HOG PRICES TO DROP

Lower prices for hogs loom ahead. In fact hog production seems headed for an expansion to pre-drouth year levels according to Don S. Anderson and Irwin R. Hedges, farm economists at the University of Wisconsin. The 1938 combined spring and fall pig crop, they report, was 15 per cent larger than in 1937. Farmers plan another increase of about 21 per cent in the number of sows to farrow in the spring of 1939. It is not unlikely, they say, that the combined spring and fall pig crop in 1939 will reach 80 million head—the average for the five years prior to the drouth of 1934.

TWIN CALVES BORN

Strobel Bros. reported twin pure bred Holstein calves born at their Bellewin farm.

Neither the corn belt farmers nor the cotton farmers want to go into the dairy business, federal officials say. "It's low-priced cotton, corn and hogs, rather than an increase in hay or grass stands that will send the southern or corn belt farmer into the commercial dairy business."

FARM AND HOME LINES

The quality of hay should, in general, be improved. Hay is one of the cheapest feeds for forage eating livestock, but the amount of hay an animal will eat can't be increased much unless the quality of the forage is improved, authorities declare.

"Allowing for the sale of half the baby chicks as cockerels and for mortality losses and culling, 300 baby chicks in the spring will give the poultryman 100 laying pullets in the fall," declare poultry workers.

The years just ahead will be wet ones, if the weather pattern of the past century continues. The U. S. Weather Bureau explains that weather history is a succession of dry and wet cycles, with periods of about average rainfall and snowfall in between.

It is estimated that about 55 per cent of farm property is insured by farmers' mutual fire insurance companies.

The food elements contained in milk are especially needed for the growth and development of children, and each child should have at least a quart of milk a day.

A fence connected directly to a light socket supplied by current from an ordinary farm lighting circuit of 22 volts or from power line circuit of 110 volts is illegal.

It is almost necessary to inoculate soybeans. No one legume responds so much to inoculation as does the soybean. In some instances, the crop has been nearly a failure because of a lack of inoculation before planting.

In a settled country in which free land has disappeared and private property exists, tenancy may be a means for the young farmer to accumulate enough capital to become an owner and acquire experience that will prepare him for successful farm ownership.

Many cows do not receive enough grain and sufficient food quality hay, silage and pasture for them to produce up to their inherited capacity or profitable milk production. Other cows receive the best of feed and care and still do not pay a profit to their owners, test records show.

The 162,000,000 acres of public domain in the West consists of land so poor that nobody would take it as a gift on a homestead basis. Yet paradoxically, it supports one and one-half million horses and cattle and six and one-half million sheep and goats seven months out of every year; and it is a substantial part of the watersheds of many western streams, and therefore important in food control.

EDITORIAL

"LITTLE MAN, WHAT NOW?"

In an editorial aptly entitled, "Little Man, What Now?" the Oklahoman says: "It has been said by those who figure out such statistics that if the United States were to pay as it goes, our taxes would now be the highest in the world, which makes it rather cold comfort to remind ourselves that taxes in England are now higher than they ostensibly are in the United States."

"True to the old saying, there is one thing beside death that's sure, and that's liberal taxes. Little man (and that means most of us), you'll pay until it hurts."

"You'll pay more, proportionately, than the rich man. The liberal tax-eaters are hungrily sizing you up. Liberal bureaucracy is growing every minute. The liberals are going to get you, even if you do watch out."

Estimates vary as to just how much taxes—most of them of the "hidden" or "invisible" variety—are paid by the average little man. But most authorities agree that they amount to more than one-fifth of every cent he earns. That means that you work one day out of five for government. It means that of every dollar you spend, more than twenty cents finds its way into the lands of the tax collector. It means a lower standard of living for yourself and your family. And you are paying only part of the bill—the rest is yet to come.

The little man has far more to gain from economical government than the big man. The hidden taxes that are an inescapable part of what you pay for a loaf of bread, a theatre ticket or a suit of clothes, are infinitely more important to a $20-a-week clerk than to a $20,000-a-year executive. As the Oklahoman points out, the "little man" is getting his now—and he'll get still worse if he doesn't make his protests felt.

There is now much agitation for taxation of salaries of state and federal officials and employees on the same basis as the income of the private citizens who earn the money to pay their salaries. It's difficult to understand how a member of Congress, or a state legislator, or a public employe can ask for or justify such an exemption.

—Read Endlich's adv. adv. it

—Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Haug attended the Lumbermen's convention in Milwaukee Wednesday.

—The following people of this village and vicinity surprised Mr. and Mrs. Nic. Russel and family near Belgium Sunday evening, the occasion being the former's birthday: Mrs. Math. Bath, son Clarence and daughter Alice, Lawrence Schaeffer, Mike Bath, Miss Erna Lubitz, Alex Pesch, Mr. and Mrs. John Gross and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ludy Gross and family of Kewaskum; Miss Florence Bath of West Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dahm and family of Belgium. The evening was spent in playing cards and music. At 12 o'clock a lunch was served. Music was furnished by John Gross of Kewaskum. A good time was had by all. The desire to make a car reflect its owner's individuality is a potent factor in the average motorist's choice of accessory equipment. And it would be hard to find a more thoroughly "personalized" car than this new Chevrolet in which Mary Pickford's mirror, the car has a special kit of Miss Pickford's own famous beauty aids, now on the market under her name. The consumer, holding lipstick, rouge, powder and cream, folds neatly up into the glove compartment when not in use. Inset shows close-up of vanity case.

In North Dakota's last summer approximately 100,000 "boppers" were away with a fast drying red jaequer. No days later some of the marked specimens were found at a point 20 miles northwest of the starting place. 14 days specimens were found 215 miles away.

Weekly News Analysis

Paris, London Woo Franco In Weak Bid to Oust Fascists

By Joseph W. La Bine

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst, and not necessarily of the newspaper.

Spain

Germany and Italy would not have aided Rebel Spain if they had no aspirations in the Iberian peninsula. Nor, presumably, would Rebel General Francisco Franco have accepted Fascist aid if he did not expect to repay that favor.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE? (Shoemaker, Chicago Daily News)

a few more weeks' fighting on the Madrid-Valencia front. The likelihood of a complete Loyalist surrender is evidenced by an apparent breakdown in Franco coupled with internal squabbling.

Britain and France could hardly expect General Franco to jump at a peace offer from such badly-tattered opposition, but they did. It was reliably reported that Anglo-French interests were offering to supply funds for reconstructing Spain if Franco would oust German and Italian influence.

Italy. The house received a bill from Virginia's Clifton A. Woodrum which would completely upset the administration's relief apple cart, creating 'URA' (unemployment relief administration). The bill's light-camouflaged purpose is to give congress complete voice over relief, hamstringing the White House.

Vatican

Within 18 days of a pope's death, the Sacred College of Cardinals must meet in Rome to elect his successor. Locked in secret conclave at the Vatican during late February and early March, these princes of the Roman Catholic church will name a successor to the late Pope Pius XI.

Favored candidate this time is Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state who serves as temporary pope during the interim between Pius' death and the election of his successor.

Only stumbling block to Cardinal Pacelli's election is the growing belief that a non-Italian might make more headway in settling the current European turmoil. Though the position traditionally goes to an Italian, it is recalled that in 1922 the Spanish Cardinal Merry del Val led early balloting.

Great Britain

Last January 13 the British foreign office received a mysterious ultimatum demanding withdrawal of English troops from Ireland within four days. Three days later bombs began exploding throughout the British Isles and between subsequent explosions Scotland Yard was able to place responsibility with the illegal Irish Republican army. While first arrests were being made and special guards were assigned to the king and queen, Irish Prime Minister Eamon de Valera found occasion to regret the incident.

Far from a terrorist, Mr. de Valera has won amazing concessions for Ireland by using much gentler tactics than the extremist Republican army advocates. Today Ireland is known as Eire, having become an independent state associated with the British commonwealth only for certain minor purposes.

While soothing London's nerves by asking laws to crush the illegal army, Mr. de Valera probably found himself blushing with embarrassment when P. T. Kelly, an independent senator, arose to "regret that the ultimatum sent by the Republican army to the British foreign secretary had not been sent by the Irish government."

Relief

It is paradoxical that this year's anti-administration congress should be the first to admit that federal relief is a permanent fixture.

But this does not mean that the White House and Capitol Hill are agreed on how relief should be handled. No sooner had the nation recovered from the shock of congress' independence in slashing $150,000,000 from the relief deficiency bill, than relief again popped into the headlines.

'Emergency.' As President Roosevelt signed the reduced deficiency appropriation he begged congress to restore the $150,000,000. Reason: "In my opinion an emergency now exists." The President said WPA's alternatives are (1) to slash 1,000,000 relievers from the rolls by April 1 or (2) to oust from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 via week-by-week reductions from April 1 to July 1.

'URA.' The house received a bill from Virginia's Clifton A. Woodrum which would completely upset the administration's relief apple cart, creating 'URA' (unemployment relief administration). The bill's light-camouflaged purpose is to give congress complete voice over relief, hamstringing the White House.

'Off Again, on Again.' Created in 1933, PWA is soon to expire. But Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes has urged creation of a permanent PWA to prevent future de-

Treasury

Statutory limit of the U. S. public debt is now $45,000,000,000, which will be reached when and if congress approves President Roosevelt's new budget. (Current debt: About $39,700,000,000). When congress convened last month it was rumored the administration would ask to raise the debt limit another $5,000,000,000. To congressional fiscal experts who questioned him about the U. S. financial outlook, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. explained that it might be a good idea to raise the debt limit. Said he: "I would not be worried to see it (the debt) go to another $4,000,000,000 or $5,000,000,000, which is the present budget, and we are going to have to ask congress, if you vote this money, to increase the treasury's borrowing power."

pressions. Says he: "American growth has been an 'off again, on again,' gone again Finigan'! We owe it to our people to protect them . . . from the strains and stresses of an economic system which . . . periodically has hurtled off the track. A program of 'timed' or 'balanced' public works . . . would act like a gyroscope." For proof Mr. Ickes pointed to PWA allotments last June, when the federal reserve index stood at 77. By October the index had risen to 97, and by November to 100.

Business

As counsel for a New York state legislative insurance committee, Charles Evans Hughes made a name for himself in 1906 uncovering what he thought to be irregularities. The chief Hughes fear: That insurance company resources were so large as to make conservative, responsible management increasingly difficult. The Hughes remedy: Federal supervision of insurance investments.

Since 1906 Mr. Hughes has risen to the U. S. Supreme court and may have changed his mind. At least nothing has been done about it and the vast insurance fund has quadrupled. Whereas Mr. Hughes suggested limiting new policies to $150,000 a year per company, some now write $2,000,000 a year. Today there are $110,000,000 worth of policies in effect and insurance investments cover a surprisingly wide field. Samples: Government securities, $4,500,000,000; railroads, $3,000,000,000; farm mortgages and corporation securities, $2,000,000,000; state, county and city bonds, $1,500,000,000.

If this business was worth investigating 23 years ago it is even more vulnerable today. Just started in Washington is a 12-month probe by the temporary national economic committee, headed by Wyoming's Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney and better known as the "monopoly investigating committee." Chiming in is William O. Douglas' Securities and Exchange commission. Pertinent question marks include (1) what influence insurance investments exert on U. S. money markets, banks, railroads, etc.; (2) how insurance executives are chosen; (3) possibility of interlocking directorates between insurance firms and utilities.

Though the monopoly committee has often reiterated that it is not hunting witches, an although Mr. Douglas maintains he only wants to bring the Hughes report up to date, he has been heard to say that he is not hunting witches, an although Mr. Douglas maintains he only wants to bring the Hughes report up to date, there is a good chance of new legislation providing federal regulation over all interstate insurance business. This would supplement state supervision now in effect.

Adding to their discomfort is the demand by Montana's Sen. Burton K. Wheeler that insurance companies take a greater hand in helping reorganize U. S. railroads. The Wheeler charge: That present insurance company negotiations with carriers feature repeated concessions to investment bankers at the expense of bondholders. But if rail aid presents as many obstacles as insurance men claim, the probable solution of this problem will not be a federal whipping post for insurance companies but revision in the railroad reorganization statute.

Feeling of Unrest in Europe Reaches Our Side of Atlantic

Permeates Administration and, to Some Extent, Congress; Result Is Great and Increasing Mystery; President's Secrecy Approved; Facts About Plane Sales.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—The feeling that has obsessed Europeans for weeks—that they are approaching toward some international crisis—seems to have spread to our side of the Atlantic. Right out of the air, so to speak, we are made to feel that great questions are about to take shape and that we, in this country, must be ready to decide them. The germ, or whatever it is, has taken up its domicile within our administration and, to some extent, in congress, and the result is great and increasing mystery.

Most sources in Washington did not believe that the so-called settlement of the European crisis at Munich last September was, in fact, more than a stop-gap, as I reported to you at that time. The Munich failure has become more and more evident and the very atmosphere is charged again with exactly the same type of bated expectancy.

In a general way, of course, we all know that the worldwide difference between the democratic forms of government and the dictatorships is at the bottom of the whole thing. We know, as well, that Hitler and Mussolini have challenged the European democracies by the boldness of their dictatorship actions in taking practically what they want in the way of additions to their empires. We know, further, that the end decidedly is not yet insofar as the Hitler and Mussolini ambitions are to be considered. And wrapped up in all of this is the genuine friendship that the United States has for France and England.

Beneath the surface, things have been going on in our own government. The President, the department of state and the military and naval services know what is taking place in Europe and they are advised as to what may be expected. Plans were being formed and developed so that steps could be taken here at the proper time. All of this was done in more or less secrecy, as it always has to be done since public discussion of such delicate matters could tilt us very easily from the frying pan into the fire.

Genuine Danger of War, But Not Immediately

Because of the necessity for avoiding wrong impressions which is a vital thing in international relations, President Roosevelt told the military affairs committee of the senate confidentially something of the inside story. I believe he did right in shielding those facts from general knowledge for no one knows who they could, or would, be distorted in German or Italian newspapers.

But this air of mystery has backfired in a curious way. It has aroused certain portions of the country to a veritable frenzy—particularly, some members of congress—and they have seized upon a relatively unimportant thing as their weapon in striking at Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy. They have jumped all over the President's neck about the sale of airplanes to France, airplanes that were manufactured and are being manufactured by private plane builders and which are being sold for cash to the French government.

It is made to appear that this is a terrible thing. The howlers are saying that Mr. Roosevelt has violated the spirit of the neutrality act and that he should never have given permission for the sale of the planes. There are other charges flying about, also, but they are unimportant here.

President Has Authority To Shape Foreign Policy

I have dug into the situation as far as is possible, I believe, and I fail to get very much excited about the whole thing. There is, of course, the genuine danger of war, although I am not convinced that Europe is going to break out tomorrow. Some time, probably, but not immediately. Such a clash of hopes and convictions and traditions and faith as obviously occurs between the philosophies of dictatorships and democracies is bound to lead to use of force but I think there is the probability that it is further away than this jittery feeling of the world now indicates.

France's Purchase of American-Made Airplanes

To get back to this airplane thing, I would like to set out some of the facts. France is buying American-made airplanes—several hundred of them. She is doing this because her own airplane production has stalled and France has sufficient gold to buy them elsewhere. The French military service must have them in case there is that outbreak of force that seems so imminent on the surface for the reason that Germany and Italy are superior to France in the air.

The contracts were let in this country after Mr. Roosevelt had talked over the whole question with his cabinet and with the war and navy departments and certain leaders of the airplane industry. They

"All Around" WISCONSIN

Use Tons of Fertilizer—Wisconsin farmers purchased 46,333 tons of commercial fertilizer in 1933, breaking all state records except for the year of 1930.

Parker Plans Expansion—The Parker Pen company has announced that it will erect a new, modern factory structure in Janesville if its present building there can be sold.

Favor Alderman Plan—A petition signed by 600 voters and filed with the city clerk of Antigo requests a referendum to repeal the commission form of government there.

Pupils Safe in Fire—Fire starting in a defective heating plant in the Franklin rural school near Fond du Lac destroyed the building with loss of $3,000, but 27 pupils were led to safety.

Justice Blundered—A justice of the peace in Forest county acted illegally when he refused Ben Slowe a jury trial on charges of killing deer out of season, the state supreme court has ruled.

Veteran Merchant Quits—After 60 years in the dry goods business at Black River Falls, John F. Marsh has sold his store and will retire. He started work in the store when it was owned by his father.

Smash Game Machines—Gambling equipment valued at $1,000 was broken up with sledge hammers by county authorities in the village jail at Green Lake a few days ago. The equipment had been seized in raids on Green Lake summer resorts.

Curfews Ring Again—Nocturnal pranks of youngsters at Waupun and Highland have caused officials of those communities to revive curfew ordinances enacted several years ago and children in their early teens must be off the streets by 8:30 p. m. hereafter.

Election Bill Loses—The proposal for non-partisan election of county officials in Wisconsin, as contained in the Daus-Grosvener bill, was quickly disposed of by the legislature when the assembly turned thumbs down and killed the measure by a vote of 60 to 36.

Marriage No Bar—Affirming decisions of Milwaukee and Racine county circuit judges, the state supreme court has held that marriage of a public school teacher who has served her five-year probationary period and secured tenure under state law is not sufficient cause for her discharge. The courts had ordered reinstatement of the two teachers.

New Pardon Board—Dio W. Dunham, Neenah publisher, Theodore Mentges, retired farmer of Clark county, and George E. Ballhorn, Milwaukee attorney, form the new state board of pardons appointed by Gov. Heil. Blanchard was named chairman. Former members of the board, created by former Gov. La Follette to serve the governor in an advisory capacity, were: Circuit Judge Robert S. Cowie of La Crosse, who resigned a year ago; John S. Case and John L. Gillin.

Dineen Must Stand Trial—Under a decision of the state supreme court, William M. Dineen, former secretary of the public service commission must stand trial on charges of "malfeasance and misconduct." The case is an outgrowth of the collapse of the E. E. Buckman Investment company in Madison and subsequent conviction of its officers of violating the state securities law. Dineen is accused of furnishing the Buckman company with confidential information obtained in his position as secretary of the commission.

Tax Report Made—The biennial report of the state tax commission submitted to the legislature shows that the general property tax remains the major source of income to support Wisconsin government and institutions. The percentages are: Property tax, 56.9; motor vehicle tax, 18.4; income taxes, 9.7; special property taxes, 6.9; other special taxes, 5.2; inheritance taxes, 2.9.

Ask Markets Bill Delay—Urging time for further study and suggestion, spokesmen of three dairy industry organizations have asked the assembly agriculture committee to delay action on the Daus bill continuing the present department of agriculture and markets set-up of an advisory board and director. The three dairymen made it clear that they have no quarrel with the present seven-man policy making group or with Director Ralph Ammon, but want inclusion in the Daus bill of more specific provisions for the dairy industry.

Ice, Snow Grip State—Traffic throughout Wisconsin was halted Feb. 10 by the most severe storms of the winter. The south half of the state became one huge skating rink as rain and sudden zero temperatures glazed the highways. High winds blew sand from roads as soon as spread by county trucks and motorists were warned not to travel unless absolutely necessary.

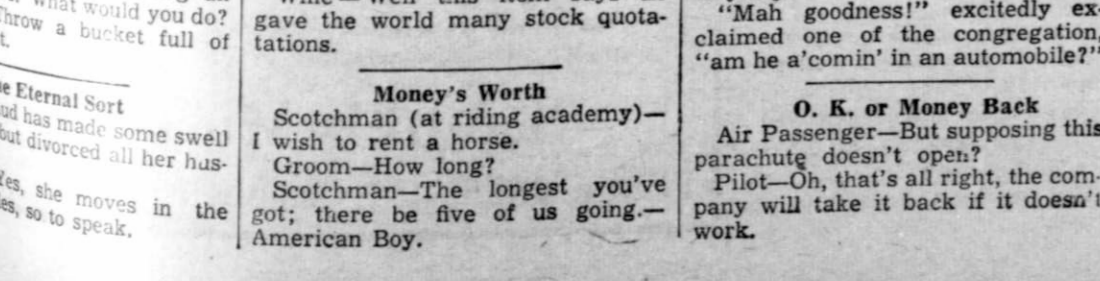

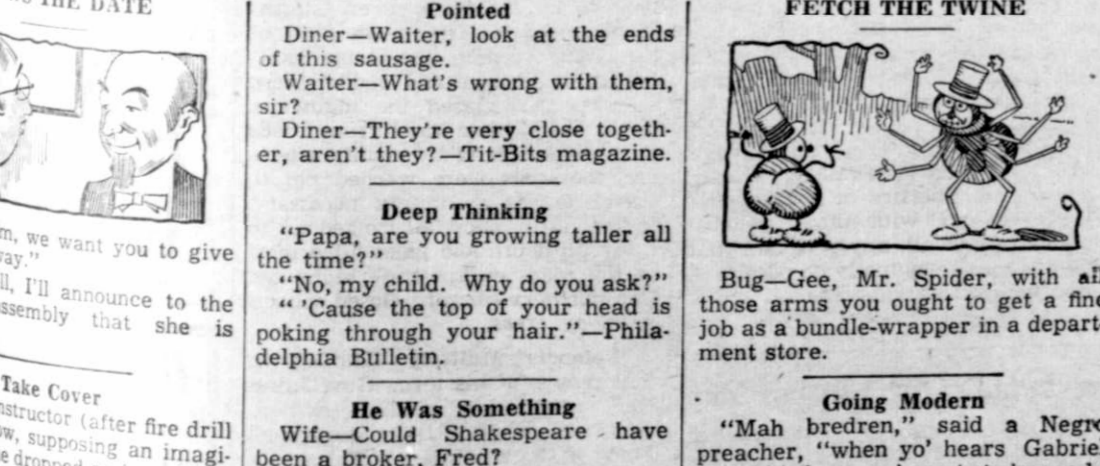

'Colonels' Multiply—During the first month of his term, Gov. Julius Heil appointed 36 civilians as honorary colonels on his military staff. Forty of them are from Milwaukee and most of the others from Sheboygan and Racine.

Civil Service Rejected—A plan to place all city employees under the merit system has been rejected by the Kenosha city council on the ground that civil service is too costly to initiate and that it would not work well under the city management form of government.

Beauty Aids Not Intended For Children.

By PATRICIA LINDSAY

MANY mothers write asking such questions as these: "Do you believe in permanent waves for young children?" "My child has a very pale face. When she goes to parties should I rouge her cheeks?" "My young daughter likes colored nail polish. She is only nine. Should I let her wear it?"

And once in a while I get a question which makes me gasp—"I want my child, who is now five years old, to have a perfect complexion when she grows up. Should I give her a facial once a week at a beauty parlor?"

Of course, my answer to all of those questions is "No—Definitely no!"

A child should be allowed to grow into an adult, unhampered. Her tender hair can be ruined with intense heat and harmful lotions; her skin can be marred for life by creams which were made for aging beauty, not virgin beauty; and how horrible to look at a young child with lacquered nails or rouged cheeks!

If you wish your child to grow into a beauty be watchful over the fundamentals of a healthy body and mind. See that she is fed the foods that will nourish her. Foods that will strengthen her tiny bones and teeth. Foods that will keep her skin fresh as a dew-kissed petal.

Brush the darling's hair regularly, away from the scalp with a brush that is kept sterilized and used for her very own. Keep her scalp clean, free from dandruff. Try to discover a natural wave in her hair, and press it between your fingers while it is damp to encourage its curl.

Self Neglect Never Justified

What mother failed to do was this. She neglected herself in order to shower daughter with much-much she didn't need. When daughter was at the going-out age, she saw other mothers who were more attractive, who could speak on current topics and books, who were more or less companionable to their own daughters. By comparison her mother fell short. Didn't she? Yes, the doting mother failed to keep modern. Her offspring outshines her.

What these disappointed mothers should do, now that their daughters have grown, is to spend much more time thinking about themselves! Buy some new clothes, get a new hair-do and a few beauty treatments—if the budget will stand for them by crossing out daughter's ordinary provisions! Those will restore self-respect.

To restore self-assurance get active in something, preferably local, which will bring you out of the home into social activity. Read books, magazines, go to movies. Develop a personality—because you have drained yours in your daughter's. Don't blame her. She is young and youth is ruthless! Win your own self esteem back and it will not be long before people will be saying, "Alice should be attractive and talented, just look at her mother!"

Beguiling Silk Lingerie That's Styled Dress-Like

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

YOU must have a hobby. Nerve specialists recommend it. They tell us in order to keep fit, stay young and be zestful in life everyone should seek relaxation from the humdrum and routine of life by following up some one subject, some one pursuit of all-absorbing interest.

As for this absorbing pursuit or "hobby" we know of none so all-prevailing among the fair sex as the love of lace-laden, ribbon-pretted silken lingerie finery. So let's talk about the entrancing negligees and gowns and housecoats and cunning bedjackets that this season go to make up as alluring a collection of boudoir fantasies as are intrigued feminine fancy.

In regard to modern trends it would seem as if the thought uppermost in the minds of current designers is to create negligees that may serve many purposes, rather than be restricted for wear in one's boudoir. This movement accounts, no doubt, for the outstanding feature about the new silk lingerie which this season has all the individuality and high styling of a dress.

That our smartest daytime prints and pastel sheer wools are being all-over pleated is a well-known fact. In the new sheer silken "at home" robes that are worn over matching or contrasting gowns, giving the feminine appearance of the "smelling salts" era of romance. It is requiring yards and yards of pleated silk shiver to arrive at this romanticism but the result is worth the extravagance judging from the enchanting ensemble shown to the right in the illustration. As milady moves about in this maze of diaphanous pleats the sheer loveliness of this creation is like unto that of a Grecian goddess. This full length coat in mirage blue silk sheer with knotted short sleeves and Grecian lace bust treatment is worn over a trianon rose gown with net bra top appliqued with matching lace.

Again, speaking of lingerie fashions that take on the styling of a dress, wouldn't you think, if we were not telling you otherwise, that the lovely lady seated in the foreground of the group was gowned in a party frock? Fact is this is a boudoir fantasy designed especially for women who like to breakfast in bed or sit pillowed in cushions in luxurious ease. The bolero is of silk sheer lastex quilted and bound with plain satin and makes an intriguing bedjacket to wear with another gown as well as the one here shown. Off with this fanciful bolero and a gown of exquisite pure silk satin is revealed that has a silk sheer top of lastex in quilted effect and plain satin binding matched to the jacket.

A Victorian-inspired boudoir ensemble graces the queenly figure standing to the left in the picture, consisting of a satin gown with a lace yoke and over it a "coat" of matching chiffon, with lace applications and ruffles that cascade all the way down the front, also edging the sleeves. The ensemble comes in such lovely shades as shell pink, palest blue, champagne, also white. The lace is dyed in each case to match the color of the satin and chiffon.

Plaid Silk Hat

Fashion is calling for color and more color. Milliners are answering the cry, with hats made of plaid surah or taffeta with bags to match. The picture shows how cheerfully the new gay plaid trends tie up with an otherwise all black costume. The use of plaid accents is apparent in many of the new dress and hat collections. Stripes are quite as important and many spring hats are to be seen trimmed with scarfs of vivid plaids or stripes.

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep flowing blood stream free of excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backaches, persistent headaches, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval.
