Two Donkey Basketball Games Won by Kewaskum

An estimated 650 spectators attended the donkey basketball doubleheader sponsored by the West Bend Kiwanis club at the McLane school gym in that city Monday evening and saw the Kewaskum Kiwanis and Kewaskum Legion Rivers teams register twin wins over the West Bend Kiwanis and West Bend Little League teams. The local Kiwanians won 10-8, and the Legion cagers topped the Lathia team, 30-16. The Kiwanis sponsored the event to raise funds for boys and girls work.

Although very pleasing and side-splitting to the spectators, the games, in which the rules are very liberal and flexible, were rough on the riders. Anything short of assault and battery is permitted but aside of a few scratches, bumps, bruises and torn clothing there were no major casualties.

Playing of the local Kiwanis team were Ernie Mitchell, Bill Schaefer, Lou Bath, Lyle Bartelt, Paul Landmann, "Chuck" Sparks and "Killy" Honeck. The Rivers team, which played a rougher, tougher, slam bang game, was composed of "Red" Stautz, Augie Bilgo, Johnny Geidel, Roger Schleif and Dickie Edwards.

Stop Russia, Marquette U. Prof. Warns at K. of C. Meet

A grim warning that we must stop Russia now or face the most terrible consequences in a war costing millions of lives and up to a billion dollars was sounded by Professor Hugh L. Riordan of the College of Business Administration, Marquette university, in a talk at a meeting of the Knights of Columbus, West Bend Council 1961, Thursday night. Many Kewaskum people attended the meeting.

Russian expansion since the end of the war has followed patterns similar to those of Hitler and the Nazi regime, the speaker said, and there is every reason to believe that the Russians, like Hitler will go on fanning out over defenseless countries unless they are halted soon.

Particularly critical, he said, is the situation in China where Communists are gaining strength day by day and are threatening to overpower the war-weakened government of Chiang Kai-Shek.

"If China with her 500 million people falls under the influence of Moscow, we can bid farewell to our cherished freedoms and look to the doomday of American democracy."

To bolster China in her fight against the Reds, Professor Riordan urged a program of military aid embracing the allotment of $750,000,000 in tanks, guns, planes and ammunition each year for the next four years. With this kind of help, the friendly government of Chiang Kai-Shek will survive and stand with us against the Bolshevik bid for world domination, he said.

Another move to halt Russian expansion tactics the speaker said, could be made at the coming conventions of our two major political parties. Both parties should nominate as presidential and vice-presidential candidates Army generals, thus assuring a strong leadership for the United States during the next four years.

"The problems of the next four years will not be so much domestic as international," Professor Riordan said, "and with a general in the White House we could be assured that there would be no lack of courage in dealing with important international problems."

"Make no mistake about it, we must stop Russia, and stop her now, or we and our children and grandchildren will pay the dreadful consequences," the speaker said in conclusion.

Following the talk, Professor Riordan answered questions from the floor. An audience of over 200 council members, wives and girl friends heard the speaker.

Earlier, during their meeting, the Knights elected Grand Knight R. J. Steitz and Past Grand Knight Albert Gohl delegates to the state convention at Green Bay in May. Harold Tesser and Sylvester Meath were named alternate delegates.

Kewaskum Legion Wins Championship in Lomira Tourney

The Kewaskum Legion basketball team brought a long season to a very successful end Sunday night by coping the championship in the gold medal tournament at Lomira sponsored by the Lomira Lions club. The team won the coveted title by defeating Rosendale in the finals of the event, 51-49, before a full house, many of them Kewaskum fans. Fox Lake tripped Campbellsport, 44-38, in the first game of the evening to take consolation honors.

Kewaskum reached the championship finals by walloping Hustisford 69-31, in the opening round a week ago Sunday and downing Fox Lake, 47-42, in the semi-finals last Wednesday. Other teams in the tourney besides those already mentioned were Oakfield, Lomira and Marytown, making a total of eight. Rosendale advanced to the finals by beating Oakfield and Lomira.

For first place honors the Legion was awarded a large, handsome trophy and each player on the squad was awarded an individual gold medal. Merrill Krueger was awarded an additional medal for being voted the second most valuable player to his team in the tourney and Wayland Tesser received one as the outstanding shot of the event. Rosendale was awarded the second place silver awards and Fox Lake the third place bronze awards.

The Rosendale-Kewaskum game was not as close and the two teams were not as evenly matched as the final score would indicate. The Legion looked much better than their opponents and held a comfortable lead over Rosendale all through the game until the last quarter when the Dales dropped in several lucky long shots to all but overtake the Legion in the closing minute.

The team again played good ball in the title contest. They took command from the start and built up a 13-3 lead at the quarter. The sharpshooting of Wayland Tesser, who pushed in five buckets for 10 points in the second quarter, was mainly responsible for giving the Legion a 27-16 advantage at halftime. G. Pinch, one of four Pinch brothers on the Rosendale team, a big, rugged ball player, led his team in narrowing Kewaskum's margin to 33-32 at the end of third period. With the Dales sitting from out on the floor in a desperate attempt to catch up in the final quarter, Honeck helped save the day by coming through with seven points when they were needed in this period.

Wayland Tesser, who tied Krueger with 22 points for high honors in Kewaskum's three games in the tourney, led both teams offensively against Rosendale with 16 points. Krueger and Honeck had nine apiece. G. Pinch was a powerhouse in the Dales' lineup with 15 points. Forty-one fouls were called in the contest, 22 on Kewaskum and 19 on the opponents.

27 High School Students Complete Driving Course

Twenty-seven students in Kewaskum high school have just completed a classroom course in driver education. Prin. Clifford M. Rose announced this week.

"These students have studied the state traffic code and local traffic ordinances, they have reviewed numerous accident cases, and they have acquainted themselves with the fundamental safe driving practices," the principal declared.

"Equipped with an understanding of what is expected of today's motorist, and appreciating the need for courtesy and cooperation among all highway users, these young men and women will be better drivers than many adults now operating motor vehicles," it was stated.

Now that these students possess the knowledge and proper attitudes desirable in beginning drivers, they are ready for actual road instruction. Under supervision of a parent, other relative or friend, these students will follow a series of training lessons described in Step-by-Step, a manual provided by the safety division of the motor vehicle department in cooperation with the state department of public instruction.

Before undertaking these road lessons, each youth must obtain a temporary instruction permit. This permit is good for 60 days, allowing the learner and instructor to engage in driving instruction. Upon completion of the final road test by a driver license examiner, a regular driver's license will be granted.

Edward Christensen was instructor for the classroom course in driver education, taught to the Kewaskum students.

Fund Drive of Red Cross Over Quota as Campaign Ends

Reaching its quota within the allotted time, the fund drive of the West Bend chapter of the American Red Cross was reported about $200 beyond its goal of $5,250 Monday, the last day of the campaign.

Drive Chairman Matt Gearing Jr. said a roundup of reports from township, village and city chairmen Monday indicated the drive had exceeded its quota before the official closing day, and added he believed the total realized in the campaign would go higher since several chairmen reported they were not yet finished with solicitations in their precincts.

"The reports given us Monday by our various chairmen disclose that all townships and villages and the city of West Bend have exceeded their quotas with additional contributions yet to come," Gearing said.

The chairman praised highly the efforts of the campaign workers and thanked the people of the chapters for their generosity.

"The cooperation of our volunteer campaign workers and the generous spirit of the people cannot be praised high enough," Gearing said.

A complete and final report on the results of the drive should be available, the chairman reported, in about two weeks. Many solicitors are still busy canvassing their areas and urged all workers to make final reports to their individual chairmen as soon as possible in order that a complete campaign report may be compiled. It is important that these reports be made at once, Gearing indicated, since no final analysis of the drive can be made until all workers have made their reports.

Notified that the quota had been exceeded, West Bend Chapter Chairman Stephen O'Meara expressed appreciation to all who helped put the drive across and to all who contributed.

"Once again the business people, the farmers, the men in the factories, our industries, the civic and fraternal organizations and the people in general, have exemplified their interest in the services of Red Cross by assuring a continuation of those services through generous support of the fund campaign," O'Meara said.

Although the drive officially closed Monday, many solicitors were still busy this week making calls in their areas and it was expected the final total would go still higher.

Window Displays Rated in County-Wide 4-H Contest

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Finland Fears Reds Seek Control As Stalin Calls for "Defense Pact"; Vandenberg Urges Speed on ERP

Released by WNU Features
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

WHO'S NEXT? Finland

Finland seemed to be resigned, saturated with the apathy that sometimes precedes extinction.
It was a state of mind that had grown out of a reported request by Josef Stalin of Russia that Finland join up with the chain of Soviet defense pacts that now stretches across Europe.
To the Finns that request was nothing less than a prelude to the same kind of political control Russia had just imposed on Czechoslovakia. They feared their parliamentary freedoms would go by the boards in such a turn of events. But after losing two wars with Russia in less than 10 years, the Finns were able to do little except resign themselves to the Soviet pattern of conquest.
Finland's President Juho Paasikivi was said to be in favor of signing a Finnish-Russian friendship treaty as suggested by Stalin.

His viewpoint, distinguished by realism if nothing else, was this: To turn down the Soviet bid would aggravate Russian-Finnish relations to a dangerous degree. To accept it could mean Finland might get as favorable conditions as possible toward keeping national independence.
At the same time there was concern whether Stalin's request was dictated exclusively by the wish to safeguard Soviet territory, particularly Leningrad, or whether he had something else up his sleeve. So far there were no actual demands of any kind, such as that the Red army be allowed to occupy Finland in the case of war or the threat of war.

On the global scale it seemed apparent that Moscow's overtures to Finland, coming as they did after the seizure of Czechoslovakia, were another part of the Soviet retaliation to the U. S.-sponsored Marshall plan in Europe. The Russians were drawing up the final lines for the conflict and at the same time consolidating their position in eastern Europe.

MARSHALL PLAN: The Beacon

"This act may well become a welcome beacon in the world's dark night. But if that beacon is to be lighted at all, it had better be lighted before it is too late."
With that exhortation and many other clamoring brass alarms did Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.) attempt to spur the senate into swift action on the Marshall plan as it opened debate on the $3-billion-dollar program to defeat communism in Europe.

The chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, one of the strongest backers of the Marshall plan, urged the senators to "light the beacon" of economic aid to Europe before "aggressive communists" begin knocking on the door of the New World.
"Help stop World War III before it starts," was the burden of Vandenberg's message.
Denouncing "treacherous Moscow propaganda that has charged us with iniquitous American imperialism," he emphasized that the 16 western European nations must be saved from European chaos.
"This vast, friendly segment of the earth must not collapse. The iron curtain must not come to the rims of the Atlantic by aggression or default."
But despite Vandenberg's hortatory prospects of swift, full passage of the Marshall plan were by no means bright and shining. In this election year congressmen were being doggedly and ostentatiously conscious of how they spent taxpayers' and voters' money.

The house, meantime, was working on another version of a world aid plan, with the foreign affairs committee deciding to wrap foreign aid for Europe, China, Greece and Turkey into "a single package."
PROBE: Atomic
All of a sudden there was a new atomic security investigation under way to stimulate the jaded interest of the American public.
In the limelight this time was Dr. Edward U. Condon, atomic scientist and head of the government's bureau of standards.

Describing Condon as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security," a house un-American activities subcommittee reported in good faith that he "knowingly or unknowingly entertained and associated" with alleged Russian spies.
To the charge that he was a "weakest link" Condon retorted: "This is gratifying information because I'm absolutely reliable and therefore we have OPTIMIST: New Weapons
Rear Adm. Ellis M. Zacharias, retired U. S. naval officer, came up with another bit of shattering news not calculated to ease the jitters of this already drawn and weary world.

There are now in existence three new weapons which outrank the atomic bomb in pure, unadulterated destructiveness, he said. U. S. science has developed them since the war. They are probably of a bacteriological nature, it was assumed from Zacharias' remarks.
The retired naval officer put forth the claim that postwar development of new weapons by the United States has affected the world situation so that no other country is in a position to begin or maintain a war with this nation.
"War is neither imminent nor inevitable," said Zacharias. He indicated that two of the three wartime weapons he believes superior to the atomic bomb were ones "which would destroy crops and spread disease." He did not elaborate.
Of Russia he said, "We know about it, we need to know" about it. Observers could draw their own conclusions.

Aggression Charted

These are the battle lines for the "cold war" in which the two opposing forces are democracy and communism. The battlefield is Europe, map of which conveys that "this is where we came in" feeling. It is reminiscent of the Hitler drive to the East, except for the fact that this time it is a Russian expansion westward that is changing the color of the map.

nothing to worry about. The country can relax."
And as far as consorting with Communist spies was concerned—"That's just too vague to talk about. I certainly didn't do it knowingly," he commented.

Nevertheless, two congressional committees leaped into action. Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (Rep., N. J.), under treatment in Walter Reed hospital for a stomach ailment, said he might call a bedside meeting of his full un-American activities committee in order to send the subcommittee report formally to President Truman.
And Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Rep., Iowa) called a session of the senate-house atomic energy committee to study the house report.

Discussing Communists, it said: "In this country they haven't gotten as far as they did in Czechoslovakia, but they got pretty far, because they got a man vice-president of the U. S. and he is now their candidate for president, and he is the same man who recommended Dr. Condon as director of the bureau of standards."
This was the stage set for at least two more spine-tingling investigations.

PROFITABLE: Steel

In response to a request by President Truman for a full investigation of steel price increases, federal trade commission and commerce department economists turned up with a story that was not destined to do the steel industry any good in the eyes of the price-whipped American public.
According to data assembled so far, the industry has been piling up profits at a rate unequalled in recent years and, in some cases, is running up net earnings almost double those of 1946.

The appraisal indicated that U. S. Steel, giant of the industry, was leading all companies with a net profit in 1947 of 126.7 million dollars—highest since 1929. Bethlehem Steel pushed up its net profit last year to $1 million dollars, about 10 million more than the previous year.
Other leading concerns either have doubled or more than doubled their 1946 profits.

Stimulus which got the steel profits investigation going was the recent $5-a-ton increase in the price of semi-finished steel—actually the fifth in a series of price boosts. During the first seven weeks of 1948, steel companies have jumped the price of pipe, nails, wire and structural construction steel.
Economists tended to view the steel price hike with alarm because they feared it would offset completely any beneficial deflationary trend which the commodity market drop might have set in motion.

HOMELESS: DP Bill

Possibly in response to the growing humanitarian sentiment in the U. S. that something be done to relieve the plight of Europe's displaced persons, the senate judiciary committee approved a bill that would admit 100,000 DPs to the United States in the next two years.
The measure, now scheduled to be reported out to the senate for action, provides that homeless Europeans who are living in DP camps two and a half years after the end of the war will be admitted at the rate of 50,000 a year beginning next July 1 and ending June 30, 1950.

A three-member commission would be established to handle the program and to formulate regulations "for the purpose of obtaining the most general distribution and settlement of persons." At least 50 per cent of those admitted are to be employed in agriculture.
Sen. Chapman Evercomb (Rep., W. Va.), chairman of the subcommittee that drafted the bill, said that this provision was intended to prevent the immigrants from settling in large groups in seaboard areas.
Those to be admitted would first be thoroughly investigated by a government agency.

Farm Price Dip

Agriculture department has reported that prices of farm products dropped 9 per cent during the month ended February 15.
It was "one of the sharpest drops on record," according to the department. Last comparable declines were in 1920 and 1921.
The break rolled average prices received by farmers back from the record mid-January high to the level of August, 1947.

CRACK DOWN: Holy Land

It was time to get tough in the Holy Land, the British occupying army decided.
Far from showing any inclination toward peace, Palestine Jews and Arabs were carrying their civil war over the partition plan to even bloodier lengths than before.

Weapons and ammunition were being sold openly in the streets. Bombings grew in number and intensity. Open warfare was the virtual rule in Jerusalem. All this might be the natural result of the artificial division of a long-standing state, but the British army had had enough of it.

Force must be used impartially against both Jews and Arabs, Brig. C. P. Jones, commander of the British Jerusalem garrison, told his troops.
In a directive he said: "Prolonged firing between Arabs and Jews within Jerusalem makes life intolerable for its inhabitants. Such disturbances will not continue. Force will be used in incidents of this kind. The army will, if necessary, use weapons more powerful than those available to Arabs and Jews."

RENUNCIATION: Southern Style

Things were not getting any better for President Truman in the South. Democratic leaders of two strongholds, South Carolina and Tennessee, brooding over the President's irritating civil rights program, turned thumbs down on him as the party's 1948 candidate.
At the same time the Mississippi Democratic committee voted to withdraw from the party's nominating convention in June unless it pledged itself to fight "anti-southern" laws, meaning the civil rights program.

Both South Carolina and Mississippi voted to collect political funds against the possibility of a presidential campaign separated from that of the national Democratic party.

Nipped by Tuck

Gov. William Tuck of Virginia received a flood of congratulatory telephone calls after he had made a speech denouncing in June unless it pledged itself to fight "anti-southern" laws, meaning the civil rights program.

What Do You Breathe?

More than 700 persons die every year as a result of air pollution in Chicago alone, and a proportionately large number die from the same causes in other American industrial cities, says Dr. Clarence A. Mills of University of Cincinnati.

Respiratory illnesses, many of which are caused by air pollution, also are responsible for about 70 per cent of all the time lost from work, Dr. Mills said.

He told the Pan-American Doctor's club, meeting in San Miguel de Regla, Mexico, that even such cities as Los Angeles and Mexico City, which once boasted of their fresh air and sunshine, now "find themselves buried under a pollution." Los Angeles is waging an anti-smog campaign.
Reporting on studies made in Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Nashville, Birmingham and Atlanta, he said pneumonia, respiratory tuberculosis and lung cancer have become more frequent and severe in industrial centers.

Kathleen Norris Says: Cut Expenses Down and Save Money

"In company he is amusing enough, but at home it is money—money—money."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS
"MY HUSBAND has only one fault," writes Marcia Green. "But it is so serious a fault that I am seriously considering leaving him. We have been married 11 years, we have one son, a lovely home, a nice circle of friends. Bob is successful in business, although admitting himself that we always will be more or less in a rut, for he is only one employee in a plant that employs thousands, with small chance of bettering himself.

"He doesn't drink, gamble, play about with other women. He is a devoted husband and father, popular and friendly. Well, then, what is it? I'll tell you. Bob thinks, talks, dreams of nothing but money, whenever we are alone. In company he is amusing enough, but at home it is money — money — money. He feels that he doesn't earn enough, that we don't save, that I am extravagant.

"Now, the point is, I'm not extravagant. I keep a nice house, with only one day's domestic help every week. I dress economically, and while Bobby goes to a private school, he has twice won scholarships that cut that expense down to $100 a year. Food, of course, is a big item; we are all healthy eaters and we entertain moderately. We have one car, used mostly by me. We do not save money, but our bills, if added together, would not total $1,000. Among our friends, somewhat similarly situated, I think we would be considered unusually fortunate and completely solvent. So why this eternal anxiety about expenses? Must we buy that, dear? Is it necessary to paper the dining room? The boy has to have roller skates, I suppose? That's what I get day in and day out.

Parents Were Poor.
"Bob's people were very poor. My own were not, I had a lovely home, and my father still is employed and independent; mother died years ago. Can you give me a few good suggestions as to how I can cure my husband of his penuriousness, or do you believe it is too deep-rooted to cure?"
"It seems to be growing on him. In our early married years he was much more generous, and when we were engaged I actually had to scold him for his extravagance. But of late he grows less and less willing to spend money, and the result is that our home atmosphere is uncomfortable and strained. Feeling that this may be the result of early inhibitions, I have asked him to go to a psychiatrist, but he rejected this suggestion utterly. Years ago, when you wrote that money was the most important element in marriage, I did not believe you, but I do now. What shall I do?"

I think this situation, Marcia, arises from a condition that is prevalent in our American domestic scene today. And I think the cure lies with you, rather than with Bob.
When you married you felt that if you had a nice home, and paid your bills, that was enough. Perhaps it was, then. But it is not now. Bob feels the changing tempo of the times; apparently you don't. Bob always has worked hard, he knows the value of money. You never have learned it.

Bob is in the employ of an immense concern. He knows that unless he has exceptional and extraordinary capacity, he will not rise in that employ. Hundreds of fresher young men are ahead of him in the race. Hundreds of other men will move out into separate enterprises of their own. Bob can't either rise or escape.

So, at 40, he sees himself trapped. He is not saving a cent. His home expenses are increasing with the inexorable need of the times. You are expanding into luxuries while hardly able to manage necessities.
Problem Is Common.
Your problem is not unusual. It is safe to say that in all our cities there are blocks and blocks of small, respectable, comfortable apartments whose breadwinners are as anxious as Bob. Where does the money go, what the dickens do the women do with it? The car is an extravagance beyond the reach of all but 1 per cent — note that figure — 1 per cent of the men and women of Europe. Private school, beauty parlor, cleaner, flowers, drug store, telegrams, ice skates, Mincee's services at $1 an hour, ice cream for the company dinner. How these little foxes destroy the vines, and add those becoming gray streaks to handsome Bob's hair!

If you really want to help, Marcia, move from that $85 flat to a plain little cottage somewhere on the outskirts of town. Put Bobby in public school, cut down, cut down, so that $150 of that $500 a month can go into government bonds. Talk solvency, instead of spending. Talk freedom from debt instead of how to pay bills. Tell Bob that if anything happens to him you and Bobby can manage splendidly, what with chickens and an apple tree, and a child or two to board.

In other words, pull your weight of the load. Relieve him of worry and he won't mind plain meals. Stop trying to impress your richer friends, and impress Bob with the fact that he has what the old books used to call a "home." Bob knows we have stormy weather ahead. Get ready for it. Shorten sail.

QUESTION OF ANGLES

By FREDERICK SKERRY

A TRIANGLE? Sure, if you think in geometrical figures. But counting Mary Hill with the three men you'd have a square, wouldn't you?

Anyhow, we were on the Wild River bridge job. A nice change it was, too, with Barret Falls Center only a mile away; no construction camp in this picture. You could get room and board in somebody's house or you could take a room only and eat out. And the boys who hadn't been too quick in grabbing a room and board took their morning and evening meals at the Elite Lunch—that is, those who had got a peek at what was inside the three-sided counter, I did myself.

And Mary Hill was very good for the eyes. Fresh and sweet and cool-looking she was in her white rig, even on the hottest day—and lovely to look at. I figured she was 28 or 29. That steel crew, though, was a new breed to Mary Hill. A happy-go-lucky bunch, as ready for a scrap as a frolic, working hard and playing hard. One night when I was almost the last to leave Mary said: "I suppose the danger you fellows are in all day makes you gay and light-hearted when you get away from it. Men fall sometimes, don't they?"

"Not often," I said. "It looks worse than it is. A man is careful. You get used to height."

By this time the competition for Mary was all but general. I was on the side lines, you might say. Being field engineer, I was some older than most of the boys—not so much, but enough to make me conscious of the difference. Jack Benz, Clem Sask and Dave Johnson seemed to be favored. Benz, a good-looking, wise-cracking chap, eventually monopolized Mary's time.

Dave Johnson was the quiet, serious kind, and an A-1 bridge jacker. But, now that he seemed out of the running, he quit coming altogether. Clem Sask and Benz were not talking.

Working from both ends, we were now almost ready to join steel. Jack and Dave and Clem were together on the down river truss. They'd put the head of a strut or a diagonal in place for the riveters, then go down to bolt the foot. Dave was on a hanging platform below when Jack went down, leaving Sask to tighten the bolts. Jack had no sooner stepped on the platform—hadn't time to anchor his safety belt—when Clem Sask dropped a spanner. Clem let out a yell. But that spanner was on its way and bounced off Jack's head.

And Jack toppled to follow it down to the river. All of him but his legs was off that six by six platform. The only news she let out was that Dave had heard that Jack was getting on all right but would be laid up for a long time.

For three weeks Mary came every day. Then the crew was through with the bridge, and Dave, making a last evening visit, was as dead-pan as ever. That puzzled me, and I banked on Mary being less shut-mouthed.

AND, thinking of her, I realized that once out of the hospital I'd see little of her. I had that load on my mind when she came next afternoon looking pleased as Punch. She told me how the gang had bid her good-bye the day before.

Then she said, "I had quite a compliment last night, Charlie: Dave asked me to marry him."

"Congratulations, Mary!" I said. "Dave is a grand guy." And I meant it.

"Yes, he is," she nodded. "He'll make a fine husband—for some girl who wants to worry about him while he's climbing over bridges. But I had to turn him down. I'll marry nobody I have to worry about at the start. That's that. Now look, I just talked with the doctor. He says you can leave here in two or three days, but you'll have to go easy on that leg, even after the cast is off. He's getting crutches for you. Now I have it all figured out. I have a perfectly good house and oodles of room, and nobody in it but myself—except when Ann James is there doing housework—and that's where you go from here."

"Listen, Mary," I put in. "You've been an angel of kindness. But there's a limit. I know what these small places are, Mary, and I won't have you talked about on my account."

"I see what you mean. She looked down at me, and her eyes were dreamy. "Of course it would be nice..." I said nothing, and she wagged her head and looked at the ceiling.

"My heavens! Did a woman ever work harder for a man?" That didn't make sense. "What man?" I said.

"You! Who else, for goodness sake?" "Listen, Mary," I said. I felt all hollow inside. "Don't kid me—not about that."

"I'm not kidding—anything but."

And Jack toppled to follow it down to the river. All of him but his legs was off that six by six platform.

She reached out and grabbed my hand. "Charlie, you are dumb! Did you think I was a district nurse, or something—coming here every day?"

"But—" I could hardly speak. "I thought—well, with Jack and Dave..."

"Business, dear," she cut in. "I own the Elite Lunch, so why wouldn't I build up good will with the customers? You never asked me out."

"Not because I didn't want to," I said. "But all those fellows, Jack and Dave..."

She gave a kind of snort. "You didn't think a woman would be interested in the only man around who didn't seem interested in her. No. So I had to find out all about you from those others. And you had to go and get yourself hurt for me to get a good chance at you."

"Listen," I said. "A minute ago you said you wouldn't marry anybody who climbs bridges."

"I know I did," she admitted. "But your climbing days are over, Charlie—so Doc says."

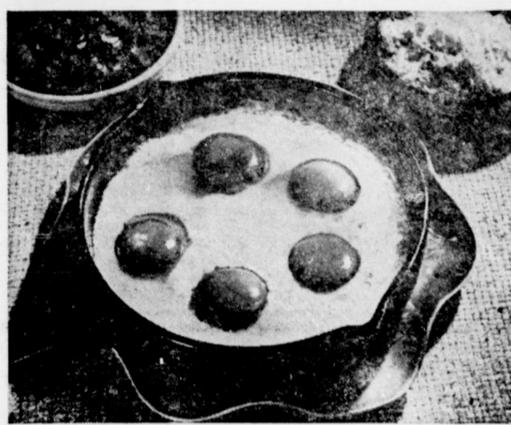

That stopped me. Still, I could always have a good berth in the plant—or some other plant. My tongue seemed tied, but I managed to make it work. "Would you marry me, Mary?"

She was off the chair like a flash and sitting on the edge of the bed, holding my hands. "He's said it!" she laughed. "The dumb bunny has actually said it! Would I..."

So after all, you might say that the affair turned out to be a pentagon.

Perk Up the Menu

The final days of Lent will test your ingenuity as a cook. Meet the challenge in high style by adding today's cookery tricks to your recipe collection. Retain them, too, for use when depleted meat supplies necessitate your substituting some other main dish for an appetizing menu.

We're glamorizing vegetables, doing new things with eggs, perking up the menu with cheese and trying some new seasoning treatments with fish.

This will be a good time to see just what you can do with foods you usually take for granted, and your results will be happy ones if you add a dash of imagination to old favorites.

Heed the cooking of both eggs and cheese. Be gentle with them both, as high heat toughens the protein of eggs and makes cheese stringy.

Natural cheese is made by heating, pressing and curing the curd of milk. Processed cheese is natural cheese, shredded, blended and pasteurized.

Cheese goes well when spread on gingersnaps for snacks. Use the cream variety.

Cheese is nice to use with salads. For vegetable salads, shred the cheese and toss into the dressing.

Cheese is sensitive to heat and should be kept well-covered and well refrigerated. It may be covered with melted paraffin to keep from drying out.

Cheese is classified according to its consistency. The hard cheeses include American, Swiss, Edam, Roquefort, et cetera. The semi-hard cheese include brick, Limburger, Munster, et cetera. The soft cheese consist of cream cheese, Camembert and cottage cheese.

Make potatoes, cabbage and onions interesting by scalloping them with cheese.

For fruit salads, make cheese balls. For gelatin fruit salads, it's nice to mold the balls with the rest of the ingredients.

You can stuff prunes, dates, celery, tomatoes and green peppers with a combination of cream cheese or cottage cheese with mayonnaise and seasonings.

To pep up your meals, try adding grated cheese to biscuit dough, waffle batters or pastry for apple pie.

If it's cheese for dessert you like, combine with fruit. Apples go with American cheese, pears take to cream cheese and orange sections are good served with Roquefort cheese and crackers.

Cheese and bacon sandwiches are a universal favorite. Toast one side of the bread, place a slice of American cheese on top with a strip of bacon and set under the broiler to cook.

Million Irishmen Attend Largest Political Meeting

Probably the largest political mass meeting in history, says Collier's, was that called at Tara, Ireland, on August 15, 1843, to hear the Irish statesman, Daniel O'Connell, demand the repeal of the union between his country and Great Britain.

It was attended by more than 1,000,000 people, a number equivalent, at that time, to one person in every family in Ireland.

How to help your sick child GET WELL FASTER

... as recommended in the interest of child welfare by ROSE G. ANDERSON, Ph.D., Director of The Psychological Service Center, New York

- The after-effects of your child's illness are often more important than the illness itself. Pampering, catering to whims, overindulgence teaches a child to dominate through weakness. Such well-meant kindness may prolong his convalescence.
- You'll be smart to help him amuse himself. Give him something which doesn't require an adult's constant attention. Give him your "Eveready" flashlight... or get him one of his own. If he tires of flashing the beam, or flicking out imaginary signals, then...
- Show him how to cut designs or figures from stiff paper and how to throw their shadows on the ceiling or wall. Moving the figures will make them dance. Watch his pride in what he's done. Watch him get well faster because he's happier!

Proof!... In the laboratory... In your own flashlight...

'Face-Lift' Hero Who Fooled Nazis Visits United States

One of Britain's most daring and colorful World War II heroes—an officer who had his face drastically changed by plastic surgeons so that the Gestapo would not recognize him from their records as a known British agent—has come to the United States for the first time.

When tall, greying "Colonel Hastings" stepped off the Queen Mary in New York, few wartime members of the O.S.S. who worked with him before D-Day recognized the man who parachuted into France to help organize the Maquis. As D-Day approached, Colonel Hutchinson began training for his big role. He was brought to London headquarters of the French resistance movement, and there worked closely with members of the American office of strategic services, who knew him as "Colonel Hastings."

His work began with training the De Gaulle volunteers as intelligence officers behind the enemy lines. He equipped them with weapons and ammunition and, arranged their transportation to France. He was to follow them soon, but not before he had undergone a painful physical transformation as he was known to many people in France.

At a hideaway retreat he gave himself into the hands of some of Britain's finest plastic surgeons. During his recovery, he developed "side chops" on his cheeks to complete his surgical disguise.

FREEDOM GARDENS

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is again asking for special emphasis on home food production. They have set a national goal for twenty million freedom gardens for the coming summer.

The major reasons for continued special emphasis on home food production are as follows: (1) To help improve family health and provide more enjoyable living; (2) To help reduce the cost of living; (3) To make available more food for overseas shipments.

In planning a freedom garden the following points should be kept in mind:

1. An increased consumption of vegetables and fruits is in the interest of better nutrition and improved family health.

2. Grow vegetables and fruits most needed in the home.

3. Make the garden of such a size that new and existing plantings can be well cared for.

Garden plans and general garden information may be obtained through the agricultural extension office, P. O. building, West Bend, Wisconsin circular No. 371, "The Vegetable Garden" is available for general use in planning the freedom garden. A number of other circulars including "Feeding Vegetables and Fruits" and "Storing Vegetables at Home" are also available and may be ordered from the bulletin mailing room, College of Agriculture, Madison 6, Wis.

COUNTY HOMEMAKERS HOLD MEETINGS ON BRAIDED RUGS

"Braided rugs are one of the types of hand made rugs which meet the daily routine of home life most efficiently because they wear well, don't kick up and mellow beautifully with age," concluded the women who attended the meetings for Washington county homemakers on braided rugs recently.

These meetings were held in the Hartford city hall, county extension office and at the home of Mrs. Ralph Williams, Germantown. The meetings were conducted by Mrs. Gwen B. Daluge, Washington county home agent. Mrs. H. B. Eselman assisted at the West Bend meeting and Mrs. George Loonhardt at the Germantown meeting. Mrs. Paul Roemer, Hartford, displayed some especially nice rugs made by herself and her aunt.

Important points in making braided rugs stressed at the meeting were:

1. Most valuable rugs are made of wool as they will wear better and colors are usually more mellow. Cotton rugs are satisfactory for bedrooms and kitchens. Silk rugs had best be used where they receive least wear.

2. Colors of rugs should harmonize with color schemes of room. Colors should be greyed and soft. Women who want a beautiful rug should plan the colors before they begin braiding. Generally it is better not to use more than 3 colors in a rug.

3. A proportion of 3 to 5 is a pleasing proportion for most oval or rectangular rugs. To make certain that the proportion of an oval rug is what you want it to be, subtract the width of the finished rug (as you have planned it) from the length. This difference should be used as the length of the center braid.

4. A reversible rug is more desirable as it is more usable and will wear better than one that is not. In order to make the rug reversible, edges of strips should be folded, basted, and pressed before beginning to braid.

5. Cotton braids should be approximately 1/4 inch wide and wool braids about 1/2 inch wide for best results.

6. Although different weights of material may be combined, different kinds of material should never be put together.

7. In order for the rug to wear well and be reversible, stitches should not show from either side in sewing braids together.

West Bend Center: Mmes. H. B. Eselman, Jos. Krumschetter, Jos. Redchert, John Indermuehl, Harvey Bradslison, Chester Cameron, Otto Schoenbeck, Len Bottsmann, Clarence Peterson and Miss Hannah Kimball.

46 MEMBERS ATTEND COUNTY 4-H CLUB COUNCIL MEETING

The Washington County 4-H Club council, composed of members representing clubs throughout the county, held their regular meeting in West Bend on Friday, March 12. Forty-five members were present.

"Think on These Things" was the title of the talk given by Rev. Calvin Franz of Oshkosh. He stressed the importance of thinking before acting.

Robert Mayer, R. I. Slinger, Mary Lhotka and Mary Kowanda, both of R. 1, West Bend, were appointed by acting chairman, Robert Friedemann, R. 3, West Bend, as a committee to plan for an older 4-H party to be held some time in April.

A committee consisting of Robert Friedemann, Phyllis Indermuehl, Jackson, and Mary Lhotka was elected to meet with the adult 4-H club leaders to select representatives from Washington county for the state conference of leaders to be held June 20-23 at Madison.

Following the movie, "America the Beautiful," refreshments were served.

Made for veterans in the hospital at Wood, Wis. by pupils at Holy Trinity school, Newburg, were 100 tray covers. The Junior Red Cross committee prepared 120 table and tray favors for the same place.

With a 100% enrollment in county schools, the Junior Red Cross has followed a program of preparing these special holiday favors for veterans' hospitals across the length and breadth of the land.

CENTURY OF SERVICE

Railroad Centennial Points Up Stimulus to Farm Progress

WNU Features.

The monotony of the long journey was relieved for the weary farmer nudging his plodding ox team from his farmstead along the Desplaines river to the sprawling little lake-side community which was the Chicago of 1848.

'GRAIN TRAIN AHOY!'... Armed with a marine telescope, the president of the old Galena and Chicago Union railroad, forerunner of the Chicago and Northwestern system, would perch in the tower atop this station to check progress of the train as it entered Chicago.

The contraption was the "Pioneer," a spidery locomotive weighing only 10 tons, which only a few days before, on October 25, 1848, had made its initial run out of Chicago over the new Galena and Chicago Union railroad.

When Jerome Beecher, a Chicago leather dealer, who was riding the new train "more or less for excitement," saw the farmer and his load of hides, he immediately foresaw the possibilities of business.

The business possibilities which Beecher foresaw in the farm-railroad link a century ago expanded with amazing rapidity and today products of millions of farms flow annually through Chicago, now the railroad capital of the nation.

One of the railroads which has provided a major stimulus to agriculture in that great midland empire is the Chicago and North Western railroad system, successor to the early-day Galena and Chicago. The old "Pioneer" itself was the forerunner of a huge fleet of powerful locomotives which today haul an almost constant procession of freight and passenger cars over the Northwestern's vast system.

In observing its centennial this year, the North Western will stage special exhibits at 50 of the major cities on its route. Highlight of the displays will be the ancient "Pioneer," which has been removed from its place of honor in the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry for the centennial tour.

Today's large, highly-mechanized farms, which have developed since the "Pioneer" made its initial run in 1848, would amaze the pioneers who trekked from the East to make new homes in the vast rolling prairies of the Midwest.

When the pioneers arrived via covered wagon in the 1840s to till the soil with their crude farming implements, they foresaw a great future for the country, but they could not have conceived of the developments which would take place in the next 100 years.

In their time, persons who lived a scant 10 miles from Chicago were known as prairie dwellers, and not commuters as now. It took an entire day to bring farm products 10 miles to town and return to the fields.

Working hours were longer on a farm in those days, and the settler who gave up an entire day's time to go to market well might regret having to spend that much time away from the source of his livelihood.

Trains were rare enough in the East, early in 1848, and there were none around Chicago at all. Consequently when a group of men interested in building the Galena and Chicago Union railroad began to sell stock, farmers west of the Windy City viewed the securities as a worthwhile investment.

Undaunted by Depression. Money wasn't exactly plentiful 100 years ago. The financial panic that began in 1837 had stopped construction of a number of projected railroads.

However, some farmers around Chicago did have cash, enabling them to pay for their Galena stock on the installment basis. Those who were without hard cash but who had both foresight and good, golden grain exchanged the product of their fields for railroad stock.

They knew their prosperity depended largely on good transportation facilities which would take their products to market quickly and bring them needed supplies.

Within a year after the "Pioneer" had made its initial run on October 25, 1848, it was hauling the farmers' products to market quickly and bringing supplies to them.

Farmers began hauling their grain to the end of the railroad line because they could save a full day by using Galena's 10-mile track. They brought their grain to the western terminal in such large amounts that it piled up faster than the "Pioneer" could haul it away.

Railroad officials were enthused over their budding enterprise, for revenue soared to $15 a day! As more and more farmers took advantage of the new method of taking their products to market, freight revenue rose from $463 in June of 1849 to $3,896 in October to the same year. In October of 1860 freight revenue had jumped to a new peak of $200,183.

Other railroads followed the lead of the Galena and laid track in the fertile Midwest, and more farmers were attracted by the excellent transportation facilities. Farms were staked out closer together and, as the settler picked tracks along the railroads, rural communities sprang up.

Communities Expand. Today many of these towns and cities are more urban than rural, teeming with manufacturing plants whose products are hauled by the railroads to all parts of the nation. But many still maintain their basic rural characteristics and serve as railheads for farm products.

Many of these communities are named after railroaders of early days as a tribute to their role in bringing new life to the Midwest.

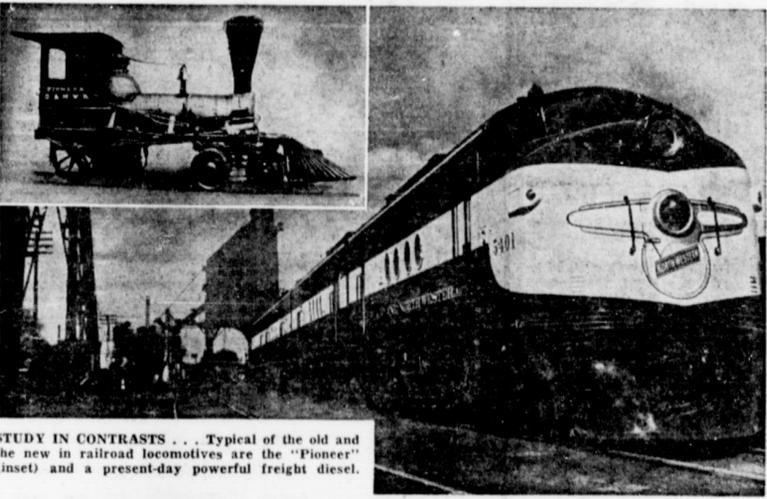

So gigantic has the business of transporting farm products and manufactured articles become that today 45,000 freight cars are handled daily on the 7,726 miles of track in the Chicago area alone.

Figures on farm products handled are staggering. The Chicago and North Western railway system during 1947, for instance, hauled 40,317,000 bushels of grain into Chicago, according to Chicago board of trade figures.

More than Hides. During the year it was the major carrier of grain, bringing in 25,284,000 bushels of corn, 7,050,000 bushels of oats, 3,979,000 bushels of barley and 299,000 bushels of rye.

Other "firsts" set during the year were handling 2,277,200 cases of eggs, 40,929,000 pounds of wool and 10,337 tons of hay. North Western ran a close second in transportation of potatoes, meat, butter, cheese, lard, hides, lumber and tallow. It also hauled more livestock than any other common carrier, bringing in 10,479 cars of animals.

Both agriculture and the railroads have made marked strides since the "Pioneer" brought its first load of hides to Chicago 100 years ago.

STUDY IN CONTRASTS... Typical of the old and the new in railroad locomotives are the "Pioneer" (inset) and a present-day powerful freight diesel.

Retired Man Fashions Toys as Pastime

DES MOINES, IOWA. — Fashioning wooden toys for free distribution among children is a full-time pastime for Arthur Hill, retired 73-year-old machinist. Hill, who started his project as a hobby and developed it into a non-paying job when he retired four years ago, gives the toys to churches, schools and nurseries, which in turn distribute them among children.

EVANSVILLE, IND. — Well-wishers from throughout the United States are boosting Richard Marshall's stamp collection fast. When the seven-year-old boy was stricken with rheumatic fever, a local newspaper carried an item on his illness and said his chief hobby was stamps. Since then he has received more than 150 letters, each containing 50 to 100 stamps.

Well-Schooled Dog Can't Make Grade

PORTLAND, ME. — Although he has been going to school seven years, Blackie, the Burke family's dog, can't get beyond the sixth grade. He started to school with Wallace Burke, but when the boy passed the sixth grade, Blackie tagged along with Lorraine Burke. Since Lorraine moved along, Blackie now goes to fourth grade with Audrey Burke.

C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

VA Employees Dismissed

Investigation into why Veterans' administration is forced to fire approximately 8,500 employees at a time when its work load is at its peak and dismissal may result in disservice to veterans has led to information indicating that VA officials were forced to promise the house appropriations committee not to ask for a deficiency appropriation if they ran out of funds before end of fiscal 1948.

According to information from governmental sources, President Truman has taken a hand in the matter and it may be that VA will file a request for a deficiency appropriation despite any promise "wring from them" by Chairman Taber or any other member of the house appropriations committee.

In the meantime, as has been pointed out in this column, plans have been made to "keep the promise" by firing enough employees to get under the budget ceiling. It is said that the American Legion and other service organizations also are taking a hand in the matter to prevent curtailment of any services to veterans.

Questions and Answers

Q. Our son was a World War II veteran and he died recently as a result of illness contracted while in the service. A lodge to which he belonged bore expenses of the funeral. We understand that Veterans' administration also allows burial expenses. Are we eligible to apply for this expense?—Mr. and Mrs. F. F. T., Stillwater, Okla.

A. Veterans' administration will assume cost of burial, funeral and transportation in an amount not to exceed $150 only if a veteran dies while hospitalized under authority of Veterans' administration. If your son died in a VA hospital or other VA domicile and total expense of funeral was paid by another agency, claim against VA would be disallowed. If, however, total expense is larger than the amount received VA would pay the difference between actual cost and the amount received, not to exceed $150.

Q. I am a veteran of World War I, am past 60 years old and in very poor health. I have ulcers of the stomach and heart trouble. I will have to stay in bed for some time. Could I get a total and permanent non-service-connected disability pension and if so, how would I go about getting it and where would I apply?—B. S. H., East Dubuque, Ill.

A. You likely would have little trouble getting your disability pension. Whether it would be a total and permanent disability would depend upon the rating given you after examination by VA physicians. Suggest that you apply to your nearest Veterans' administration office for a disability rating. Your local American Legion or other veterans organization post will help you in making your application.

Q. Can you tell me whether veterans of World War I or widows or children of veterans of World War II are entitled to loans under the G.I. bill?—Mrs. G. G. W., Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

A. No, only veterans of World War II are eligible for loans under the G.I. bill of rights. However, widows and children of World War II veterans may continue to loan after the veteran's death.

Q. Does a sister whose brother is dead but left a will in her favor have to divide the Illinois state bonus with the other brothers and sisters?—G. C., Springfield, Ill.

A. You will have to share the bonus with all the surviving brothers and sisters of the deceased veteran, provided your mother and father are deceased. If they are living the mother is entitled to the state bonus; after her, the father is the next beneficiary.

Q. I have a claim pending with Veterans' administration. Will I have to pay a lawyer to help me to get my compensation?—H. B. F., Joliet, Ill.

A. Veterans are not required to pay attorneys or agents for representing them in monetary claims against Veterans' administration.

Clifton Webb, famous as a dancer in Broadway shows before anyone knew he could act, has made his name in pictures as an actor. But he returns briefly to dancing in "Sitting Pretty" to do a rumba with Maureen O'Hara.

From eight to nine, EST, Sunday nights on ABC — that's the time to sit by the phone and listen to "Stop the Music," the big new show whose prizes are all for home audience participants. Name the tune just played by Harry Salter's orchestra and you win something worth at least $250. The more difficult "mystery tune" and fabulous gifts will pour in. Switchboard operators pick names at random from all over the country.

The historic 1936 Olympic games are presented in "Kings of the Olympics," recently released by United Artists. Originally comprising 24,000 feet of film, it was acquired from the alien property custodian by Leonid Kipnis of Westport International, then edited, from the work of 600 cameramen. Hitler presided over the games, the last before the war.

Many an actress — Constance Bennett, Claire Trevor and Kay Francis, for example — can't scream satisfactorily. Lauren Bacall can, not only for herself, but for others. She was on the "Key Largo" set when Miss Trevor had to do a screaming scene, and let go with a sample that startled Humphrey Bogart and John Huston. So you'll hear her screams, not Claire's.

You probably have heard Arthur Godfrey singing "The Thousand Islands Song." Well, Mayor Mitchell of Alexandria, N. Y., feels that Arthur has done so much for the Thousand Islands that he's given him one!

Three of the country's leading disc jockeys, Dave Garroway, Jack Eigen and Peter Potter, will be featured in Columbia's "I Surrender, Dear," with Gloria Jean and David Street. Don McGuire has the comedy lead.

Norman Brokenshire did the first radio interview with movie stars — Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford; still recalls how she fainted away, from mike fright. He is credited with a lot of radio firsts — originating the daily serial style of program, doing the first philosophical show, etc. He now is climbing to the top again, with "Theatre Guild on the Air" and two NBC morning programs.

The first Hollywood producer to add a helicopter to his standard studio equipment is Samuel Goldwyn. It will be fitted with a special gyro camera mount, to which a regular camera will be affixed. Goldwyn predicts that it may open entirely new techniques in film production.

Warner Bros. will send a special camera crew to New York, Chicago and Rio de Janeiro for special backgrounds for "The Fountainhead." Gary Cooper will star in the film version of the popular novel; King Vidor will direct.

ODDS AND ENDS—Ronald Colman served notice that he will do no guest appearances other than on the Jack Benny show... Frank Sinatra withdrew his FCC application for a permit to build a radio station at Palm Springs... The most English-sounding Englishmen on "The Whistler" are usually played by Tom Colville, who has never been within 3,000 miles of England... Victor Moore is now a regular on the Jimmy Durante show... Marjorie Walker, dancing in Eddie Cantor's "If You Knew Suzie," made her screen bow as Wesley Barry's little sister in "Laddie," 17 years ago, when only six.

A. No, we do not believe it will keep you from a pension.

Q. I am a newly made civilian and already I am starting to wonder about taxes. How does a veteran arrange for postponement on income tax due when he is discharged from the army?—L. G. T., Tulsa, Okla.

Southward Migration The causes of southward migration are uncertain but it is believed a lessening of the food supply and shortened hours of daylight foraging in winter are influential, according to Missouri Conservation commission. Seed eaters, predators and the more omnivorous species comprise most of the nonmigrants. Changes in the seasonal amounts of light and temperature likewise appear to inhibit or create an urge to migrate due to changes in the sex glands.

Starving Curtains Here's a tip for starving curtains in the washing machine: Use one part starch to 10 parts water and, following the manufacturers directions, make up a batch of starch. Put four cups of this starch solution into a washing machine filled to water line with warm water. The agitator swishes starch through the curtains for two or three minutes, saving motions and minutes.

Use Grounding Chain A grounding chain should be used on rubber-tired farm equipment when there is no metallic contact with the ground. A grounding chain removes the danger of static sparks which set off an explosion or start a fire while the fuel tank of the tractor is being filled. This often occurs with rubber-tired tractors and combines, tractors and trailers, and field harvesters.

Reading and Vision General reading requirements have increased 170 per cent since 1900. The average school child must read 15 times more today than in 1900. America's vision must be re-educated to meet the demands of a near-point world. Many children do not have sufficient visual maturity to begin reading until they are seven or eight years old, according to American Optometric association.

ABOUT OUR PRESIDENTS
 THE LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN is the subject of a college course. For many years this series of studies has been one of the most popular offered by the Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn. Lincoln is the only American to be so honored.
 NO PRESIDENT HAS EVER RESIGNED his office, but one vice president, John C. Calhoun, did, on December 28, 1832. He resigned to become senator from South Carolina.
 SEVEN PRESIDENTS HAVE DIED IN OFFICE, but Zachary Taylor and Franklin Delano Roosevelt were the only two Presidents to die in office while congress was in session.

School Kids From 6 to 60 May Become the Law

The time may come when the law makes people from 6 to 60 do school work, a group of teachers said recently.

Their reason: A good education is the world's best defense against war.

The prediction came from a 10-man commission which looked over the public school system for the American Association of School Administrators.

The commission said grownups should continue studying so they can keep up with "the new era of world events which suddenly has been ushered in."
