

Death Claims Several Widely Known People of This Community

PETER J. THILL long with six daughters and three sons, namely: Veronica, Lilly, Mary, Anna, and Rosina at home and Irma (Mrs. Ervin Mueller) of Barton, Jack, Theodore and William at home. He also leaves to mourn his loss two brothers, Math and John Thull of St. Michael's, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Wiskehen of West Bend.

Deceased was a distinguished member of the St. Michael's Aid and Benevolent society, of the Holy Name society, and Holy Angels court, Catholic Order of Foresters of West Bend. A large number of the members of these societies paid their honored respects to Mr. Thull by attending his funeral. He was also a member of the St. Michael's church choir.

The funeral was held at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, July 18, at St. Michael's Catholic church in St. Michael's. The solemn requiem high mass was read by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Klappoetz. Rev. Vincent Schneider of Milwaukee, a nephew of Mr. Thull, and Revs. Edward Rosenkirch and John Herzig of Fond du Lac, cousins of the deceased, assisted Rev. Klappoetz in the service. The mass was sung by Mr. Thull's fellow members of the St. Michael's church choir. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

During his life's residence in the vicinity of St. Michael's, Mr. Thull became widely and favorably known as a man of respectability and outstanding traits. His honest and upright character made him beloved in his home and the community as well. His family life was ideal and he led a true Christian life. His numerous friends and acquaintances will greatly feel his loss and it is with them we join in extending our sincere sympathy to the bereaved survivors.

WILLIAM S. OLWIN William S. Olwin, 74, a resident of Kewaskum many years, passed away in death at 12:30 p. m. on Thursday, July 13, at the Washington County Home in West Bend after an extended illness with a complication of diseases. He was a former sheriff of Washington county.

Mr. Olwin was born in Ohio in 1865. He came to Kewaskum with his wife 40 years ago and made his home in this village until about six years ago when he retired to the county home. While a resident of this village nearly 35 years, Mr. Olwin was engaged as a painter and was well known and had many friends in this community. He was also widely known throughout the county, having held the office of sheriff of Washington county for one term. While in office as sheriff he made his home in West Bend but returned to Kewaskum at the expiration of his term. He was well liked and proved capable in his capacity as sheriff.

His wife, Cora Ellen Olwin, whom he married in Ohio, preceded him in death on May 13, 1931. In this village, deceased was the father of three sons, one of whom died many years ago. Those surviving are Ralph Emerson of Milwaukee, who is employed as a brakeman on the Chicago & North-Western railway passenger train passing through Kewaskum daily, and Herschel.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock on Saturday, July 15, from Miller's funeral home in this village, at the residence of the Rev. Richard M. A. Gadow officiating. Burial took place in the Peace Evangelical church cemetery.

WILLIAM DEGNER William Degner, 53, a native of the town of Kewaskum and brother of Henry and Miss Amelia Degner of Kewaskum, of Rogers, North Dakota, Wisconsin, of Rogers, North Dakota, passed away at the Northern Pacific hospital in St. Paul, Minn., at 8 p. m. Sunday, July 16, following an illness of about eight months. Mr. Degner would have reached his 66th birthday in September.

FRANK KREIF A widely known farm resident of Fillmore, Frank Kreif, 81, father of Albert Kreif of Kewaskum, died at his home there at 5 p. m. Monday, July 17, after an illness of about two months. Death resulted from natural causes.

MRS. LIZZIE MAJERUS John and Clara Simon of this village received the sad news Sunday morning of the death of their aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Majerus, who passed away the same morning at the age of 78 years at her home in Sawyer, Wis. Mrs. Majerus is a former resident of St. Killian. Many of the older residents of this village and vicinity will remember the lady and will be sorrowful to hear of her departure. Mrs. Majerus left St. Killian a good many years ago for Sawyer.

Farm Residence is Destroyed by Fire

At about 10:30 a. m. on Wednesday of undetermined origin completely destroyed the farm residence of Chas. Bandle, located south of St. Michael's and about 3 1/2 miles southeast of Kewaskum. The loss to the 12-room house will run into several thousand dollars, only a small part of which is covered by insurance.

Howard Schmidt Gets Radio Operator's Job

Howard Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt of Kewaskum, was appointed operator of the new Washington county police radio system which is expected to go into effect soon. Howard received his appointment from the committee in charge on Wednesday, July 12. He will begin his duties as soon as the system is installed.

Howard Schmidt Gets Radio Operator's Job

Howard is well qualified for the position, as he holds a second class federal radio operator's permit which is the permit required of police radio operators by the federal government. He has been operator of amateur radio station WD9DD in this village for the past several years. The young man's duties will include operation of the radio and taking care of other things that come up in the department.

Howard Schmidt Gets Radio Operator's Job

The public property committee of the Washington county board was expected to award a contract for the installation of the police radio system when it held its meeting this morning, Friday, at 9 a. m. at the courthouse in West Bend. Bids were received by the committee and opened at a meeting held on Wednesday of last week. Three firms submitted bids at the meeting last Wednesday.

Helen Harbeck Bride of Frank J. Felix

White gladon and lilies decorated the altar at Holy Trinity church, Kewaskum, for the marriage of Miss Helen Harbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Harbeck, Kewaskum, and Frank J. Felix, also of Kewaskum, son of Mrs. Anna Felix of St. Killian, at 9 a. m. on Saturday, July 15th. The Rev. Philip J. Vogt read the nuptial high mass.

Helen Harbeck Bride of Frank J. Felix

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was preceded up the aisle by her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Harbeck, as matron of honor, the bridesmaid, Miss Catherine Felix, sister of the bridegroom, and by the ringbearer, Bobby Felix, nephew of the bridegroom. The bride was gowned in sheer white net over tullea fashioned with a snugly fitted bodice and voluminous tulle skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a halo of white orchids in her hair.

Town Auburn Farmer is Killed Suddenly While Cutting Grain

John C. Gatzke, 66, widely known town of Auburn resident, was killed suddenly on his farm located two miles east of Campbellsport at about 4:30 p. m. Thursday, July 20, while cutting grain in the field when the horses hitched to the binder became unruly and ran away.

Plans for Firemen's Big Celebration Are Going Ahead Rapidly

Plans and arrangements for the big picnic and celebration sponsored by the Kewaskum fire department, to be held in the beautiful new village park on Sunday, Aug. 20th, are progressing at a rapid pace. The many big attractions and features already secured leave no doubt but that the celebration will be one of the grandest events ever held in Kewaskum.

Plans for Firemen's Big Celebration Are Going Ahead Rapidly

Another feature of the picnic will be the long and colorful parade through the streets of Kewaskum and then out to the park at 12:30 p. m. sharp on Sunday. The parade will be led by the Cass B state champion American Legion drum and bugle corps of Post No. 22 of Port Washington. The drum and bugle corps will put on an exhibition drill at the park following the parade. This organization has established a remarkable record in state competition.

John Gatzke Loses Life Thursday When Caught in Knives of Binder and Dragged 1,000 Feet as Horses Run Away While Cutting Grain on Farm.

Mr. Gatzke had intended to continue cutting grain until dark and so stopped at the time to water the horses in the field. He had removed the brake from one of the horses and was watering it when for some reason, probably frightened, the animal bolted and became unruly. Two other horses hitched to the reaper followed suit and became unmanageable. Mr. Gatzke got in front of the horses in an attempt to quiet them but was thrown aside as they began to run away.

John Gatzke Loses Life Thursday When Caught in Knives of Binder and Dragged 1,000 Feet as Horses Run Away While Cutting Grain on Farm.

He was thrown into the machine, his legs became caught in the knives of the binder, and he was dragged approximately 1,000 feet before the team came to a halt. He was dragged across the field he was working in at the time, through a barbed wire fence and along the other side of the fence into an adjoining field, along with the binder. Six posts were torn loose as the horses plunged through the fence. The harnesses were torn and one horse broke loose and continued on its way to the farm while the others stood still where they came to a halt.

Mr. Gatzke's son, Walter, and wife, who were working in the same field with him, rushed to his aid and freed him from the machinery. A physician was summoned immediately but Mr. Gatzke was found dead when he arrived. Fond du Lac County Coroner, A. C. Florin was also called to the scene. Mrs. Walter Gatzke had hauled the water for the horses to the field shortly before the deplorable accident occurred.

A complete and fitting obituary will be published in our next issue.

A Few Little Smiles

HERE AND THERE

An Irishman entered a ticket office one day and inquired the fare to Chicago.

"Ten dollars," returned the clerk, "but we are making a special rate today. We'll sell you a round-trip ticket for fifteen dollars."

"A round-trip? What do you mean?" puzzled the Irishman.

"Yes," explained the clerk, "you can go to Chicago and back."

"Well," said Pat, "what do I want to come back for, when I'm already here?"

False Alarm

The host showed his guest into his bedroom.

"I hope you're not nervous, old chap," he said, "but this room is supposed to be haunted."

"Haunted!" exclaimed the guest.

"What by?"

"A wraith—a spectre!"

"A w-what?"

"A wraith—a spectre."

The guest sighed with relief, and the color returned to his cheeks.

"Oh, that's all right!" he said at last. "At first I thought you said a rate collector!"

THIS WAY IN

"Young lady, I shall never darken your doors again."

"How 'y' gonna git in—through the windows?"

More Profitable

An amiable old man, a visitor, was trying to win the friendship of the small daughter of the house.

"I'll give you a nickel for a kiss," he said.

"No, thank you," she replied sweetly. "I can make more money taking car oil."

Something Picturesque

"You can win in a walk," said the admiring friend enthusiastically.

"Public sentiment would never be satisfied with anything so sedate and orderly," answered Senator Sorghum. "Can't you arrange for me to win in an airplane or a parachute jump?"

Something From Above

"Isn't there danger," said the timid man, "of dropping things from an airplane on the people below?"

"That isn't the worst," answered the candid inventor, "you're lucky if the whole thing doesn't fall on you."

Hey, That Girl's In Again!

He—Why did you send that poor fellow back for your cold cream? He'll never find it.

She—I only wanted to get the chap off my hands.

People Are Too Suspicious

Judge—How could you swindle people who trusted in you?

Prisoner—But, judge, people who don't trust you can't be swindled.

That's Different

Office Boy—Sorry, but you can't see Mr. Blodgett.

Caller—Is he in conference?

Office Boy—No, he's busy.

WRECKLESS DRIVING?

"He was arrested for reckless driving."

"When he'd smashed his car to splinters like that?"

Pastels Vie With Prints in Midsummer Fashion Picture

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHEN it comes to the vogue of prints versus pastels in the present mode the matter resolves itself into pretty much of a fifty-fifty proposition. Which is to say that the midsummer collections are made up of a goodly showing of each.

There is no doubt as to the importance of pastels especially for cleverly tailored daytime dresses that observe a nicety of detail which gives them "class" in the eyes of the discriminating woman who knows her fashions. Favor for pastels is expressed not only in silk crepes and sheer woolsens but a hue and cry is resounding for smart linens in delectable muted pinks and blues, rose shades, cool-looking greens and grays, light yellows, lavender and novelty shades as cyclamen, tulip shades and such. White linens and linens au naturel are also chic.

One reason for the big splurge that linens are making this season is that through the wonders of modern scientific processing newer linens carry a promise of non-wrinkling and non-shrinking.

At the top of the picture to the left see the attractive spectator sports dress of pastel blue crease-resistant imported linen. It has one of the very smart umbrella-tucked skirts. A belt braided in matching blue, fuchsia and yellow silk floss says color in unmistakable terms. The buttoniere is of self-linen and the cunning poke bonnet is of white straw.

The dress to the right in the background of this group is of a bubbly sheer, pure linen in a delectable shell pink. Fitted waistline and sleeves cleverly appliqued with con-

That temperature can change the color of flowers of a single plant is illustrated by a species of Chinese primrose, Primula sinensis, whose blossoms are white when grown at about 85 degrees Fahrenheit and red when grown at about 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

In the West, where thunderstorms frequently occur with little or no rain, forest fires caused by lightning are common. Moreover, single storms often do considerable damage, such as a recent one in Idaho, which started 70 fires within 20 minutes.

Few keepers of animals in zoological parks are certain of crocodiles' sex unless they lay eggs.

Unlike other Christians, the Mormons of Utah marry for eternity, not for this life alone, and the death of a partner does not dissolve or alter the union.

One of the longest theatrical careers ever achieved by an animal was that of "Anna," a horse that appeared on the New York stage from 1913 to 1938. When she was retired last spring at the age of 36 years, a party was given in her honor by the polo ponies of the Pegasus Club of Rockleigh, N. J.—Collier's.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—the life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequently, nearly or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. In fact on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

NOT REASSURING

Manegerie Man—Don't be afraid of that tiger, sir, he's as harmless as your wife.

Mekton—Good-by, I'm gone!

Tough Tommy

Mistress—Did Tommy get into any trouble while I was gone?

Maid—No, 'ceptin' he swallowed a bug soon after you left but I give him some insect powder right away so they's no need to worry about that.

Hollywood Bound

"Dearie, you're engaged to five men. What are you going to do about it?"

"I'm going into the movies, and marry them all within five years."

WHAT A MISTAKE!

All Square

He was a stout man, with large, broad feet, and although several pairs of boots were shown to him he refused them.

"I must have square toes," he explained to the assistant.

The young man sighed. "But square toes are not stocked now, sir," he insisted. "Pointed toes are fashionable this season."

The stout man gave an angry stare. "That may be," he retorted, "but I happen to be wearing last season's feet."

Magistrate—The policeman says that you and your wife had some words.

Accused—I had some, sir, but I didn't get a chance to use them.

Play Suits Adopt 'Little Girl' Air

Some of the new play suits have a little-girl air. A 1939 variation of the popular shirt, shorts, skirt combination is made of gay floral striped cotton, and links a one-piece, puff-sleeved play suit and a detachable skirt hemmed with a frill.

Another of ticking, is made up of a square-necked puff sleeved frock and shorts of the same material.

Tennis fans are choosing more dresses than shorts for play this year, one of New York's smartest shops reports. The smartest are white pique rayon or linen, designed with brief gored or plaited skirts ending above the knee.

Enthusiasm Grows For White Jersey

The practicality of white jersey, the smart appearance, the adaptability to sculptural draping and exquisite tailoring has so impressed designers they are expressing an enthusiasm for it that knows no bounds. Try out a costume of jersey and see what it does for you. It will slenderize you, it will be the touch the sort you "love to wear." The white rayon jerseys especially come out after a tubbing "white as snow" which is exactly what every woman hopes for, even long for in her white costumes.

Diamond Earrings

Earrings, particularly diamond and pearl ones, are becoming increasingly important as accents for every costume.

Tips Picked Up in World Fashion Centers

Black silk jersey evening dresses with snugly draped bodices.

Long fingerless gloves in the same fabric as the dress for formal evening.

Shoes considerably higher than you've been wearing them and with spat tops for fall.

Fur coats with dress-like details, many on princess lines, with the new slim silhouette.

Chiffon alpaca to fashion a stunning, sheer bolero frock.

Bright red feathers to perch atop a jaunty white pillbox hat.

Thin black for formal afternoon wear is hot weather black at its best.

Coats that look like dresses, tailored of smooth, dress-like woolsens for early fall. Many with braid trimming.

New Hobby

Looms a new hobby on the horizon. It's handkerchief collecting. Not just ordinary handkerchiefs, but handkerchiefs that depict memorable events in American history. There is an interesting group of four, just out, created by Burmel, designer of note. They include Mark Twain's Mississippi, Covered Wagon, Mount Vernon and the Landing of the Pilgrims, printed in vivid tableaux against fetching floral borders. Landing of the Pilgrims is the theme of the handkerchief design carried by the charming collector pictured.

Although starlings are a nuisance when they congregate on public buildings during the winter, stomach examinations show that they are industrious destroyers of insect pests. Even English sparrows are credited with protecting lawns, shrubbery and gardens from invading bugs.

Wisconsin's spring pig crop is estimated at two million 67 thousand head. This is the third largest spring pig crop recorded for the state and is the largest one since 1929.

The important thing about fly sprays is to keep cows free from flies during milking. Sprays found to be most effective killing and repelling flies in the barn, in the milk house, and even in the kitchen are the light oil sprays which contain plenty of good contact insecticide.

County Agent Notes

WASHINGTON COUNTY GROWS QUALITY BARLEY

Washington county barley growers received with enthusiasm the favorable comments given them by agronomists George Briggs and R. A. Vaughan at a recent meeting held at the barley trial plots on the county farm. A check of the ninety trial plots showed that 41 samples rated "A" which represents a high degree of purity and quality. About one-third of 33 samples showed a slight mixture of oats or other varieties of barley but not in sufficient quantities to disqualify the samples for seed purposes. Only 16 plots out of the 80 planted were classed as being unfit for seed purposes.

Many of the strains of barley planted in the experimental plots clearly showed signs of better growth characteristics such as stiffer straw, larger and longer heads and greater freedom of disease. In discussing these qualities, Mr. Briggs pointed out frequently that good seed stock is the first essential step in the growing of a profitable barley crop. He strongly urged farmers whose seed stock was not of a high quality to buy new seed next planting season from local growers having desirable seed stock. Mr. Vaughan offered explanations of the more important disease problems of barley raising and stressed the need for disease control by treating seed stocks before planting.

Cordial thanks are extended to Mr. George Blank, superintendent of the county farm, for his cooperation in contributing land for use in the experiment.

Any farmer not present at the meeting last Sunday may obtain the comments made by Briggs and Vaughan upon his barley seed stock qualities by writing or calling at this office.

SOIL TESTING PROGRAM

Farmers wishing to have soil samples tested for productivity may get them tested by bringing samples to the court house. This service is free to all who bring in soil samples. Several samples of well mixed soil should be selected from each field.

WASHINGTON COUNTY 4-H FAIR PLANS NEARING COMPLETION

Plans for the 1939 Washington county 4-H fair to be held on August 8, 9 and 10 are rapidly being completed by those in charge of the various departments.

In the Junior Farmer class the age limit has been extended from 25 to 28 years. This group includes former 4-H club boys who were club members until they reached the upper club age limit of 20 years. Additional classes of livestock such as the fat barrow class, the fat lamb class and the baby beef class have been added to this department.

EDUCATIONAL BOOTHS TO BE FEATURED

The educational booths, for many years a showy and popular exhibit at the fair, will be featured at the 1939 fair.

The Hartford Times-Press will present a silver cup to the club displaying the best educational booth. Competition is not limited to 4-H club. Any junior youth organization such as Boy Scouts, F. F. A., etc. is eligible to compete for the cup.

BIG CARNIVAL COMING TO THE FAIR

The United American shows, featuring 10 rides and about as many shows, and with more than a score of novelty concessions will be at the fair to entertain young and old. The carnival company will come to the fair grounds directly from the Columbia county fair. They will add gaiety and color to the county highway grounds at Slinger where the fair will be held.

THREE BANDS TO PLAY

Three Washington county bands will provide music for the fair. Come and hear your favorite band. They are—August 8, Tuesday, Kewaskum High school band; August 8, Wednesday, West Bend Civic Concert band; August 10, Thursday, Hartford Concert band.

The various youth organizations of the county are preparing to make the 1939 fair a true junior fair. Plan now to attend. Set aside at least one of the three days, August 8, 9 and 10, for attendance at the fair.

SOIL CONSERVATION TO BE EMPHASIZED IN 1940 AAA PLAN

Soil conservation will have increased emphasis in the 1940 AAA farm program, says Harry Wells, chairman of the Wisconsin Agricultural Conservation committee, who attended the national AAA conference in Washington, D. C. last week. Recommendations for the 1940 farm program were presented at this conference.

Next year's farm program, it is pointed out, will also provide a better opportunity for operators of small farms to participate, and the responsibility of administration will continue in the hands of farmer committees.

An important recommendation affecting soil conservation, and which, it is believed, should help small farmers take part in the program, was that there be established a minimum soil-building allowance of $20 per farm. Another important soil conservation recommendation is one that would allow farmers to earn up to $20 per farm for tree planting, in addition to the regular soil building allowance for the farm. State and local AAA committees, it is claimed, will have more responsibility for the field administration of crop insurance and loans. This is in line with established AAA policy of decentralizing administration of the program wherever possible.

Wells explains that the national conference was held a month earlier this year than last to give farmers a better opportunity to know well in advance of the planting season what the program has to offer them.

Recommendations, adopted at the national conference, will be used for drafting specific provisions of the 1940 program. Wells reports that, in general, it will continue on the same lines as the 1939 program. Changes recommended are those which will simplify administration of the program, or make it more effective from the standpoint of soil conservation.

"The conservation program provides for establishment of national allotments for soil-depleting crops and a national goal for soil-building crops and practices, which will be broken down to individual farms," declares the state chairman. "The national wheat allotment of 62,000,000 acres for 1940 has already been announced. Other special allotments, including corn and tobacco, will be made later in the season when the 1939 crop is definitely known. Changes in rates of payment on these commodities will be made on the basis of what the allotments are for them."

As in 1939, there will be two different payments which farmers may earn in 1940. These are the conservation payments, and the price adjustment payments.

Built to Do the Cleanest Threshing

McCORMICK-DEERING

MANY fine features are provided in the McCormick-Deering threshers and among the best of these is the wide range of adjustments. All the way through the McCormick-Deering you will find principles of design and construction that will appeal to you. The all-steel construction assures many years of service. The four-section straw rack effects complete separation of all the grain from the straw. And the ball-bearing cylinder, roller-bearing stacker fan, scientifically distributed air blast to the sieves, Alemite lubrication, and Rockwood pulleys on the cylinder, cleaning fan, and wind stacker are other quality features that assure clean threshing. Two sizes are available—22 x 38 and 28 x 46—convenient sizes to utilize the power of the average farm tractor.

In addition to threshing small grains, the McCormick-Deering Thresher can be equipped to thresh clover, peas, beans, alfalfa, Kafir corn, rice, flax, timothy, orchard grass, sorghum grains, etc. Low-pressure rubber tires can now be supplied. See us about a new thresher now.

1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

Broken Glass and Dented Fenders

Here are some tid-bit items in regard to automobile accidents which I have picked up here and there.

The Soviet Government recently executed a hit-and-run driver by the firing squad method. Well, why not? Murder is murder whether you commit it with a six-shooter revolver or a six-cylinder motor car.

Not long ago, in a Midwestern traffic court, a driver who had been involved in an automobile accident was brought before a judge. It developed that he had been drinking, that he had a glass eye and that his car had little or no braking power. And I suppose he had one arm around a girl.

Warning horns are forbidden in Berlin; consequently drivers must keep a sharp lookout; the pedestrian death rate has been considerably reduced.

The horn-driver is still a menace in America.

A coupe going 60 miles an hour can turn over a 10-ton truck. The steering wheel probably goes through your chest.

Want to try it?

More than 100,000 accidents a year are directly charged to drivers asleep.

About 60 per cent of the "autocides" occur at night according to The Travelers Insurance Company, when there is only 25 per cent of the traffic on the roads.

When it's dark, crawl, brother, crawl!

Well both be ootsy wootsy angels if you don't watch where you're driving

Wondering why he doesn't marry you?

If you want to find out why your boy friend hasn't proposed, see Judith P. Chase's questionnaire in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Milwaukee News-Sentinel.—adv.

Town of Auburn Game Refuge Established

Establishment of a 55-acre game refuge, to be known as the Dickman game refuge, in Sec. 18 of the town of Auburn, was announced in an order issued by the state conservation commission at Madison on Wednesday of this week. The order will be effective Aug. 15 and the tract will be a game refuge for five years. The order was approved by the commission meeting at Spooner on Thursday, July 13. The refuge is located several miles north of Kewaskum.

During the period mentioned, the order makes it unlawful for "any person or persons to hunt or trap, or have in possession or under control, any gun or rifle, unless the same is unloaded or knocked down or unloaded and enclosed in a carrying case in said area" but does not prevent the conservation commission or its agents or deputies from destroying injurious animals or birds.

Likewise the order does not prohibit any duly constituted state or federal authorities from making arrests, preserving the peace or entering the refuge in performance of official duties.

The order pointed out that the conservation commission had caused investigation to be made "relative to the establishment of a certain described area as a game refuge for the purpose of providing safe retreats for game and game birds in which they may rest and replenish adjacent hunting grounds, thereby promoting a successful wild life program and insuring to the citizens of this state, better opportunities for hunting and recreation through an adequate supply of game."

Evidence was received, it was said, and written consent of the owners of the property was obtained.

HOW TO OPEN A Checking Account

The procedure of opening a checking account here is as simple as it is short. Bring in the money you want to open the account with: make yourself known to an officer—he will help you fill out a signature form, for your own protection and for the bank's records. Then, you make out a deposit slip, showing the amount of money you are depositing. You will receive both a check book and a pass book. That completes the transaction. If your initial deposit is made in cash, you can begin drawing against it whenever you wish. A check on another bank, however, takes a short time to clear. When you come in, any of our officers will be glad to assist you and inform you of the regulations concerning checking accounts.

All Sandwiches Aren't on Rye

This perked gent, the British fourth Earl of Sandwich, threw tremendous gambling parties in his castle two centuries ago. He began serving steaks between slices of bread so his guests could grab a bite without leaving the roulette wheel. He should have copyrighted the idea, because today the sandwich is not only a quick lunch but an industrial institution.

For example: The two gentlemen at the left are known as "sandwich men" and they advertise anything from hardware to hamburgers up and down main street. Sportsmen have their "sandwich boats" in the famous Oxford-Cambridge bumping races. At least four towns on the continent (and the Sandwich islands, too) owe their names to the gambling nobleman.

Picture Parade

In industry the word "sandwich" means a lamination (or division) into thin plates or layers of materials such as wood, glass, paper, metal or rubber for greater strength and efficiency. One of the most spectacular of these sandwiches is the new steel-and-rubber sheet for railway cars. Photo above shows the rubber "sandwich" being placed in the wheel. The cross-section at the right shows how the rubber inserts prevent metal-to-metal transmission of vibration from rail to axle. This new process, which received one of its most successful applications in the new subway cars at New York, is being used throughout the country.

The first "sandwich glass" was named after Sandwich, Mass., a Cape Cod settlement whose formula for beautiful colored glass is now lost. Modern sandwich glass is safety plate glass for automobiles. In the above photo girls at the Libbey-Owens-Ford plant place paper-thin plastic filler between sheets of plate glass. A new "filler" has just been perfected which has four times the strength and resilience of former fillers.

Finished "sandwich" glass, a far cry from the earl's ideal!

ADVENTUROUS AMERICANS

By Elmo Scott Watson

Indian Painter

THE early painters of American Indian life were all adventurous men, but John Mix Stanley had more than his share of perils and narrow escapes from death. Stanley first became interested in Indians in 1838 and went to Fort Snelling, Minn., to paint them. During the next eight years he made frequent visits to picture the tribes of the Southwest. In 1846 he joined the famous march of General Kearney and his dragoons from Santa Fe to San Diego, during which time he laid down his painter's brush to take up a gun and fight in several engagements.

The next year Stanley found more excitement awaiting him in the North. He narrowly escaped being in the Whitman massacre when that missionary, his wife and 11 others were killed by the Cayuses in eastern Washington. He had another close call when he returned to San Francisco to take ship for New York via Cape Horn, for he arrived just too late to go aboard. That ship was lost at sea and was never heard of again.

In 1853 Stanley was appointed artist to the expedition sent to explore a route for a Pacific railroad from St. Paul to Puget Sound. After a series of adventures with that expedition, he returned to the East, where he died in 1872. The last years of his life were saddened by the loss of more than 150 paintings of Indian life which he had spent 10 years in making and which were destroyed by a fire in the Smithsonian institution in 1865.

Aguinaldo's Captor

IN 1901 America had a new national hero—"a little man with a slight limp, with a Vandyke beard and a sense of humor that bubbled in him like the effervescence of wine." His name was Frederick Funston, former student at the University of Kansas, newspaper reporter and member of a filibustering expedition to deliver to Cuban revolutionists five Hotchkiss guns for use against the Spanish. He was made a captain of artillery and in 18 months fought in 22 engagements. Then the Spanish put a price on his head and he barely managed to escape and return to the United States.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war Funston raised a regiment of Kansas volunteers and was made its colonel. He was sent to the Philippines and aided in the capture of Manila. In August, 1898, Emilio Aguinaldo started an insurrection against the new masters of the islands and for the next three years led 70,000 American soldiers and their native auxiliaries a merry chase.

Finally he was located in southern Luzon and Funston, by now a brigadier-general of volunteers, formed a daring plan to capture him. Taking two captains and two lieutenants, Funston led a party of 80 Macabebe scouts toward Aguinaldo's hiding place. They were to pass themselves off as a detachment of insurgent Tagalos who had captured these five Americans and were bringing them to Aguinaldo. It was a risky business for everything depended upon the faithfulness of the Macabebes.

But they played their part to perfection and the American "captives" were delivered to Aguinaldo. Then they revealed their identity and calmly informed Aguinaldo that he was their prisoner.

Confederate Mail Runner

FOR 10 years before the Civil war Abasalon Grimes was a Mississippi river pilot, running between St. Louis and St. Paul. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in a company of "irregulars," raised in Raisin county west of Hannibal, Mo., to recruit the Confederate army. One of the members of this company was a young fellow named Sam Clemens. Years later Mark Twain referred to his "short and inglorious military career" in that company which decamped hastily at the first appearance of an enemy force and soon afterwards disbanded.

Grimes then volunteered for service as a mail carrier between the Missouri and Kentucky troops in the Confederate army and their relatives at home. It was an extremely hazardous duty for it meant going through the Union lines at the peril of capture and execution as a spy. During the siege of Vicksburg he ran the blockade successfully by wiring his mail in tin boxes to the bottom of an overturned skiff and floating beside it among the Union gunboats until he had passed them. Grimes was repeatedly captured by the Union forces and twice he was sentenced to death. He spent several months in the old Gratiot prison in St. Louis and was there under sentence of death at the end of the war. However, his life was saved by an unconditional pardon issued by Abraham Lincoln—among the last acts of mercy performed by the President before he was assassinated.

The importance of properly balanced glands is exemplified by thyroxine, a product of the thyroid, which never amounts to more than one 2,500th of an ounce in a normal adult, says Collier's. An excess of this hormone may produce an exophthalmic goiter while a deficiency may cause a cystic goiter.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Noises in the Night"

HELLO EVERYBODY: There came a time when Frank Barry had to prove he wasn't a coward—and this is what happened!

Frank's address is Albion, Mich. He lives out in the country with his wife and at night the place gets sort of lonely. That would be all right as far as Frank was concerned, but Frank says that his wife is "somewhat nervous."

On top of that, Frank's wife is a light sleeper. And what with one thing or another, she was beginning to suspect that Frank had a yellow streak in him about a yard wide. Frank didn't feel that way about it. With him it was just a case of wanting to sleep at night. I'll let him tell you about the trouble in his own words.

"Every time a mouse would scamper across the floor," says Frank, "my wife would poke me in the ribs and whisper, 'Frank—Frank! Wake up! I hear noises!' Not being of a nervous nature myself, it was hard to wake me up. When I finally did awaken to hear a mouse playing about the room, I would mumble, 'It's only a mouse,' and fall asleep again."

It was just plain sleepiness on Frank's part—but his wife began to believe Frank was afraid to go down and take a chance on meeting up with a burglar. She never said so, but Frank could tell from the way she looked at him at times. And Frank, on the other hand, began wishing a burglar would bust into the house, just so he could go down and show wife that he wasn't afraid.

Frank's Wife Hears a Noise in the Cellar.

"Well," says Frank, "one night the opportunity came, and now my hair is gray." That night was October 25, 1922. Frank sort of had burglars on his mind that night.

That day he had picked a lot of apples and vegetables and stored them in the cellar. He had left the outside cellar door open.

That night, just as he was drifting off to sleep he heard a crash and felt his wife's elbow in his ribs. "Frank," she whispered, "did you hear that?" Frank had heard it. It was no mouse this time. A box had fallen down in the cellar! And then Frank remembered that open cellar door. Here were his burglars!

"And then," says Frank, "I began to realize that I was scared to death."

The cold shivers were running down Frank's back, but he didn't tell his wife. "As I lay there debating whether I should be a live coward or a dead hero," he says, "my wife said, 'Did you hear me, Frank?'"

Frank, clinging to the Thing, was carried up the cellar stairs.

Frank? If you didn't something must be the matter with you." And there was something the matter with me. I was scared."

But Frank knew that if he showed the white feather now, his wife would remember it the rest of her life. He slipped out of bed and drew on his pants and socks. He left his shoes off because he didn't want to make any noise, and he took no light because a light would only make him a better target for robbers' guns. He picked up his own revolver and groped his way down stairs.

Down in the cellar he could hear boxes moving and apples rolling around. He locked the inside door so the burglars couldn't get into the house. Then he crept outside, down the cellar steps and into the cellar.

Frank Hears an Inhuman Sound.

"By that time," says Frank, "my fear had left me. If a robber shot at me, the flash of his gun would show me where to shoot. I had as good a chance as he." But Frank's fear of burglars had only moved out to make room for a greater fear—the horrible fear of the unknown.

It was deathly still in that cellar. Frank listened breathlessly, intently. "The stillness," he says, "seemed to grow even more silent, and the suspense increased. Then, all of a sudden I heard a strange, blood-curdling sound—a sound that I knew came from nothing human. My God, what could it be? I didn't have long to ponder that question. In a split second the Thing was on me, sweeping me off my feet."

Frank had arrived at that cellar door ready to fight burglars, but he wasn't prepared to meet up with something that wasn't human. He fell forward across the Thing, and clutched at it in panic. The Thing was immense—a veritable monster. It dashed up the cellar steps and Frank, still clinging to it, was carried up feet first.

"Its strength," he says, "was irresistible. I felt as though I was nothing more than a feather in a giant's hands. Many fears passed through my mind during the few seconds which that ghastly rite lasted, but all of them were too preposterous to believe. If I could have believed one of them I might have felt better. Anything was better than being at the mercy of an unknown monster."

But suddenly the monster was out in the open and Frank was losing his hold. He rolled off and fell to the ground. When he got up he had regained his composure—and also his senses.

Frank went into the house and got a lantern. Then he went again and walked to the barn. Sure enough there was his monster, and his hunch had been right. Standing by the gate was Frank's 500-pound boar hog. He had escaped from the barnyard and gone into the cellar looking for an evening snack. And when he ran out of the cellar in alarm, his nose went between Frank's wide-spread legs, throwing Frank over on his back.

Frank says his wife thinks this story funny, and tells it to all her friends. "But it was mighty real to me," Frank says, "I didn't know fright could be that bad!"

New 'Back Drop' Aids in Television Transmitting

A black "back drop" for the screens of television transmitting tubes results in more sharply focused and detailed television image according to a patent (No. 2,156,391) issued to Willard Hickok of Bloomfield, N. J.

The "back drop" is a film of graphite at the back of the transparent mica support on which are mounted the photo-electric elements that convert the scene being televised into an electric image which is broadcast through the ether. It is explained that when the scene is focused on the ordinary photo-electric screen of the "televise" tube, light from the image is reflected, bounces off the walls of the tube back on to the screen so that a double image may be formed. At the same time the photo-electric elements scatter the light. All this, it is indicated by past experience, blurs and makes hazy the image to be broadcast.

The black "back drop," which is the subject of the patent, on the other hand, absorbs the light which would thus ordinarily be reflected. The result is a sharper, more detailed image.

THREE SHUTTERED HOUSES

By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

"How do we get to his place?" Tope asked.

Heale explained: "You go back toward town till you come to Thayer's garage, about two miles from here. There's a path just this side of the garage goes right into the pond. Thayer will show it to you." He moved with them toward the door and he asked uneasily: "What are you after, Tope? It all looks plain enough to me."

Tope answered mildly: "Well, I don't like questions unless I know the answers to them. For instance, did something happen to the telephone? Did something happen to the electric current? Did the Hurders when they went to bed? And why do folks like those people on the hill let some one squat on their land the way you say this Glover does? And how does it happen he's so friendly with Miss Leaford when she hasn't got any other friends? And where did that bottle go?"

Heale grinned and scratched his head; and Doctor Derris said, in a sardonic anger:

"If you're trying to make a murder out of this, I can tell you where mother to bed, gave her the dose. She was the last one to see Mrs. Leaford alive and the first to see her dead. Begin with the girl that's the place to begin!"

CHAPTER VI

June Leaford loved her mother, patiently and tenderly; but there was something more, an intangible, Kitty Leaford, whose latter days were such sad and dreary ones, had once been gay; once she had known romance; once for the sake of love she had dared greatly. Even June had seen sometimes the glint of shining armor in her eyes. A single valorous action, though it may fail, and be punished endlessly, does nevertheless in degree ennoble the soul; and Kitty Leaford had once done valiantly.

"Mother's dead," she said simply.

But now Kitty Leaford was dead, and June moved like a person in a nightmare. Doctor Cabler had brought her home, wrapped in his greatcoat but drenched and shivering still; and they found the door open, the hall half-flooded. They crept up the stairs like conspirators, and so came into the room where the pitiless illumination of an unshaded electric bulb revealed this upon the bed. Dr. Cabler made his brief examination.

"She is dead, yes," he said. "But I don't think we'll wake the old people just now. The middle of the night is a cruel time for bad news. I'll go next door and get Rab or Asa to help me."

But June said in a cool voice: "Mother wouldn't like that."

And without weakness or wavering, she helped Doctor Cabler do what was required; not till this was done would she permit him to summon anyone.

She did not know how long it was before Asa came to her.

"Go to bed, June," he said. "There's nothing to do here. I can do that nothing as well as you."

"I won't sleep," she told him.

"Go along," he insisted. "To bed."

And she obeyed in a silent submission. In her own room she realized that she was still drenched, wet, cold. She changed into a dry nightgown and lay down. She expected to stay sleepless till dawn; and in fact she did lie long enough awake to hear the Doctor return, and hear Aunt Evie in the hall.

Then she fell asleep; and when she woke, the sun was shining. She opened her door and saw a strange man in a black coat go quietly into her mother's room and shut the door behind him.

Below stairs, when she descended, all these kind of hers were gathered together. Grandma Hurder was crying quietly, tears glistening on her grey cheeks. She sat erectly in a heavy chair. June as she came downstairs heard Grandma Bowdon say in a heavy anger: "Utterly inconceivable. No other word describes it." And as June entered the room, it. And as June entered, in her gentle, whispering voice:

"I was concerned about Kitty last night. You remember, she had a headache. I know I suffered myself; headaches. I have with them, really and truly. There's a good-sized pond in the Kenesaw land," Heale explained. "It's pretty, in there. There's some talk awhile back of opening it up for house lots, but they can't sell the land. This fellow, Mr. Glover—has built himself a cabin in there."

June stopped in the doorway, incredulous and bewildered, trying to understand the implication in their words. Rab and Asa were in the room, but they did not see June. Grandma Hurder was here in the hall, walking ceaselessly up and down. Then Uncle Justus came in through the kitchen, and said something about breakfast, in the hollow voice of the deaf; and Grandma Hurder shouted into his ear: "Kitty's dead!"

"Eh?" said Uncle Justus.

Aunt Evie came swiftly past June and went to silence him; and Grandma Bowdon repeated in a grim anger: "She was always selfish. No consideration."

June cried in passionate stifled anger: "Oh!" she strode swiftly into the room. "What do you mean?" she demanded. "What do you mean?"

"June," said Grandma Bowdon severely. "Mind how you speak to me."

But Grandma Hurder said sternly in the doorway: "Kitty was crucified!" There was the dignity of anger in him in this moment. "Crucified," he said. "Long ago."

June pressed her hands to her lips, understanding what it was they thought. "She didn't! She didn't!" she cried. She turned to escape; she went out through the front door.

But there was a garland of ribbons on the doorknob, so she returned indoors again. Later she slipped out of the house, this time by the side door so as not to see that garland; she moved directly away from the house, into the tract of wooded land behind. Here she could be alone.

There was a sound at some distance; and she raised her head, without other movement, to see what it was. She saw Asa quietly past, a little way off among the trees, and without seeing her, along a path that led to the bluff above the pond, where Uncle Jim Glover had his cabin; it passed beyond, down to the highway near Thayer's filling-station. And of course this was the way she took when she went to see Uncle Jim.

He would know how to comfort her. She was deeply fond of Uncle Jim. He was a big, chuckling man, with an amusing eye. He lived alone in the cabin by the pond, stayed there sometimes for months on end, disappeared sometimes for as long. He wrote, absurdly, poems.

When she came to the top of the knoll, he was still asleep. His cabin door was open; and he woke when she darkened the doorway—woke and looked up and said: "Hallo, there, youngster!"

"Hello, Uncle Jim," she said.

He sat up, in yellow pajamas, and rubbed his eyes. "You caught me napping," he chuckled. "I was awake till dawn. Writing a poem about a thunder-storm."

She stood beside the cabin door, her back against the logs, looking down toward the pond while he behind her. He talked steadily, cheerfully; but she spoke not at all, until Uncle Jim, remarking her long silence, said behind her:

"Tongue-tied this morning, June. What's the matter?"

"Mother's dead," she said simply.

Something dropped to the floor, in the cabin, and silence trembled there. Then Uncle Jim cleared his throat. "Dead?" he whispered.

"Yes," she told him.

He came close to her shoulder. "Kitty Leaford dead?" he repeated, in an incredulous tone.

She turned her head alertly. There was a sound in the wood; the sound of voices, then foot steps.

"Someone's coming," she said.

He started to speak, then stood silently beside her in the doorway; and they faced the two men who climbed the trail.

A young man came in front; and now the color flowed across June's cheek and burned there, for she knew him. She looked past him quickly, at his companion. This was a plump, white-haired old man who walked with a surprisingly alert step, his hands swinging at his sides. Uncle Jim passed her and interposed himself between her and these newcomers; and he said casually: "Hallo!"

The young man extended his hand. "I'm Clint Jervies," he explained. "This is Mr. Tope. He turned to the girl. "You're Miss Leaford, aren't you?"

She nodded slowly, without words. She was trembling.

Uncle Jim asked with narrowing eyes: "All right. What of it?"

And Clint said, in swift, friendly fashion: "Why, you see, I happened to be passing, last night, in time to give Miss Leaford a lift. And I wanted to—make sure she was all right this morning. . . . I heard about your mother," he added, turning toward June. "I'm awfully sorry."

June felt the strength go out of her. There was a bench built against the cabin front, and she sat down as though her knees gave way.

Uncle Jim turned to her with a quick solicitude. "June! Are you ill?" he whispered. "Are you all right?"

"Quite," she said, and tried to smile. "Let me rest a minute."

Her cheeks were drained white; she seemed to droop forward. He held her; and Tope said: "She's fainting, Mr. Glover. Pi her head down."

But the girl recovered, straightened up again; and Glover said: "Wait a minute. I can do better."

He disappeared, came out with a flask and tumbler. She choked and gasped and spluttered, but her color did return.

Cooling Summer Drinks

Can you think of anything more cooling and refreshing than a frosty glass of ice cold beverage sprigged with mint and tinkling with ice cubes? Neither can I! There's something about a cold, tart-tasting drink that seems to lower the temperature several degrees.

I like to keep a variety of chilled drinks in my refrigerator to meet the demands of sultry weather; a sparkling punch to serve during mid-afternoon when everyone is wilted and weary; old-fashioned lemonade for thirsty youngsters and grown folks, too; or cool, refreshing iced tea to serve with meals, or whenever the occasion warrants.

Iced tea is a summer standby, and properly prepared it's truly delicious. Follow these simple rules for making it, if you like to serve to your family and your guests the clear, sparkling, faintly fragrant tea that's delightfully refreshing.

Iced Tea.

1. Rinse teapot with boiling water.
2. Place tea in teapot—allowing one teaspoon of tea per cup to be made.
3. Pour freshly boiling water over the tea leaves.
4. Allow tea to steep—not boil—for 3 to 5 minutes according to strength desired.
5. Cool hot tea infusion quickly by pouring it over a generous supply of crushed ice.
6. Serve at once. Lemon slices or a sprig of mint may be used as an accompaniment if desired.

Ginger Julep.
(Serves 4-5)

Few sprigs mint
2 lemons
1/4 cup superfine powdered sugar
1 quart gingerale

Place the mint leaves and the lemon rind, cut in strips, in a pitcher. With the back of a spoon, crush the leaves and the rind. Add lemon juice and sugar, and place in refrigerator for about an hour to ripen. When ready to serve, add gingerale, and pour into tall glasses filled with crushed ice.

Old-Fashioned Lemonade.

1 cup sugar
2 cups water
1/4 cup lemon rind (grated)
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 quart cold water

Place the sugar, 2 cups water, and the lemon rind in a saucepan. Cover and cook for 5 minutes. Add lemon juice and cold water. Chill thoroughly, and garnish with a sprig of mint or a marshmallow in each glass.

Spiced Syrup.

2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup water
Pinch salt
3 teaspoons whole cloves
8 inches stick cinnamon

Bring sugar, water, and salt to the boiling point and boil one minute. Remove from fire and add spices. Cover and cool. Strain before using.

Iced Coffee.

Prepare hot coffee in the usual manner making it a little stronger to allow for dilution. Then pour

Pleasing Room for a Pair of Brothers

By BETTY WELLS

GRANTED that nurseries are mostly decorated for the pleasure of parents—the children usually like them in a superior sort of way. We saw a room for a pair of little brothers recently that managed both to set off the children and express the parents quite gayly.

The wall paper is called "Two By Two" because it is a Noah's Ark pattern with all the animals in plaids and pastels. Everything else in the room went two by two also—two twin beds, two little low chests, two little desks, two little chairs, all painted pale green. Most of the furniture could be used by older children as these two grew up. A plain green broadloom rug covered the floor.

The bedsprings were quilts of green and white squares with a large center medallion in each quilt with applied animals copied after the wall paper motifs. Each little chair had a slip cover of green. Curtains were plain white dotted over crushed ice or tea cubes in tall glasses, and serve at once.

Mocha Freeze.

Pour chilled coffee into tall glasses. Add a generous spoonful of vanilla ice cream to each glass and top with whipped cream.

Frosted Grape Juice Ade.
(Serves 6)

4 cups grape juice
Juice of 3 oranges
Juice of 1 lemon
1 pint water
1/4 cup sugar
Crushed ice

Combine the fruit juices and water. Add sugar. Dip the rims of tall beverage glasses in lime juice, then in confectioner's sugar to make a frosted edge. Allow to dry. Half fill glasses with crushed ice, and pour in the beverage.

Bowling Green Punch.
(Serves 8-10)

3 cups orange pekoe tea infusion
Ice
1 1/2 cups spiced syrup
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup orange juice
1 pint gingerale

Pour warm or hot tea over ice. Add lemon and orange juice and spiced syrup and mix thoroughly. Add gingerale just before serving.

Make Modern Laundry Out of Waste Space

Waste space upstairs can easily be fashioned into a modern laundry, brightened up with paint and hung with some of those attractive low-priced curtains that are always bobbing up in such variety. If you have plans of modern houses or equipment designed for such rooms includes washers that pump themselves empty.

Ironing has always been an upstairs operation, possibly because it is easier to transfer ironed clothes to proper storing places without danger of over-mussing. Many ironers have table tops that serve a real purpose in the small kitchen, and there are washers tailored to kitchen size, too.

House Cleaning Is Made Easy by Use of Vacuum

The days are gone forever when, to clean a rug thoroughly, it was necessary to hang it on a clothesline or lay it on the grass and beat it with a bamboo or steel wire contraption.

Today, thanks to electricity and the vacuum cleaner, rug beating is a thing of the past in millions of homes. Moreover, in addition to eliminating much work and drudgery, the vacuum cleaner raises practically no dust and thus greatly reduces the time required for dusting.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Cushion covers should be easy to remove.

"DEAR MRS. SPEARS: I have both of your books and they certainly have been a help to me. I followed your directions in Book 1 for making all of my slip covers. Recently I started a wall hanging of crewl work embroidery that required many stitches that were new to me. I found them all clearly diagrammed in Book 2, and was certainly glad I had it to turn to."

"I am now interested in covering seat cushions for our dinette. The children have both breakfast and their mid-day meal here. Can you suggest a material that will stand hard wear and that comes in bright colors? G. B."

Striped awning material would give good service, and both you and the youngsters would enjoy the gay coloring in this much used corner. Green and orange stripes would be attractive, and this color scheme could be repeated in green curtains and orange paint for the inside of a cupboard. I have suggested slide fasteners for the cushions so that they may be removed easily for laundering.

Dead Sea Coveted

Spurned and avoided as worthless for thousands of years, the Dead Sea now is recognized and coveted as a basin filled with minerals of incredible value. Nothing can live in its waters, but through the ages the Jordan river has carried to it the chemical treasures of the desert, and today the Dead sea holds magnesium, potash and other mineral salts worth more than the gold stores of the nations.

To recover these chemicals, goods, glass and many other industrial products, brine is pumped from the lake and allowed to evaporate in shallow basins, leaving the salts to be packed in bags and shipped.—Popular Mechanics.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Improving Iced Tea.—Add a little grated orange and lemon rind to iced tea for a delicate flavor. A few chopped mint leaves placed in the tea when steeping also give a subtle taste.

To Brighten Aluminum.—To keep aluminum bright rub it with any of the acid fruit juices such as lemon or rhubarb, or let it stand in a rather strong solution for one-half hour.

Treating Tile Floors.—Abrasives or bleaches have a tendency to roughen the surface of a tiled floor to the point where it becomes dirty sooner. For glazed tile on floors, use plain soap and water. Unglazed tile may be waxed and polished.

Washing Windows.—A sponge and chamomile make the best window washing combination. The sponge moistens the glass without spreading water, while the chamomile serves as an excellent drier and polisher.

Use Underripe Fruit.—When making jellies do not forget to use fruits and berries underripe rather than overripe, for better consistency and flavor.

Knowles Strikes Out 17 Local Batters as Greenbush Wins, 12-3

It was too much for Knowles Sunday as the Kewaskum team finally met its Waterloo in Greenbush after winning six successive games.

Knowles had the Kewaskum hitters eating out of his hand most of the time. He allowed but six scattered hits and set 17 of the locals down via the knockout route.

H. Marx started for Kewaskum but was relieved in the 7th frame after hitting 5 walks and giving up 11 hits.

Greenbush scored first in the 2nd inning on two singles, two stolen bases, a double and an error.

Old Age Pensions Next

The question of old age pensions will be taken up after the tax measures have been disposed of, and increases are allowed as it is hoped that the federal government will increase its contribution in this line as additional taxes will have to be raised.

Weekly Letter

Assemblyman Jos. A. Schmitz Wisconsin Legislature, Madison

WASHINGTON NEWS

TAX BILL FINALLY PASSED

The much debated tax bill has finally passed the assembly and has been sent to the senate where it may undergo additional changes.

Continuous and determined demands are being made for action by the Congress on many important pieces of legislation which appear, at the present time, to be doomed in the final rush to adjourn Congress.

I have repeatedly pointed out that there is a cause for the continuous depression with its paralyzing effects on all of the people, and that the Congress should legislate in an effort to abate these causes.

The measure was finally adopted by a vote of 43 to 53, and it is estimated that this tax will produce about $3,600,000 per year.

It is the general consensus of opinion among the Republican members of the legislature that it will not be necessary to raise any more money at this session, but that the Emergency board will be instructed to make sufficient cuts in the budget to save the ten and one-half million dollars which we are still short.

The assembly passed a resolution barring all lobbyists from the chamber at all times. The members were being sorely pestered by these professional fixers and were forced to this measure in order to free themselves therefrom.

While no definite date has been set for final adjournment the work is speeding up perceptibly as the members are anxious to dispose of what business remains and get back home.
