

Opening Ball Game at Meno. Falls Sun; Team Beats Belles

The Kewaskum Utensils, grand champions of the Kettle Moraine loop last year, and victors over the Campbellsport Belles in a practice game last Sunday, will open another season of play this Sunday, May 2, when they play their first game as new entries in the northern division of the fast Land o' Lakes circuit. The opener is at Menomonee Falls and will get under way at 2:15 p. m. The first home game will be played the following Sunday, May 9, with West Bend here. In the game against the Belles of the Central States league at Campbellsport Sunday, the Utensils won by a 10 to 5 score. The Belles also were in the Kettle Moraine league last year. Kewaskum scored in the game in the second inning with a 9-run barrage, which came after scoring one run in the opening frame. Kewaskum was held scoreless the rest of the way while the Belles bounced back with five runs in the remaining innings, only half enough to overcome the Utensils' margin.

Campbellsport used four pitchers and Kewaskum three in the practice tilt. Lichtensteiger started for the opponents and was relieved in the second inning by Chuck Schramm. The latter had an off day and was very wild. He was hit freely and let several runs cross the plate on wild pitches. Giles Knowles, former professional pitcher, came in for the next few innings and held the Utensils scoreless, giving up only two or three hits. Wondra finished the game and also held the winners without a tally.

"Mix" Marx worked the first few innings for the winners and was in fine form, holding the Belles in complete check. Then Wayland Tessar, first baseman, hurled a few innings and was knicked for runs. Krueger worked the last inning. Neither Tessar nor Krueger are regular pitchers. Kewaskum's other twirler, Honeck, did not play Sunday. Walgenbach and Weber handled the catching duties for the Belles, while Cy Wietor was the local receiver. Bud Kerth caught the last inning. Both teams used many players, especially Campbellsport.

A 21-game schedule, including two holiday games, will be played in the Lakes circuit. Kewaskum will play nine home games and 12 away. Giles Wierman will again manage the team. The season closes Sept. 5, the day before Labor day. Following is Kewaskum's complete schedule:

In another baseball doubleheader played on the local grounds Tuesday afternoon, the Kewaskum high school nine copped two close games from Oakfield. The scores were 3 to 1 and 3 to 2. John Tessar and Wierman shared mound duties for the victors.

In the opening game Tessar allowed the Oaks only two hits in the six inning contest. The Indians collected but three off of R. Collien. With Tessar pitching two innings and Wierman in the nightcap, Oakfield again was held to two bingles. Kewaskum again got only three off Geisthardt. Edwards caught both games for the winners as did G. Collien for Oakfield.

Last Friday's doubleheader against Brandon here was postponed because of unfavorable weather. This Saturday Kewaskum plays a twin bill at North Fond du Lac.

In other conference games Tuesday Lomira split a twin bill with Brandon and North Fondy won two from Rosendale. Pitching for Lomira, Ronnie Sterr twirled a no-hitter in the first game against Brandon. Ronnie up to now has given up only one hit and one run in 20 innings.

GONRING CITED FOR WORK IN RED CROSS FUND DRIVE

He also praised the loyal and generous support of the people in the chapter area.

Pastor in Plea for CROP Drive Support

"Moving pictures, the press and radio have tried to bring to people in America a description of conditions in Europe. All the articles that have been written can not make real to us the pangs of hunger of people who have been on a starvation diet for years. Even those who have visited these areas can only bring to us a part of the picture. If all the movie reels were spliced together, they could not show the miles and miles of rubble and debris, nor could they convey the death-like atmosphere one breathes as he walks about these places. A movie like 'Seeds of Destiny' tells a true story when it shows how five, six and seven year old children have never walked because of lack of proper food from babyhood. But even such a picture can tell us only part of the story of suffering caused by hunger, cold and disease.

"I can still hear the clatter of wooden shoes on cold winter mornings before day light as French men, women and children would come down the road to dig into our garbage cans for scraps of water-soaked pancakes and consume same immediately lest another take it from them.

"In Germany I saw long queues or lines of dirty, ragged, unshorn children standing in line for their ration of milk. When I inquired if these children came every day I learned that a different queue of children would stand in line the next day because there was not enough milk that each child might have some every day. Each child received one liter (quart) of milk per week. Is it any wonder that tens of thousands of children are dying monthly from tuberculosis. This terrible germ is feasting on the flagging energies of ill-fed people. In Holland where the food situation is not as acute as in some of the other countries recently 300 children died in one day from tuberculosis.

"Well do I remember the expression on the face of a father who stopped me one day for something to eat for his children. His very expression told me it was a matter of life or death. He and the mother and 6 children lived in a sort of tunnel they had dug into a rubble heap. I gave him several 'R' rations. But he didn't want charity, he had too much pride and self-respect. He insisted that in exchange I take a silver crucifix.

"God has been good to us as a nation. Our farms have yielded bountifully and we are living in abundance. Certainly no one with a sense of Christian compassion can turn a deaf ear to the cries of millions of children whose hands are outstretched toward us for a crust of bread and a bowl of milk. Our own bread will taste better when we know we have shared it with those less fortunate. C.R.O.P. offers to all who CARE a chance to SHARE."

The foregoing is a brief statement regarding the hunger conditions in western Europe contributed by the Rev. Julius K. Braun, pastor of the Immanuel E. & R. church, West Bend, who spent many months overseas as an army chaplain. Rev. Braun is also a member of the Washington county committee sponsoring the Christian Rural Overseas Relief Program which will be launched in the county during the week of May 16.

The drive for either cash donations or food products will largely be conducted in the rural areas and villages of the county. Residents of Hartford and West Bend may donate cash, either through their church or by sending their donations direct to Howard E. Schacht, First National Bank, West Bend, who is treasurer of C.R.O.P. for all county donations.

During the fortnight of May, according to Raymond D. Lepien, county chairman of the Christian Rural Overseas Program, a letter will be sent to all rural and village families outlining how farm produce or cash donations may be made. It is hoped that all farm families who produce milk on their farms will donate milk which is to be marketed in the usual way. The milk plant will forward to the county C.R.O.P. treasurer, a sum of money equal to the value of the milk. If milk is not produced on a given farm, then eggs, veal, or other farm produce may be donated. This produce is to be marketed in the usual way and the corresponding value in cash sent to C.R.O.P. funds which can be shipped overseas will be purchased with the proceeds.

The drive in the various townships and villages will be under the supervision of a local chairman. These are listed below:

Township Chairmen—Addison, Ray Walter; Barton, Ed. N. Hausmann; Erin, A. John Cleary; Farmington, Harvey Dettmann; Germantown, Clarence Bezdoff; Hartford, Herbert Lepien; Jackson, Wm. F. Schroeder; Kewaskum, Alfred Seefeldt; Polk, Harry Kinsinger; Richfield, Adolph Lofy; Trouton, Joe Kliska; Wayne, George Kibbel Jr.; West Bend, John Thoma.

When it became known that he had pneumonia, the baby was being taken to the hospital but died before reaching there.

Officers Elected by Woman's Club Saturday

Meeting Saturday afternoon, new officers were elected by the Kewaskum Woman's club as follows: President, Mrs. Charles Miller; first vice-president, Mrs. Albert Iron Jr.; second vice-president, Mrs. Tom Green; secretary, Mrs. Howard Backhaus; treasurer, Mrs. Clyde Smith.

The regular meeting of the club will be held on Saturday afternoon, May 8, with Mrs. L. P. Rosenheimer as hostess. Charlotte Leans of West Bend will talk on Girl Scout work.

Each member is urged to bring school supplies to this meeting for the "children of tragedy" in Europe and Asia. We are told that in Greece pencils sell for five dollars each. Our donations of school supplies would help to make friends for life of these "children of tragedy."

Club members and their friends may wish to help with contributions of pencils, tablets or writing pads. Small cash contributions are useful, too, as 25¢ a pound must be sent to cover shipping costs abroad.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS. Revolt Interrupts Bogota Parley; Miners Get Pension, End Walkout; GOP Aspirants in Primaries Fight

By Bill Schoonenberg, WNU Staff Writer

REVOLT: Bogota

It was a peaceful early afternoon in Bogota, Colombia, and the inter-American conference was drawing along in customary style in the capitol building on the Plaza Bolivar.

Then, with the firing of four assassin's bullets into the body of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, popular leader of Colombia's Liberal party, one of the worst revolts Latin American has seen exploded into violence.

During the first afternoon Bogota descended into a state of complete anarchy. Mobbed streets, looting, burning and looting. Scores were killed. The residence of President Ospina Perez was attacked and windows were broken before army troops drove away the crowd.

Above the confused clamor of the throng could be heard shouts of "Down with the government, down with the Conservatives." Three days later, as the riots simmered to a halt, 300 persons were dead, many others injured.

On Wisconsin

In his South St. Paul home Stassen growled with the comfortable cheer of a cat who had just swiped all the cream in Wisconsin as he sat with his wife and received reports stating that he had run off with 13 of the 27 delegates to that state's primary election.

ATOM BOMB: No Secret

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal put a name and a definitive edge, after a fashion, to all the restless postwar fears Americans have been experiencing. He did it by announcing to the house armed services committee that Russia knows how to make the atom bomb.

PRIMARIES: Wisconsin

Wisconsin's presidential primary election to choose delegates to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia on June 11 was regarded, as usual, as a straw in the wind; but this year the political breeze was a shifting one.

SETTLEMENT: Coal Strike

John L. Lewis wasn't exactly in the position of a man who had asked friends out to dinner and then found he couldn't pay the check, but he was verging on some such situation.

More To Come

From Wisconsin the election year wind swung to the plains of Nebraska where seven leading contenders in the Republican presidential race fought it out in a free-for-all match.

Gasoline from Coal

Gasoline made from coal, even when it comes into general use, probably will cost more than petroleum gasoline, but at least motorists won't have to worry about shortages.

TREATY: Finns-Russ

Russia had what it wanted from Finland—a buffer state to the northwest. The two nations signed a 10-year treaty of mutual assistance which binds Finland to fight within its own borders in the event either country is attacked.

Italian Style

U.S. Ambassador to Italy James Clement Duns (right) peers benevolently at an Italian worker in Taranto as he tastes grain that was among the foodstuffs delivered aboard the 500th relief ship to bring food to Italy.

CONTROLS: Cold Shoulder

The jeering specter of price, wage and ration controls was invoked again by President Truman's council of economic advisers which called for nationwide "discipline" to prevent inflation under the impact of the new defense program.

Washington Digest. Muff (a Dog) Has Her Ideas About the Nobility of Man

By BAUKHAGE, News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—There is nothing particularly strange about a dog guarding a batch of milk cans like the one in the accompanying photograph. You wouldn't be too surprised to find that the dog knew who should collect the cans and who shouldn't; to hear about other dogs who go to the store with a shopping list, bring back groceries and even stinks in the basket they carry; and you know all about the wonderful "Seeing-Eye" dogs which not only guard their masters from harm, but often appear to sense danger's approach.

But the other day I had an experience with a dog which you probably won't believe. I was sitting twilight on my porch after a long day and a comforting meal. I was digesting my dinner while Muff, my wire-haired fox, was removing the last vestiges of it from her beard. She was lying in front of me on the flat topped porch-pat, her favorite resting place. She sniffed her toilet, snuggled her chin on one paw facing me, and yawned—or so it seemed in the fading light. A robin was sounding the last sleepy cadences of his vesper song from the recesses of an ancient maple.

I looked at Muff. She looked back and smiled beneath her whiskers—or so I guessed she might be doing. "If I had the patience," I said half-aloud, "I could teach you to talk." "Oh, no you couldn't!" I could almost swear Muff had responded. She certainly had opened her mouth. I let my imagination run on. "Oh, yes I could," I replied, pretending she could understand me. "You've got the brains. How do you know that when I take my briefcase, I'll be back in the evening and when I take my suitcase, I won't be back for several days?"

There was a sudden whoosh, a flash of gray in the night, followed by a parabola of fur as Muff left the post in one leap after the neighbor's cat which by now was snickering at her from the maple branch. Muff came back. She gave me a hand-dog look and remarked through her whiskers. "That is one race-memory that I can't eliminate." "And by the way," she added, "Don't mention this conversation. Nobody will believe you if you do."

A RIDE IN THE DARK

By LOUISE BERGSTROM

THE headlights of the blue coupe flashed on in the driveway. Joyce, who had been watching from an upstairs window, reached hurriedly for the coat lying on her bed. As she slipped into it she made a last quick survey of the room to see that she had not forgotten anything. By the door her neatly packed suitcase stood ready, and even now the room had that deserted, impersonal atmosphere a room acquires when its occupant goes away.

Her heightened emotions threw an unnatural clarity over the familiar scene. Little things she had not noticed for weeks sprang suddenly into focus. A silly little horn hanging on the dresser was a reminder of a dance Terry had taken her to while they were still in college. He had kissed her that night for the first time. The photograph stuck in the edge of the mirror: Terry with a horrible grimace pretending to clutch her throat as she knelt in supplication in the sand. That had been taken the day the gang drove out to Three Tree Point for a picnic.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again!"

She shivered and drew her coat closer around her shoulders. For tonight was the end of her girlhood, the end of the careless, silly years. After tonight nothing would ever be quite the same again. Better, perhaps. Oh, yes—far, far better! But not the same, ever again.

She caught her breath in a sudden panic, and for one horrible, despairing moment she thought, "I don't want to go through with it! I'm afraid!"

Then with a laughing sigh at her absurdity, she shook the mood from her and hurried out of the room without looking back.

Safely in the car with her suitcase tucked under her feet, she relaxed comfortably against the shoulder of the young man behind the steering wheel.

"Look, Terry, there's a new moon tonight—is that a good omen, do you suppose?"

"I hope so, darling." He looked tenderly down at the delicate oval of her face, childish mop of brown curls and the small hands folded carefully in her lap.

"Oh, Joyce," he exclaimed abruptly, "don't you think we should have told your mother after all? Are you sure that you want to do it this way?"

"Hush, Terry." She patted his knee. "Let's not go into that again. It's too late, anyway. You know Mother, she thinks I'm still a baby! She wanted us to wait at least another year."

"She might be right at that," Terry replied uncertainly. "Maybe you are too young."

"Nonsense!" She shook her curls emphatically. "A girl knows when she's ready. Wasn't it lucky Mother decided to go to California when she did? Everything worked out beautifully. Now she needn't know a thing about it until it's all over."

"Darling," her voice grew pensive. "Why do you suppose it is that middle-aged people can't seem to remember what it's like to be young and in love? Don't they remember the beauty and the relentless urgency? Don't they know that there has to come a time when you've got to have it all and even everything is not enough?" Her voice faltered, and in the silence between them the words were like dark wings beating.

Terry reached down and took her hand in a hard grip.

"Joyce, dearest!" he whispered. They were silent then, and the moon-bathed landscape sped past as his foot pressed hard on the gas pedal. It was early spring, and the cool night air blowing in through the car window had the restless, exciting smell of new growth.

At last they were out of the country, coming into the suburbs of a town, where street lights dimmed the moon and houses stood in dark huddled rows.

Terry slowed to the curb and turned to the girl beside him. His arms went around her and his head bent down to hers.

"I love you, Joyce," he said against her soft hair. "Are you afraid of tonight?"

She thought fleetingly of the moment in her room when she said goodbye to her girlhood, but that moment was passed, swept away by the tide of new emotions.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again."

"As long as you love me, Terry," she replied simply, "I'm not afraid of tonight or afterwards." It was quite true; she felt strong now, and confident, ready for anything the future might hold.

He kissed her gently and the car moved forward again, slowly now as though the future had become too precious for any risk. A brightly lighted building loomed before them, and Terry stopped again at the foot of a flight of stone steps.

He picked up her suitcase and stepped out of the car, then turned to take her arm.

Joyce looked up eagerly at the words cut over the entrance to the building: "LAKEWOOD MATERNITY HOSPITAL."

She smiled at her husband gravely, reassuringly, and together they started up the steps toward the welcoming lights.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again."

LET'S TALK ABOUT YOU

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

The Secret of Good Habits

Because you have been warned so many times against breaking habits, you may have jumped to the conclusion that all habits are bad. But they aren't. I think the number of good habits is greater than the number of bad habits.

You may be astonished when I tell you that being more effective and successful in your life is largely a matter of habit. What I mean is that clever and successful people have formed helpful habits of thinking and doing, while neurotic and unsuccessful people have the wrong kind of habits. That is the chief difference between them.

Look at a habit in this way and you will see what I mean. What is habit except doing—or thinking—the same thing often enough until doing or thinking it becomes automatic, and you do every customary act in the same way. Such action is called "habitual action." When you think the same thoughts often enough until they have become thoughts that come and go without your bidding, really without your control, you are doing habitual or habituated thinking.

Now, the secret of winning the right kind of personality and place in life is simply to determine a pattern of thoughts that you want to have, and then to think those thoughts and keep on thinking them long enough until thinking them becomes a habit.

Let's say that at the present time you are willy-nilly about everything you do. You can't make up your mind. You waver. You postpone. You can't make decisions.

Those things are a sign of faulty thought habits.

Decide that for one week you will act decisively, even if wrongly, in little things. During that week act, live, carry yourself like a person of resolute habits.

Maybe one week's experiment isn't going to be long enough to overthrow the faulty thought habits of a lifetime, but it will help. It will be long enough to put you on the road to right thinking and to right habits.

Dig deeply enough into the way the person you admire the most lives, and you probably will find that he is controlled by a series of habits—right habits. The sum total of those habits is what gives him his personality, his attractiveness. The sum total of good habits in your life will do just as much for you.

New Army Technique Aids Plane Survivors

GOOSE BAY, LABRADOR. — A new technique for rescuing survivors of plane crashes in the frozen Labrador wastelands by pin-pointing dog-sled teams by parachute has been developed by the air transport command.

The newly developed operation "dogsled" will save precious hours for plane crash survivors exposed to the bitter cold and possibly suffering from injuries received when their craft plunged earthward.

Conceived by Sgt. George E. Abbott, Norfolk, Va., the unusual rescue operation is especially valuable because some areas of the woody terrain in Labrador are so dense that helicopters cannot land.

Huskies, sleds and para-doctors jump from C-47's via the silk chute route and gather together at a focal point where the dog teams are assembled. Then the unit proceeds to the scene of the crash where it administers first aid, evacuates the seriously wounded and provides food.

The entire procedure lasts only a few minutes, contrasting sharply with the hours and days that it has taken overland rescue teams to reach some crash scenes in the past.

Twins Are Identical, Even to Toothaches

Six-year-old Janice and Jeanette Washburn of Mattapoisett, Mass., are identical twins—painfully identical.

When they reported to the school dentist, Dr. George M. Teasdale, with toothaches in corresponding molars, Dr. Teasdale insisted he never before had heard of such a coincidence.

To their mother, however, it was an old story. The twins lost the same corresponding first baby teeth on the same day. Similar circumstances also surrounded the loss of their second teeth.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER IN WASHINGTON

WALTER SHEARD, WAM Correspondent

Congressional Football

FROM a window in the puny department of labor quarters in the Federal Triangle building at 14th street and Constitution avenue and looking across the green expanse of the mall, the huge department of agriculture building—10 acres big, 4,500 rooms, 40 elevators, nine floors, seven miles of corridors, 68,000 employees, streetcars running into its basement and with its annual appropriations running up to some 700 million dollars—stands as a Gibraltar-like monument erected in behalf of and functioning for the benefit of the six million American farmers.

The agency dates back to almost 1860 when a few people started it working in a corner of the old patent office. Lincoln officially established it as a department in 1882 and it attained cabinet rank in 1889. Administrations come and go, but the powerful D. of A. rocks serenely along, not much perturbed about it.

By contrast, the department of labor, a congressional football, did not obtain cabinet rank until 1913 and the bill creating it was signed by Pres. William Howard Taft. So it is somewhat ironic today that one of its critics is Sen. Robert A. Taft, son of that president and himself a candidate for president.

The statistical bureau of the labor department dates back to 1833 and that's about all the department is today—a statistical bureau. President Truman has put forth two reorganization plans to combine all labor functions within the department but congress has discarded both plans.

It has lost its children's bureau, its USES, its mediation and conciliation service and other bureaus. The national labor relations board is set up under a separate agency, and so is the railway mediation board. Its appropriations have been slashed, its personnel demobilized and disorganized until today it has about 4,000 employees and its annual appropriation is about 12 million dollars.

Yet it is set up to function in behalf of and for the benefit of 60 million workers, 42 million of them non-agricultural workers.

But the paradox of this story is the fact that the department of labor has been assigned one of the former functions of the department of agriculture, namely to recruit some 10 million migratory and temporary agricultural workers to harvest the nation's crops this fall. During the war this was the function of the D. of A., and agriculture recruited, housed and transported its migratory labor force. The act was repealed, however, and congress tossed the job into the lap of the labor department.

So with its meager resources, the labor department is attempting a nation-wide campaign to recruit these workers who start in southern states about May 15 and work north ending up the job along around October. Wheat and other small grain, sugar beets, truck crops, berries and fruits of all kinds, cotton, peanuts and potatoes comprise the main crops to be harvested.

If the Arizona legislature has its way, congress will authorize construction of a fence the entire length of the Mexican border to prevent infiltration of hoof-and-mouth infected cattle. And if a California legislative committee has its way, its legislature will approve an appropriation of $25,000 "for lunches and entertainment of congressmen" in the state's fight for tideland oil lands.

Aid to Education

The 300-million-dollar federal aid to education bill, as it passed the senate, leaves to the states the decisions as to whether private and parochial schools shall benefit. In some states school buses haul pupils of parochial schools; in some free textbook states books are furnished parochial schools; in some states recreational facilities and free lunches are provided. Debate on the measure ranged from some pretty low-grade bigotry and intolerance to some high-grade statesmanship. This reporter liked the following quotation from the speech of Sen. Brien McMahon (Rep., Conn.):

"It cannot be said that giving a child a glass of milk or fixing his teeth or fitting up a basketball court is going to make him an atheist, a Mohammedan, a Protestant, a Catholic or anything else, but it may make him an American better prepared physically to carry on for his country in the event of a conflict."

Man for the Job

Sharp-nosed, blue-eyed, thick-shouldered and barrel-chested Paul Gray Hoffman, who has the nation's most important appointive job as boss of ERP, will make a go of it if anyone can. He's the Eric Johnston or Senator Flanders type of Republican—liberal and progressive, sound thinking and human. So he knows human nature and the importance of friendly human relations. He has demonstrated that in business and in previous government jobs.

Save Your Money

President Truman asked for three additional billions of dollars for a 56-group air force. A congressional committee wants to add another two and a half billion for a 70-group force. Secretary Forrestal says if we do that, ground and navy forces must be increased accordingly to handle it, meaning more billions. Remember what this columnist said last week about holding on to that tax cut refund. You'll need it to pay higher taxes come next January.

BOUQUETS to "Juvenile Jury"

(MBS, Sunday afternoons) for making a valuable contribution to international understanding. Last January a little English girl was flown to this country with her mother for a two weeks' stay; this month a French child joins the jury panel. Jack Barry, creator and emcee of the show, will tap as many countries as possible to make the program international. But no child could be more enchanting than five-year-old Elizabeth Watson. Although she has just started school, she has quite a vocabulary, is articulate and has a sense of humor—important "Juvenile Jury" requirements.

Six persons went to Europe with the Vox Poppers, Parks Johnson and Warren Hull. Mrs. Johnson was among them, but this time she didn't have to shop for the gifts given to interviewees. Huge parcels of food were taken along.

Sandra ("Mitzi") Gould, welcomed back to the east of NBC's "A Date With Judy," revealed during rehearsal that she had played her shortest movie role in the interim. The part consisted of one line—"Who's Madame Muntz?"

Rosemary de Camp of the air's "Dr. Christian" show has been signed to play the part of Marilyn Miller's mother in "Silver Lining," Warner Brothers' picturization of the dancer's life. This will be Rosemary's first film since the birth of her third daughter last December. June Haver has the starring role, which so many young actresses wanted.

Inspired by the success of "To the Ends of the Earth," Columbia announced recently that it will follow up with "C. I. D. Agent," a similarly styled semi-documentary film dealing with activities of the U. S. criminal investigation department, which probes criminal activities within the armed forces. It will be a top budget production.

Ralph Staub, producer of "Screen Snapshots," has completed "A Day at C.B.S." Among the stars seen are Gene Autry, Harry James, Dinah Shore, Lum and Abner, Jean Hershold, Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton, and Bob Crosby.

The 50 members of Bob Hope's troupe say if they stay with him long enough he's bound to land them in their home town. Hope does seem bent on covering every town, large or small, in the country. But he's sure he never will play the home town of one of Les Brown's trumpet players, who was born at a "whistle stop" in North Dakota that is now off the map.

If this rumor is true it certainly establishes a precedent. The rumor—that Ida Lupino has written an original screen play with Joan Crawford in mind for the starring role, and that Miss Crawford, soon to begin work in "Miss O'Brien," is reading the script with a favorable eye. First time on record one star has written a story for another.

Odds and Ends . . . ABC's "Stop the Music" planned to use Edgar Bergen's theme song as a "mystery tune," but suddenly realized they'd be plugging a competitive show playing the same tune . . . Bruce Bennett claims that his 10-month-old son, Christopher, has been walking alone for three weeks . . . The New York police department has assigned two officers to every performance of "Harvey" since James Stewart returned to the title role of the play . . . Leif Erickson ("Sorry, Wrong Number") photographed a number of the great events of World War II in the Pacific as a navy chief photographer's mate.

Dorothy Lamour will wear a sarong, but not her old one, in "Let's Fall in Love." The new garment will be spangled with diamond and gold sequins, 40,000 in all, and it's to have "the new look," which is old by now.

Ray Montgomery, promising young actor, can hardly wait for fame and stardom. His reason is unusual. "I can sign two autographs at once," explains the ambidextrous chap. "One with each hand."

Jack Cardiff, the British cameraman who won an Academy award for his photography in "Black Narcissus," has been signed by Transatlantic Pictures to direct the photographing of "Under Capricorn." Ingrid Bergman will be starred and Alfred Hitchcock will direct the picture.

First film to be made by 20th Century-Fox in England under the new tax agreement will be "Gay Puss." Rex Harrison will star.

FOUR-LEAF CLOVER. Eve is supposed to have taken a four-leaf clover with her when she left Paradise. The petals divisions are: one for fame, two for wealth, three for faithful lover, and four for health.
O.K. President Wilson wrote "Okeh" on bills which he approved and claimed that okeh is a Choctaw Indian word for "It is so".
CANDIDATE. In Latin, candidus means "glittering white". Ancient Romans, campaigning for office, wore a white toga and were consequently called candidatus, "clothed in white". From this comes our word candidate, meaning "one campaigning for office".

To ease your aching heart, dear friend,
I would
Be glad to speak that word, be glad to bring

But well I know that silence is a part

That in this first dark moment when
Your heart

Annual Migration Problem Is 'Duck Soup' for Wise Mallards

Some animals may be dumb, as tradition insists—but the ducks of Brighton, Mich., definitely escape being placed in that category. These Livingston county birds have solved the whole tiring business of the regular spring and fall migrations. While most of their kind are flying thousands of miles in the spring trek from the warm South to the awakening North, the Brighton contingent completes the entire procedure in about 400 short, waddy steps. The 50-odd feathered thinkers based at Brighton take care of the whole matter in about 30 minutes. When the call of spring airs the flock into action the Brighton mallards climb the sides of their little mill pond, waddle about 100 feet across Main street and down the bank into the other half of the pond. And that's it.

This semi-annual performance began eight years ago when a flock of wild mallards passed over this little town and chanced to look down. What they saw sold them on the spot.
It must have looked like a duck paradise.
Down the wild ducks went—and there most of them stayed. They learned the trick of the short-haul migration and were serenely content.
The staff of a nearby fire station is very conscientious about the food supply.

RAISE MORE DAIRY HEIFERS

Cattle numbers have been decreasing throughout the United States during the past year. This decrease is largely the result of a careful culling program and high meat prices. With prospects for a good year of farm production, the raising of more dairy heifers looks like a good business proposition.

INCREASE RATE OF FERTILIZER APPLICATION

Commercial fertilizer supplies appear to be fairly plentiful in many communities. If you can get more fertilizer than your former plans call for, it may prove profitable to use heavier application rates than you have been using in recent years.

TO SAVE FUEL ADJUST TRACTOR CARBURETOR

From 10 to 20 gallons of fuel per farm tractor can be saved annually if the carburetor is properly adjusted, according to research findings of agricultural engineers at the Madison College of Agriculture.

To properly adjust the carburetor on a tractor, warm the engine up thoroughly, have it running at full speed or on a light load. Then turn the carburetor valve to leave the fuel supply until the engine slows down. Then open the valve until the engine picks up speed. Now the best position of the valve opening can be located.

Check for dirt and water in the fuel supply. It may be well to clean out the sediment bowl and strainer screen where the fuel enters the carburetor. On older tractors worn float valves and linkages often waste gas. Have them checked by a competent service man. Check the tension of the ignition spark. Too fast or too slow timing wastes fuel. Low operating temperatures do not give the full use of the fuel because the combustion efficiency of the tractor engine is not up to par. Find out from your dealer what the optimum operating temperature of your tractor is. Then try and operate it at that temperature. This will also prolong the life of the tractor.

MRS. WM. KUHN OF ROCKFIELD HONORED FOR 4-H LEADERSHIP

Mrs. William Kuhn, leader of the Oak Grove 4-H club in Germantown township, was given special recognition Thursday evening by the Milwaukee Farmers organization. This recognition was awarded Mrs. Kuhn and also to other 4-H club leaders from south-western Wisconsin counties for outstanding rural youth leadership. This honor was awarded these leaders at a banquet at the Frankfort Hotel.

Mrs. William Kuhn was selected as the recipient of this recognition because of her long and successful leadership of the Oak Grove 4-H club, which for many years has been one of the largest clubs in the county. Recently Mrs. Kuhn's club was selected by the 4-H leaders' association as the outstanding 4-H club in the county from the standpoint of the accomplishments of the club. These accomplishments included such items as:

- (a) 100% achievement or completion of the club work by all members of the club.
- (b) They also carried out an effective strong club program including project instructions at 14 club meetings, demonstrations, health, and judging.
- (c) Participation in many activities such as farm safety, drama, making of first aid kits, scrap books for disabled servicemen, prepared window display for National 4-H Club Week, donated to 1000 Woods fund some Christmas cards to the sick and aged people of their community.
- (d) Also the club for many years has been successful in developing parental interest through well attended parent night programs.

GREEN TIP FRUIT TREE SPRAY

The delayed dormant or green tip fruit tree spray should be applied as soon as the first bit of green tip shows in buds of the early apple varieties. All trees in the orchard should be sprayed.

Spray materials to use: 1 gallon of liquid lime sulphur, 2 lbs. of lead arsenate, 100 gallons of water. It will be highly important this year to apply at least two of the pre-blossom sprays because of the heavy carry over of apple wash spores. Unsprayed portions of new leaf growth

POULTRY CARE

Present indications are that the 1943 early chick hatch will be 15 or 20% below 1942. This is a drastic curtailment and will reflect itself in the egg production next autumn and winter. Those who have the proper facilities might find it profitable to raise the same number of chicks as they did a year ago.

Walla Crags can be used as a treatment against coccidiosis. They are: (1) drinking water method. Mix one tablespoon of sulfamonomide per gallon of water. Use for one day. Replace with plain drinking water for four days. Repeat twice alternating medicated drinking water for 14 hours and plain water for four days.

(2) Feed treatment: remove the regular feed and replace with feed containing 1% of sulfamonomide in the mash. Give this feed for 24 hours. Replace with clean feed for 4 days. Repeat at least once.

Remember clean pastures. Preferably Ladino clover, is excellent for either growing chicks or laying hens. Such free ranges will reduce the feed bill.

FARM FOLKS SHOULD CONTINUE NORMAL LIVESTOCK NUMBERS

Feed is scarce and livestock numbers are decreasing at an alarming rate. According to James Lacy, livestock specialist of the College of Agriculture.

College of Agriculture

The winter injury is severe on many trees of such varieties as Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, Snow, Jonathan, and even McIntosh. Some varieties as Northwestern Greening show little bud injury but have leaves still on them. For this reason C. L. Kuchner warns and advises that even though late eggs may be present, it is better to prepare to use a summer treatment for the mites than to use the dormant oil spray to kill the overwintered eggs.

Trees with leaves hanging on over winter should not be sprayed with a dormant oil spray. This is because the oil dead leaf stem has not been worked over where it is attached to the spur. It remains on the spur like a sponge to soak up oil and transport it into the spur. Laboratory tests show that oil readily penetrates the injured tissues of the tree. This would later kill the spur or even the terminal branches both at and beyond the oil entered.

Many trees have so much bud injury that pruning should not be done. Therefore, be very sure there is but little or no bud injury on a tree before giving it a normal amount of pruning.

SPRING—A GOOD CLEAN-UP TIME

As soon as the weather permits in the spring is a good time to carry out a complete cleanup program around the house and other farm buildings.

By so doing the way is paved for better living through more healthful surroundings for conserving food and other resources by eliminating fire hazards and rat and mouse shelters and for avoiding accidents by removing dangerous obstacles and by taking care of necessary repairs. Old grass should be collected and burned. Each rat carried over the winter will eat or destroy at least $2.00 worth of food. Mice or lice on cattle will decrease their production by as much as 25%. Weeds and grass growing around buildings or little used machinery are fire hazards. Dust and cobwebs on light bulbs not only cut down the amount of light, but also prevent the radiation of heat. This accumulated heat sometimes sets fire to the dust and cobwebs which can result in a farm fire. Therefore, a little effort spent in cleaning up the farm premises is well worth while.

Unfavorable weather and fall and this winter has caused severe injury to many trees, especially evergreens, throughout Wisconsin.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Liven Up the 'Dead' Forties

Bill Syndicate—WNU Features

Little trips like this may well come to be the habit as well as the delight of your lives.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"TO put the whole thing simply," writes a woman from Kansas City, "my husband is tired of me. In every possible way he shows it, and I am wearing myself out wondering why. I'm just the same as I always was, our children and our home are just as pleasant, we have no money worries, in fact, the death of a wealthy aunt a year ago has given us a comfortable feeling that in the future we can do anything in reason for our boys and our girl.

"For months now, however, Paul has been rude to me. Smiling in a superior way if I express an opinion, giving an exclamation of impatience if I ask him to hand me a book or close the door, sneering at my friends, yawning elaborately if I take him to a picture, play or concert, and openly expressing before the children, who are 12, 14 and 17, his contempt for 'Mother's notions.' "Over and over again," the letter continues, "my eyes fill with tears, and I go about for hours with a hurt feeling in my heart. I know there isn't another woman, I know Paul would be horrified at the idea of a divorce, but his superior, scornful attitude is hard to bear. If I appeal to him he rises quietly and takes himself and his newspapers to some other room.

"Have you any suggestions as to the curing of a man's bad manners? I will be 40 next year, the prospect of the years ahead is a very terrifying one, with my companion a person who obviously is bored and impatient with every phase of my character and my interests. Paul has not kissed me for months. He has made me no more generous allowance because of his legacy. He says he wants to leave that intact because we 'may need it some day.' I never have been extravagant but of course I would like the feeling that certain luxuries were now in reach. Once I hinted this, and was ungraciously asked what on earth I wanted now?

"We always have been considered a devoted couple. Can you give me any reason why a man should change so completely, and like to hurt the person supposedly nearest to him?"

My dear Josette, I say in answer, there really is a reason for this, and although it is not a very good one, it is potent in many a case beside your own. Paul has been a good steady man for all his 43 years. He has been self-respecting, responsible, admired. He has worked hard to succeed in profession, home, society. He has been priding himself on sons and daughter, good wife, security, reputation.

Now he realizes suddenly that the forties are not like the thirties. In the thirties a couple is still on the young side, children not out of the nursery, college days still close in memory, dancing and downtown parties still in the picture.

The forties change that. To his consternation, Paul realizes that by George, the next thing is the fifties! He can't believe it. He'll be a grandfather first thing you know, and he'll still be tied to the same old Josette, with the little weaknesses and the tiresome traits he knows so well. That's his slice of life, is it?

Predicts Cut of Television Set Prices
NEW YORK—A research engineer said television sets probably will be selling in two years for half what they are now.
T. T. Goldsmith of Dumont research laboratories at Passaic, N. J., said the person who is willing to wait that long undoubtedly would save money. It's a question of whether the enjoyment of television during those two years might not be worth the difference in cost, he added.

BORED HUSBAND

A man who has lived with his wife and family for nearly 20 years reaches a saturation point at which he resents the rut into which he has fallen. Consciously or unconsciously he harbors ill feelings against his loved ones.
Miss Norris advises that it is a woman's task to inspire a zest for life within her husband when he reaches the doldrums of the forties. She can accomplish this by pervading enthusiasm for travel, vacationing and adventure.
Her husband will be gripped by her fever for excitement and they will experience delights which they thought were impossible in the 'dead' forties.

In Paul's case there has been another potent factor, too. That legacy, those thousands, they're to be saved and spent on the kids' schooling, are they? No adventure for him, no freedom, just the routine of office and club and home; just getting older.

The psychopathic discomfort of this time is recognized quickly enough in women, but it is by no means confined to one sex. It is a little premature death, it is a wind from an unknown country, blowing coldly across one's dream that youth isn't quite gone, adventure, new loves, new scenes, may be close ahead.

Paul doesn't really want anyone but you. He isn't fool enough to think that any pretty 18-year-old who would break up his home and deprive him of his children, would be worth bothering about. He knows all about that bald spot on the top of his head and that extra girth.

But he desperately wants excitement, change and spicing. Your reproaching him, your tears, will get you nowhere.

But get one or two smart traveling outfits, and plan to drive to Canada, Mexico or California next month. Persuade him that home, office, children can very well spare you both for six weeks. Convince him by your own enthusiasm that this matter of sacrificing everything to the children's future needs is all nonsense.

You will find in your companion your unknown roads and in little wayside inns the joyous young Paul you haven't known for some time. That you look pretty and feel adventurous and want to go off just with him alone will work miracles for his hurt vanity. He has been jealous, he has been feeling unimportant, he has been wondering what's the use of this extra money. Little trips like this may well come to be the habit as well as the delight of your lives.

It is part of our great American tragedy of divorce that hundreds of lost marriages could be saved if men and women could learn to rediscover, when years have worn away the fine edge of their relationship, the joy of being alone together again.

Sea Serpent Story
BOSTON.—A "sea serpent" reported seen by 200 witnesses off Nahant August 16, 1819, really may have been such a monster, perhaps the last of the species, the marine historian Edward Rowe Snow believes.
Records show that James Prince, a marshal of Massachusetts, who viewed the monster through a spy-glass, estimated it to be about 60 feet long. He said the serpent traveled like a caterpillar.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

It's Easy to Make Strawberry Shortcake (See recipes below)

Strawberry Time

For those of you who like strawberries, the season is too short! But we aim to do our best by them this season, so let's have them several times each week as long as we can. Perfect strawberries are just plain good served au naturel. And if you like them sweeter, dip each in a mound of powdered sugar, before tasting its deliciousness. Some like them for breakfast with a sprinkling of sugar and a quaint pitcher of thick country cream.

Strawberries in shortcake make a dream of a desert. Some prefer old-fashioned biscuit type of shortcake, split and covered with sweetened crushed berries and cream. Others prefer a more cake-like type of accompaniment to the berries.

Strawberry Shortcake (Serves 6)
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons shortening
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 tablespoon soft butter
1 quart strawberries, sliced and sugared
Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together; cut shortening into mixture with two knives or pastry blender until mixture is the consistency of corn meal.

Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, mixing quickly to form a soft dough.
Drop the dough by spoonfuls into a well greased two quart heat resistant glass utility dish. Sprinkle each biscuit with grated orange peel. Bake in a hot (450 degree) oven for 12 minutes. Split hot biscuits and spread with soft butter. Place the sweetened strawberries between and on top of each biscuit. Serve a pitcher of cream with the shortcake if desired.

Fresh Strawberry Pie
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 quart strawberries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch or flour
Sweetened whipped cream
Crush half the berries and bring to boiling point. Stir in sugar combined with flour or cornstarch and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and well cooked. Spread other half of berries (whole) in baked pie shell. Pour hot cooked filling over top, cool, top with sweetened whipped cream and serve. Meringue may be used instead of whipped cream and pie browned in a moderate (350 degree) oven.

Special Strawberry Shortcake
2 cups sifted all-purpose enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
4 tablespoons shortening
2 eggs
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 teaspoon lemon extract
Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening. Beat one whole egg and one egg yolk, reserving one white for the tops. Add orange juice and flavoring to beaten eggs, then add to dry ingredients. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead a half minute. Roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut. Brush tops with white of egg and sprinkle with sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheet for 12 minutes in 425 degree preheated oven. Split hot shortcakes, butter and fill with sliced sweetened berries. Replace top and pour berries over top. Serve with cream if desired.

Strawberry Meringue Pie (Makes 1 quart)
1 pint fresh strawberries
3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup sugar
Few drops vanilla
Honey
Baked pie crust
Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Beat in sugar and flavor with few drops of vanilla. Drain berries carefully; sweeten with honey and fold into meringue. Turn into pie crust and brown in moderate (350 degree) oven about 30 minutes. Serve as soon as cool. (Other fresh, carefully drained fruits may be used.)

Standish Pudding (Makes 1 quart)
1 quart strawberries
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup water
Lemon juice
1/2 pint whipping cream
1/4 cup powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup rolled dried macaroons
Pick over strawberries, sprinkle with sugar and let stand for two hours. Mash, squeeze through a double thickness of cheesecloth and add water and lemon juice to taste. Turn mixture into a one quart brick mold or place in freezing tray. Beat cream until stiff and add powdered sugar, vanilla and rolled macaroons. Pour over fruit mixture to overflow mold. Cover with buttered paper and freeze in a mixture of ice and salt, or let freeze in refrigerator compartment.

Raspberry or Strawberry Whip (Serves 4)
1 1/4 cup berries
1 cup powdered sugar
1 egg white
Beat ingredients together with wire whip or electric whip until stiff enough to hold shape. Serve over pieces of sponge or angel cake or pile lightly in a dish, chill, surround with lady fingers and serve with soft custard sauce.

Luncheon Dish De Luxe
Scrambled eggs with shrimp make a delicious and satisfying luncheon dish. To prepare, saute one chopped green onion and one slice mushroom in two tablespoons margarine or butter. Cook over a low heat three or four minutes. Add one-half cup shrimp which has been broken into small pieces, and one canned tomato. Again cook over a low heat one or two minutes. Add four eggs which have been beaten with two tablespoons cream, salt and pepper. Stir slowly over a low heat until of desired doneness. Serve on toast or crisp wafers. Sprinkle with grated spicy cheese.

Here's a filling combination, made of all vegetables: Corn pudding, creamed string beans with almonds, French fried carrots and radishes.
Do you like mushrooms? Bake them in cream, then serve along with turnip souffle, buttered string beans and sliced tomatoes.
Serve cottage cheese with assorted fruits or assorted raw vegetables like sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, with olives at the side.
Fruit pies will be better flavored if you add a dash of honey to them.
Freshen wilted vegetables before cooking by placing them in cold water in the refrigerator until they regain some of their crispness. Wilted vegetables will never cook tender.
Fruit and berries keep better if stored in a cool place. Chill before using.
Whipping cream should be icy cold before you start whipping. Beat slowly at first, then when it thickens, increase the speed.
Cornflakes mixed with cheese will top any au gratin dish nicely.

Girl Gets 16 Bikes as Gift

For Her Fifth Birthday
 PORTLAND, ORE. — Maybe it was a shipping clerk's mistake, but five-year-old Sharon Fulton received sixteen bicycles for her birthday and she's asking no questions.
 "It's wonderful," said Sharon. But her mother, Mrs. Richard B. Fulton, wasn't so sure.
 A present arrived for Sharon a day before her birthday by express from her aunt, Mrs. James E. Jones, of Oklahoma City. The present came in four large crates.

Teachers Are Good Sports

In Grading Difficult Exam
 NEW YORK — Parents of New York City high school students have protested that a recent state regent's history exam was too tough for the youngsters.
 But difficulties posed by the test were taken into consideration, William A. Hamm, assistant superintendent of schools, said. Students were given the benefit of the doubt if they gave any sort of reasonable answers.
 For instance, Hamm explained, if they were asked to name "two ancient sports" and replied "Antony and Cleopatra," they got full credit.

Tiny Atom Bombs Viewed

 BERKELEY, CALIF. — Possibility of planting and exploding tiny atom bombs within living human bodies to wipe out localized concentrations of disease has been raised by experiments of that kind on animals.
 Feasibility of this idea, which was suggested by Dr. C. A. Tobias, assistant professor of medical physics at University of California, depends upon whether scientists can develop ways of controlling the power.
