Wedding Bells Ring Out For June Brides

In a solemn nuptial high mass read by the Rev. Philip J. Vogt at St. Bridget's Catholic church near Kewaskum at eight o'clock Tuesday morning, June 11, Miss Monica Diers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Diers of Grandville, Iowa, became the bride of Henry Marks, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marks of Hubertus. The bride was engaged as teacher at the St. Bridget's school before her marriage.

Attending the bride for the ceremony were her sister, Miss Agnes Diers, as maid of honor, and Miss Loretta Steger, a niece of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. The bridegroom was attended by his nephew, Donald Schoenke, and Sylvester Diers, brother of the bride.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of dainty white lace and net for her marriage. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and sweet peas. Her maid of honor wore a pink embroidered organdie gown and her shoulder length veil was held in place by a coronet of flowers. The bridesmaid was similarly attired and both carried colonial bouquets of pink briar roses and blue larkspur.

SCHEID-SCHEURMAN

Miss Valeria G. Scheid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Scheid, and Buel J. Scheurman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thieves Break Into Rex Garage; Escape With Loot Worth $70

Thieves broke into the Rex Garage on Fond du Lac avenue, owned by A. A. Perschbacher, sometime early last Saturday morning and stole tires and batteries valued at about $70. The thieves gained entrance to the building by knocking out a window in the rear of the garage and crawling through the opening. An inventory taken by Mr. Perschbacher showed that six tires and seven new Exide batteries were removed from the place.

The exact time of the robbery is not known although it is thought to have been just before daybreak as neighbors reported having heard noises then. Mr. Perschbacher failed to notice the broken window when he opened up in the morning but noticed a number of batteries were missing. When his son, Myron, who is employed by his father, arrived, Mr. Perschbacher inquired whether he had sold the batteries the night before. Myron said he had not and when the two looked around they discovered the missing panes of glass.

The glass was broken quite neatly but evidently one of the thieves cut his hand in doing so as drops of blood were found on the floor. Further evidence was discovered in the rest room where there was more blood. Here the thief washed the wound as was shown by the paper towels stained with blood. Apparently the intruders made no attempt to rob the cash register as it seemed not to have been touched.

Chief of Police Geo. Brandt and Traffic Officer Brandt were called to investigate. They sent out a call over the county police radio and Undersheriff Ollie Loehen and Traffic Officer George Brugger of Washington county and Traffic Captain Anton Rafenstein of Fond du Lac county arrived. However, it was too long after the robbery to trail the guilty ones. The investigations of the above officers showed that there were two men. It had rained hard Friday night and their tracks could be seen in the soft ground. The thieves carried their loot through the window and then through the back yards of the Perschbacher and N. W. Rosenheimer homes. They returned to the street by crossing the A. L. Rosenheimer Sr. lawn and probably deposited the tires and batteries into a waiting automobile there. In their hurry or because of being frightened they left one battery in a shrubbery on the A. L. Rosenheimer lawn where it was found by officers. The bed also revealed footprints. One tire, too large for the opening in the window was left behind.

Mr. Perschbacher stated that two strangers had come to the garage the previous evening and purchased a used tire after looking the place over. Whether they had any connection with the robbery is not known. Several suspects were questioned the past week but so far the thieves have not been caught.

MILLER'S BUILDING NEW FUNERAL HOME ADDITION

Men are at work building an addition to Miller's Funeral Home in the Rosenheimer addition. While interviewing Mr. Miller he informed the writer that although they have a modern funeral home he finds that he needs more room both for his funeral parlors and residence. Work was started this week and before the summer is over the public will be able to inspect this beautiful enlarged home. Most of the changes are being made on the rear of the building so the present funeral parlors are ready for use at all times.

BINDER-FRUEBENBACH

Bouquets of peonies and bridal wreath decorated the St. Martin's church at Fillmore at 3:00 p. m. Saturday, June 8, for the marriage of Miss Dorena Binder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Binder of Boltonville, and Alfred Truebenbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Truebenbach of Fredonia. The Rev. W. Jones Schmidt read the nuptial service. Music was rendered by the choir of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white silk mousseline de sole in redingote style with puffed sleeves, high neckline and lace. A halo of rhinestones and seed pearls held her long white silken veil. She carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, white sweet peas and ferns.

Mrs. Gilbert Kraetsch, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. She wore a gown of pale yellow silk mousseline de sole in redingote style. The dress had a square neckline, puffed sleeves and was edged in lace. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow tea roses, orchid sweet peas and ferns and wore matching flowers and ribbons in her hair.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony and in the evening. Supper was served to the immediate families. The home was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and white, yellow, pink and blue crepe paper.

The couple left on a two weeks' honeymoon to Minnesota and northern Wisconsin. On their return they will reside at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Farnham F. Dudgeon

Full Strength of German Army Hits New French Defense Line; First Nazi Bombs Fall on Paris

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

In Madrid, Spanish students, no doubt prompted by Rome and Berlin, recently staged demonstrations urging return of Gibraltar, world's greatest fortress, from English control to Spain.

More War: Big Push With the same deadly technique that has humbled Poland, Scandinavia, Luxembourg, The Netherlands and Belgium, Adolf Hitler turned from his "triumph" in Flanders to launch a mighty drive through central France—aimed directly at that nation's capital, Paris.

As usual this technique included the thousands of well-equipped troops, supported by the now-famous and highly feared dive bombers, strongly armored tanks and the mightiest of heavy artillery.

Full strength of the drive struck at the heart of the French line which stretches across 200 miles of French soil along the Somme and Aisne rivers. This line of troops, under the command of Gen. Maxime Weygand, was hastily bolstered while the Nazis were busy with their attack on the British and French forces escaping from the Flanders battlefield via Dunkirk and the English channel.

For from London came word that for the time being France would be forced to bear the brunt of the German attack as the English in escaping the Nazi trap in Flanders, following Belgium's capitulation, had been forced to leave behind huge stores of equipment. Until these could be replaced the British army could do little to help their allies on the continent.

Wings Over Paris

Not only were the German bombers doing their work on the battlefield—they penetrated much further than the troops. For the long expected bombing attack on Paris was carried out.

Evidently the first air raid was not aimed at the city itself but at airports and other military objectives on its outskirts. Even French officials admitted that it did not look like the "bombing of an open city" and while they promised to repay Germany, bomb for bomb, their attacks would also be directed at strategic military points, they added.

In this first raid about 1,000 persons were killed, at least that many Running Mate?

Prime favorite in the current vice presidential nomination stakes for President Roosevelt's running mate (should he "choose to run") is Sen. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. It is understood that the President made definite overtures to the senator to become his partner on the ticket during a conference on a recent Potomac cruise.

STARS AND STRIPES: Salute

If state laws so require, U. S. school children must salute the American flag, according to a decision handed down by the Supreme court. Reasoning: The flag symbolizes a national unity—which transcends all internal differences—religious or otherwise.

In the little coal mining town of Moweaqua, Ill., four men, said to be members of a religious sect known as "Jehovah's Witnesses," were rescued from a group of aroused citizens who threatened violence after one of the four allegedly defamed "Old Glory."

In Waxahatchie, Texas, 90 members of a religious sect were jailed after attempting distribution of literature described as of "a pacifist nature." Officials were forced into action after a deluge of phone calls objecting to the literature which urged non-allegiance to "man-made" government.

PAN-AMERICA: Mr. Dies Goes South

Rep. Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating im-American activities, announced that his probe will be extended to take in all of the 21 American republics. This news reflects congressional concern over reports reaching Washington that German fifth columnists are active in South America.

Closest co-operation with other Western hemisphere nations is being sought, he added.

Indelible

Voters of the Republic of Panama turned out in record numbers to elect Dr. Arnulfo Arias as their next president. This election had taken on particular significance because of reports that the government had nipped an abortive scheme to disrupt the election and turn the day into an occasion for a revolution.

Dr. Arnulfo Arias

In addition, the other presidential candidate, one Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, leader of the oppositionist popular front, withdrew his name at the last moment and urged his backers not to vote as they were being denied the right of franchise. Just what he meant wasn't exactly clear but one thing was certain. Election officials were taking no chances on "repeaters" voting. Each voter had to present his identification certificate and have his forefinger dipped in indelible ink.

POLITICS: Clear Field

As the roar of Europe's war becomes louder, its effect upon the American political scene is daily becoming more pronounced. In the main, it has been most decidedly felt in the Democratic party, where party leaders feel these war conditions will surely "force" President Roosevelt to seek a third term.

It appears that he has the nomination of his party safely tucked away should he want it. Paul McNutt has withdrawn from the opposition; Vice President Garner is quiet and his boom apparently has fizzled; Senator Wheeler of Montana has said, "It looks like Roosevelt."

AGRICULTURE: Prospects

June cash income for U. S. farmers is estimated to remain at about the same figure for the month as in the past two years—$600,000,000—according to current reports of the department of agriculture.

While prices of several important farm commodities have hit the skids and declined sharply in recent weeks, due to influence of war on the markets, no startling losses will be evidenced currently in the farmer's income.

Grain prices now are about 30 cents per bushel lower than last year at this time.

Favorable growing weather last month has forced experts to raise their estimates of winter wheat production to 469,000,000 bushels. With the spring wheat areas reporting similar good crop conditions this commodity is now estimated to yield a crop of 234,000,000 bushels. This indicates a total wheat production of 723,000,000 bushels, or about 25,000,000 bushels above annual domestic requirements. Last year, 755,000,000 bushels were harvested.

National Preparedness Drive Encounters Political Bickering

Washington Correspondent Sees Defense Program Being Turned 'Into a Vehicle for Selfish Use'; Racketeering Labor Leaders Climb on Bandwagon.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—It is exceedingly difficult to maintain a balanced viewpoint in the national capital these days. War hysteria is flowing at higher tide than in any other city center of the plans for a great and proper national defense scheme.

Former President Herbert Hoover disagreed, as did a considerable number of representatives and senators, with some passages of the defense program. The President sought to quiet them all by making another speech—a fireside chat.

Two days after Mr. Hoover's radio speech, Assistant Secretary Johnson, of the war department, went on the air with a "reply" to Mr. Hoover.

At least, the copy which came to me was on the stationery of the committee. I do not mean to say that either the President or Mr. Johnson should not defend the program which is their responsibility.

In addition to the Roosevelt-Hoover interlude, any observer must have seen the deluge of propaganda coming from various places in the government.

On top of this situation, comes another request from President Roosevelt for congress to appropriate additional money. He started out by asking something over a billion dollars. One hundred million of this was to be turned over to him, personally.

One hears and sees how the defense program is being speeded. One naturally offers commendation. But hardly is that applause given when through the cracks and the crevices comes the information that politics is preying upon the whole scheme.

Those needs may be genuine. Army and navy people tell me—and they ought to know—that we have no army that is "ready to go," ready to carry on if we are attacked. But those same army and navy experts said this was not a new condition.

Strangely, the request for additional money did not reach congress until newspapers throughout the country began calling attention to the total cost involved in the President's call for 50,000 new planes.

Behind and beneath all of these things that are to be deplored is the creeping and gnawing of the termites who would be most happy to destroy our form of government.

So, a tax bill is proposed. A decision is made to issue "defense bonds" which would be paid off by the "defense" taxes that have been proposed, and the job will have been done in five years.

Let us begin with some details of the politics of the situation as it has existed now for several weeks. We should begin at the top. President Roosevelt is not less guilty than many of his supporters in the matter of playing politics.

The President's speech to congress was a good speech, a speech that should have aroused a sleepy nation. It did. But there were some parts of it about which there could be, and was, disagreement.

With the national drive for U. S. defense gathering steam, the unnecessary element of politics is rearing its ugly head, according to William Bruckart.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS Standing on a heavy rug on the ber mat will go a long way toward preventing fatigue during long periods of ironing. Cakes or cookies in which butter is used as a sweetening require rather moderate temperature in baking. Ice cubes or desserts are frozen faster in a mechanical refrigerator if a quarter-cup of water is poured on the freezing surface before the trays are put in place.

THOSE RADIO TAXICABS

There's another revolt in the offing. This time it's against radios in taxicabs. No man can serve two masters and no taxicab driver can do justice to three traffic lights and four or five radio programs.

A public cab should be a conveyance and not a loud speaker with hot brakes and loose fenders.

There is no reason why a man who wants to cross town in a hurry should be obliged to ride with a swing orchestra, a cooking program or a couple of radio comedians.

The taxicab companies insist that the customers prefer radio hacks. They say the riders regard an outside aerial as more important to transportation than four-wheel brakes. But this correspondent doubts it. He thinks the ride is tough enough without the incidental static.

For every cab fare who wants to hear "Oh, Johnny," "Town Hall Tonight" or the United States Marine Band while taking sharp corners on two wheels, there are at least ten who prefer to do their rough riding unaccompanied by symphony orchestras, radio tenors and masters of ceremonies.

It has sprung to the rescue of a long-suffering public with a demand that taxi driving by car be forbidden, and that the hose be turned on the quaint notion that there isn't noise enough in a big city without radios in taxicabs.

The drivers won't give up without a battle, however. They contend that their lives are a drab without music, wise cracks, hints on how to prepare a shrimp salad and a voice shouting from somewhere every five minutes, "Right, Miss Turpey! 100 per cent right! Lincoln's first name was Abraham, and you win five silver dollars!"

They insist that, with or without passengers, they are entitled to the full companionship of the Radio Corporation of America. If that contention is sound then a paper hanger is entitled to use his portable radio while papering your living room and a doctor is justified in listening to the Bison City Quartet while discussing your symptoms.

This department is also mildly opposed to radios in private automobiles. Driving is hazardous enough in modern traffic without giving the driver three extra switches, another glass dial and a lot of additional noises to worry over.

WAR NOTE

The servants are listening to the broadcasts all night and both German and French cooking is in a severe slump—in fact, it's terrible. That's why you see so many familiar faces dining out on families.

R. ROELOFS JR.

A telling commentary on the contrast in living on two continents came over the radio the other day. "The French, commander," the voice said, "has called on all men to die at their posts rather than retreat. The fate of the world is at stake," he declared. "Warneke now rubs a new ball. The count is three and two."

Information, Please! Speaking of Leap Year, Haven't I heard It's the early worm That catches the "bird"? Marjorie Lederer.

Roosevelt is still reported as considering Mayor LaGuardia of New York for vice president. Well, anyhow, the attempt to make Fiorello play second fiddle anywhere, any time would make one of the great radio features of all time.

A big airport recently went into bankruptcy. In selling stock for an airport is anybody ever offered a chance to get in on the ground floor?

Some candidates for the presidency are so full of intolerance, partisanship and bias that you could speak of them as tossing their "hates into the ring."

"Do you remember," asks Wallace Cox, "when 'German Lieder' meant a group of songs?"

The red rose whispers of passion. The white rose whispers of love. But the flower show roses whisper, "Don't elbow! Don't push! Don't shove!"

Germany is building a fleet of midget subs. Something that can be called "Babe" by that old sentimentalist, Hitler.

Speaking of the census, Obstreperous Oscar says it definitely gives the country everything from snoop to nuts.

Springtime Is Season of Joy And Zest for Wild Creatures

With Nature in Her Gayest Mood, Animals Enjoy Their Own Games and Frolics.

SPRINGTIME in the wilds is playtime. The majority of our mammals have their young in the early months of the year, and in April and May it is possible to watch the most delightful games among the puppies of the fields. Badger, fox and otter cubs are very playful little creatures. The otter and badger appear to have a certain amount of method in their games, but fox cubs simply romp among themselves in a wild abandon.

On a sloping sand cliff near my home seven fox cubs came out of a large hole; on the ledge just outside they played with a round stone, pushing it with their feet, tossing it in the air and allowing it to run down the slope.

When tired of this they played a game which resembled "Follow the Leader." One would run forward, dodge and leap over all kinds of imaginary obstacles, and the others would follow in its tracks; then all would roll together in a rough and tumble, in which their small teeth would tug at the fur of their companions.

Bouncing Badgers. Young badgers are among the most amusing cubs to watch at play. With their bold black and white markings they are quaint-looking little creatures, and rather clumsy, but there is no doubt that they thoroughly enjoy life, and their play is exuberant and strenuous.

First they poke their noses in the ground, searching for hidden grubs; then, without any warning, all stiffen their fur, making it stand upright, and now they look twice their size. With their short legs also stiffened they bounce round one another like footballs, then leap in, grip a mouthful of fur, and roll over and over. They break apart, and again play the bouncing game, and just as suddenly as they started to play they cease, and the next moment all are diligently searching for more food.

Many young otters are born at an awkward time, that is at the beginning of winter, but they are hardy little creatures and appear to be able to stand any amount of cold. Otters, more than any other wild creatures, show us that they thoroughly enjoy life; a plentiful supply of food makes them contented, and both parents and young play the most delightful games.

Fun in the Water. What appeared to be a large brown ball was floating gently down stream, hardly making a ripple as it swept along. Suddenly the ball seemed to burst open with a loud splash, and four excited otters with their bright, eager eyes well above the water, started swimming round one another. One

Wise and Otherwise

THE hardest tumble a man can take is to fall over his own bluff.

Consistency is a jewel which patent brokers refuse to recognize. We should be kind to poor old worn-out horses. There are some men who put their shirts on them.

Intelligence test (for girl): Can she refuse a kiss without being deprived of it?

No, a grass widow is not a woman whose husband died of hay fever.

Some girls are called gold-diggers, but they are faithful to the last fiver.

leaped right out of the stream and over its companions to dive on the other side, and as they floated along this acrobat made circles around them, those below trying to grip it as it passed over. Then they all joined up again, and seemed to be having a struggle as to which could pull the others under the surface, a sort of spirited ducking game.

They continue to play until all are tired. Then the parents lead their young off to a well-hidden lair, where they all sleep until hunger and high spirits call again. —Oliver G. Pike in London Tit-Bits.

Hole in the Sea

It has now been discovered that there is a hole in the Atlantic 5 1/2 miles deep, the greatest depth yet recorded. The exact depth is 28,680 feet, and it is about 60 miles north of Cape Engano on the east of the island of Haiti in the Caribbean. It was discovered by means of a "sonic" or echo depth finder when soundings were being taken by the U. S. A. cruiser Milwaukee.

It has long been known that the greatest mountain range in the world rises from the ocean bed and stretches north and south from Iceland to the Antarctic, almost midway between the two Americas and Europe and Africa. Ten times as long as the Himalayan range, in many places these huge undersea mountains rise to a height of over four miles.

Bug Cop—Didn't I tell you I'd run you in if I saw you hanging 'round my beet?

Unsound Collateral Mike—"Is a fine kid you have there. A magnificent head and noble features. Say, could you lend me a couple of dollars?" Pat—"I could not. 'Tis my wife's child by her first husband."

Double Advantage "Don't you think that twins have an advantage over the average person?" "Why?" "Well, they can at least see themselves as others see them."

Why? A four-year-old boy, asked by a woman what his name was, replied: "Bunny." "Have you no other name?" he was asked. "No," came the answer. "What is your father's name?" "Daddy," answered the child. "Has he no other name?" "No," said the boy. "Then what does your mother call him?" "Fathead," piped the youngster, triumphantly.

Slight Loss "I always eat in this restaurant. You know, in many restaurants the waiters grab the plates away from you before you have finished." "And they don't do that here?" "Oh, yes, they do, but here you don't mind it so much."

FARM AND HOME LINES
 Plenty of water and salt will help save horses from heat prostration, say veterinarians.
 It is expected that consumer expenditures for butter during the coming summer will continue decidedly higher than in the summer of 1939.
 Wisconsin farmers, the nation's leaders in the growing of canning peas, plan a 40 per cent increase in acreage this year, reports show.
 Widespread planting of hybrid seed corn in the principal corn states last spring was one of the reasons why the corn shipped to market recently has been of exceptionally high quality, say state agronomists.
 The real measure of fly spray value is whether or not it puts the fly out of action permanently. Fly spray which contains rather small amount of the various insect destroying agents isn't of much value.

The BIGGEST HIT in the 6-ft. Combine Field

McCORMICK-DEERING No. 61

How would you like to cut and thresh your crop in one operation at the rate of 15 to 25 acres a day, with just the help of one man? It's simple with the 6-foot McCormick-Deering No. 61 Harvester-Thresher. And what a threshing job this great machine does! It's a money-saver, grain-saver, time-saver, all in one. It makes the harvest a family affair—no outside help needed, no big crews to feed, no shocking or racking, no twine to buy, no threshing bills to pay. Come in and let us tell you more about the McCormick-Deering No. 61. Other sizes, also, up to 16-foot cut.

ONLY THE McCORMICK-DEERING No. 61 GIVES YOU ALL OF THESE FEATURES IN A 6-FOOT COMBINE

- 1 Patented open-end auger.
- 2 Rub-bar cylinder. Does not chop straw. Simplifies separation and is easily adjusted.
- 3 Straight-line threshing. No right-angle turns or bottlenecks to cut capacity.
- 4 Extra-value construction.
- 5 Rotary, 3-section, all-metal straw rack.
- 6 Designed for engine operation as well as power drive.
- 7 Simple to operate and adjust.
- 8 Handles all small grains and seed crops.

Sherman Was Right, but Soldiers Still Take Fun as They Find It

"War is cruelty and you cannot refine it," said General William Tecumseh Sherman. Few people disagree with that statement, but there is a lighter side to war. Soldiers of every nation know that "all work and no play make a dull war," and in seeking to amuse themselves, their humor takes a lusty turn.

Picture Parade

Not all wars are won on the battlefield, and these British Tommies combine work and pleasure as they pitch in and help a Cheshire farmer with his chores.

A warm-hearted French woman serves her customary cup of tea to members of the Welsh guard "somewhere in France." The men stand amid ruins of World War I.

Contented is the word for this French Poilu who carries on with his peace-time occupation even though he is now on the battlefields of the western front.

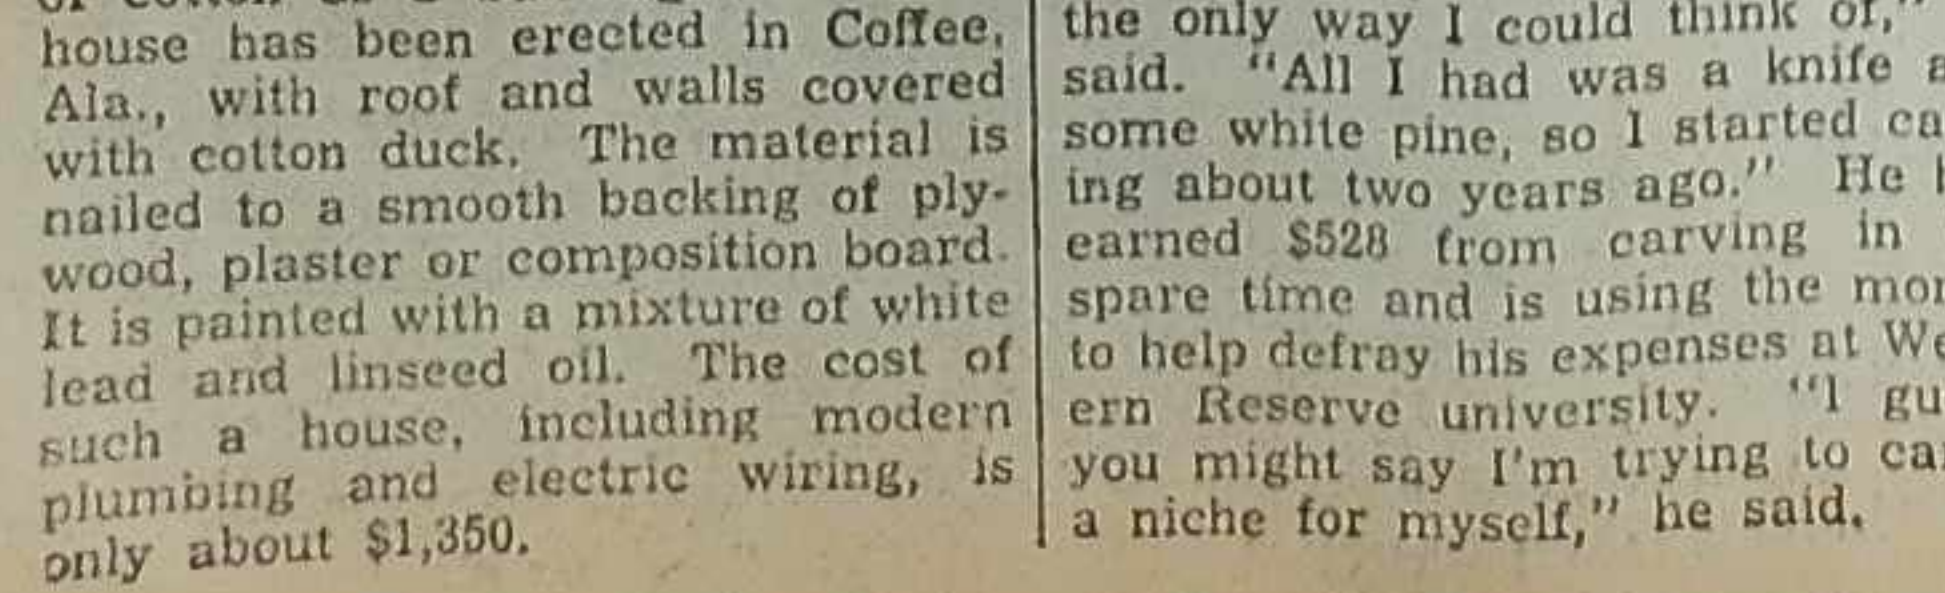

Here are two German soldiers installing a loud speaker on the Nazi defenses east of the Rhine river. The transmitter was used to broadcast music played by a German band to the opposite side of the Rhine where French troops were said to have danced to the melodies.

Members of the East York's regiment of the British expedition forces entertain some comrades with their tunes.

Here an unusual sign points the way to the front lines. It says: "Entrance to the Chicago Slaughter-House."

War is war, but time out must be taken to keep clean, so these British troops enjoy their Saturday bath. No de luxe accommodations for Tommy Atkins, only tin pails and wooden tubs.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—If there is a touch of hysteria as we prepare to prepare, it is more among the basses than the sopranos. Counsels of important women have been singularly calm and restrained. There is little shrill outcry among them.

Currently, Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Juliet M. Bartlett, the latter taking office as newly elected president of the New York Women's City club, urge calmness. Miss Bartlett says we "should keep our feet on the ground and our heads cool."

Mrs. Dunbar, addressing the federation convention at Milwaukee, stresses the collective need for thought, rather than emotion. "Never in our national history has there been a more desperate need for clear understanding," she says. Mrs. Dunbar's job is "community organization" heading this effort for the University of Oregon medical school. It is understandable that she should emphasize reasoned techniques rather than emotional excitements. "Community organization" seems to describe our present national endeavor.

Elected to the presidency of the federation in 1938, for a three-year term, Mrs. Dunbar represents about 2,000,000 club women. She tells them, "I want women to tune in with modern life." A widow and a grandmother, of pioneer stock, she has behind her a unique tradition of "collective organization." Her grandfather was the first white man to plant corn in Ganger, Mo., where she was born in a log cabin. Her family trekked on to Chanute, Kan., to Fresno, Calif., and thence to Oregon, where, after her graduation from the State university she taught school. She has served 24 years as executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis association. She was one of six children and is the mother of a grown son and daughter.

A GOOD reporter these days should have a diploma from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Making inquiries among experts assures the possibilities of swift industrial and military preparedness, this inquirer finds the answers reassuring, but complicated, to be taken on faith, with political factors still an unsolved X in the equation. Both pertinent and encouraging is a general agreement by authorities that with all our fumbling and faltering, the index of productivity in a free state is higher than in a slave state once it gets going.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau recently met with representatives of the machine tool industry in Washington to start team work on tooling and standardization for the mass production of planes. Participating were Dr. George Jackson Mead, vice chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics. He accepts a newly created post, at $10,000 a year, the office being established to facilitate decision on types of planes, swift standardization of parts and swift production.

On technical qualifications, Dr. Mead shows a good report card, as one of the leading airplane designers of America. He received the Sylvanus Reed award, for 1939, for his technical contributions to the advancement of aviation, and his professional and business experience has covered both the technical and industrial field.

Mr. Mead attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1911 to 1915. In 1917, he was in charge of the power plants at the laboratories of the United States air station at Dayton, Ohio. He then became a plane designer for the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation and later chief engineer for the Wright Aeronautical corporation. He founded the Pratt & Whitney Co., and was chief engineer of the United Aircraft corporation. He is 49 years old, a native of Everett, Mass.

HOOFS and spoofters fade, and men who know something important climb into the headlines. It is Sir James Barrie's play, over again, where specialized knowledge took over at a time of urgency. As our metallurgical industry blueprints a steel matrix of national defense, Walter S. Tower becomes president of the American Iron and Steel institute, which is the clearing house for planned and integrated effectiveness in the industry. Mr. Tower is an expert on both economics and geography.

And well he may need to be, for economics and geography are changing hourly. Mr. Tower taught economic geography at the University of Chicago, before the above institute took him in 1933, as executive secretary. He previously was a trade expert with the United States shipping board, a special adviser at the Paris peace conference and trade adviser to the United States Steel corporation. He was born in West Bridgewater, Mass., in 1881. His bachelor's and master's degrees are from Harvard and his doctor's from the University of Pennsylvania.

Operation for Sinus Trouble May Be Futile

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

A FEW years ago there were many operations for sinus trouble—the little hollows or caverns adjoining the nose. These sinuses are called the sounding box of the voice. Thus when a head cold is present and these little sinuses get filled with mucus, the voice sounds flat and "ing" sounds like "ick."

When these head colds became very common and the mucus and sometimes pus was too thick to drain out, the enlarging of the opening was frequently done by nose surgeons to enable this mucus and pus to drain out. The enlarged opening also helped to "ventilate" the sinus, thus keeping its lining of mucus membrane in a more healthy condition.

Unfortunately, these openings from the sinus into the nose are not placed in the best position for drainage when we are standing or sitting, but as Dr. Louis M. Pearlman states in Hygeia, the different positions one naturally takes when lying down are favorable to the emptying of the sinuses.

When one lies on the left side, the right antrum (sinus in cheek bone) is emptied; when one lies on the right side the left antrum is emptied, and when one lies face downward the sinuses at upper and back part of the nose (level with the eyes) are emptied.

However, it has been found that in many cases operation is of no help and may leave the patient in the same condition as before operation and with some loss of smell. Dr. Pearlman states further: "The present trend of treatment is tracing the trouble to its source and getting rid of it before the condition becomes chronic. Stress is laid on increasing the resistance of the individual and performing only slight operations to increase ventilation and drainage."

Eating less meat and table salt and eating more fruit and vegetables seems to help a number of these chronic sinus cases.

Fat Foods Important In Diet and Weight

VIRTUALLY all reducing diets emphasize the importance of cutting down on starch foods—bread, potatoes, sugar and pastry—if satisfactory reduction is to be obtained. Now starch foods give energy, help to make the fat foods burn more completely, and should be eaten in certain amounts even by those who are overweight.

What about fat in the daily diet? For the overweights who wish to lose weight, the tremendous food or fuel value of fat should never be forgotten; any quantity of fat food has twice the food value of the same quantity of either of the other main classes of foods, that is, starches and proteins (meat, eggs, fish, cereals).

Fat Foods for Underweights. For the same reason—fat foods being rich in calories—underweights are advised to eat fat foods up to the point where the amount of food does not cause indigestion and spoil the appetite.

A table that should help overweights to pick out foods they like that are low in fats, and underweights to select foods they like and (which agree with them) that are rich in fats, is given by Dr. R. G. Sinclair, department of biochemistry, Queens university, Kingston, Canada, in a booklet, "Nutrition in Everyday Practice," issued by the Canadian Medical association. There are three divisions, (a) foods low in fat, (b) foods containing a medium amount of fat, (c) foods rich in fat.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

It takes little imagination to evolve a good meal in summer. Whether you are planning a menu for the family or for guests, there's all the wealth of the world from which to choose!

There is fresh asparagus and home-grown berries, new potatoes, tiny green onions, and all the other tender green things from the garden.

Remember that sunshine and warm weather and foods with zestful flavor go together, and plan your menus around fresh-tasting fruits and vegetables, for they have winning ways with jaded appetites.

There's the minted pineapple cup pictured above, that's a grand first course for a summer lunch or dinner; it's as refreshing as a cool breeze off the lake! There are fruit salads, too—cool and colorful as summer gardens; and vegetable plates, which, well arranged, have appetite-appeal galore. And, by the way, your calorie-conscious friends will bless you if you serve them, when you entertain the club, these refreshing, filling, but not too fattening combinations.

Plan your menus around some of the fresh and tempting recipes below, and when you serve a salad or vegetable for the main dish of the meal, serve with it some unusual bread, a beverage, and the simplest kind of dessert.

You'll find tested recipes for unusual bread and rolls to serve with summer meals, in my cook book, "Better Baking."

June Fruit Appetizer or Dessert. Fresh pineapple. Fresh strawberries. Confectioners' sugar. Cut pineapple in 1/2-inch slices, unpeeled. Then cut each slice in wedge-shaped pieces. Wash strawberries, leaving the stems on them. Chill the fruits thoroughly, then on individual dessert plates arrange the pineapple wedges and the strawberries, in a ring around the plate. Place a mound of confectioners' sugar in the center of each plate, and serve at once.

Hot Weather Vegetable Plate. New potatoes, browned in butter. Small whole beets rolled in mint Spinauch with hard cooked eggs. Nuted squash. Green onions. Parboil small pared potatoes in butter. Cook small, whole beets in boiling water until tender. Drain and peel. Add melted butter. Then roll buttered beets in chopped green mint. Cook spinauch in salted water, drain, and season with salt, pepper and butter. Garnish dish with hard cooked egg white rings and top with riced egg yolks. Steam small summer squash until tender. Cut in halves, scoop out centers, and mash. Season with melted butter, salt and pepper. Sprinkle chopped nut meats over top. Arrange vegetables on individual plates and garnish with a sprig of parsley.

Fresh Asparagus with Lemon Butter Sauce. (4 servings) 2 small bunches fresh asparagus (or 1 large bunch) 5 cups boiling water 1 1/2 teaspoons salt 1/4 cup butter 1 tablespoon lemon juice Cut off lower parts of asparagus stalks as far down as they will snap.

Decisive Colors in Decoration Scheme By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN If you don't like the pussy-foot colors — if subtlety in decoration seems just plain drab to you—if you're a positive sort of person with definite tastes—you will welcome the current revival of Regency decorations. For with it comes not only an interesting style of furniture but clear decisive colors, and often the windows achieved interest by looping together in formal swags two or three lengths of material in different colors.

As pleasant a current version of Regency as we've seen was a dining room furnished in mahogany of Regency design. Walls in light clear gray, woodwork in white, carpet in red—these were the background notes. Draperies were intricate and interestingly hung; the side hangings were of an incisively patterned chintz in red and white and gray hung from a mirrored cornice. Through crystal rings, also attached to this cornice, is draped a length of gray satin. The room is complete

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY OR FOR GUESTS (See Recipes Below)

If you're planning a club tea to bring the social season to a close, you'll want to read Eleanor Howe's column next week. She'll give you plans and recipes for a delightful summer tea. Be sure to watch for this column next week!

Discard, or use in soup. Tie stalks together loosely in a bundle and place upright in saucepan containing the boiling water to which salt has been added. Cook, uncovered, until ends of stalks begin to be tender, about 15 minutes; then lay bunch of asparagus flat in pan and continue cooking until tips are tender, 5 to 10 minutes, then drain. Cream butter and add lemon juice slowly. Pour this mixture over hot asparagus and serve at once.

Fruit Salad Dressing. 2 egg yolks 1/2 cup strained honey Juice of 1 lemon Dash of salt 1 cup whipping cream Place egg yolks, honey, lemon juice and salt in top of double boiler, and cook 1/2 hour, stirring frequently. Remove from heat, beat with a Dover egg beater, and cool. Whip cream and then pour the chilled honey mixture into the whipped cream, beating with Dover beater.

Baked Eggs in Tomato Cup. (Serves 5-6) 6 tomatoes Salt Pepper 6 eggs Buttered bread crumbs Soft cheese (grated) Scoop out tomato centers and sprinkle with salt. Place tomatoes in muffin pans. Break an egg into each tomato. Season, and top with buttered crumbs and cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until tomatoes are tender and eggs are set.

Minted Pineapple Gems. (Serves 4) 1 14-ounce can pineapple (spoon-size chunks) 4 tablespoons lime juice 1 teaspoon fresh mint (minced) Arrange pineapple in fruit cocktail glasses. Combine lime juice and mint, and pour over the pineapple. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Fruit Salad. Toss together in a salad bowl 1 cup watermelon balls, 1 cup cantaloupe balls, 1 cup honey dew melon balls, 1 cup pitted red cherries. Add french dressing enough to coat all the fruits, and mix lightly. Serve on individual plates with two or three stalks of well-chilled french fries for garnish.

This Practical Cook Book Costs Only Ten Cents. When you serve a salad or a vegetable plate as the main dish of your meal, serve with it delicious and unusual bread or rolls. You'll find tested recipes for different biscuits, muffins and bread in Eleanor Howe's inexpensive cook book, Better Baking. There are recipes for apricot rolls, blueberry muffins and honey drop biscuits; and recipes for crusty peanut butter bread or date and nut bread to complete your Dozen Eggs for Breakfast The late Boies Penrose, Republican of Pennsylvania, was delphia. He used to drink a half fast. A typical breakfast would be a dozen fried eggs, a huge half-inch thick slice of ham, a dozen hard rolls, a quart of black coffee. He was quite a fellow, 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Slip-Covered Beds Make Handy Room Screens

HERE is an idea for a room screen. Buy a slip-covered bed. The slip cover is 1 inch thick and has a height you wish. The slip cover also has 9 hinges of the type used for the top of the bed. Next, select a smart chintz or patterned fabric for your boards. To estimate the amount of chintz, measure the height of the screen by three times the width of the bed. Then add 4-yard. Now, you will know the directions in the store and you will have your screen in no time.

And, by the way, if you are interested in making a collection of fabric toys, complete directions for the Rag Baby on the floor in Sewing Book No. 2. The doll on the bed and the danna doll on the shelf are in Book 3; the Stocking Cat in Book 3; You will also find directions for the crocheted lamp shades are in Book No. 3. Send 10 cents in coin for each book desired. If you order four books I will include patterns for Early American quilts, The Kaleidoscope, the White and the Ann Rutledge. Send 10 cents for each book.

Firestone Develops New Type of Traction Tire

Through the development of new wide base rim and a purpose tire bead design, the classic shape of pneumatic tires farm tractors has undergone revolutionary change to give regular size tires many of the advantages of oversize tire equipment.

Without extra cost, according to an announcement by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, the new dual purpose tire construction, a standard size tire is equally adaptable for mounting on either the old narrow base rim or the new wide base rim.

When the wide base rim is utilized, the tire is changed from a customarily circular shape to an open "U" shape. This greatly increases the cross section of the tire, adds to the air space, and contributes to greater flotation, extremely wet and muddy operating conditions or in loose soil.—Adv.

CHAPTER VI

was a kind he ought to remember. "Let's have the makings, brother." The ramrod figure had come beside him.

Their eyes met. "Brush-popper, are you?" the dark one asked. "So, so," said Gandy. "Down my way we work cattle in cover that rattlesnakes crawl into and get broken backs trying to crawl out of. Yeah, I guess I'm a brush-popper all right." He took a drag on his cigarette.

The other grinned faintly. The unceasing study of his gaze shifted downward. "No gun belt nor holster sagged at Walt Gandy's right thigh, but a worn and faded patch along the seam of his blue jeans was a plain mark to any interested observer. A revolver carried on his duty had rubbed that spot. Some men might guess at another purpose.

"Abruptly this one said, 'I'd like to talk to you.' " "Sure," said Gandy. "Fire away." "Not here. Over there." The black head nodded across the street.

Walt tossed away his cigarette, saying nothing; they moved together.

"What do you care?" The easy voice turned suddenly surlly. "How about the job?"

Walt measured the distance between himself and the ramrod body. He looked into the black eyes. "I wouldn't handle it," he said, "with a pitchfork and rubber gloves!"

It took a second for that to penetrate. "Why you skunk! You draw me out, then turn me down?" A hammerhead fist lashed upward.

Walt Gandy had measured the distance well. He drew his chin back only a little. The fist shaved past. At waist level his own hooked in—a short left jab and a longer drive with the right. The ramrod figure doubled. Walt slammed it upward again with an open-handed shove in the face.

And then he cut loose savagely from sheer reaction after the inquest's high pressure and from the treacherous talk he had listened to just now. His hard body leant in behind two punches that sent the other man teetering backward.

These first exchanges had come in a moment's rush. The black one had had no time to gather himself. But now, even as Gandy followed his advantage, the man dug to a stop in the dirt floor of the runway, stiffened, and his frame seemed all spring steel. He launched from boot toes sunk into the earth. His arm had a yard-long reach and came with the explosive drive of a piston.

Gandy was rocked to the roots. He spun half around and the next blow slid from his turning body. Footwork carried him aside, gave a second's recuperation. Experience told him not to take his eyes from the other's quickly shifting fists.

But with hat knocked off, the long sharp features of this man's face were fully exposed for the first time.

Walt Gandy looked, and in a glimpse of twitching jaw muscles, and of cold slitted eyes he read more than a passing flare of anger. This was going to reach far. He had no doubt that he faced an opponent who would kill.

In the second that his eyes shifted from the fists to the man's face, a treacherous move was begun. A right jab to his heart was in the open. He saw that. It was only from his eye corners that he caught sight of a boot toe kicked off the heart trip him. He half blocked the heart blow. Then all of his strength went into a sudden hooking of his leg around the other's shin.

What happened next was short. They tripped, stumbled, legs locked. Walt Gandy felt an arm around his waist. Wind went out of him. It inward. Wind went out of him. It inward. Wind went out of him. It inward.

His one hundred and seventy-pound weight was on top when they hit the earth. Breath gushed from the form beneath him. He leaped up. The other lay still, his black hair stringing on the ground.

The blood was hot in Gandy's veins, boiling. He reached down and twisted hard fingers in the shirt collar, dragged the man to the nearest grain bin, raised the cover, lifted him in both arms and rolled him onto a bed of oats. The cover had a padlock. Walt snapped it.

Then he turned. The gaunt attendant stood gaping in the runway. His bony jaw worked up and down, wordless.

Gandy leaned winded and dizzy against a post. He said, "I'll take against a post. When the attendant only stared, he rocked along closer. 'What's the matter?' 'He'll kill you!' the old fellow gasped.

"Maybe," Walt said. He took his chaps from the side bench and struggled into them, fumbling the buckles.

The gaunt man stood rooted. "But that was Pete Kelson! Of the 77!" Straightening, Walt Gandy felt in his pockets for money. "Here," he tossed a silver dollar. "Can you forgive Pete for a little while? He likes it there in the box."

"But that was Kelson!" "Sure. Will you get my bronco?"

THE inquest was over, and Walt Gandy put his Sunspot palomino into a thinning crowd along the street. Already knots of men had formed to rehash again this thing that had descended upon the Emigrant Bench, and it seemed to Walt as he passed among them, that each group represented an individual war-camp.

Helen Cameron's roan horse was not where Walt had seen it at a post near Gospel Hall. He passed the windowed store building, now empty. A man stepped suddenly from a street corner and stopped him with an upraised left hand.

Walt Gandy looked down from his saddle. The man flipped back the lapel of his coat to let the silvered surface of a deputy's badge gleam momentarily.

"Sheriff wants to see you," he said. "Office is down there." The deputy pointed into a cross-street. He followed afoot as Gandy turned his palms in that direction.

Sheriff Battle sat behind an ancient, flat-topped desk, slouched in a swivel chair with a back high enough to support his large head. A second man, seated on a wall bench running from the desk end, was Hollister.

The CC foreman uncrossed long legs and stood up, his weathered, studious face lighting with a grin. "This the man you mean, Battle? I know this fellow. You don't need to search him." He turned to Walt and held out his hand. "How are you?"

Bill Hollister knew nothing about the stolen bullet. Walt Gandy was certain of that as he gave back the handclasp and the grin. He looked into the face of this partner who had urged him up from the border, across two weeks of hard desert travel, and in that silent second he was aware of something. Bill Hollister had changed. How, he could not say, had no time to consider, for even as the thought flashed to him, he heard Battle snap:

"You don't need to tell me what I need to do, Hollister! Al?" "Yeah," said the deputy at Gandy's back.

"Go through him!" Walt jerked around. "Not so fast, you!" He looked into the bore of the deputy's gun. "Aw, put that bean shooter away. What's the word in which the fame of this Briton, who twice served as prime minister (1834-35 and 1841-46), has been perpetuated. While serving as secretary for Ireland in Lord Liverpool's cabinet, Sir Robert established the Irish constabulary. Naturally they weren't especially popular with the 'fightin' Irish' who referred to them as 'peelers,' i. e., Sir Robert's men."

That word crossed the Atlantic with Irish emigrants to America and since so many of that race became policemen in our cities you'll find some old-fashioned folk who still call policemen "peelers" rather than "cops" or "bulls."

Bakelite In 1889 a 36-year-old Belgian chemist professor named Dr. Leo Hendrik Baekeland came to the United States and a few years later his research in the chemistry of photography brought about the development of certain very sensitive photographic papers. Important as these were to the art of picture-taking, they probably would not have perpetuated his name in a common word if he had not turned his attention to another field of scientific research.

For Dr. Baekeland became the "father of plastics" and you can thank him for the bulky and durable of dozens of articles made of bakelite, named in his honor. Bakelite is a synthetic resin resulting from the action of formaldehyde and phenol (carbolic acid) when it is subjected to a special heat treatment under pressure which makes it hard and tough.

It is widely used as a substitute for hard rubber, amber and celluloid, for the manufacture of certain machinery gears, phonograph records, buttons, billiard balls, pipe-stems, umbrella handles and a great variety of other things. Being a non-conductor it is especially useful for insulating and protecting electrical apparatus.

"The Name Is Familiar"

BY FELIX B. STREYCKMANS and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Grog PEOPLE say a man "likes his grog" today but when the word first came into use early in the Eighteenth century it was because those who drank it didn't like it. Here's why: Admiral Edward Vernon of the British navy was called "Old Grog" because at sea he always wore a cap of cloth called "grogan"—water-resistant material of either mohair or wool mixed with silk.

The seamen under his command were served a half-pint of rum or brandy each noon and drank all of it at once—probably so no one else would get it. To prevent their stomachs from receiving too hearty a jolt, the admiral ordered the daily allowance diluted with a quart of water and six hours of time—serving it in two installments, one at 11 in the morning and the other at four in the afternoon.

Although the stomachs may have appreciated this change, the sailors didn't and they referred contemptuously to their daily ration of liquor as "grog," after "Old Grog" who had ordered it. So widely was the term used that it became known as grog shops in England—and still are.

This British admiral had something else more familiar to Americans named after him. Among his many friends and admirers in the American colonies was Lawrence Washington, who gave his estate on the banks of the Potomac in Virginia the name of Mt. Vernon. When he died Mt. Vernon became the property of his half-brother, George Washington.

London Bobby IN AMERICA a policeman may be a "cop" or a "bull" but in London, he's a "bobby." And he's that because in 1829 Sir Robert Peel, home secretary in the duke of Wellington's cabinet, created the London metropolitan police force. At first these officers of the law were referred to by Londoners as "Sir Robert's men." Then as Peel's popularity increased and he was known by the affectionate diminutive of "Bobby," they began calling his policemen "Bobby's men." From that it was only a step to referring to them as "bobbies" and "bobbies" they are to this day.

Nor is this the only common word in which the fame of this Briton, who twice served as prime minister (1834-35 and 1841-46), has been perpetuated. While serving as secretary for Ireland in Lord Liverpool's cabinet, Sir Robert established the Irish constabulary. Naturally they weren't especially popular with the "fightin' Irish" who referred to them as "peelers," i. e., Sir Robert's men."

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of FAT
Lost Her Prominent Hips
Lost Her Double Chin
Lost Her Sluggishness
Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.
Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. Why not be smart—do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys—cut down your caloric intake—eat wisely and satisfyingly—there need never be a hungry moment!
Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. It not joyfully satisfied—money back.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving remembrance of Reuben Otto Krueger, who died one year ago, June 18, 1938:
We saw him die,
One golden day, first of early spring,
His cold cheek resting on the pearly sheet,
Around him spread.
And on his lips a quiet smile reposed,
As if in sleep life's weary dream had closed,
He slept the long last sleep,
Death's shadow on his brow, and he passed,
Tired and weary to his home at last,
Leaving us here to weep.
And absent ones to come at sunset hours,
To scatter on his grave tear-bedewed flowers.
His wife's gentle hands clasped him in tenderness,
As from this world of night,
Into the shadowy land,
Weeping, we lingered by his side,
To hear his last low murmur when he died,
But did he die alone?
No, not alone!
One friend seemed near to him,
One gentle voice, one shining form was near,
To him then not unknown,
Whom he had loved and served till o'er death's form,
He led him to his land of rest and home.
Sadly missed by Marcella Krueger and daughter, Mardell, Mr. and Mrs. William Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wilke and families.

Smith of Kewaskum Allows Two Hits in Mitchell Win

The Mitchell baseball team won its first game Sunday from Dotyville 8-1 behind the two-hit pitching of Robert Smith of Kewaskum, one of Kewaskum High school's second-string pitchers the past season. STRUPP, also of this village, was the receiver. Two other Kewaskum players, Stahl and Brauchle, played their first game with Mitchell Sunday. Rellly led the team in batting with three hits.

Smith of Kewaskum Allows Two Hits in Mitchell Win
The Mitchell baseball team won its first game Sunday from Dotyville 8-1 behind the two-hit pitching of Robert Smith of Kewaskum, one of Kewaskum High school's second-string pitchers the past season. STRUPP, also of this village, was the receiver. Two other Kewaskum players, Stahl and Brauchle, played their first game with Mitchell Sunday. Rellly led the team in batting with three hits.

THIS RIDE SETTLES IT, WE'VE BOUGHT A FORD!

FORD V-8 DIFFERENT FROM ANY LOW-PRICE CAR YOU'VE EVER SEEN!

WE'RE seeing lots of real-life situations this year like the typical but imaginary one shown here. It doesn't take you long, on the road in a 1940 Ford V-8, to find that here's the greatest money's worth so little money ever bought!

- TRY THE RIDE! The surprising big-car ride that's one of 1940's big motoring events!
- SEE THE ROOM! Extra knee-room, leg-room, head-room... you'll find a Ford surprisingly big inside... where bigness counts most!
- FEEL THE POWER! Of the only 8-cylinder engine in any low-price car!
- CHECK ON ECONOMY! The 85 h.p. Ford's 24.92 miles per gallon in the famous Gilmore-Yosemite economy test was best of all standard-equipped cars at its price!
- COMPARE FEATURES! Biggest hydraulic brakes at low price! Semi-centrifugal clutch! Positive, easy-acting finger-tip gearshift!
- CHECK EQUIPMENT! See how much more you get in a Ford at no extra cost!

This year talk "Trade" with your Ford Dealer first!
