

Elderly Kewaskum Man Taken for Ride, Beaten Up and Robbed

Young Suspects Nabbed; Police Attempt to Link Assault With Two Campbellsport Burglaries Same Night

Thieves forced their way into the Bauer feed store and Brittingham and Hixon Lumber company office in Campbellsport during the night Wednesday and escaped with loot estimated at $100. Undersheriff Arnold Sook of Fond du Lac county was working on a clue Thursday which he believed might bring results.

He said that two young men were in a Kewaskum tavern that night and had engaged in a conversation with an older man from this village. At 1 a. m., legal closing hour, the trio attempted to purchase drinks, but the bartender refused them. The men then left the establishment and headed toward Campbellsport.

Later they drove toward Dundee where one of the young men assaulted the elderly man from here they had taken along. After the older man was beaten up, his wallet was taken, and he was then ordered from the car. Sook said he did not want to divulge any names until after a complete investigation, but he said that from all indications, the young men might also be involved in the burglary.

According to Police Chief Edmund Haack of Kewaskum, two young suspects were picked up by Fond du Lac county police Thursday afternoon and it is reported that they admitted the assault on the Kewaskum man. They were taken to Fond du Lac police headquarters for questioning regarding the Campbellsport burglaries. The man assaulted was taken to the hospital Friday for medical care of his injuries sustained in the beating.

Sook reported that the Bauer store entry was made after the thieves had pried open a rear door. Several desk drawers were ransacked and a file cabinet forced open. The cash register, believed to have contained $100, was carried away and was found Thursday morning in a ditch on County Trunk Y between Campbellsport and Kewaskum.

The thieves entered the lumber company building by jimmying a window. Sook said desk drawers were rifled and papers strewn about the floor. A small radio was moved from its position to a place near the window, but the thieves apparently were frightened away or decided to leave it there.

The Bauer store theft was discovered at 7 a. m. by John Kleczka, an employee. Company spokesmen said that the thieves arrived on a desk five tie-kets to a police man's ball, probably as an ironic gesture.

Wittman Wins Air Race; Stray Shot Downs Plane

Steve Wittman, famous Oshkosh pilot, won the $10,000 continental trophy race for midwest planes in Miami's 17th All-American air maneuvers that ended on Sunday. A student of Wittman, 21-year-old Bill Brennan, Oshkosh, came in second. Wittman is a brother of Hubert Wittman, Kewaskum, and the son of Mrs. Mary Wittman, Fond du Lac.

He piloted a plane of his own design over the 24-mile course, averaging 176.87 miles per hour to add $1,800 first money to the $450 and $200 he had already won in the semi-final and first heats.

While flying the plane home from Miami Tuesday Wittman was almost killed by a rifle bullet while flying his plane over Spring Hill, Tenn. The chance shot punctured the gas tank of the airplane while he was traveling 160 miles an hour at 500 feet. He thought he heard the gas tank explode and he said the fuel came rushing out so fast he knew he'd have to land in a hurry. Wittman landed in a farmer's field and Strenand, who was flying behind him, followed him in landing. Brennan got Wittman out of his plane just as he lost consciousness from the gas fumes.

Wittman theorized that the shot came from some kid with a rifle or possibly a moonshiner who might have thought any flyer was an airborne revenue.

Indians Upset at Menomonee Falls

Although already under way in most parts of Washington county since before Christmas, the most crucial March of Dimes campaign in history officially opened Friday, Jan. 14, in this county, as well as in all other sections of the United States. Official ending of the drive is Jan. 31.

The 1949 appeal for funds to fight infantile paralysis is aimed at enabling the local chapter to finance the fight against possible polio epidemics next summer, while at the same time allowing it to participate in the various activities of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"One of the important tasks of national headquarters," E. D. Rice, West Bend, county chairman of the March of Dimes campaign, said, "is to have on hand a sufficiently large emergency epidemic aid fund to meet the urgent requirements of areas where polio flares up during the coming summer. We know these epidemics will come, but we do not know which areas will be affected."

"Last summer the nation suffered one of the most devastating polio epidemics in its history, with approximately 26,000 cases," the March of Dimes chairman declared. "Local chapters and national headquarters were called upon to render aid to stricken communities in widely scattered areas at greater cost than ever before."

"It was a challenge which we met, in meeting it we completely exhausted our emergency funds," Rice said, speaking of emergency aid as a whole. He pointed out, however, that the Washington county chapter was unable to be of much assistance elsewhere because its funds were depleted in taking care of patients of its own.

Pointing out that prominent persons have volunteered their assistance in conducting the 1949 campaign, the chairman said the entire county has enlisted in the drive. He disclosed Arthur Schaezel volunteered during the week to act as chairman of the drive in the town of Germantown. Previously, that township was without a chairman.

All March of Dimes coin collection boxes have long been distributed throughout the county. Rice said, including the schools, and he indicated various organizations have plans under way for a number of special events to aid the campaign, including dances, socials, card parties, and sports attractions.

Rice listed two primary reasons for greater donations this year than ever before during the campaign. On the one hand, there is the ever present threat of a local epidemic, such as last year's crippling infantile paralysis attacks in parts of North Carolina and California, while on the other is the tremendously high cost of after care for those stricken.

"Funds of local chapters were soon exhausted," the chairman said. "Then they found how important was the emergency fund at national headquarters. Appeals were promptly met with additional funds."

"Similar epidemic conditions may be duplicated here in our Washington county next year. Greater donations to the March of Dimes campaign will enable us to fight back if the dreaded disease hits here at home," Rice stated.

"Our donations of dimes and dollars are the bullets on which the shock troops in the field depend. And the shock troops are the physicians and nurses. Their equipment consists of the iron lungs and hospital beds, the thousand and one items without which a polio army cannot fight."

"The actual battle does not end with the end of the epidemic, the general chairman warned. March of Dimes funds must also provide for after care of polio victims, and that may reach $10,000 or more in some cases, while the average cost is around $2,000. There is only one source of income in this grueling fight—the annual March of Dimes drive."

"The March of Dimes is a happy campaign," its county chairman declared. "By that, I mean that our supporters give cheerfully to secure the future of their neighbor's children, as well as their own."

"We are a community united in a great humanitarian cause during the short campaign period. We have only a few short weeks now in which to win community ease-of-mind for the future."

Kiwanis Has Talk on Japan by Local Sailor, Sees Film

The tremendous destructiveness of fire, and forest fires in particular, was emphasized to the Kiwanis club Monday evening, when Clyde Smith of the Wisconsin Conservation Department showed a movie on the great Maine forest fire last year. "Then It Happened."

Clyde also gave a verbal description of the horrors of such conflagrations, explaining the almost unbelievable speed attained in spreading and the terrific heat generated by the flames. He listed the causes of forest fires in the following categories: lightning, railroad, campers, smokers, debris, incendiary, lumbering, and miscellaneous.

The program presented a splendid lesson in conservation. Presented information on Japan was included in the meeting of Monday, Jan. 3, a local youth, Leroy Muckerhoidt, who talked on "My Stay in Japan with the Navy."

Leroy was stationed thirty miles south of Tokyo and was very close to the Nipponese. He explained that the Japs were a clean people, and he gave information concerning their food habits and supplies. There are three classes of Japanese, Leroy said, and the languages differ with the classes.

Stating that the reconstruction of Japan was carried on by the Japanese themselves, Leroy explained that he just supervised their action. He said that these people are satisfied with General MacArthur and his rule and added that there might be an uprising there if MacArthur was taken from Japan.

Leroy called the occupation successful because we helped them in getting back on their feet. He thought that in appreciation for American treatment, the Japs would not cause trouble again for us.

Kewaskum Post Office Advanced to First Class

Postal Receipts Set All-Time Record in 1948; Now Second Largest in County

Frank Hepp, postmaster, announced that postal receipts for the Kewaskum post office set an all-time record in 1948. The amount of money taken in through the sale of stamps amounted to $35,460.67 as compared with $13,500.00 in 1947, an increase of $21,960.67, or better than 100%. As postal receipts of $10,000 during the year are required to become a first-class office, Kewaskum will be advanced to first-class effective July 1, 1949. The class of office is determined by the amount of postage sales only.

The increased mailings of the Kewaskum Utensil company is responsible for the unusual increase in postal receipts. Money orders issued also showed a big increase during the past year. In 1948 money orders issued totaled $150,347.11 as compared to $116,504.92 in 1947, an increase of $33,842.19. A total of 11,261 orders were issued in 1948.

The total stamp sales of $53,460.67 rate the Kewaskum post office as the second largest in Washington county.

NOTICE!

To correct ill-founded rumors based on pure conjecture with no regard to truth concerning the oil furnace explosion at the Joe Mayer home Thursday evening, January 6, we want to point out the following facts:

1. The fault lay in the unusual draft conditions (now being corrected) in this building combined with the force and direction of a very strong wind and the height and nearness of a neighboring building.
2. The fault did not lie in the oil furnace, itself, or in the setting of oil or air, or in the oil (which has been analyzed and found satisfactory).
3. The accident was of a freak in nature and could not possibly have been avoided by the furnace equipment because of the peculiar draft conditions involved.

Truman Asserts Red Aims Split As Some Leaders Desire Accord; Dutch Firm on Indonesian Stand

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

COLD WAR: Someone Tiring

If Harry S. Truman were right, then possibility of war with Russia was less than many Americans imagined. In a "surprise" statement during an unheralded appearance at a luncheon in Kansas City, President Truman declared bluntly that "certain leaders" in Russia "are exceedingly anxious to reach an agreement with the United States to end the cold war."

FOR CHINA: Watch and Wait

U. S. policy on China, for the time being at least, appeared to be one of watching and waiting, coupled with a resounding diplomatic silence. America had two good considerations upon which to base that policy:

INDONESIA: Dutch Stubborn

Stubbornness is a characteristic trait of the Dutch—and Holland was running true to form. Despite announcement by the United States, from which she is receiving Marshall plan aid, that the invasion of Indonesia must stop, the Dutch said, in effect, they'd think the order over.

Washington Digest Public Health Bill Faces Tough Battle in Congress

WASHINGTON.—The dim roar of an approaching battle in congress is being heard over the horizon. The struggle will concern S-1320, the national health insurance and public health bill.

Why does the medical association oppose the bill? Supporters of the legislation say because the majority of the doctors, like the majority of the people in the country don't understand it. Many doctors think it would foul up their practice of medicine with politics. Many also say it would destroy normal patient-physician relations because the patient would have to take what medical treatment he could get on an assembly-line basis. This latter assumption is based on a misapprehension of what is actually in the bill which I'll mention later.

The former charge is a prediction and can't be answered categorically. I can understand it. When I was in college, I got a summer job on the Chautauqua daily. Chautauqua is a pretty big summer community, and health is important. A young medical student friend of mine whose father had a pull got the job of inspecting cowbarns of farmers supplying milk to Chautauqua. I made the rounds with him once. He examined the bovine living conditions thoroughly and some were pretty vile. He made notes and put them in a report recommending that purchases from a particular farmer be suspended until the barns were cleaned up.

What happened? He got a sharp call-down from his superior. After that, inspection consisted in opening cow-barn doors, holding the nose, and looking the other way.

That happened many years ago, and I have heard that Chautauqua county is noted for its model dairies. But there is always a lurking suspicion that when a politician puts his finger in the pie it turns sour.

The only specific answer to this charge of politics that I have discovered is one offered in a pamphlet gotten out by the Federation of Women's Clubs which says: "the plan allows for the representation of the people paying for it."

Perhaps a better answer lies in the fact that the American Federation of Labor and the CIO, both of whose leaders know just about as much about how politically-controlled institutions operate as any organized heads in the country, favor the bill. It has been supported by many individual doctors and by the Physicians Forum, and the Committee of Physicians for the Improvement of Medical Care.

But what is "it," this national health insurance bill? Are you familiar with its purpose, what it proposes to do and how it proposes to do it?

Let's go back. What was the most shocking revelation in the World War II draft statistics? I'd be willing to bet the thing that most painfully surprised the whole country was that one-third of our youth of military age was unhealthy.

Out of fifteen million registrants, five million were rejected for physical or mental disabilities. Rural residents as a group were even less healthy. Forty-one out of each 100 rural registrants were turned down as 4-Fs. It had been just the opposite in World War I when farmers outdistanced city folk in good health.

From these figures, we suddenly discovered that the American youth wasn't such a hale and hearty individual as we had thought. Later, as you may not know, we learned that 325,000 Americans die every year who could be saved with proper medical care.

About twenty per cent of our people can afford all the medical care they need. Half our families—those with an income of $3,000 a year or less—find it hard, if not impossible—to pay for even routine medical care.

Thirty per cent of our families in the $3,000 to $5,000-a-year bracket would have to go into debt or make other sacrifices to meet the cost of severe or chronic illness.

So you can see why America is twenty-three per cent unhealthy. From the beginning Americans have believed that sound minds are the responsibility of the state, hence the public school system. A sound mind isn't much good in an unsound body. So, say the supporters of the national health insurance bill, it is logical and thoroughly in keeping with American principles to tax everybody so that everybody can get medical care. They argue that freedom from persecution by germs is as much the business of the whole people as freedom from persecution, censorship, or any of the other restrictions our ancestors came to America to avoid. I won't go into the history of the bill. It was written after years of study, six years of public hearings before congressional committees.

Those who have opposed the measure have made their chief argument a contention that it would be another step toward a socialized state, that it would indeed socialize the medical profession. On point one, the supporters say truthfully "that argument was once raised against the public schools, city water-works, municipal sewage systems, electric light and power plants, which are now accepted as a matter of course."

Under the national health insurance bill, the federal government would collect the money and manage it along with the social security fund which it does now. Disburse it to the states for the services rendered by the doctors and approve of the various state set-ups.

The actual arrangements for the services of the doctors who would go right on with their private practices as well if they wanted to, would be made between doctor and patient. The patient, unless his family doctor refused to join up, would have his services just the same, only they would be free. The doctor wouldn't have to accept any patient he didn't want.

Part of the money would go to the states for research, medical education and various preventive services. How much would it cost? One and one-half per cent of your earnings up to $3,600 which your employer would match. If you are self-employed, you would pay three per cent up to $3,600 of your own earnings. And that, say the bill's proponents is no more than you pay now (on the average) to a voluntary group health agency if you belong to one and it's less than you would pay to a private physician.

Physicians' rates and mode of payment will be established by the vote of the majority of the physicians in the given area or locality. Since the worst shortage of doctors is in rural areas, it is expected that with assurance of adequate pay through the national insurance fund, more physicians will be attracted to those areas. Also the fund will help to expand local public health services, rural hospital and ambulance service.

Aside from the poorer health in farm communities, maternal mortality is higher and, as every farmer knows, accidents are high. There are 54 deaths per 100,000 population on farms, only 20 per 100,000 in industry.

In the controversy over this measure both sides point to the experience of other countries. They claim the national insurance system was inaugurated in Germany in 1883. One American Medical Association member says medical care declined under it. He probably knows more about it than I, but the statement was certainly a surprise.

Similar complaints have been made against a similar plan which has just been inaugurated in Britain. But a recent poll taken in England says 91 per cent of the physicians have joined up which would seem to show they approved of the way it works even if they opposed it in the beginning. And the people voted it the most popular measure passed by the present government. The British Medical Association did not oppose the bill as a whole but fought against certain portions, particularly those which they thought might make them "servants of the state."

These facts I have checked as nearly as I can and do not believe they will be disputed. As to the opinions, they remain as such. And you can't look into the future. From what I can learn, the supporters of the bill believe that it will be one of the first introduced in the new congress, that it will reach the floor by February and that the chances for its passage are good.

'Star-Spangled Banner' Once Just Another Tune

But you never heard this little-known fact before. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was once just another patriotic tune known as "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

The words were written in 1814 by Francis Scott Key, a lawyer of Maryland, who witnessed the British bombardment of nearby Fort McHenry during the War of 1812.

The lyric at once gained popularity as a national air. "The Star-Spangled Banner," however, was not officially named and designated as the national anthem until congress so legislated March 3, 1931.

I STILL DON'T LIKE IT, FRANKIE

By COLIN DELL

Frankie had big ideas but when he struck what he thought was real pay dirt, Louie rebelled, albeit meekly. Everything went smoothly enough, but that, as far as Louie was concerned, was what was wrong—it was too smooth.

FRANKIE LIBOLD switched off the ignition and the green sedan glided to the curb and stopped, only a few feet from the winding footpath in Jackson Park.

"How's that for timing, Louie?" he asked in a suave, cocky voice that matched his personality. "I told you the old boy's as regular in his habits as a night watchman. I ain't been clockin' him all week for nothin'."

Louie Ferencic eased a .38 automatic from his shoulder holster and dropped it into his right-hand coat pocket. He looked like an undertaker and talked like he looked. "I still don't like it, Frankie," he said slowly. "I still don't like it."

Frankie's hard black eyes gleamed contempt. He snorted decisively, then turned his attention to the figure advancing along the gravelled footpath.

He was an old man, but his bearing was upright and dignified. His progress was leisurely and the reason was evident. It was a white cane he carried in his right hand. The tap-tap-tap of the metal-tipped walking stick rang clear in the afternoon air as the old man felt his way along the brick-bordered path. He was within ten feet of the car when Frankie Libold and Louie Ferencic closed in, one on either side.

"All right, gran'pop, just take it easy and do as you're told and you won't get hurt," Frankie Libold said. He produced the old fellow with a blunt-nosed revolver. "Just keep on walkin' and act natural."

The blind man faltered for an instant and a shadow flicked across his face. Not fear, perhaps, but something akin to it. Then Louie Ferencic grasped his arm and urged him forward and into the car.

He remained silent during the forty-five minute drive to the west side, seemingly stunned by the unexpected. He allowed himself to be led to the second-floor hide-out without causing a disturbance. He sat quietly while Frankie Libold adjusted the handcuffs that shackled him to a low iron cot.

The two gunmen moved to a window overlooking the street and talked in low tones. "You and your hunches," said Frankie. He sneered at his morose associate. "It came off without a hitch, just like I said it would. And if this caper don't bring us a hundred grand my name ain't Frankie Libold."

"Maybe so," said Louie, "but I still don't like it." He shot a glance at the old man where he sat disconsolate on the bed. "I only hope his old lady keeps her head and leaves the G-men out of it."

The pair talked on in husky monotonies while they kept an eye on the cars crossing the busy intersection below. The bells of a Catholic church tolled the Angelus. Sounds began filtering up from the bowling alley on the first floor—the sharp click as the ball hit the polished surface of the alley, the echoing crash of the pins. The acrid exhalations of a varnish factory tainted the air.

Frankie Libold stretched lazily and suppressed a yawn. "I'm going out and get a paper," he told Louie. "Soon as I come back we'll get down to business."

He was back again in less than fifteen minutes, and he came in waving a newspaper. "She talked," he growled, tossing the paper to Louie. "Get a load of those headlines." "RETIRED INDUSTRIALIST BELIEVED KIDNAPPED," Louie read. And in smaller print: C. M. Carter, blind millionaire, disappears during daily stroll in Jackson Park.

It was a two-column spread, complete with diagrams and indignant editorials.

Louie Ferencic dropped the paper in disgust. "Wha'd I tell you?" he demanded accusingly. "Now what are we going to do?"

"Do? Why, the same thing we started out to do, you idiot!" Frankie snapped. He walked to a table and picked up a plain sheet of typewriter paper. "Get him something to write on," he told Louie. "We'll get this ransom note done now and put it in the mail. She'll pay off or else."

Louie pulled an empty drawer from a dresser and laid it upside down on the bed. Frankie started to lay the paper on it, then drew back. "Can't you get anything better? This thing's got nails coming up through the bottom." His smoldering eyes raked across his unresponsive partner. "Skip it," he growled. "Just skip it."

He slapped the paper down on the rough surface and thrust a fountain pen into the blind man's hand. "Here." He took the hand and guided it to the paper. "Feel around on this so you can tell what you're doin'," then wrote exactly what I tell you to write. And watch those nails, you're punching a hole in the paper."

The sensitive fingers of the retired industrialist explored the makeshift desk, then the pen in his hand came to rest at the proper point. Frankie began writing—slowly, for the blind man seemed to have trouble finding a smooth surface to write on. He kept shifting and rearranging the paper, this way and that, but finally the note was completed.

Frankie Libold studied it carefully. "It's all full of holes from them nails," he announced finally, "but at least she'll know it's his handwriting."

He put it in a plain envelope, addressed it, and attached a special delivery stamp. "Take it over on the south side and mail it," he told Louie. "And be careful you're not picked up on the way."

A near-sleepless night left the kidnapers in worse spirits than ever. They snapped at each other like dogs. "Get out of here and get yourself some breakfast," Frankie ordered gruffly. "And don't be all day about it. I'm hungry too."

Louie Ferencic yanked his hat down low on his forehead and stalked out without a word.

Frankie stared after him, his face a twisted mask of hatred. He laughed deep in his throat. "Still don't like it, eh?" he muttered half to himself. "I'll give you something you'll like even less after we collect that hundred G's,

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Take Back Brother

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

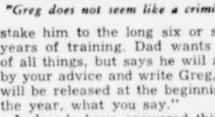

"ARE WE supposed to welcome a criminal back into our family, after he has spent a year in jail?" writes Lucie Phillips, 18 years old. "My brother Greg always has been a mystery and a heartscald to my father—my mother has been dead for six years."

"Greg borrowed people's cars even when he was in grammar school, borrowed money from Dad, and other relatives without any by-your-leave, ran away twice and finally, when he was 16, drove the stolen car that took two other boys to a cigar shop which they held up, threatening the proprietor with a gun. The others got long terms; Greg got one year."

"Now he wants to come home," the resentful and distressed letter goes on. "Grandma, who lives with us, thinks he ought to be taken in and given another chance—and probably have his breakfast taken upstairs to him and his clothes pressed and all that. He had started drinking and will begin that again. Every one of my friends will know that my brother has a jail record."

He Needs Rehabilitation "Dad wants him to come home just long enough to get straightened out, as he calls it. He says that Greg is mother's son, that she loved him dearly and that he'll need clothes, baths, rest and general rehabilitation. I say I don't want to have anything to do with him."

"I ought to say," Lucie finishes her letter, "that Greg does not seem like a criminal. He is good-looking, thin, tall and very clever in speech. He would have been very popular but for his wild ways. Now he says he wants to follow in Dad's footsteps and be a doctor, if Dad will stake him to the long six or seven years of training. Dad wants this, of all things, but says he will abide by your advice and write Greg, who will be released at the beginning of the year, what you say."

"Greg does not seem like a criminal."

I already have answered this letter by a personal letter. In that letter I urged Lucie to share with her grandmother and father in giving Greg a chance. I said this not because I really believe that he will change.

He will study medicine for awhile, then tell his father with great charm and convincingness that he thinks he has chosen wrong, that his talent is for the law. Then he will want to be an explorer and go off on a trip. And if he does, he will turn up presently, unshaven and penniless, and want to start all over again.

Sister Must Stand Up Yet, with his cleverness and popularity, Greg could wash all this miserable history out and make a man of himself, especially if he had at his side a courageous loyal little sister to help him. And that's a sister's job, Lucie—you have to take your share of it. Your only course is to stand by, comforting your father, cooperating with your grandmother, doing your best for Greg. Then if you fail, those friends of yours will think far more of you than if you hushed it all up.

Only a few weeks ago I had a somewhat similar letter from a frantic mother named Fanny Lee. Mrs. Lee has one son, 14, and girls of 16, 18 and 19. The 18-year-old went away to college a year ago, fell into the trap that waits all girls in the freedom of campus life, got mixed into too many drinking, driving, week-end affairs and came home at Christmas shamed, sullen, trapped. Her sisters were kept as much as possible from a realization of Grace's tragedy. Grace was sent away to an "aunt" and the baby was put out for adoption.

But this problem is different, I think, from the one quoted earlier in this article. Grace has been through very deep waters. She is a sophisticated and disillusioned girl, and somewhere in the world there is a baby boy who ought to be calling her mother. To introduce her into a household of young girls and a small boy is unjust to them all.

Navy Is Seeking Ships That Enemy Can't Hear ANNAPOLIS—The U. S. navy is attempting to develop ship engines that will be so quiet enemy listening devices will be unable to detect them.

Experts have no illusions about building a completely silent ship, but they do hope to muffle engine noise to such an extent that it will be quieter than the natural sounds that always seem to be going on underneath the sea's surface. "The problem of noise and vibration transmitted from ships through the water to enemy detection devices developed into one of major importance during the last war, Leggett said. He cited acoustical torpedoes that "hear" their way toward their targets. Sonar detection instruments, he explained, are far ahead of defensive soundproofing.

MASSEY-HARRIS GOBLE 5' 3" DISC
with right hand running attachment
When it comes to light draft in a disc harrow, it's mighty hard to beat the free-running, power-saving advantages of oil-bath bearings. They just naturally result in an easier pulling harrow and fuel savings in your tractor.
That's the kind of bearings you get in the Massey-Harris Goble Offset Disc Harrows... patented oil-bath bearings that extend the full width of each section. Then add the sturdiness of all-welded frame construction and electrically heat treated disc blades and you've got a 3-way combination that reduces costs, saves time and money.
Stop in soon, ask about the Massey-Harris Goble line. Sizes range from 3' 9" regular offsets to the giant 24' squadrons.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.
First, make a syrup by stirring 3 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar.
Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations.
Put the Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. Never spoils. Tastes fine. And for quick, blessed relief, it is surprising. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Winter Vegetables Need Peppery Seasonings For More Meal Appeal

ARE YOU LACKING ideas for the preparation of winter vegetables? Glance through this column for really solid inspiration for I've packed it full of practical ideas and suggestions which you're certain to find helpful.

It's true that we don't have as many vegetables during these cool months as during the summer, but this is the time to dress and glamorize what you have with interesting seasonings as well as different methods of cookery.

Bake instead of boiling all of them just for the sake of interest and you'll save vitamins as well. Bring out the herbs and sauces to add new flavors to common vegetables. Make appetizing color and texture combinations and see how the family eats them up!

Here's a new way with carrots, good to use when you have an oven meal:

- Baked Carrots (Serves 8)
18 small carrots
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup boiling water
Scrape or pare carrots and place in a casserole. Cream butter, sugar and cinnamon together; add water and blend. Pour over carrots and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for one and one-half hours.

- Spiced Red Cabbage (Serves 6 to 8)
2 tablespoons mixed spices
3 quarts water
1 teaspoon salt
2 pounds red cabbage, shredded
4 tablespoons brown sugar
4 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons butter
Place spices in a small cheese-cloth bag. Heat water and salt to boiling, add cabbage and spices and cook 30 minutes. Drain. Dissolve sugar in vinegar, add butter and combine with cabbage.

In place of plain vinegar in the above recipe, you may use basil vinegar for an interesting variation.

HERE'S A COLORFUL vegetable dish which will be a delight to bring to the table. Inexpensive tomato sauce comes in a can, ready to heat and pour over the vegetable.

- *Cauliflower With Tomato Sauce (Serves 6)
1 medium head cauliflower
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
4 tablespoons grated cheese
Soak cauliflower in cold, salted water for 15 minutes. Drain. Place in a large pan of rapidly boiling salted water. Cook, covered, for 20 to 25 minutes or until cauliflower is tender.

Drain. Place cauliflower in baking dish. Cover top with canned tomato sauce. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 15 minutes.

Use These Hints to Make Vegetables Appetizing

Hollow out the halves of eggplant. Stuff the shells with a combination of cooked eggplant mixed with sautéed mushrooms, onion and cream sauce. Cover with crumbs and bake in a casserole in a hot (400°F.) oven for 20 minutes.

Onions may be hollowed out and filled with mushrooms and cheese sauce, then baked in a covered casserole in a moderate oven for an hour.
Cooked cabbage, finely shredded, is delicious when served with fine bread crumbs browned in bacon drippings.
Green beans and corn take on flavor when dressed with ham or bacon drippings.
Cooked green beans may be placed under the broiler rack to catch meat drippings when you broil hamburger or round steak patties.
A combination of cooked cabbage, carrots, onion and celery tossed in butter in the skillet makes a delicious vegetable potpourri.

beans and cook five minutes longer. Add water and heat to boiling.

THERE ARE MORE than creamy potatoes to the following recipe. With the additional ingredients used to glorify them, you may use them for a light lunch or supper.

- Stuffed Idaho Potatoes (Serves 6)
3 Idaho potatoes, baked
6 frankfurters, diced
1 cup diced celery
1 small onion
2 to 3 tablespoons shortening
1/2 pound quick-melting cheese
Sauté the frankfurters, celery and onion in shortening; add a little water and steam until celery is done. Allow water to evaporate. Cut baked potatoes lengthwise and remove potato from skin. Mash the potato, adding seasoning and milk until they are creamy and smooth. Fill potato shell with frankfurter mixture; then a thin slice of cheese and top with the mashed potato. Place in a moderate (350 degree) oven until tops are lightly browned, about 15 to 20 minutes.

- Escalloped Spinach (Serves 10)
2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups milk
2 cups cracker crumbs
4 tablespoons melted butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked spinach
Mix all ingredients thoroughly, reserving about 1/2 cup of buttered crumbs for the top. Place in a buttered casserole and cover with crumbs. Bake in a slow oven (325 degree) until crumbs are browned and the mixture is set in the center, about 35 minutes.

- French-Fried Cauliflower (Serves 6 to 8)
4 1/2 cups cooked cauliflowerets
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup dry bread crumbs
Dip cauliflower into slightly beaten eggs, roll in bread crumbs and let stand at least one-half hour.

Cauliflower will look prettier and taste better when you serve it with canned tomato sauce and a bit of Parmesan cheese as a pep-up touch. This may also be used as an idea for a vegetable platter, adding green beans or peas to surround the cauliflower.

- Broccoli Souffle (Serves 4)
3 eggs, separated
1/2 cup hot, thick white sauce
1 cup chopped, cooked broccoli
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Beat egg yolks and add to white sauce. Add broccoli and cheese. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 30 minutes. Serve with cheese sauce; make two cups thick white sauce with three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour and two cups milk. Season with one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and add one-half cup grated American cheese. Cook in double boiler until cheese melts.

- Fried Brussels Sprouts (Serves 6)
1 onion, chopped
3 tablespoons butter
4 cups cooked Brussels Sprouts
Cook onion in butter until tender, add sprouts and toss gently until heated thoroughly.

Released by WNU Features.

Beets will be zippy if you cut cooked beets into thin strips and heat with 1/2 cup top milk, 2 1/2 teaspoons horseradish and 1 teaspoon salt.

Cauliflower leaves should not be discarded. Cook, covered for 15 minutes and add them to white sauce.

Wax beans will be appetizing when served with toasted, slivered almonds.
Chives or mint, chopped and added to melted butter will do flavorful things to cooked carrots.
Crisp, crumbled bacon added to spinach which is then topped with the yellow and white fluff of hard-cooked eggs put through a sieve peeps that vegetable.

Place corn under broiler rack while cooking ham so that it will catch flavorful drippings.
Combine 2 tablespoons of honey with the same amount of butter and add 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Add to this 6 cooked carrots for glazing.
Don't throw away those pretty carrot tops! Wash them and use as parsley for garnish.

New Disposable Nursing Bottle Eliminates Baby's Problems
CHICAGO—More than 80 years ago the standard glass nursing bottle was invented. Before that, babies who, for one reason or another, could not be nursed by their mothers did the best they could with the aid of a flask-shaped bottle and a long rubber hose. At the end of the hose was a crude nipple, forerunner of today's variety.
With the exception of a few minor changes and adjustments, the glass nursing bottle has remained virtually unchanged.
One of the first major changes in baby nursing is a new collapsible, disposable, pre-sterilized bottle which does away with many of the headaches that have been plaguing mother.

Auto for Disabled Vets Has All Good Features Except One
SAN FRANCISCO—An automobile designed by Edward T. Adkins, former navy chief petty officer, for handicapped war veterans made a successful shakedown trip except for one thing.
The airplane-type stick for steering worked. The push button controls were O. K. It ran by gasoline motor or electric power.
Among the added features were an electric torch and drill, movie camera, radio, magazine rack, automatic fire-fighting equipment, and an ice cream making machine.
But the Palo Alto man hit a snare when he tried to cross the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. Police said he had to have license plates.
"The one thing I forgot," said Adkins.

With these new bottles, you use one just once and throw it away. The bottles come in a long roll, sealed off from each other at intervals to form either four or eight-ounce bottles. When mother prepares the formula she merely snips off the number of bottles needed, fills them, and puts them in the refrigerator. The only things she sterilizes are the nipples, the caps, and the rings which hold the nipple to the bottle.

The following morning Walter came to him and told him that the mongrel had gone.

"That's excellent news," said his father. "Here's the money. How did you get rid of him?"

Walter smiled as he pocketed the money.

"I swapped him with Reggie Jones for two black puppies."

Shopper's Battle

The tall, dignified man joined the crowd in front of a bargain counter, in an attempt to get a very special pair of hose for his wife. He inched his way patiently, but was buffeted here and there by the women, and made no progress.

Suddenly he lowered his head, stretched out his arms, and barged through the crowd.

"Can't you act like a gentleman?" inquired a cold feminine voice at his elbow.

"I've been acting like a gentleman for the past hour," replied the man, still charging forward. "From now on I'm going to act like a lady."

Dogs Don't Vote

One day when he was a senator, former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was listening to a colleague who was delivering a long winded address on the plight of the nation's dogs. When the senator had concluded his eloquent address, a friend asked Byrnes:

"What did you think of his speech?"

"Not bad," replied Byrnes.

"What a pity that dogs don't vote."

AROUND THE HOUSE

To line cake pans easily with wax paper, grease pan lightly, cover with a piece of waxed paper and insert another pan identical or nearly so. Trim off the edges.

In sewing braid or rick-rack on any kind of fabric, use scotch tape to hold firmly in place. When the machine work is done, simply peel off the tape.

Save the peels of oranges and tangerines, dry them in the oven and store in glass jars. They give puddings and custards a delicious flavor.

Fringe used as trimming should never be ironed. Instead comb it carefully while it's still wet.

Many people believe breakfast just isn't breakfast without a bowl of steaming hot cereal every morning. Dried fruits added to the cereal while it cooks gives it a most pleasant flavor.

Pieces cut from an old felt hat or slippers and glued to the bottom of table legs will help prevent scratch marks on kitchen linoleum.

You can improvise shoulder covers to hang over dresses, in the closet with old pillow cases. Just make a slit in the closed end and slip over the hanger.

To save frosting a butter cake, sprinkle the batter with finely chopped filberts before baking; do not use on sponge type cakes since the batter is not heavy enough to hold the nuts and they will sink to the bottom.

Sound Waves May Be Used As a Local Anesthetic

Sound has been used to lull people to sleep but now for the first time it is being tested for possible use as an anesthetic. Directing a stream of sound waves at the site of the operation induces a temporary loss of sensation.

A food tip to remember is that waste ends of tongue may be ground, mixed with dressing and used as a sandwich spread.

The utility storage bin of the refrigerator is a good place to keep crackers and cereals dry and crisp.

Always remember that dark colors are slimming and a dark skirt will minimize large hips.

"WE KNOW SEVEN SMART PEOPLE WHO ARE SLEEPING WARM TONIGHT"

We know lots more, too—but we're sure about these seven—because these are the people who, in the opinion of the judges, wrote the best entries in Reddy Kilowatt's electric bedcovering contest. Each of them is now finding out for himself that his "neighbor" was right when he said those nice things about sleeping under an electric bedcovering.

THESE ARE THE WINNERS IN REDDY KILOWATT'S Ask Your Neighbor Contest

- Mrs. R. Whitbeck 5808 - 35th Avenue, Kenosha, Wis.
- Harold E. Cripe 1010 Russet St., Racine, Wis.
- Mrs. Roy Ensbach 224 South 8th Avenue, West Bend, Wis. 6
- Mrs. Edward Daane Route 1, Castburg, Wis.
- Milton J. Kading Elmwood Farm, Reesville, Wis.
- Mrs. Frank M. Warren 513 NW Avenue, Wauteka, Wis.
- Mrs. P. N. Cobleigh 197 Cottage Street, Whitewater, Wis.
