LEAGUE OF NATIONS:

New Memberships

Adolf Hitler was lining up states for what Berlin termed a modern League of Nations when he met up with Bulgaria.

He had signed three nations to the Axis alliance, although it must be admitted all of these long had been in the Axis sphere of influence and their formal initiation could not be expected to occasion any great sur-

First came Japan, which for more than four years was allied by treaty with Germany and Italy. Japan enrolled anew. Then came Rumania, which two months before was taken over by Iron Guard Gen. Ion Antonescu. Antonescu signed up formally, but the signature gave Germany no more oil than it had been getting since the war began. Then Slovakia attached its signature to the dotted line. Slovakia is the splinter state left after the Nazis hacked away the Czechs and the Bohemians.

Then came King Boris of Bulgaria. He listened, went home and said he would send a delegation to carry out the arduous duties of treaty signing. But no delegation arrived in Berlin. It was intimated in Sofia that Bulgaria had received covert advice from Russia that the Big Red Brother wouldn't be pleased at all to have German troops in Bulgaria, 250 miles from the Dardanelles. The German ministry of propaganda and public enlightenment said Germany hadn't wanted Bulgaria anyhow.

There was some whispering that lomatic front was just a means of covering up Hitler's lack of activity on the military front. Experts guessed that perhaps Hitler had heard some segments of the German people were not at all impressed with his failure to invade England and the spanking being taken by Mussolini in Albania. Diplomatic "victories" might fill the bill for a time and cover up the situation until spring, when a more determined attack on England is generally ex-

"Have you heard of Mussolini's new secret weapon?" one diplomat in Switzerland asks another. "No," said the man addressed.

Then leaning forward and cupping his ear, "What is it?" The first diplomat places a hand at the side of his mouth to simulate a whisper, and replies, "It's the German army.'

At the end of the third week of Benito Mussolini's invasion of Greece, the Italians found themselves halfway back through Albania on their way home. The progress being made by the Fascist legions produced more humor in neutral sources than respect.

Outnumbered and outequipped, the Greeks fought a type of war that seemed to have the Italian version of the blitzkrieg dazzled. The Greeks refused to come out in the open and give battle in force. Instead they maneuvered through the Macedonian peaks catching the Fascists on their flanks and from the Losses were not high on either side, but the Fascists were forced to retreat from Koritza to Pogradez to Argiocastro, surrendering base after base and leaving behind tanks, combat cars, automobiles, motorcycles and even bicycles.

British troops, airmen and ground combat soldiers, arrived on the mainland of Greece, thereby placing British soldiers again on the European continent, the first time since Dunkerque.

Should the Italians be unable to take up a defensive line before retreating to the plains of western Albania nearer the Adriatic coast, they might not be able to maintain their position anywhere in Albania. The Greeks were sure they could chase Mussolini entirely out of Albania. Neutral observers were not that sanguine.

Otherwise in the war: A German sea raider was at large in the North Atlantic. One British steamer reported being shelled off the coast of Puerto Rico, just outside the neutrality zone.

An American vice consul was under arrest in Indo-China. With a newsman, he had gone to photograph a shipment worth several million dollars seized by the Japanese at Haiphong. The cargo, owned by an American company, was to be sent to Nationalistic China but the Japanese invasion caught it before | She inaugurated a new factory for

RUMANIA: Blood Purge

Anarchy stalked the Balkan nation of Rumania, as members of the fascist Iron Guard party executed at least 64 political enemies. Without benefit of official sanction from their leader, Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu, self-appointed execution squads raided a jail where political prisoners were held and led them before the tomb of the founder of their party, Corneliu Codreanu, and there put them to death.

A Rumanian communique admitted the killings and stated that the government "disapproves." It is understood that the section of the Iron Guard party which has taken the law into its own hands, believes their founder, Codreanu, to be a martyr, and their action has been taken to avenge his killing during King Carol's regime.

Admittedly they are paying off their chief political score by this method, now that they have driven the king from his country.

STRIKE: In Defense Plants

At opposite ends of the nation, strikes in two factories engaged in airplane manufacture for the army attracted national attention. At Downey, Calif., production was halt-part of the corporation that an there would be no strike for two years and that in the meantime all disputes be settled by arbitration. The strike came in for debate in congress when demands were heard in the house that a law be enacted forbidding labor to strike in any plants where defense contracts were being filled. Attorney General Jackson also referred to the strike in a dispute with Representative Dies (D., Texas) over methods of procedure in handling subversive influences. The attorney general said the FBI was aware that the Vultee strike was "being prolonged" due to Communistic influence.

The strike was finally settled after Dr. John R. Steelman, chief of the department of labor's conciliation service, and R. J. Thomas, national

AID TO BRITAIN: Money Needed

AMBASSADOR LOTHIAN

Lord Lothian, British ambassador to Washington, returned from London with a frank statement that his government has spent almost all the American money it can lay its hands on. He intimated that if the United States is to continue to give aid in the form of supplies, some method soon must be found to finance further orders. He said virtually all the gold and American securities of British ownership had been sold in the U.S. markets to obtain the American dollars already used.

The Johnson act forbids American credits to any nation which defaulted on its 1918 war debts. Pro-British groups here have urged the act be repealed but Lord Lothian refused comment on this.

President Roosevelt also made it known that no administration source had advocated the Johnson act be abolished. In reply to some criticism that the United States was not giving sufficient aid to Britain, the President declared that such assistance had about reached the maximum possible under present industrial capacity. He told reporters if any way to make airplanes faster could be found, he would like to know it. "You can't give orders agreement be reached guaranteeing one day and have planes the next," In London there was talk in semi-official circles that eventually it might be well to offer the United States possessions of British crown colonies in the Caribbean in exchange for munitions.

INVESTIGATION:

Following up the inquiry into home building several months ago, the department of justice has decided to inquire into what it believes is monopolistic tendencies in the nation's food markets.

The home-building investigation ended in 99 indictments against 1,538 contractors, manufacturer's association and labor union executives. The objectives of the food-price inquiry will be two-fold, said the department: To lower the price of living and to protect the farmer who buys retail and sells wholesale.

Processors and distributors, the department says, receive about 50 to 60 per cent of the consumers' dollar. In the fish, cheese, poultry and retail grocery markets, it is charged, prices are fixed by fictitious auctions. The canning and bread industry are declared to engage in price-fixing.

CONGRESS MOVES:

No Adjournment

When house and senate refused to quit and go home, architects of the Capitol served notice to get out before the roof came down on their heads. The architects were not thinking in the terms of heated wrath. Rather they were concerned with cold snow. The roof of the Capitol long has been regarded as too weak for safe-Plans had been made to strengthen it during the recess of the seventy-sixth congress. But congress refused to recess. It did move, however, to give workmen a chance to get struts in place before snows arrived in Washington.

MISCELLANY:

¶ The Pan-American Airways Clipper plane set out for Honolulu on the Pacific crossing the other day, the 442nd such trip. There was no special ceremony, but that trip was an anniversary flight—the fifth year that passenger air service has been in existence on the largest ocean route. I England and Germany continued to swap air raids. The British paid nightly visits to ports along the coast from Trondheim to Lorient and smashed at electrical power plants, munitions factories, airplane fields and rail lines in Germany, Holland, Belgium and France. The Germans invented a new word, "Coventrated," for towns given concentrated assaults like was given Coventry, Southampton, Bristol and Birming-ham, they said, were "Coventrated." Gov. Payne H. Ratner, when he was a Kansas state senator, introduced a bill which permitted absentee voting. It became law. At the election this year the law stood Ratner in good stead. Seeking reelection over William H. Burke, Democrat, he apparently lost the state. But when the absentee ballots were counted 16 days later, they gave him sufficient strength to win by 427 votes.

WASHINGTON.-It was midday in the Department of Agriculture build-

The goldfish in the marble basin in the patio were wiggling hopeful tails in the prospect of a few crumbs that might be dropped by clerks hurrying back to their desks from the cafeteria. At a table in a little lunchroom upstairs a man with touseled hair, a somewhat self-conscious smile on his face, pulled some manuscript from his pocket and began to read: "Me es sumamente grato y hono-

It was not a visiting Spanish dignitary saying in his native tongue, "it is indeed a great honor to be asked to make introductory remarks on the occasion of this distinguished gathering." It was the then secretary of agriculture, Henry Wallace, rehearsing before his fellow executives, the speech in Spanish that he was to deliver before the Pan American Scientific congress last May. And he knew what he was saying and so did his audience.

That informal Spanish club was only a little over two years old then but it is symbolic of a movement which has had a powerful influence in Washington-a movement the result of which is considered in Latin America as one of the real, practical steps toward Western hemisphere

The story of that luncheon group and the man who started it is one of the fascinating stories of Amercy that doesn't get the text books. It is largely the story of Secretary Wallace himself, and the story of a side of him that few people know.

Except for the scholarly interest which a man who is an inveterate reader might have, Henry Wallace knew little more about South America than you or I when he came to Washington. Today his name is one of the best known of all of our officials to the Latin American newspaper reader. And they know it as the name of a man who understands them and their problems as few North Americans do.

Wallace Symbolized Friendship With Mexico

When Vice President-elect Wallace shook hands with the President-elect of Mexico before the recent inauguration in Mexico City, he did so as a person who was far more than the mere official representative of the President of the United States-he came as a symbol of practical friendship between this country and the republics to the south.

To grasp the reasons back of this achievement you have to watch Henry Wallace at work.

Wallace wasn't satisfied to read about South America, he wanted to it is taken for granted by those who read what South Americans said in their own tongue; he wasn't satisfied with talking about South Americans, he had to talk to them. So he learned the language and immediately the bars went down. For language is a barrier. That is typical of his methods.

Out of those luncheon meetings grew a Department of Agriculture Committee on Latin America. Armed with the data furnished by this committee and supported by his own array of factual information, Mr. Wallace went to Undersecretary Welles in the state department and to the President. The result was the formation of the Interdepartmental Committee on Co-operation With the

LIVING COSTS

On every hand you hear the prediction that prices are going up as a result of the defense program. So far there is no marked increase in the cost of living.

The bureau of labor statistics in Washington is paying particular attention to retail prices in towns where there are defense industries. But if they do see prices going up what will they do about it? Nobody knows.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO By VIRGINIA VALE

WALT DISNEY'S "Fantasia" has made its bow at last, and also made history. It is "a series of eight musical compositions, interpreted by Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra" with comments by Deems Taylor. It is also the most beautiful presentation of color and sound that the screen has ever offered.

The music was recorded by the orchestra, then Disney and his idea men listened to it, and on the screen we see what the music suggested to them. We have Mickey Mouse as the "Sorcerer's Apprentice," amazing prehistoric animals in Stravinsky's "Rite of Spring," delightful centaurs and "centaurettes" in Beethoven's "Pastoral Symphony."

Disney selected the music carefully, to appeal to all tastes. He hoped to aid in popularizing classical music, an undertaking so ably begun by radio. Special RCA reproduction equipment is necessary to handle the innovations in record-

The experiment is a magnificent one, into which Disney has poured more than two million dollars. Its success should be as great as the courage of its producer.

Fred Astaire has the longest motion picture feature devoted exclusively to dancing in the world, and it's getting longer all the time. The picture, right now, is being lengthened by two dance numbers which Astaire created for himself and Paulette Goddard in his latest Hollywood production, "Second Chorus." The addition of these two numbers makes Astaire's own picture run more than four hours, and probably the world will never see it; a stickler tions in which he has appeared s

Mary Anderson is Hollywood's newest Cinderella. One of the girls who was tested for the role of "Scarlett O'Hara" and didn't get it, she did play "Maybelle Merriweather" in the famous Southern war picture, and then stayed on in Hollywood and worked for Warner Brothers. Now she has a difficult role in Richard Rowland's "Cheers for Miss Bishop." Only eighteen, she has a good start on what promises to be a highly successful career.

About a year ago lovely Joan Blaine, featured in the NBC serial, "Valiant Lady," was walking down Broadway when she slipped on the icy street and fell. A quiet young man picked her up, brushed her off, and disappeared in the throng.

"Just my luck," she told some of her friends later. "I didn't ask his name, and I'll probably never see him again.

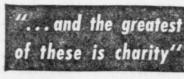

Recently Rikel Kent, director of "Valiant Lady," told her she was acquiring a new man on the show. "His name is Lawson Zerbe," Kent told her. "You don't know him." Then Zerbe appeared for rehearsal, and-you've guessed it. Out of all the actors in New York, he was the quiet young man who'd come to her rescue nearly a year before.

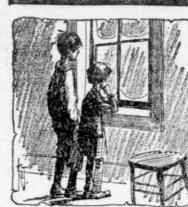

Gary Cooper is dead set against anything that is unnatural; he insists on letting nature take its course before the cameras, which is why you never see him curl his lips and show his teeth when he's angry-watch him in "North West Mounted Police" and you'll see him as he is in real life. He's one of the few actors in Hollywood who depends on a mirror only when he's shaving, making up for work or combing his hair.

ODDS AND ENDS-James Melton and Irene Beasley used to sing for nothing on a small station in Memphis, Tenn., years ago, after a lapse of ten years they encountered each other in a New York night club, and discovered that they were booked to sing on Raymond Paige's "Musical Americana" on the same night . . . John Wayne and Ward Bond made a gallon of authentic moonshine the other day for a scene in "Shepherd of the Hills," using a real still, and when the scene had been shot the federal agent who represented law and order poured the "corn" on the ground, while various members of the cast lamented, but to no avail.

Joan Marsh, who twice retired from picture making, is working in front of the cameras again; she's playing a scantily-clad assistant to Bing Crosby and Bob Hope in Paramount's "Road to Zanzibar."

She began working in the movies at the age of nine months, and retired when she was eight years old. Five years later she was backthen she left when she married Charles Belden, a screen writer, two years ago. She is still happily married, but just couldn't resist the urge to act again.

Virtue in Toys

Here listed are virtues of a good toy as described by experts in kindergarten training at the National College of Education at Evanston,

The successful plaything is durable. Flimsy toys make children careless and destructive. It stimulates its owner's imagination and encourages him to dramatic play. Although it is not bunglesome or awkward, the well-designed toy is large and simple enough not to cause eye and muscle strain. It is easy to keep clean.

It is safe. It does not have splintery edges or rims of sharp tin. Up to the minute play materials are not static, nor do they merely provide entertainment.

Every child has two types of toys -those which stimulate individual play and those which encourage him to group activity.

Make a Face Mask of Santa Any bright boy or girl can make a large face mask of Santa Claus from heavy wrapping paper and water color paints. The mask should be cut from a sheet of wrapping paper, about 18 by 24 inches. Sketch or trace the features with a pencil, then color with water color paints. Red should be used for the hat, white for the whiskers, blue for the eyes, and pink for the cheeks. Outline these colors with black lines, and the mask is finished Engineer Is Santa Claus PURCELL, OKLA .- For the past 36 years Joe Gerard, veteran engineer running between Purcell and Cleburne, Texas, has turned his thundering Santa Fe locomotive into a toy train the day before Christmas, dropping presents to the two dozen children and adults who live on farms along his run. In every nook and cranny of the locomotive Santa Gerard stows presents for his needy friends, many of whom have never met him. He's looking forward to another "toy train" this year.

FIRST-AID AILING HOUSE By ROGER B. WHITMAN (@ Roger B. Whitman-WNU Service.)

Plastering. Q UESTION: Our dining room, bedroom, and kitchen walls are plasterboard, with two thicknesses of wallpaper. We want to put on plaster with a hard, smooth finish. Must the wallpaper first be entirely removed? Could we use plastic paint? Answer: Before plastering, the wallpaper must be removed, which can be done by soaking it with water. Be careful in doing the job, so that in taking off the wallpaper you do not also take off the paper that is part of the plasterboard. With the paper off, you can apply wall plaster, of the ordinary kind; but I should prefer plastic paint of a kind that is made with gypsum. This contains an adhesive that will make a good bond with your plasterboard. It can be applied with a broad brush and smoothed down with a trowel or a plasterer's float.

Damp Cellar.

Question: In an old farmhouse that we recently purchased, the cellar is very damp, even though it is cemented. The stone walls sweat, and in wet weather water comes in at the side. Can we do anything ourselves at no great expense to make the cellar dry?

Answer: You can check or even stop the leakage through the walls by repointing the inside stonework. Using a cold chisel and a hammer, dig out the mortar to a depth of an inch or more, and replace it with a mortar made of 1 part portland cement, 1/2 part of hydrated lime, 3 parts of clean building sand, and only enough water to make a workable mixture. Wet the joints with water, and pack them tightly with this mortar. If your rainwater leaders discharge into the ground 10 feet or less from the house, change their positions so that the discharge will be at least 15 feet away. For condensation, run a low fire in your heating plant for a day or two; air the cellar only on dry and hot days, keeping it closed on days that are humid and at night.

Damp Odor.

Question: Last year's rains brought a strong, damp odor in our basement, and much mold appeared. With two rains in June the smell reappeared. How can the cellar walls be waterproofed?

Answer: The moldy odor indicates rotting wood, or other vegetable or animal material. To get rid of the odor you must locate and get rid of the cause. If the dampness is from condensation on the cellar walls, which is likely, no coating on the walls will prevent it. You must line the walls with something that will keep the warm and damp air from being chilled by the cool masonry.

Floor Finish. Question: My floors have just been scraped by machine and two coats of wax put on. Dirt is beginning to show where there is constant walking. How can I keep the floors clean and fresh looking?

Answer: Wax should not be applied directly to the floor boards, for dirt will go through and into the wood. The floor should be given a coat of varnish or shellac before waxing. To take up the dirt, wipe with liquid wax-not water wax. This will loosen the dirt, which can then be wiped up with a clean cloth. Follow by rewaxing. If you decide to put on a preliminary coat of varsh, you must first remove the wax, which can be done by several wipings with turpentine.

Rusty Refrigerator.

Question: In my refrigerator the unit burned out, and the escaping gas corroded the wire shelves and the metal in the ice cube compartment. These parts are all very rusty. How can I remove the rust? Answer: All of those metal parts were originally plated or coated with some metal intended to prevent rusting; possibly zinc. Rusting shows that this preventive coating has disappeared. Cleaning off the rust will be only temporary. You should either get new parts, or send the rusty parts to a plating shop to be cleaned and plated with chromium. A garage can give you the name of a nearby plating shop.

Repainting a Porch Floor. Question: Our porch needs repainting. In some places the old paint is chipped and peeling. Before repainting, we plan to rub these spots with sandpaper. Do you know of any product which can be used as a base to cover these spots, before the new paint is applied?

Answer: Sandpaper the edges of the chipped and peeled spots. Exposed knotty or resinous areas should be wiped with turpentine. All spots where the wood is exposed should be given a prime coat of paint. To prevent peeling, seal all cracks and crevices between the floor boards with putty.

Stud Spaces Question: In my house spaces be tween the studs are open to the cellar, and run all the way to the at-The house is 15 years old, and the builder tells me that those spaces in modern construction should now be closed. Is there any advantage in this? Answer: With those spaces open to cellar and attic, there is a conal draft through them. In winter this draft tends to chill the house, and at all times would suck a cellar fire into the walls. There is every advantage in closing those spaces.

N EW YORK.—For many years, Ernest G. Draper has been speaking up for the small business man whenever he had a chance. Out to Channel This now be-Small Business ficial assign-In Defense Work ment, as the Federal Reserve board, of which he is a governor, designates him as the board's representative in its invitation to small business to get in happily on the defense effort. He will work with the officers of reserve banks in their co-operation with local banks in loosening credit and giving small concerns a crack at government contracts. The idea seems to be to channel small banking as well as small manufacturing into the defense mobilization of money and productivity. Mr. Draper, New York head of a food packing and marketing business which isn't so small, has earnestly extolled what he calls "business statesmanship." He writes for trade journals and expounds for business forums his idea of a wide diffusion of opportunity among small businessmen, and the peril of unrestrained monopoly and wholehog taxation. From 1935 to 1938, he was assistant secretary of commerce, becoming a governor of the Federal Reserve board in March of the latter year. In 1930, he was the representative of industry on the National Labor board. In June of last year he advocated, before a senate

This writer was talking to the owner of a small tool plant in New Jersey the other day, and found him quite angry about the defense program. He said the New Deal had rigged everything for the big boys, with nothing for the little ones, and that it will be worse now that the election is over and small-business votes aren't immediately needed. Mr. Draper's new activities may reassure him.

THERE is pace and precision in Rachel Crothers' polished dramas of life and manners. Similarly everything clicks in her Amer-

Needy of Britain Wing, which Is Taken Under she started Thespians' Wing last January with six women, and which now has more than 3,000 persons knitting, sewing, gathering funds, garments, food, blankets, even ambulances and canteens, and keeping them moving to England in mounting quantity. About 1,000 of Mrs. Crothers' associates are New York women, in and out of the theater. But the organization and momentum are distinctly of the theater, and a score for the world of make-believe in facing the grim urgency of harsh reality.

Mrs. Crothers has staged an average of one play a year ever since the Broadway presentation of "The Three of Us." in 1996. At her home in Bloomington, Ill., she was an impresario of paper dolls at the age of four and staged her first play-in the back parlor of her home 50 years ago, when she was 12. It was a fiveact play, called "Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining." She was the outstanding dramatist of her Sunday school class, but, because of the deacons, her plays were discreetly offered as sketches. Her parents, of Scotch, Irish, Hugenot antecedents, were both doctors.

After her graduation from the state normal university of Illinois, she worked first in amateur and then professional theatricals, writing, acting and producing and then stormed Broadway with no impressive resources other than the manuscript of "The Three of Us." The Sunday school playwright from Bloomington hit a bright note of bigtown sophistication right from the start, clear on down to "Susan and God" of two years ago.

She is slender, brisk and alert at 62, a bit prim, but in and of the big town, a distinguished lady of the theater and supremely effective in all that she does. During the World war, she organized and managed as president the Stage Women's War Relief organization, with similar success in its humane objective. In the slump of 1932, she and John Golden, the theatrical producer, organized the highly efficient stage relief fund. She supplies at least one courageous answer to defeatism and futility. All around one hears of the gallant efforts of the stage women.

FOUR-LEAFED CLOVER on A four-LEAR by the financial page was the story of E. E. Norris, insisting on "humanizing railroad public relationships." Mr. Norris is president of the Southern railway. Addressing a meeting of the Association of American Railroads in New York, he not only urged "humanizing," but urged the roads to "find some cure for the hangover from yesterday's monopoly jag." His ease in human and humanizing contacts routed him on up from car service agent, sten by step, clear to the presidency.

$16,799,283 in new paper money every day! And that's some spondulicks! Most of this is made into dollar bills, as these are in greatest demand, and the life of the dollar bill is only about nine months. After that it is a fiscal wreck, so it is recalled to the treasury department and carefully destroyed. Some of the principal stages in the manufacture of Uncle Sam's paper money are shown here. No coins are minted in Washington—only at the mints in Philadelphia and elsewhere.

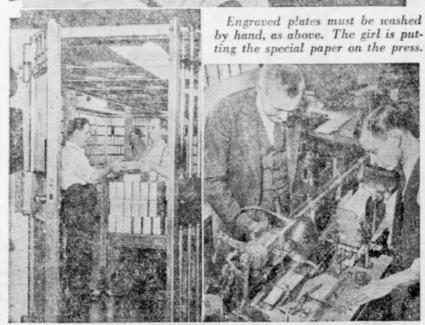

PROOF READER . . . Mrs. Isabel Gaither, employee of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing (shown at left), reads sheets of new money seeking possible de-fects. Millions of dollars in new money pass through her hands every year-but still she remains

"God Bless America" is a pretty fine patriotic number, and it has become the American song of the crisis, but something should be done to protect it in the clinches. Night club comics sing it immediately following pretty raw interludes, masters of ceremony call for it after their most risque moments, and, believe it or not, in one Broadway picture and vaudeville house a fat, coarse, faded female blues shouter swings into it with a comedian, after they have both been giving a clubsmoker atmosphere to the proceed ings. And with an enormous American flag as their backdrop! It may be too much to expect them to see anything wrong about it, but isn't it time the audience started throwing things?

"I know. Go on!" snapped Bowie. But the good God will ! "Sanchez told him it was not his land but that he wanted no quarrel with him and rode away. Before Sanchez had gone fifty yards Blood drew his rifle and fired at him. The bullet struck Sanchez in the back. He fell from his pony.'

He went on with the story despite her horrified expression. She obeyed his caution so well that he mar-

She reflected and sorrowfully assented. "I have spoiled this wonhe party set out from the derful party for you, Carmen, only because I felt I should tell you why the servants and the I must leave. If the darkest hour is just before the day, it was certainly dark when the ponies of Bowie, Simmie and Pedro splashed through the Melena swamp and forded the river a mile or so above the squatter colony.

demanded Blood sourly. With this abusive retort he threw open the door. Pedro understood then why Bowie had taken the east door. The faint rays of light already in the eastern sky struck Blood, standing barefoot in shirt and trousers, pistol in belt and knife in scabbard. Bowie, facing west, stood with his face in shadow. He had neither pistol nor knife on his person. For what he meant to do, either might prove his undoing. Simmie and Pedro had ample coverage if needed. Like the spring of a mountain lion, Bowie came down on the squatter, pinning both his arms at his sides. In vain Blood tried to get his right hand on the grip of the pistol in his trouser band. Raging, he struggled with his left hand to reach the haft of his knife. But he was held in a loop of iron muscles capable of cracking his ribs.

Blood bit and gouged in his insane way until Bowie delivered a blow that stunned him. In that fraction of a second Bowie, thrusting his left leg upward, caught the squatter's right arm under his knee. When this released his own left hand his fingers flew at Blood's neck.

Despite the rolling and writhing. the squatter was held in a vise that cut off his wind. Hovering close to the two men as they threshed about the floor, stood Pedro, alert to help Simmie, with pistols in each hand, stood inside the door ready to shoot either way-to repel squatters if Blood's one frantic yell had been heard or to finish Blood himself. But no squatters appeared.

The squatter, half choked, hoarse and bloodshot, hair and beard wild, his shirt torn away in the scuffle was quickly bound with rawhide strips. It was light enough to make out faces. He burst into a torrent of profanity. "I'll have the law on you for this, you greaser's pig!" he shouted.

"Easy, Blood," suggested Bowie, unconcerned. "If you want your coat pick it up. You're taking a ride.

"What do you mean?" thundered the squatter. Then suddenly he wrenched furiously at the thongs on his wrists; but Pedro had tied too many rawhide knots to feel uneasy over his efforts.

"I mean you're going to Monterey for jailing with a charge of murder against you."

There was dancing that night at the merienda. The camp was lighted by bonfires and torches, and dons and donas, old and young, were stepping to the music of guitars and the snapping rhythm of castanets. The light voices and the laughter ringing through the pines, the soft beating of the guitars, the serene shadows of the dancers moving through the figures of quadrille and minuet, and the scene lighted by the glare and glow of the scattered fires struck into Bowie's sensibilities as he neared the camp on his pony late in the evening. He was alone and, tethering his mount, he walked to the fringe of the spectators.

It took some little time for him to single out one he was looking for. She stood among the onlookers but a little apart, her eyes fixed on the dancers. She heard a mild voice behind "You are not dancing, senoher:

rita?" She almost whirled to meet the words. She clasped her hands. "Oh, Senor Bowie. Thank God, you are back!

"Only keeping my promise." She regarded him with startled "You are not hurt?" eyes.

Sclerotherapy And Its Field Of Usefulness

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

AS YOU read new words in 11 medicine, and particularly of the new kinds of specialists, you may wonder whether dividing the medical profession into | TODAY'S so many different specialists is really of help to patients.

As a matter of fact, there is so much that is new being discovered and tested in medicine, that no one man could be proficient in all this new knowledge and how to apply it. The family or general practitioner in these days can usually look after the majority of ailments, but because he keeps up to date he knows, for his patients' sake, there are times when a specialist should be consulted.

Perhaps the latest specialty is We surprised him, and he is that of Sclerotherapy. "Sclero" means hardening and "therapy" means treatment, so sclerotherapy is treating various ailments by using hardening substances which "From Monterey. #### Shock Needs Prompt enough. Shall we try it? Oh, there's And Efficient Care

ONE of the sayings of years ago, "The operation was a success but the patient died," is not used often now because it is so definitely known that the shock of operation, cent powder already in the bottle, shock of any kind in fact, can bring and frozen in liquid air. It was one very close to death.

In my student days we did not know much about shock but the treatment was to get the patient's head low, body warm, and give a stimulant of some kind. As time passed and more and more was learned of the damage done to the body by shock and its danger to life itself, new methods of treatment were gradually applied until today shock gets prompt and efficient treatment.

One of the first of the newer treatments was the injection of fluids into the body to add pressure to the blood circulation so that it could be carried to all parts of the body in increased amounts. This tighteningup of the blood vessels causing shock, a condition found in Asiatic cholera for which sodium salts is used, led physicians to use these salts in shock cases with good results.

Transfusions Beneficial.

Dr. John Scudder, department of surgery, Presbyterian hospital, New York, states in Digest of Treatment that even sodium salts and the use of oxygen to increase the amount of oxygen in the blood did not give complete results, as the rate at which the body processes worked still needed to be increased, the storage of sugar in the liver and muscles was still low, and the blood and tissues were still too near an acid condition for safety.

It was then discovered that these three needs could be supplied by the juice or extract of the adrenal and pancreatic gland. Despite all these helps another step in fighting shock was found when transfusions of whole blood or the liquid part of the blood (plasma) were given. Blood transfusion, in addition to supplying plasma proteins (a food) and red blood cells, supplies certain other substances whose beneficial effects can be measured. . . .

QUESTION BOX

Q.-Recently I had a metabolism test made which revealed a basal metabolism of plus 13.35 oxygen utilized minus 15.8 litres per hour. Does this mean I have a goitre? Kindly suggest a diet for me.

A .- A metabolism test of plus 13.5 is considered within normal limits which are plus 15, down to minus 85. However, as you are near the borderline, you should ask your physician about rest and diet.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble. Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that their consumed in the food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such a one as the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

HIGH PRICES Do Not Go WITH ADVERTISING

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is unadvertised, which has no established market, that costs more han you can afford to pay.

Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, t doesn't make any difference what, you are getting more for your money-more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something which was not advertised.

Perhaps you already know about the famous Kwik Lite Lantern which has proven to be such a sensation wherever it has been introduced by newspapers to their readers. But if you have not, here's a brief description-

KWIK LITE has two lights—an unbreakable trouble light on top and a long distance, focusing type headlight in front. This searchlight is capable of throwing a beam of light a distance of 300 feet. Suitable for all general purposes, and may even be used as an emergency headlight for your car. The light on top is surrounded by a red rhyolite dome that shows a red light for a long distance—an excellent danger signal for times such as when you have to change a tire on the road at night. Through an opening in the top of the dome you get a strong beam of light that may be directed at any trouble spot.

The body of the lantern is of light weight steel, done in an attractive silver finish. Switch and focusing button conveniently located on back of lantern.
