Baseball Team Loses First Game of Season

After having two games postponed because of rain, an ideal, sunny afternoon last Sunday finally permitted the Kewaskum team to open its Badger State league season at Kohler. The final score was 14 to 7, Kohler.

Kewaskum wasn't in the best of shape Sunday but after another game or two should be able to compete with any of the strong league rivals.

Felda and Kronforst, new additions to the Kewaskum team this season, both of whom recently returned from tryouts in bigger leagues, were the hitting stars of the game. Both connected for three out of five. Felda's big bat banged the ball for a home run, double and a single. Kronforst belted out two singles and a triple. Schmidt did the same for Kohler. Suscha's homer with the bases loaded in the third inning for the winners featured. Kudek also rapped out a long home run.

The official scorer was very lenient to Kewaskum in fielding and just as big-hearted in giving Kohler base hits. The locals were scored with a mere two errors, officially, when it should have been at least eight. The game was very loosely played, especially by the losers who kicked around a number of easy fielding chances and then completed wild throws.

Marx pitched the entire game and gave up 14 hits, walked six, and struck out eight. Nineman pitched six innings, allowing seven hits and fanning eight. In the last three frames Joe Long hurled for Kohler. He allowed three hits and whiffed four.

LOCAL SINGER IN STATE CONTEST THIS SATURDAY

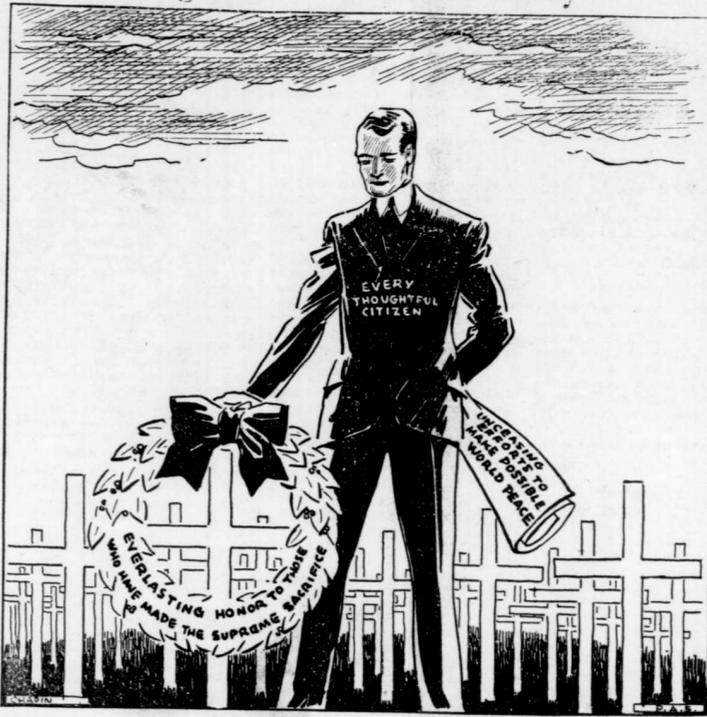

Miss Charlotte Romaine of this village, who won a first rating in the soprano solo division at the annual high school District Music contest held in Columbus, Wis., on May 14, will compete for Kewaskum High school in the State Music contest at Madison this Saturday, May 28.

Miss Margaret Lea of the school faculty, who coaches Miss Romaine, and the school has much reason to be proud of Charlotte and hope that she will continue to gain honors by placing in the state contest.

STORES CLOSED

The stores in Kewaskum will be closed all day Monday in observance of Memorial day. Most other business places will also be closed.

Significance of Memorial Day

Archbishop Stritch Will Confirm Class of Forty-three Here Sunday

Confirmation services will be held in Holy Trinity Catholic church Sunday evening, May 29, starting at 7:30 p. m. A class of forty-three confirmands will receive the sacrament which will be administered by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of the Milwaukee archdiocese. Of the number to receive, thirty are members of Holy Trinity congregation while the remaining thirteen belong to the mission parish at St. Bridget's. Confirmation will be administered to those who have reached the age of 12 years and older, or those who will be 12 shortly, who have not yet received the sacrament.

Names of those from the local congregation, their ages, and sponsors, who will receive are as follows:

Robert Bowen, 12—sponsor, Cyril Gilroy, Gilbert Nicholas Seil, 12—Charles Edward Piper; Alfred F. Tischendorf, 13—Theodore Schoofs; Arnold H. Nigh, 11—Sylvester Harter; Loraine Eberle, 12—Helen Remmel; Lucille Veronica Schoofs, 12—Natalie Freiman; Robert Edwin Smith, 14—

LOCAL STUDENT WINS AWARD OF HIGH HONOR

In the seventh annual news examination conducted by Scholastic, the American high school weekly magazine, Miss Lucille Hanson of this village, a pupil of Margaret O. Lea at Kewaskum High school, won a prize fountain pen.

Less than 5 per cent of the papers in the 650 high schools which gave the examination, scored high enough to earn this award. The pupils who make the six best grades in the country receive a trip to Washington. Twenty-four pupils tied for this trip, and are now taking a supplementary examination.

RODEN GOES TO STATE TRACK MEET SATURDAY

This Saturday, May 28, Francis Roden, the Kewaskum High school track team's star 100 and 220-yard dash man will go to Madison to compete in Class C at the State Track meet. Trackmen in all the three classes of high schools from all over the state who won places in the recent District meets will enter the meet at Madison. Besides Roden, the local school will have three other entrants—Harold Bartelt, Paul Kral and Curtis Romaine. In the Plymouth District meet May 13, where Kewaskum competed, Roden took first in both the 100 and 220-yard dash events, Bartelt copped third in the 100, Kral tied for second in the high jump, and Curtis Romaine placed third in the discus throw and half-mile run. Winners of the first three places only in district competition are eligible for the state meet.

POST OFFICE CLOSED MONDAY

The post office in Kewaskum will be closed on Monday, May 30th, Memorial day. There will be no rural service, no money orders issued, and no window service after 9 a. m. The lobby will remain open all day to accommodate those who have lock boxes. Mail will be dispatched as usual.

POSTMASTER HEPPE NOMINATED

Among the Wisconsin postmasters nominated for reappointment by President Franklin D. Roosevelt last Monday, May 23, was Frank Hepppe, postmaster of this village.

Prominent Retired Farmer, Others Die

FRANK BOTZKOVIS

Among those claimed in death the past week was a well known farm resident, recently retired, in the person of Frank W. Botzkovis, 58, who passed away at 12:45 a. m. Saturday, May 21, at his home in the town of Kewaskum, his demise being attributed to heart trouble.

Mr. Botzkovis had been ailing with a weak heart for over a year, since April, 1937, and although he was unable to do any hard work, he participated in the lighter duties about his farm. As he was able to be about daily, his death came as an unexpected shock and great loss of sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Botzkovis recently rented their farm to Arnold Amerling and had made arrangements to move into this village. They prepared their home furnishings last Friday to move to Kewaskum on the following day, Saturday, when on Friday evening, about 10 p. m. Mr. Botzkovis suffered a severe heart attack and died a few hours later.

Deceased was born on the Botzkovis homestead on April 2, 1880, and was a resident of the town of Kewaskum throughout his entire life. He came to his present home about 22 years ago. His marriage to Miss Margaret Oppenorth took place on June 27, 1916, in Holy Trinity church in this village.

Besides his widow, Mr. Botzkovis is survived by three sisters, Minnie (Mrs. Joseph Sukawaty) of this village, Katie (Mrs. Al Hanke) of Antigo, and Mary Botzkovis on the homestead, and one brother, John Botzkovis on the homestead, and several nephews.

The body lay in state at the Miller funeral home until the time of the funeral services, which were held at 9:30 a. m. on Wednesday, May 25, at Holy Trinity Catholic church. The Rev. Ph. J. Vogt officiated and interment was the first in the congregation's new cemetery west of the village.

Roden of Kewaskum High Ties State Record in Tri-County Track Meet

Ties State 100-Yard Dash Time of :10.2 and Breaks Two Conference Dash Records as Kewaskum High School Places Third at Fond du Lac

Kewaskum High school now has as fast a runner in the dash events as any Class C high school in Wisconsin as a result of the great showing made by the local squad's ace sprinter, Francis Roden of this village, in the third annual Tri-County conference track meet held on the Fond du Lac Senior High school field at 3 p. m. Monday.

Four new Tri-County records were written in the books as Roden broke two marks—the 100-yard dash and the 220 and Lawrence Zoch of North Fond du Lac High shattered the discus and shot put mark Roden's :10.2 in the 100 tied the state record for Class C schools and cut four-tenths of a second off the former Tri-County record of :10.6. The 220-yard dash was run by Roden in 24 seconds flat, cutting seven-tenths of a second off the old mark of :24.7.

Despite Roden's fine showing on the cinders, the Kewaskum squad placed third with 27 points, behind the winning team of the meet, North Fond du Lac, which scored 49½ points, and the second place team, Oakfield, with 33½ points. Campbellsport was fourth with 9 points.

Kewaskum swept both the 100 and 220-yard dash events. In the 100 Roden was first, Paul Kral second, and Harold Bartelt third. In the 220, behind Roden were Bartelt in second and Kral in fourth.

Other points scored by Kewaskum were in the 880-yard relay, in which the team came in second with the time of 1:45.4, and the high jump in which Kral and Louis Bath tied for second with three other contestants. Gaerity, the winner, cleared the bar at 5 feet.

A trophy was awarded to N. Fond du Lac, while ribbons were given to all firsts, seconds and thirds. Lawrence Zoch of N. Fondy was awarded a medal for scoring the most points of the meet. He nailed two firsts and a second. Roden of Kewaskum was right behind him with two firsts.

Glenn Morris of the Fond du Lac Senior High school was the official W. I. A. A. starter while Track Coach Carlson A. Beer of the North Fond du Lac school was timer and meet manager.

AIR MAIL WEEK OBSERVED IN COUNTY LAST FRIDAY

The observance of Air Mail Week in Washington county met with good results. Last Friday an airplane chartered by the United States postal service which landed at the West Bend airport, took on air mail to be dispatched from 11 of the 13 postoffices in the county. It was the first time that all mail was dispatched by plane in the county, according to Postmaster Frank P. O'Meara, of West Bend, who was in charge of this feature of Air Mail Week.

The mail plane, piloted by Sheriff Gib Booth of Fond du Lac county, picked up the mail at West Bend at 5 p. m. and took it to Milwaukee. The plane had picked up mail at Ripon, Appleton and Fond du Lac before reaching West Bend.

Postmaster Frank Hepppe of Kewaskum was one of those in the county who took mail to West Bend for dispatch by air and he was present at the airport when the plane arrived. It is estimated that about 600 pieces of mail from Washington county were dispatched on the plane.

Miss Ione Schmidt Among Spring Brides

SCHMIDT-RIORDAN

A popular young lady, Miss Ione Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Schmidt, of the village of Kewaskum, became the spring bride of Clarence Riordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Riordan of West Bend, in a pretty nuptial rite performed by the Rev. Edward Stehling at 9 a. m. last Saturday, May 21, in Holy Angels church, West Bend.

A graduate of the Kewaskum High school, the bride was employed in the WPA District No. 3, office at Waukesha, as secretary prior to her marriage. Mr. Riordan graduated from the West Bend High school and Marquette university, Milwaukee, where he obtained a bachelor of science degree. He is engaged in the sales department of the Enger-Kress company in West Bend.

Charmingly attired in a white lace gown with balero and fingertip length veil held by a halo of braided tulle, the bride had an arm bouquet of white roses and swansonia. She was given in marriage by her father.

The bride was attended by her friend, Miss Mary Oettinger of Waukesha, as maid of honor. She was attired in a blue lace gown with bolero and a pink face veil caught to pink flowers, worn in her hair. Her colonial bouquet was of pink sweetpeas.

A nephew of the bridegroom, Robert Berger of West Bend, attended him as best man. Howard Schmidt, of this village, brother of the bride, and Gerald Buckley of West Bend, a friend of the couple, were the ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony a dinner was served to the immediate families at the Republican Hotel, Kewaskum. In the afternoon about 75 relatives and friends were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Riordan left on a wedding trip into northern Wisconsin and will be at home to their many friends at 1016 Cherry street, West Bend, after June 10.

RUPLINGER-AMERLING

A marriage ceremony was performed at 9:30 a. m. on Tuesday, May 24, in St. Kilian's church at St. Kilian, in which Miss Cordell A. Ruplinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kilian A. Ruplinger of St. Kilian, became the bride of Arnold Amerling, of Route 3, Kewaskum, son of Mrs. Magdalene Amerling of near St. Kilian. The Rev. John B. Reichel, pastor, officiated at the nuptial rite for the popular young couple. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and friends.

The bridal gown of white lace over satin in princess style with a Queen Anne collar was worn with a trailing tulle veil. The bride carried a bouquet of roses, sweetpeas and swansonia.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Viola Ruplinger, as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Bernice Ruplinger, sister of the bride, and Miss Harriet Werner, a niece of the bridegroom. The groom was attended by his brother, Edwin Amerling, as best man.

The maid of honor wore a gown of egg shell sheer over satin. Her headband of gardenias held streamers of aqua blue and pink satin. Her bouquet was made up of roses and snapdragons. The contrasting floor-length gowns worn by the bridesmaids were of aqua blue and peach organza. Bunches of artificial flowers adorned their hair with streamers of pink and aqua blue. They carried bouquets of snapdragons.

Ninety guests were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. In the evening a wedding dance was held at the St. Kilian auditorium. The dance was very well attended by relatives and friends.

Mr. Amerling, a graduate of the Kewaskum High school, and his bride will be at home after June 1 on the bridegroom's farm near Kewaskum, that of the late Frank Botzkovis.

CONFIRMATION HELD AT ST. LUCAS CHURCH

A class of 14 young people were confirmed by the Rev. Gerhard Kanfuss, pastor, in the St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran church in the village last Sunday, May 22, in a service at 9:30 a. m.

The role of confirmands included the following: Harriet Backhaus, Malinda Schmidt, Florence Ohrmund, Dolores Ramthun, Erna Lubitz, Edith Pagel, Norma Vocks, Ruth Pagel, Robert Bartelt, Willard Vorpehl, Wilton Kirchner, Lloyd Faber, Henry Backhaus, and Earl Hammen.

Pennsylvania Democrats Turn on Lewis . . . Earle Named for Senator . . . Republicans Happy

On the eve of National Air Mail week the first air mail and passenger service between Juneau and Fairbanks, Alaska, was established by the Pan American Airways as the first link in its route connecting southeastern Alaska with the interior. This photograph shows the scene at Juneau as the plane, a twin motored Lockheed Electra, was about to depart for Fairbanks.

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Earle Beats C. I. O. Man

THE desperate primary battle among the Pennsylvania Democrats resulted in complete victory for Gov. George H. Earle and his state machine and equally complete defeat for the Duffey-Lewis-C. I. O. faction, whose candidates all the way down from senator and governor to minor county offices, were routed. Earle won the senatorship nomination over Mayor Wilson of Philadelphia.

Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer, captured the gubernatorial nomination, beating Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, who was on the Duffey-Lewis ticket.

Jim Farley, national committee chairman, had projected himself into the hot fight by advising the compromise choice of Earle and Kennedy, but the governor indignantly told him it was none of his business, and the voters gave him a swat on the head by rejecting his advice.

Republicans were elated because the returns showed a ground swell back toward C. I. O. conservatism. The Republican total vote exceeded the Democratic vote, and this fact, together with the graft and bribery charges that enlivened the campaign of the Democrats, led the Republican leaders to hope the Keystone state would return to the Republican fold in November.

Judge Arthur James won a smashing victory over Gifford Pinchot, twice governor, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and this was another swat at John L. Lewis, for he was reported ready to back Pinchot if Kennedy lost. Senator James J. Davis was renominated by a heavy majority.

Both Senator Guffey and Lewis appear to have lost their claims to political leadership. Lewis had boasted that he controlled 800,000 C. I. O. votes in Pennsylvania, but the best he could do was 520,000. Earle, though he came out on top, was considered to have lost prestige greatly by the accusations of misuse made against his administration. His presidential aspirations were believed wrecked.

The C. I. O. has lost other political fights, but none so important as this. President William Green of the American Federation of Labor called the vote a complete "repudiation of the C. I. O. leadership." He added:

"It now has become abundantly clear that no candidate who bears the C. I. O. brand can be elected to high office in this country. The primaries proved the C. I. O. is a political liability, not a political power."

Japanese Take Suchow TOKYO gave out word that the Japanese forces had captured virtually all of Suchow, the important rail junction city in Central China. The assault force fought its way through a hail of Chinese fire and there was furious hand-to-hand fighting in the streets. Then other forces stormed the walls from other sides of the city.

A foreign office spokesman said Japan would now push on to Hankow, the capture of which is regarded as necessary from a strategic standpoint.

Some 200,000 Chinese troops were said by the Japanese to be trapped in the Lunghai zone, but it was likely many of them would be able to escape.

F. D. R. Going to South America ANNOUNCEMENT was made at the White House that President Roosevelt is planning an extended trip to South America this summer. It is expected he will leave from an eastern port aboard a cruiser, pass through the Panama canal and spend a month along the west coast of South America, going as far as Santiago, Chile, and stopping at the capitals en route. On his return the President probably will disembark on our west coast and sweep across the country on a special train, making speeches.

Following a brief trip to Annapolis to see the boat races between Harvard and the Naval academy, Mr. Roosevelt inspected the model country project at Arthurdale, W. Va. In the middle of June he will go to Massachusetts for the wedding of his son John and Miss Anne Clark.

Daladier Defies Italy NEGOTIATIONS for a Franco-Italian accord came to an impasse because Italy sought to break up France's alliance with Russia. Premier Daladier was angered and to newspaper men he declared that France would defend her frontiers against "all attempts at violence, whatever the circumstances."

The direct cause of a break in the conversations was shipment of arms through France to loyalist Spain. Shorn of diplomatic technicalities, Italy seems to have demanded that France choose between Italy and Russia. Should she choose Russia, disrupting Britain's plans for a general European settlement, Britain might leave France to her own devices and proceed to reach an agreement with Germany.

Jersey Inquiry Ordered

CHARGES that free speech and other civil liberties have been suppressed in the Jersey City domain of Mayor Frank Hague resulted in Justice department orders for a "thorough investigation" of the situation there.

Attorney General Homer Cummings, announcing the inquiry, said it was prompted by newspaper reports and complaints received from many persons. It would be directed, he said, at determining whether any one in Jersey City has been deprived of civil rights guaranteed by federal law.

Red Tape Study

THERE have been frequent complaints that the government is requiring the filing of too many reports and the filling out of too many questionnaires by business. Now the President has ordered a study of these red tape demands by the central statistical board, asking Chairman Rice to see if it would be possible to consolidate the fact-finding activities of the various departments.

Plane Crash Kills Nine

NINE persons were killed in the crash of a luxury air liner on a mountainside not far from Los Angeles. The plane was being taken to St. Paul for delivery to the Northwest Air lines, and it appeared the disaster was due to the desire of the pilot to save a few minutes by taking a shortcut route instead of keeping to the beam directed route through the mountains.

Ministers Are Recalled

DIPLOMATIC relations between Great Britain and Mexico were broken because of the dispute over Mexico's action in expropriating foreign oil properties. President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico took the initiative by recalling Primo Villamil, Mexican minister at London, and ordering the closing of the legation indefinitely. The British government promptly directed Minister Owen St. Clair O'Malley to leave Mexico together with his staff, the legation being put in charge of Consul Gen. J. Dalton Murray.

While the suspension of relations is a direct outgrowth of the oil seizure, the immediate cause of Cardenas' action was what he considered Britain's "insolent methods in demanding a claims annuity of $85,000,000 due since January 1 for damages to British interests in a revolution years ago. Foreign Minister Eduardo Hay handed a check for the amount to Minister O'Malley, told him of the recall of Minister Michel, and said: "May I be allowed, however, to call your excellency's attention to the fact that not even powerful states with ample resources at their disposal can boast of having fulfilled their monetary obligations."

Jobless Number 7,845,016 IN ONE of the final summaries of the unemployment census Director Biggers reports that the total number of registered unemployed in the United States is 7,845,016; and 61.3 per cent of the jobless are either under 25 or over 45 years of age. Of those registering, 5,833,401 said they were totally without employment and 2,011,615 said they had been unemployed for five months or more.

Progress administration, National Youth administration, Civilian Conservation corps, and others. The census was taken in November.

Hanes in Treasury Post PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT nominated John W. Hanes, who has been a member of the securities and exchange commission less than five months, to be assistant secretary of the treasury.

It is likely that, before the end of 1933, Mr. Hanes will succeed Roswell Magill as under-secretary of the treasury. Mr. Magill, who is on leave from Columbia university, is anxious to return to his old position, it is reported.

Mr. Hanes may not assume his new duties until the reorganization of the New York Stock exchange is completed. He will be the first New Deal assistant secretary of the treasury who has been identified with Wall Street investment banking. When selected for the SEC he was a partner in the firm of C. D. Barney & Co.

With his wide knowledge of the securities business, the new appointee will be of value to the treasury, which faces important refinancing operations in the near future.

League Censures Japan DR. V. K. WELLINGTON KOO, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, had better luck in the Geneva sessions than did Haile Selassie, once emperor of Ethiopia, or Del Mayo of Spain. The council finished its business by adopting a resolution condemning Japan for its course in China and urging member nations to give direct aid to China.

Stainless Steel Sheet Expense and difficulty of working, two obstacles that have slowed down the spread of stainless steel, are reported to be overcome by a novel type of stainless steel product prepared by a large steel corporation in New York, says the Kansas City Star. Stainless steel in thin sheets firmly welded to a thin composition backing provides a cheap, readily workable material that presents the famous polished, corrosion-resistant surface of the alloy itself.

Senate Takes Three Hours to Spend Billion Dollars Washington, D. C.—It took the senate less than three hours to discuss and approve the expenditure of 1 billion 104 millions in federal funds for farm and highway programs.

The agricultural appropriation bill, which would provide this record sum for use in the fiscal year beginning July 1, then was sent back to the house.

The bill contains an item of $187,500,000 for federal aid to highways. It includes $758,572,820 of new appropriations; $191,095,000 of reappropriations, and $154,524,065 in so-called permanent appropriations.

In debate on the measure Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) charged that government farm expenditures had been increased sixfold in the last decade without appreciable improvement in the financial condition of the farmers of the country.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—Almost before its operation is well started, the new federal crop law appears to be bogging down. From what I hear around the offices of senators and representatives at the Capitol, there is plenty of rebellion against the law which is supposed to plan agriculture on a scientific basis.

Obviously there could not be that many complaints from more than a limited number of counties. But even if there are only half that number of protests from any considerable number of counties, the representatives and senators who voted that legislation are bound to get plenty of kicks in the pants next November. And the plight of those members of the house and senate appears to be made worse by the statement attributed to the Department of Agriculture by Representative Andresen of Minnesota. Apparently, Mr. Andresen had been getting baskets full of kicks about the acreage allotments and went to the department to find out the facts. He returned to tell his colleagues on the floor of the house:

"The administration (AAA) will not yield an inch. The allotments have been made according to law and the farmers can take them or leave them."

In that statement, it seems to me, there is unbending arrogance and Mr. Andresen did the country a service when he repeated it to the house of representatives. It is an attitude of the dictator, of the worst sort of regimentation and it bears out the very thing which Senator Borah of Idaho predicted would happen when he opposed the legislation. Senator Borah's blast in the debate was, of course, branded as the criticism of a Republican, and it was his colleague, Senator Pope, the Idaho New Dealer, who was running about the country last year as the chief member of a committee of senators which was drumming up sentiment for the legislation before the extra session of congress called last November.

By way of prediction, I think there can be no doubt that the wheat farmers will find themselves shocked, instead of their wheats, when they get their acreage allotments later. They will find that the law is compulsory, not one of free co-operation as advertised when the bill was being debated in congress.

What is the reason for these conditions? Why is there rebellion among the farmers when, according to Secretary Wallace, there was a great majority for application of the crop control provisions? Frankly, I believe there are several factors to be considered as having influenced the passage and subsequent application of the compulsory regimentation.

In the first instance, it is quite apparent now that many representatives and senators were subjected to red hot steam from professional farm lobbyists, from Secretary Wallace and his lobbyists and from the minority of farmers who wanted something, anything, that would cause the government to pay them money. That belief is predicated upon a knowledge that the vast majority of the farmers are too busy with their own affairs to be active in politics. The legislators thought they were doing what the farmers wanted them to do.

In the second place, there surely was much misrepresentation about the legislation. At all times and on all occasions, Secretary Wallace and those who were seeking to put over the legislation vigorously stressed the statement that the provisions of the plan were voluntary. There was to be no compulsion in it; the farmers themselves were to decide; the department here in Washington would do exactly what the farmers wanted. All of which is very well and good, except that the farmers were not informed how much pressure could be exerted to make them volunteer. They either had to "volunteer" or find they could market none of their product without being penalized.

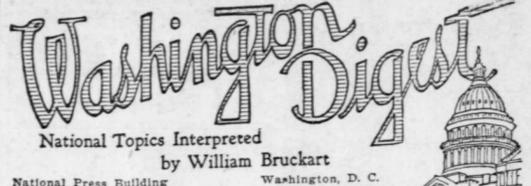

What is the result going to be? Congress soon will be quitting for the year, and there is no likelihood of any amendment that will alter the situation—unless something intervenes to keep congress in session until the summer months. The only thing to look forward to, then, is the result of the fall elections. If the revolt that is represented by the protests of the cotton and corn farmers is widespread, it will show up in the votes at election time. Those who fought so hard for it in congress will meet trouble in primaries and in the election as well. To me, however, there is an added significance. These protests reveal a growing sentiment among farmers, a resentment, against having the federal government bureaucrats run the farms from Washington.

Puerto Rico a Flower Garden The tropical island of Puerto Rico is a veritable flower, with 3,353 varieties of brilliantly colored flowers growing on its mountains and coastal plains.

Farmers Protest The corn protesters made their first concentrated move only recently at Macomb, Ill., and the sum and substance of that meeting seems to be that those farmers have had their bellies full of compulsory crop control. They called it un-American; they described it as ruinous and pledged united action against its continuation.

Of course, no one in Washington can tell exactly how many farmers are in sympathy with the position taken at the Macomb meeting. There are 566 counties in what is designated as the corn area. Whether there is a large majority against the compulsory, dictatorial type of law, or whether there is only a sizable minority can not now be accurately stated. It can be stated as a definite fact, however, that farmers do not spend their money to go several hundred miles for a meeting of protest unless they are being badly damaged. Communists and other radicals would go dashing anywhere to hold a protest meeting, but farmers are not built that way. So the Macomb meeting must be taken seriously. It must be given additional weight as well because it followed on the heels of heated protests from the cotton growers.

As to the number of farmers represented in the Macomb meeting; that is to say, the farms and farmers represented by that protest, it might be enlightening to quote the published statement of Claude

National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—Almost before its operation is well started, the new federal crop law appears to be bogging down. From what I hear around the offices of senators and representatives at the Capitol, there is plenty of rebellion against the law which is supposed to plan agriculture on a scientific basis.

Obviously there could not be that many complaints from more than a limited number of counties. But even if there are only half that number of protests from any considerable number of counties, the representatives and senators who voted that legislation are bound to get plenty of kicks in the pants next November. And the plight of those members of the house and senate appears to be made worse by the statement attributed to the Department of Agriculture by Representative Andresen of Minnesota.

"The administration (AAA) will not yield an inch. The allotments have been made according to law and the farmers can take them or leave them."

In that statement, it seems to me, there is unbending arrogance and Mr. Andresen did the country a service when he repeated it to the house of representatives. It is an attitude of the dictator, of the worst sort of regimentation and it bears out the very thing which Senator Borah of Idaho predicted would happen when he opposed the legislation.

What is the reason for these conditions? Why is there rebellion among the farmers when, according to Secretary Wallace, there was a great majority for application of the crop control provisions?

In the first instance, it is quite apparent now that many representatives and senators were subjected to red hot steam from professional farm lobbyists, from Secretary Wallace and his lobbyists and from the minority of farmers who wanted something, anything, that would cause the government to pay them money.

In the second place, there surely was much misrepresentation about the legislation. At all times and on all occasions, Secretary Wallace and those who were seeking to put over the legislation vigorously stressed the statement that the provisions of the plan were voluntary.

What is the result going to be? Congress soon will be quitting for the year, and there is no likelihood of any amendment that will alter the situation—unless something intervenes to keep congress in session until the summer months.

Who First Discovered Tiny Pacific Isles Worries Geographers

New York.—Minute Pacific islands, worthless to any but their inhabitants and a few small-scale traders until the advent of the transpacific air service, but today essential havens for the giant steel and alloy clippers that roar through the sky from continent to continent across the world's widest ocean, are causing geographers and statesmen sleepless nights while their ownership is being disputed.

Discovered, many of them, before the invention of the sextant and chronometer, so that their exact location was doubtful, these small land masses in the watery immensity have been relocated by modern methods. Ownership of the islands depends on who first claimed them. Claims made on the basis of old observations are likely to have wrong locations given because of the crudity of the instruments used. The problem now becomes one of determining just what islands were claimed for what nation.

Studies of old whale-ship logbooks are supplying geographers with many long-wanted clues to the discovery of these Pacific outposts. Dr. S. Wittermore Boggs, State department geographer, writing in the Geographical Review, cites a number of the difficulties encountered in this effort to determine just who discovered and claimed what.

Early Mariners Made Errors. "Medana," Doctor Boggs says, "by dead reckoning, underestimated the distance from Peru to his 'Western Isles' (Solomon islands) by 2,000 miles. Errors of 1,000 miles in longitude were not uncommon in the Sixteenth century." Today, the pilot of a China Clipper must be able to "hit" an island only a mile in diameter by use of navigating instruments.

Log books of whaling and trading ships, diaries of captains and seamen, small-town newspapers, and records of bonds deposited by means of guano on the far off Pacific islands are all being searched for evidence of discoveries and occupations which will make certain some of the now nebulous claims to the islands once called "American Polynesia."

"If the sources are ever adequately studied and reported on," states Doctor Boggs, "an interesting and significant chapter in American history will have been illuminated."

Cornstalk Provides Rival for Valuable Coal Tar

Dallas, Texas.—Coal tar, highly valuable raw material by which organic chemists fashion scores of synthetic chemical products, has a new rival in lignin tar obtained from cornstalks, it was indicated in the report to the chemists' meeting here of Leon Bridger of the chemical engineering department of Iowa State university.

Synthetic resins, plastics, drugs, dyes, perfumes and flavors may be manufactured in the future from agricultural materials like cornstalks. By digesting cornstalks with strong alkalis like ordinary lye, in the absence of air, a black tar is produced which is somewhat similar to coal tar. It is, however, far richer in phenols. Moreover, the yield of tar is much greater and as a result about 40 times as much phenols are obtained from a pound of lignin as from a pound of coal. The preparation of phenols from the lignins by destructive distillation was discovered by Dr. Max Phillips of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Lotus Plants Grown From Seeds Centuries Old

Chicago.—Oriental lotus plants are being grown from seeds estimated to be from 300 to 500 years old, at the Field Museum of Natural History. The seeds were obtained from soil that had once been a lake bottom in southern Manchuria, near Port Arthur. Records show that the lake was drained some time between 160 and 250 years ago, and since then large willow trees have grown up on the ancient lake bed.

The seeds are believed to be the oldest that have ever been made to sprout.

Bronze Wall Paint

Moscow.—A new bronze-like wall paint prepared from the waste products of mercury plants has been developed here. Cheaper than oil paint, possessing a metal-like gloss reminiscent of silk, the new product is prepared by grinding and mixing mercury waste with adhesives, it is stated. The paint can be applied by brush or spray.

Steel-Plated Iron

Berlin.—A German firm has succeeded in plating iron with acid-resisting chrome nickel or chrome-nickel-molybdenum steel or chrome-silicon alloy in the prevention of corrosion in acid tanks. Only 10 to 20 per cent of the relatively expensive corrosion-proof alloy is used to cover the iron base.

Here Is How to Your Own Diamond But They Are

Dallas, Texas.—How to make laboratory, synthetic diamonds described at the meeting of the American Chemical Society here by Lewellyn D. Dyer, of the chemistry department of McPherson college, Kansas.

Under the direction of Dr. Dyer, diamonds have been prepared in successive groups of graduate students. Here is the simple process for making diamonds: Mix two parts of elemental iron filings with one part of sugar carbon, by volume, in a graphite crucible and heat to a temperature of at least 4,000 Centigrade for a little over an hour. Then remove the crucible and plunge into a freezing mixture of salt and brine. Treat the mass with hot aqua regia for hours to dissolve the iron and the residue as much as possible.

Tiny, But Real Diamonds. Finally search the residue for diamonds. The microscope in the search for diamonds will be very helpful. What you started out to make is what you get.

But seriously, the amount of research to be done when Dr. Dyer says there was no way in which 4,000 degrees centigrade in a fashion controlled in a furnace could withstand temperatures.

The continued research shown, Mr. Lloyd indicates, formation of the diamonds is to depend on how fast the rate of the heated mass of diamonds. This cooling, and the pressure which is applied inside the iron-carbon crucible, seem to turn into the transparent carbon man calls a diamond.

As white hot molten carbon, a red solid it expands and contracts. As it cools from a red to a black color, it contracts. Thus the outside of the crucible cools more rapidly than the inside is still expanding. Carbon, dissolved in the iron, subjected to a pressure of 180,000 pounds to the square inch.

Death Rate Among Boys Increased by Use of

New York.—The death rate among boys as a result of collisions between bicycles and automobiles doubled within the past few years, statistics of the National Insurance company in its policy holders show.

In 1935 the death rate from cause among boys from 10 to 14 years was 14.9 per 100, while in 1937 it was 29.4 per 100. The rate rose from 20 per 100 in 1935 to 42.8 in 1937.

Cortez Mined Sulphur Popocatepetl in 1519

Dallas, Texas.—Mexico's appropriation of foreign oil has centered interest in the resources, was itself a "reappropriation" more than 400 years ago, during its conquest by Hernando Cortez and his band of Spaniards. In 1519, Cortez, ascribed to the Chemical Society, Cortez sent his man, crater of famed Mount Popocatepetl and obtained sulphur which was able to make gunpowder.

Donald B. Mason, chemist and engineer of the Freeport Sulphur Co., told of this episode in his review of the sulphur industry for the Cortez's exploit was the reduction of sulphur in the hemisphere.

Glass Fabric Tape as Insulating Material

Improved motor power is claimed for the glass tape which is said to be moisture proof and to have high electric and mechanical characteristics.

England 'Adopts' King George After One-Year Trial Period

Monarch Shows Little During Era of Tribulation

By JOSEPH W. LABINE

Men everywhere this year are opening their eyes to a 12-month dream. The dream began May 12, 1937, when King George VI and Queen Elizabeth ascended the throne in colorful coronation ceremonies. A sweet dream has been a sweet dream for the Britishers expected to run so smoothly through the past year, but anyone who has seen the monarch and his little-known brother, Edward VIII, in the past year, would not be surprised to find that the monarch is not to rule, for the monarchy isn't content with that way. Instead the monarch's job is one of

into the breach, untrained for a job which in normal times would be strenuous enough, but which was made even harder by the crisis then confronting England. His "coaches" the past year have been the matriarchal Queen Mother Mary and the venerable Archbishop of Canterbury. Both watched and influenced George V during his long reign and helped teach him that to be successful a British monarch must be "limited" and "constitutional."

It is not surprising, then, to see England's current "Georgian era" resembling the late "Georgian era" in more than name. More and more subjects are realizing that George VI will run his affairs much like the beloved father he succeeds. He displays the "old-fashioned virtues" that made George V a popular monarch. The royal family attends church regularly and is famous for its strong belief in a home life. Almost every week some sentimental detail of domesticity at Buckingham palace finds its way into public print.

Democratic Royalty.

King George has given many indications of a democratic turn of mind. Last October he gave an informal reception for visiting American Legionnaires and after the fleet review at Spithead last year he gave the familiar command: "Splice the main brace," indicating that every seaman was to be given an extra round of rum. He is painted at his happiest dressed informally or in hunting togs around the moors at Balmoral. And the splendor of his coronation was apparently nothing compared with his joy a few months later at visiting a Boy Scout camp he found

Minerals for Hens

The lime needed by laying hens is cheaply and satisfactorily supplied in crushed oyster shells. A limestone grit may also be used as a source of this element. Milk and the meat scrap, customarily made part of the poultry rations, add other minerals and the addition of iron, sulphur, iodine, etc., as separate ingredients, lacks demonstration of its necessity, if nothing more. While minerals are essential elements of a poultry ration, they are found in the grains and supplements commonly fed, as they are also in the grains and roughage of dairy feeds.

Bone Meal Valuable

Many experiments have been conducted throughout the world to determine the availability of calcium and phosphorus in different forms. Results show that sterilized bone meal is as available as other chemical forms that are soluble in water. Feeding large quantities of minerals to animals that they do not require may be definitely detrimental. Indications of mineral deficiency should be taken up with the agricultural experiment station, where such problems can be investigated and recommendations made according to the requirements.

Weeds Add to Expenses

Weeds are expensive. It is estimated that they cost, on the average, $2 per tillable acre of soil. That means that on a 100-acre farm, the loss would amount to $200, a sum that would go far toward paying the taxes on that land. The loss caused by weeds includes not only yields, but also much extra labor, dockage in marketing, poisoning of live stock and increase in plant diseases and insect pests harbored by weeds.

Nests for Turkeys

Where breeding plans include only making the best of things at hand, a good kind of nest for turkeys is the simply constructed A-type coop, according to a poultryman in the Los Angeles Times. In placing these coops for hens, a depression should be scooped in the ground under them and if the weather is dry three or four gallons of water should be poured in each hole several days before making up the nest. This is to provide a supply of moisture.

WILDLIFE AIDS IN CHECKING EROSION

Animals Devour or Trample Scanty Pasturage. Supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture.—WNU Service.

One great difference between domestic and wild birds and animals is the effect they have on the land, particularly on soil erosion. It is common for farmers to pasture fields already injured by erosion—gullied land too rough for machine tillage or patches where running water has taken most of the topsoil. On such land, pasturage is likely to be scanty. If cattle, sheep or hogs are turned in they usually devour or trample such vegetation as may be left, says Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson of the bureau of biological survey. This increases the erosion damage. Wildlife, in contrast, lives in and with the natural vegetation that develops in these rough areas not suitable for cropping. Rarely do creatures of the wild contribute to erosion. Rather, they allow vegetation to develop and hold the soil. Farmers can help, too, says Doctor Gabrielson, by seeding or planting quick-growing plants and trees that are soil binders and also provide cover and food for game. Catering slightly to the feeding and nesting habits of the game will attract birds and animals and increase the game crop which sportsmen will be glad to harvest—and pay for the privilege.

Hens Have Colds; Roup More Severe Infection

Much that is called roup is more of the nature of colds and the fowls affected will recover if given clean, dry quarters, free from direct drafts but with ample ventilation, advises an expert in the Rural New-Yorker. True roup is a more severe infection and it cannot be said that any remedy known to poultrymen is efficacious to cure it. Any sick birds should be removed from contact with the healthy members of the flock to prevent spread of the infection. A few showing roup in at all severe form is of little or no value and usually may be disposed of to the advantage of flock and owner. It should be borne in mind, however, that all colds are not roup and that recoveries from the former under good care may give an unwarranted reputation for value to whatever is used in treatment.

Camping at the Palace.

The princesses, like other little girls, have been enrolled in the Girl Guides. A special troop was formed at Buckingham palace for daughters of close friends of the royal family. Each week they drill indoors or camp in the wilds of the palace garden, learning woodcraft and studying nature lore. Margaret Rose was recently promoted in rank from a "Brownie" to a member of the "Leprechaun Six."

Position of Queen Elizabeth

The position of Queen Elizabeth in raising her two youngsters has been a difficult one, for most families are judged by the qualities of their children. If they accepted every invitation, the princesses would attend parties constantly. But the queen is determined such things should be regarded as "treats."

Those who meet Princess Elizabeth

must bow or curtsy, whatever their age, addressing her as "Your Highness." It is told that Elizabeth was much impressed when informed that people would now curtsy to her. The next day, in saying farewell to a palace guest, Elizabeth kept shaking the latter's hand until the guest, noting the twinkle in her eyes, exclaimed, "Why, I believe you're trying to make me curtsy!"

Perhaps the radical James Maxton

was right in asking if royalty has any "intelligent justification" in the Twentieth century. But the opposite is also true. At the time parliament was discussing expenditures for the coronation a suggestion was made that court ceremonials and pageantry be simplified to give the monarch more of a private life. The idea was rejected after wizen Winston Churchill remarked that the ancient ritual, throne and crown constituted a "bulwark against dictatorship." It sounds reasonable. © Western Newspaper Union.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Meeting Francesco Malipiero at a party in the Royal Danielli in Venice, soon after the World War, I thought he was one of the most charming and brilliant, and, at the same time, most cryptic men I had ever seen. There was in the company another Italian musician, a famous conductor, who was the lion of the evening. I have forgotten his appearance and his name, but everything about Signor Malipiero is vividly remembered. On the way home in a gondola, I asked the conductor for an appraisal of Signor Malipiero as a musician. There was considerable condensation in the reply. Malipiero was gifted but erratic, it was even hinted that he was "unsound," in some deeply subversive sense. But my Virgil eagerly agreed that the signor was a most extraordinary human personality. As recently as four years ago, a Malipiero opera threw the Royal opera house of Rome into a tumult of howling and cat-calls. Mussolini banned it as "inimical to the faith and sound teachings of the new Italy." But, by this time, Malipiero had become a world-famous musician, and he was soon restored to favor. This status is unquestioned as his symphony, "Elegiaca," was given its first performance in New York, with John Barbirolli conducting. For many years, critical opinion discounted him as somewhat of an outlaw and disturber. Now it has caught up with him, as it did with Stravinsky and Richard Strauss. Both the "Fire Bird" and "Salome" were met with cat-calls when they were first produced. Critics note some mysterious "enervating influence" in Malipiero's new symphony. It may be an afterthought, but the explanation seems clear as I recall my conversation with him. His face saddened and he seemed ten years older when I mentioned the war. For his ballet, "Pantea," he had written of "the struggle of a soul hurling itself into the oblivion and death." The war had been to him a tragic and devastating experience. He said it had profoundly shaken both his art and his life. Never again would the suave fluencies or banalities of music have meaning for him. He was impelled to a deeper search. This disillusionment was subtended in irony. He was suspected of slyly sabotaging the grandiose new Italian state. It was in March, 1934, that his opera, "The Fable of the Exchanged Sons," with the text by Luigi Pirandello, all but caused a riot in the Royal opera house. So far as I could learn at the time, there was no brash heresy in the work, but, as elaborated by the text, a subtle hint that ultimate truth is forever elusive and supreme power dead sea fruit. That, of course, is dangerous doctrine in a totalitarian state, and it was quickly and savagely resented. The next day, I Duce forbade another presentation. Malipiero is a poet and a mystic. Of dominant presence, with sharply cut Roman features, and hair brushed back in a thick pompadour, he is at the same time extraordinarily gracious, friendly and unassuming. He lives in a quaint stone villa, forty or fifty miles from Venice, centuries old, rambling and tumble-down. Cut in the stone door lintel there is a Latin text, "To the obscene, all things are obscene." That was his answer to the critics of one of his operas. The art of living engrosses him as much as the art of music and he studiously maintains a relationship of courtesy, dignity and friendly intimacy with the creatures in his retreat—he has a gift for friendship with animals and thinks that much of the trouble of mankind is due to its insensitiveness to the subhuman and superhuman. His music is apt to range into those zones. He was born in Venice in 1882, beginning his violin studies in his sixth year. His father was a political exile and the family was in Germany for many years. Wagner was a crashing strain of modernity which profoundly affected his work. © Consolidated News Features. Few Days Left to Enter Our Cake Recipe Contest

- Send in Your Favorite Recipe Today You May Win a Cash Prize
- First Prize $25.00
- Five Second Prizes $10.00 Each
- Ten Third Prizes $5.00 Each

ONLY a few days are left before the close of our big Cake Recipe Contest. For all entries must be postmarked not later than May 31, 1938. But there is still time for you to enter a recipe. Send in the directions for that cake which your family says is the best ever... which you bake for company... or always send to the church fair. It will only take a few moments of your time to write out the recipe and you have nothing to buy... no letter to write. There never was an easier contest! Just fill out the attached coupon calling for your name, address, and brand of shortening, baking powder and flour used in your cake. Clip the coupon to the recipe and mail it to C. Houston Goudis, author of the "WHAT TO EAT AND WHY" series in this newspaper.

16 Cash Prizes. The winning cakes will be selected by the experienced home economists on the staff of the Experimental Kitchen Laboratory that he maintains in New York City. The recipe adjudged the best will win $25.00 for the lucky homemaker who submits it. There will be five second prizes of $10.00 each and ten third prizes of $5.00 each. Prize winning recipes, together with those receiving honorable mention from the judges, will be printed in a booklet to be distributed nationally.

Simple or Elaborate Recipe. There are no restrictions as to the type of recipe that may be submitted. Your favorite cake may be plain or frosted. It may be baked in layers or in a loaf—put together with a cream filling or topped with a meringue. It may be chocolate, maple, mocha, spiced, Devil's Food, a jelly roll or a Lady Baltimore. The proof will be in the eating! That $25.00 first prize would come in handy for buying summer clothes or something special that you want for the house. You have nothing to lose, everything to gain, so why not write out your recipe—now. Attach the coupon and mail it to C. Houston Goudis, 6 East 39th Street, New York City.

Sunday being a beautiful day, the first rainless Sunday we had in this locality for quite some time, so "play ball" was the order of the day. Our St. Michaels team met the Barton team on the home diamond and gave them a good trimming, the score being 13 to 3, in favor of the locals.

The following people spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lehner and family in honor of their daughter Mercedes' First Holy Communion: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eichweller and daughter Dolores of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Schneider and family of St. Michaels, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arnds of Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hahn and son Walter of Campbellsport.

On a very loose marsh soil, two pneumatic rubber tires on each rear wheel of a standard 15-30 tractor are more satisfactory than either single tires or wide steel rims, tests at the Wisconsin agricultural experiment station show.

County Agent Notes

BANG'S INDEMNITY RULING
Clarification of an announcement that indemnity will be paid only up to July 1, 1938, on reactors found in herds on which Bang's-free certificates have lapsed was made today by Dr. J. S. Healy, inspector in charge of the U. S. bureau of animal industry in the state, in answer to numerous inquiries from herd owners.

"We will continue to pay indemnity on reactors found in all certified herds that are maintained in good standing," Dr. Healy stated.

"If the Bang's test is made any time up to July 1, 1938, on herds that have been previously certified, but on which the retest was not made on schedule and the certificates of clean health consequently were permitted to lapse, indemnity for reacting cattle removed from the herd will be paid. After July 1, 1938, if reactors are disclosed in herds that have been certified indemnity will be paid only if the re-certification test was made on schedule."

A Bang's-free certified herd is one that has passed three negative tests approximately six months apart, as attested by a certificate from the state department of agriculture and markets. The certification of clean health for a herd must thereafter be maintained by a retest once a year at the owner's expense.

Failure to meet this requirement allows the certificate to lapse and such herd owners lose the right to indemnity after July 1, 1938, if any Bang-infected cattle are removed from their herds.

Indemnities will be paid as heretofore on all herds under federal-state supervision in which reactors are found, and on all new herds tested under the program.

GRASSHOPPER POISON AND FARM ANIMALS
Will grasshopper poison bait harm animals?

This question is being raised by farmers in many areas as plans are going ahead to prepare and spread grasshopper bait on many Washington county farms. H. F. Wilson, head of the economic entomology department at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, assures us, however that with ordinary care on the part of those who handle the poison bait there is not the least danger to either the animals found on the farm or to the wild animals in the woods.

The reason is that only about 1/4 pound of arsenic is used in preparing the poison bait to treat an acre, which means that the half pound is broken up into so many small particles and scattered so widely that no animal is likely to have opportunity to pick up even a good taste of arsenic at any time. The poisoning due to arsenic, he explains, is always based on the body weight of the animal as compared to the weight of the arsenic consumed. "If a chicken or other animal, for instance, were to eat half its weight in poison bait, there is no question but that there would be enough arsenic eaten to cause death in a short time," he states. This, of course is quite improbable. "A grasshopper, however, may eat as much as half its weight. This means that on a percentage basis, the amount required to kill a grasshopper is many thousand times less than that required to kill a large animal." For this reason, he states, we can spread grasshopper bait without the least fear of danger.

He explains, however, that there have been a few instances where horses as well as cows have been killed by grasshopper bait poisoning in Wisconsin, but in every case on record these accidents occurred because those handling the bait allowed sacks of poison bran bait to stand in an open shed or field in which the animals were loose and had a chance during the dinner hour or during the evening to chew a hole in the sack and eat a large quantity of bait. There is no record, he states, of animals being even slightly injured from feeding in pastures or fields where poisoned bait had been spread. Likewise, he says, there is no evidence to show that song or game birds have ever been killed by feeding on poison bait or poisoned grasshoppers.

DROWNING SEASON IS CLOSE AT HAND AGAIN

When our sanitarians find that a water supply is fit for human consumption they call it a safe supply, but the term safe, unfortunately, does not include safety from drowning.

For the past ten years Wisconsin's recorded drowning toll has reached an annual average of 206, and nearly all of these tragedies occurred while the victims were at play.

The fishing season has rolled round again, and the tourist season is close at hand. Thus our lakes and streams become well-populated for the next five months, and many of these vacationists will need instruction against water hazards from those who realize how heedless some folks can be. Our native children, however, have always suffered the brunt of our annual drowning toll.

These are the factors that cause most of our water tragedies—cramps, usually caused by swimming too soon after mealtime or by entering the water in an overheated condition; swimming alone; diving into water of untried depth; remaining in the water after becoming chilled; swimming for distance unaccompanied by a boat; indulging in dares or pranks, and inability to float, for floating has saved many swimmers who have been seized by cramps or have become exhausted.

Many Wisconsin communities have constructed swimming pools under the liberal financing terms offered during recent years by the federal government. These pools, properly supervised, should tend to cut our fierce drowning toll through increasing the number of good swimmers and through keeping swimmers away from dangerous rivers.

"GUNBOAT" INVENTS THE "SNOWBALL" BRAND

"GUNBOAT" CHARLIE, so named on account of his big feet, sat down by his little branding-fire puffing and winded, for he had just thrown and tied a young white-faced bull that would fetch a handsome price once he met up with anyone who really knew anything about that sort of animal. And, as he regained breath and poise, he gave some attention to the iron rod in the fire, moving the end of it well down into the red coals, for it must be plenty hot for the job he had on hand. And, as he waited, hemmed in by the blackness of a cloudy Saskatchewan night, he patted himself on the back for the way in which he had escaped detection. They were all plain dumbbells, even the Men of the Mounted, or they'd have caught up to him long ago. On the other hand, he was right smart, was "Gunboat," for he was wily and cunning, and he knew how to hide a branding-fire in the recesses of a gully or coulee. He just used his head, that's all, and as long as he did that, he'd be able to carry on. Moreover, he knew just where to find a buyer.

A few minutes later, red-hot rod in hand, he scooted rapidly over to the prostrate young bull and the bluish-white smoke from burning hair and hide was coiling upward into the night. With all the care and precision of a surgeon doing a difficult operation, "Gunboat" moved that red-hot iron over the original brand until he had made a nice round spot. "When that heats up it'll be kinda whitish, so we'll just call it the Snowball Brand," he muttered as he finished. Within the hour he had performed a like operation on the three fat steers, and then rolled into his blankets with the satisfaction of a man who had done a real workmanlike job. Every bit of the original brands had been burned out, and no one would ever know the difference. They'd sell, easy.

Nor was "Gunboat" overestimating his ability as a cattle salesman, for at the end of a month he had turned the deal at top prices and had a belt full of good Canadian cash. Well-heeled, "Gunboat" disappeared into the nowhere whence he had come. Buyer and seller had parted good friends, and everyone was satisfied until a Man of the Mounted looking for a hot meal and a night's lodging, chanced to meet up with the four animals carrying the "Snowball" brand.

"Bought 'em from a feller that passed through here 'bout a month ago," replied the homesteader, a newcomer, to the Mounted Man's inquiries.

"Those scars look mighty suspicious, partner," opined the Man of the Mounted. "It wouldn't surprise me if you had unwittingly bought some stolen cattle. . . . Looks like the original brands have been burned out. Did he say where he bought them?"

"Yep . . . sed he got 'em in the Willow Bunch country . . . an' as fer the 'riginal brands' burned out . . . why . . . say . . . I'm a law-abidin' man an' if ye think they's somethin' wrong . . . I'll git saddled up an' help yer run him down . . . I ain't buying stolen cattle if I know it . . . not me."

"Well, hang on to those cattle until you hear from me," said the Man of the Mounted as he rode off next morning. Inside of a week he was back at the ranch.

"The only way we can find out the original brands is to kill one of them."

"Yo're plumb crazy . . . Mr. Mounted Policeman, how're ye goin' ter find out anythin' by killin' 'em? Moresoever, what 'bout me? I ain't gonna take no loss. Paid money for them animals, I did."

"I'll see about that part of it. You won't lose a penny. Let's get busy," replied the Man of the Mounted as he dismounted and walked toward the nearest steer. Inside of half an hour the homesteader learned a lot about cattle-brands. In spite of the very thorough job of burning and searing "Gunboat" had done on the outside of the hide, the original brand showed up all too plainly on the flesh side.

Several weeks later "Gunboat" Charlie was apprehended in another province, and was soon on trial. It was a great day for the dignified and bewigged judge as the Man of the Mounted, spreading the steer-hide over the judge's bench, proved his point, that "Gunboat" had disguised the original brand by the outside burning, but had failed to go more than half way through the hide and thus spoil the original brand that now showed up all too plainly on the flesh side of the skin. On top of that, the owner of the original brand was in court, and he identified "Gunboat" as a man who had worked on his ranch for a couple of days and had then disappeared about the same time as four head of cattle. "Gunboat" was sentenced to two years at hard labor and, needless to say, from that time on no cattle or horse thief used the "Snowball" brand in that particular region.

The CLAY MASK

By D. J. WALSH

"I shall be a little late tonight," Merrick told his wife as he threw out the clutch and slipped the gear shift into low.

"Oh—you'll be late? How late, dear?" she asked with the color leaping into her usually pale cheeks.

Impatiently he held his foot on the clutch. "Oh a couple of hours or maybe three. I have to drive over to Speedwell's after business and it may take me some time there."

Nora nodded. "All righty, I'll look for you when I see you dear."

Until he had driven five miles Merrick thought nothing of his wife nor her slight flush nor her words. Now, however, they returned to him poignantly. Why should she want to know just how late he would be? What was she going to do with the time? Why had the color sprung into her cheeks so quickly? Was it possible that there was some one she would see in that time? Nora was always busy all day between superintending the house, looking after the children and giving her attention to certain social amenities that could not be overlooked. He knew to a moment just where she would be and what she would be doing at any hour of the day. He had called up on the telephone frequently enough to know that. Also he often gave Minette, Nora's personal maid, a $5 bill just to keep him in touch, as he called it, with her mistress's doings. Still, he reflected, a maid does not know everything.

He remembered suddenly how Nora had smiled at young Mills at the last Country club dinner. Was it possible—could they—he found himself driving on with set lips and glassy eyes. His Nora! To be sure, he had long since ceased to love her wildly as he had when they had first been married. Five years of married life will accomplish that if nothing else.

Yet, young Mills! And had she or had she not exchanged glances with Merrivale at the polo grounds? As the day passed Merrick managed to call, to mind some dozen cases where Nora had seemed more than slightly interested in some man other than her husband. Yes, he had probably lost her. He had grown careless and this was his reward. At closing time he had worked himself up into such a frenzy about the whole thing that he drove straight home instead of going to Speedwell's. He was home a half hour earlier than usual.

Minette was passing the front door and her eyes frowned as she saw him.

"Madame is not—expecting you—yet—" she said, faltering, in reply to his inquiry.

"No—well, I'll go right on up," he said trying to be casual.

"But—it would be best if you—" began Minette.

Without reply he went up the staircase, past her, the veins in his throat swelling uncomfortably. Throwing open the door of her room, he stood on the threshold, glaring.

There was a sudden yelp—hardly human—but he recognized the tone as that of his wife.

And his wife's face—gray as ash!

"Well?" he said harshly.

"Oh, Merrick, I thought you going to be late," she said lamely. "There is so little time during the day and I thought this would be a good chance to use my clay mask stuff."

And Nora wondered why it was that with the crumbling clay on her face her husband took her into his arms and affectionately caressed her.

"It just shows," she told herself later, "that men don't care a rap for looks—because you could be pretty in a clay mask!"

A Happy Home

Happy is the house that shelters a friend! It might well be built, like a festal bower or arch, to entertain him for a single day.—Emerson.

For Safety Sake

"CUTTING-IN" as an emergency cause can be eliminated. Motorists will remember that safety requires waiting until the car just passed can be seen in the rear view mirror before turning back into the same traffic.

Flying around a corner in a car and honking all the way down the road relieve your conscience if you are someone.

Dirt on lenses may reduce the light intensity of automobile headlights from 10 to 50 per cent, in addition to glare caused by scattering of the light beam.

On long trips, get out of the car frequently and "stretch" your legs. Tired muscles react slowly.

Speed must be consistent with volume of traffic, condition of road and time of day, even if it means a low a greater speed. Never go so that you cannot stop quickly enough to meet any emergency.

According to scientific tests, ear responds to a warning faster than the eye does. Trust a whistle or horn caused a change put on the brake faster than you see a signal.

The most important safety advice on any motor car is the one safety officials point out. The "self-starter" needs a good start, it, and the best brakes require quick toe pressure in the car.

Wrong Again!

IT APPEARS some time, as witness the following answers:

"A hostage is a lady who entertains visitors."

"Etc." is a sign that you believe more than you know."

"Mussolini is a sort of material used by women to sew."

"Dust is mud with the squeezed out."

And one little fellow said: "The trouble with problems you work just as hard 'em wrong as to get 'em right."

FIRESTONE Gives You This High Quality Tire at This New Low Price

Because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the sources and by more efficient manufacturing and distributing. These savings make possible extra values at low prices. You get:

High Quality—First choice rubber and selected cotton that conform to Firestone's high standards and rigid specifications.

Long Mileage—Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.

Blowout Protection—Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone Patented Gum-Dipping process. Every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Puncture Protection—Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

New Low Prices—Never before have all these safety and economy features been combined in a tire price so low.

SCHOOL NEWS

The advanced typing class having its five speed and accuracy tests, which closes the work of the semester. The freshmen class has completed its course of study in general science. The students are now preparing for the final semester test.

For the past week the freshman class in English has been reading essays. An essay is a short prose composition which expresses the author's opinions on any subject that pleases him. This closes the work for the year.

The physics class has been divided into two groups. One aggregation, consisting of five members, has gone ahead in the work on radio. This group is building a radio which will be demonstrated before the class this week.

The remainder of the class has formed the second group which is reviewing the work on electricity.

The Latin class is now reviewing word lists which are to help them in their examination next week. They are also reviewing translations of Caesar's books.

The members of the freshman mechanical drawing class are working on drawings that show rotation of objects and intersections and developments.

GRADE PICNICS

The students of the intermediate room will have their annual picnic at the West Bend City park on June 2, and the grammar room pupils will go to Cedar lake. The people in the primary room will remain on the school grounds.

DRAMATICS

On Monday evening, May 23, the Kappa Delta Chi Dramatic club held its spring dance in the high school gymnasium.

Since there only are a few boys in the club each girl member asked a boy to be her guest. Miss Busch brought her radio and we danced to the music of Wayne King and Louis Prima.

Refreshments, consisting of pie à la mode were served during the intermission. Dancing continued until 10 p. m. The Dramatic club plans to make this an annual affair.

At the regular meeting of Kappa Delta Chi last Friday the members elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Alice Koepsel replaces Ruth Schief as president, Violet Eberle is vice president, Lorraine Honeck, secretary, and Mary Kleinenschay, treasurer. The standard emblem club pit has been ordered and will be here by the close of school.

TEAM PLAYS AT GRAFTON AND WEST BEND THIS WEEK

The coming week end should be one of real enjoyment for baseball fans of Kewaskum for the team plays two games, both away. On Sunday the boys travel to Grafton where they will be gunning for their first victory. Grafton will probably use Robel and Muenker against Marx or Spangl and Kral for Kewaskum. On Monday, Memorial day, the locals play at West Bend in the postponed opening game of the season scheduled May 8, which was rained out. Batteries: West Bend—George Hesik or Meassenbrink and Runge. Follow the team to both games and see two good rival battles. Remember, Kewaskum opens its home season the following Sunday, June 5, against West Bend. Dedication exercises of the new field and grandstand and opening day ceremonies, recently postponed, will be held with the 42-piece Kewaskum Community band furnishing music.

POSTPONED BASEBALL TOURNAMENT HELD TODAY

The baseball tournament scheduled to be held last Saturday, May 21, on the local field between Kewaskum, Hartland, Slinger and Waldo high schools was postponed because of showers and wet grounds. Instead it is being held today, Friday, on Kewaskum's new field. Tickets, sold in advance are good for today's games.

There has been a last minute change in one of the tournament teams. Hartland was unable to play today and Random Lake was substituted in their place.

The drawing took place this morning at 9:30 a. m. and the first game was played, starting at 10 o'clock. The other morning game immediately followed the first. The afternoon contests were scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m. with the morning losers competing for third place. The championship game follows.

A trophy goes to the championship team of the tourney, results of which will be published next week.

Did You Know That—

- 1—Sun-bathing often is harmful to patients with pulmonary tuberculosis?
- 2—There usually are no signs or symptoms in early stage tuberculosis?
- 3—When the symptoms of tuberculosis, cough, indigestion, loss of weight or chest pain appear, tuberculosis has already gotten a good start?
- 4—Tuberculosis is being cured in all climates?
- 5—In large cities, about 80% of adults are infected with tuberculosis, but comparatively few develop the disease?
- 6—Tuberculosis is not inherited (the girl is not to be treated with x-rays)?
- 7—The X-ray is the most sensitive means of showing the condition of the lungs?
- 8—Tuberculosis is the leading cause of death between the ages of 15 and 45?
- 9—It kills more people in the age group than any other disease?
- 10—Early tuberculosis is easily cured; advanced tuberculosis is easy to diagnose but difficult to cure?
