

Dedicatory Services at Newly Renovated St. Lucas Church Sun.

St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran church has set aside December 5, as a special day of praise and thanksgiving. The cause of this special festival is the dedication of the newly renovated and redecorated church edifice. Alterations of a manifold nature have been effected. The auditorium of the church proper has been redecorated in a most eye-pleasing fashion. New carpeting and new linoleum grace the chancel and the halls of our church. The entire floor area has been sanded and treated. New light fixtures of the lantern type have been installed throughout the entire building. This necessitated a complete new electrical wiring system. And to further add to the joy and comfort of its worshippers, a complete new heating system was installed. According to state law, this necessitated the recessing of all radiators.

Entering the basement we find a new cement floor, the entire basement newly plastered, and an up-to-date kitchen. The kitchen proper was out-fitted by the members of the Ladies Aid society.

Many smaller changes were effected, such as a new north entrance and new west entrance, facilitating the entrance and the egress to the church piers.

To celebrate the occasion, three devotional services have been arranged for the day. We shall begin the day with an English service, scheduled for 8:45 a. m., and a German service, scheduled for 10 a. m. Pastor Gerhard Pieper of Fond du Lac, Wis., has accepted the invitation to be the guest speaker. We shall end the festivities in the evening with an English service, to begin at 8 o'clock. The speaker at this service is Pastor Fr. Brandt of Appleton, Wis. The congregation members and the public are invited to come to these services to return thanks to the Almighty God for His divine grace and favor.

To further celebrate the occasion a ham dinner has been arranged by the women of the congregation. (country style); serving is to begin at 11:30 a. m. Bring your friends and enjoy the culinary art of our women folk. The church building will be open for inspection.

36 Prospective Draftees Will Go for Exams Dec. 23

Washington county selective service headquarters at Hartford has been asked to send 36 men to Milwaukee district headquarters for physical examinations Dec. 23 leading to possible induction in the United States peace time armed forces.

That was the report submitted on Tuesday by H. J. Reith, Reeseville, selective service co-ordinator for Washington and Dodge counties. Reith advised that during the month of December the draft board headquarters at Hartford will be open five days a week, Monday through Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Reith also disclosed that two Hartford attorneys, Jesse A. Peters and Lester A. Buckley, both formerly prominent in county politics, have been appointed government appeal agent and associate appeal agent for Washington county respectively.

Reith issued another warning that 18 year old men must register at selective service headquarters at Hartford on the date they become 18 years old or as soon thereafter as possible. He revealed there has been a sharp drop in registrations since the original enrollment in September.

Kiwanis Club Urges All to Take Free Chest X-Ray Exam

The Kiwanis club urges all persons in the community 18 years of age or older to take advantage of the free chest x-ray program by the State Board of Health to be held at the open center next to the bank of Kewaskum Wednesday, Dec. 3, from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 3:30 p. m. and Thursday, Dec. 4, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 3:30 p. m. and Thursday, Dec. 5, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

Utensils company employees will be taken at the company plant Tuesday. When it is considered that the x-ray shows not only lung conditions for the discovery of tuberculosis but also the size and shape of the heart, perhaps more people will find it interesting to participate.

The x-ray will take only a few minutes time for each person and will require no removal of clothing (except for outer coats, etc.).

Reports of the x-ray will be sent to the individual about three weeks after the x-ray is taken.

Remember that early tuberculosis gives no warning. The x-ray will show it long before symptoms appear. Older as well as younger people may be carrier of the disease, which is contracted from someone who has had it in the active form.

Why not take your examination? Join those friends of yours who are going to cooperate. It is practically no inconvenience to you at all. Furthermore it is FREE.

The Kewaskum teams in the Land of Lakes and Rivers leagues opened the 1948-49 season on the home floor Sunday night with easy victories over Random Lake. A guard, Augie Bilgo, was the hot shot Sunday and topped the scorers of both teams with 15 points. Honeck was next in line with 9. The Lakers' high scorer forward Siebenaler headed his team with 12 markers.

Deer Hunter Doings

The 1948 deer hunting season is history and local hunters have returned home, most of them without success. The shooting ended Monday, Nov. 29. In general the hunting was poor in comparison to other years, according to the hunters, who were handicapped by deep snow. Following are reports from many of our hunters who were not already mentioned in previous issues:

One party who hunted from Rocky Reef east north of Woodruff consisted of 13 men. They were Clarence Kohn of West Bend, Philip McLaughlin of Belgium, John Muckerheide, O. Backhaus, Loran Backhaus, Reuben Schaefer, Ed. Krautkramer, Holly Kenn, Lloyd Petermann, Ivan Buss, Lee Honeck, David Backhaus and Roger Schief. We are told their luck was not good and they bagged but one deer.

Eugene Gruber hunted with his uncle in Langlade county and bagged his deer, His father, John Gruber, accompanied Tom Bouchard of Beloit and a party of others to Marinette county. John also is reported to have gotten a buck.

Walter Del and son Byron and Joe Kudak hunted together in the north woods but returned home empty handed.

Alvin Panzer and four companions from West Bend hunted near Glidden the latter part of last week and remained until Tuesday. Panzer and "Red" Burger of West Bend each got a buck.

Lloyd Etta hunted from Tuesday to Thursday near Goodman and returned with an 8-point buck. He joined pals from the vicinity of Beechwood in the north country.

Henry Muckerheide and sons, Al and Sylvester, who joined another companion in the north, had good luck, hitting for three bucks for four hunters. We are informed Walter Muckerheide and Rev. F. C. La Buis joined them for a couple of days' hunting the forepart of last week but "no luck."

A party composed of K. A. Honeck Sr. of here, Hubert and Eiland Meyer of Plymouth and Clarence Voigt of Filmore hunted in the Land of Lakes region but had no luck.

Lawrence Wallenfels, Miles Muckerheide, John Etta and Vincent Kohn of here, in company with Lawrence Albright and Reinhold Hase of West Bend did their hunting in Vilas county but like most of the others they failed to bring home a buck. The state board of health will bring two mobile x-ray units into Washington county for two weeks' free service beginning Monday, Dec. 6, and continuing through Dec. 17. Miss Gladys Sulter, county nurse, announces.

A report of the x-ray will be sent to the individual about three weeks after it is taken. The x-rays will take only a few minutes of your time. The 10 who do show signs can immediately take treatment and the disease can be checked.

The complete schedule for the x-ray unit in the county was published last week. However, we are repeating the schedule for the north end of the county below.

Homemade Presents Are Sure to Please Discriminating Friends

A DAY or two or three spent in the kitchen instead of out among Christmas crowds will yield several lovely as well as edible presents to give your closest friends.

Most people are so busy around the holidays, not only with shopping but with entertaining that food presents will be really welcome. Think how nice it is to receive some colorful jelly to serve with Christmas dinner or a homemade coffee cake done up in gala wrappings!

Make a gift list of food presents, then bring out the recipes and decide just how much of each to make. Wrap prettily and deliver just as you would other presents. Keep a few extra boxes of food gifts to give just in case someone you'd forgotten drops in unexpectedly.

If you put up a lot of jellies, jams and preserves during the summer, bring these out and wrap in gay paper and tie with fancy bows. Even one jar makes a perfectly delightful present.

For more elaborate presents you might want to give several jars on a tray that may be used for relishes or sandwiches.

JUST IN CASE you do not have enough jars of jelly from summer, here are some recipes to replenish the supply.

Cranberry Jam

- (Makes 12 6-ounce glasses)
- 7 cups prepared fruit
- 3 cups sugar
- 3 cups light corn syrup
- 1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, add four cups water to about three and one-fourth pounds of fully ripe cranberries. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Sieve pulp to remove seeds, if desired. (For spiced cranberry jam, simmer fruit with one-half teaspoon ground cloves and one teaspoon cinnamon)

Presents made in your kitchen reflect your interest and thoughtfulness to the recipient of the gift, especially if you give gay and colorful jars of jellies and other canned goods. Use some of the stock you put up this summer for gifts.

or one and one-half teaspoons of any desired combination of spices.) Measure sugar and corn syrup into a dry bowl and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a five to six quart kettle filling up the last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary. Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. Pour in sugar and syrup at once, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, one-fourth teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard one minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once.

Apricot Jam

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 3/4 cup water in which apricots were soaked
- 1 orange

Wash apricots and soak in water enough to cover for one hour. Slice orange fine and cut each slice in fine pieces. Mix all ingredients together.

Cook slowly until thickened. Fill jelly glasses and seal with paraffin at once.

Pear and Apple Conserve

- 9 hard pears
- 6 tart apples

LYNN SAYS: Make Wrappings Gay For Home-Made Gifts

Plum puddings can be given away in small colorful bowls or molds with the paper over the top. The scallop treatment around the paper gives a festive effect.

When you're giving away cookies in a round, flat, tin box, make it decorative by placing a lacy frill around the edge of the cover. A real holly sprig on top will show off much better if placed on a small lace doily.

Cookies and candies are lovely given in cellophane boxes. Use a lace doily and cover this with waxed paper cut the same size as the doily so grease marks won't show on the doily.

Those colorful tin boxes which come in all sizes are excellent for candies and cookies or even small cakes. Tie them with a huge bow with a spray of greens or small colored Xmas tree bulbs.

Small jelly glasses are ever so pretty when wrapped in different colored cellophane and tied with contrasting bows.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Pot Roast with Potato Pancakes
- Apple Sauce Green Beans
- Pineapple-Cabbage Slaw
- Rolls Beverage
- Orange Tapioca Pudding
- Cookies

- 1 1/2 lemons
- 1/4 pound preserved ginger
- 1/2 pint water
- Sugar

Pare, quarter and core pears. Pare apples, core and cut crosswise into one-half-inch slices. Grate rind of lemons and add juice to the water. Cut ginger in small pieces. For every pound of fruit allow one pound of sugar. Boil sugar and water to a syrup, then add remaining ingredients and boil 45 minutes or until thick and clear. Place in sterilized cans or jars and seal at once.

This Christmas tree coffee cake will make a welcome present for neighbors or close friends, because it's good to eat as well as very festive appearing. To make it, use a yeast dough recipe given in the columns and decorate with candied red and green cherries to give the effect of lights.

Christmas Tree Coffee Cake

- (Makes 1 tree cake)
- 1 cup ready-to-ent bran
- 1 cup scalded milk
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package granular yeast
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 1/2 cup sifted flour

Combine bran, milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted, then cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in this mixture. Add egg. Stir in flour to make a soft dough; cover. Let stand ten minutes. Knead on lightly floured surface. Place in a greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down.

Form dough into a long rope or roll about one inch thick; swirl back and forth on a cookie sheet in shape of a pine tree, reserving a small portion of the dough to use for the trunk of the tree. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for about 25 minutes. When cool, frost with uncooked icing (made out of powdered sugar and a little milk) and decorate with candied cherries to represent lights on a tree.

HERE IS an excellent fruit bread to have on hand for the holidays because it will keep fresh for weeks if kept wrapped in waxed paper and placed in a tin. Slice it thin and use for sandwiches. It makes a lovely gift.

Fruit Bread (Makes 3 loaves)

- 12 eggs
- 3 cups sugar
- 6 cups flour
- 2 tablespoons baking powder
- 2 cups chopped seedless raisins
- 2 cups chopped walnuts
- 1 cup chopped, candied orange peel

Beat the eggs and sugar together for 10 minutes on an electric mixer. (Hand beating will take an hour so you'll have to enlist help from the youngsters!) Fold in the flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Add the fruits, mixed and floured with a bit of extra flour. Bake in greased loaf pans in a slow (325-degree) oven for one hour.

This is a nice bread for a gift. It's rich and has a distinctive flavor because of the walnuts. Serve it for sandwiches when entertaining, rather than for a meal.

HOW TO FIX IT

BY TOM GREGORY

PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS WHO MUST HAVE THEIR AUTOMOBILES READY FOR INSTANT USE AT ALL TIMES NEED NOT SPEND PRECIOUS MINUTES SHOVELING SNOW AWAY FROM THE GARAGE DOORS IF A BURLAP CARPET IS LEFT SPREAD ON THE DRIVEWAY DIRECTLY IN FRONT OF THE DOORS.

THE BURLAP IS HEMMED AT THE END WHERE STOUT POLES MAY BE INSERTED TO WHICH PULL-ROPS ARE ATTACHED FOR ROLLING BACK THE CARPET. A THIN LAYER OF SAND SPREAD OVER THE DRIVEWAY BEFORE THE CARPET IS SPREAD WILL PREVENT THE BURLAP FROM FREEZING TO THE CONCRETE.

YOU COME INDOORS AFTER WALKING IN SNOW OR RAIN. SET YOUR RUBBERS ON THE FLOOR AND FIVE MINUTES LATER THERE IS AN ANNOYING PUDDLE OF WATER AROUND THEM. THIS CAN BE PREVENTED BY A CONVENIENT DRIP PAN, MADE FROM A DISCARDED FIVE-GALLON OIL CAN. CUT OUT PORTIONS OF THE TOP AND BOTTOM SO AS TO FORM A SHALLOW PAN. SEPARATE THE SIDES AND BEND THEM DOWN TO FORM AN OPEN-BOTTOM TROUGH.

Bitter Pill

THE popular novelist, Albert Payson Terhune, once admitted that, like the well-known Scotchman, he had a conscience that was not powerful enough to keep him from doing wrong, but strong enough to keep him from enjoying it.

The first manifestation of this quality Terhune experienced in his early childhood. He stood accused of eating an entire bowlful of lump sugar.

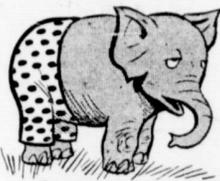

"Did you do it?" his mother demanded.
 "Yes," wailed the young culprit, "but I cried all the time I was eating it."

To the Rescue
 A widow owned and occupied a large mansion practically in the heart of a southern town. During the housing shortage in wartime, the aged man who worked for her overheard a passerby say:

"There's that old witch who lives in that big house and won't rent any of it."
 When this was related to the widow, she said: "John, why didn't you speak up for me when you heard that remark?"

"Yes'm," John replied, "I did; I said, says I, 'She ain't so old!'"

TRICKY BEAST

A hunter was showing off his collection of trophies to a group of visitors. He was rapturously explaining how he had acquired the various exhibits.
 "See that elephant?" he said, "I shot it in my jammies."
 "My goodness," murmured the surprised young lady, "how did it get there?"

Injustice

An old colored man was complaining about the railroad refusing to pay for his mule which had been killed by a train.

"They won't pay for mah mule. Dey won't even gimme back mah rope."
 "What rope?" he was asked.
 "Why, sah," he replied, "de rope ah done used to tie de mule on de track."

PERFECTIONIST

Dodson had never played golf before, but he had real beginner's luck when he drove off. The ball flew straight to the green, trickled across it, then dropped into the cup. At his very first attempt the novice had realized the ambition of every golfer; but he did not seem unduly excited.

By a miracle, Dodson's next drive was almost as good. Again the ball landed on the green, but this time it stopped a few inches from the cup.

He turned apologetically to his partner.
 "How silly of me!" he exclaimed. "I've missed it!"

TWO PEARLS!

"You're looking bad, old man. What's the trouble?"
 "Domestic."
 "But you always said your wife was a pearl."
 "So she is. It's the mother-of-pearl that's the trouble."

He Wants Silence

Grandma was tucking her four-year-old grandson into bed. "All right, my dear," she whispered softly. "Are you ready for your bedtime story?"

The child began to fidget, "Grandma," he murmured, "I'm really not in the mood tonight."
 "Then," grandma offered, "shall I sing you a lullaby?"
 "Nope," said the four-year-old. "No lullaby."
 Grandma was perplexed. "Then what can I do for you, my child?" she asked anxiously.
 "Well," offered Junior, "suppose you just take a long walk and lemme get some sleep!"

In a Hurry

Two thirsty men late at night: "Let's walk over to my room and have a drink," suggested one.
 "Good deal," said his friend. "But what's the matter with running?"

Peculiar Fellow!

"And what is your reason for wishing to marry my daughter?" asked the father.
 Puzzled, the young man scratched his head, pondered a second, then answered:
 "I have no reason, I'm in love."

"SHE USED TO RESEMBLE ME, BUT SHE LOOKS MORE LIKE MY BROTHER, NOW, SINCE SHE WAS LEFT OUT IN THE RAIN ALL NIGHT!"

"ALVIN, WHY DON'T YOU TAKE MORE PRIDE IN THE WAY YOU DRESS,--AND GET A NEW HAT?"

Household Hints

Brushing plain biscuits and rolls with milk before baking gives crusts a rich golden color.

Have creamed chicken on crisp brown waffles for one extended main dish.

Add two tablespoons sugar to the water in which you cook corn on the cob. Makes it juicy and sweet.

To remove cream stains from washable fabrics, rinse out with lukewarm water before laundering the garment.

Do not use water from the hot water tap in brewing coffee; the water should be freshly heated to obtain the best tasting coffee infusion.

The best way to wash a crocheted article is with a good white soap or soap chips, scald in soapy water and rinse in clean cold water without bluing. Never use bluing on any kind of crocheted lace or yoke.

You can remove the odor of onions from a frying pan by boiling a mixture of three cups of water and three tablespoons of vinegar in the pan for a few minutes. Drain, wash in hot soapy water and rinse in boiling water.

FARMERS 1948 FEDERAL INCOME TAX LAW
Many farm people are in doubt as to whether they should file a federal income tax return. The law requires that every person whose gross income is $600.00 or more must file a return even though no tax is due. Gross income is total income before any expenses are deducted.

If at least two thirds of your gross income is from farming and your business year starts Jan. 1, you have two choices, either:

- (a) File the return and pay the tax on or before Jan. 15, 1949; or
- (b) File an estimate of your tax and pay this amount by Jan. 15. Then file your return and pay any balance due by March 15, 1949.

You will need the following forms:

- (1) Form 1040F. This is needed to summarize the farm income and the expenses and to compute your profit or loss.
- (2) Schedule D (file with form 1040). This form is needed to show gains and losses from sales of property used in the business, such as dairy cows and farm equipment.
- (3) Form 1049 and instruction sheet. To list the farm profits and losses from Form 1040F. Also to list other items and personal deductions. This form is also used to figure the tax due.
- (4) If you file an estimate of your tax, you will need Form 1040 ES.
- (5) If you pay out $600.00 or more money for wages, you will also need Form 1099 and 1096.

Farmers who are filing a tax report for the first time may use either the receipt and disbursement basis, or the accrual basis. Those who have filed before have established a basis for filing and cannot change to another method without the consent of the commissioner of internal revenue.

MONTHLY MILK PRODUCTION RECORDS PAY GOOD DIVIDENDS

Keeping monthly production records of the dairy cows in the herd can pay dairy farmers handsome profits. No farmer can tell what the butter fat production of a cow is by the appearance of the animal, or even by the amount of milk in the pail. Often the cow that has the best butter fat record in the herd is culled out in favor of some other animal that may produce heavily for a short period of time only.

Also cows with a known butter fat record will sell at much better prices than ones with no known production record.

The Washington County Dairy Herd Improvement association tests the milk and keeps the butter fat production records for about 200 farmers of the county.

Three types of testing service are available to farmers. The one most suitable for the average dairyman is known as the owner sampler plan. The farmer is furnished the bottles and other equipment by the laboratory fieldman. The samples are collected on the following day and brought to the laboratory for testing. The results are mailed to the dairyman usually within three days after the test is made. This method is the least expensive. It is not an official test, but gives the dairyman the information he wants to know.

The cost of such service for one year is given below:

10 cows, $22.00; 12 cows, 25.50; 14 cows, 27.80; 16 cows, 30.20; 20 cows, 35.00; 24 cows, 39.80; 28 cows, 44.60; 30 cows, 47.00; 35 cows, 53.00; 40 cows, 59.00.

Farmers wanting official recognition for the testing they are doing usually subscribe for the standard type of testing. In this type of testing the fieldman stays at the farm one night of each month. He is given supper, lodging and breakfast. This method is recommended for purchased herds selling breeding stock.

Yearly costs of standard testing: 10 cows, $65.00; 12 cows, 69.50; 14 cows, 74.50; 16 cows, 79.40; 18 cows, 84.70; 20 cows, 89.00; 24 cows, 98.60; 28 cows, 113.30; 35 cows, 125.00; 40 cows, 137.00. There is also a third type of testing. This is a combination of the owner-sampler and the standard method mentioned above.

This type of testing is official for the tests taken by the fieldman. This cost is much less than standard testing. The fieldman takes the samples and stays over night every other month. You take the samples on alternating months.

Yearly cost of combination method testing: 10 cows, $42.50; 12 cows, 46.10; 14 cows, 49.50; 16 cows, 53.90; 18 cows, 58.30; 20 cows, 62.70; 24 cows, 70.10; 28 cows, 77.50; 35 cows, 87.50; 40 cows, 95.50.

The laboratory can take on new members at the present time. This is the season when most herds are beginning a new production year. Farmers are urged to begin testing services. Any one interested may sign up either with a laboratory fieldman or with the agricultural extension service.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN CLEARY STRESSES PURPOSE OF ACP

To help farmers prevent soil deterioration is the primary purpose of the soil and water conservation practices which farmers carry out under the agricultural conservation program, says A. John Cleary, chairman of the Washington County Agricultural Conservation committee.

According to the chairman, the program stresses such primary problems as: (1) Keeping soils from washing and blowing away; (2) rebuilding soils that have become depleted and run-down; (3) retaining and improving the productivity and tilth; (4) improving permanent pasture and range land; (5) protecting and improving farm woodlands, (7) and making better use of irrigation water.

Practices which in reality are used only to increase production in the current season or the immediate future and which make no essential contribution to a system of conservation farming, have no place in the agricultural conservation program, says the chairman.

The program is a means of assisting farmers in carrying out conservation practices over and above those which would be performed without program assistance, the chairman adds. It is expected, says the chairman, the assistance provided for approved practices will stimulate additional conservation activities on each farm. In the many years of operation this has proved to be the case.

The chairman states: "As the steward of his land, each farmer has a key responsibility in protecting the land from erosion and depletion. The program is to help him with basic conservation practices which he would not carry out otherwise and for which assistance, is necessary to get the work done."

This includes owners, operators, tenants or sharecroppers.
 Delegates to the county convention, elected in the community election, will meet with delegates from the other communities in the county and elect a county committee.
 "This grass roots administration of farm program is one of the cornerstones of the program," says Walter F. Katterhenry, state PMA chairman. "It can be made stronger if every eligible farmer will vote in the coming elections and take an interest otherwise in developing the program. This year, with so many problems facing farmers, it is doubly important that able men are elected to administer the farm program."

ANSWER: A good floor-covering contractor probably would prefer to take up the old covering because it might make an uneven base for the tile.

QUESTION: Is there a paint to seal leaks in a roof by painting over the roofing?

ANSWER: Leaks often can be stopped by the application of an asphalt roofing cement.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Pressure 'Out' in Berlin Controversy; British Welcome Lilibet's Princeling; Farmer Priority Looms in Legislation

By Bill Schoengen, WNU Staff Writer

PRESSURE: Polite 'NO'

Sore point in all the Berlin controversy continued to be the Soviet blockade of the ex-Reich capital. The Big Three Western powers still blamed Russia for continuation of the crisis through perpetuating the blockade.

Following his return from a Florida vacation, the President went into a full-dress review of American foreign policy with Secretary of State Marshall and W. Averell Harriman, U. S. ambassador-at-large in Europe.

The gravity with which United Nations leaders viewed the Berlin situation was evidenced in the efforts of U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, and H. V. Evatt, general assembly president.

THESE TWO made urgent appeal to chief executives of the four big powers—their heads of state or their heads of government—to do so—bring the Berlin dispute to an end and thus bring about world peace.

This appeal was without avail. The United States, France and England said "no," politely but firmly. They declared the issue must remain in the hands of the U. N. security council until the Russian blockade is lifted.

AGGRAVATING the situation was the coming winter with its consequence obstacles to the air lift. The Russians appeared content to wait out this phase of American aid to Germany in the apparent conviction, or hope, that bad weather would so impair air lift efficiency as to make it negative in the battle for Germany.

If the situation were to be resolved by diplomatic means, American thought and procedure on the question would carry top weight with the Big Three.

Under this setup, President Truman's evident intention to spurn discussion of the problem unless the Berlin blockade were lifted, would indicate the United States was prepared to continue the "cold war" with the Russians, and to bet with the elements that the air lift would continue to be efficient and that Premier Stalin and his Communists would have to come to terms in the end.

PRIORITY: For Farmers

The man with the hoe put the "X" where it counted November 2, and, as a result, America's farmers are to reap a share of President Truman's smashing victory at the polls.

Even now, administration chiefs are moving to give the nation's farmers top priority over labor in any legislative program coming up for action by the next congress.

THE FARMER'S reward is to come immediately—not in the future—and the outlook is that labor may have to stand behind the farmer when awards for a part in President Truman's triumph are to be handed out in a legislative program.

Best friend of the farmers when the plums are to be passed around Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan. No doubter of where credit for Mr. Truman's victory belongs, Brannan already has assigned Louis H. Bean, department economist and election forecaster, to prepare charts and graphs to show the President that he owes his election primarily to the farmers.

THAT ISN'T all that will be done to insure the farmers a fair return on their investment in Mr. Truman, for top level planners are drafting a new "flexible" price support program to go into effect early in 1949.

Instead of 1950, as would have been the case under the Republican Aiken farm bill.

Add to this the fact that Senator-elect Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.)

Missing Link? Anthropologists appear to have turned up another "missing link" in the evolution of man.

The latest find, discovered in an ancient Transvaal cave in South Africa, may provide a clue to the earliest known of man's ancestors.

Day of Judgment

Hideo Tojo, former prime minister and top war lord of Japan, was found guilty of wartime atrocities by an allied tribunal in Tokyo and was sentenced to death by hanging. He is the last survivor of the infamous Hitler-Musolini-Tojo axis.

former agriculture secretary, took a direct hand in supervising drafting of the new measure and personally will introduce it, and it becomes evident the farmer's happy place in the administration sun is most assured.

BASIS of Brannan's contention that farmers elected Mr. Truman: if it weren't for the farm states in the agricultural west, the 11 industrial states on the Atlantic seaboard that voted for Governor Dewey would have swung the election Republican.

How will farmers fare under the administration plan? Here's the projected program: To protect the farmer against anticipated crop price fall-offs, he would be given a flexible price floor that would protect growers, but would not burden U. S. taxpayers with any extended permanent subsidy of farm surpluses.

PROVIDE adequate storage facilities for farmers in corn and wheat belts to prevent loss of bumper crops.

Extend reclamation and soil conservation benefits to more farm-lands and provide an increased rural electrification for more farmers, this to be sponsored and paid for by the government.

This, then, is an extension of the benefits which farmers may have felt were imperiled in the Dewey program, and for which they felt they were voting when they cast their ballots for President Truman.

WELCOME: Infant Rex

For hours the solemn-faced constable had kept his vigil in the chill of the November night. Impassive in the face of the huge throngs that pushed against the gates he guarded, he waited for the word.

At last he saw a royal page, gaudy in blue, walk stiffly from a palace doorway. The page strode to the constable's side, bent over and spoke in a low voice.

THE CONSTABLE'S face lighted, he walked quickly to the iron railing against which the crowd was densely packed and declared exultantly: "It's a boy!" Then throwing his head back, he shouted: "A prince has been born."

To Princess Elizabeth, heir-apparent to the throne of England, and her consort, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, had been born a son. A prince by a special royal decree of King George VI issued several days before the birth of the child. Their young prince was born just six days short of the royal couple's wedding anniversary, November 20.

THE NEWS that Elizabeth's child was a son told the usually stolid Londoners what they wanted to hear—that the royal heir was a child who might someday be their king.

Into a world of crisis and unrest, an age of a dwindling empire for Britain, was born a princeling whose future as a potential ruler is fraught with imponderables.

Both he and his mother would be cut off the line of succession to the throne should a son be born to the king and queen; monarchical governments, even of the benevolent type, are fading from the world scene; the contracting empire's dimensions are subject to speculation, but even were these things non-existent, there is the last and greatest imponderable of them all—the atomic bomb.

? Current Events ?

You probably will recall that the U. S. had a presidential election (sound of screaming) a few weeks ago. It was the biggest upset since Mrs. O'Leary's bucket over the lantern in Chicago, and it will take its place as one of the most unusual in a long line of distinguished American elections.

1. Mr. Truman is the first native of Missouri to be elected President. In what two states were the largest number of Presidents born?

2. In this election four southern states voted against the regular Democratic party. How many southern states deserted the party in 1928?

3. Seven vice-presidents have succeeded to the presidency on the death of the chief executive. How many of these, besides Mr. Truman, were elected to a full term as President in their own right?

4. When does the President's term of office begin? And when do those of senators and representatives?

5. There are nine men in Mr. Truman's cabinet. Other Presidents elected recently have had 10-member cabinets. Why the difference?

ANSWERS 1. Virginia—eight (Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Taylor); Ohio—seven (Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, McKinley, Taft, Harding).

2. Five, Texas, Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and Tennessee voted Republican.

3. Two, Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge.

4. President's term begins January 20. Those of senators and representatives on January 3.

5. The armed forces unification act of 1947 the cabinet positions of secretary of the navy and secretary of war were eliminated and just one office—secretary of defense—was added.

MILLENNIUM: Very Unfunny

When a radio comedian backs off from laughs, the event rates in news value with the man-bites-dog item.

But there's method—about $16,000 worth weekly—in Arthur Godfrey's madness. Godfrey is the guy who has ordered his musicians not to laugh at any of his jokes.

THE RED-HEADED radio comic explains wistfully that his musicians say to laugh at his jokes, sing with him and "have all kinds of fun." But that's all over now, Godfrey says.

He adds that union rules provide that if his musicians laugh at his jokes, or join him in songs, they will come under an additional union, the American Federation of Radio Artists. And that, says Godfrey, would mean an extra cost of $900 to $900 a week for each musician.

His men would sing choruses and they'd kid each other, the comedian says, but now "if they open their mouths to sing they come under AFRA's jurisdiction. That adds the extra salary."

No Hairshirt Here

A picture of carefree contentment President Truman accounted for himself in casual shirt while tripping lightly through his post-election vacation at Key West, Fla. He whiled away the drowsy hours by formulating the broad outlines of his administrative policy for the next four years, and paused for a moment to turn down a proposal for another Big Four conference at this time.

NEW LIGHT: From Isaiah

New light and interpretation may be thrown on the Old Testament by discovery of the complete scroll of the Prophet Isaiah. All 66 chapters of the book, with only a few portions missing, have been found.

One of the most dramatic Biblical discoveries of all time, the scroll was brought to light recently when four of the oldest Hebrew manuscripts thus far known were found in a cave near the northern end of the Dead Sea.

Scholars date the Isaiah scroll as early Babycanian, or second century B. C., which would make it the oldest Biblical document yet to be discovered intact.

THE DISCOVERY of a complete Isaiah scroll, dating back a thousand years before the oldest one known, promises scholars an opportunity to seek new meaning from the Bible, and to determine by comparison the extent that errors may have found their way into Biblical manuscripts with the passage of time.

Bible scholars point out that the Book of Isaiah, like all of the Bible, came down to us as the result of many copyings by scribes who would make additional scrolls as the old ones wore out.

Washington Digest The Election Has Changed Both Democrats and GOP

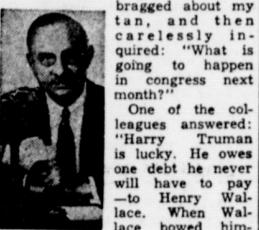

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—There are two experiences which no one should miss if he can help it. Coming into Paris, the "city of light," and Washington, "the city of magnificent distances," at twilight by airplane.

Lately I dropped down from the clouds upon Washington, with the lingering embrace of southern sunlight about me. The tiny sparkling lights below winked their welcome. But this esthetic experience ended brusquely when I left the airport. The winking lights started, and by the time I reached the National Press club, eyes winked but they belonged to my colleagues who patrol the beat from the White House to the Capitol.

Fresh from the innocent delights of the vacationing fisherman, I bragged about my tan, and then carelessly inquired: "What is going to happen in congress next month?"

BAUKHAGE self out he stepped on the red ruffles of Miss Democrat's petticoat, and pulled it along with him.

And it was generally admitted that much of the stigma connected with the charge of "coddling Communists" was removed when Wallace left. Like the Pied Piper (not of Hamelin, but once of Iowa) he piped away a lot of the "lunatic fringe" which is the eternal headache of all political parties.

The rodents in this case (both red and pink) followed the pipe's dulcet promises. But the pipe was unable to take his revenge. Unlike the flutist in the poem who lured Hamelin's children away when their parents wouldn't pay the rat-exterminator, Henry's piping titillated few Democratic ears. The voters didn't follow.

There were other unwept losses among Harry Truman's alleged supporters. He won the election without the solid south. The other end of the Democratic spectrum colored by the views of those who preferred mint juleps under the fragrant magnolias, to straight Yankee or middlewestern spirits withdrew discreetly and completely to their jasmine-curtained verandas. This doesn't mean they won't be heard from later, but they aren't the worry they once were.

While no one would bracket the conservatives with the "lunatic fringe," the Dixiecrats did cause many embarrassments to the Democrats. Now they are at least separately ticked.

The Republicans likewise derived certain healing qualities from the cold douche they took on November 2, not unlike Mr. Truman's. A number of their die-hards died in the struggle with the electorate.

Minority-Leader-to-Be Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, is no wild-eyed radical. So what he says on the subject of change (which is what the radical always wants) is significant.

Joe warned his friends back in Attleboro, Mass., a district which probably will elect him as long as he chooses to run, that the Republicans in the recent campaign offered the people "too many Brahmins, too many plutocrats." These Republican candidates, said Joe, likewise offered too little personality, did not appeal to the people, and formed a narrow circle which prevented what he called "expansion and the opening of ranks." (Of whom could he have been thinking?)

"We digressed too far from the people," the former speaker said, and the "GOP must reorganize in the cities and towns, getting in new blood at every level." Joe was speaking then out of his deep political wisdom.

Social Legislation Is Here to Stay

Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican national committee in the recent campaign, gave another significant post-election warning to his party. Republicans must recognize, he said, that legislation embodying social gains is here to stay.

So it would appear that these men, and many of the other Republicans who now represent the GOP in congress, are as happy to be relieved, not of a lunatic fringe like the Democrats, but of an albatross around their necks.

The Republicans who are trying to re-form their ranks and re-build for 1950 are by no means pessimistic. To quote Joe Martin again, he predicted that the GOP would snap back quicker than they went out. They know now, if some of them didn't before, they must keep in step with the times. One of the great problems the Republican national committee faced in the campaign was reconciling the progressive ideas set forth in Mr. Dewey's speeches with the somewhat pleistocene attitude (as one observer described it), of some of the ex-candidates for house and senate.

Witness the embarrassing situation in West Virginia, not to mention Illinois. The New York governor not simply couldn't stomach crossing the borders of West Virginia to embrace its recalcitrant senator.

Chicago on the other hand is a railway center and it was necessary for Governor Dewey to change trains there and "in Rome do as Romans do." He did, and endorsed the Republican senatorial candidate from Illinois. But the citizens of Illinois did not.

Had Mr. Dewey been elected, and had the Republican senator from Illinois been re-elected, the White House would have faced difficulties, among them the embarrassing paradox: Sen. C. Wayland Brooks opposed the Marshall plan which Dewey strongly endorsed. Taking that as a guide, it seems possible that Brooks could have been counted upon to vote against a Dewey-Dulles foreign policy as he did against Mr. Truman's.

Liberal Thought Growing in U. S.

The election, I believe, caused thoughtful people to emerge with one idea which the entire nation, regardless of its politics, will have to get used to. The thought is not original with me, but it is one that was mentioned by the only person who did predict the election result (except the man I lost a bet to). Agriculture Economist Bean said something like this:

The wave of liberal thought which appeared to have reached its zenith under Roosevelt is still on the upswing. Apparently the natural post-war reaction stopped it, but didn't start it going in the opposite direction.

Now some of you may not like that thought, but it were well to accustom oneself to the idea. Nor need you expect the pendulum ever to swing as far back as you might wish. Personally, I enjoy riding behind a spanking team in a buggy "with the fringe on top," and I wonder if we wouldn't all be better off if the internal combustion engine had never been invented. But I am willing to admit, things being what they are, that we have traffic lights and other annoying regulations.

At any rate, when President Truman takes the rostrum to deliver his message in January, he will look out on a congress which, his friends claim, he fashioned in large part with his own hand. Or I might say with his own sharp tongue from a back platform.

Harry Truman went out and fought tooth and nail, no holds barred, for the kind of congress he wanted. The people, whether or not that was their only intention, gave it to him.

And now as one somewhat cynical observer remarked to me: "Harry's got what he wanted, God help him." He has to deliver now.

U. S. Spends More Than a Billion Dollars for Candy CHICAGO.—More than a billion dollars was spent in the United States last year on candy—and that figure is for wholesale prices only. The 1947 confectionery business amounted to nearly three billion pounds, at an average value at wholesale of 36 cents a pound. The 1946 wholesale average was slightly over 28 cents a pound.

The FICTION Corner

THE JAGGED SCAR

By DONALD HUNTER

Tom and his dad had always been pals, so much so that when "the old man" suddenly became sullen and morose toward his son, Tom attributed it to his "growing up" and he began to find life almost unbearable.

THE Tow-Headed Boy with the hair close cropped didn't know what it was. The old man spent hours just gazing off into space. He sat on the top front porch step, his cane between his knees, his feet planted on the second step and the cane end set on the bottom one. With his hands crossed over the cane head, the right hand carefully covered the jagged scar across the back of the left one.

Other times, when the boy was around, he always seemed busy reading the newspaper. He kept it folded so he could hold it with one hand, the scarred hand concealed in his lap.

Of course, he had never been very talkative. Stoic, like the hill people he came from, he never mentioned his troubles. When he'd chopped his hand with an ax out in the back yard he'd sneaked through the kitchen hiding the mangled bloody member behind him so the boy's mother wouldn't see.

The boy had stood in the front room wide-eyed and anxious with fear when the old man saw him. "Don't tell your mother, boy!" he'd warned before he went into the bedroom to tear up an old sheet for wrapping his hand.

But the boy's mother had noticed. She sensed the strange atmosphere, the unusual actions. She'd followed him into the bedroom, and the boy had heard the old man shushing her while she bawled him out for hiding the thing. He kept saying it was nothing—and afterwards he never talked about it, never complained. He just never let anyone see the jagged scar across the back of his hand if he could help it.

Now, the old man was withdrawn; he couldn't get near him anymore, couldn't talk to him. Once, he'd been able to get a kind word out of the old man. He'd say, "That's good, Tom!" or, "That's not the way that ought to be done, Son!" And though there weren't very many words between them, they were the kind that made the boy feel good, and know that everything was all right.

Now, it was different. The old man didn't seem to have time for him. He didn't want to take their long silent walks together anymore, like he used to. And he didn't move around much. He even seemed to resent the boy's presence, like when he'd stumbled that time in the front room and caught himself on his cane. He growled at the boy, leaving him speechless and hurt. But he wasn't old, not like Grampa—and—and the old mare down on the farm.

Still, the last time he'd brought his report card home from school, happily expecting the old man to say, as he sometimes did, "That's good, Son, good that you're getting your learning!" and smile at him quietly, he hadn't done it.

He'd only glanced at the card on one side then turned it over and said something that sounded like "Humph!" and handed it back to him shortly. The boy had worked extra hard that last month to get the grades up hoping the old man might break through to him again. He couldn't understand that short "Humph!"

There was something wrong, and the boy wondered if it could be him. His mother seemed to act the same way toward him. Cut him off short, when he'd tried awkwardly to ask her about how dad was treating him. He called him the old man when he was with the other boys his age, not with any disrespect, but he always called him dad around his mother.

"Oh, leave your father alone, can't you?" she said. And he went away sensing an even greater wrong.

Even little Rosemary, the girl he talked to shyly in the school yard sometimes, seemed to be treating him different lately. "What's wrong with you?" she'd ask right in the middle of his wondering what was wrong with the old man and his mom.

"Oh, nothing—nothing!" he'd say quickly. "Why?"

"Well, you don't talk near so much anymore," she'd say, "and you seem so far away like!"

He wondered if just not paying any attention to her while he was thinking about his dad and mom made her think there was something wrong with him. Or if maybe there was really something wrong with him.

He hated the thought, but it kept cropping up in his mind. Maybe he was adopted! Maybe the old man and his mom were not really his father and mother, but had just adopted him—and he was just now finding it out. The thought frightened him, and he buried it deep in his mind. If it was true, he'd be like the old man; hide his hurt. He'd never let them know he knew!

His father called him "boy" now, instead of "Tom" or "Son," like he had. And he was sharp, almost harsh sometimes.

HE WAS bouncing his ball off the side of the house when the old man came around from the backyard. In an excess of boyish joy, he forgot for a moment what the situation was between them. He threw the ball to the old man. Instead of catching it and firing it back so it would sting his hands the old man ignored it. He did nothing till the ball hit him, and bounced harmlessly off his shoulder.

He tensed then, lifted his cane. "Stop that infernal nonsense, boy!" he yelled.

The boy could feel his own lip tremble as he stared at the old man's angry face. He took a deep breath, his young chest swelling quickly with the sharp intake of air. He held it, stiffened his lip. He would not cry. Crying wasn't grown up!

The thought struck him then that maybe that was the whole thing that was wrong. He was growing up! He wanted to turn down that thought right away. If this was what it was like, if this was growing up—then he didn't want to be big! He didn't want to be. It hurt too much.

Why couldn't it be like it used to be with the old man and him? But if that was it—if it was just growing up—then it never would be like that again. And Rosemary—she would never treat him the same again, either. She knew, too! Just getting big, you had to be hard cold, without love, understanding, feeling of—There was something wrong in just growing up!

The boy started to rub his knuckle into his eye, but stopped. A bleak chill was settling in his heart, as he watched the old man

"Oh, leave your father alone, can't you?" she said. And he went away sensing an even greater wrong.

Disciplining Teen-Agers

Should teen-agers be spanked?

Answer: There could be no more humiliating admission of parental failure. The necessity of punishing a child at all—and it is sometimes necessary—grows out of the fact that we have not yet been able to make him see why it is to his own advantage to do as we tell him, and the older the child is, the less excuse we have for substituting force for reason. Even if it does not make him hate us, treating a teen-ager like a five-year-old can only slow up his development and discourage his achieving his own moral standards that much earlier.

that learning to stop being hungry without eating would be to your body. You may starve emotionally because it seems too much trouble to earn the real satisfactions which a normal mind requires.

Can our children's education be too "practical"?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. M. F. Ashley Montagu in Marriage and Family Living. Because both our individual happiness and the world's future depend on our solving the problems of human relations, the first object of child training, both at home and in school, should be to show children how to get along with one another, and studies of merely economic value should be secondary. There is no use teaching a boy to be a skilled mechanic if he cannot hold a job because he is perpetually quarreling with his employer or his fellow-workers.

Is marijuana "habit-forming"?

Answer: Apparently not in the sense that opium is. It seems to cause no organic changes which will make the user ill if deprived of it. But that doesn't mean that using it may not become a mental habit, and a very dangerous one. Anything that creates an illusion of happiness with no basis in reality is the same threat to your mind

Don't Let Fear Ruin Your Life

By Dr. James W. Barton

A SURGEON relates the story of how three different women were so afraid that a lump in their breast was cancer that they suffered with this fear for months before they finally consulted him only to find that in each case the lump was an enlarged milk gland, not cancer.

On the other hand, I have in mind the case of an individual who, notwithstanding evidence of heart disease—shortness of breath—postponed consulting a physician until it was too late.

As in other conditions in life, it is only too true that the thing we have to fear is the fear of fear itself.

"Perhaps the most deadly form of fear is that which holds a person back from seeking early professional attention for an ailment. One of the worst features of cancer, for instance, is the fear it instills into people.

"Cancer can be cured in most cases, and this is true of the majority of troubles. But all have to be attacked early. The thing to dread is not the disease itself, but the fear which paralyzes the initiative to do the obvious—that is, to get help to fight it, at once."

In one of the cases above mentioned by the surgeon, the whole family was to take a trip around the world.

This wife and mother, fearing the lump in her breast was cancer, took the trip with this fear in her heart rather than spoil the pleasure of her husband and family. We only can imagine how little joy the trip gave her.

In another case, it was the fear that the removal of his tonsils would mean bleeding after operation—because bleeding had occurred when his son's tonsils had been removed—that allowed a man's infected tonsils to poison his blood and then the lining of his heart which, in a short time, caused his death.

"HOW can a man be sure his wife is not cheating on him?" asks Van Harrison of East St. Louis. "I've got a very pretty wife," his letter goes on, "and, of course, when I'm at home she is all devotion. But I'm not at home much and I have a feeling that Doreen does pretty much what she wants to do when I'm away.

"Last year she got hold of some handsome furs, said she had picked up a pawn ticket in the street and found that they were overdue on payments and could be bought. Well, I investigated that, I felt like a heel doing it and it seemed straight enough, but it could have been framed, too.

"Now she has two good-looking air-weight suitcases, about $50 worth of stuff, and she says a friend sold them to her for practically nothing, because the friend had new ones. I haven't the nerve to ask her what friend and follow that up. I know she dresses better than any of the other women on our size income. Now other women are beginning to hint that Doreen isn't playing fair.

Job at Home

"How's for getting a job at home, even at a sacrifice?" continues this anxious yet inarticulate husband. "She seems to see every show that comes to town—well, I could take her to shows. We have one kid, now 11, and something he said to me yesterday about Mamma's interests and Mamma's friends has kept me awake one whole night.

... awake all night ...

It will keep me awake a lot more if I don't settle the matter. Can a woman cheat and get away with it these days, and what are the men doing about it?"

Unfortunately, Van, I say in answer, a woman in Doreen's position can cheat easily. And if you change your job and attempt to keep too close a watch on her, if she actually is cheating, she will break away.

Honor isn't affected by a man's absences, nor a woman's opportunities to be untrue. Honor is a matter of her mind and her soul, of what she was taught and trained to do as a child, of character and background and of that innate fineness that comes naturally to a woman whose home influences have been sound.

Training Is Key

If Doreen hasn't had the advantages of a good mother and father and sound training in decency and honesty, nothing that you can do will cure her. And there's where the vital, the tragic importance of giving children a good start comes in.

Raising small children, cooking and housekeeping, watching the family meals can seem but a dull task to an ambitious, pleasure-loving, vital woman, but it is a more essential one than any that a scientific genius ever enjoyed.

The service a good mother and father do for their town, for the nation and for civilization generally is beyond all words. Every child that grows to maturity with a normal healthy mind and body, with a sense of duty, a willingness to serve rather than to be served, to work for a plan rather than wait for the realization of a fairy-tale, to be unselfish, to be interested in the affairs of others, to be self-reliant and to develop a sense of humor is fortunate throughout his whole life.

And to the mother who breaks up her home, scatters her children, regales her friends with complaints of the children's father and to that mother who, like Doreen, cheats while Van is away and collects gifts from this lover and that, while laughing at the man she promised to honor, I can say only that you are laying a careful foundation for the ruin of your own lives and making certain the unhappiness of your children's lives.

'Anti-Boogie-Woogie' Unit

Set Up in Soviet Zone

In the interests of raising the morals of Berlin's younger set an "anti-boogie-woogie" committee has been set up by the Communist-sponsored "Kulturbund" at Meerane in the Soviet zone of Germany.

The committee has cut out for itself the task of "raising the cultural standards of modern ballroom dancing by introducing youth to the modern dance forms." And "modern" doesn't mean "jive."

Raised on Brandy, Boy

Dies an Alcoholic at 5

NANTES, FRANCE—Andre Bernier's stepfather raised him on brandy. He put a bottle of it in Andre's satchel every morning when the boy left for school.

When Andre collapsed, dead drunk, in the classroom one day the schoolmaster protested, but to no avail. A few weeks ago five-year-old Andre fell dead of acute alcohol poisoning. His liver was like that of an acute alcoholic of 65.

WHO has not suffered does not know All that his God would have him know.
He has not learned the patient trust That those who suffer bravely must.
He has not seen Faith's star arise Above the blackest midnight skies;
Nor clung to Hope that lights the way Across the grayest, blackest day;
Nor waited, quietly aware Of God beyond unanswered prayer.

PARTY PICKUPS

We could tell you that the new party game is called "photography" but you'd know that was only a gag, because blackout stuff and kissing games went out with "Chibaba Chibaba." Here are some really good party ideas to keep your guests in circulation and good humor.

Balloon Busters—Tie a balloon to the ankle of every girl at the party. The object of the game that follows is for the girls to burst each other's balloons. The boys are the steering committee, steering their partners into strategic positions for bursting their girls' balloons or protecting their own. Last one with a balloon wins a prize. She may need an aspirin, too.

Paper Dolls—Each boy is equipped with old newspapers, a scissors and a paper of pins. Within a specific time he must create a newspaper dress on his partner. Cleverest design wins prizes for the designer and his victim. She also receives assorted stabs and pin pricks.

If those games don't help break the ice, better bring on the refreshments early. There's nothing like a banana-peanut butter and marshmallow swirlup to put everybody in a mingling mood.

Experts Suggest Safe Way to Start Wood, Coal Fire

In starting fires in the most common types of stoves and heaters the National Board of Underwriters suggests that these steps be followed:
1. Remove all ashes and partly burned fuel from the grate and ashpit. Clean the stove thoroughly.
2. Open the damper.
3. Using a metal container, bring in the coal and wood. Place it on the metal pad beneath the stove. That metal pad is important—if you don't have one, now is a good time to get one.
4. Twist several sheets of newspaper together and bend them in the shape of a horseshoe. Place them in the combustion chamber and put dry kindling on top of the paper.
5. Light the fire from underneath.
6. Shut the ashpit door and partially close the side openings. Open the draft in the ashpit door.
7. After the fire has started, place several large pieces of wood in the stove and cover them with several shovelfuls of coal.
8. Remove all unused fuel away from the stove. And remember, no kerosene or gasoline!
Location of Wooden Shelves
Wooden shelves should not be placed above a stove or heater; but if this is unavoidable they should be carefully protected on the under side from the heat. Such shelves are particularly dangerous if covered with paper.

FHA MEETING

On Wednesday of last week, the officers of the Future Homemakers of America held a short meeting to discuss the installation of the new officers of the club. It was decided that members of the FHA at Plymouth would be asked to come and install them. A definite date has not yet been set. A refreshment committee, an entertainment committee, and their advisors were appointed by the president to engineer the activities of the evening.

In order to raise money for the club treasury, the girls are selling Christmas and other greeting cards, and will continue to sell cards at school throughout the year. The members of the FHA also plan to sell these articles during halves at basketball games.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Teams were chosen for intramural basketball games last Monday. Byron DeL, William Schmidt, Don Schneider and Allen Coulter are captains of the teams. The teams are as follows:

Team 1—Byron DeL, Hilbert Justman, Edward Dreher, Allan Kompf, Harvey Klumb, Ronald Vorpahl, Merlin Seefeldt.
Team 2—Don Schneider, Wally Cudnoske, Leroy Bier, Tom Rodenkich, Gordon Wierman, Earl Petri, Clyde Gerner.
Team 3—Allen Coulter, Jake Brunel, Curtis Link, Sylvester Hawig.

Kenny King, Glen Elmer, Robert Felix.
Team 4—Willy Schmidt, Elmer Loomis, Eldon Ranzhous, Paul Blomster, William Sippel, Ronald Coulter, Edwin Inckus.

The games are played during the noon hour from 12 to 12:35. This gives the boys time to take a shower, get dressed and eat lunch. The games give those boys on the basketball team extra practice and the boys that are not on the team also have a chance to play.

BASKETBALL

The Kewaskum High school basketball squad met with defeat against Sheboygan Falls for the second time this season. The score Tuesday was 49-49, compared to 35-25 on Nov. 19. Play was slow in the first 3 quarters, but late in the fourth quarter the boys started moving. The score at the half stood at 11 to 22. It was in the second half that the team looked good, but it could not overtake the Falls early lead. The scorers were as follows:

	FG	FT	PF	PTS
Tessar	7	8	4	22
Dreher	0	2	2	2
Koukl	3	2	2	8
Krueger	0	2	1	2
Wink	1	0	1	2
Keller	2	0	2	4

The B team lost its second game to the Falls also. The Bees played a fast game but two Falls free throws in the last minute of play decided the tight contest. The score stood at 30 to 25 at the end of the game.

'ROUND THE STATE

To remove chewing gum from clothing, hold ice underneath the spot; then lift the gum from the fabric and sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride.

When packing cake in waxed paper, sprinkle the paper with powdered sugar first. This helps the frosting to stick to the cake and not to the paper. Varnished or waxed floor finishes last longer if cleaned with gasoline and turpentine instead of water. But cleaning of this type should not be done when there is an open fire in the room since the solution is highly inflammable.
