LAST WEEK'S RESULTS Kewaskum 21, Oakfield 17.

Campbellsport 18, Brandon 6. North Fond du Lac 33, Rosendale 20. Between 400 and 500 howling fans, one of the largest crowds ever to attend a basketball game in the local gymnasium, watched Kewaskum High school beat Oakfield in a well played battle for the Tri-County league lead here last Friday evening. The final score of the game, which went into an exciting overtime period, was 21 to 17. Kewaskum took a long step toward the

SAFETY TALKS

Crossing the Road HERE'S the modern counterpart of the ancient chicken

Why does a pedestrian cross the road-at the wrong places and without looking?

That's what the National Safety council is trying to find out after an examination of its records which proved that at least a third of the pedestrians killed in rural areas and 40 per cent of those killed in cities were crossing at places other than intersections. In 1937, the loss of life from these classifications mounted over the 5,600 mark.

When Eyes Turn Westward

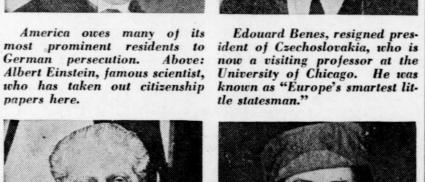

Until this year, Germany's annual quota of immigrants to the United States was 25,957, boosted to 27,370 since Germany took over Austria. As above figures show, this quota was never used up, though in the 12-month period ending last July 1, German emigration to America showed a decided upswing. In recent months this has become even more marked, and today every westbound boat carries more refugees. The current fiscal year's quota is already near exhaustion. Most immigrants have been Jewish people.

Refugees get their first glance at the Statue of Liberty, wondering what the new land holds in store for them. Once in New York, they are bundled off to refugee headquarters.

Plain Face Is Challenge to Personality

By PATRICIA LINDSAY "I CAN'T understand it," wailed a stupid mother to me, "Jenny is so plain and her two sisters are so beautiful! I only hope some man will see something in her and marry her. I'll have no trouble getting the other two married but Jenny is going to be a problem!"

Jenny heard her mother and she just laughed. "It's too bad I am so plain," she said, "and if no man will marry me when I grow up I'll be a nurse!" Jenny was 15 then.

Five years later I saw Jenny again. Her mother had written that Jenny was to be married and her two pretty sisters (still not married!) were to attend her. I was amazed at this turn of events.

When I stepped off the train there was Jenny with frank lovely eyes smiling me a welcome. Her rather angular figure was becomingly attired in a simply cut sports frock and her long straight black hair had been cut and waved. Now short curls haloed her plain face giving it the most fascinating piquant ex-

From that first moment it was fun to be with Jenny, to listen to her wedding plans, to meet her young friends and to watch her easy, de lightful poise. "The Ugly Duckling's certainly made good," I murmured, and was curious to know what she had done during those five intervening years.

It seems that at an early age Jenny realized that beaux and parties and indulgence of whims were not going to be hers easily, because she lacked the beauty her sisters had, so she struck out for a life of her own and went to college. There she concentrated on school affairs as ardently as on her studies and soon won an enviable place in the hearts of her classmates. Not expecting much from life without effort she matured into an unselfish, thoughtful person and through study, quite unconsciously developed her personality. It was at a school dance that Bill, her-groomto-be, met her.

State of Mind Important

No, the girl over 30 who has let herself down must pick herself up. Perhaps she has to begin with thinking. She must think she is needed, that she is good at her work, that there is a job for her some place. Then she must make herself just as lovely looking as she possibly can within her means.

Any girl can exercise herself back to health, put color in her cheeks and a sparkle in her eyes. She can pamper her hair by brushing, shampooing it at home, drying it in the sun. She can keep her clothes clean, neatly mended and, if her funds are very low, rely on an inexpensive collar and cuffs to freshen the one dress she wears job-hunting.

She must approach each prospective employer with a feeling of assurance, an eagerness for the job and make him feel she is capable, experienced and a person he needs to have around. It can be doneyou older girls-but if you don't take yourselves in hand your future is not rosy. Just think of the thousands of girls over 30 who are holding down jobs-how do you suppose

HINT-OF-THE-DAY

The Use of Face Powder

Face powder is perhaps woman's oldest beauty aid. In Egypt, China and Japan powders have been used for centuries. Rice, starch, clay, bismuth and almond meal were toilet prerequisites before the days of Cleopatra. A high grade powder is a many-sided blessing. It protects the skin against strong sunlight, harsh winds and atmospheric dust. The woman who knows her beauty rules never grinds powder into the pores. She pats it on lightly, start. ing under the chin and not on the nose, as was the old-time custom. After its application she taps her face lightly with the finger tips. That tends to make the powder stick. It's important to be fastidious

"Panic in the Dark"

TELLO EVERYBODY: Here's the story of a cock-eyed railroad accident-so cock-eyed that everything seems to work just the opposite from what it should. You know, when anyone mentions railroad accident to me I immediately think of a collision. But Marcella Timer of Clifton, N. J., was in one once that not only wasn't a collision, but as a matter of fact, was just the opposite of a That sounds pretty doggone near impossible, and I know it.

Two railroad cars coming together can cause a mighty serious accident. On the other hand, two cars getting farther and farther apart every minute-well-that ought to be just about the safest thing on tracks. But it was the ever-widening distance between two cars that threw Mrs. Timer right ino the lap of Adventure and caused all the horror, and panic, and suffering that you're going to read about today. Marcella's husband is a traveling representative for a

New York firm. In the summer of 1925 he was covering the New England territory. The Timer's home was then in Ridgefield Park, N. J., but Marcella with her two children, a boy, six, and a baby girl not quite a year old, was touring New England with

It was about the middle of July and they were in Hartford, Conn., when the baby developed a colic and began running a high fever. Marcella decided to take the children home to Ridgefield Park. They arrived in New York on a terrifically hot day, crossed to New Jersey and got on a West Shore train at Weehawken about four-thirty in the afternoon.

Train Comes to Stop in Tunnel.

"I don't know whether you're acquainted with the West Shore railroad at this point," Marcella writes, "but it has a long tunnel under the city of Weehawken which comes out on the Jersey meadows about seven miles from where it begins. I had often been through this tunnel and had never given it a second thought." But many are the thoughts Marcella has given that doggone tunnel since.

Passengers began to show signs of uneasiness.

She boarded the train for Ridgefield Park and found seats in the next to the last coach. The train started, and entered the tunnel as usual. It was about half way through when it began to slow down and came to a gradual stop. That wasn't unusual. Trains often did that. Marcella paid no attention to it and neither did any of the other passengers.

After a while the lights went out. That WAS unusual. The passengers began to get restless. A conductor was running up and down outside the coaches swinging a red lantern. A second conductor had stationed himself at the door. The day had been hot enough in the first place, but down there in the tunnel it was stifling. The windows of the cars were all closed to keep out the poisonous gases that filled the tunnel at all times, and what little air there was in the beginning was rapidly being used up.

The baby, whose fever had mounted, began to scream at the top of | sleeves, size 14 requires 4% yards her lungs. Several other passengers began to show signs of uneasiness. Some of the men got up and approached the door, but the conductor would not let them pass, nor would he give any satisfactory explanation why the train was standing still in a dark and gas-ridden tunnel.

For a few minutes after that all was quiet. Then, suddenly, panic gripped the people in that dark, stifling car. One man leaped to a window and threw it open. "They can't keep us in here to suffocate like rats," he shouted. "I'm getting out!" He clambered through the window, and many others followed him. And almost immediately the coach was filled with the sulphurous, poisonous gases of the tunnel.

"Then," says Marcella, "terror such as I had never known before gripped me. My baby stopped screaming suddenly and became very still. My little boy leaned with unnatural weight against my side. In the pitch darkness everyone was gasping for breath. Some man shouted to everyone to lie down on the floor. I couldn't get down with the two children. But I prayedand how I prayed!

Coal Gas Fills Passenger Coaches.

"Women were fainting and men's lungs were wracked with a hacking cough that only filled them with more coal gas. I felt as if a hand of steel were gripping at my throat. Then I began to sink down into a dark, black pit of nothingness that seemed to becoming up to meet me. I tried to fight it off, but it seemed it was no use. Deeper and deeper into the gloom I sank. Subconsciously I felt the train jar and shake, but by that time it didn't mean anything. It is the last thing I remembered. Then I was unconscious.'

Now let's go back and tell the part of the story Marcella didn't know anything about. What had happened was that a coupling had broken, and the front part of the train had gone on. leaving the last two coaches behind in the middle of the tunnel. It was the exact opposite of a collision, but the conductors realized that it was serious, nevertheless. One of them went out into the gas-filled tunnel with a red lantern to make sure that the cars weren't hit by another train, while the other tried to keep the passengers from leaving the comparative safety of the car.

When the front of the broken train reached the meadows, the loss of the two cars was discovered and an emergency engine was sent immediately. But it had taken 20 minutes to accomplish that, and in the meantime the passengers in those two stranded cars had breathed in

Ambulances were waiting when they reached the mouth of the tunnel to give first aid. "And maybe you think we didn't need it," says Marcella. "My little boy and I were revived almost immediately, but it was only with a terrific struggle that my little girl's life was saved." And if Marcella had to go through another railroad accident, I think she'd pick a good old-fashioned collision in preference to one of those trick accidents where the cars all go in different directions. "I will be plain," he said. "A lady has been abducted-a lady of high degree. She was kidnaped early this morning upon her father's estate . . . at Brief . . . some ten miles from here." He held up our map. "I think you will hardly deny that you know where that is."

"I have known where Brief was," said Herrick, "for 23 years." The others stared.

"We are dealing with the present" said Virgil. Herrick raised his eyebrows.

"Allow me to suggest," he said, ould keep to yourself such, er, discoveries as you may make." He turned again to the police. "Yes, gentlemen?"

The sergeant cleared his throat. "In view, sir, of what has occurred, I must ask you to explain the markings upon this map."

"With pleasure," said Herrick.

"And I sincerely advise you to tell the truth."

"Now I do not like trespassing: out neither, I frankly confess, do I lke going empty away. And in the and we decided to rise very early this morning, enter the park from the north and have a good look at the castle before anybody was up. And so . . . we did."

For a moment I thought that Virgil was going to faint. All the color was out of his face, which looked peaked and thin, and he did not seem to be breathing, but might have been turned to stone. Then a shiver ran through him, and a hand Went up to his mouth.

"I shall have to-" "I think it is clear," said Virgil, "that this gentleman is telling the truth." The two police stared upon him as though he were out of his mind. "I mean, if he were guilty, he would scarcely have made an admission which put the rope round his neck."

As soon as he could speak-"But, sir," cried the sergeant, "a rope round the neck is harmless, unless it is tight. If every rogue was believed because he told such truths as could do him no harm-"

"These gentlemen," said Virgil, "have not the appearance of rogues. It only remains for you to beg their pardon and make a fresh cast. Good God, man, when time is so precious, do you propose to waste it in prying into two strangers' private affairs?" With a manifest effort, the sergeant controlled his voice.

"Sir," he said, "if you do not wish to wait, you must leave us here. I have a sow by the ear, and until I know it's the wrong one, I will not let go." With that, he returned to Herrick. "If you'll take us to Gabble, sir, I can get on to Innsbruck from there, and in less than two hours from now every police station in Austria will be alive with orders to search for the people we want." "Splendid," said Virgil, somehow.

He turned to Herrick and bowed. 'Please believe that I shall not forget today . . . and that I am a man who invariably pays his debts.' "Is that a threat?" said Herrick.

I saw the police open their eyes, and Virgil in desperation let himself

"It's a warning," he snarled. "I do not believe your tale of the numberless car. That you saw a dog this morning proves nothing at allexcept that you were at hand when the outrage was done. "One of the three," said Herrick, 'was a woman. She had a dog on

"A dog?" cried the police, togeth-"A long-haired, black-and-white dog: a mongrel, about that size."

Struggling with his emotion-"Sir," cried the sergeant, "I beg that you will forgive me if I have seemed something short. I have to do my duty, and your interest in Brief seemed strange. But now I know that you are telling the truth. The dog you describe was found at large in the park."

Respectfully thanking Herrick and handing him back our map, the sergeant begged that he would describe "the delinquents you so providentially saw"-and Herrick complied with a gusto which did my heart good.

His picture of Percy Virgil was actually taken from life. Lazily surveying his victim, he drew a merciless portrait of that unprincipled man: and I find it hard to believe that a rogue was ever so trounced.

Virgil's tormentor then repeated the horribly damning words which Virgil had said to his creatures before they had entered the wood, and when the sergeant seemed puzzled about the use of "the wire," suggested that it might have been

And when Max has opened his mouth, you may break the seal. Thus I shall corroborate him, and he will corroborate me."

"Sir," cried the sergeant, "I beseech you to tell it us now."

"I will write it down," said Herrick. "Or, better still, Mr. Exon shall write it down. You will observe that I have not mentioned the name: yet he will go off and write it-which goes to show that he knows it as well as I."

With that, he turned to me and asked me to do as he said . . When I returned to the drive, Virgil was back in his car, beside himself with passion and shouting down the sergeant who seemed very much surprised.

"And if you choose," he concluded, "to take your cue from a couple of lying hounds who, if you had done your duty, would now be under arrest, you can take it alone." With that he started his engine, let in his clutch and swung the car violently round. With storming gears, it squirted between the chestnuts and on to the road of approach. The police stared after the fellow with open mouths: then they turned to see Herrick with a hand to his

"I gather," he said, "that you find his behavior strange." "I can't understand it," said the sergeant. "Ten minutes ago-"

"Quite so," said Herrick. "In fact, ten minutes ago he did his very best to get you away-because, when he heard the hour at which we had entered the park, he did not wish you to hear what I might have to tell." He took the envelope from me and held it out. "You may open that now, if you please, and read the name of the leader whom Max will betray. After that, you shall have some tea, and then, we'll drive you to Gabble to take what action you please."

The sergeant ripped the envelope open, and he and his fellow together peered at the sheet. Percy Elbert Virgil

Fish vs. Other Flesh Foods There is a wide variation among the different kinds of fish in the amount of fat they contain. In genvitamin. eral, fish have less fat and more water than other forms of meat. Their tissue fibers are also shorter, which makes for ease of digestion. In many cases, their flavor is less pronounced because there are fewer extractives. For this reason, fish is considered less stimulating, and that is also why it is often served with some sort of sauce, or with a lemon garnish to point up the flavor.

The proteins of fish are regarded as equally useful with other forms of meat for helping to build and repair body tissues. Most lean fish are richer in minerals than fatty fish; in this respect, they resemble lean meats.

The founders of the International Harvester organization pioneered in the sale of farm equipment Because of this policy, hundreds of thousands of farmers have been able to enjoy the benefits of improved machinery years earlier than would otherwise have been possible. The machines have literally paid for themselves in time and money

During the past year our terms have been improved, better meeting the needs of farmers. The new INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER INCOME-PURCHASE PLAN recognizes the fact that frequent small payments are easier to make than one large payment. It is so flexible that it can be adapted to each farmer's marketing schedule, permitting him to make his payments when he has cash coming from crops, livestock, or dairy or poultry products. Each farmer's requirements are considered and analyzed individually—resulting in a convenient schedule of payments. easy to meet.

Pay CASH on delivery for your International Harvester equipment when you can, but when cash must be conserved see what the INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER INCOME-PURCHASE PLAN offers you. Get the full benefit of the equipment you needlet it pay its way as you pay.

We will gladly discuss this plan with you in detail on request.

EUROPE'S 'WALL OF NEUTRALITY'

Map shows how Hitler and Mussolini have built eastern European alliances to protect themselves from Russia while pressing new demands against France and Britain. (See EUROPE.)

EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst, and not necessarily of the newspaper.

Europe

Except for Spain, January found all Europe immersed in an ominous calm broken only by occasional under-cover whispers among democracies on one side and dictators on the other. Europe was a theater and Spain was its stage. By the end of the month the play on Spain's stage was definitely approaching its climax because Fascist-subsidized Rebels had put the communistic Loyalist government to flight at Barcelona. This marked the beginning of Loyalist Spain's end, soon to leave both Italy and Germany free to press new demands against Britain

The reason for this embarrassing situation is that Europe's democracies have followed a policy of nonintervention in Spain, declining to admit that non-intervention is really a disguise for the now-discredited policy of dictator appeasement. Regardless of the moral issues reportedly involved in Spain's war London and Paris must now realize that their mistake has not been the refusal to side with Loyalists against the Rebels, but rather their permitting Germany and Italy to aid the Insurgents. The result is that Fascist nations now control Spain. France is therefore surrounded on three sides by potentially hostile nations, while the Mediterranean becomes predominantly dictator-con-

Spain's war is not finished, but it has been sufficiently localized to free Mussolini's hands for other pursuits. Almost every competent European observer has predicted a new crisis following Barcelona's collapse and the whispers throughout Europe have backed up that pre-

Most important foundation work for the new Italo-German demands is the assurance that any resultant conflict will be localized. This means peventing huge, mysterious Russia from aiding Britain and France. Therefore Rome and Berlin have quietly established a solid bloc of "neutral" states reaching from the Baltic to the Adriatic (see map), which will stand as sentinels against Russian aggression while Italy and Germany turn their backs to face France and Britain.

The new crisis will center around Italian demands against France. though it may be enlarged through new declarations by Chancellor Hitler. Italy wants Tunisia (enabling her to blockade the Mediterranean), control of the Suez canal, and ownership of the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad (providing an outlet from Ethiopia). These demands are vital to Britain, because Italian control of the Mediterranean might cut off London's "lifeline" to India and the Probable dictator strategy will be for Germany to assure France she will not help Italy, thereby encouraging Britain to stand aloof. Then Germany would aid Italy in a possible war just as she has aided Rebel Spain, with "volunteers." Whether London and Paris will wait for such an eventuality is another matter. Thoroughly scared by reports that joint Italo-German demands will be voiced by Chancellor Hitler before the Reichstag, by Italian mobilization of her 1908 army class, by threatened German mobilization of 1,500,000 men by February 15, the two democracies are beginning to wake up. Encouragingly. Great Britain has begun an intensive army recruiting campaign. But almost completely offsetting this practical step is the report that Prime Minister Chamberlain will soon invite Hitler, Mussolini and French Premier Daladier to a new "Munich" conference, there to buy peace

Last summer, Rep. Martin Dies and his committee on un-Americanism unearthed dirt concerning Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader who is not a naturalized citizen but nevertheless guides the destinies of many American laboring men as an unofficial mogul of John Lewis' C. force and that he had made disparaging remarks about the President of the U.S.

Secretary Perkins has failed to give Dies committeemen what they consider a satisfactory answer. Her claim: That a court ruling is now pending on whether membership in the Communist party is a deportable offense.

Not since 1876 has an attempt been made to impeach a cabinet member, but that has not stopped one Dies committeeman from setting a modern precedent. New Jersey's Rep. J. Parnell Thomas has introduced a resolution calling for an investigation to determine whether Secretary Perkins should be impeached, along with Immigration Commissioner James L. Houghteling and Labor Department Solicitor Gerard D. Reilly.

That Madame Perkins' unaggressive interest in the Bridges deportation case is not popular has been indicated at Sacramento, Calif., where the state legislature may ask her for an immediate report on Mr. Bridges' citizenship status. So far as he had determined, said Assemblyman C. Don Field, the labor leader has twice taken out naturalization papers but has failed to file them in the required time.

Man's top running speed is 21.7 miles per hour; horse's, 45.1; train's, 127.1; boat's, 130.9; automobile's, 357.5, and airplane's, 440.6. But at Buffalo, N. Y., a pursuit monoplane being built for the French government has broken the old airplane record by about 150 m. p. h. With motor wide open but engine speed held down (by an electrically controlled propellor), H. Lloyd Child began diving at 22,000 feet, holding his vertical descent until he reached 9,000 feet. The graph chart chalked up his speed until it reached 575 m. p. h., then moved off the paper. Landing with no ill effects, Child estimated he had flown at 600 m. p. h. Since air reacts like solid matter at just over 600 m. p. h., scientists explained that Child had probably traveled fast as a modern plane could ever

Theory of Spending Ourselves Out Of Depression Seen Unwise Course

Evidence in Congress of Definite Determinaton to Cut Defense. His $552,000,000 emer-Down on Appropriations; Sound Sense of American gency two-year program is moving People Always Finds Answer to National Problems.

> By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. - It always has | curtailment of federal waste has been my conviction that the American people will find a sound answer to every national problem, if they are given the facts and the time to figure out what those facts mean. They may be swayed temporarily; they may be led or herded or threatened and these conditions may put them in a wrong spot temporarily, but I repeat that if they are given time, the national conclusion, the collective thinking, will be along sound lines.

They are demonstrating these things as a fact, again. There is no doubt about it. For five or six years, a considerable majority of the nation's citizenry was following the theory of spending ourselves out of the depression. It was an unsound course, obviously, but money was made to do a lot of talking-as money in billions of dollars will talk. Lately, however, hardy American thinking has been carrying the majority back to normal understanding, and the influence of spending by the federal government is sagging, distinctly.

Notwithstanding the statements, frequently heard from Republican sources, that "you can't beat Santa Claus," or the variation that "you can't beat $4,000,000,000," there is plenty of evidence to show that there is quite a definite determination to quit that sort of thing. That is, there is a determination in most places outside of the so-called inner circle of New Dealers. Especially is this true in the halls of congress where, unless there is an earthquake, many important steps will be taken by senators and representatives in the direction of sounder government finance. The old and familiar American traits of initiative, of saving, of living within one's income, are coming to the surface very rapidly and the restoration of these traits to places of respectability in American life is being reflected on capitol hill in Washington.

Opposition to Philosophy Of Spending Breaks Loose

It will be recalled how the opponents of President Roosevelt's philosophy of spending showed their mettle in the house of representatives when that body voted to cut $150,000,000 off of the deficiency relief appropriation. Mr. Roosevelt asked for $875,000,000. The cut was accomplished despite some hairraising stories from official sources in the administration that elimina tion of any of the requested funds would mean suffering, maybe starvation, maybe quick death, for many thousands of persons.

Well, the house members (or a majority of them) did not believe those stories, and thus they made a start at cutting governmental spending. They gave an indication at the same time that there must be a general revision of the federal government's machinery for relief of the unemployed. During the debate and in the corridors, one heard frequent expressions that congress had appropriated last year the funds the administration thought necessary to maintain relief until the end of next June. But profligate spending had used up the money and the professional relievers had returned for more. Some of the debate was quite acrimonious and various charges were hurled that the relief officials had tried again to "buy" the election, that being why the funds ran short.

Immediately after the house was through with the relief bill, the opponents of spending in the senate started after the appropriation. There were many in that body who wanted to appropriate only for two months, proposing that in the meantime there should be a brand new relief setup devised. But the majority sentiment was swayed by the general argument that, whatever the shortcomings of the Harry Hopkins relief methods, poor people should not be made the goats; it was no fault of the unemployed who needed help that Mr. Hopkins, now the secretary of commerce, had made a mess of the relief program.

Beginning Only Foretaste Of What Is Coming

While it seems that a cut of $150,-000,000-which is about one-fifth the amount asked - represents something substantial, this beginning is only a foretaste of what is coming. The spenders have had their innings for five or six years, or since Mr. Roosevelt's "economy act" of 1933 was abandoned as a pattern of government. They have used various names and descriptions, such as "pump priming" and spending to restore prosperity, etc. It appears now, however, that their days are numbered. I do not mean that everything in the way of government cash sop is going to be thrown out of the window at once. I believe I can see, however, that begun; that the national belt is going to be pulled tighter by a couple of notches and that, sooner or later, even the beneficiaries of the federal cash will note the stigma and slacken their demands. One of the leaders in this direction has been Sen. Harry Byrd, the Virginia Democrat, who is just as hard boiled in preserving a sound national government as his senior, the redoubtable Carter Glass. Through thick and thin, Senator Byrd has been attacking the spending policies, calling attention to the dangers of an increasing national debt and the certainty that the country as a whole must bear the burden of added taxation. He did this the while administration sharpshooters were firing one broadside after another at his head or hide.

The other night, Senator Byrd got on the radio and told the country again what was happening. He had some new facts and figures about the situation. The Virginian asked some rather pertinent questions, too, about the situation in England. He pointed out that England has not been running deficit after deficit and that, as a matter of cold fact, while the United States was adding more than $21,000,000,000 to its national debt, England was balancing its budget and making some headway in reducing its national debt.

States Take Heed and Start Cutting Expenses

Due largely, the senator thought, to the fact that England had tried to live within its income as an individual would do, that nation had a national income in 1937 that was 118 per cent of its income in 1929. Which is to say that it was more prosperous than in 1929. Senator Byrd pointed out that this had happened while our government was running from a billion or so to five or six billions into debt each year. He suggested, moreover, that if the United States had done as well this country's national income would now be $88,000,000,000 instead of the $60,-000,000,000 which was estimated for 1938. The thought was then advanced that England had not tried to "harry and frighten business" which was employing people who wanted work, not charity.

There are other things happening besides the Byrd attacks and the congressional action on relief appropriations to indicate the growing strength of those who believe spending borrowed money has been, and is, unwise. Word has come through to Washington of the action of several governors who are insisting that their states avoid getting into the hole. Governor Cochran of Nebraska, a Democrat, and Governor Bricker of Ohio, a Republican, each has put their respective state legislatures on notice that expenditures are to be pared to the bone. There are others who could be named, but from the information we have here in Washington, Governors Cochran and Bricker are the outstanding ex-

It might be said that these refer only to states and not to national policies. Very well. No state executive could get away with such a program unless he had the backing of a majority of his own people. If they believe that way about state affairs, there is no reason to think they will take a contrary view concerning the national treasury and funds which it must borrow to

'Pump Priming' Gifts to States Force Them to Borrow

Further, nearly all of the federal appropriations for "pump priming," when granted to states or lesser jurisdictions, are offered on condition that the state, or city or county, must put up an equal amount. In hundreds of cases in the last six years, this policy has resulted in states or lesser subdivisions of government being forced to borrow on its own bonds in order to get hold of the federal cash. The result: new debt. It becomes clear, therefore, that if the state executives insist on reduced expenditures, they are unlikely to accept these federal gifts because of the probable added debt

Another thing likely to happen in some of the states is added taxes. The state legislatures are due for an awakening as to the actual condition of their state finances. Some may dodge it this year, but facts will have to be faced. When new taxes come, what a howl there will be! That howl will be heard in congress, too, both concerning state and county and city taxes on the one hand and national taxes on the other hand. It appears to me that taxes will prove to be the best antidote for the poison of borrowing to spend that can be found.

Power Project on White River Is Sought in Bill

WASHINGTON .- A power development similar to that of the Tennessee Valley authority was projected for Arkansas and Missouri

Representative Ellis (D., Ark.) introduced the measure for creation "White River authority" patterned after the TVA. He proposed to give a three-member board authority to construct in Arkansas and interest in the construction work.

Missouri 10 major flood control-navigation-power dams, 19 smaller dams, 6 locks, reservoirs, power houses and transmission lines

No estimate was made of the cost of the undertaking but Ellis said four of the proposed dams would involve expenditure of $75,000,000. The corporation would have power to issue, on the credit of the United States, serial bonds not exceeding $50,000,000 with a 50 year maturity at not more than 31/2 per cent

Color Is the Major Theme in Gay Spring Song of Fashion

fashion rings out the message of the importance of color for coming modes. That which is destined to prove a dramatic color program starts out in midseason with handsome woolens that are being tailored alluringly into smart suits and ensembles, also topcoats as attractive as ere the light of fashion shown upon.

If you are impatient to don color you do not have to wait for the actual arrival of spring, neither are you called upon to travel to sunny climes to wear one of the new bright woolen outfits, for at this very moment fashion-alert women are acquiring tailleurs of flashing, dashing gay wool weaves that forecast the color-glory of suits, ensembles, dresses and coats that will enliven the style scene throughout the coming months.

Early spring tweeds "say it" irresistibly via plaids and stripes that are superbly colorful. Playing up bright woolens in trios is one way of showing enthusiasm for the new novelty stripes, plaids and checks. In such instances a stripe, a plaid or check and a plain are so interrelated in color values as to make a stunning costume such as any lady of fashion might covet.

The tailored suit of plaid woolen with wool jersey blouse of dusty pink would sound a triumphant high any clime where the therm light accessories it will prove ideal on a southern cruise.

From Paris comes the dramatic sport ensemble shown to the left in the group. Lucien Lelong creates this style-significant costume of multicolored stripe tweed. The blouse is in green jersey enhanced with a brilliant studded belt.

The task that fashion sets before the designer of smart wool outfits for spring is to so inter-relate colors, that combined make a harmonious individualized entity of their own. It is not beyond the bonds of good taste to combine a stripe, a plaid and a plain. In fact, the working of novelty woolens in trios is one of the smartest newest moves among designers who notably lead in cos-

Bows and Beaux

It takes a bow or more to catch a beau. With bows at her waist, there's sure to be beaux to the fore for the girl in the portrait dress as you see here pictured. Naively draped off the shoulders, the dress in black velvet has as its only adornment a soft gold kid belt which was especially designed by Criterion to enhance its richness. Note the tiny bows frolicking 'round, adding a sophisticated air to this girdle of gold. The wee velvet hat with its twin bows carries out the theme of this dinner gown.

Neckwear in the modern interpretation of the word means ruchings, embroideries, stiff little Buster Brown collars, Irish lace collar and cuff sets, little bows for your neck, with little lacy pockets to match. Neckwear may be in velvet with mother-of-pearl flowers and jewels. It may be of grosgrain ribbon or of chiffon, or it may be of velvet ribbon or of taffeta, satin, lame or kid. It may be an elaborate sequin bolero or it may be a wee jacket of ruffled net. At any rate neckwear is a most featured theme

Knitted Rag Rug to Make in Soft Colors

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HERE is news for those who have been writing me for more rag rug designs. A special Rug Leaflet has been prepared for you. It will be included free upon request with your order for the two books offered herewith. If you already have these two useful books, send 6 cents in stamps for the Rug Leaflet.

Wooden knitting needles %-inch in diameter are used for this rug. Cut or tear the rags 34-inch wide and knit them in strips 10 inches wide, changing colors every 10 inches by cutting the material close to the needle and sewing a new color to it.

When three strips have been knitted with the colors arranged as shown here, sew them together on the wrong side with heavy car-pet thread. Use a crochet hook of about the same size as the knitting needles for the edge of single cro-

Neutralize excess stomach acids to wake up feeling like a million

To relieve the effects of over-indulgence — escape "acid indigestion" next day — do this: Take 2 table-spoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water — AT BEDTIME.

While you sleep, this wonderful alkalizer will be sweetening your stomach...easing the upset-feeling and nausea . . . helping to bring back a "normal" feeling. By morning you feel great. Then — when you wake — take 2 more tablespoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with orange juice. That is one of the quickest, simolest, easiest ways to overcome the bad effects of too much eating, smoking or drinking. Thousands use it. But — never ask for "milk of magnesia" alone — always ask for "Phillips" Milk of Magnesia.

I guess it was unnecessary for waste and political patronage, constimocracy than does any threat of invasion from a foreign power; and I hope that Congress can be persuaded to immediately embark on a compreensive program that will discover and correct the underlying causes for this depression and unemployment, rathe than to continually attempt to spend our way back to prosperity in a pro gram that our own experience of the last six years has proven unwise and impossible of performance.

XXXX CAREFUL STUDY NEEDED-The pressure that has developed concern ing international relations has made the United States citizen acutely aware of our need for rearmament and preraredness. Many different kinds of bills will be presented to Congress in the name of defense, and each should be examined with a critical eye. A bill in- bove all spend. In the scuffle, we will troduced recently by Representative forget about our internal difficulties. May of Kentucky is a good example of one type of measure. He asks for the expenditure of $25,000,000 every year for four years on the creation of "stock piles" of "strategic minerals." This would assure the U. S. having enough purposes and from the sources from which we might be cut off in case of war. In the bill, however, it is stated the further development of mines and deposits of strategic and critical minerals in the U.S." It is one thing to buy for the future, and its another to encourage in this way certain forms of American mining and production. One wonders would it be wise to try to encourage American production under the guise of wartime needs. Mr. May's proposals brings to our minds the program of buying of silver and gold; this bis words hardly cold from his mesventure turned out to be merely a boon to a few producers, and was not a general recovery measure. been known that a foreign war or the fear of such a war, were good remedies for forms of economic and internal ills of a nation. So it is only natural that President Roosevelt should resort to this time-old remedy. He has found that his ideas were not what they were cracked up to be and that they were neither admired nor respected. So, Mr. Hopkins is the man who assures business that everything was done for the best and that the future will be a bed of roses. In the neantime the President falls back on the old war scare This, in order to get the people's mind off the administration's troubles, conflicts, mistakes and experiments. The

IS EXPERIMENTING OVER -- If Gellings of Eden spent Sunday some of Mr. Roosevelt's messages were to be taken at face value we would all believe the era of spending planning, boygan Falls Sunday where sh and experiments, was over. He has often said this and then would come out with something new and equally up-1933 he pledged to cut down expenditures that had grown in the term served by Mr. Hoover. Scarcely had he gotten settled when he started the first promised a balanced budget, and again in 1935, but this never happened. In 1936 he devoted his time to convincing businessmen they had to spend to keep industry going. Then in 1937-38 a slump. The only thing left to do then waukee spent Sunday at the ho was to begin spending again. This year, their mother, Mrs. Rose sage stating that a new period was to take place, he presented a budget out of balance to such an extent that the take everything into consideration entire country was dismayed. And out of it all comes the new idea of balancing the budget by spending more mo-WAR IN POLITICS-It has always rey and bringing the country's income
