale bread, and some jam that one of the children was able to sneak out of the house. They had to use water from the animals' water trough to wash with, so that the children could go to school clean. During this week the husband did not do the chores or milk the cows. The family sneaked over to take care of the stock whenever they could, but each time the father caught them he chased them away.

The father broke many windows and some furniture which was given to the family by a relative he disliked. He also broke the stove used for cooking, and kicked the burners to bits.

One time when the family needed meat, the father killed a hog, but was too drunk to scald it or draw the entrails. He refused to let anyone touch the hog, and drove the family and neighbors away with a butcher knife. As a result the hog became spoiled and had to be

One night, late, the father forced the small boys out of bed to clean out the cellar. They worked until Schloemer, 6; Regner, 5; Bartelt, 1. 3 in the morning, carrying out 20 bushel baskets full of dirt, empty bottles and broken crocks. When the last child was very small, the mother was holding it when the father came home. He began to torment the mother, who submitted to his pinching her arm for an hour, to prevent him from becoming angered and chasing the family out-of-doors. When he stopped pinching her arm it was black and blue, and she was hysterical.

Those of you who have had contact with widows and their dependent children already are convinced, without the need of the presentation of social statistics showing the hundreds of thousands of such persons who now need assistance and have needed assistance even before the depression. Contacts with blind persons excite the sympathies of even the most calloused person and the desire to assist these unfortunates is present in all of us.

Moreover, you are fully aware of the fact that the insecurity of the individual and his family in its various aspects of unemployment, old age, and premature death is a persistent problem that has always been with us during good times as well as bad. You know that this insecurity which is so characteristic of modern industrial life will steadily become more intensified unless we take proper social measures. It is difficult to believe that anyone would encourage individuals or families to apply for aid of one kind or another unless they were actually in need and it seems that one of the chief functions of an administrator for an agency of this kind should be to encourage applicants for assistance and beneficiaries receiving aid, to become independent and selfsupporting. We all realize that upon the self dependence of the individual rests the greatness of the State and it certainly is one of the functions of government to assist and encourage the unfortunate to achieve entire or at least partial self-support.

This agency, known as the Washington County Public Welfare De partment, was delegated with the responsibility and duty of administering the portion of the Social Security Act which applies to Old Age Assistance, needy blind and dependent children. The department is supervised by a County Pension Board of your choosing and the work is administered by the Director, who, in turn, is selected by the Pension Board. Therefore, the primary work of this department is the adminis tration of old age assistance, blind pension and aid to dependent chil dren. These aids have recently become known as categorical aids. The legislature in the State of Wisconsin has, for a number of years attempted to meet the general relief problem through a process of creating special aids for special groups among our needy population. In 1887 the first categorical aid was established in Wisconsin and was intended for needy soldiers and sailors. A special commission was created in each county and was known as the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Commission.

In 1907 the legislature provided for another special group. They were the needy blind and a special system of blind pensions was provided. In 1913, mothers with dependent children were singled out, and a special type of assistance called "mothers' aid," or aid to dependent children, was established. In 1925 another group was selected, this time the needy aged, and a special relief program, called old age pensions, or old age assistance, was created. Despite the fact that the legislature created these different types of special aids it evidenced an underlying understanding of the relationship of all these programs and the need for administrative integration by consistently placing the state's responsibility for them in agencies such as the Board of Control and the Industrial Commission.

After assisting the state and local governments from 1932 to 1935 n operating their general relief programs, the federal government in 1935, swung over to the categorical tradition and developed a series of specialized aids. Through its Social Security Board the federal government stimulated nation-wide interest in and granted substantial financial aid to the three of the categories of need already recognized by the Wisconsin legislature viz., the aged, the widows with small children, and the blind. Each of these groups are discussed separately, so that it can be clearly shown what Washington County is doing for the needy of each category.

Blind During the month of October, 1936 there were 26 persons who received blind pensions in Washington County and they received a total of $607.50 during that month, or an average grant of $23.37. These cases remained relatively stationary during the year 1936-1937. In September, 1937 the number of persons receiving blind pension in Washington County was 23 and they received a total of $510.50. The average grant during September, 1937 was obviously $22.20. There was $1,083,954.31 paid out of public funds to or on account es within that group. Under a dictator the role of 69,384 persons living in Wisconsin as old-age assistance, aid to dependent children and blind pensions during September, 1937. These people were living in 42.142 different household groups. Of this total, chosen representatives, have determined how $724,334.98 was paid to 36,809 individuals; $304,850.15 to 9.190 families with 21,409 dependent children; $43,142.63 to 1,976 blind. The above table shows that the total amount of blind aid naid in Wisconsin has decreased, that the number of beneficiaries has decreased but that the average payment has increased. Washington County's experience was that there was a decrease in each of these instances. aids being discussed in the first part of this report is reflected in this County from October 1, 1936 to October 1, 1937 was $6,781.64. Of this dren. Aid expenditures have naturally mounted more rapidly as the cost total sum the federal government paid $3,277.01, the state paid $1,629.80 of living increased during the year. This is especially noticeable in the January

All of the individuals receiving blind pension in Washington County of payments, aid payments and average grant for this type of assistance have been recently re-examined by ophthalmologists and upon the basis between September, 1936 and September, 1937 was as follows: of these reports the state has accepted reimbursement obligations, the that the pupil is confronted at any one time by only beneficiaries having been found sufficiently blind to warrant such reimbursements.

The Wisconsin law provides for assistance for needy blind persons over eighteen years of age. This pension is an amount which, when added to any amount received as an income from other sources, does not exceed $780. The law further provides that no pension shall exceed $360 if the person receiving the pension is blind, and $480 if he is both blind and deaf. Then too, he must have been a resident of this teresting to know something of the history of the law, of its progress state at the time he lost his sight, or have been a resident of this and of the ways in which it has contributed to the public welfare. in my office. > average grant placed Washington County in 25th position among the 71 counties as to the average grants for the month of September, 1937. The State average for this month was $21.83.

> You will remember that in our last year's report we told you that the State, because of an insufficient fund appropriated by the 1935 legislature, was unable to pay its full share of the reimbursement due the various counties. A deficiency bill known as Substitute Bill 2S, provided for the raising and distribution of funds to cover deficiencies in the State's share during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936. This bill was passed by both houses of the legislature and signed by Governor La Follette to become Chapter 6, Laws of 1937. On March 1, 1937 the State Pension Department sent Washington County a check for $1,357.20 and shortly thereafter, on March 29, 1937 another check was sent to Washington County in the amount of $670.18, which checks were deficiency reimbursements to this county which purported to pay in full for 80% of all approved expenditures for blind pensions from October 10, 1935 to January 1, 1937. In last year's report there was a deficiency in Washington County's blind pension appropriation amounting to $403.64. This deficiency was logically deducted from the $4,000 appropriation which left a net appropriation on October 1, 1936 of $3,596.36. To this appropriation was added the deficiency monies re ceived during this year, the total of which made an appropriation of $5,623.74. Since Washington County spent $1,874.83 for blind pensions during the past year, there was obviously a balance in this account of $3,748.91 as of October 1, 1937.

At the 1913 session of the legislature a new law was enacted which created and encouraged exercise of the option by the county court to grant aid to the parent or guardian of the child if the best interests of the child would be served. The whole tendency of subsequent legislation concerning this aid has been toward liberalization of the provisions of the law.

This agency in administering this phase of the Social Security Act is limited in its scope to cases within this category. The Wisconsin Statutes allow this aid to be given in the following instances:

(a) All cases must be likely to continue for at least one year.

(b) Aid is for children deprived of a father's support. (c) If the father is in prison, his sentence must be for

(d) If he has left his family, there must be a legal charge of abandonment for one year.

(e) If a divorce has separated parents, all legal means to enforce a father's support must have been exhausted before aid can be granted.

(f) If the father is sick, a statement from a disinterested physician must certify that his incapacity for work is likely to continue for at least one year. (g) If the children are orphans, aid may be granted to a relative

The total amount of money spent for aid to dependent children in Washington County during the year October 1, 1936 to October 1, 1937 was $21,421.29 of which Washington County paid $8,886.97 or 41.49 per cent. In September, 1937 there were 62 families receiving aid to dependent children in Washington County and these payments were intended for 140 children. The average grant per family for this month was obviously, then, $29.80 and the average grant per child was $13.20. Washington County in averaging $13.20 per child in September, 1937 ranked 18th among the 71 counties in Wisconsin, as to the amount of the average dependent children aid grants per child. The State average for this month was $14.24.

Your Honorable Body, in regular session in November, 1936, adopted resolution No. 42A appropriating $11,000 for aid to dependent children Status of Applications for Blind Pensions in Washington County by in Washington County from October 1, 1936 to October 1, 1937. In last year's report a deficit of $1,858.43 was shown and since a gross a priation of $11,000 was made there was a net appropriation of $9,141.57 left for aid for dependent children for this year after last year's deficit was deducted. Fortunately, however, Washington County benefited to the extent of $1,396.25 by the State deficiency appropriation. This amount when added to the net appropriation for this year amounted to $10,537.82 and since Washington County spent $8,886.97 as their share of this aid this year, there is a balance in this account as of October 1. 1937 of $1,650.85.

It is obvious from the foregoing figures that both the amount spe for this type of assistance and the number of persons receiving therefrom have increased materially during the past year and has ington County spent approximately $3,000 more as its share this ye for dependent children than it did last year. If all of these childre were sent to State schools or placed in foster homes the cost of m taining them would undoubtedly be far in excess of the amount s for dependent children's aid. If, in addition to this evidence of greater economy, let alone desirability, of having children cared f in their own homes whenever possible, more evidence is needed, one is free to reflect on what the situation would have been had County been required to provide foster homes or other housing, med educational and parental attention completely, from its own funds, for the number of children given this aid.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

Old Age Assistance, possibly because of the fact that it affects me persons directly, has become the most "popular" of the three categoric

During this past year there has been a net increase of 15.1 per cent n the number on the old age assistance payrolls in the State of Wisconsin, while aid expenditures in the State have risen more rapidly as the cost of living increased during the year. Due to the longevity of life and the decreasing birth rate, there is a greater percentage of our population attaining the age of 65 each year. The per cent of change in the number of payments, aid payments and average grant for old age assistance in the State of Wisconsin between September, 1936 and September, 1937, is as follows:

%	Change
Aid paid to beneficiaries	+23.8
Beneficiaries	+15.1
Average payment	+ 7.6

The question of why so many more old people are becoming dependent today than they did in yesteryear must necessarily arise and be mulled over in every analytically minded person. In reminiscing we can recall when the home of our parents and that of their parents constituted a little world in itself. Members of the family were generally their own farm and factory workers, butchers, bakers and barbers; policemen and firemen; often their own doctors and nurses, and oftenies their own teachers as well. Nowadays, although we can have re goods and services than our forefathers, our chance of having the depends on our ability to buy a living. In the olden days both children and the old people earned their place at the family table. amiliaes now are smaller and consequently there are fewer sons and dan ghters to care for the old people of future years. Then too, children for some reason have lost the feeling of responsibility toward their parents and have been content to let the State provide them with a minimum amount of maintenance. Generally speaking, they have lost their pride and deplorable as it is, they are no longer embarrassed to have the names of their parents appear on a public relief list.

It is nevertheless true that old people, like children have lost most of their economic value to a household. Most American families no longer live in houses where one can build on a room or a wing to shelter aging parents and aunts and uncles and cousins. They no longer have gardens, sewing rooms, and big kitchens where old people can help make the family's living.

Old people generally were not "dependent" upon their relatives when there was need in a household for work they could do. They have become dependent since their room and their board cost money, while they have little to give in return. Now they need money of their own to keep the dignity and independence they had when their share in work was the equivalent in money.

alyze the cause in a report not intended for that purpose but we have orable Body in selecting the present Pension Board, once again demonattempted to give our impression of the reason why there is need for strated your high-minded wisdom. The members of the Board are this expenditure of money.

Chapter 7, Laws of the Special Session, 1937 and this chapter became effective on October 19, 1937. This law amends sections 49.25 and 49.26 ties. If this department has enjoyed any measure of success, the of the statutes, providing for a general liberalization of these sections and providing that the method of handling property shall be uniform Pension Board. throughout the State. This has been the only change in the Old Age Assistance law during this year.

In the month of September, 1937 there were 203 old age assistance beneficiaries in Washington County and they received an average grant of $16.73. The average grant in the entire state for the month of September, 1937 was $19.68, placing Washington County in 47th position as to the amount of the average county grants in the State of Wisconsin.

ADMINISTRATION

Unfortunately, laws are not self-administering and the personnel policies and practices of an organization of this kind may be the difference between success and failure in achieving its objectives. The recruitment of competent employees is a first essential toward efficient administration. Administrative costs for these aids were exceptionally low in Washington County when one considers the value of work performed. This was made possible by the splendid cooperation given this department by all local officials. The advice, supervision and helpful assistance given us by the State Pension and State Public Welfare Departments has been of infinite help. They have not taken a paternalistic attitude but, instead, have merely suggested possible means to increase our efficiency. The most important factor in this economy, however, is the coordination of our work and the integration of this branch of the work of public assistance with the work of the Central Application Bureau which is another branch of the Washington County Public Welfare Department. With this unified administration of all types of public assistance, Washington County is able to secure the advice and help of Resolution No. 42A was introduced to your Honorable Body and sub- specialists in various fields who are retained by the State Department.

The Central Application Bureau in Washington County then ecame a part of the Washington County Public Welfare Department. This part of our agency is charged with the following duties:

(1) To certify eligible applicants to the Works Progress Administration, Resettlement Administration, Civilian Conservation Corps and other federal programs.

(2) To collect information and compile reports concerning public welfare problems and develop plans for remedying conditions contributing to dependency.

(3) To supply advisory and technical assistance to the local units of government in the development of relief and welfare programs. (4) To assist in the transfer of eligible persons from relief rolls to old age pensions and other special forms of assistance. (5) To fulfill all outstanding responsibilities of the Wisconsin Emergency Relief Administration in which the State Department requests our assistance.

You will remember that by a resolution adopted by your Honorable Body, Mr. George Blank, superintendent of the Washington County Institutions, was given the duty of administering relief to state transients and non-residents. The activities of his department will be made by Mr. Blank in a separate report. In addition to the services previously outlined, this department had this county as well as that of the County Sewing Project. This department distributed large volumes of foodstuffs as surplus ommodities to indigents, relief and pension cases, during the past year. The amount and approximate value of surplus foods distributed throughout the county from October 1, 1936 to October 1, 1937 follows:

SEWING PROJECT

A sewing project, supervised by the Works Progress Administration and sponsored by Washington County, operated in Hartford, Wisconsin, throughout the year. The women on the project were taken from relief or sub-marginal families and their salaries were paid by the Works Progress Administration. In this way the possible burden of the local communities in supplying them with direct relief was eliminated. The clothing which they made was distributed to indigent families in this county. Report No. 17 REPORT ON WASHINGTON COUNTY FAIR 1937

The 1937 County Fair, held on August 13, 14 and 15 was considered by many to have been one of the successful fairs held in recent years. There were more entries than formerly in all departments, with the possible exception of open class entries in the corn and grain department. These suffered because of the extreme drought of the past summer. However, the quality of the grains and vegetables shown was worthy of mention, since the dryness of the summer checked the growth of all vegetation.

of former years. More than 150 head of 4-H grade and purebred cattle were shown. In the colt club twenty-seven colts under two years were entered. The swine club had seventeen entries. Eighteen head of sheep made up the exhibits of an equal number of members of the sheep club The poultry department, usually overlooked by many fair exhibitors, was well up to expectations. More than fifty club entries in poultry many requests from farmers for an inspection of A very attractive exhibit of bees, honey, and other apiary products filled a corner of the demonstration building. This was arranged by members of the Washington County Beekeepers' Association, and was equal in quality and attractiveness to showings of former years. The open class canning and culinary departments were well filled with entries of a high quality baking and canning. The Junior farmers and homemakers' department, a division of the fair only two years old, proved very popular for young men and women between 20 and 25 years of age. Entries by these post club age people made the 4-H fair exhibits take on an appearance of the former old time county fairs. Even though the fair this year had more midway attractions than in former years, the main objective of the fair was not overlooked. All 4-H departments and contests were stressed. Hoard's Dairyman offered subscriptions to its paper for 5, 3 and 1 year respectively to the winners of the cattle judging contests. Perhaps the outstanding educational feature of the 4-H club program were the demonstrations given by the club members all day Sunday. Nineteen demonstrations were presented in competition for the honor to compete in the State Fair. The winning boys' demonstration team, consisting of Willard Gruhle and Willard Gerner, won gold medals at ry township in Washington County reported infesta- the State Fair for their excellence in their demonstration on "Quality

Excellent concert music was provided at the fair Saturday by the Wayne Band directed by the Reverend Mr. Graff, and on Sunday by the West Bend Moose Band under the direction of A. G. Hron. The Moose Band also headed the 4-H float parade on the fair grounds.

The fair grounds including all buildings were sold at a foreclosure The agent is also secretary of the Washington County Agricultural court on October 25. All buildings were awarded to the purchasers. sale on Friday, October 15. This sale was approved by the county The present holders of the property were asked to quote prices on any of the buildings purchased separately or all of them collectively. They asked $750.00 for each of the buildings known as Educational Hall, Speed Barn, Cattle Barn, Sheep Barn. The price for all of the buildings purchased collectively would be $2,500.00.

A price of $12,500 for approximately ten acres of land on the north end of the fair grounds was asked. This price included in addition to the ten acres, the buildings remaining on the fair grounds at the present time. These would all have to be moved from their present locations and rebuilt on the above mentioned tract of land.

At present it appears probable that the county fair for the coming year will be a one-day venture. A fair of this kind will naturally have a very limited income other than appropriations from the State and the County Board. In view of this, I would suggest to your honorable body that through your County Fair Committee you assume more of the management of the fair. To The Honorable,

There were 794 colonies of bees examined in 30 apiaries in the county, of which & colonies were found infected with American foul brood and 9108 lestroyed. In one apiary, two colonies were found housed in immovable framed hives, which are contrary to law and will have to be transferred to standard equipment by their owners as soon as practicable. We believe the inspectors, Messrs. A. H. Seefeldt and Aug. E. Wolkow, gave a very good account of themselves and that progress is being made toward the eradication of American foul brood in Washington

Since the last legislature appropriated $31,000 annually for bee disease control, we do not believe any additional county funds will be needed for the present and consequently we are not making a request for county appropriations this fall.

Thanking you for your fine cooperation during the past, we wish to remain,

Recommendation

Washington County is now on the town system for reli Proceedings-Admitted However, the law provides for hospitalization at the experience County in some cases. Primarily, of course, being under needing relief including medical care and hospitalization General Hospital for treatment at the County's expen coming a practice to send a great many people to loc County paying the hospitalization charge only and the lo the medical bill. In all hospital cases in accordance passed by the County Board, the Pension Departmen vestigation and report to the County Judge. In cases set hospital, the expense to the County is exactly the same w through County Court or whether it is handled by the Pen ment entirely. There would seem to be no reason why a should be made for local hospital cases.

I therefore recommend that all applications for made direct to the Pension Department. If after in partment decides that the case ought to go to Wisc Department can make all of the arrangements and Perhaps a resolution by the County Board would be resolution should provide that medical care like any be provided by the local units and that hospitali tion is necessary, is to be paid by the county. This actually working out anyhow; and it is quite likely that was handled by the Pension Department entirely, exc General cases, the number of local cases would be made Proceedings-Admitted Dated this 5th day of November, A. REPORT OF OAK SANATORIUM TRUSTEES

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors:

We respectfully submit the following report of the Superintendent and Tubercular testion, and that, after personal visits to the sanatorium ing of school children with subsequent X-rays of positive reactors and board members. At the time of these visits these men search for sources of contact has brought to light many hitherto unhigh the institution and shown the need for improv-suspected cases of tuberculosis. This work should be continued.

es. However, by their vote on this matter they Dr. Steinkopff resigned July 15, 1937. The trustees feel, however, ack of confidence in those same recommendations that they were very fortunate to secure Dr. Hoel in his place. Dr. Hoel refore, in view of this shortsighted attitude and was formerly Assistant Superintendent at the State San, Wales. We for subsequent improvement it seemed advisable feel he is capable and well fitted for the position and our patients and the Sanatorium are in capable hands.

A more adequate parking area is being built at the rear of the main them personally, and that I shall retain an active in-

m and its future. If at any time I can be of building. Many of the surrounding trees are dying and will be removed in connection with any institutional problem I and replaced.

The matter of additional Sanatorium buildings stands the same as rongly urge the Board of Trustees to invite the it did when we made our last report.

The total disbursements for the fiscal year 1936-37 were $33,363.99. many boards to visit the sanatorium at least annually le, so as to enable them to develop a greater insympathetic understanding of the needs and proband maintenance cost shows $32,963.99 as compared with $30,954.58 for the year 1935-36. Even though the total disbursements have been greater this year, a reduction in the per capita cost has been brought about because of the fact that we have had approximately two hundred more patient weeks throughout the year.

The per capita cost for the past year was $15.94, which is 1.04 cents a week less than the previous year. This compares favorably with other institutions. The per capita cost varies, depending on food prices and salaries, which have materially increased the past year. The only source of income for the year has been rent, which was $400.00. Again we request your board to change the date of available appropriation for the Oak Sanatorium from January 1, to July 1, to lessen confusion in institutional management. We extend to all the board members an invitation to visit the institution so that you may better realize the work which is being done. We wish to thank you wholeheartedly for the splendid cooperation which you have given us. Up to the present time, it would seem that our budget allotment for the ensuing year will be approximately the same as last year. Dated October 4, 1937.

Report No. 28 REPORT OF WEST BEND RED CROSS CHAPTER

Narrative Report

The report of the activities of the West Bend Chapter, American Red Cross, from November 1, 1936 to November 1, 1937, is, briefly, as fol-

Following the death of Mrs. Florence A. Thomas on May 19, 1937, Mrs. General Asylum Properties Herman Kuester was appointed as social worker and Mrs. Walter Hahn as executive secretary.

During this period the office issued 128 labor permits to children between the ages of 14 and 18, and 128 certificates of age to young people of 18 to 21 years of age.

The 1937 Roll Call conducted in November, 1936, was very successful. Memberships and donations were received as follows: West Bend $1,-057.69, Barton 79.00, Kewaskum $73.00, Newburg $24.75, Boltonville and Farmington $9.00. Jackson Branch $90.90. The total was $1,334.34.

The year 1937 began with a major disaster, the Ohio Mississippi Valley flood. For this the following amounts were contributed by the various communities: Barton $129.20, Boltonville $71.54, Jackson Branch $338.09, Kewaskum $321.73, Newburg $71.35, West Bend $1,653.30. The total sent to Red Cross headquarters was $2,585.21.

Much constructive welfare work is being done in cases of problem children, neglected children and service as guardian for minors and incompetents. Our welfare worker has acted in an advisory capacity in domestic troubles and as mediator in neighborhood quarrels. The Chapter maintained a First Aid and Rest tent at the 4-H Club

Fair. Eleven cases of minor injuries were treated at this station. The Volunteer Life Guard Corps, consisting of 14 volunteers, under the able direction of the Red Cross Chairman of Life Saving, did excellent work in the City Park during the summer. The Chapter sent one of the Volunteer Life Guards to the Red Cross Aquatic School at Culver, Ind., for a short course in life saving.

The Junior Red Cross is carrying on a splendid program of Interna- Accounts Receivable for Care of Inmates tional Correspondence through the schools. The thought behind all Junior Red Cross is international peace by creating friendship among the children of all nations.

Our office sent 6 Christmas bags to soldiers and sailors who are stationed overseas and who would otherwise have no gifts. Collecting and distributing used clothing, shoes, bedding, dishes, furniture, etc., are a major activity of the office and a great amount of money is saved for the relief departments as a result of this service. Sundry Accounts Receivable Besides this, new clothing, shoes and rubbers, principally for school | Consumable Materials and Supplies children, are bought with Red Cross funds. Emergency relief of food and fuel is given to families during illness or until regular relief can be obtained. The Red Cross tries to make people feel that they have not applied in vain, by showing consideration and by giving all the Sundry Accounts Payable assistance possible.

To the members of the Board of Supervisors there is due a very special word of gratitude and appreciation for their kindness in making an annual appropriation to carry on this work.

REPORT OF OAK SANATORIUM COMMITTEE

On October 4, your Oak Sanatorium Committee visited the Oak Sanatorium in order to obtain first hand information on present conditions at the institution. On that date the sanatorium was practically filled to capacity with patients receiving treatment.

As far as your committee was able to ascertain, the institution seems to be functioning, under the new management, in a very satisfactory manner. The reluctance which for some years existed among some patients to receive treatment at this institution and who very often preferred other sanatoriums, apparently no longer exists. In fact, Dr. Hoel, the present superintendent, informed your committee and the Committee on Institutions of Waukesha County, also present at that time, that several patients from the State Sanatorium had applied for treatment at the Oak. Contrary to the anticipation of all of us, the cost per capita decreased instead of increased according to the report read to the committee by
