Big Carnival Coming to Wash. Co. Fair

Hand bills are being printed in the Statesman office this week for the annual Washington County 4-H fair. County fair days, Aug. 8, 9, and 10, will be days of fun for young and old when the United American carnival shows set up on the county highway grounds at Slinger. During the past weeks this carnival has been playing such Fox River Valley towns as Green

Among the free attractions carried by the carnival will be a slide-for-life done by petite Miss Harvey. This slide will be done twice daily on a 300-foot cable at a height of 80 feet above the spectators. Miss Harvey will be suspended only by her teeth. During the evening performance the midway lights are turned out allowing this thrill girl to make her descent in the darkness of the night with her cape and hood

The second free performance will be a contortion act of Ringling circus fame. This act is done on a high tower and is one that will thrill the spectators from start to finish.

At present the carnival company is carrying ten shows and ten rides, also more than a score of concessions.

The educational booths, for many years a showy and popular exhibit at dence in the town of Eden and the fair, will be featured at the 1939 from the M. E. church in fair. The Hartford Times-Press will present a silver cup to the club disrlaying the best educational booth. Competition is not limited to 4-H clubs. Any junior youth organization such as Boy Scouts, F. F. A. etc. is eligible to compete for the cup.

In the Junior Farmer class the age limit has been extended from 25 to 28 the sisters of the Kewaskum years. Walter H. Klix, 41-year-old Soo line telegrapher who shot and killed his wife, Margaret, 34, and their son, Herbort, 6, and then attempted to kill himself by shooting below his heart with a .38 calibre pistoi early Tuesday morn-, ing at his home at Theresa Station rear Theresa, was reported in fair condition at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, Thursday. Klix signed a confession saying that he had killed his wife and son "as an act of mercy." A first degree murder warrant has been issued in Dodge county charging him with the double crime. He is to be arraigned in Dodge county court when his condition permits removal from the hospital.

According to his confession, Klix was under the delusion that he was suffering from an incurable disease. He said that he had killed his wife and son "as an act of mercy to keep the family from rotting away." He said he'd been unable to sleep thinking about the act. About 1 a. m. his confession said, he got the gun and sat in the front room thinking it over.

"The more I thought it over the more in 1934 at which it was awarded the at the scene and upon backing out, I thought it an act of mercy to keep the family from rotting away," the signed confession stated.

Klix explained in the confession that the gun was always loaded, but that he did not know how many shells it contained. He said he shot his wife twice, "to make sure it was a good job," Then he shot the boy twice, he said. Officials reported he had shot the toy three times.

"Then I thought it best to go with them. I shot myself once and went outside," the confession said. When questioned about the fire which destroyed the house and whether he had started it, Klix said in his confession: "I realized it was burning as I went out. I smelled it, but I don't

"I feel better now that I have told you this," the confession continued. "I was mentally deficient because of no sleep, but I still had reason enough. I confess to everyone, I admit to all, that I shot my wife and boy. It was an act of mercy, I figured it. I smelled smoke as I went out the door. I did not attempt to burn them. I was too weak i to go back into the building!"

"Do you understand what you are saying?" Sheriff Harold Hammer of Juneau asked Klix. "Yes, and I am awfully sorry now. I wish I could pull through so I could live a life of repentance. I would be willing to do anything so I could lead others from sin," he replied. Other parts of the confession explained details prior to the tragedy, and told of his delusions regarding a supposed incurable disease and of his visits to physicians. Scores of curious persons visited the cene of the tragedy throughout Tuescay. The residence, which officials charged was fired by Klix after he shot his wife and son and then turned the revolver on himself, was burned to the

"Breath of Doom"

TELLO EVERYBODY: John A. Kollins of Decatur, Ill., is a refrigerator repairman, and he knows the ins and outs of mechanical refrigerat-ing systems and can tell you just what makes them go. John learned that business with an eye to making his bread and butter out of it. But there came a time when he had to use every doggone bit of the knowledge he had acquired-to save his life. But, in the end, it was a penknife that saved the day. Without it, all of John's technical skill would have been of little use in the battle against the icy breath of doom which he and his helper found themselves fighting. John's knowledge told him what not to do, but knowing what not to do isn't enough when death is clamping down and slowly wringing the life out of you.

It all happened in Springfield, Ill. On March 31, 1936, John Kollins was called over there to make some repairs in the refrigerating plant of the Morris Fish Market. He got there early in the morning with his helper, and they worked hard all day on the job.

The market had several cooler rooms carrying below-freezing temperatures and one room, called a sharp fish freezer, that went down to 10 or 15 degrees below zero when the machinery was working.

Evening was coming on, and still their job wasn't finished. The market had closed and every one had gone home before John finally got the machinery working properly. He still had to test it, though, and he turned the controls on full and he and his helper climbed out of the basement and went up through the big, empty market to the sharp freezer room to see how rapidly the machine was bringing the temperature down.

Find Catch Broken on Freezer Door.

When they got to the freezer door, John noticed again that the catch was broken. There was an old pair of ice tongs hanging nearby, to open it in case it stuck. He had seen that before, and made a mental note of it. He had even told his helper to be careful in closing that door behind him. But now, as John walked in, his helper, following behind him, gave the door a thoughtless bang.

Then, suddenly, the big blade of the knife broke!

Locked in! And in a small, cramped room whose temperature was rapidly going down! Going to 15 below zero! Not even an Eskimo could live through a night in the open at such a temperature, and John and his helper, dressed in ordinary working clothes, knew that they'd be frozen to death long before morning.

"My heart almost failed me right then and there," says John, "but if it hadn't been for my knowledge of the structure of this freezer, we might have died before we even had half a chance to try to get out. various levels of New York's My helper was all for taking a big block of ice and trying to ram the door down, but I knew better than to try it. The door was too is shown here testing his strong, and, if we failed to get out on the first try, it would be the end.

"I had built this plant eight years before. I knew the ammonia coils would not stand much jarring without springing a leak. And once the ammonia got in, we'd have choked to death before we had a chance to freeze."

No-that was out. The only thing those two lads could do was cling to straws. They MIGHT just possibly be alive in the morning. Only Tool Is Two-Bladed Penknife.

John asked his helper if he had any tools in his pocket. The only thing the helper had was a small penknife with two blades. John told him they'd have to try digging their way out with that

But back of that was eight inches of cork,

"We took turns digging," says John, "and made progress little by little. But, all this time, the machine was running in the basement and the temperature was going down. It went from five-to ten-to fifteen below, and our hands became numb as we worked. Then, suddenly, the big blade of the knife broke. John Feels He Is Nearing End.

Designer Visions Coming Fashions

Quoting Edith Head, top designer of clothes for Hollywood notables: "The reign of the popular simple frock or suit is over. Everything indicates that the fall and winter styles will be lavish in fabric and extremely romantic and flattering. Clothes will doubtless cause social functions to increase in formality and it will be, all and all, a dressy

"I am sure," predicted Miss Head, "that there will be no certain or definite skirt, sleeve, or coat lengths in the coming trend. Women will dress strictly to their own individuality, getting away from the 'sheep' fads and crazes which made all of us look alike for the past several years. At least feminine fashions will assume something else than 'all poured of the same

"The high note of the new trend," said the designer, "will be magnificence of material. Silks, brocades, velvets, and embroidered fabrics will be abundant and tailored, allpurpose models will hear a definite death knell."

A classic two-piecer that will give you loads of wear on your vacation travels as well as summer days in town, is 1783. It brings you a sleeveless tennis frock with sunback, that becomes a smart little summer suit when you add the fitted jacket-blouse. Thus you can solve two important

To Inform You .- Read the labels on canned foods. Many tell the number of slices contained in the can. Others give additional useful information about the contents.

Keep Oils Cool .- Store oils, such as olive or vegetable, in the refrigerator. They are likely to become rancid when opened unless they are kept chilled.

Quick Baking .- Fruit and berry pies with lattice-style tops require less baking time than the regular two-crust pies.

Position of Trellises .- Trellises should be a foot to 18 inches away from a wall. This gives air a chance to circulate and gives you a chance to spray the back of the Use for Leftovers .- Leftover rice or macaroni mixed with cooked meat makes a good filling for green peppers or tomatoes. The latter need to be cooked only 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Invest in a New cCormick-Deering

OPEED is essential at silo-filling time—it pays to have a corn binder you can depend on for sure, steady performance. Don't try to get along with an old, worn-out binder—an investment in a new McCormick-Deering is more than worth while.

The McCormick-Deering is available in vertical and horizontal types, and there is a special vertical binder for use where corn is short. Both have a reputation for good work under all sorts of conditions. They get all the corn and bind it tightly in evenly butted bundles. A bundle loader, available on special order, carries the bundles to a wagon driven alongside.

Put in your order now for the type of McCormick-Deering Corn Binder you prefer. We also have a complete line of McCormick-Deering Ensilage Cutters.

Ironside Visit, Credit Offer Clinch British Aid to Poland If Germany Moves on Danzig

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

EUROPE: Stifled Rumor

At midnight 40 military supply trucks from East Prussia rumbled into the Free City of Danzig, their heavy gray doors locked tight. Next day Nazi Leader Albert Forster returned from a conference with Adolf Hitler in Berchtesgaden. On official was shot dead by a Free City jails held a prisoner from the enemy camp. To top it off, the Danzig which news-SIR IRONSIDE paper corre-He reiterated. spondents traced from Warsaw to London and finally back to their birthplace at Berlin. The rumor: That Danzig's problem is now subject to peaceful negotiation.

Both Poland and Britain denied it, and their explanations made sense. The rumor began spreading just as Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, inspector general of British overseas forces, arrived in Warsaw for Polish-British staff consultations. Germany obviously hoped the peace rumor would split the consultants, Poland thinking Britain had sold out for a German-sponsored peace.

Nothing like that happened. To the contrary, General Ironside's visit offered the most firm reiteration to date that Britain is ready to fight for Poland's cause. It came sharp on the heels of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's guarantee to protect Danzig as well as Poland, plus offers of British credit to bolster Warsaw's rearmament.

But even this British stiffness has not deadened Prime Minister Chamberlain's yen for appeasement. Sir Nevile Henderson, ambassador to Berlin, was cautiously reported under instructions to "contact Hitler and find out just what his terms are for world peace." At the same time rumors floated through Fleet street about a huge British loan to Germany and return of the Reich's war-lost colonies in exchange for peace. If this was true, Poland may yet split with her faithless friends in London.

RELIEF: More Trouble

LITTLE WAR-Austrian German-speaking farmers in the Italian Tyrol refuse to be Italianized, yet refuse to be returned to Germany. A profitable tourist trade has been killed by Mussolini's order evicting foreigners from the Tyrol while he and Hitler "strong-arm" the Tyrolians into some sort of submission. Meanwhile Italy denies rumors that the area will be leased or ceded to Germany.

BIGGER WAR - Soviet-Japanese disputes in Manchukuo's Lake Bor region are minimized by a new dispute on Sakhalin island involving Japanese leases on Soviet coal and oil concessions. Sakhalin is owned half by Russia and half by Japan. When Soviet officials fined Jap concessionaires $112,000 for failure to fulfill obligations to Russian workers, Tokyo claimed its prestige had been insulted and demanded that fines be rescinded. Both nations stood their ground.

Just a Word of Praise For AAA Administrators

That I may not be accused of being a common scold, let me give the AAA administrators a word of praise just here. The soil building and soil conservation phases of the program likely are going to be valuable although I fail to understand why anybody thinks it is necessary to pay a farmer to keep his own land in good shape. But, skipping my own thoughts on that, there is justification for governmental interest in helping to restore soil on a national scale because our nation is going on for a number of years

Then, too, there is argument faencouragement in the planting of trees, a program of reforestation. There is, of course, that famous That Waste Must Be Paid For "parity" business. About 1775 he gave up the trade in the Mississippi valley and went up into Canada. He is said to have been the first white man to reach the Peace river country and when the North West company was organized in 1784 he was one of the shareholders. He helped wrest the valuable Chipewayan trade away from the Hudson's Bay company and he inspired the famous exploring expedition of Alexander Mackenzie to the Pacific. Pond sold out his interests in the North West company in 1790 and is said to have died in poverty a few years later.

'Thirty-Thirty' Jack

RACK in 1898, when Jack Pratt D was 26 years old, he left the States for Alaska and settled near Wrangell. There was no monotony in his far-north life-he became deep-sea diver, prospector, game hunter, "mountie," saloon-keeper and government agent. They called him "Thirty-Thirty" Jack after the rifle he carried instead of the usual six-shooter.

Up in Nome, for a while he went into partnership with Tex Rickard. the famous prize-fight promoter. Their business interests were centered solely in running a saloon, so instead of promoting fights, they were interested in stopping them. There, too, "Thirty-Thirty" knew many later notables including Rex Beach, Robert W. Service, Texas Guinan and Jack London,

A few months ago he made a trip to Chicago which was his first return to "civilization" in 38 years. He said he was disappointed, however, because, although 66 years old, he guesses he is still a pioneer at heart.

He returned to Wrangell and put on a big party to celebrate his "deliverance" from derby hats and other signs of formal living. @ Western Newspaper Union.

Mistrust of sound track reproduction of the notes of his beloved violin was joined with his repugnance to the elemental music he believed he would be called upon to play and, above all, was his objection to strutting the screen as an actor. So Goldwyn's success in overcoming the great musician's reluctance is now being proclaimed.

Yet, lying back of Heifetz's name on the dotted line of a Hollywood contract are various imponderable factors. His wife, for instance, who was Florence Vidor of screen fame, may have been the influence behind his first appearance on any stage in a histrionic capacity. This was last spring when he took the role of a hill-billy fiddler in the annual show of a sophisticated midtown club, of which he is a member. Garbed in overalls, cotton shirt and red wig topped by a broken down straw hat he played "Turkey in the Straw," violin upon his knees, as the time-honored jig tune has never before been played. And for an encore there was "Danny Boy."

So who can say that the siren voice of Sam Goldwyn was not merely the fanning of a flame lighted might have stepped out of one of when, with gusto and amid wild ac-Dumas' novels. When he was 21 claim, he sawed a violin lying across author from Roark Bradford's John Henry stories. There will be incidental music by Jacques Wolfe. One often marvels at events, apparently casual at time of occurrence, which are found significantly to have affected human lives and so shaped destinies. When Paul was a senior at Rutgers, where he had won high scholastic honors and gained for himself a national reputation as a football end, he was looking toward the cloth as a profession. His father was a clergyman in a small community in New Jersey and, from boyhood, Robeson's idea had been

"The highest you can ever get to be in your church is a bishop, isn't it?" Sanford asked and when Robeson said that was true, the coach fixed him with his compelling blue eyes. "And so you are going to enter a profession where, even as a bishop, you will have to borrow money to get from north Jersey to south Jersey."

That was all that was said. But next day Robeson came to his friend, confiding his intention to plump for the law and for voice. (Consolidated Features-WNU Service.)

Arriving in Ireland

An Irishman recently found fault with Stevenson's famous line to the effect that "it is better to travel hopefully than to arrive." He says that to arrive in Ireland is better than to travel hopefully, and quoted this couplet: "There's no land anywhere that men love every bit, Except old Ireland and the blue sky over it."
