These young people and their coaches, Mr. Christensen and Mr. Schabo, are to be congratulated for having made such a fine showing in such difficult competition.

High School Seniors to Present "Rich For a Day"

The senior class of Kewaskum high school will present its annual class play in the school auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, May 6 and 7. Title of the play is "Rich for a Day."

The synopsis of the play, according to Miss Gladys Wedler, senior publicity manager, is as follows:

Miss Elvira Munnicht, a wealthy spinster, has had all of her relatives and their friends to her house for a season unknown to them. They talk about her and discuss her unhealthy, sickly disposition. They all are much against her miserly tactics with all of her money.

Though none of them know of it, Miss Elvira has a dictaphone concealed in the room in which many of them discuss her. She gathers them all together and proceeds to the fact that she is going to make all of them "Rich for a Day." Some are going to... oh, well, leave that for next week. See you then!

School Speakers, Soloists Feature Kiwanis Meeting

A truly enjoyable high school program featured the meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday evening. Barbara Schaefer began the program with an excellent performance in a humorous declamation, "China Blue Eyes." Betty Ann Rose rendered a beautiful soprano solo, "Waltz Song" from Romeo and Juliet. Two fine instrumental solos were given by Lois Stange and Janette Kanies. Lois played "Sax Sweetness" with the alto saxophone, and Janette played "Golden Silver Waltz" on the baritone.

Winding up this interesting program, Alvin Jeske presented a humorous declamation, "The Treasurer's Report," by Robert Benchley. It was typically Benchley and was expertly handled by Alvin. Barbara and Alvin will participate in the state forensic contest at Madison on April 24. They should have a fine chance in the state contest if they perform as well there as they did for the Kiwanis club Monday.

CROPTO COLLECT TRAIN LOAD OF FOOD IN STATE

The Christian Rural Overseas program is now being set up throughout the state of Wisconsin. This is the organization that recently sponsored the various "Friendship Towns" in America which carried food to the needy people overseas. The Christian Rural Overseas program, commonly known as CROPTO, is church sponsored soliciting food gifts from American rural and smaller urban areas and getting them into the hands of those overseas who so desperately need food now.

The program for soliciting such food gifts in Wisconsin is now being formulated on a county and smaller local basis. The plan for this program was outlined at a district meeting to delegates from eastern Wisconsin counties held at Fond du Lac recently. Those from Washington county attending were:

Clarence Bezdol, Germantown; H. B. Woldt and Rev. D. Rata, Jackson; Dr. Aloys Kias, Goshendale; Guido Schroeder and Arthur Kartz, West Bend; E. E. Skalsky and Del Wansless of the agricultural extension office.

A meeting for explaining the objectives of the CROPTO program and for the food solicitation program in Washington county was held in the recreation room, Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. building, West Bend, at 8:00 p. m. on the evening of Friday, April 16.

School Team Splits With Lomira in Opening Games

Kewaskum high school's baseball team opened the season here Tuesday by splitting a doubleheader with Lomira in very chilly weather. Sterr pitched a no-hit game to give his team an 8 to 1 victory in the six inning opener. The Indians came back to win the nightcap, 12 to 6, after a 10 run out-break off of four Lomira hurlers in the fourth inning. Tessar was the winning pitcher.

In other league openers Tuesday Campbellsport won a doubleheader from Brandon, 19-1, and 12-3, and North Fond du Lac won a double victory over Oakfield, 10-1, and 6-1. Rosendale was idle Tuesday.

Friday Brandon played a doubleheader here and next Tuesday Oakfield will be here for a twin bill. Next Saturday the Indians visit North Fond du Lac for a doubleheader.

Ball Team in Practice Game at Campbellsport

The Kewaskum Utensis baseball team, new entrants in the fast northern division of the Land o' Lakes league this season, will pry off the lid this Sunday in a practice game against the Campbellsport Belles on the Belle diamond. Game time will be 2:15 p. m.

Kewaskum and the Belles both were members of the Kettle Moraine loop last year. Kewaskum won the grand championship in the circuit. The Belles also jumped the K-M league this year and will play as new members in the Central States loop.

The local players held practices the past two Sunday afternoons but unfavorable weather has prevented them from getting into the proper shape. They will be up against a tough team in the Belles, who this year have as their pitcher Giles Knowles, a former professional, who until last year played organized baseball. Kewaskum's old reliable, "Mix" Marx, will probably start for the Utensis.

Kewaskum will play its first league game a week from Sunday, May 2, at Menomonee Falls. See next week's Statesman for the complete schedule.

Jos. Schaefer Dies at Wabeno; Lived Here

Joseph P. Schaefer, 83, a resident of Wabeno 40 years, who formerly lived in Kewaskum many years, died at his farm home last Thursday, Apr. 8, at midnight. He had been in ill health since Sept. 18, 1947, when he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. He rallied but during the past few weeks steadily grew weaker.

Mr. Schaefer was born Dec. 6, 1864, at Richfield, the third oldest of a family of 19 children. On Nov. 24, 1891, he was married to Miss Barbara Felton at Holy Trinity church, Kewaskum.

When Mr. Schaefer was 12 years old, he began as organist at St. Herbert's Catholic church west of Richfield, a position he held for 12 years. He was organist when 12 years old at the dedication of the church at Holy Hill, from Richfield he came to Kewaskum and entered into employment for the L. Rosenheimer firm where he worked 20 years. His last position here was head of the shoe department and buyer of hardware tools and furs for L. Rosenheimer.

In April, 1905, Mr. Schaefer moved with his family to Wabeno. While land was being cleared for the present homestead, the family lived in a log house a quarter mile south of Wabeno. During the summer the forest fire drove the family from this abode into their partially completed home. Mr. Schaefer was elected treasurer of the town of Wabeno for 29 consecutive years, serving the community until a year ago in March. He was treasurer of the agricultural society since its inception, being one of the organizers with William Hubbard in 1920.

The Schaefer family celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 24, 1941. It proved to be a great event for all of the family who were at Wabeno for the occasion. The entire community participated in the event at the local hall.

Besides his widow, Mr. Schaefer is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Clara I. Wimmer, Milwaukee; seven sons, Joseph P. of Washington, D. C., John P. and Seraph F. of Milwaukee, Gilchrist B. of Klamath Falls, Ore., A. of Flint, Mich., Werner P. of St. Paul, Minn., and Sylvester of Wabeno; one sister, Sister Mary Clementine, nee Margaret Schaefer, of the Sisters of St. Francis of Assisi, St. Francis, Wis., and six grandchildren.

Re-elect E. M. Romaine County Board Chairman

Elywn M. Romaine, Kewaskum, was elected chairman of the Washington county board for the fifth consecutive time and Henry B. Woldt, Jackson, vice chairman for the fourth consecutive time at the board's met in their spring organizational meeting at the court house in West Bend Tuesday.

The meeting continued Wednesday but County Clerk Anton P. Staryl said there were no items of any great significance on that day's agenda. The session was expected to be completed late Wednesday afternoon.

Amendments to highway traffic and zoning ordinances were given consideration. A petition for road maintenance and improvement was read and referred to the highway commissioner. Bids on the sale of county-owned land in the Fairpark area of West Bend were opened and all bids were rejected. A new request for bids will be made.

Security Loan Drive Under Way; Co. Quota $800,000

Wisconsin has been given a Security Loan campaign sales goal of $72,000,000. Series E, F and G Security bonds.

The drive will run from April 15 to June 10 and all sales of Security bonds proceeds by the federal reserve banks during the period April 1-15 will be credited to campaign totals.

In order that each county may have a campaign goal and its fair share of the state quota, such has been divided among the counties on an equitable basis.

Accordingly, Washington county has been assigned a Security loan campaign sales goal of $800,000. Series E, F and G Security bonds. Atty. Thomas O'Meara, West Bend, is county agricultural bond chairman.

The great importance of the Security loan drive to the welfare of our nation in this critical period is emphasized. The campaign will enable all Americans to increase their own individual security and to help safeguard the economic security of the nation by urging U. S. Security bonds.

During the campaign county volunteer leaders shall be furnished with weekly reports of bond sales in their respective counties and publicize county accomplishments.

County leaders are urged to publicize the progress of their county campaigns and to emphasize to all local citizens that "AMERICA'S SECURITY IS YOUR SECURITY—BUY U. S. SECURITY BONDS."

That is the campaign slogan and it seems singularly appropriate during this critical time in our national life.

"THE BISHOP'S MANTLE" by Agnes Sligh Turnbull.

In "THE BISHOP'S MANTLE" Agnes Sligh Turnbull has again created a novel and a hero of distinction. The young man is Hilary Laurens, beginning his ministry at St. Matthews, a large fashionable city church. Hilary Laurens, idealistic and genuinely religious, is also appealing and intensely human. You will meet Alois, a beautiful girl who ultimately surrenders him and finds it hard to exchange her gay times with the smart social set for the conservative demands of a rectory. You will meet the vestrymen, solid business leaders, most of them good, and one a hypocrite of the worst sort. You will meet Hastings, the autocratic sexton; Miss Mowbray, Hilary's homely secretary; Forrest, his blind organist; Aunt Samantha, his assistant's wife; Mrs. Reed, the witty aristocrat; a modern "Madame Potiphar"; Dick, the charming young man—and many more. With Hilary you will experience the dramas of human life—the humor, the tragedies, the weddings, the funerals, the hurried calls to the dying or comfort the bereaved. This is a revealing novel about a prominent profession; it is a tolerant and a completely honest look. Hilary Laurens may take his place in that small but select group of masters in fiction who have seemed significant to readers throughout the years.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. Carries Fight to Communists As Congress Approves Foreign Aid; Income Tax Cut Becomes a Reality

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FOREIGN AID:

In Motion

With President Truman's signature on the $6,098,000,000 foreign aid bill, the massive, potent forces of western capitalism moved into action against Russian communism for the beginning of a titanic, long range clash of strength.

To observers in the U. S. this interplay of forces had all the ingredients of an epic poem—the power of good striving mightily to overcome the power of evil, with the fate of a large segment of mankind depending on outcome of the struggle.

There was an epic quality, too, in the manner in which congress, seemingly impelled by a strong sense of urgency, raced the bill through for final action. The house approved it with a vote of 318 to 75 after less than 15 minutes of explanation, and the senate followed up swiftly with a voice vote.

Two days after passage of the measure President Truman meshed the gears of the global aid program by ordering the reconstruction finance corporation to advance 1.16 billion dollars at once. That action released U. S. dollars, reconstruction supplies and in some cases arms for 15 European nations, as well as Turkey, western Germany, Trieste and China.

The overall $6,098,000,000 aid package includes 4.3 billion dollars for the European recovery program, 275 million dollars for military assistance to Greece and Turkey, 463 million for China and 2 million dollars for Trieste. All of it is aimed at areas where communists are sharpening their sword of aggression.

An ill-starred movement in the house to include aid to Franco Spain in the bill was defeated before it had time to do much damage to U. S. prestige and moral stature abroad.

As the aid started to move, the situation abroad stacked up something like this:

Russia's seizure of Czechoslovakia, its new pact with Finland and pressure on Scandinavian nations, the Soviets' arbitrary action in Berlin all pointed to the fact that Moscow was trying to bring about a showdown in Europe before the European recovery plan began to work effectively.

On the other hand, the rapid passage of the foreign aid measure, the proposal to return Trieste to Italy and the stiffening of American will in Berlin seemed to indicate that the U. S., while not forcing a showdown, was nevertheless, willing to have it as soon as possible.

Few persons familiar with the situation thought that a showdown with Russia necessarily meant war. But it did involve acceptance of a risk of war. U. S. leaders were willing to take that risk on the theory that the likelihood of a shooting war is less now than it might be in the foreseeable future.

REDUCTION:

Tax Measure

President Truman's veto of the income tax reduction bill was crushingly overridden by both houses of congress—311 to 88 in the house, 77 to 10 in the senate—and U. S. citizens sat back to gloat over the first major tax-cutting measure passed in nearly 20 years.

In his now characteristic "I'd rather be right than be president" role, Mr. Truman had stubbornly affixed his veto to the bill, protesting that it mainly would benefit persons with incomes of $5,000 or more, encourage further inflation and sap the nation's strength at a time of international "danger."

Examination of the new tax structure indicated that the President was right in his first contention, at least—that the law would be of greater benefit to persons with high incomes than to those in lower brackets. Reason for that is that 12.6 per cent of $3,000 is considerably less than 5 per cent of a million. (Cuts in tax rates as provided by the new law range from 12.6 per cent in the lowest brackets to 5 per cent in the top level.)

Most interesting aspect of the tax cut development was the question of what motivated Mr. Truman to veto the bill. He was aware that enough members of both houses were supporting tax reduction in this election year to override his veto; hence, that his veto would be a gesture of futility that would place him on record as opposing the popular will.

Mr. Truman must have been aware, also, of the strong possibility

MODERN MOTORCADE

Cars on Road Hit Historic Figure

Number of passenger cars on the road in the U. S. today is at an all-time high, according to an article in the April edition of "Business Comment," bulletin of Northern Trust company.

This is true despite the fact that no passenger cars were manufactured for private use during the war, that an estimated average of 1.2

The Strenuous Life

American consumers are becoming more tight-fisted in the matter of luxuries, department of commerce figures indicate.

They spent less in February on liquor, less on furs and custom tailoring and less on candy than in the same month last year. Although over-all sales for all types of independent retail stores were 6 per cent higher than in February, 1947, less was sold in luxury lines of goods.

NEW START:

China's Chiang

Hopelessly lost in the political and economic confusion of China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the republic in one capacity or another since 1927, was casting about for a new role in the tragedy of the Far East.

Afflicted externally by Communist armies and internally by the venality of black marketeers and corrupt government officials, Chiang has been in the position of a man attempting to build a house on a pile of soggy refuse.

Now, however, there was a report out that Chiang had decided to quit the presidency of China. But there also were indications that, far from going into retirement, he would remain as Kuomintang strong man by becoming premier.

A spokesman for the Kuomintang, China's governing party, said that the generalissimo was determined to free himself from the presidency in order to lead a "holy war" against the increasingly powerful Chinese Communists.

According to latest reports, Chiang was urging that Dr. Hu Shih be elected president. Former ambassador to Washington, Hu Shih now is president of Peking university.

PALESTINE:

Trusteeship

Studiously ignoring the groups and individuals who threw up their hands in horror when the U. S. reversed its position on partition of Palestine, this nation went right ahead with its avowed plan for a United Nations trusteeship of the Holy Land.

Disclosing some of the details of that plan, Warren R. Austin, American delegate to the U. N., told security council members that the United States favors sending foreign troops to Palestine to keep order, if and when that becomes necessary, under the trusteeship formula.

Unmistakably implied, although not stated outright, was U. S. willingness to send American troops to the Holy Land, provided other nations would join the parade also.

Another provision was that the number of nations supplying troops be specifically limited to keep order, if and when that becomes necessary, under the trusteeship formula.

Actually, there was little optimism that the fratricidal strife in Palestine or the causes producing it could be effaced by the expedient of imposing a U. N. trusteeship.

NUMBER ONE

Public Friend

Carl C. Countryman again wants to be President of the United States. With true political ebullience he has dubbed himself "American Public Friend Number One" and adopted a monolithic slogan: "Countryman for his countrymen; his countrymen for Countryman."

That this neo-palindromic tongue-twister is intended to spark sparks of devotion from the flinty hearts of American voters is apparent in Countryman's frank statement that: "My campaign must be for overwhelming publicity and an appeal to the imagination of the American people."

I have a lot of evidence that my slogan, "Countryman for his countrymen; his countrymen for Countryman," is doing the trick.

Countryman is not a myth. He is not a hoax himself, nor is he trying to perpetrate a hoax through his presidency campaign. He is just a man, getting along in years now, who is serving the sincere belief that he could do better in the White House than the political figureheads in vogue.

He is, in the parlance of the cynics and light-tongues, a "character," but an honest character.

Countryman opposes communism: "I want no part nor dealings with the Communist usurpers, who represent but a small fragment of the great Russian people."

Countryman opposes the military draft: "The draft is a subterfuge of incompetence. I favor making universal military training so attractive that it will be universal or approximately so."

Countryman's name will appear on no primary election ballots. "The gain inherent in such a course will not justify the necessary expenditure of time and money."

Countryman likes John Bricker of Ohio: "If I cannot get the nomination, I am all for Bricker. I should like to have the ticket Countryman and Bricker but if not, then Bricker and Countryman."

There is a truism which holds that universally present in the heart of every man is the belief that he could play Hamlet and run a newspaper. The Countryman brings that deeply felt human motivation to the height of true nobility. For in his heart is the crowning belief that he also could be a good president.

Seek Uranium

Uranium—that most precious of all metals since advent of the atomic age—is being sought in Colorado now.

Department of the interior has set aside about 40 square miles of public land in the southwestern part of the state for exclusive use of the atomic energy commission, which will conduct an exhaustive investigation there for deposits of uranium, source of atomic energy.

The exploratory drilling will be done in Colorado next summer for the atomic energy commission by the U. S. geological survey.

Lands found to contain no uranium, according to the commission's announcement will not be kept under control. They will be released from the withdrawal order and again will be open for entry.

The commission disclosed that "it is expected" that lands found to contain uranium "will become available for development and mining by private interests."

U. S. Has Best Opportunity To Enforce Peace in World

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

Once again we face the high cost of savagery—or preventing it—depending on how you put it. Billions more to run the government and the world, and to cover a stepped-up defense program. Talk of a 10 per cent increase in the budget for next year seems logical. As one cynic remarked, in the next war perhaps we ought to try to get on the losing side, and let the victors support us for a change.

Discussion of the details and cost of a selective service and universal military training program has been going on for some time. Sentiment against drafting husbands and G. I.'s seems to be crystallizing.

It would seem that G. I.'s might be fairly good material in an emergency without having to learn the general orders over again, and without having to reacquire precision in bringing the right hand smartly to the cap brim or lying down within a reasonable period before the arrival of a machine gun bullet.

As to the husbands—they aren't entirely expendable, of course—all of them. Probably the most effective thing congress could have done was to vote immediately for immediate registration for everyone. The age brackets and exemptions, after all, could be settled later. If the emergency arises or even approaches—we can talk details. That is the kind of emergency we face, and no sacrifice would be too great to prevent it. Right now proof of our willingness to act is most important.

Contrary to the general assumption that all we need is a few push-button experts and professors of nuclear science, any war that might come from now on would require a more extensive mobilization of civilian as well as soldier than anything which has preceded it.

Meantime, there is a better chance to establish a solid and stable peace than there ever has been. The United States has a better opportunity to enforce peace than any nation ever had. We could, with comparatively small sacrifice, start a preparedness program to prevent the "imbalance" of power against us, as they say in diplomatic language.

In other words we could, without danger of actual conflict, since there is no power NOW (not tomorrow or next year, but NOW) strong enough to threaten us, establish a Pax Americana. And with the will to peace that exists in the world today, we could use that situation, not as the Pax Romana or the Pax Britannica was used—to create enemies—but to build an effective Pax Unversa.

America, in its strength could well afford to yield sovereignty to an international force. A period of tranquility, enforced if necessary, is what the world needs; time to reflect. Rome and Britain did bring a long peace of sorts; we can establish a longer one—one long enough, perhaps, to build a permanent one.

The principle is simple—as a colleague of mine is fond of saying—"nobody tries to pick a fight with Joe Lewis."

Early statements were made to the effect that it would cost an additional 480 millions over what already had been budgeted for universal military training. We now spend 650 million dollars a year on cosmetics. And the total time used in applying them, according to my private statisticians, divided into manhours of military training, leaves a generous surplus for home-work.

I do not mean to treat lightly the world situation and the idea of a Pax Americana is not an empty one. It is, in fact, the only kind of a peace we can be sure of until we have time to stabilize world conditions, until there is a fairer division of the bread, and the security in which to earn it and eat it; a cessation of the fear, suffering and anxiety which make men trade their heritage of freedom for the empty promise of protection at any price.

I sympathize with the people who oppose militarism in any form; but I do not accept as a valid syllogism: Militarism is bad; military training in America is militarism; therefore, military training in America is bad. Military training in Germany (the classic example) was the result of militarism, not its cause. Military training in America is no more related to German militarism than a hot dog is brother to a Dachshund.

The Australian government is anxious that Australian girls who married American servicemen return to Australia with their husbands. In some of the girls are anxious to return to Australia, period.

Farmer's egg prices are too low, considering the high cost of poultry feed. Which comes first: The chicken, the egg or the feed?

Mrs. Russell Fifer, one of National Safety Council's "wonder wives"—whose husbands admit their better halves are good drivers—says good sense makes them good drivers. Good sense makes their husbands admit it.

The Eskimos of Greenland at first laughed at gold coin offered them in payment for skins; they wanted steel, which was useful to them. There's a faint suspicion that maybe we shouldn't laugh at them.

BARBS . . . by Baukhage

The world's largest herd of dwarf cattle recently reached Chicago—five cows and bulls totaling less than the weight of an average steer. Now I know where that steak I got last night came from.

Old songs are being revived, but there still are a lot of people who would rather hear "Beautiful Ohio" than "Missouri Waltz."

Our most profound thanks to Prof. Thurman B. Rice of University of Indiana for his succinct comment on our most disliked vegetable: "We should feed the spinach to the cows and drink the milk only—the cows won't eat spinach."

France's "war emergency" rest controls, invoked in 1914 at the start of World War I, still are in effect. We know many resters, particularly veterans, who wish the same were true here.

As PEGLER Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler Released by WNU Feature

IT IS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION that the Democratic candidate will be defeated next November. It is even possible that President Truman will be rejected by his own party, but, in any case, THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE WILL BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

That being the fact, and it is a fact which awaits mere confirmation, not decision, all Republican aspirants may safely repudiate all that Roosevelt promised in his conferences with Stalin and all that Mr. Truman promised after he took office. Mr. Truman lacked the knowledge, experience and presence of mind to decide immediately that Roosevelt had betrayed the United States. Therefore he began his presidency by carrying out the undertakings that Roosevelt had assumed.

It took him a year to admit to himself that this was a course harmful and unfaithful to the United States, and a somewhat longer to reverse it. This he has finally done in effect but, of course, without saying in so many words that Roosevelt had let Stalin make a fool of him or that Roosevelt deliberately do a U. S. crossed the civilized nations.

It is too bad that we do not maintain an array of garters, cordons and rosettes with which to assuage the sorrow of ultimate failure and dismissal when men make terrible mistakes in high office. Gen. George Marshall should have one with diamonds on it—the order of the one-way necker, first-class. He remained a cadet all his life. Even when he had five stars on each shoulder, he was always nodding "yes." After Roosevelt was gone he began to discover facts about Stalin and his regime that all honest Americans who concerned themselves at all about politics had known all along.

A depressing aspect of the situation is the duplication in Europe of the high-handed and calculated procedure of the Nazi regime," he said recently. "The organization of the elite states under the methods of the police state formula was carried out rather quietly."

The take-over of Hungary was a bolder exhibition of the same technique. The directed and fomented strikes in France and Italy were evidence of the same direction and procedure. The Czechoslovakia incident, however, was bold and truculent, quite evidently staged to impress the people of Finland and the remainder of the free states of western Europe. This is a world-wide struggle between freedom and tyranny."

General Marshall must be too intelligent not to have known when Roosevelt showed him the first fateful signs of favoritism that this was the character of the Russian rulers. Roosevelt himself knew it but he simply could not think honestly.

In 1940, some may remember, Roosevelt was having Communist trouble and wanted to discern them, and throw them on Wendell Wilkie. Communist support was an embarrassment just then because the Communists and Hitler were allies.

To achieve this effect Roosevelt got the department of justice to issue a deportation order against the wife of Earl Browder. Then the Democratic national committee turned out a statement boasting that the same department of justice had convicted Browder himself and sent him to prison for falsely swearing to get an American passport to carry on Russian espionage in Europe. Finally, toward the close of the campaign, Roosevelt made a speech in Brooklyn in which he repudiated Communist support.

Two years later, the same department of justice invented for Mrs. Browder's special benefit the shyster trick of crossing into Canada and re-entering the United States as a quota immigrant. The same trick later was used by Mrs. Roosevelt's friend and political protegee, Hans Eisler, one of the worst conspirators, and by thousands of doubtful refugees. One American consul resigned in protest at this rotten dodge in the Irene Browder case.

Soon afterward, Roosevelt released Browder from Atlanta and, of course, all of us, except perhaps Marshall and Truman, know that it was necessary to detail FBI men to the state department to turn up Communist spies planted there through the White House. These are facts. Communists in the labor relations board, Communists in the department of justice. In the war and navy departments. In Puerto Rico. In the office of war information and the communications commission. In the C. I. O. Thousands of them known to everyone willing to make the effort to learn and honest enough to admit the truth to himself.

THE PLACE TO BEGIN FIGHTING COMMUNISM IS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Marshall and Truman say Communists are agents of a hostile power. That means traitors, guilty of treason, doesn't it? What does the Constitution say about that? It says traitors may be shot. What are we waiting for? There are 200 Communists in Hollywood for a starter.

Marshall has some ability but he yessed Roosevelt and connived at the deception of the people. Mr. Truman, too. And Byrnes. It is too bad for them, but it is much worse for us.

Ex-Captive Traps Escaped German Prisoner of War

ST. LOUIS.—Rudolph von Hyeberg, escaped German prisoner of war, is in custody of the FBI after two years of freedom.

He was the victim of the photographic memory of a St. Louis ex-G. I. who had himself been a prisoner of the Germans.

Gerald Norris, FBI agent, identified the former P. O. W. who brought about Hyeberg's capture only as "a very alert citizen."

He said the informant had a sandwich and a cup of coffee in the restaurant where Hyeberg worked, drove to the federal building to post a package, and recognized his face in a "wanted" poster.

EXCEPTION

By PAUL TULLIEN

DOWN in the well, with no way of getting out and with little hope of rescue, Chris Thornton remembered the line he had written over and over in his copybook some 40 years before. "NEVER PUT OFF TILL TOMORROW WHAT YOU CAN DO TODAY." He could fairly see the large round letters he had so laboriously formed with pen held stiffly in ink-smeared fingers.

The line had had little meaning for him then—just some words that he must write over and over until Miss Curry was satisfied. And Miss Curry had been hard to satisfy. Its meaning was brought home sharply to him now—when perhaps it was too late.

However, the former owner of the farm had let so many things about the place run down that he had time only to take care of what seemed most necessary. Undoubtedly, he thought ruefully, it would have been wiser to replace the rotten boards that covered the abandoned well, even though his copy might have stepped over a fallen wire to trample his promising corn.

All day he had been fixing fences, and coming home he had forgotten about the well which he could not see in the darkness. An ankle had been hurt in the fall — perhaps sprained or broken. It was swollen and painful, and probably would be worse by morning.

He struck a match and looked at his watch. Twenty to nine. Surely it must be later than that, for it seemed like hours since he had fallen. He held the watch to his ear; it was running now anyway.

Never before had a night been so unending. Snatches of sleep came at intervals, sleep broken by torturous dreams in which he was forever climbing, yet never quite reaching the top.

How long, he wondered, could a man live without water? And how soon would anyone miss him? Not soon enough, he was certain.

The farm lay in a lonely place and a car seldom passed over the grass-grown road. He had had few visitors during the months he had lived here. Last evening, his nearest neighbor, had stopped in several times, but it was unlikely that Edwards would come again soon for he had little time for visiting since his last boy had left.

Thornton knew that a man could climb out of a well without a ladder by bracing his back against one side and getting a toehold between the stones on the opposite side. He had seen it done though he had never tried it himself. To try it now, when his foot was so painful he could not stand on it, was out of the question.

"Should've busted my neck instead," he muttered bitterly. "That would have ended the misery sooner."

The stars faded from the small circle of sky that he could see. Gradually light entered the well. Whining softly, his dog looked down at him, probably she had been sitting there all night, waiting for him to come up. If only there were a way to have the dog summon help. He might as well forget that. There wasn't any way.

He wished it would rain, for enough water might run down into the well to satisfy his growing thirst. Then too, Edwards might find time to come; his other visits had been made on rainy days. Might as well forget that too. It wouldn't rain.

Why did that copybook line keep looming before his eyes? Otherwise he never thought of things that happened so long ago. Of course, otherwise he had other things to think about—like worrying about the crops or planning something else. Such worries looked pretty inconsequential now. And unless he could get out of the well, there wouldn't be any more planning.

Thinking of the line made him think of the boys who had been his schoolmates and playmates in those long-past days — Tom, George, Cecil, Jimmy, Fred and many others whose names he could not even recall. Where were they now? He hadn't seen one of them for years.

Dimly their faces appeared out of the past, and then the line came bobbing back, blotting them out. "NEVER PUT OFF TILL TOMORROW WHAT YOU CAN DO TODAY." Why couldn't the line stay away, he thought angrily. It couldn't do him any good now.

His dog began barking — at a squirrel maybe. Or was somebody coming? He shouted for help, hoping at first, but as the minutes went by, despairingly.

The dog continued to bark. Probably at a squirrel, for there were many of them about.

How long, he wondered, could a man live without water? And how soon would anyone miss him? Not soon enough, he was certain.

LET'S TALK ABOUT You

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

Why Be a Negative? There are some persons — too many, I am forced to declare—who live under the handicap of a personality that has a negative tinge.

In psychology we recognize them as a definite and an unpleasant group. We classify them. We name them. We call them negatives, and the disease from which they suffer—for it is really a chronic mental state of unhealth—we call negativism.

A person with a negativistic personality always is ready to argue the other side of the question. You make a statement. He says: "Oh, I don't know about that. Listen." And then the battle is on. For an exhibition of downright contrariness, the negativistics always are on hand.

They do not really know that they handicap themselves by this trait. To the contrary, they are proud of their bold, contrary attitude. They will tell you it is a sign of courage and strong will. All of which is piffle.

A negativistic tendency, far from being a sign of strong will and intelligence, is definite evidence of an adult who hasn't grown up and who is dumb in the bargain!

"Where are you?" some one called faintly.

After the stranger had found a ladder and helped him out, Thornton said, "I should have fixed that long ago. 'Way back when I was in the second grade I wrote in my copybook about 'leven hundred times, 'NEVER PUT OFF TILL TOMORROW WHAT YOU CAN DO TODAY,' and I've certainly found out now how wise that is."

"I suppose that makes good sense always," agreed the other, "unless there's an exception to prove the rule."

"Well, if every rule has an exception, this was no exception, anyway," Thornton said, adding suddenly, "Say, how did you happen to come?"

"I represent the Valley Farmer. Your subscription has run out."

Thornton laughed. "There's the exception we were talking about. I got a letter from your paper a month ago asking me to renew. I've put off sending the money again and again, but if I hadn't put it off, you wouldn't have come today."

The biggest marcel wave undertaking of the year took place when 12 stalwart men and 24 boys went under the curling irons in preparation for a mass sword-play sequence in "Adventures of Don Juan."

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

HENRY MORGAN can shake the dust of radio from his heels if he can continue to make pictures as good as his first one, "So This Is New York." Enterprise studios gave him a fine director, good cast and story, and let him be himself. The result is one of the funniest pictures seen in a long time. An interesting twist is given when Morgan's voice is heard occasionally describing the action seen on the screen. The cast includes Rudy Vallee, Hugh Herbert and Bill Goodwin, Virginia Grey and Dona Drake. Arnold Stang, who never fails to get laughs on Morgan's air show, does a bit which should be longer. It is a United Artists release.

David Farrar, one of Great Britain's outstanding actors, has signed a contract with Warner Brothers to appear opposite Bette Davis in "Ethan Frome"; production starts when she finishes her next assignment, the comedy, "June Bride." Danny Thomas, CBS Friday night comedy star, has been set for a starring role in an MGM musical to be filmed this summer. The arrangement is really solid; Louis B. Mayer promised the role to Danny at a Hollywood gathering.

Bob Burns, who has been without a radio show for the past year, hopes to return in the fall as star of "The Country Editor," a comedy now being prepared for audition. Bob also is being considered for a dramatic series on television, but things are complicated by the fact that he wants to incorporate a monologue and play his barzooka, while executives hold out for straight drama.

Terry Ross, sound-effects man on "The Greatest Story Ever Told," had a footstep problem when the ABC program started. Footsteps in Biblical times sounded much different than they do today. To simulate the sound of soft-soled shoes and sandals, Terry treads on gravel; when the action takes place in an open field, he presses alternate palms on a bundle of broomstraws.

Willard Waterman, of the CBS "Guiding Light" and "The Whistler," made a hole-in-one recently on the fifth hole at San Fernando golf course. Next time out he developed a case of tight arm—and took eight strokes for that same hole!

The four Freedom Train operettas written by Gordon Jenkins and Tom Adair and performed on the Dick Haymes show, have been recorded and will be placed in the national archives, along with the documents displayed on the Freedom Train.

Six years ago, in "Somewhere I'll Find You," Van Johnson appeared with Clark Gable. If it can be called appearing, he was seen looking over Gable's shoulder. In "Command Decision" they'll co-star, Johnson as a sergeant, Gable as a general.

Dick Taylor, young Warner Brothers contract player, has a dual role in "Key Largo" but never speaks; in one role he was the photograph of Lauren Bacall's dead husband, and in the other he was the photograph of Lionel Barrymore's dead son.

Odds and Ends . . . Said Lionel Barrymore on the "Key Largo" set, "I autograph all my etchings 'Brooklyn Bridge' because they're that hard to sell." . . . Claude Rains achieved stardom in a movie in which he was never seen, "The Invisible Man." . . . Mitch Leisen, the director, owns a cigar case which plays Schubert's "Serenade" when it's opened.

Palm Springs, movie stars' favorite health resort, didn't do right by Robert Hutton; he went there, feeling pretty well, to play tennis, and came away with a terrible cold. . . . The gorgeous jewelry Ann Sheridan wears in "Silver River" is all from her own collection.

Alfred Hitchcock is regarded as filmland's chief contributor to title mania. His passion for one-word titles has given us 11 of them so far; can you name them? "Rope," "Rebecca," "Suspicion," "Spellbound"—that's a start.

Perry Como leaves soon for Hollywood and Metro's "Words and Music," in which he will play himself. He has been turning down picture offers, because the three films he made were unsatisfactory.

With Janis Page as guinea pig, Warner's make-up department has perfected a new "hair paint" which washes off almost instantly. It turns Janis into a ravishing redhead for "One Sunday Afternoon," but she goes home with brown hair.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER

IN WASHINGTON

By WALTER SHEAD, WNU Correspondent

Road to Paganism THERE can be only one excuse for the complacency with which a vast segment of the people of this country view the spread of communism. They don't know what it is and they underestimate its danger to every individual and the ideology and way of life we have chosen for our own in these United States.

Hitler's fascism was a political theory. The communism of Marx and Stalin is not only political, it is a religion as opposed to the Christian religion as it is possible to imagine. Communism denies the dignity of a man or of the family as the unit for which the state functions; it bars the practice of any Christian religion.

All of western Europe and the western hemisphere maintain governments and civilizations based on the Christian philosophy of Jesus Christ. Our own government is based on these precepts. If this philosophy of Christianity goes down, then this government goes down. And it is in grave danger—in danger because people do not realize the danger.

Pope Pius has recognized the danger to Christianity in denying the sacraments of their church to Catholics who prefer communism, not because it is a political theory, but because it is a religion which undermines the foundations of Christianity and Christian civilization as we know it.

Communism is the road back to paganism. There can be no inalienable rights of man under communism; there can be no just powers with the consent of the governed under communism; there can be no religious freedom, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Christian Science or Catholic churches; there can be no free elections; no such philosophy as men being created equal. Most world leaders recognize only its dangers politically as moving relentlessly and aggressively to grab governments. Political and religious leaders who think, see communism breeding in hate and intolerance and capturing men's minds and souls as well as their political freedom.

The chances are that the first thing the 81st congress will take up when it convenes next January is an income tax law putting back on the books the taxes which this congress, as a sop to gain votes in an election year, took off. So if you don't have to spend that tax cut you received, save it and you'll have it to pay back next January.

Constitutional Rights This column is not going to join the chorus of predictions that President Truman will not be renominated or that he will withdraw from the race for renomination. It would be like him to withdraw voluntarily if he believed the good of the country demanded it, but he will not quit under fire.

He offered some 1,500,000 Jewish voters perhaps, when he realized that it would take American boys to defend partition of Palestine, that we didn't have the men to send, that congress never would agree to it and that it likely would also bring Russian troops where this country didn't want them to jeopardize our foreign policy. So he sought to rectify a mistake.

He offended the governors and professional politicians from seven southern states when he upheld the constitution of the United States, his own party platform and decisions of the supreme court on civil rights.

The President thinks there should be an anti-lynch law, an anti-poll tax law as a requisite for voting, and a permanent fair employment practices law to prevent "unfair" discrimination. And he thinks that segregation or Jim Crowism should be eliminated on interstate transportation lines, not local buses or street cars. The supreme court has held that segregation on interstate transportation lines is unconstitutional. The Constitution outlaws the poll tax as a voting condition.

Again the Constitution says: ". . . No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of any citizen of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." That's pretty clear and takes care of lynching and unfair discrimination.

Electoral System The move to amend the Constitution with regard to presidential electors is gathering steam and direct vote of the people for president may become a reality. In addition to making the elector vote of 531 electors proportional to ballots cast, there is sentiment to divide electors among states in the same proportion. For instance, Wisconsin and Georgia with almost identical populations have 12 electoral votes each. But Wisconsin casts a million more votes.

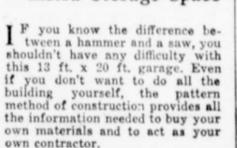

Inflation Dangers What happens economically in the home towns of the country turns up later in the cities. Reports already indicate that business in these smaller towns is falling off. The fact that more than 12 million new small businesses have been established since V-J day and that 48 per cent of American families still have incomes lower than $3,000 may furnish a disastrous answer to the question of how nationwide inflation eventually will end.

Easily Built Garage with Extra Storage Space If you know the difference between a hammer and a saw, you shouldn't have any difficulty with this 12 ft. x 20 ft. garage. Even if you don't want to do all the building yourself, the pattern method of construction provides all the information needed to buy your own materials and to act as your own contractor.

With the purchase list of materials you can also avoid the extra and other lumber as easily as shopping for groceries. Then by following the step by step directions and assembly illustrations you see do all or part of the work yourself.

As the floor plan indicates, there is ample space for even the longest car. Best of all this garage provides a separate storage room for garden tools. Entry to this room is from the outside. Here the lawnmower, rakes, and other garden tools, as well as a bicycle or two, can be stored without cluttering up the garage.

Along one wall, directly below two eaves, there is room for a six foot workbench. Toward the rear, in a closet that can be used for any number of good ideas, it's large enough for a deep freeze unit or for a reserve canned goods supply; or even a storm wash, paints, dackroom or similar other uses.

Building the garage yourself can be lots of fun. You'll not only save a lot of money but you'll be surprised to see what a professional looking job you can turn out. Building from a pattern eliminates all guesswork. The pattern tells you what to buy and where to use each piece. Step by step directions are easy to follow. Full size patterns simplify making single cuts on rafters and gable studs. All construction is laid out so that no special tools are needed. Directions for building the outside are included. Directions and assembly illustrations are also provided for building a breezeway connecting the garage to your house.

... the Tractor with the "Velvet Ride" Seat

Each year the average farmer spends 965 hours on the seat of his tractor. You now can make them "easy chair" hours on your farm... with the Massey and Humps, jolting and jarring of field work gone.

The new "Velvet Ride" Seat was specially developed for Massey-Harris. It is just one of many reasons why more and more farmers are powering their farms with Massey-Harris Tractors. Come in and let us tell you all about it.

Welcome the Crowd with Mocha Punch (See recipes below)

Good Refreshers

Versatile homemakers keep supplies on hand to prepare tasty refreshments for unexpected friends...

It's well to keep the cookie jar stocked for just such occasions. Another idea is to keep packaged ice cream in the freezer compartment...

A large bowl of milk punch with ice cream floating on top will be a taste-tempting and satisfying drink to serve for a large crowd.

Mocha Punch (Serves 12)

- 1 quart chocolate ice cream
1 quart freshly-made coffee, chilled
1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring
Few grains of salt

Chill coffee in refrigerator. To prepare punch, pour coffee into punch bowl, add half of the ice cream, salt, and stir until partially melted.

What about those easy to bake cookies at the last minute? Yes, refrigerator cookies are wonderful made just before serving...

Butterscotch Refrigerator Cookies (Makes 50)

- 1/2 cup butter or shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Work shortening or butter until light and fluffy. Add sugar gradually and cream until light. Add well-beaten egg and vanilla and mix thoroughly.

Hermits (Makes 4 dozen)

- 3/4 cup lard
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
3 eggs, well beaten
2 1/2 cups sifted flour

Cream together the lard and sugar. Add eggs, and then fold in flour which has been sifted with the spices.

LYNN SAYS: Equipment Wears Better With Daily Care

Refrigerators should be defrosted at least once a week. Excess forming of ice can be avoided if you keep the door closed.

The interior of the refrigerator may be cleaned with warm water to which is added a bit of baking soda. Never use abrasives on the enamel.

Never place hot foods in the refrigerator as this will lower the temperature and help form ice.

For oven cooking, it's best to use casseroles and pans with a dull finish. Polished metals reflect heat, thus wasting some fuel.

Kathleen Norris Says: Wife Should 'Ignore' Other Woman

Keep a happy house with happy children in it. Cultivate a dozen things at home: flowers, games, hospitality for the children, books...

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"WHEN we were married we were poor," writes Elizabeth Bates from St. Paul. "It wasn't only that we were happier then—I knew we were happier. People don't often admit that they're happy, when circumstances are hard and uncertain, but we did."

"Lee and I met in a great disaster, a flood. It was when we lived down South; we were both flooded out, and both began to help feed the refugees. I was in a big flood center, combining beans, soup, hash and everything else into great hot goulashes, buttering buns, pouring hot coffee. Lee organized the distribution."

"After that I lived with an aunt, took a job. Lee got a job and we were married. Quite in the spirit of our first meeting, our new home was a small abandoned garage. The cemented main floor was our sitting-room, the three small rooms upstairs our living rooms. It was such an adventure, it was all such fun!"

"Then when Lee sold a piece of property destroyed by flood and no longer in a residential district, we went abroad for two marvelous years. Our expenses for those 25 months averaged $100 a month, and we came home with Michael thrown in for good measure."

Lee Joins Law Firm

"While Lee finished his law course, we lived in one room off a kitchen in a big house. I cooked and waited on table for our room and board, and Sheila came to join Michael, Lee and me. Sundays Lee washed the cars, raked the lawn, cut wood, and I worked in the kitchen from early morning till late at night."

"Well, then we had to stop with the domestic position, and we took a flat; managing wasn't so easy on one salary, and I began to sense even then what I know now so well, that I wasn't keeping up with Lee."

"Now I have three children, 8, 6 and 3. We are prosperous. I have a good girl to help me. But Lee has left me behind. There is another woman; I think I always knew that there would be. But now that it has come, it is hard to take. She is handsome, rich, of high social standing and politically active. Lee and I are 31, she some six years older. She fascinates him, telephones him, takes him off to meetings, and they have dinner at some ideal woman's place or on the train. She has been married twice, widowed once, divorced once."

"I am absorbed, contented, joyous sort of way ignore Lee and his affairs. Make yourself a sweet, pretty, interesting person. You would not be the first wife who won her husband back completely, and turned out to be the personality of the two. But before you win Lee, win yourself. Become your own ideal woman, mother, friend, citizen, and you'll find that you have become his ideal, too."

Citrus Steaks on Order

Some day filets of lemon and orange steaks may be featured on dinner menus.

Lee K. Stone, a research chemist in Miami, Fla., has been working with orange and lemon seeds.

Next step, according to Stone, is perfecting a citrus seed meat substitute. It is still in the experimental stage, but Stone revealed that he already has progressed to the point where the seeds "smell like fresh-baked bread."

Three Gallons of Honey Cost $30,000

Housewives complaining about the high prices of food will sympathize with the Illinois Central railroad which last year had to pay $30,000 for three gallons of honey.

The honey was found by two men in a hive that bees had improvised on timbers under an Illinois Central trestle near Watts, Ky. The men smoked the bees, collected the honey and departed happily.

A HARD COURSE

Systematic and unflustered planning will help win back a husband who has strayed from his wife. A woman, beleaguered by a home-breaker of her own sex, will accomplish nothing with divorce threats, tearful pleadings and separation, cautions Miss Norris. The only remedy for a wife in these unenviable circumstances is to ignore the affair, pretty herself up and strive to be a sweet, interesting person.

The story of Elizabeth Bates is a typical tale of the "rags to riches" variety. The girl between Elizabeth and her husband, Lee, is growing wider and she frantically appeals to Miss Norris for assistance in solving her problem.

"Perhaps Lee doesn't fully sense it, but she must, that I am ignored, I am left alone. I am sent brief messages that my husband must be here and there. It bewilders me. I can't fight back. I can't pretend that I am having affairs I'm not. I don't want other men. I could be the happiest woman in the world. I am the most lonesome and sad. Once he needed me, life was one long joke together. Now he forgets me for days at a time, and I am desperate, frantic."

Asks for Advice

"Would threats of divorce, threats of naming her, be any good?" this disconsolate letter concludes. "Would you advise separation, and my going to mother in Memphis? Should I talk to the woman herself, and ask her to let Lee go? Which of these courses shall I take?"

Betty, don't take any of these courses. You have a hard bit of ground to cover, and have to remind yourself that you can't have everything in this world. You can't have youth, success, devoted husband, fine children and wealth—not all at once. You've lost Lee, yes; but it needn't be for long. My advice is neither for your husband nor his new love.

It is for you. Keep a happy house with happy children in it. Cultivate a dozen things at home: flowers, games, hospitality for the children, books, drawing, knitting, radio, puzzles, cooking, raising kittens or pups or chickens for the market—whatever appeals to you. Dress neatly and picturesquely, in a fashion that sets you off. If you can, move to the country, expand physically as well as mentally.

In an absorbed, contented, joyous sort of way ignore Lee and his affairs. Make yourself a sweet, pretty, interesting person. You would not be the first wife who won her husband back completely, and turned out to be the personality of the two. But before you win Lee, win yourself. Become your own ideal woman, mother, friend, citizen, and you'll find that you have become his ideal, too.

Woman's Fall on Ice Leads To Mishaps for Rescuers

STAMPS, ARK.—Mrs. Polly Knott, farm wife living near here, went out to feed her livestock, fell on the ice and sprained her ankle. Mrs. Mattie LeMay, Mrs. Knott's sister, went to her assistance, slipped and fell fracturing her wrist. Clint LeMay, game warden, rushed to assist his mother and aunt, slipped down the steps and broke his leg.

Ten Cents' Worth of Nuts Causes Grocer Troubles

PHILADELPHIA.—Seven young men entered Isadore Lashinsky's grocery store and bought 10 cents' worth of pistachio nuts. A half hour later they returned, knocked Lashinsky down, hit him over the head with a loaf of bread, tipped over stacks of goods on the counter and tossed cakes around the store. They explained on the way out that they didn't like the flavor of the nuts.

Colorado College Requires Plane Hops for Students

DENVER, COLO.—The University of Denver's school of education will require all senior students to take link trainer preparation and actual flight instruction in an airplane. Merlyn McLaughlin, director of the university's school of aeronautics, said the purpose "is to familiarize future teachers with aviation, in the hope of developing their appreciation of its importance in the postwar era."

'Dead' Deer Leaps from Moving Car to Safety

COUDERSPORT, PA.—This little deer decided that he didn't want to have anything to do with a venison steak dinner — especially since he was slated to be the main course. A group of youths here were hauling the deer to the county home for food, after striking it with their station wagon on the highway near here. En route, the deer, believed to be dead, suddenly leaped from the car and dashed into the woods.

2. What is the coldest place in the world on land?
3. Do birds sleep in their nests?
4. If you find a pearl in a restaurant oyster, is it any good?
5. How much can you see with your eyes moving?

THE ANSWERS
1. Benjamin Franklin.
2. Verkhoyansk, Siberia.
3. Only when they are too young to leave them, though a mother bird might accidentally snooze while sitting on her eggs.

5. Not a thing. You are stone blind when your eyes are moving in their sockets.

Tossed From His Car, Driver Chases Vehicle
LYNN, MASS.—Roger Bragdon's motor trip from Lynn to nearby Revere left him footsore and leg-weary.
En route his car was in collision with a trolley. The crash tossed Bragdon—uninjured—out of his automobile, which kept on going. The 23-year-old driver chased the vehicle several blocks before he could overtake it and climb back into the driver's seat.

Baron Works as Lumberjack
In Arizona Pine Forests
FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.—A titled baron of Sweden, Baron Carl Gabriel Beck-Fris, 28, is learning the lumber business the hard way by working as a lumberjack in the northern Arizona pine forests.
His family owns 40,000 acres of timber and farm land in Sweden and he came to the United States to study American agriculture and forestry methods.

Europe Seeks 50,000 Cats
For Rat Control Program
NEW YORK—A cat to Europe plan was in the making as American Feline society laid plans to comb 39 states, Canada and Costa Rica for 50,000 cats for Europe.
The program was set in motion after a London paper stressed need for a million cats to catch rats stealing precious grain from hungry Europeans.
Robert L. Kendall, president of the society, said: "What we want is just cats—alley cats."

Twin Blast Shatters Windows, Injures Two Men
MOUNT HOLLY, N. J.—Two men were injured and a gasoline service station wrecked in a double explosion which rocked the town, shattered windows in a wide area and brought out all available fire fighting equipment.
The blasts came just as one of the injured men threw a switch shutting off an electric pump to end delivery of gasoline from an underground tank to a truck.

'Big Eye' to Answer Queries of Science
Largest and Most Costly Telescope Will Probe Secrets of Skies
MT. PALOMAR, CALIF.—Described as the world's largest and most costly scientific instrument, the $6,500,000 Mt. Palomar observatory telescope will begin scanning the skies this spring.
The 200-inch mirror and telescope comprising the "cosmic eye" is expected to peer one billion light years out into space; determine whether life exists on Mars; perhaps set a time and date for disintegration of the sun; settle whether there is an end to the universe or whether it is without beginning or end, and study atoms in the great heat of the stars.

Uranium Can Be Converted Into More Than 70 Elements
LOS ANGELES.—Uranium can be crumbled into 70 different kinds of elements—including iron, gold and lead—by one smash of a cyclotron, a scientist disclosed.
The reaction was described at a meeting of American Physical Society by Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, University of California nuclear chemist and co-discoverer of plutonium.
Dr. Seaborg said he was able to create more than two-thirds of all known elements by bombarding uranium with particles of other atoms at an energy of 400 million electron volts.
At lower energies, he said, the uranium split into just two or three other elements.
Some of the new elements were formed by splitting the uranium atom into two other atoms. Others were formed by chipping off as many as 30 small particles, leaving a large core of a new element.
