

THREE WAYS OF GETTING IN THE DOUGH

Here are three delicious baking recipes using flour as the major ingredient. Above are shamrock cookies in which you use $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of shortening; $\frac{1}{4}$ cups of sugar; 1 egg; $\frac{3}{4}$ cups of flour; 4 teaspoons of baking powder; $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon of salt and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of milk. Cream the shortening, add sugar and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour and measure; mix and sift with baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Chill dough. Place on floured pastry cloth and roll to one-eighth inch thickness. Cut with shamrock cutter, place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 7 to 10 minutes.

Yeast bread is another delicious flour recipe. The ingredients are 1 cake of compressed yeast; $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of lukewarm water; 1 cup of milk; 1 tablespoon of sugar; $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons of salt; $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons of shortening and 3 cups of flour. Yeast is softened in lukewarm water. Scald the milk, add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool until lukewarm. Add yeast and stir in flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in a greased bowl and let rise until doubled in bulk. Shape into a loaf, place in a greased bread pan and let rise until double. Bake 10 minutes at 425 degrees F. and 35 minutes at 375 degrees F.

This pie crust is made from $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups of flour; $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon of salt; $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of shortening, and cold water for moistening. Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles a coarse meal. Add just enough cold water to make the dough stiff enough to handle. Divide in half. Roll out one part to $\frac{1}{8}$ inch thickness and line the pie pan. To make the fresh fruit filling use 3 cups of prepared fresh fruit; 1 to $\frac{1}{2}$ cups of sugar; 2 tablespoons of flour; $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon of salt and 1 tablespoon of butter. Prepare the fruit. Combine the dry ingredients and add to the fruit. Fill lined pie pan with fruit mixture and dot with butter. Roll out remaining dough for upper crust and arrange on top, crimping edges. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer.

STORY for BEDTIME

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

BUSTER BEAR yawned as he lay on his comfortable bed of leaves and watched the first early morning sunbeams creeping through the Green Forest to chase out the black shadows. Once more he yawned, then slowly got to his feet, stood up on his hind legs, and stretched as high up on the trunk of the tree as he could and scratched the bark with his claws. Then he sat down to think what he wanted for breakfast.

"I'm going fishing," said he in his deep, grumbly-rumbly voice to no one in particular. "Yes, sir, I'm going fishing. I want some fat trout for my breakfast."

He shuffled along over to the Laughing Brook straight to a little pool of which he knew and as he drew near he took the greatest care not to make the teeniest, weeniest bit of noise. Now it just happened that early as he was some one was here before Buster Bear. When he came in sight of the little pool who should he see but another fisherman there and he had already caught a fine, fat trout. Who was it? Why, little Joe Otter to be sure. He was just climbing up the bank with the fat trout in his mouth.

Buster Bear tiptoed up very softly until he was right behind Little Joe Otter. "Whoof, whoof!" said he in his deepest, most grumbly-rumbly voice. "That's a very fine looking trout. I wouldn't mind if I had it myself."

Little Joe Otter gave a frightened little squeal and without even turning to see who was speaking dropped his fish and dived head first into the Laughing Brook. Buster Bear sprang forward and with one of his big paws caught the fat trout.

"Here's your trout," Mr. Otter, said he as Little Joe put his head out of the water to see what had frightened him so. "Come and get it."

But Little Joe wouldn't. The fact is he was afraid to. He snarled at Buster Bear and called him a thief and everything bad he could think of. Buster didn't seem to mind.

"It's too bad to waste such a fine fish," said Buster thoughtfully. "I wonder what I best do with it." And while he was wondering he ate.

Contrast!

The vivid effect of Arleen Whelan's hair gives effective contrast to this all-gray man's twill suit. Cut-on tailored accessories are of gray. The blouse is of white satin. Arleen is among the coming young motion picture starlets.

A budget is mathematical magic that makes dollars talk.

a sinking fund, an anchor to windward for the times you'll miscalculate on the cost of that dinner bridge, or spend the milk money, or, foolish lady, on a new bonnet.

If you are a money-through-a-hole-in-my-purse sort of person and get your income weekly, while your bills come monthly, try the envelope system. Put so much for each on-coming bill in the envelope every week and consider that once you've deposited your money there, it's the same as paid out.

Keep an office as conscientiously as you keep house—in a pleasant spot to settle down for your home work. File bills and receipts carefully; balance your bank book and have a spike for day-by-day grocery slips, or better still a day book for grocery lists. Here also you ought to keep lots of sharp pencils and crisp clean paper to figure on.

For buying-on-time items, remember to make a place for them in apportioning your weekly money. That will keep you from getting into trouble when payments that seemed so easy at first begin to look like major catastrophes every time their due date rolls around. Buying on time is a fine method for many of us to acquire big things, but unless the budget says "yes," those seemingly small payments may look like the war debt after a while.

Poe's Tale of 'Gold Bug' Is Very Realistic

By ELIZABETH C. JAMES

AT THE time Edgar Allan Poe was living at Charleston, S. C., his friend, one Legrand, was living on Sullivan island, just off the mainland. Legrand had long been ill, so that he was attended in his loneliness by Jupiter, a negro servant.

One night in the fall of the year, when Poe was visiting at Legrand's cottage, he found his host greatly excited about a rare scarrabaeus that he had found on the beach. Unfortunately he had lent the specimen to an officer at the nearby army post, but he drew a picture of the bug and handed the drawing to Poe. The latter regarded it a moment, holding it before the light of a blazing fire, and then mentioned that it looked more like a skull than a bug. Legrand became angry and took the paper back, looked at it intently and then dropped it into a revery.

A few days later Poe received a summons to come at once to the cottage. At first Legrand appeared preoccupied, then he confided a mysterious plan, stating that they must leave in the late afternoon to carry it out. Poe feared that he was ill, and concurred for the sake of expediency.

Soon they were in a desolate place where the wasteland had never been reclaimed. Legrand indicated the route and Jupiter cut the path through the luxuriant undergrowth. Presently a gigantic tree appeared.

Treasure Discovered. Legrand gave his orders: Jupiter was to climb the gigantic tree, to count the limbs, and to go out as far as he could on the seventh limb. Some time elapsed for the climbing then Jupiter yelled in a lusty style: "Here's a skull!"

Legrand smiled with satisfaction. "Now drop the bug down through the left eye!"

Explanations were necessary to indicate the left eye, but presently the gold bug slowly descended. Legrand became more eager. He made certain calculations, marked off 50 feet, drove a stake, and began to dig. The three men dug for two hours, but found nothing.

"Jupiter, I'll kill you!" cried Legrand suddenly. "Which way was that skull facing?"

The skull was facing the tree, so the bug had indeed been put through the wrong eye. The entire calculation had to be repeated. When the digging had gone on apace the second time, a metallic sound rang out

Are You a 'Canny' Canner?

Do you get 100 per cent return from your canning efforts? Do you always get enough to "let a canning" in your cellar at the end of the season, but if 100 of these because of cheap old rubbers you are only getting an 80 per cent return on your labor.

One of the greatest needs the housewife canner can have found, is to yield to the taken clerk who substitutes known brands for advertised brands produced by reputable manufacturers. Substitutions can be all right at times, when item can be used up in a matter of days. But when it comes to rings—play safe—buy a recognized brand.

TWO-MINUTE BIOGRAPHIES

WALTER S. GIFFORD
Just before he graduated from Harvard, Walter S. Gifford wrote General Electric for a job. But he inadvertently addressed the letter to Western Electric and they gave him a job as payroll clerk at $10 a week. Today Gifford is president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the "biggest company in the world." Gifford was born in Salem, Mass., and entered college at sixteen, graduating three years later. Western Electric sent him to Chicago where he became acquainted with Jane Addams of Hull House, who interested him in welfare work. Later he was to head the Charity Organization society and President Hoover's national agency for unemployment relief.

Western Electric promoted him rapidly and soon A. T. & T. kidnaped him to be statistician in the Boston office. By 1916 he was in New York and before the year was out became assistant director of the national defense council. In 1919 he was made vice president of the telephone company and in 1925 he succeeded H. B. Thayer as president. Unlike most major executives, Gifford is a "hired man" and would lose his job if he didn't show profits.

Siamese Twins Wed Sisters
The original Siamese twins, Chang and Eng, once exhibited by P. T. Barnum, were married to two sisters and together raised 22 children. This prize family lived alternately in two farm homes, going from one to the other every three days when not on tour.

1928 FAIR PREMIUM LISTS READY
The premium lists of the county 4-H fair are now ready for distribution. Club members will receive their copy through the mail. Anyone wishing to exhibit in the open classes is invited to write for a copy as we have no way of knowing who may desire a copy.

The 150 piece Hartford Junior band has been secured for a concert on Wednesday evening, August 10th. Arrangements for additional music are also being made.

The Mid-West Carnival company will be on the grounds with shows and rides for the enjoyment of all. Even though the old fair grounds have been lost for fair purposes, the management of this year's 4-H club fair is doing all it can to make the two-day fair, namely, August 9 and 10, an enjoyable occasion for both the youth of the county and their parents and friends. Remember the dates, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 9 and 10.

ARMY WORM PROBLEMS
During the past few days several calls have come to the extension office to identify army worm infestations. There appears to be a slight infestation in the eastern townships of the county. Most of these worms are nearly full grown and at best will do but little future damage. The situation is not serious, however, it might pay farmers to spread poison bait for them. The following is the formula to use in preparing the poison bait:

Coarse flaked wheat bran 50 pounds; molasses 1 gallon; sodium arsenate 1 quart; water about 5 gallons. Mix well and spread in the late afternoon at the rate of 20 pounds per acre.

MEETING OF HYBRID SEED CORN PRODUCERS
A meeting of all hybrid seed corn producers in Columbia, Dodge, Washington, Ozaukee, Dane, Jefferson, Waushara, Rock, Walworth, Racine and Kenosha counties will be held at Jefferson at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday, July 13, at the court house. This is a special regional meeting for producers in south central and southeastern Wisconsin to explain and discuss production and certification. It is important that every producer in the eleven counties attend this meeting.

COUNTY DAIRY QUEEN CONTEST
Preliminary arrangements for the selection of county queens who will compete at the state fair on Dairy Day, August 26, for the honor of becoming the 1928 Wisconsin Dairy Queen have been made in 56 counties which competed last year and in several other counties, the state department of agriculture and markets announced today.

Only 4-H club girls, 15 or more years of age and achievement club members for a year or more, can compete for the honor of becoming county queen and eventually state queen, and no girl who won a dairy queen contest last year will be permitted to enter this year's competition, according to Wilbur G. Carlson of the department's dairy promotion division. The Washington county contest will be held in connection with the county fair. All girls eligible are invited to participate in the contest.

BANG'S DISEASE CONTROL
Rapid progress in the control of Bang's disease is being made in the states in which dairying is the leading agricultural pursuit. Wisconsin has a total of 977,190 dairy cattle tested and leads all other states in the number of Bang's free dairy herds. Minnesota ranks second with 686,655 cattle under the program.

Beginning with July 1st, the indemnity payments have been reduced somewhat. The payment now is one-third the difference between the appraised valuation and the net proceeds of marketing the animals. In no event may the payments exceed $25.00 on a grade or $50.00 on a purebred.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Over two hundred boys and girls from many sections of Washington county gathered at the West Bend City park Tuesday, July 12th, for their annual 4-H picnic.

The day was devoted to many types of recreation. At 10:30 volley ball, tetherball, and soft ball games were begun with enthusiasm; other club members took advantage of the swimming pool. A brief shower just before noon temporarily ended these activities.

A fine lunch which was made possible through the courtesy of the West Bend Chamber of Commerce was very much appreciated by every 4-H member.

Mr. Wakelin McNeel, assistant state 4-H club leader, Madison, Wisconsin, was present for the afternoon program. The peppy songs he led and the short talk he gave were much enjoyed.

Stunts by the Boltonville, Cheeseville, and Fillmore 4-H clubs followed. Richard Wierman of the Boltonville club gave a humorous reading, "Setting a Fine Hen Chicken."

Mr. McNeel closed the program by giving the "Indian Farewell."

More games followed and more swimming.

The 4-H members wish to express their thanks to the city of West Bend for the use of the lovely City park and also to the West Bend Chamber of Commerce for their cooperation.

IN MEMORY

In memory of our dear husband and father, Ferdinand Raether, who passed away one year ago, on July 1, 1937: We little thought when you left home, That you would never return; That you so soon in death should sleep And leave us all alone. Although you could not speak to us, Or could not say good-by, We know your thoughts were with us all When you were called to die. The hands that did so much for us, How helplessly they lay; God knows they worked continuously, But they are gone today. Sadly missed by his wife and child, Ren.

LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH!

JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Three months ago a spangled outfit he had worn... circuses performers hit... trail amidst prom... of the biggest season since... Today, many of them are... to get home without sell... the tent.

ernize the show this year and there- by destroyed its charm. That's a fruitless argument be- cause John Ringling North, grand- son of "Old John" Ringling, insisted he was only trying to regain a bit of the old Ringling touch by ar- ranging new costuming and hanging for the circus this year.

Under the Smaller Tops. North is a Yale man and there were mutterings last spring that the circus was going collegiate. Per- haps it was collegiate to import a giant gorilla, "Gargantua the Great," and set him up for exhibi- tion in an air-conditioned cage, en- closed in steel bars and shatter- proof glass. Perhaps other minor innovations were collegiate. But it will be hard for John Ringling North's critics to put their wagging fingers on the exact reason why his circus failed this year.

Maybe it was the entertainment; maybe it was the public; maybe it was the management. Fortunately the Ringling recession has not made itself felt so acutely among the lesser circuses. Probably it's because these smaller units play largely to non-metropoli- tan audiences who haven't felt bad business conditions so acutely. Cer- tainly there's no drought so far as numbers are concerned; the current season boasts six railroad shows and 20 truck shows. Add to that more than 150 carnivals and hundreds of fair and celebration units, and you have a picture of the 1938 circus field.

Tim McCoy of motion picture fame is reviving the days of the 101 Ranch and Buffalo Bill. Clyde Beaty and his cats frolic with the Cole Brothers circus, which has a second show on the road under the name of Robbins Brothers. Then comes Al G. Barnes-Sells-Floto circus and the Hagenbeck-Wallace show. Most of these are railroad shows with 20- to 30-car trains.

This year's experience in the circus industry only goes to prove you should never count chickens before they hatch. Last April the boys in winter quarters said it was going to be a bigger year than 1929, which somebody is forever dragging out of the closet for purposes of compar- ison. They looked at the greatest advance demand for bookings since the present crop of sawdust was an acorn, and they looked back on two preceding seasons that were the best in years.

From George A. Hamid of New York, one of the biggest eastern bookers of acts for circuses, fairs, carnivals and celebrations, came re- ports that the demand for new and unusual acts far exceeded the sup- ply.

"We could book hundreds more if we could find them," he said. "The demand for acts for celebrations, such as those around the Fourth of July, is three times what it was last year."

Circus in Retrospect. Old P. T. Barnum, were he alive today, might say the industry has become so big and complex that it's collapsing. The man who started out many years ago with a com- bined museum-menagerie-circus might scoff at the huge institution his successors now tote around so painfully on special trains.

Certainly it's a far cry back to the night of April 22, 1793, when George Washington watched John Bill Ricketts leap through a hoop from the back of his galloping horse, regain his footing and do a dance on the saddle. That was one of the simple joys of a simple people, yet circus showmanship today is substantially the same, merely augmented.

It can be recalled that even in the earlier days the circus was a humbug proposition. P. T. Barnum, an old man when he reached the prime of circus life, chortled with inward glee at being called the "greatest humbug of his time." He knew the value of advertising and was a genius at getting his name in the paper.

It's interesting to speculate what will become of the dainty French equestrienne and the almond-eyed maid from Tokyo, the Hindu mystic and the rosy-cheeked English athlete, all of them members of the Ringling circus, all of them tempo- rarily out of a job now that the "Big One" has closed shop for the year.

For old followers of the open road this will be a catastrophe. It will be summer, with no circus tent to move night after night, no blaring midway. Just summer with green grass, birds and free air, a phenom- enon many of them have never before seen.

This summer you're apt to find some top-rank circus talent filling out the season with smaller shows, anxious to make a living however they can.

And next fall they'll find the road that leads back to winter quarters and home, or wherever they spend the cold months. Many of them will shake their heads and mutter: "Never again—I'm through."

But next spring they'll be around again and somebody will remember the bromide: "The show must go on!"

Mats, Cushions for Porch or Sun Room

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
THERE is a modern air about the colorful roughly woven table mat and the chair cover and cushion shown here. Does it surprise you to learn that they cost next to nothing? There is a trick in it. The fabric is actually bur- lap sacking with dyed strips of old silk stockings drawn through. Bright colored yarns may be substituted for the stocking strips or combined with them if desired. Either plaids or stripes may be worked out, and the best results will be obtained with a simple color scheme such as the one suggested here.

Dye the stockings before cutting. Cut the strips 3/4-inch wide and about an inch longer than the space they are to fill. Taper one end of the strip so that it will pull through the bur-lap easily. If long strips are needed, cut around and around the stocking spirally instead of lengthwise. Now, draw out one thread of the bur-lap; then tie one end of the next thread to the tapered end of the stocking strip as at A. Pull the other end of this thread as at B to draw the strip through.

NOTE: If you wish to use these weekly articles for reference paste them in a scrapbook, as they are not included in either Sewing Book No. 1 or 2. Book 1, "Sewing for the Home Decorator," covers curtains, slipcovers, dressing tables; 48 pages of fasci- nating directions. Book 2 illus- trates 90 embroidery stitches with numerous applications; doll clothes and gift items. Order by number, enclosing 25 cents for each book desired. If you order both books, leaflet on making crazy quilts, with 36 stitches il- lustrated, will be included free. Address Mrs. Spears, 210 South Desplains St., Chicago, Ill.

It Was Quite Natural for the Justice to Inquire

Mr. Justice Dunne, of the New York State Supreme court, was presiding over an action for dam- ages, when there came this dia- logue:
"Did you see the plaintiff knocked down?"
"Who, me?"
"Yes, you."
"No, not me."
"Did you see the defendant at all?"
"Who, me?"
"Yes, you."
"No."
"Then why are you here?"
"Who, me?"
"Yes, you."
"To see justice done."
"Who, me?" demanded Justice Dunne.

Ma! I got my name in the paper!

Only Newspapers bring the news of vital interest to you. Headlines may scream of death and disaster without causing you to raise an eyebrow. But if your son gets his name in the paper - that's real news! It isn't by accident that this paper prints so many stories which vitally interest you and your neighbors. News of remote places is stated briefly and interpreted. Local news is covered fully, because all good editors know that the news which interests the readers most is news about themselves.

Now is a good time to learn more about this newspaper which is made especially for you. Just for fun ask yourself this question: How could we get along without newspapers?
