German War Machine Invades Belgium and The Netherlands; Chamberlain Resigns His Post

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.

THE WAR: More Protection

Germany has respected the integrity of Belgium and the Netherlands under the self-evident condition that these two countries, in case of war between Germany and England and France, would observe the strictest neutrality.

When the news of the invasion reached Paris, French officials, acting in response to an appeal made by the Belgian ambassador, ordered the French army to march into Belgium.

Meanwhile President Roosevelt, upon learning of Hitler's latest war move, immediately summoned his cabinet officials and army and navy chiefs to plan America's course in light of this newest war development.

Anxious Days

Elsewhere nations were attempting to calculate the effect of Hitler's invasion of the low countries. The governments were cautious, the citizens—jittery.

NAMES . . . in the news

In France, Joan of Arc's name was in the news as soldiers and civilians joined in paying tribute to that nation's legendary heroine on the national holiday in her honor.

In Russia, of course, it was none other than Josef Stalin who had his name in the news as it was announced that Soviet union citizens read more of his literary works than the writings of any other author.

One year ago the submarine Squalus was a name in the news when she plunged to bottom of the sea carrying 26 men to death.

Speaking before the senate banking and currency subcommittee, Senator Sheridan Downey (Dem., Calif.) asserted that future U. S. prosperity depends on the hope of "forcing out" of banks and insurance companies excess savings not being put to productive use.

Another senator, Lewis O. Schwellenbach, was named as a federal district court judge when the senate approved his nomination made by President Roosevelt.

Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.) has suggested that Democrats carry out a similar plan.

Playing Ball In the baseball field, Walter "Big Train" Johnson, far-famed for his great pitching exploits with the Washington Senators several years back, made real progress in his drive to come back to Washington.

Former governor of Wisconsin, Philip F. LaFollette, warned in a Chicago address that it should be the end of democracy another war. He urges solving of internal economic problems as the greatest step in preserving society.

AMERICAN LETTERS:

No Sour Grapes Usually when the Pulitzer prizes for outstanding work in American letters are announced there descends upon the award committee a deluge of abuse from critics that would strike fear into the heart of the sturdiest of men.

John Steinbeck

This year experts in general agree that the committee has done well in making the following 1939 selections: Outstanding novel award to John Steinbeck for his "Grapes of Wrath"; original American play, William Saroyan, for his "The Time of Your Life"; book of history, Carl Sandburg for Lincoln, the War Years; Ray Stannard Baker received the award for the best American biography for writing, "Woodrow Wilson, Life and Letters"; and Mark Van Doren's "Collected Poems" was classed as the most distinguished volume of verse.

TRANSPORTATION: Pay As You Go

While the nation's vacation-minded populace was beginning to salt nickels and dimes away for two weeks of frolic come next summer, U. S. railroads presented a credit plan that will revolutionize long-distance rail travel.

Sixty-six major rail companies are participating in the plan which requires merely that the traveler call at the ticket office, apply for credit in the amount of cost for his proposed trip, wait 24 hours for the routine credit inquiry, and if this is approved he receives his ticket just as if cash was being paid.

HELPING HAND: Red Cross

Meeting in Washington for their annual national convention, members of the International Red Cross were read a letter written by President Roosevelt in which he pledged his support for any international agreement which indorsed condemnation of warring nations bombing noncombatants.

Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, reported that U. S. women had made over 2,000,000 garments and surgical dressings in response to demands for these articles from European nations.

EDUCATION: Frontiers

Long familiar with trite declarations that opportunity is unbounded, American youth seldom is given a concrete preview of the avenues through which it must make its way in this workaday world.

MISCELLANY:

Alcatraz prison is being modernized at a cost of over a million dollars, according to James V. Bennett, director of the federal bureau of prisons.

American exports to Latin American countries in the first six months of Europe's war increased 54 per cent, it was revealed in a report issued by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

Meanwhile, United States Steel corporation stockholders, holding their annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J., were told that the company's export trade had been neatly expanded during the war but the gain was "not traceable directly to the conflict."

If funds can be obtained the anti-trust division of the justice department is planning a "comprehensive prosecution" of the trade restraints in the food industry, judging from a statement issued by Thurman H. Arnold, assistant attorney general.

Stealing the Show? President Roosevelt's planned trip through the nation at the time of the Republican national convention might be an attempt to steal the headlines from that gathering in the opinion of William Bruckart, Washington correspondent.

War Is Likely to Be an Issue In National Political Campaign

President's Projected Trip at Time of Republican Convention May Provide Chance to 'Air' U. S. Foreign Policy.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—Whether we like it or not, it is now almost certain that the national government policy with relation to Europe's war will become an issue in the forthcoming national political campaign.

The Republican leadership seems to sense the trend of events. None to sense the trend of events. None to sense the trend of events. None to sense the trend of events.

Hamilton Wants Delegations Picked Early as Possible Scarcely had the Landon-Knox idea been blazoned across the sky when Mr. Hamilton announced that he had written all members of the Republican national committee and President May Visit Alaska If Europe's Condition Permits In addition, Mr. Roosevelt may go to Alaska. Whether he makes that trip depends entirely upon conditions in Europe, he has explained.

These plans are similar in intent. Moreover, they are grounded largely in the same soil, namely, uncertainty about the meaning of the Roosevelt "policies short of war."

It is never to be forgotten that the American people are easy to arouse. Their sympathies are quick. There certainly has been an earnest, unqualified demand, that the United States stay out—that the war is Europe's war and must be kept out there.

It appears unthinkable that Mr. Roosevelt, or any other person, would dare to propose measures that would take the United States into the conflagration.

The Republican leadership seems to sense the trend of events. None to sense the trend of events. None to sense the trend of events. None to sense the trend of events.

How far they will get depends upon the willingness of the bigwigs to make concessions to each other.

Science Finds Civilian Hazards Are Great as Those of Soldier

Comparing U. S. civilian hazards with those of a soldier in Europe, you'd be surprised how dangerous civilian life really is.

PICTURE PARADE

According to Northwest National Life Insurance company statistics, the above "average" is in as much danger as Finnish air raid victims.

Lady at left dry-cleaning with benzene, naphtha or gasoline has twice as risky a job as student pilots in army and navy training schools.

Above is a jolly party among the boys and girls. There are no drinks, but everyone is a little bit "high." It is estimated that under such conditions the driver's reactions are slowed approximately 50 per cent, which means that the car will travel five to forty feet farther before he acts in an emergency. On this basis, the Northwestern National study figures the driver and his passengers are under the same risk as if they were traveling on a contraband freighter.

When going through a stop sign, the driver's and passengers' chances of death are only 20 per cent less than those of British sailors serving in the North sea war zone. And the chance of death is four times as great as that of student pilots being trained by the U. S. army. The hazard to waylaid pedestrians is equally alarming, the study shows.

Early Locomotive Engineers
The engineer on the first steam locomotive in the United States was Horatio Allen, who agreed to make the trial trip of the Stourbridge Lion, August 8, 1825. The second was Peter Cooper, builder of the Baltimore and Ohio, August 28, 1830. The third engineer was Nicholas W. Durrill, who ran the "Best Friend of Charleston" on its trial trip, November 2, 1830.

Lutheran

IT'S a common thing today to say a person is a Lutheran, referring to one's religion. But when Martin Luther, more than four centuries ago, began to disagree with just a few of the beliefs of the established church, no one thought—especially Luther himself—that he was starting a new faith that millions would follow and call Lutheranism.

Martin Luther was born in Saxony in 1483 and given a very strict religious training. He became a priest when he was 25. Ten years later he challenged some of the teachings of his church. He had no intention of starting the Reformation or even of denying the supremacy of the chair of St. Peter. But the church made such an issue of his heresy—and he fought back so zealously—that finally, in 1520, Luther was excommunicated and his writings were burned at Rome, Cologne and Louvain. His answer was to burn the papal bull which excommunicated him and he was hailed as the champion of religious liberty.

From 1526 to 1529 he prepared a new church service, corresponding to his ideas of the doctrines of the gospel. The Reformation spread rapidly.

Wedgwood Ware

IF YOU are the owner of a prized piece of Wedgwood ware, you probably know that it's named for Josiah Wedgwood (1730-1795), the famous English potter. But do you know that, as an American, you have an even better reason for holding his name in grateful remembrance? For Wedgwood was a leader among the Englishmen who not only sympathized with the American colonies during the Revolution but did more than that. He distributed pro-American literature among his countrymen and helped build up such a strong sentiment against the war that the king and his ministers were willing to stop it after the capture of Cornwallis.

Wedgwood also contributed heavily to a fund which was raised in England to make easier the unhappy lot of Americans imprisoned there during the war and in a short time this amounted to nearly $500 per prisoner. We should also remember him gratefully because his portrait medallions of hundreds of important personages of his time (similar to the one illustrating this article) give us an idea, which we would not otherwise have, of the appearance of those notables.

Such were the services of this man who, despite the handicap of illness and a lack of education, not only "placed the hitherto undeveloped pottery industry of England on the pinnacle upon which it now stands," but was also a very great artist who belongs to all mankind.

Titian-Haired

IF ALL the authors who have described their pretty heroines as having titian hair were placed end to end and then asked to describe what they meant by titian, most of them would be out of luck.

Titian hair—or titian anything else, for that matter—is a color that characterizes many of the paintings of one of the world's greatest artists whose name was Titian. His full name was Tiziano Vecelli and he was born in the Venetian Alps in 1477.

The color which he was the first to put upon canvas and for which present authors take his name in vain, is a reddish-yellow and very vivid. The yellow is so prominent and the mixture so dazzling that girls who had that kind of hair would scare the heroes away.

Titian painted thousands of pictures and became very wealthy. He was more than 95 years old when he died.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK—It just happens that a specialist in bankruptcy law is the co-partner of General Trujillo of the Dominican Republic in installing the first of the European refugees in their island haven under the Trujillo plan. But, this specialist, John N. Rosenberg, New York lawyer, has, since the World War, been occupied with the large-scale human-race bankruptcy of war and famine in Europe, so he is entering a new field. He is president of the Dominican Resettlement association, which is co-operating with General Trujillo in what appears to be an absolutely unique experiment in giving 500 refugees a new start in the western world, with houses, roads, land, cattle and farm implements ready for them.

Mr. Rosenberg has helped liquidate and rebuild all sorts of financial and social wreckage, including Ivar Kreuger's International Match company. He is the author of "Corporate Reorganization and the Federal Courts," but he is also the author of another book called "Punchinello."

Fantasy, or at any rate, a play of the imagination, has occupied quite as much of his time as law and bankruptcy. He has painted hundreds of pictures, many of which are hung in good galleries, including the Fogg museum of Harvard. He is an etcher, lithographer and playwright, and Broadway has produced his plays. For six years he was associated with Kenneth MacGowan and Stark Young in backing the Provincetown theater. His short stories have appeared in many magazines. All this with time out to be counsel for the Irving Trust company.

The foregoing might suggest the activities of a trap-drummer. But he is, instead, leisurely and meditative, an easy-going pipe-smoker who always seems to have a lot of time on his hands. Another of his books is "Pastel Expression." He is busy in communal, civic and philanthropic enterprises and in the immediate post-war years was head of the American Joint Distribution Commission for Europe. This took him to Russia, and he wrote a book about that, too—"On the Steppes." If there is to be a general European receivership—financial and cultural—he might as well take over. He is a native of Allegheny, Pa., educated at Columbia university.

THIS decade, it appears, will feature flaming youth among college presidents. The recalcitrant and unorthodox, and comparatively young, Maynard Hutchins of Chicago and Stringfellow Barr of St. John's college are shelling the academic ramparts in their drive against what they consider outworn educational techniques. President James B. Conant of Harvard scores an assist in his observation that many college graduates can't read and write fluently, and Dr. Mary Ellen Chase, of Smith, finds undergraduates who don't know their ABCs. She says they find it difficult to use the dictionary because they don't know the alphabetical sequence of letters.

Messrs. Hutchins and Barr would scrap much of the present school curriculum and start rubbing in the great books of the ages, in which they find strong support by Mortimer J. Adler, with his challenging new book, "How to Read a Book."

In 1937, Mr. Barr burned his bridges behind him, when he and young Scott Buchanan, dean of St. John's, started their revolution. A native of Suffolk, Va., Mr. Barr attended the University of Virginia, was a Rhodes scholar and pursued post-graduate studies in Paris and at the University of Ghent, Belgium. He was in the ambulance service in the World War and taught at the Universities of Virginia and Chicago before becoming president of St. John's.

In the earlier days of the Nazi movement, young Josef Terboven of Essen was up against stiff competition in intemperate language, but he was gifted in that line, was advanced rapidly, and is now rewarded by the post of commissioner of German-held areas in Norway. For several years he headed the department of throwing a scare into small countries. He was governor of the Rhine Province.

Born in Essen in 1898, he attended Freiberg and Munich universities, worked as a bank clerk, and joined the Nazi movement in its early stages. He is a cloistered, bespectacled, unsmiling man, singularly endowed with the capacity for threat and invective. Like many other such specialists he is not physically impressive. Al Jennings, the retired train robber, once cited for this writer 15 or 20 standouts in the killing trade who were runts. "Look out for the little guy when he gets mad," he said. "He's a mean talker and maybe a killer."

SOMETHING NEW AND DIFFERENT (See Recipes Below)

Serve with whipped cream or with hard sauce.

New Recipes for Your File

"Something old and something new" is just as important in menus as it is in a bride's costume. It's a good idea, when you plan to experiment with something entirely new, to include in that meal one dish you know the family is really keen about. For instance, if the dessert is something very new and different, be sure that the main dish of your meal is one that's familiar and well-liked.

And, it's an excellent idea, when most of a meal is composed of family favorites, to include one new dish for a touch of variety. It may be a cut of meat that you haven't used before, prepared in an unusual manner; or perhaps it will be a vegetable that's new and strange to you; or it might be just an out-of-the-ordinary conserve or relish to supplement last summer's supply, which, by this time is probably running very low.

You'll find, here, an assortment of recipes for foods that are unusual and delicious. There's a new way of preparing shoulder of beef—in one of those easy casserole dishes you like to serve, where you don't want to spend too much time in the kitchen; serve the Baked Shoulder Steak with baked or scalloped potatoes, buttered green beans and rhubarb pie, and watch your family beam!

"Pork chop treat" served with a crisp, chilled salad of lettuce, apples, and dates, needs only a beverage, bread and a favorite dessert to make a completely satisfying meal; and if you want to please the man of the family in any kind of weather, serve "pork chops delicious" with cheese biscuits, a simple green salad, lemon meringue pie and coffee.

Pork Chops Delicious. (Serves 4)

1 cup tomato puree
1 green pepper (minced)
1 clove garlic (grated)

Brown chops and on each chop place one slice of onion, then a tablespoon of rice (uncooked). Season with salt and pepper. Add water, cover and steam for 1/2 hour. Then top with tomato puree, mixed with the green pepper and garlic. Return to steamer and cook until rice is tender (about 30 minutes longer).

Cherry Roll.
Biscuit dough (2 cups flour recipe)
1 No. 2 can cherries
1/4 cup light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon lemon rind (grated)

Thrill for Bride in Planning New Home

By ELIZABETH MACRAE BOYKIN

There's a great thrill for the bride in the practical side of settling down in the new home, in decorating it to her heart's desire. For she is trying to make it symbolize all that she means her new life to express.

One smart bride, eager to make no basic mistakes in planning her new home, collected the following tips in a scrapbook she'd been working on for years. Because they turned out to be reliable guides, she has passed them along:

In a small house or apartment, follow one color theme throughout. This may be varied by accent colors in different rooms, but a simple palette will give the entire place a sense of unity and tranquility.

Keep the scale of the furniture in proportion to the size of the room. Don't fill the room too full of furniture. The same goes for accessories. Color is the cheapest ingredient

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble. Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement. If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such as one as the cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

*MORE THAN BIG-

it's big in the right places!

Inside the car, where bigness really counts, you find a Ford V-8 extra "big for its size." Big by any measure, it's especially so at the important comfort points shown below. Check them now, then come in and try a Ford. It's got a lot of things like this that are just too good to miss!

A Measured from windshield to rear window, a Ford Sedan is 100 1/4 inches... this is longer than in a number of much higher-priced cars today!

B Kneeroom for rear-seat passengers in a Ford is considerably greater than that of any other car in its price class!

C With its compact V-type engine, the Ford is designed to carry rear-seat passengers farther ahead of the rear spring than any other car at this price—toward the center of the car where riding quality is best!

SURPRISING is the word for a 1940 Ford! Surprising because it gives so much you wouldn't expect at its low price. Surprising all-round performance, as proved when it won the big 3700-mile Argentine Grand Prize Road Race. Surprising gas economy, as proved when it gave most miles per gallon of all standard-equipped cars at its price in the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run. Surprising in its big-car ride and room. Surprising in its long, long list of truly fine-car features. Come in today and get to know a Ford V-8!

This year talk "Trade" with your Ford Dealer first!

'Call My Name—'

By AMY CAMPBELL
(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

JIM FARLEY AND BASEBALL
JIM FARLEY, chairman of the Democratic national committee and postmaster general, is reported among others interested in an attempt to buy the New York Yanks. Jim is reported in some quarters as declining to comment and in others as denying the story, but we can all understand how, after the last seven years, it would seem to him to be out where it wasn't necessary to depend on rumor to find who was pitching.

Jim was a baseball player in his youth back in Haverstraw, N. Y., and all his experience since must have convinced him more than once that one inning in the diamond is more refreshing than decades in politics.

For one thing the rules remain the same. Nobody thinks it would be better if the player got four strikes instead of three, there are no suggestions that three balls should entitle a player to walk, and nowhere is it proposed that all unemployed shortstops be sent to a Federal Shortstop Camp.

Jim has announced that his name will positively go before the Democratic convention as a candidate for the presidency. He would have two strikes on all the other candidates if he could bring the Yanks into the convention hall.

What chance would a candidate depending wholly on a voice, a program and a record have against one who could face the convention with the Number One ball club, a host of loyal rooters and a new type of windup?

We can even see Jim in the White House, getting the people's minds back to baseball and away from slumps, economic experiments and programs to remodel society. We can see him with Bill Dickey replacing Secretary Ickes, Frank Crosetti on Harry Hopkins' job and Charlie Ruffing playing Madam Perkins' old position.

Jim, as a real baseball man, would have a deep regard for the Immortal Bambino, the former Yank star, and would perhaps get the Babe on the bench of the Supreme court. He would see that the NLRB got at least some pitchers with a change of pace. And he would stop anybody in the administration from using the "bean ball" deliberately.

He might retain the fireside chat idea, but if so he would include the baseball scores and a short talk on the league situation.

And—who can tell?—he might arrange to have Joe DiMaggio write "My Day."

CAMPAIGN YEAR
Last night I heard upon the air a candidate who wasn't there; He wasn't there again today—I wish that he would go away.

Advance models of the new spring and summer hats for women are here. Don't say you weren't warned!

The attitude of Europe is, "Of course we want peace, but somebody has got to suffer for it."

Police Commissioner Valentine of New York urges his traffic police-men to be more polite to motorists. He says the days when they could bark, "Hey! Where's the fire?" are over. Well, this department thinks he is wrong. Motorists have become accustomed to the rough approach. They have even perfected their answers. There is a certain excitement in wondering how tough a cop will be. The day when a motorcycle cop says sweetly, "Pardon me, but would you mind pulling over to the curb? I have an idea you have broken the speed regulations, sir," we will get even. We will stop speeding. So there!

Washington is said to be considering a return to the gold standard. There comes a time when the business of using it only for the purpose of decorating a hole in the ground becomes at least monotonous.

The revolt is being led by the Broadway Association of New York, which asks the city to ban radios in cabs this summer in New York on the ground there are squeaks enough in any cab.

STREET SCENE
Two fellows were all over the gutter in a terrific fist fight. They rolled and struggled and twisted, fighting with fists, feet, arms, legs and even teeth. "What's all the row?" asked a bystander. "They're protecting each other," replied the cop, a constant European war news reader.

There was this about the last war: you could at least tell what nations were NOT in it.

The circus reports business up 20 per cent this season. Why not? A circus is one of the few places where a man can hide away from all the troubles of these days.

Airplane pilots who do not live in New York must pay the state an income tax based on the hours they are over New York territory, between Jersey and LaGuardia field. Just another indication of the fact this is the screwiest of all possible worlds.

Excusable
"Why did you refuse to answer that man who asked you how you were going to vote?" "Because he wasn't looking for information. He was only trying to start an argument."

CHAPTER XIV

"If you do not want me—"
"Oh!" The sight of her distress unnered him; his love was at his very lips. But he could not say anything without saying everything. When they reached the hotel it was so late that he had no more than time to make his train, and she less than time to dress for the Opera, which begins at seven in Vienna.

So their good-by was a mere exchange of hearty promises to meet again, and a short hand-grip in the crowded hotel corridor.

Of course, that evening sister Jennie let slip an allusion to the pathetic affliction of poor Dr. Jebb, thinking Miruma knew of it; and of course from her before they parted.

As she crept into her bed her heart was full of pity for her beloved, wrestling like another Jacob with a ghostly enemy, but her heart rejoiced, too, with a radiant happiness, since now her intuition told her that this, and no other cause or person, was the reason for his asperity with her.

Also in Pest there is a Hotel Bristol, and Jebb woke there the next morning. He had not been long in Budapest before he learned that the Margit-Szigel was, as Miruma had imagined, an island in English, Margaret's Island. But, though it

CHAPTER XV

After much parley, Checkless pieced together the man's fragmentary story into this narrative:

"He says one day in the afternoon, you are here at a nice little gymrek—child, and he makes notice of her, she is so pretty, and she loves his flowers so. He cannot understand it at all, but he loves her because she is so lovin' and sick, and you sit on a bench and go like you take a little sleep."

"The little girl she plays all the time and talks with the gardener. He does not know what lengthwise she speaks it, but they make signs and become grand friends. She helps him trim the rosehedge, and gets vit the thorns stuck, but it is very brave and does not make a cryink. Instead she makes such a laughink!"

"Soon a lady and gentleman is sit on another bench and watches the little girl, and they call her and she talks by them. But they are not understanding her either. The man is take her on his lap and lets her listen his watch, and they tell the gardener they weesh God had to them a little child gave like that."

"Long time the child plays here, and then she makes a looking for you. But you are not there. You had gone out of sight. The little girl is afraid, but she tries not to cry. The lady and gentleman stay a long while to keep her brave, for they say all the time you surely come back. Then the lady and gentlemen say, 'We take her to our house and if you see the man you tell him we got the child.'"

"The gardener says, 'You better tell the police, too.' And they say, 'Yes, they tell the police; but all the same they like to keep the baby.'"

"Long times go by and the gardener is almost forgotten it all. When today comes you again and he has got such a big mad at you he wants to fight it. It is curious; you are looking for a child and you look like a mans vat looses a child."

"I am the man," said Jebb; "I was—ill, and I wandered away in a—sort of delirium. When I came to my senses I was in another country, and I couldn't remember."

Checkless almost swooned at so much history in such essence.

"So! Den all yet got to do it is to find the gentlemen and lady vat keeps the child in cold storach and say: 'Here we are again.'"

"We must find them at once. What was their name?"

On hearing the question translated, the gardener made them wait while he went to the tool-house and brought from his coat a soiled and wrinkled card bearing this, and this only:

Checkless pieced together the man's fragmentary story.

split the Danube, it lay so far to the north that he could not see it from his window.

He took his breakfast at one of the coffee-houses on the promenade, one of the coffee-houses that have never closed since they first opened. It gave Jebb untold relief to find English the favorite language of the town, the affection of the Magyar. He had not finished his breakfast when a man at the next table addressed him in a rather thick dialect and introduced himself as a fellow-American, though his name was unpronounceable, even when he handed Jebb his card with a legend like a line of pied type:

Georgy Czeklesz.

He asked Jebb to call him "George Checkless" for short and for easy. He explained, without being asked, that he had been swept into America on one of those tidal waves that nearly depopulated many a Hungarian village; he had become naturalized, had prospered, and returned to his country with Yankee ideas.

After some desultory conversation Mr. Checkless rose with a:

"Excuse, please. I got to go and hear de newspaper."

"Hear the newspaper!"

"Sure. Ve got a telephone newspaper. Ain't you heard him? Come listen once."

He led Jebb to a telephone-like affair on the wall and putting the receiver to Jebb's ear watched while Jebb listened to a clear voice spilling consonants lavishly:

"You don't understand it? No? Let me listen."

He took Jebb's place and a startled expression came over him.

"Dere goes anudder bunch of dough for me. Prooklyn Rapid Transit closed two points off last night in New York."

Checkless repeated more news:

"Now the newspapers say the Kink of England comes to Carlsbad next mont'. Now he names de odds on de horse-races dis afternoon."

But Jebb was not interested in Hungarian horse-races. Jebb had a curiosity to see this Margaret's Island where he and Cynthia had been together. Here George Checkless took pleasure in acting as a heavy hater. They crossed the huge emerald set in the tarnished gold of the Danube.

He found himself in a rose garden and here as his nostrils widened over the fragrance, his arm was suddenly clutched by a peasant, evidently a gardener, who bombarded him with a shower of gutturals which he supposed to be peasant Hungarian.

"What's the matter with the old boy?" Jebb asked Checkless. "Does he think I'm going to carry off his garden?"

At length the interpreter interpreted: "He says how dare you came here."

"Isn't it a public garden?"

"Yes, but he says that you came here a mont' or so ago and bringed a little girl vit you, and then walk off and leave her to strangers to protect."

To Checkless' amazement to fill Jebb's accusation seemed to fill Jebb with delight. He embraced the earth-smudged gardener and treated him as a long-lost prodigal.

CECIL B. DE MILLE

(Released by Western Newspaper Union)

CECIL B. DE MILLE has a tip and a challenge—but not an invitation—for young men who can act. He urges them to come to Hollywood, though he's not promising them a thing.

"Hollywood today is suffering from a serious shortage of leading men," he declared recently. "Not just handsome 'glamour boys,' but good looking, fine-acting, upstanding men. There are only a few here—not one-quarter of the number we need—and those few are in such terrific demand that sometimes they're almost impossible to get."

You see, he'd had trouble in casting two of the three male leads in "North West Mounted Police," in which Madeleine Carroll and Paulette Goddard are the leading women. Difficulty in getting men to play opposite those two girls! He wanted Robert Preston, and that was simple enough; Preston is a De Mille discovery. But it took months to get Gary Cooper on a loan-out from Samuel Goldwyn, to whom he is under contract—exactly ten other producers were after the rangy Cooper at that time.

He needed another leading man, one convincing in strength and acting ability, to be Cooper's rival for Madeleine Carroll's hand. It took another three months before he could fill that part with Preston Foster. Whereupon he decided that there weren't nearly enough good looking young he-man actors in Hollywood.

(To any young man thinking of accepting Mr. De Mille's challenge we suggest that you first prove to yourself that you can act and also prove that you have money enough to support you for a long, long time. It took John Carradine three years, as Mr. De Mille pointed out, to get a hearing.)

Mrs. Fred MacMurray is studying book binding, and her first efforts will be bindings for all the scripts Fred has done in pictures. We could make suggestions for the proper material in which to bind one or two of them, but she might not like them—and anyway, it's not an actor's fault if he finds himself working in a bad one.

It's the Metropolitan Opera company that succeeded in signing up Deanna Durbin; her debut with that famous organization is scheduled for the 1941-42 season, but she may make her operatic debut this fall with the Los Angeles or San Francisco opera companies.

Edwin C. Hill, noted news commentator, has installed in his office a teletype machine carrying transcripts of all European broadcasts. Many of the broadcasts transcribed are intended by European and Asiatic governments for home consumption, and afford an invaluable sidelight on conditions within the various countries. Mr. Hill also has his own staff of correspondents in important cities, and is served by a leading press association.

It was Andre Kostelanetz, well-known orchestra conductor ("Tune Up Time" is his radio program) and husband of Lily Pons, who initiated the campaign for a United States stamp honoring Stephen Foster. It is the first stamp honoring an American composer, and as it is a one-cent stamp probably we'll all be using it. When the postmaster general notified him that it was to be issued, Kostelanetz promptly arranged a special Stephen Foster medley of six of the most beloved Foster songs, for "Tune Up Time," with Tony Martin singing them.

During the last two years the Lakeland, Fla., home of Frances Langford, top-flight songstress, has been transformed into a money-making citrus farm; she financed it, and her father acts as manager.

ODDS AND ENDS

Basil Rathbone's West Highland terrier drank a pan of water containing a vitamin solution for flowers; he'll burst into bloom any day now.

Jean Hersholt and Rosemary DeCamp will journey to New York the latter part of May, to broadcast "Dr. Christian" there for three weeks.

Patricia Morrison, who's lost thirteen pounds during the past three weeks, says it's because each day she drank three glasses of buttermilk with a tablespoonful of lemon juice in each one.

Norma Shearer, Robert Taylor and Paul Lukas will have leading roles in the screen version of that swell story, "Escape."

When Ellen Drew decided to travel to New York for the opening of Jack Benny's "Buck Benny Rides Again," her doctor advised her to stay in bed all the way across the continent.

Dorothy Lamour's Honolulu vacation gave her her first sight of the tropics outside a movie studio; another tropical picture, "Blue Lagoon," was scheduled to start as soon as she got back.

CECIL B. DE MILLE

which Madeleine Carroll and Paulette Goddard are the leading women. Difficulty in getting men to play opposite those two girls! He wanted Robert Preston, and that was simple enough; Preston is a De Mille discovery. But it took months to get Gary Cooper on a loan-out from Samuel Goldwyn, to whom he is under contract—exactly ten other producers were after the rangy Cooper at that time.

He needed another leading man, one convincing in strength and acting ability, to be Cooper's rival for Madeleine Carroll's hand. It took another three months before he could fill that part with Preston Foster. Whereupon he decided that there weren't nearly enough good looking young he-man actors in Hollywood.

(To any young man thinking of accepting Mr. De Mille's challenge we suggest that you first prove to yourself that you can act and also prove that you have money enough to support you for a long, long time. It took John Carradine three years, as Mr. De Mille pointed out, to get a hearing.)

Mrs. Fred MacMurray is studying book binding, and her first efforts will be bindings for all the scripts Fred has done in pictures. We could make suggestions for the proper material in which to bind one or two of them, but she might not like them—and anyway, it's not an actor's fault if he finds himself working in a bad one.

It's the Metropolitan Opera company that succeeded in signing up Deanna Durbin; her debut with that famous organization is scheduled for the 1941-42 season, but she may make her operatic debut this fall with the Los Angeles or San Francisco opera companies.

Week Days' Names

Names of the days of the week are derived from Saxon idology. Adoring seven of their various deities more particularly than all the rest, the Saxons dedicated the days of the week to them, namely: The Sun, the Moon, Tuisto (sire of Germans as well as Saxons), Woden (father of gods and god of war), Thor (eldest son of Woden), Friga (wife of Woden and mother of gods), and Saeter (the Roman Saturnus.—Pathfinder.

We doubt if those with "Ph. D." after their names are as happy as we are when we see "Pd." before the names of our creditors.

The smiling, confident young man stepped up to the bank manager's desk.

"Good day, sir," he said. "Have you any need for a highly intelligent and trained man just out of college?"

"Well," said the manager, "what kind of a position are you seeking?"

"I want something in the executive line," replied the young man. "Say a vice presidency."

"I'm really sorry," said the manager sarcastically, "but we have twelve vice presidents."

"Oh, that's all right," came the eager response. "I'm not afraid of thirteen."
