"The Cotton Town Minstrels," sponsored by the Kewaskum Kiwanis club, is now entering its last week of rehearsals. A group of thirty men has been practicing for the last five weeks to bring the community an unusual musical comedy revue. This show is chock full of laughs, songs and suspense. It is guaranteed to entertain you for every minute of its two hour length.

Tickets are now on sale. They may be purchased from any Kiwanis member, Elmer Schabo at the high school, or at Kluever's Barber Shop. You would be wise to purchase your ticket in advance because of the limited seating facilities of the high school auditorium. This would assure you of a seat at the performance, but remember, no seats are reserved. The choice seats will go to the first people to get them.

The show will be given Sunday, April 4, and Monday, April 5. There will be a special children's matinee given Sunday, April 4, at 2:15 p. m. It is requested that all parents send their children to this, thus giving the adults more room for the evening performances. The curtain time for the evening shows is 8:15 p. m.

The proceeds from this show will go to the Band Parents' organization for the purchase of new uniforms for the Kewaskum high school band. Here is the chance for everyone in the community to help boost the band and will receive an evening's enjoyment that will never be forgotten.

Between acts of the minstrel show there will be several surprise speciality acts given by the ladies of the Band Parents' organization.

Smallpox Vaccination Program is Scheduled

The Washington County Health committee has arranged a smallpox vaccination program to be held March 30 and 31 and April 1 and 2.

Smallpox is one of the most highly contagious of all diseases. It is communicable from the beginning of the fever through the disease until all the crusts disappear. Every year some people lose their lives and others are crippled as a result of the disease. Because it is being controlled by large-scale vaccination, many people are becoming careless and neglecting to protect themselves. One case is all that is needed to start an epidemic, and you may never know when you are exposed.

The only sure protection that we have against this disease is vaccination. The State Board of Health recommends that vaccination should be performed on children before one year of age. This is important because during the time from one to six years the child easily catches any of the communicable diseases. During this time the child is growing very rapidly and any disease slows up his growth and development.

The vaccination should be repeated at about the time the child enters school to give a surer immunity. As a parent, you have the responsibility of giving your children this protection. The local doctors will give the vaccination for a fee of 50¢ per person and will be assisted by Miss Gladys Salter, county public health nurse, at the following places:

Tuesday, March 30 — Kewaskum high school, 9:00 to 9:30 a. m.; Boltoville graded school, 10:00 to 10:30 a. m.; Fillmore graded school, 11:00 to 11:30 a. m.

Wednesday, March 31 — Germantown graded school, 9:30 to 10:00 a. m.; Richfield graded school, 10:30 to 11:00 a. m.; Pat grad's school, 1:00 to 1:30 p. m.; St. Hubert's school, 2:00 to 2:30 p. m.

Thursday, April 1 — Barton graded school, 9:00 to 9:30 a. m.; Jackson graded school, 10:30 to 11:00 a. m.; Newburg graded school, 11:30 to 12:00 noon.

Friday, April 2 — Sacred Heart school, 9:00 to 9:30 a. m.; St. Lawrence school, 10:00 to 10:30 a. m.; Slinger high school, 11:00 to 11:30 a. m.; Hartford city hall, 1:00 to 2:00 p. m.

REV. LA BUWI DELIVERS HOLY WEEK MESSAGE TO KIWANIANS

An inspiring Holy Week message was delivered to the Kiwanis club Monday night by Rev. F. C. La Buwi. His comments on "These Days Challenge Our Times" brought to each Kiwanian's mind a grim picture of the values in the world today and of the broken homes, divorces, and high rate of juvenile delinquency which help bring the realization that a return of Christian ideals is needed.

Ernie Mitchell reported on the excellent results the Boy Scouts achieved in their paper drive. Four long of paper were collected.

Girl Recovering From Near Miracle Surgery

Mrs. D. M. Rosenheimer, village, who is vacationing in the South, this week sent the Statesman a brief letter from Edgewater Park, Miss., with which she enclosed a newspaper clipping from the Kirkland, Ill. paper. The clipping tells of a rare and unusual operation of a near miracle from which her granddaughter, Barbara Ann Blake of Kirkland, is recovering. Barbara Ann is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blake of Kirkland. Mrs. Blake is the former Doris Mae Rosenheimer of here.

The article in the Kirkland paper, which Mrs. Rosenheimer has asked the Statesman to publish in the hope that it may save the life of some other child, reads as follows:

"Barbara Ann of Kirkland is recovering and doing nicely, thank you. 'The constant fight of science to discover the secrets of nature, and the training and skill of marvelous surgeons, has successfully performed an operation that is going to give Barbara Ann, the three and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blake of Kirkland a chance for normal life.

"On February 23 Barbara Ann was taken to the Children's Memorial hospital in Chicago and two days later submitted to an operation on her heart.

"Barbara Ann was not a blue baby, but there was a structural fault with the organ, an opening that nature allowed to develop as an error, robbing the youngster of stamina, causing her to lose all color when over excited.

"Dr. Willis J. Pitts, chief surgeon at the Children's Memorial hospital performed the operation, which was the 27th of its kind in the Midwest. Surgeons call the operation a Patent Ductus Arteriosus, which Dr. Borrowsman, the Kirkland and the family physician of the Blakes says describes the opening between the pulmonary artery and aorta.

"The surgeon opened the chest cavity, exposed the heart, closed the opening and closed the incision.

"The operation was naturally a risky one, but a marvelous accomplishment. Barbara Ann and her mother were able to return to the home in Kirkland on March 6, and she apparently is recovering in a normal and steady manner.

"The operation is close to being a miracle, but would probably have been accepted as just one of those mysteries of medicine if it had not been for a story of late February which appeared in a Chicago paper.

"A reporter, Ward Walker, had been permitted to watch an operation. In the particular operation described in the Chicago paper a correction was made to create an opening in the heart to eliminate a 'blue baby' condition. That operation was also on a three and a half year old girl, with Dr. Potts performing the near miracle.

"Dr. Potts is credited as being the man who conceived the life giving operation and whose work has made Chicago a center for blue baby surgery and has drawn surgeons from far and near."

ENROLL NOW FOR COUNTY BARLEY GROWING CONTEST

Many farmers in Washington county have during the past few weeks enrolled in the county barley growing contest. Last year 167 farmers enrolled and exhibited bushel samples at the county barley show held in September. It is hoped that even a larger number of barley growers will enter the contest this year. About $500.00 in prizes will be offered plus other awards of about the same value.

Any farmer growing a reasonable acreage of barley is eligible to enter. The rules of the contest are simple and easily carried out. They are:

(1) Entries must be made before May 15. Entry blanks can be obtained from the county extension office, post office building, West Bend.

(2) A reasonable acreage of barley must be grown.

(3) A well cleaned and grade bushel sample (48 lbs.) must be entered at the county show. This bushel sample will be purchased for $5.00.

Farmers should plant only good seed barley which has been well cleaned and treated for blight and smut control. Barley fields yield best if fertilized. As much as 500 lbs. of commercial fertilizer per acre can safely be used. On lighter soils the use of a 3-12-12 fertilizer is usually regarded as best, while on richer heavier soils the 0-20-10 or a similar commercial fertilizer is desirable.

Also discontinued is No. 244, southbound, on Sundays only and due here at 11:10 p. m. Operation of two sleeping cars has also been discontinued.

Since most of these trains, notably Nos. 154 and 210, carried considerable mail, arrangements have been made by the railroad to facilitate the handling of mail by truck. Mail is delivered and picked up by truck daily at the local post office.

Drum & Bugle Corps in First Appearance

The newly organized Kewaskum American Legion post drum and bugle corps, which has been holding weekly rehearsals through the winter at the Legion Memorial building and Kewaskum Opera House, made its first outside appearance on the streets of the village Monday evening. The blowing of bugles and beating of drums by the members of the corps marching in unison came as an unexpected surprise to the natives and attracted many people to the street.

The rainy weather prompted the drum and bugle corps' hard working and very capable director, Pat Fries, a member of the local Legion post, to give the boys their initial workout out of doors after marching in circles around a hall. After the appearance much praise for the corps came forth from the spectators, who expressed surprise at how much the outfit had progressed and how well they sounded.

The corps, managed by Ray Zelmert of the Legion post, was organized late last fall and now has a membership of about 25 drummers and buglers. These men have practiced hard and much credit should go to Director Fries and Manager Zelmert for their time and work in getting the boys started.

New members are invited to join the organization. If you can't play a drum or bugle, Pat will teach you. Contacts are now being made for new uniforms for the corps. The uniforms will be very "snazzy" and will follow an army uniform pattern. It is planned to have army khaki pants and officer's shirt with white helmet and white leggings. Our little city is sure to be proud of the corps before the summer is over.

The organization already has several engagements for this coming summer and expects to book more. The corps hopes to make its first public appearance in Kewaskum on Memorial day, May 30. One other thing, the corps would not refuse any financial aid which might be thrown its way. These shiny new uniforms, new drums and bugles require a great deal of that "green stuff."

The next rehearsal will be held at the Legion Memorial building next Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. and you will see more of the drum and bugle corps on the streets in the future when the weather is warm.

INVENTED BY COUNTY FARMER FEATURED IN CAPPER'S FARMER

Charles Reblin of Rockfield is featured in an article in the April issue of Capper's Farmer. The story describes a tractor snowplow used by Reblin and a picture of the tractor plow accompanies the article.

"The plow," says the farm magazine, "takes a cut of 7 1/2 feet. It is 2 1/2 feet high at the V and is 4 feet high at the wing tips. The moldboard was built out of two 4x8 foot pieces of 12 gauge steel. Pushers and crosspieces were made from scrap 2-inch piping, and the cutting edge is from an old wagon tire. The blade was shaped to size by using jacks and then electric welded into place.

The plow cost $46 to build, says the story, and keeps Reblin's driveway 5/8 mile long—clear of snow. The plow can be raised 8 inches from the ground or left floating on the shoes.

Red Cross Fund Nears $7,000; Well Over Goal

Although a final report cannot be made at least until next week, Matt Goring Jr., chairman of the Red Cross fund campaign, disclosed Tuesday that contributions received thus far are approaching a $7,000 total, well above the quota set for the drive.

Final reports have been submitted by some township and village chairmen, Goring said, but many final reports are still due, thus necessitating a delay in making a complete report on the success of the drive.

Goring emphasized his request that all chairmen should complete their solicitations as soon as possible and make their reports to the campaign headquarters immediately.

"Until all chairmen have been heard from, we cannot make an accurate report to the people who put this drive over the top," Goring said.

"Even though we are not yet sure what the final total will be," the chairman continued, "we can be proud of the fact that the people in the chapter area gave more than they were asked to give, and I am confident that the final tabulations will give us still more reason to be proud."

With the balance of the precinct chairmen's reports expected this week, Goring said a full report showing the amount subscribed by each township, village and city, would be given to local newspapers as soon as possible.

170 AT FOND DU LAC MEETING OF CASH CROP COOPERATIVE

Better use of labor available in the county to help at times of peak loads of harvesting canning crops rather than importation of labor was recommended by members of the State Cash Crop Cooperative meeting at Fond du Lac Tuesday. Over 170 delegates attended the one-day convocation.

Charles Peterson, Rosendale, was re-elected president of the state organization; Oscar Eis, Two Rivers, vice-president; Ronald Casey, New London, secretary, and Howard Greene, Genesee Depot, treasurer. Elected to the board of directors were Reuben W. Gauger, Rockfield; Theron Johnson, Columbus; Harrison Phelps, Fox Lake; Walter Bieke, Fair Water; and Myron Nesting, Blair.

In other resolutions passed, the group recommended that an income support program be adopted, embracing all of agriculture, that would tend to retain an equitable relationship between income of farmers and non-farm groups. At present, support programs do not include canning crops and recommendations were made to have them included.

The group passed a resolution requesting the state college of agriculture to carry on research to solve problems in the production of cash crops.

The annual report submitted by William E. Black, general manager of the Cash Crop Cooperative, indicated that the organization's present membership is in excess of 2,000. He cited that considerable progress has been made in organization of new local units throughout the state.

In addition to delegates and growers attending the meeting, the college of agriculture was represented by W. W. Clark, associate director of agriculture extension; John L. Kross, agriculture specialist; Wilbert L. Wills, state department of agriculture; William Kasckaitas, Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation,

The FICTION Corner

IMPROMPTU
By FLORENCE BAUGH

I JOINED the crowd gathered on the bridge watching the crew dragging the lake above the dam.

"Who are they searching for this time?" I asked as I pushed closer to the rail.

"Young Doc Warren," several answered at once.

I had never seen young William Warren, but I knew about him—the whole town knew about him. He had joined the army with our National Guard. The boys were still singing his praises. He had been through a lot at the front and had won the complete devotion of his men by his untiring efforts and unceasing good humor. He had returned to his father's clinic almost immediately upon his return to the States. I had heard little about him in recent months.

"What about the woman they were dragging for yesterday?" I asked.

"They found her earlier this morning. Plain case of suicide. But when the boats were coming in to the dock over there by those willows they found a man's hat. It had his name inside—William Warren."

"And about the same time," another put in, "the police find this car on the bridge, out of gas and nobody around." He pointed to a green sedan that several officers were shaking down. "They find a driver's license on the steering post in the name of young Doc Warren. They figure something has happened to the Doc, so while they radio headquarters for a check the boats lower the grab hooks and start working again."

I edged my way over near a couple patrolmen who had arrived from headquarters. Calls to Doc Warren's home, his office, the two hospitals, all brought the same response: he wasn't there.

His wife had told the officers that he had left home early, before she and the children were up. He had come home late after an emergency operation, seemed unable to relax, and had spent a restless night. She had awakened while he was dressing and asked if he had a call. He explained that he was just going out to clear the cobwebs from his mind. He had kissed her goodby. She had thought no more about it until the police called.

I moved back to the rail to watch the boats as they trolled slowly toward us, the grappling hooks searching the lake bottom in the lane between them. The water was plenty choppy, a cold raw wind had been blowing out of the north since yesterday. Nothing about the scene seemed urgent. The boats moved slowly. The crowd just stood and watched, coat collars turned up against the wind.

A young boy had crawled under my arms to press himself against the rail, excited by his first-hand experience with tragedy. "They got something," he shouted, and the crowd came to life. All turned toward the men in the boats, watching with a strange fascination, waiting to see what was being dragged out.

Someone said, "That's him!" when the men pulled the thing loose from the hooks. "They put him in a gunny sack!"

We saw the men in one of the boats peering into the sack. Then one of them, looking up at us, pulled out and held up a decoy some hunter had lost. There was a murmur of relief, of restrained amusement, and the crowd settled back again into their coat collars.

Someone commented, "This jumping off bridges is getting to be an epidemic."

Another one questioned, "How do you know he jumped? Maybe he was pushed."

Another said, seriously, "That's right. My boy knew him. He wasn't a coward. If he's in that lake he was murdered."

A siren wailed and the crowd fell back to make room for another patrol car which drew up alongside the green sedan. "There's Old Doc Warren," someone in the crowd said as an elderly man stepped out of the car.

I worked my way toward the car. I could hear Old Doc Warren talking. "Yes, this is his car. He has been working too hard, but what doctor hasn't these days? So far as I know he has no enemies, but I don't believe my son would commit suicide!"

There was another stir of excitement. I threaded my way back to the rail to see if this time they had really found him.

The boys in the boats were having difficulty hauling in the lines, but when the catch broke water we could see it was just a log.

As they dropped it back the shrill whistle of the interurban reminded me that I was already late for work. I reluctantly pulled myself away and headed toward town.

Down the road I stopped at Phil's Phil-er-Up. I like Phil and I could save the city gasoline tax.

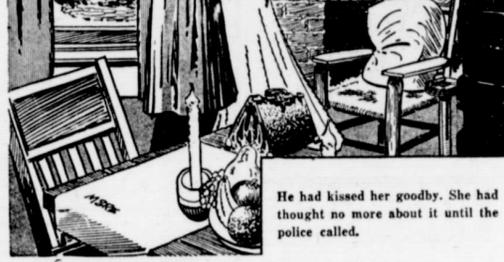

"Where's the boss?" I asked the young attendant who dashed out to wait on me, "up at the lake watching them drag for the body?"

"Gosh, no!" exclaimed the boy as he fumbled with the hose. "Has he been having a time! His wife had a baby this morning, a week before she was expecting it!"

Just then Phil came out of the living quarters in the back with another young man. Phil was beaming like the traditional proud father as he pulled his hat down firmly. The other man didn't seem excited.

I heard Phil say, "Hey, Doc, you forgot your hat." He turned to go back. But the other man laughed. "You were too excited to notice that I didn't have one when I walked in here for gas. The wind blew it off as I stepped out of my car on the bridge."

He had kissed her goodby. She had thought no more about it until the police called.

Pittsburgh Council to Abandon Stephen Foster Memorial Home

Once again Pittsburgh is embroiled in a controversy over Stephen C. Foster, one of its most famous sons, as the result of a decision by the city council to abandon the Stephen Foster Memorial home.

Rather than spend $10,000 to rehabilitate the memorial home, the city is giving up the 14-room mansion which some biographers term the "authentic site" of Foster's birth.

The once stately place has become dilapidated, with plaster falling, porches collapsing and romping school children peppering its windows with stones.

Three direct descendants of the noted composer may be left homeless as a result of the abandonment. The three, a grandson, granddaughter and great-granddaughter, have lived in the building for more than 30 years. The granddaughter, Mrs. Jessie Rose, 72, has been acting as caretaker for the city.

In its decision not to repair the building, the city council declared that the rambling brick homestead has ceased to have any value as a memorial. The council therefore is deeding the property back to heirs of James H. Park, wealthy steelmaster who bought it in 1914 and gave it to the city with the stipulation that it be maintained as a museum containing a collection of Stephen Foster mementoes.

Park, an admirer of Foster's music, made the purchase because he "thought it a shame" there was no memorial to the great writer of "My Old Kentucky Home" and other ageless American songs.

Music-lovers of the city later raised $500,000 to build an elaborate Gothic memorial to Foster on University of Pittsburgh campus. This memorial contains the largest collection of Foster's manuscripts and other belongings. It now is the mecca for thousands of visitors who formerly called at the Stephen Foster Memorial home.

Another controversy over Foster raged in 1934 when Henry Ford bought what was claimed to be Foster's "real birthplace" and moved it to his outdoor museum in Dearborn, Mich. William McNair, Pittsburgh's mayor at the time, claimed the millionaire car manufacturer bought "the wrong house." Mrs. Evelyn Foster Mornesweck of Detroit, a niece and biographer of Foster, said the composer was born in a white frame cottage which was torn down and replaced in 1865 with the brick mansion which became the Stephen Foster Memorial home. Foster died in 1863.

Playing Child Termed Human Caution Sign

A playing child should be a Human Caution sign to motorists, officials emphasize in connection with a nationwide plea for highway safety.

One of every three children who die is killed in a traffic accident, according to the 1947 edition of Accident Facts, a publication devoted to safety promotion. One-third of the accidental deaths of children 5 to 14 years of age are the result of motor vehicle accidents.

Motorists are cautioned to observe the following rules:

1. Always "Watch Out for Kids."
2. Keep clear of bicycles—right or wrong—as they are defenseless against a motor vehicle.
3. Be on the lookout for children darting out between parked cars. Reduce speed and increase watchfulness in school zones and residential areas.
4. Always remember that children have not reached the age of discretion and judgment—drivers must think for them.
5. Children play in driveways and around parked vehicles—always make sure children are out of the way before starting a parked vehicle.
6. Driver—it might be your child!

A MOMENT is but one quick breath,
An hour, one small golden while,
A day, a space from dawn to dusk,
The clock's hands move about the dial,
And it is night. God only gives
The promised strength from day to day.
Within this small enclosure he
Has placed us, and he bids us stay.

Congressional Pages Comprise Most Exclusive Boys' Club

Fifty boys ranging in age from 16 to 19 comprise the most exclusive boys' club in the world. They are members of the page boys' club, serving as aides to congressmen in the nation's capital in Washington.

Membership in the club is limited to boys who have the blessing and recommendation of a congressman. Although the majority are from the Washington area, some are from all parts of the United States.

Many of the boys who fill the ink well and run errands for congressmen have political ambitions themselves.

Consequently it is natural that one of the most popular courses in the page boys' private school is government. Classes for the youngsters start at 6:30 a. m. and continue until shortly before 10:30 a. m., when the boys are due on the house floor or in committee rooms.

Out of their take home pay of $196 a month, the boys have to pay for their own uniforms. For the first time, the boys are wearing standard uniforms in the 80th session. They consist of blue serge suits, with black shoes and ties, and white shirts.

In previous sessions the boys showed up in any old thing. Then one day a western youngster sported a bright red jacket reminiscent of a cow poke. He caused quite a commotion and, besides, the dignified solons decided, too many of the page boys looked like junior congressmen. The result: An order for regular uniforms.

Gay Easter Menu Heralds Approach Of Spring Season

A table setting perfectly expressive of Easter and all the tradition that goes with it can easily be done the day before. The bowl or basket in which you place the eggs may be decorated with shredded crepe paper in pastel colors.

Easter really heralds spring and we like to make the day as gay and lovely as possible. That means bringing out your delicate china, pastel china, and sweeping the menu with a touch of spring, both in choice of foods and colors.

Many people like ham for Easter and it's a real economy to have it because you can make so many interesting left-overs, have sliced ham for snacks and sandwiches, and still have a lovely meat for the table the first time you serve it.

Start off with chilled orange juice but add excitement to it by placing a small scoop of raspberry (or mint or lime) sherbet on top. The dessert I've chosen is light but pretty and is balanced for the menu.

Your centerpiece can be made of traditional Easter eggs nestling in a basket or bowl. You'll find a package of inexpensive dyes with a handy egg dipper, a special pencil and decals of popular comic characters to help you decorate more successfully.

If you use the decorated eggs for place cards, set it on stiff paper.

Of course many people like to spend Easter evening eating the sandwiches with salt and bread and butter, but if you have any left, use them for egg salad, creamed eggs or eggs a la king.

The ham is easy to prepare and always popular. For small groups, buy half a ham, but decorate it, too. You may buy the ready-to-eat variety or the cook-before-eating. Whichever one you select, however, keep it refrigerated. The ready-to-eat variety is baked, but only enough to heat it through. Give it 10 minutes to the pound.

Here's how to prepare the other type:

Place ham fat side up in an open roasting pan. Do not cover and do not add water. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degree) over allowing 22 to 25 minutes per pound for cooking a before-eating ham.

How to Glaze.

Half an hour before the ham is done, cover with glaze and finish baking at the same low temperature. If ham is to be scored, do it at this time. Brush ham with 1/2 cup of honey, molasses or apricot jam. Baste frequently during rest of cooking time.

If you do not want to garnish the ham, simply fill peach halves with bright colored jelly and place around ham before serving.

Escalloped Broccoli. (Serves 6)

2 pound broccoli
1 1/2 cups thin cream sauce
1/2 cup grated American cheese

Cook broccoli in boiling, salted water for 15 minutes.

Place layers of broccoli and cream sauce with a little cheese in casserole until all is used. Sprinkle cheese on top and heat through in moderate oven (about 15 minutes).

If you are particularly fond of asparagus, serve that in place of the broccoli. It's excellent just buttered; or, if you wish a sauce, here's a good way to do it.

Baked Ham Casserole. (Serves 6)

2 cups ground, baked ham
1 cup cooked peas
3 eggs
2 tablespoons green pepper, minced
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons horseradish
1/4 cup grated American cheese
Paprika

Place ham in greased eight-inch square pan. Top with peas. Beat together eggs, green pepper, milk and horseradish. Pour over peas. Top with cheese. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 40 minutes. Let set in warm place for 10 to 15 minutes. Cut into six inch squares. Serve with tomato sauce, if desired.

LYNN SAYS:

Ways for Serving Vegetables Are Many

Green lima beans may be creamed for variety, or served with crumbled bits of crisp bacon.

Cream sauce and asparagus with a few mushroom caps are delicious, too. Try a bit of nutmeg for seasoning.

Of course, you can combine lima beans with other vegetables. Try them with scallions, tomatoes, string beans or corn.

String beans go well with corn kernels and diced tomatoes cooked in a bit of salad oil. Or, mix them with chili sauce if you want a bit of tartness.

Cauliflower takes on new interest when served with string bean sauce (string beans creamed lightly.) Or, you may like it with a coating of tomato sauce.

Did you know that asparagus taste more like itself if it is marinated in melted butter and lemon juice before serving? Or, serve it with hollandaise sauce to bring out the flavor.

LYNN CHAMBERS' EASTER DINNER

- Orange Juice with Raspberry Ice
  - Baked Ham
  - Sweet Potato Casserole
  - Escalloped Broccoli
  - Cloverleaf Rolls
  - Molded Carrot Salad
  - Pineapple Torte
- *Recipe given.

- Asparagus, Lemon Sauce. (Serves 8)
- 1/4 cup butter
  - 1/4 cup flour
  - 3 cups milk
  - 2 egg yolks, beaten
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 pounds asparagus, cooked
- Make white sauce with butter, flour and milk. Add egg yolks, lemon juice and seasoning. Arrange hot asparagus in serving dish and pour lemon sauce over it.
- The molded carrot salad is easily prepared the day before. To serve six, simply shred carrots, using two cups, and add to lemon or orange flavored gelatin. You may add grapefruit wedges or green pepper or celery, if so desired.

The torte is a light dessert which is so splendid for this type of meal. This, too, may be made the day before as it requires thorough chilling.

*Pineapple Torte. (Serves 6 to 8)

Crust:

- 2 1/2 graham crackers
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Filling:

- 3 cups milk
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup crushed pineapple
- 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
- 6 tablespoons sugar

To make crust, crush finely the graham crackers and mix with butter and sugar. Press 2/3 of the crumbs against the sides and bottom of a well-buttered tin.

To make filling, bring milk to the scalding point in double boiler. Blend thoroughly the sugar, salt and cornstarch. Beat in egg yolks, add hot milk gradually. Return to double boiler and stir until thick. Cool.

Add vanilla and pour into crumbled tin. Put drained pineapple on top of custard. Beat egg whites stiff, add gradually the six tablespoons of sugar, spread on pineapple, sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven. Chill overnight before removing from pan.

Let your ham reflect the holiday spirit by garnishing it with flowers, the petals of which are made with candied or fresh orange peel, the stems of candied citron and the centers of maraschino cherries.

Here's a good use for leftover ham the following day:

Baked Ham Casserole. (Serves 6)

- 2 cups ground, baked ham
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 3 eggs
- 2 tablespoons green pepper, minced
- 1 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons horseradish
- 1/4 cup grated American cheese
- Paprika

Place ham in greased eight-inch square pan. Top with peas. Beat together eggs, green pepper, milk and horseradish. Pour over peas. Top with cheese. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 40 minutes. Let set in warm place for 10 to 15 minutes. Cut into six inch squares. Serve with tomato sauce, if desired.

Beets do very well with a dusting of ground cloves or a bit of horseradish.

You can do all sorts of things with corn. Make fritters or pudding out of it if you want to dress it up a bit.

Mustard sauce goes well on string beans, and mushrooms are a nice addition to either plain or creamed string beans.

Broccoli is delicious when seasoned with some parmesan cheese, but you also may serve it with cream sauce or hollandaise sauce.

Peas may be cooked with scallions, celery or mushrooms and with tiny onions for flavor interest.

Brussels sprouts may be seasoned with a bit of finely minced onion or cut up celery. Some like a few chopped chestnuts in them.

Cabbage may be cooked shredded until crisply done and enhanced with a mustard butter sauce. You'll like it also with a bit of bacon.

Why not add scallions to new boiled potatoes, too? You'll like the delicate flavors combined. A sprinkling of grated cheese over any type of potato adds interest.

N. Y. Court Decision Holds Test-Tube Baby Legitimate

NEW YORK.—A supreme court justice ruled that a child born as the result of artificial insemination is legitimate.

The ruling was made by Justice Henry Clay Greenberg in deciding that the estranged husband of Mrs. Julie Strnad, 31, had a right to visit her daughter, four-year-old Antoinette, who she said was a product of artificial insemination.

Mrs. Strnad claimed that her husband, Antoine, 42, was sterile since birth, an allegation he denied. She sought to prevent him from seeing the child on the ground Antoinette was not the offspring of her ex-mate. She had won a separation decree and principal custody of the child last October.

WASHINGTON.—The atomic energy commission has posted a "Danger—Keep Out" notice, covering 39,000 square miles of the Pacific ocean surrounding Eniwetok atoll, site of forthcoming tests of military weapons.

The danger will continue through-out 1948.

Farm Mechanization Boosts Production to Record Level

OMAHA, NEB.—Americans are harvesting 20 million more acres today than they did in 1940, although there are three million fewer people doing it, and on 200,000 fewer farms.

Fast-growing mechanization of farms is largely responsible for this feat, Joseph A. Hoban, merchandise manager of B. F. Goodrich company, told members of Midwest Implement Dealers association. He cited the fact that the nation's tractor "population" had doubled, from one million to two million, just since 1940.

Praising "the way America's farmers and other food producers had come through to ease tragic conditions in many lands," Hoban cited the following estimates on the nation's 1947 exports of foodstuffs: 392 million bushels of wheat, five times the amount exported in 1939; 88 million bushels of corn, compared to 32 million in 1939, and 123 million pounds of meat products, against 193 million in 1939.

The farm market offered "the biggest sales opportunity" for industry in 1947, Hoban said, adding that "there is no question that this market is going forward at as great or even greater pace in 1948."

Hoban said that all tractors now made are rubber-tired, and that changing all a farm's rolling stock from steel to rubber tires produced an average saving of 24 working days and 675 gallons of gasoline per year, for each 150 acres worked.

SAVE GIRDLED FRUIT TREES

Each winter many unprotected fruit trees are girdled by mice and rabbits. If the tree is small, say less than 10 years old, it is best to replace the tree with a new one. On the other hand, if the tree has reached the bearing age and has been girdled completely around the tree, the fruit grower may want to bridge graft it. A bulletin showing how bridge grafting may be done can be obtained from the extension office. If only a part of the bark has been removed, it is well to cover all exposed parts with a grafting wax which can be purchased locally.

Authorized and paid for by the Stassen for President Wisconsin State Committee, C. H. Rasmussen, Sec., 424 E. Wisconsin Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., for which $4.90 has been paid the Kewaskum Statesman.

TOWNSHIP BANG'S PROGRAM RECEIVES FARMER SUPPORT

Dairyland owners of Hartford, Germantown and Trenton townships have completed the township Bang's disease control petition sign-up. All three townships have more than the required 75 percent of the herd owners who have signed the petition. Other townships like Farmington, Polk, Addison and Erin have about completed the petition sign-up work. It is hoped that the remaining townships will make additional efforts to complete the work of obtaining the necessary number of signatures in the near future. This will enable all of the townships in the county to forward their petitions to the State Department of Agriculture in a group. This in return will expedite state acceptance and make the township program locally effective at an earlier date. All petitions containing the herd

Kathleen Norris Says:

Fiance's Fears Are Unjustified

Bell Syndicate—WNU Feature

"He made himself so adorable to my father, sister and old Sophy that all resistance on my part seemed ridiculous."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

LINDA has been engaged for four years. That is a long time for an American girl to wait for her wedding. In Europe it is different. A six or seven years engagement doesn't disturb a girl there, because just so much social and financial adjusting must go on, and engagements are family matters, considered and accepted as solemn contracts; breaking an engagement is almost as serious as a divorce.

Linda said "Yes" to Charles in 1944, while the great war was on. Charles went off to the South seas. Linda stayed home with her mother and her blind father. Before Charles came back Linda's mother died, leaving a 17-year-old sister to Linda's care, as well as their father, Betsey, is evidently a popular and busy girl, away at college most of the time.

The home is a roomy old-fashioned one and the family has a good servant. Inasmuch as no small apartments are available and Linda's father is dependent upon her for comfort and care, although financially responsible for the home and its upkeep, it seems natural to Linda, who is 28, to get married and keep husband, father, sister and herself in one family group.

Fiance Is Afraid

But Charles is afraid to try it. His mother's life was blighted by a mother-in-law who for 20 years usurped her place in her home and in her husband's affection and she has warned him against any such arrangement. He loves Linda, he will do anything for her, but not that. He likes her father, he thinks Betsey is a swell kid, but he has decided that he and Linda must wait until "something happens."

Now, this waiting until "something happens" is a favorite delusion of us all when what we really hope is that someone will die. Linda's father is a strong and cheerful 60, he may easily live 15 years more. Her sister probably will marry but not for some time.

"I've tried the trick of telling Charles that we had much better end the engagement than go on with any such expectation as this," says Linda's letter. "But that didn't work." In a day or two Charles telephoned, came out to tell me that he simply couldn't be parted. He made himself so adorable to my father and sister, and even to old Sophy, that all resistance on my part seemed ridiculous and things went back to their old status.

"Frankly, he is afraid. He says he would not be jealous, that he loves to have me read to my father, that our home is the most harmonious he has ever known. His war record shows that he never shrinks back from anything he undertakes. But still he hesitates to marry. And of course that makes me hesitant, too. Will you tell me if you think he is right, or might we go ahead and take a chance?"

My dear Linda, you would be taking no chance and neither would he. The delay is a nervous strain on you both, and you have worked yourself up into quite unnecessary distress over it. You are a fine sensitive, loving woman, you have a comfortable home in which to begin your married life, and you're doing your full duty to your father will only enhance Charles' appreciation of you.

UNWILLING FIANCE

After an engagement of four years Linda and Charles still haven't married. Although Linda is willing, Charles is reluctant because he fears family complications. Several years ago Linda's mother died and Linda feels obligated to care for her blind father and her 17-year-old sister. She would like to marry and make Charles part of their harmonious family group.

Charles, on the other hand, contends that Linda's affection for him will be split if they live with her family. He is a firm believer in the theory that young married couples, like young birds, should leave the family nest and strive for themselves.

Miss Norris is of the opinion that a marriage between Charles and Linda would involve no unusual risk. She urges Linda to inform Charles that they are going to get married and make him think that the idea is his. Once he has taken the step he will be extremely happy, forecasts Miss Norris.

Most of these engagement anxieties are unwarranted. A man who never will show jealousy again may make his sweetheart's life a burden while they are engaged. A girl who throws her money about recklessly, is smartly dressed and is always on the go before marriage, may make the thriftest and most economical of wives. Men who state boldly that they love night life and dining downtown turn into maddeningly domestic husbands, unwilling ever to leave the family fireside; men who are sure they despise babies become fatuous fathers; Robert, who asserts that he'll never live in the country and hates dogs, presently is telling you of early radishes and the fidelity of old Binky, and girls who despise the kitchen go in for cookies and curried eggs on a big scale.

Love is the alchemy that works these miracles and since you and Charles truly love each other, you need have no fear. Forget his mother's gloomy prophecies as you prove to her that she is wrong.

Your own good sense will teach you to develop a friendship between your two men, how to delegate some of your daughterly duties to Betsey, how to refer everything first to Charles and seem to act on his advice even when you don't. All loving wives learn this trick.

Make that home of yours the happiest in town. Carry things from this moment with a high hand. Tell Charles when you are going to be married and make it soon. Put it in the paper. Plan straight ahead for your honeymoon, your home arrangements; be completely happy yourself about it, and you'll find that he not only falls into it, but that he's happier than you are, and when presently he convinces himself that the whole thing was his idea, and that he had to talk you over to it, be sure you leave him in this fond delusion.

Talking Turkey

The expression "talking turkey" generally is attributed to an Indian who roamed through a patch of woods.

It seems the Indian and a white man went hunting and agreed to split the spoils. They bagged a fat wild turkey and an old black crow.

The fast-talking white man said: "I'll take the turkey and you take the crow; or you take the crow and I'll take the turkey."

"Ugh," the Indian grunted. "You no talk turkey."

His mother's life was blighted . . .

Artery Cutting Method Eases Headaches

An artery cutting operation that gives relief in 87 per cent of severe headaches was reported in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The headache is a one-sided paroxysmal pain that radiates into the eye and sometimes is associated with reddening and tearing of the eye.

Cutting out a piece of the temporal artery relieves the pain immediately and apparently permanently. In some cases the nerve is also torn loose.

Nerve fibers crossing the artery are presumably responsible for carrying the pain to the head.

In some instances the middle meningeal artery is cut as well as the temporal artery.

The operation when done by a trained surgeon is not considered dangerous by medical authorities.

By INEZ GERHARD

LUCILLE WALL'S voice is so distinctive that the thousands of people who hear her every day on "Fortia Faces Life" did not need the announcement that she was ill to tell them that someone was substituting for her. Miss Wall fell in her New York apartment, injuring her head and suffering a severe concussion. She was rushed to a hospital and Anne Seymour took over during her absence. Miss Seymour is also a radio veteran; she is best known for her lead performance in "Mary Marlin" and "Women of America."

In casting a scene for Dorothy Lamour's "Let's Fall in Love" at Columbia, which shows newspapermen and photographers interviewing her, Director Douglas Sirk and Producer Irving Starr ignored one of Hollywood's oldest traditions. They insisted that the actors playing newspapermen be neat and — even distinguished — something like younger members of the state department — not drunk, sloppy, nor wearing their hats on the backs of their heads. "Hasn't anyone in Hollywood ever seen a real, live newspaperman? Neither sloppy nor over-neat?"

Edward G. Robinson is top villain in Warner Bros. "Key Largo" in private life he is a quiet spoken gentleman who likes good music and collects good pictures. He has announced that he is contemplating opening a revolutionary night club. "It would feature a symphony orchestra and would have no bar no drinks, no dance floor, no cigarette girls," he says. And maybe no customers!

With a new arrival scheduled to join the family in June, Joan Bennett's household is torn by discussion over names. If it's a boy, daughter Diana wants to call him Roger; daughter Melinda picked Bartley; daughter Stephanie is holding out for Louis, with Louis Jordan in mind. Four-year-old Stephanie has a fine, flourishing crush on Jordan.

Columbia plans to film Gene Autrey's life: the picture will get under way within the next few months, at an estimated cost of TWO MILLION DOLLARS. Which means that his career in "B" pictures made him famous enough to have his life screened as an "A."

Incidentally, Gene's secretary, Louise Heising, now wears his alarm-equipped wrist watch. It went off recently before the CBS mikes, and 6,000 letters poured in asking how it happened the alarm bell came into the middle of Gene's song.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Doris Day has been notified that she has a fan club in Sitka, Alaska, and the fans wonder if she can't drop in to visit them some time . . . Jimmy Stewart acquired that limping gait he uses in "Rope" by removing the heel from one shoe and tacking it on the other one . . . That very timid hotel clerk in "April Showers" was played by Pets Kooye, a Congressional Medal of Honor man . . . Phyllis Calvert, British beauty who co-stars with Melvyn Douglas in "My Own True Love," learned to make old-fashioned American flapjacks while working in the picture . . . Claire Trevor plays a bloozy blonde in "Key Largo."

If ever you get a chance to be a contestant on Sammy Kaye's "So You Want to Lead a Band" program, take his advice, which results from experience with more than 50,000 amateur baton wielders. Sammy has learned that the audience, which selects the winner by applause, turns thumbs down on the smart aleck, no matter how competent, while the modest aspirant wins.

Ed (Archie) Gardner of "Duffy's Tavern" is the only radio comedian represented in the current movie stars exhibit at the Los Angeles Hall of Art. His painting of a circus horse is surrounded by pictures by Ella Raines, June Haver, Linda Darnell, Jeanne Crain, Marguerite Chapman, Jane Powell, Hoagy Carmichael, Reginald Gardiner, and other stars' work.

During a County Fair broadcast, blonde and beautiful Pat McCann, production assistant, was leading an unsuspecting contestant to the microphone (contestant to be hit in the face with a pie) when a young voice in the audience cried "Look, there's teacher!" It was Miss McCann teaches school in New York, does her stint on "County Fair" and works as a model.

Sam Wanamaker, who clicked on Broadway in the 1946-'47 season with Ingrid Bergman in "Joan of Lorraine," makes his film debut in "My Girl Tisa." He plays the role of a brush lost in the Big Stick era of Teddy Roosevelt.

Raymond Massey has purchased a home in Beverly Hills to solve his housing difficulties while making pictures for Warner Bros. — and maintains a home in New York to solve housing difficulties while appearing in the Broadway theater.

It wasn't too easy — but Wanda Hendrix and Andrea King had to learn to walk awayback for their roles in Paramount's "Abigail, Dear Heart." The story is set in 1906, when because of the way they dressed, woman walked that way.

Barbara Luddy (CBS "FIRST NIGHTER") said, when she received her first "Oscar" as radio's best actress, that it would make a good looking pair of lamps if only she had another one. So, being a determined young woman, she now has two.

"Superman" has been promoted. Bud Collyer, star of the MBS series, has taught Sunday school in High Ridge, Conn., for more than six years. Now he has been made superintendent, in charge of 225 students and 12 teachers.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination. No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you! Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health — and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B<sub>1</sub> and P. They alkalize, aid digestion. Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang — clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative — simply helps your system regulate itself. It is now possible to get weather reports by television. What fun to sit in front of the screen and watch what the elements are doing play by play!

"Tune in," we said to the wife the other day, "and see if you can get a couple of pre-April showers."

"Who are they playing today?" she asked absent-mindedly.

"It's the weather I'm after," we explained. "It might be very interesting."

"Are you kidding?" she asked.

"Not at all. The U. S. weather bureau is broadcasting by television the complete weather formations, showing the cold and warm fronts, the dry and wet areas and everything."

"I don't think I would care for it greatly," said the missus. "There must be other things more exciting."

ABOUT OUR PRESIDENTS

THE LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN is the subject of a college course. For many years this series of studies has been one of the most popular offered by the Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn. Lincoln is the only American to be so honored.

NO PRESIDENT HAS EVER RESIGNED his office, but one vice president, John C. Calhoun, did, on December 28, 1832. He resigned to become senator from South Carolina.

SEVEN PRESIDENTS HAVE DIED IN OFFICE, but Zachary Taylor and Franklin Delano Roosevelt were the only two Presidents to die in office while congress was in session.

Food Left in Tins
It is safe to leave food in the modern tin cans after opening. Like fresh-cooked food, food in tins cans needs to be covered and kept in a refrigerator or other cold place.

Dragging the Players
Leather straps were on the shoulders and hips of early day football uniforms. This was to enable the ball runner's teammates to drag him forward for extra yardage.

Corn Follows Cotton
Corn frequently is grown after fertilized cotton. By the addition of a dressing of nitrogen and the plant food left over from the cotton, the corn will show good growth.

Exiled the Tories
Out of a national population of about three million at the time of the American Revolution, it is estimated that 100,000 Tories were exiled.

Lily soup and chrysanthemum salad are among the most popular dishes on the Chinese menu. Both are made from the bulbs of the plants.

THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers—the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

"What could be more exciting?" we demanded. "Picture the warm front all lined up waiting for the cold front to kick off... the opening whistle!... the clash of weather front against weather front!... sunshine out to beat rain!... the light southerly breezes taking on the heavy nor-easter!"

"Who's sponsoring today's weather, Ford, General Motors or somebody's beer?" asked the good wife.

"It hasn't a sponsor yet," we explained.

"It will get one if it is bad enough," she sighed.

"Tune in and get it, will ya?" we pleaded.

"Not unless I can win some of those valuable prizes through it," she said flatly.

It was useless to argue, so we tuned in without her. It started off fast enough. A low pressure area from the South came swooping across the screen at a great clip. A high pressure area, off late, came tearing out of the northeast corner full of pep and swinging in all directions. Presently a snow front leaped into the fight but something went wrong with our television set and on the screen we beheld a lightweight boxer, two hockey teams and something that looked half tenor and half hot wave. All we could make of it was that tomorrow's weather would be somewhat cooler, with westerly rabbit punches, considerable rough ice work followed by heavy rains and light opera.

We are through with television weather until it perfects a suitable jingle.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS
"Hurry! My oil tank is down to 300 gallons."
"Coal is okay but it's too much trouble."
"Phew! This house is suffocating."

Who Wants To Be Cheap?
The break in commodity and stock prices, in forcing down prices generally, is going to be hard for the long-soaked public to take. Getting accustomed to being handed change from a ten-dollar bill is going to require a lot of stamina.

And what a strain it is going to be on us all when we find a salesman and somebody acting as if the customer rated a little higher than insect life!

Can Mr. and Mrs. Public be permitted to buy things at sharply reduced rates all of a sudden, or does good judgment require that they get the blessing gradually, by a tapering off system? How will a housewife act when she can get a quart of milk, a custard pie or a frosted layer cake for less than a day's pay?

Hornsogged, gypped, blitzed, gouged and run ragged for some five years, are we going to be fit to take it standing up when we can buy a $2,500 house for less than ten grand; when an auto can be had at the list price by merely phoning the agent; when a school-boy will shovel the snow off our walk for less than $2 an hour and when we find a little courtesy on the phone when we call up to give somebody some of our precious business?

We think not. After you have been going through a concrete mixer for years, life outside of it seems unreal and unsatisfactory.

"Joe Davis Making Bust of Eisenhower."—Headline.

Careful, Joe. Hitler tried it.

Somebody asked Elmer Twitchell at a dog show why the bloodhound looked so depressed and he replied, "A fellow just told him that he looked almost human."

Columbia has jacked up the tuition fees and room rates. Well, any show costs more starring "Ike" Eisenhower.

"President Truman hurried out to look over the western horses that had carried the cowboys across the country. He examined them critically and said they were fine specimens of horseflesh."—News item.

It must be fun to take a stand on something and not be repudiated by Taft and Dewey.

We won't consider a dog show complete until somebody makes an award for the Best Flea in the Show.

VALVE-IN-HEAD is far ahead!

in performance and economy... in ruggedness and reliability!

1 In the world's champion Chevrolet engine, the valves are located in the head of the cylinder, directly over the pistons... hence the name, Valve-in-Head.

2 Valve-in-Head design provides faster intake of fuel mixture... and quicker and more complete exhaust of burned gases... all of which contributes to better performance and economy.

3 Valve-in-Head design also permits a more compact combustion chamber; and this, together with Chevrolet's "Blue Flame" combustion, means more driving power for the pistons—less heat loss—and maximum economy.

Valve-in-Head engines are inherently easier to cool; and Chevrolet's individual cooling of cylinders prevents waste of power—promotes efficient operation—prolongs engine life.

CHEVROLET Automotive experts and millions of motorists agree: Valve-in-Head is far ahead because it gives an outstanding combination of performance, endurance, dependability and economy... Chevrolet—master builder of this master motor—has proved this by producing more than 20 million Valve-in-Head engines during the past thirty-seven years—engines which hold the distinction of having delivered more billions of miles of satisfaction, to more owners, over a longer period, than any other power-plant built today!
